Ver. 1. THERE was a man in the land of Uz, whoſe name was Job, and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eſchewed evil. 2 And there were born unto him ſeven ſons, and three daughters. 3 His ſubſtance alſo was ſeven thouſand ſheep, and three thouſand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred ſheaſſes, and a very great houſhold: ſo that this man was the greateſt of all the men of the eaſt. 4 And his ſons went and feaſted in their houſes, every one his day, and ſent and called for their three ſiſters, to eat and to drink with them. 5 And it was ſo, when the days of their feaſting were gone about, that Job ſent and ſanctified them, and roſe up early in the morning, and offered burnt-offerings according to the number of them all: for Job ſaid, It may be that my ſons have ſinned, and curſed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually. 6 Now there was a day, when the ſons of God came to preſent themſelves before the Lord, and Satan came al among them. 7 And the Lord ſaid unto S tan, Whence comeſt thou? Then Satan anſwere the Lord, and ſaid, From going to and f in the earth, and from walking up and down it. 8 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, Haſt th conſidered my ſervant Job, that there is no like him in the earth, a perfect and an upri man, one that feareth God and eſcheweth evi 9 Then Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſai Doth Job fear God for nought? 10 Haſt n thou made an hedge about him, and about houſe, and about all that he hath on every ſid thou haſt bleſſed the work of his hands, and ſubſtance is increaſed in the land. 11 But put for thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, a he will curſe thee to thy face. 12 And t Lord ſaid unto Satan, Behold, all that he hath in thy power, only upon himſelf put not for thine hand. So Satan went forth from the preſen of the Lord. 13 And there was a day, wh his ſons and his daughters were eating and dri ing wine in their eldeſt brothers houſe. 14 A there came a meſſenger unto Job, and ſaid, T oxen were plowing, and the aſſes feeding be them: 15 And the Sabeans fell upon them, took them away, yea, they have ſlain the ſerva with the edge of the ſword, and I only am ſcaped alone to tell thee. 16 While he was ſpeaking, there came alſo another, and ſaid, the Lord gave, & ye Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

Said his Wife unto him, dost thou retain thine integrity? curse God, & die. But he said unto her, thou speakest as one of ye foolish Women speaketh. What? shall we receive good at ye hand of God & shall we not receive evil? in all this did not Job sin wth his lips.

fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath burnt up the ſheep, and the ſervants, and conſumed them, and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee. 17 While he was yet ſpeaking, there came alſo another, and ſaid, The Chaldeans made out three bands, and fell upon the camels, and have carried them away, yea, and ſlain the ſervants with the edge of the ſword, and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee. 18 While he was yet ſpeaking, there came alſo another, and ſaid, Thy ſons and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldeſt brothers houſe: 19 And behold, there came a great wind from the wilderneſs, and ſmote the four corners of the houſe, and it fell upon the young men and they are dead, and I only am eſcaped alone to tell thee. 20 Then Job aroſe, and rent his mantle, and ſhaved his head, and fell down upon the ground, and worſhipped. 21 And ſaid, Naked came I out of my mothers womb, and naked ſhall I return thither: The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; bleſſed be the name of the Lord. 22 In all this Job ſinned not, nor charged God fooliſhly.

There was a Man] From the Uncertainty who Job was, ſome have taken the Liberty to queſtion, Whether he was at all? Whether in Point of Fact, it be ſtrictly true, that there was ſuch a Man, named Job, who underwent thoſe Trials and Sufferings, which in this Book are recorded of him? Or whether it was only an inſtructive and parabolical Poem, deviſed and compoſed by ſome of the devout Antients, on Purpoſe to inſtil into the Reader thoſe excellent Principles deliver'd in it? But beſides other Arguments that might be urged to prove the Reality of the Story, drawn from the Names of Perſons, People, Countries, and ſome other particular Paſſages therein mentioned, the Credit given to it by God through his Prophet Ezekiel, Ch. xiv. 14. and his Apoſtle St. James, Ch. v. 11. in citing it, and referring to it, is enough, I think, ſays Campbel, to gain Belief in all, who have a due Regard for thoſe Writings, that it is a real Hiſtory.

In the Land of Uz] Or rather Utz, according to the Hebrew Orthography; but Commentators are exceedingly divided in their Opinions, where this Land of Uz is to be placed. There are three eminent Perſons of this Name mentioned in Scripture, each eſteemed to have been the Father of the People amongſt whom Job lived. The firſt is Uz the Son of Aram, the Son of Shem, who is generally taken for the Founder of Damaſcus; but this ſeems not to be well proved; however, it is highly probable, that he ſetled ſomewhere between Mount Libanus and the River Euphrates, and that he communicated his Name to the Region which he planted; and, if ſo, it might well enough be the Place of Job's Dwelling. The ſecond Uz ſpoken of in Scripture, was the Son of Nachor the Brother of Abraham, and from him, agreeing with the moſt learned Writers in this Point, ſays Campbel, I ſuppoſe Job to have deſcended; and thoſe who were acquainted with the Situation of theſe Countries, will eaſily perceive, that the Diſtrict, which I have before mentioned, is at no exceſſive Diſtance from Haran, where we know Nachor ſpent his Days. In ſhort; it is evident, from the Current of the Moſaic Hiſtory, that there was a continual Intercourſe, as well as a near Relation, between the Families of Abraham and Nachor, and thence it might eaſily happen, that the Hiſtory of Job, if he was a Deſcendant from the latter, might come into the Hands of Moſes, who, in all Probability, methodized the Story, written perhaps originally in Arabian Verſe; and by admitting Job to have ſprung from this Family, we have an eaſy and natural Account of his Friends, and the Families from which they were derived, as ſhall hereafter be more fully ſhewn. Laſtly, the Religion and Piety of Job, is more conſiſtent with his Deſcent from Nachor, than it would be, if we ſhould derive him from any other Perſon. As to the third Uz ſpoken of in the holy Writings, he was a Deſcendant of Eſau; and from him the far greater Number of Interpreters believe Job to have ſprung. The great Support of this Opinion, is a very antient Note found in a Greek Verſion of this Book; and, indeed, M. Du Pin aſſerts, it is to be met with in all the antient Greek Copies: It runs thus: 'Job lived in the Land of Auſitis, and the Confines of 'Idumæa and Arabia; he was named Jobab, and took 'to Wife an Arabian, of whom he had a Son named 'Annon, who was the Father of Zerah, one of the 'Sons of the Poſterity of Eſau, and his Mother Roſerra, 'and he was the fifth from Abraham.' After which follows a Genealogy of the Kings of Idumæa, taken out of the xxxvith Chapter of Geneſis. But the Reaſon which prevails with me to reject this and many other Authorities to the ſame Purpoſe, is, that it would ſet Job much lower, in reſpect of Time, than we can reaſonably ſuppoſe he lived.

As to the Time in which Job lived, it is highly probable, that it was about, or not long after the Death of Joſeph; for which Opinion the following Reaſons are alledged. 1. The Riches of Job, which conſiſted chiefly in Cattle, ſeem to point out thoſe Times in which we are ſure that People lived unſhut up in Cities, ſubſiſting on their Cattle, and removing from Place to Place, according as the Feeding of them required; ſuch, as we read in the Book of Geneſis, were the Lives led by Abraham, Lot, Iſaac, Eſau, and Jacob; and we may eaſily conceive, that in the Courſe of a few Ages this would become a Thing impracticable: For, as Mankind increaſed, Countries were not only more fully, but more regularly inhabited; Cities and great Towns were by Degrees erected; Property became more valuable, and conſequently more ſtrictly looked after; ſo that it grew impoſſible for Perſons to keep up ſuch large Herds, when Paſturage declined, and Men applied themſelves to other Methods of ſubſiſting.

2*dly*, The Sacrifices offered by Job, are perfectly agreeable to thoſe made by the Patriarchs, and ſeem plainly to have been derived from the Precepts to, and obſerved by Noah; but as theſe were, in a few Ages, totally ſwallowed up in ſuperſtitious Idolatry, ſo a new Argument might be derived from hence, to prove that Job deſcended from the Family of Nachor, and that his Friends ſprung from the ſame Stock; otherwiſe it would be difficult to apprehend how true Religion came to be ſo long preſerved amongſt them.

3*dly*, The profound Silence in the Book of Job, as to any Thing relating to the Hebrew Nation, very clearly proves, that it was originally compoſed by a Perſon unacquainted with their Affairs; nor is it poſſible to account with any Degree of Probability, for its being received into the Jewiſh Canon, after the Promulgation of the Law, ſeeing the Iſraelites, thence-forward, looked on themſelves as God's peculiar People, and treated all the World beſides with Contempt and Averſion.

4*thly*, Thoſe Paſſages in the Book of which we are ſpeaking, wherein this holy Perſon purges himſelf from the Stain of Idolatry, agree very well with the Time, in which we ſuppoſe him to have flouriſhed.

5*thly*, What he and his Friends ſay concerning the Methods, whereby God in their Days was pleaſed to reveal his Will unto Mankind, are probable Teſtimonies to the ſame Purpoſe.

6*thly*, The Length of Job's Life, which appears to have been about 200 Years, which was extended by God's Favour, beyond the Term uſual in that Age, correſponds very well with what we have advanced: For Abraham lived 175 Years, Iſaac 180, Jacob 147, and Levi, the longeſt Liver of his Sons, 137.

7*thly*, That he was neither Cotemporary with Abraham, Iſaac, nor Jacob, is, in ſome Meaſure, proved by his not being mentioned in the Book of Geneſis, wherein the Righteouſneſs of Melchiſedec, and other Servants of God, are recorded. So that on the Whole, their Opinion carries the greateſt Appearance of Truth, who assert, that Moses, perused this Book in the House of Jethro his Father-in-law, written in the Language natural to Elihu, who penn'd it in a poetical Stile, perhaps in a short Time after Job's Restoration; and the Nature of the Work recommending it to the Hebrew Legislator, who was a Person of great Learning, he reduced it into the Form in which we now have it, and by the Command of God published it among the People, when he led them through the Wilderness out of Egypt, that they might be encouraged to bear patiently those Evils to which they were exposed, excited unto a chearful Confidence in God's Mercy, and to entertain high Ideas of the divine Wisdom.

Now there was a Day when the Sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them] We are under no Necessity, says Campbel, of taking this Relation in a strict and literal Sense. The Kingdom of Heaven, and all Things which relate thereto, are so far removed from our Apprehension, that it is impossible for us to have any other than analogical Ideas concerning them; from whence it comes to pass, that the Scripture in a Multitude of other Places, as well as here, speaks in the Language of Men; that is, makes use of such Expressions as are suited to our Capacities. Thus the Prophet speaking to Ahab, delivers himself after a Method nearly to this, when he tells him, That a lying Spirit went forth from the Lord, to persuade him to an Undertaking fatal in the Event. The Design in both Places seems to be, the giving us a strong and lively Impression of the wonderful Power of God, and of the extraordinary Means, by which his Providence acts in the Direction of human Affairs. In the present Case, it is clearly implied, that as the Angels are incapable of doing us good, but as they are guided by his Commands, so the Powers of Darkness are unable to do us hurt, but by Permission from Him; which the inspired Writer at the same Time intimates is afforded only for the Trial of righteous Persons, such as righteous Job is represented to have been; and, surely, there cannot be any Thing more sublime than the Description here given, or better suited to the Dignity of human Nature, than that Satisfaction which the Lord is said to have expressed in the unfeigned Zeal and untainted Integrity of his Servant, agreeing exactly with the Expression of our Saviour, as to the Joy in Heaven over a Sinner that repenteth.

And the Sabeans fell upon them] The Sabeans were a People of Arabia, descended from Sheba, Grandson of Abraham, by Keturah, and notorious Free-booters.

And behold, there came a great Wind from the Wilderness, and smote the four Corners of the House] This hath been a mighty Subject of Jest and Ridicule among the Atheists, who would fain argue a great Impropriety of Expression, and from hence invalidate this, and many such-like Expressions in Holy Scripture. They ask, how in the Course of Nature the Wind could blow from any four Points of the Compass at once? I will not answer them from the Extraordinariness of this Event, says Howell, their Patron, the Prince of the Air, having at this Time an unlimited Power over the Elements to attack Job where he would, except in his Person, or how he pleased. But in Storms, especially such violent ones, as are even now-a-days usual, Navigators would be puzled to say, whether the Wind comes directly from one Point of the Compass, or from several at one and the same Time. And therefore I shall refer them to an Heathen Author, whom they will sooner believe than revealed Religion; and if I tell them that Virgil is of this Opinion, I do not question but they will believe him. Let them consult Virgil's Description of a Storm in his first Eneis, and there they will find three Winds attacking the Sea at once.

Una Eurusque, Notusque ruunt, creberque procellis Africus.

Naked came I out of my Mother's Womb, and naked shall I return thither] This Expression is to be taken in a literal Sense, in the first Part of the Verse; but the Reference in the latter Part is certainly to the Earth. If we consider the Miseries under which Job groaned, we need not to be surprized at the Obscurity of the Expression, the Purport of which seems to be this: Indigent of all Things came I from my Mother's Womb, and from a State in which I was insensible of my Being; now, in a like State of Indigence shall I return to the Grave, and be snatch'd away from the Land of the Living: In the mean Time, I have possessed all the good Things of this World; for these therefore, tho' I possess them no longer, let me praise Him who lent them to me so long: The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Satan, being vanquished in the first, desires a second Trial of Job's Patience; which being granted, he smites him with Boils. Job scrapes himself, and sits down in Ashes. His Wife's Folly; he reproves her, acknowledges God's Sovereignty and former Mercies. His three Friends, and their Sorrow.

Ver. 1. AGAIN there was a day, when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the Lord. 2 And the Lord said unto Satan, From whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it. 3 And the Lord said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil? and still he holdeth fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to destroy him without cause. 4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life. 5 But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse thee to thy face. 6 And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand, but save his life. 7 So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord and smote Job, with sore boyls from the sole of his foot unto his crown. 8 And he took him a potsherd to scrape himself withall; and he sat down among the ashes. 9 Then said his wife unto him, Dost thou still retain thine integrity? curse God, and die. 10 But he said unto her, Thou speakest as one of the foolish women speaketh: what? shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil? In all this did not Job sin with his lips. 11 Now when Jobs three friends heard of all this evil that was come upon him, they came every one from his own place; Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they had made an appointment together to come to mourn with him, and to comfort him. 12 And when they lift up their eyes afar off, and knew him not, they lifted up their voice, and wept, and they rent every one his mantle, and sprinkled dust upon their heads towards heaven. 13 So they sat down with him upon the ground seven days and seven nights, and none spake a word unto him: for they saw that his grief was very great.

Skin for Skin, yea, all that a Man hath will he give for his Life] It is plain, that this was a proverbial Speech then in use; and, if at this Distance of Time we don't rightly understand its Meaning, it is no more than the common Lot of all other Proverbs; the Senſe, and eſpecially the Grounds whereof are frequently unknown to Perſons of other Nations and After-times. It is known, that in thoſe antient Times, tho' they had ſome Money, yet the Main of their Eſtate lay in Cattle, of which the Skins were a conſiderable Part, and their chief Traffick lay in the Exchange of one Commodity for another, and it is certain they did exchange one Sort of Skins for another. So that the Meaning may be this: As Men willing and commonly give one Skin in Exchange for another Skin, and one Commodity for another, ſo all that a Man hath, his Houſe, Cattle and Children, will he give, and that moſt willingly, for his Life; that is, to redeem or ſave his own Life. Or rather, thus, Skin for Skin, might then be a Proverb, like that of ours, Body for Body, when one Man is ſo far obliged for another. And we have ſome ſuch Sort of Expreſſions among us; as when we ſay of a Man, who has done ſome dangerous Action, his Skin, that is, his Body ſhall pay for it, that is, it may coſt him his Life. In ſhort, the plain Meaning of the Words is this; That it is ſo far from being an Evidence of Job's ſincere and generous Piety, that it is only an Act of deeper Hypocriſy, and mere Self-love; he is well enough contented with the Loſs of his Eſtate, and Children too, ſo long as he ſleeps in a whole Skin; and he is well pleaſed, that thou wilt accept of theſe as a Sacrifice or Ranſom in his ſtead; it is not true Patience and Humility which makes him ſeem to bear his Croſſes ſo ſubmiſſively, as deep Policy, that by his feigned Carriage he may appeaſe thy Wrath againſt him, and prevent thoſe farther Plagues, which, for his Hypocriſy and other Sins, of which he is conſcious, he fears thou wilt otherwiſe bring upon his Carcaſe; as will plainly appear upon farther Trial.

Doſt thou ſtill retain thine Integrity? Curſe God and die] It is agreed, that the Hebrew Word ſignifies both to curſe and to bleſs; but the latter is the Senſe in which it is generally uſed, and, in the preſent Caſe, we think, it may with the greateſt Propriety be ſo taken: For it is evident, that in the former Part of the Woman's Speech, ſhe ſarcaſtically reproaches her Husband, for maintaining his Integrity, that is, his religious Reverence of God's Providence: And, therefore, we may reaſonably make the latter Part of her Reproof agree with the firſt, by tranſlating the Words, Bleſs God and die, taking them, at the ſame Time, as ſpoken ironically; however, taken either Way, it ſhewed her Contempt both for her Huſband, and for the Object of his Faith: Job, therefore, reproved her after this Manner: Thou ſpeakeſt, ſaid he, as one of the fooliſh Women ſpeaketh: What! ſhall we receive Good at the Hand of God, and ſhall we not receive evil? This Anſwer, as we apprehend, farther ſupports that Senſe in which we take his Wife's Expreſſion: For, if he had underſtood her Meaning to be, that he ſhould defy God, and thereby provoke him, by Death, to put an End to his Sufferings, it will be hard to conceive how he came to make uſe of ſo mild an Expreſſion as fooliſh Woman; or why he had not rather called her impious; whereas, admitting our Tranſlation, his Meaning will be plainly this: Thy Notions of the Deity, and his Manner of ruling over Mortals, are weak and fooliſh; we are his Creatures, and ought not to murmur at his Will, but as to receive Good without Merit, ſo we ſhould ſuffer chaſtiſement without repining; a proper Return certainly to her prophane Inſinuation, and from whence the inſpired Writer very juſtly obſerves, that Job did not in all this ſin with his Lips, i. e. ſuffer any raſh Expreſſion to eſcape.

Job's three Friends — Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite] As we know that Eſau, the Son of Jacob, was the Father of the Idumeans, a numerous and powerful People, who ſpread themſelves under the Conduct of his Sons, at a conſiderable Diſtance from their firſt Settlements; ſo we may reaſonably believe, this Eliphaz, the Temanite, to be the Son of Teman, the Son of Eliphaz, the Son of Eſau, and conſequently the ſixth from Abraham; according to this Suppoſition, he was allied in Blood to Job, both of them ſtanding perhaps in the ſame Degree from Terah, the Father of Nachor and Abraham. Thoſe who incline to think he is ſtiled the Temanite, from the City of Teman, on the Borders of Arabia, do not at all contradict what we have been ſaying; for Teman, might, very probably, receive its Name from the Grandſon of Eſau; and as to its Situation, it was certainly at no great Diſtance from the Land of Uz; and, if we reflect on the Manner in which this People lived, and their frequent Removes for the Sake of conveniently feeding their Cattle, we may very eaſily account for the Intimacy between Eliphaz and Job, even tho' Teman ſtood at a greater Diſtance than it did.

The Patriarch Abraham, had by Keturah, his Wife, after the Deceaſe of Sarah, five Sons, and all theſe he ſent into the Eaſt Country, in his Life-time, that they might be at a ſufficient Diſtance from Iſaac, the Heir both of his temporal Eſtate, and of the Promiſe which God had made him. Now the laſt of theſe Sons, in that Order in which they are ſet down Gen. xxv. is Shuah, from whom it's probable that Bildad the Shuhite ſprung. The Learned have aſſigned Shuah a Place very near the Land of Uz: So that the Place of his Dwelling, it's likely, lay between Teman and Uz, whereby Bildad was a Neighbour both of Eliphaz and Job, all nearly related to each other, as deſcending from their great Anceſtor Terah; which we may affirm with the greater Aſſurance, ſeeing there is no very conſiderable Writer who denies it.

As to Zophar, the Naamathite, the third Friend of Job, we muſt ingenuouſly confeſs, that nothing, with any Degree of Certainty, can be ſaid about him. Some have confounded Naamath, and Thimnah; but inſtead of having Recourſe to obſcure and ill-founded Conjectures, we chuſe to ſay no more of him, than that it is likely he lived at pretty near an equal Diſtance from Eliphaz and Bildad, and was a Deſcendant from the ſame Family, ſince the Sons of Keturah, and the Deſcendants from Eſau, ſeem to have fixed their Habitations about this Place.

Theſe Men having heard of the terrible Misfortunes that had befel their Friend Job, came to viſit and comfort him; but, ſurely, great was their Aſtoniſhment when they beheld him covered with Blotches and ſitting on a Dunghil.

What the Diſtemper was which the Devil had brought upon the Body of Job, is a Point much litigated among the Learned. Some are of Opinion, that it was the Leproſy, or univerſal Scab. Others imagine it a total Covering of the Body with inflammatory Puſtules, which itched moſt exceſſively, and tormented every Limb and Joint of him. A third Opinion is, that it was the Hyp-gout, or Sciatica. St. Auguſtin thought his Fleſh was every where corrupted, which ſeems, indeed, in ſome Meaſure, countenanced by the Text, which ſpeaks alſo as if his Fleſh had been eaten by Worms. However, this we may with Certainty aver, that as the Devil had a Power of afflicting him, the Diſtemper was none of the lighteſt; but that which, in the Opinion of a ſubtil Spirit, was beſt adapted to ſtir up Impatience, and engage the dejected Sufferer to forget the Reverence due to the Lord of the Univerſe, his Creator and Preſerver. But tho' we have only this general Meaſure of the Malignity of his Diſeaſe, and are not copiouſly informed as to the peculiar Sort of Blains and Eruptions; yet we are very well acquainted with the moſt painful and loathſome Part of Job's Infirmity: He was, from Head to Foot, covered with thoſe Boils, whatever Kind they were of, which broke out upon him; he was ſo foul, that he retired to a Dunghil, and there he ſcraped and cleanſed him a little from the Filth that was upon him; his Neighbours, ſtruck with the ſqualid Figure of his ſcabby Body, ſhunn'd him: Nay, the Sight and Smell of him drove away his own Family, as he moſt heavily complains; and he could ſcarce prevail on any one to ſpeak to him. Theſe Circumſtances are plain and expreſs enough, tho' they do not ſatisfy us as to the very Species his Illneſs might be referred to; but as to the End, viz. the making him feel the moſt horrid Anguiſh in his Body, nothing can be be accounted more full and explicit to satisfy any Christian, as to the Truth of his Condition in that Respect.

There is one Difficulty more in this Chapter, which has occasioned a good deal of Dispute among the Learned, namely, Who was Job's Wife? According to the Traditions of the Hebrews, she was Dinah, the Daughter of Jacob. In the Chaldee Paraphrase, printed at Venice, and in the London Polyglot, we find her so called; but in that of Antwerp, her Name is left out; and certain it is, that as no Notice is taken in the original Hebrew, so neither is there a Word about her in the Greek, Syrian, or Arabic Version. Others assert, That Dinah was not the first Wife of Job, she who grieved him in his Sorrows, and despised him for praying to God in his Afflictions; but a second Wife whom he married after his Calamities were over. But Philo says expressly, that it was she by whom Job had all his Children, viz. fourteen Sons, and six Daughters; seven Sons, and three Daughters, before his Misfortunes, and seven Sons and three Daughters afterwards. But this, like other Notions of the same Sort, how well soever they might satisfy a Nation so prone to flatter themselves as the Jews were, or whatsoever Credit they might meet with from Men so ready to take up with Traditions; yet it cannot be received by any Man of tolerable Sense, who will give himself Time to consider, and compute the History of Jacob and his Descendants, with that of this righteous Person and Family: For we know well enough the Age of Dinah, at the Time of her going with her Father and Brethren; and her Marriage with Job must have happened after that, which does not at all accord with the Chronology of that Book which is called by that holy Man's Name. Whoever his Wife was, there are still preserved nine Verses in the Greek Tongue of her satyrical Expostulations with her Husband, which do not deserve to be repeated, especially considering the Pains taken, in the History itself, to set that Passage in a clear Light. St. Austin compares Job's Wife tempting him, with Eve's tempting Adam; and takes Occasion to magnify the Wisdom, Virtue, and Piety of Job for his Conduct on that Occasion; concluding his Panegyrick with this Expression; Thus Job, when full of Sores, and covered with Dirt, was a better Man than Adam, in the Midst of that Felicity which he enjoyed in Paradise.

CHAP. III.

Job curses the Day of his Birth, and prefers the State and Condition of the Dead, before that of the Living.

Ver. 1. AFTER this opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day. 2 And Job spake and said, 3 Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man-child conceived. 4 Let that day be darkness, let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shine upon it. 5 Let darkness and the shadow of death stain it, let a cloud dwell upon it, let the blackness of the day terrifie it. 6 As for that night, let darkness seize upon it, let it not be joyned unto the days of the year, let it not come into the number of the months. 7 Lo, let that night be solitary, let no joyful voice come therein. 8 Let them curse it that curse the day, who are ready to raise up their mourning. 9 Let the stars of the twilight thereof be dark, let it look for light, but have none, neither let it see the dawning of the day. 10 Because it shut not up the doors of my mothers womb, nor hid sorrow from mine eyes. 11 Why died I not from the womb? why did I not give up the ghost when I came out of the belly? 12 Why did the knees prevent me? or why the breasts that I should suck? 13 For now should I have lien still, and been quiet, I should have slept; then had I been at rest; 14 With kings and counsellors of the earth, which built desolate places for themselves: 15 Or with princes that had gold, who filled their houses with silver: 16 Or as an hidden untimely birth I had not been; as infants which never saw light. 17 There the wicked cease from troubling: and there the weary be at rest. 18 There the prisoners rest together, they hear not the voice of the oppressor. 19 The small and great are there, and the servant is free from his master. 20 Wherefore is light given to him that is in misery, and life unto the bitter in soul; 21 Which long for death, but it cometh not, and dig for it more than for hid treasures? 22 Which rejoice exceedingly, and are glad when they can find the grave? 23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in? 24 For my sighing cometh before I eat, and my roarings are poured out like the waters. 25 For the thing which I greatly feared is come upon me, and that which I was afraid of, is come unto me. 26 I was not in safety, neither had I rest, neither was I quiet: yet trouble came.

In this and the subsequent Speeches of Job, we are carefully to distinguish between those passionate Bewailings, which flow from the Anguish of a Person under the most painful Sensation; and those argumentative Discourses, which he delivered in his Intervals from his excessive Torment, and which, from their Method and Stile, are easily discerned from the other. For as in Fevers, which deprive Men of their Senses, none reflect the injurious Expressions of the Sick; so, while intolerable Pain prevents the due Exercise of Reason, we may justly esteem the Patient not in his Senses, and therefore ought to pass by whatever vehement Complaints the Sense of his immediate Misery may extort. The Language of this pious Man indeed, tho' filled with the bitterest Invectives against the Miseries incident to human Nature, needed not to have drawn from us this Caution; but that the inspired Writer informs us, that the Almighty approved of what Job spoke concerning his Power and Providence, at the same Time that he declared his three Friends had expressed themselves on the same Head in Terms which were not right: And hence arose a Necessity of pointing out to our Readers which those Passages were, wherein we ought to expect such a just Description of the Divine Nature; lest any should mistake in a Matter of great Importance, by misapprehending the Words of the divinely inspired Author of this Book.

CHAP. IV.

Eliphaz replies to Job's heavy Complaints and bitter Imprecations; but instead of comforting him under the heavy Hand of God, his Answer is full of Reproof and Censure. Eliphaz's Vision.

Ver. 1. THEN Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said, 2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himself from speaking? 3 Behold, thou hast instructed many, and thou hast strengthened the weak hands. 4 Thy words have upholden him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the feeble knees. 5 But now it is come upon thee, and thou faintest; it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled. 6 Is not this thy fear, thy confidence, thy hope, and the uprightness of thy ways? 7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished being innocent? or where were the righteous cut off? 8 Even as I have ſeen, they that plow iniquity, and ſow wickedneſs, reap the ſame. 9 By the blaſt of God they periſh, and by the breath of his noſtrils are they conſumed. 10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the fierce lion, and the teeth of the young lions are broken. 11 The old lion periſheth for lack of prey, and the ſtout lions whelps are ſcattered abroad. 12 Now a thing was ſecretly brought to me, and mine ear received a little thereof. 13 In thoughts from the viſions of the night, when deep ſleep falleth on men, 14 Fear came upon me, and trembling, which made all my bones to ſhake. 15 Then a ſpirit paſſed before my face, the hair of my fleſh ſtood up. 16 It ſtood ſtill, but I could not diſcern the form thereof: an image was before mine eyes, there was ſilence, and I heard a voice, ſaying, 17 Shall mortal man be more juſt than God? ſhall a man be more pure than his maker? 18 Behold, he put no truſt in his ſervants; and his angel he charged with folly: 19 How much leſs on them that dwell in houſes of clay, whoſe foundation is in the duſt, which are cruſhed before the moth? 20 They are deſtroyed from morning to evening: they periſh for ever without any regarding it. 21 Doth not their excellency which is in them, go away? they die, even without wiſdom.

As Job's Friends ſeem to be Men of Probity, and zealous for Religion, what could be the Motives to induce them to maintain ſuch unfriendly Diſputes with Job, eſpecially at this Time? In Anſwer to this, we muſt remark, that of all the Eaſtern People, the Arabs have leaſt altered their Cuſtoms and Manner of Living; and the moſt authentick Relations concerning them, ſpeak of their Chiefs, as Perſons addicted to a ſedentary Courſe of Life, and much given to Contemplation. Hence we have the greateſt Reaſon to believe, that the moſt early Inhabitants of that Country were Men of a like Genius, which they had all Opportunity to indulge, notwithſtanding their frequent Migrations; ſince when once their Tents were pitched, the Heads of the Families were at Liberty to live after their accuſtomed Manner; that is, to ſpend the greateſt Part of the Day in diſcourſing with their Friends and Relations, as is the preſent Practice. There is nothing then which can obſtruct our giving Credit to the following Hypotheſis concerning theſe Alterations. Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar, being intimate with Job in his Proſperity, and having often converſed with him on religious Topics, thought it a Duty incumbent on them to viſit and comfort him in his Diſtreſs. Accordingly they for ſeven days bare him Company in his exceſſive Sorrow for his Misfortunes, all which Time he continued ſilent. But then, to give vent to his Afflictions, he ſpoke, as in the preceding Chapter, they were all troubled, as ſuppoſing that he charged God with Injuſtice; for which, before, they reprove him, and endeavour to ſet him right, by arguing with him in reſpect to that Point, which they thought of ſo great Conſequence, as that falling into ſo many Errors about it, as might prevent God's reſtoring him to his former happy Station; and thereby we think the Rectitude of their Intentions may be fully vindicated, ſince all they ſaid can be thus referred to a charitable Deſire of doing Good to their Neighbour, and a fervent Zeal for the Honour of God. Nor is this Explication incongruous with what is ſaid by Almighty, in relation to the Speeches of theſe Men; for the Wrath of the Lord is not ſaid to be kindled againſt them for having ſpoken, but for not having ſpoken right concerning him and his Attributes. In the 12th and following Verſes, Eliphaz deſcribes the Viſion which he had; which, that it was real, is apparent from the punctual Deſcription of all its Circumſtances. To think, as ſome do, that this was but a Fiction and Artifice of Eliphaz, that his Words might have more Authority with Job; or that this was but a diabolical Deluſion, ſeems to be both uncharitable and unreaſonable; partly, becauſe Eliphaz, tho' under a Miſtake concerning Job's Caſe, was doubtleſs a wiſe and good Man, and therefore would not needleſly make himſelf a Liar for Job's Conviction; and, partly, from the Matter of this Viſion, which is no way ſuitable to the Nature or Deſigns of the Devil, but holy, and agreeable to the Divine Majeſty and Purity, and uſeful to Men's Inſtruction, Humiliation, and Reformation. It was therefore a divine Viſion, which, in that Age, and State of the Church, before the holy Scriptures were written, was the uſual Way of God's Diſcovery of his Mind to thoſe that ſought him.

CHAP. V.

Eliphaz calls upon Job to produce any Authorities from the Saints contrary to his Opinion, with reſpect to the Juſtice and Purity of God. The Condition of the Fooliſh. Man is born to Trouble. God's Omnipotence.

Ver. 1. CALL now, if there be any that will anſwer thee; and to which of the ſaints wilt thou turn? 2 For wrath killeth the fooliſh man, and envy ſlayeth the ſilly one. 3 I have ſeen the fooliſh taking root: but ſuddenly I curſed his habitation. 4 His children are far from ſafety, and they are cruſhed in the gate, neither is there any to deliver them. 5 Whoſe harveſt the hungry eateth up, and taketh it even out of the thorns, and the robber ſwalloweth up their ſubſtance. 6 Although affliction cometh not forth of the duſt, neither doth trouble ſpring out of the ground: 7 Yet man is born unto trouble, as the ſparks fly upward. 8 I would ſeek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cauſe: 9 Which doeth great things and unſearchable; marvellous things without number. 10 Who giveth rain upon the earth, and ſendeth waters upon the fields: 11 To ſet up on high thoſe that be low; that thoſe which mourn may be exalted to ſafety. 12 He diſappointeth the devices of the crafty, ſo that their hands cannot perform their enterpriſe. 13 He taketh the wiſe in their own craftineſs: and the counſel of the froward is carried headlong. 14 They meet with darkneſs in the day time, and grope in the noon-day as in the night. 15 But he ſaveth the poor from the ſword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty. 16 So the poor hath hope, and iniquity ſtoppeth her mouth. 17 Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore deſpiſe not thou the chaſtening of the Almighty: 18 For he maketh ſore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole. 19 He ſhall deliver thee in ſix troubles: yea, in ſeven there ſhall no evil touch thee. 20 In famine he ſhall redeem thee from death; and in war, from the power of the ſword. 21 Thou ſhalt be hid from the ſcourge of the tongue: neither ſhalt thou be afraid of deſtruction when it cometh. 22 At deſtruction and famine thou ſhalt laugh: neither ſhalt thou be afraid of the beaſts of the earth. 23 For thou ſhalt be in league with the ſtones of the field: and the beaſts of the field ſhall be at peace with thee. 24 And thou ſhalt know that thy tabernacle ſhall be in peace; and thou ſhalt viſit thy habitation, and ſhalt not ſin.

25 Thou ſhalt know alſo that thy ſeed ſhall be great, and thine offſpring as the graſs of the earth. 26 Thou ſhalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a ſhock of corn cometh in in his ſeaſon. 27 Lo this, we have ſearched it, ſo it is; hear it, and know thou it for thy good.

Here Eliphaz again expatiates on the ſame Subject, and from the Whole draws this Concluſion, That tho' Affliction cometh not forth of the Duſt, i. e. is not neceſſarily annexed to human Nature, yet Man by his own Wickedneſs incurs frequent Puniſhments, and is in this Senſe born to Trouble, as the Sparks fly upward; wherefore he exhorts Job to commit his Cauſe to God, who doth great Things and unſearchable, marvellous Things without Number, whoſe Providence beſtows continual Bleſſings throughout the whole Earth, raiſing the Low to exalted Stations, and depreſſing the Crafty by their own Devices, ordering all Things with perfect Juſtice, and correcting in Mercy thoſe in whom he delights; reſtoring and protecting thoſe who rely on his Goodneſs, giving them Peace in their Habitations, plentiful Poſſeſſions, and leading them by an eaſy and ſlow Deſcent to the Grave.

CHAP. VI.

Job inſiſts that his Complaints are juſt, vindicates himſelf, and reproves his Friends.

Ver. 1. BUT Job anſwered and ſaid, 2 Oh that my grief were throughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together! 3 For now it would be heavier than the ſand of the ſea: therefore my words are ſwallowed up. 4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poyſon whereof drinketh up my ſpirit: the terrors of God do ſet themſelves in array againſt me. 5 Doth the wild aſs bray when he hath graſs? or loweth the ox over his fodder? 6 Can that which is unſavoury be eaten without ſalt? or is there any taſte in the white of an egg? 7 The things that my ſoul refuſed to touch are are as my ſorrowful meat. 8 O that I might have my requeſt: and that God would grant me the thing that I long for! 9 Even that it would pleaſe God to deſtroy me: that he would let looſe his hand and cut me off. 10 Then ſhould I yet have comfort, yea, I would harden my ſelf in ſorrow; let him not ſpare, for I have not concealed the words of the holy One. 11 What is my ſtrength, that I ſhould hope? and what is mine end, that I ſhould prolong my life? 12 Is my ſtrength the ſtrength of ſtones? or is my fleſh of braſs? 13 Is not my help in me? and is wiſdom driven quite from me? 14 To him that is afflicted pity ſhould be ſhewed from his friend; but he forſaketh the fear of the Almighty. 15 My brethren have dealt deceitfully as a brook, and as the ſtream of brooks they paſs away: 16 Which are blackiſh by reaſon of the ice, and wherein the ſnow is hid: 17 What time they wax warm they vaniſh; when it is hot, they are conſumed out of their place. 18 The paths of their way are turned aſide; they go to nothing, and periſh. 19 The troops of Tema looked, the companies of Sheba waited for them. 20 They were confounded becauſe they had hoped; they came thither, and were aſhamed. 21 For now ye are nothing; ye ſee my caſting down, and are afraid. 22 Did I ſay, Bring unto me? or give a reward for me of your ſubſtance? 23 Or deliver me from the enemies hand? or redeem me from the hand of the mighty? 24 Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: and cauſe me to underſtand wherein I have erred. 25 How forcible are right words? but what doth your arguing reprove? 26 Do you imagine to reprove words, and the ſpeeches of one that is deſperate, which are as wind? 27 Yea, ye overwhelm the fatherleſs, and you dig a pit for your friend. 28 Now therefore be content, look upon me, for it is evident unto you, if I lie. 29 Return I pray you, let it not be inquity; yea, return again, my righteouſneſs is in it. 30 Is there iniquity in my tongue; cannot my taſte diſcern perverſe things?

Job replies to Eliphaz in the ſame paſſionate Strain wherein he before bewailed his Misfortunes; but as nothing appears in his Diſcourſe that wants Explanation we ſhall proceed to the next Chapter.

CHAP. VII.

Job here gives a further Deſcription of his deplorable Condition, which is ſuch that he loaths Life, and beſeeches the Lord to deprive him of it. The Vanity and Littleneſs of Man.

Ver. 1. IS there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days alſo like the days of an hireling? 2 As a ſervant earneſtly deſireth the ſhadow, and as an hireling looketh for the reward of his work: 3 So am I made to poſſeſs months of vanity, and weariſom nights are appointed to me. 4 When I lie down, I ſay, When ſhall I ariſe, and the night be gone? and I am full of toſſings to and fro unto the dawning of the day. 5 My fleſh is clothed with worms and clods of duſt, my ſkin is broken, and become loathſome. 6 My days are ſwifter than a weavers ſhuttle, and are ſpent without hope. 7 O remember that my life is wind: mine eye ſhall no more ſee good. 8 The eye of him that hath ſeen me ſhall ſee me no more: thine eyes are upon me, and I am not. 9 As the cloud is conſumed, and vaniſheth away: ſo he that goeth down to the grave, ſhall come up no more. 10 He ſhall return no more to his houſe, neither ſhall his place know him any more. 11 Therefore I will not refrain my mouth, I will ſpeak in the anguiſh of my ſpirit, I will complain in the bitterneſs of my ſoul. 12 Am I a ſea, or a whale, that thou ſetteſt a watch over me? 13 When I ſay, My bed ſhall comfort me, my couch ſhall eaſe my complaint: 14 Then thou ſcareſt me with dreams, and terrifieſt me through viſions: 15 So that my ſoul chooſeth ſtrangling, and death rather than my life. 16 I loath it, I would not live alway: let me alone, for my days are vanity. 17 What is man, that thou ſhouldeſt magnifie him? and that thou ſhouldeſt ſet thine heart upon him? 18 And that thou ſhouldeſt viſit him every morning, and try him every moment? 19 How long wilt thou not depart from me, nor let me alone till I ſwallow down my ſpittle? 20 I have ſinned, what ſhall I do unto thee, O thou preſerver of men? why haſt thou ſet me as a mark againſt thee, ſo that I am a burden to my ſelf? 21 And why doſt thou not pardon my tranſgreſſion, and take away mine iniquity? for now ſhall I ſleep in the duſt, and thou ſhalt ſeek me in the morning, but I ſhall not be.

What is Man that thou ſhouldeſt magnify him] As if he had ſaid, What is there in that poor, mean, contemptible Creature, Man! miſerable Man! as this Word ſignifies, which can induce thee to take any Notice of him, or to have any Regard for him? Man is not worthy thy Favour, and is below thine Anger. It is too great an Honour to Man, that thou wilt contend with him, and draw forth all thy Forces againſt him, as if he was a fit Match for thee; whereas Men deſpiſe and diſregard mean Adverſaries, and will not honour them ſo much as to fight with him; therefore, do not, O Lord, thus diſhonour thyſelf, or magnify me. I acknowledge that even thy Corrections are Mercies and Honours, but, Lord, let me be no more ſo honoured.

CHAP. VIII.

Bildad's Reproof. God is juſt in all his Ways, and his Dealings towards Job's Children vindicated. If he was pure and upright, God would appear for him; and for this appeals to the Hiſtory of antient Times, which declares the bad End of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. THEN anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid, 2 How long wilt thou ſpeak theſe things? and how long ſhall the words of thy mouth be like a ſtrong wind? 3 Doth God pervert judgment? or doth the Almighty pervert juſtice? 4 If thy children have ſinned againſt him, and he have caſt them away for their tranſgreſſion: 5 If thou wouldeſt ſeek unto God betimes, and make thy ſupplication to the Almighty: 6 If thou wert pure and upright; ſurely now he would awake for thee, and make the habitation of thy righteouſneſs proſperous. 7 Though thy beginning was ſmall, yet thy latter end ſhould greatly increaſe. 8 For enquire, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thyſelf to the ſearch of their fathers. 9 (For we are but of yeſterday, and know nothing, becauſe our days upon earth are a ſhadow) 10 Shall they not teach thee, and tell thee, and utter words out of their heart. 11 Can theruſh grow up without mire? can the flag grow without water? 12 Whileſt it is yet in his greenneſs, and not cut down, it withereth before any other herb. 13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope ſhall periſh: 14 Whoſe hope ſhall be cut off, and whoſe truſt ſhall be a ſpider's web. 15 He ſhall lean upon his houſe, but it ſhall not ſtand: he ſhall hold it faſt, but it ſhall not endure. 16 He is green before the ſun, and his branch ſhooteth forth in his garden. 17 His roots are wrapped about the heap, and he ſeeth the place of ſtones. 18 If he deſtroy him from his place, then it ſhall deny him, ſaying, I have not ſeen thee. 19 Behold, this is the joy of his way, and out of the earth ſhall others grow. 20 Behold, God will not caſt away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil doers: 21 Till he fill thy mouth with laughing, and thy lips with rejoycing. 22 They that hate thee ſhall be clothed with ſhame, and the dwelling-place of the wicked ſhall come to nought.

If thou wert pure and upright] If thou wert in Truth what thou pretendeſt, and haſt been thought to be by others, pure and upright, that is, of a ſincere Heart, and blameleſs Life towards God and Man: But God's ſevere Dealing with thee is an evident Token, that notwithſtanding all thy fair Shews, thou art but a Hypocrite and ſecret Sinner. And this Senſe may ſeem to agree both with the Charge brought againſt Job by Eliphaz, Ch. iv. 6, 7. and with the following Diſcourſe, particularly with Ver. 13, 20. Or thus, If thou wouldeſt be pure and upright; that is, if thou wouldeſt join Reformation to thy Supplication.

CHAP. IX.

Job acknowledges God's Juſtice, and the Vanity of contending with him. The Godly and Wicked are afflicted alike, by general Calamities, and tyrannical Oppreſſion. Wiſhes for a Day's-Man, and a Removal of the divine Terror, then would he plead for himſelf.

Ver. 1. THEN Job anſwered and ſaid, 2 I know it is ſo of a truth: but how ſhould man be juſt with God? 3 If he will contend with him, he cannot anſwer him one of a thouſand. 4 He is wiſe in heart, and mighty in ſtrength: who hath hardened himſelf againſt him, and hath proſpered? 5 Which removeth the mountains and they know not: which overturneth them in his anger. 6 Which ſhaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble. 7 Which commandeth the ſun, and it riſeth not: and ſealeth up the ſtars. 8 Which alone ſpreadeth out the heavens, and treadeth upon the waves of the ſea. 9 Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, Pleiades, and the chambers of the ſouth. 10 Which doeth great things paſt finding out, yea, and wonders without number. 11 Lo, he goeth by me, and I ſee him not: he paſſeth on alſo, but I perceive him not. 12 Behold, he taketh away, who can hinder him? who will ſay unto him, What doeſt thou? 13 If God will not withdraw his anger, the proud helpers do ſtoup under him. 14 How much leſs ſhall I anſwer him, and chooſe out my words to reaſon with him? 15 Whom, tho' I were righteous, yet would I not anſwer, but I would make ſupplication to my judge. 16 If I had called, and he had anſwered me; yet would I not believe that he had hearkened unto my voice. 17 For he breaketh me with a tempeſt, and multiplieth my wounds without cauſe. 18 He will not ſuffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterneſs. 19 If I ſpeak of ſtrength, lo he is ſtrong: and if of judgment, who ſhall ſet me a time to plead? 20 If I juſtifie my ſelf, mine own mouth ſhall condemn me: if I ſay, I am perfect, it ſhall alſo prove me perverſe. 21 Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my ſoul: I would deſpiſe my life. 22 This is one thing, therefore I ſaid it, he deſtroyeth the perfect and the wicked. 23 If the ſcourge ſlay ſuddenly, he will laugh at the trial of the innocent. 24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked: he covereth the faces of the judges thereof; if not, where, and who is he? 25 Now my days are ſwifter than a poſt: they flee away, they ſee no good. 26 They are paſſed away as the ſwift ſhips: as the eagle that haſteth to the prey. 27 If I ſay, I will forget my complaint, I will leave off my heavineſs, and comfort my ſelf: 28 I am afraid of all my ſorrows, I know that thou wilt not hold me innocent. 29 If I be wicked, why then labour I in vain? 30 If I waſh my ſelf with ſnow-water, and make my hands never ſo clean; 31 Yet ſhalt thou plunge plunge me in the ditch, and mine own clothes ſhall abhor me. 32 For he is not a man as I am that I ſhould anſwer him, and we ſhould come together in judgment. 33 Neither is there any days-man betwixt us, that might lay his hand upon us both. 34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his fear terrifie me. 35 Then would I ſpeak, and not fear him; but it is not ſo with me.

Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the Chambers of the South] Theſe he names as Stars and Conſtellations of the greateſt Note and Eminence; for ſo they are both in Scripture and other Authors, and ſuch as have, or ought to have, a ſpecial Influence in raiſing Storms and Tempeſts; but under them he ſeems to comprehend all the Stars, which as they were created by God, ſo they are under his Government. Arcturus is a northern Conſtellation, near to that call'd the Bear, which riſes to us about the Beginning of September, and by its Riſing (as Pliny affirms) produces horrible Storms and Tempeſts. Orion is a ſouthern Conſtellation, that riſes to us in December, and is noted by Aſtronomers for raiſing fearful Winds and Tempeſts both by Sea and Land. The Pleiades is a Conſtellation not far from Orion, and near that called the Bull, which we call the ſeven Stars: To us it riſes about the Beginning of the Spring, and by its Riſing cauſeth Rains and Tempeſts, and therefore is unwelcome to Mariners at Sea. By the Chambers (or inmoſt and ſecret Chambers, as the Word ſignifies) of the South, he ſeems to mean thoſe Stars and Conſtellations which are towards the ſouthern Pole, which are fitly term'd inward Chambers, becauſe they are for the moſt Part hid and ſhut up (as Chambers commonly are) from theſe Parts of the World, and do not riſe or appear to us till the Beginning of Summer, when they alſo raiſe ſoutherly Winds and Tempeſts, as Aſtronomers obſerve.

CHAP. X.

Job continues his Complaints, and expoſtulates with God concerning his Afflictions; regrets the Hour that he was born, and entreats for a little Comfort before his Death.

Ver. 1. MY ſoul is weary of my life, I will leave my complaint upon my ſelf; I will ſpeak in the bitterneſs of my ſoul. 2 I will ſay unto God, Do not condemn me; ſhew me wherefore thou contendeſt with me. 3 Is it good unto thee, that thou ſhouldeſt oppreſs? that thou ſhouldeſt deſpiſe the work of thine hands? and ſhine upon the counſel of the wicked? 4 Haſt thou eyes of fleſh? or ſeeſt thou as man ſeeth? 5 Are thy days as the days of man? are thy years as mans days, 6 That thou enquireſt after mine iniquity, and ſearcheſt after my ſin? 7 Thou knoweſt that I am not wicked, and there is none that can deliver out of thine hand. 8 Thine hands have made me and faſhioned me together round about; yet thou doſt deſtroy me. 9 Remember, I beſeech the, that thou haſt made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into duſt again? 10 Haſt thou not poured me out as milk, and cruddled me like cheeſe? 11 Thou haſt clothed me with ſkin and fleſh, and fenced me with bones and ſinews. 12 Thou haſt granted me life and favour, and thy viſitation hath preſerved my ſpirit. 13 And theſe things haſt thou hid in thine heart: I know that this is with thee. 14 If I ſin, then thou markeſt me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity. 15 If I be wicked, wo unto me; and if I be righteous yet will I not lift up my head: I am full of confuſion, therefore ſee thou mine affliction: 16 For it increaſeth: thou hunteſt me as a fierce lion: and again thou ſheweſt thy ſelf marvellous upon me. 17 Thou reneweſt thy witneſſes againſt me, and increaſeſt thine indignation upon me; changes and war are againſt me. 18 Wherefore then haſt thou brought me forth out of the womb? Oh that I had given up the ghoſt, and no eye had ſeen me! 19 I ſhould have been as though I had not been, I ſhould have been carried from the womb to the grave. 20 Are not my days few? ceaſe then, and let me alone that I may take comfort a little: 21 Before I go whence I ſhall not return, even to the land of darkneſs, and the ſhadow of death; 22 A land of darkneſs, as darkneſs it ſelf, and of the ſhadow of death, without any order, and where the light is as darkneſs.

And theſe Things haſt thou hid in thine Heart] This may be underſtood, either, 1. Of Job's preſent Affliction. So the Senſe is this; Yet in the Midſt of all thoſe Manifeſtations of thy Grace and Kindneſs to me, thou didſt retain a ſecret Purpoſe of changing thy Courſe and Carriage towards me, and of bringing theſe dreadful Calamities upon me. Or rather, 2. Of his former Mercies, theſe Things, namely, laſt mentioned; thou haſt hid them in thy Heart; that is, thou doſt exactly remember them, as this Phraſe is uſed, Pſ. cxix. 11. Luke ii. 51. So the Argument is this; Let the Remembrance of thy former great Favours vouchſafed to me, move thee to give me farther Bleſſings, and a ſpeedy Deliverance. For this is uſual both with God and Men, to chuſe and delight to do more Good to them to whom they have done much Good already, which is the Ground of that known Paſſage, Matt. xiii. 12. To him that hath ſhall be given.

CHAP. XI.

Zophar reproves Job for juſtifying himſelf. The Perfections of God infinitely above Job's Conception. The aſſured Bleſſing of Repentance.

Ver. 1. THEN anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid, 2 Should not the multitude of words be anſwered? and ſhould a man full of talk be juſtified? 3 Should thy lies make men hold their peace? and when thou mockeſt, ſhall no man make thee aſhamed? 4 For thou haſt ſaid, My doctrine is pure, and I am clean in thine eyes. 5 But, O that God would ſpeak, and open his lips againſt thee; 6 And that he would ſhew thee the ſecrets of wiſdom, that they are double to that which is! know therefore that God exacteth of thee leſs than thine iniquity deſerveth. 7 Canſt thou by ſearching find out God? canſt thou find out the Almighty unto perfection? 8 It is as high as heaven, what canſt thou do? deeper than hell, what canſt thou know? 9 The meaſure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the ſea. 10 If he cut off, and ſhut up, or gather together; then who can hinder him? 11 For he knoweth vain men: he ſeeth wickedneſs alſo; will he not then conſider it? 12 For vain man would be wiſe, tho' man be born like a wild aſs colt. 13 If thou prepare thine heart, and ſtretch out thine hands towards him; 14 If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedneſs dwell in thy tabernacles. 15 For then ſhalt thou lift up thy face without ſpot, yea, thou ſhalt be ſtedfaſt, and ſhalt not fear: 16 Becauſe thou ſhalt forget thy miſery, and remember it as waters that paſs away. 17 And shine age shall be clearer than the noon-day; thou shalt shine forth, thou shalt be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be secure because there is hope; yea, thou shalt dig about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest in safety. 19 Also thou shalt lie down, and none shall make thee afraid, yea, many shall make suit unto thee. 20 But the eyes of the wicked shall fail, and they shall not escape, that their hope shall be as the giving up of the ghost.

That he would shew thee the Secrets of Wisdom, that they are double to that which is] By the Secrets of Wisdom understand the unknown and unsearchable Depths of God's Wisdom and Counsels, in dealing with his Creatures. These divine Secrets are far more and greater (the Word double being used indefinitely for manifold, or plentiful, as Isa. xl. 2. Jer. xvii. 18. Zech. ix. 12.) than that which hath a Being, or Existence; that is, the secret Wisdom of God is infinitely greater than that which is revealed to us by his Word or Works. The greatest Part of what is known of God, is the least Part of those Perfections which are in him. And therefore thou doest rashly and foolishly in passing such a bold Censure upon God's Ways, and judging so harshly of his Proceedings with thee, because thou dost not comprehend the Reasons of them; and judging thyself innocent, whereas the all-knowing God sees innumerable Sins in thee, for which he may utterly destroy thee, tho' thou discernest them not. But the Words are and must be render'd, either thus, that he hath double, that is, abundant Wisdom; for this the Hebrew Word signifies, Ch. vi. 13. and xii. 16. Prov. viii. 7. and iii. 21. or, that they are double to, or in that Being or Essence, namely, to God, who calls himself by the Name, I am, Ex. iii. 14. which signifies Being, and who appropriates Being to himself, Isa. xlv. 18. I am, and there is none else besides me; as elsewhere he is said to be the only wise, the only Potentate, and only immortal Being, 1 Tim. i. 17. and vi. 15, 16.

CHAP. XII.

Job affirms he is not inferior to his Friends in Understanding, and acknowledges, in general, the Doctrine of God's Omnipotence.

Ver. 1. AND Job answered and said, 2 No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you. 3 But I have understanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you: yea, who knoweth not such things as these? 4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God, and he answereth him: the just upright man is laughed to scorn. 5 He that is ready to slip with his feet, is as a lamp despised in the thought of him that is at ease. 6 The tabernacles of robbers prosper, and they that provoke God are secure; into whose hand God bringeth abundantly. 7 But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air, and they shall tell thee: 8 Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee; and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee. 9 Who knoweth not in all these, that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this? 10 In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind. 11 Doth not the ear try words? and the mouth taste his meat? 12 With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days, understanding. 13 With him is wisdom and strength, he hath counsel and understanding. 14 Behold, he breaketh down and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.

15 Behold, he withholdeth the waters, and they dry up: also he sendeth them out, and they overturn the earth. 16 With him is strength and wisdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his. 17 He leadeth counsellers away spoiled, and maketh the judges fools. 18 He looseth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loyns with a girdle. 19 He leadeth princes away spoiled, and overthroweth the mighty. 20 He removeth away the speech of the trusty, and taketh away the understanding of the aged. 21 He poureth contempt upon princes, and weakeneth the strength of the mighty. 22 He discovereth deep things out of darkness, and bringeth out to light the shadow of death. 23 He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straitneth them again. 24 He taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, and causeth them to wander in a wilderness where there is no way. 25 They grope in the dark without light, and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

Ask now the Beasts, and they shall teach thee] That is, objectively, thus; if thou observest their Properties, Actions, and Events; from them thou mayest learn this Lesson; namely, either, 1. That which was last mentioned, Ver. 5. God's Providence orders Things in the like Manner among the very Beasts, Fowls, and Fishes; of which the most mischievous and ravenous fare the best, whilst those which are most harmless, serviceable, and beneficial to Men, meet with the hardest Usage. Or, 2. That which Zophar had uttered with so much Pomp and Gravity, Ch. xi. 7, 8, 9. concerning God's infinite Wisdom, which, says Job, thou needest not go into Heaven or Hell to know, but thou mayest learn it from the Beasts, &c.

He looseth the Bond of Kings, and girdeth their Loins with a Girdle] By this Girdle is either meant, 1. A Girdle of Dignity and Glory, which was put upon the Loins of Men in Power and Authority, as Isa. xi. 5. and xxii. 21. Jer. i. 2. So this Member of the Verse is opposite to the former, and the Sense of the Whole is, He either casts down Kings, or raises them up, as he pleases. But the Scripture no where mentions this Girdle as the Ornament of Kings. Or, rather, 2. A servile Girdle: For, since all, both the foregoing and succeeding Passages, do evidently denote Acts of Judgment or Punishments, inflicted upon them, it seems improper to understand this alone, of an Act of God's Favour to them. So the Sense is, He reduces them into a mean and servile Condition, which is thus expressed, because Servants used to gird up their Garments (which, according to those Parts and Times, were loose and long) that they might be fitter for Attendance on their Masters; of which see Luke xii. 37. and xvii. 8. and so this is an Amplification of the former Sentence. He not only deposeth them from their Thrones, but brings them into Bondage and Slavery.

CHAP. XIII.

Job charges his Friends with Partiality; professes his Confidence in God, and entreats to know the Cause of his Affliction.

Ver. 1. LO, mine eye hath seen all this; mine ear hath heard and understood it. 2 What ye know, the same do I know also: I am not inferior unto you. 3 Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God. 4 But ye are forgers of lies, ye are all physicians of no value. 5 O that you would altogether hold your peace! and it should be your wisdom. 6 Hear now my reaſoning, and hearken to the pleadings of my lips. 7 Will you ſpeak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him? 8 Will ye accept his perſon? will ye contend for God? 9 Is it good that he ſhould ſearch you out? or as one man mocketh another, do ye ſo mock him? 10 He will ſurely reprove you, if ye do ſecretly accept perſons. 11 Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his dread fall upon you? 12 Your remembrances are like unto aſhes, your bodies to bodies of clay. 13 Hold your peace, let me alone that I may ſpeak, and let come on me what will. 14 Wherefore do I take my fleſh in my teeth, and put my life in mine hand? 15 Though he ſlay me, yet will I truſt in him: but I will maintain mine own ways before him. 16 He alſo ſhall be my ſalvation: for an hypocrite ſhall not come before him. 17 Hear diligently my ſpeech, and my declaration with your ears. 18 Behold now, I have ordered my cauſe: I know that I ſhall be juſtified. 19 Who is he that will plead with me? for now if I hold my tongue, I ſhall give up the ghoſt. 20 Only do not two things unto me: then will I not hide my ſelf from thee. 21 Withdraw thine hand far from me: and let not thy dread make me afraid. 22 Then call thou, and I will anſwer: or let me ſpeak, and anſwer thou me. 23 How many are mine iniquities and ſins? make me to know my tranſgreſſion and my ſin. 24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face, and holdeſt me for thine enemy? 25 Wilt thou break a leaf driven to and fro? and wilt thou purſue the dry ſtubble? 26 For thou writeſt bitter things againſt me, and makeſt me to poſſeſs the iniquities of my youth. 27 Thou putteſt my feet alſo in the ſtocks, and lookeſt narrowly unto all my paths; thou ſetteſt a print upon the heels of my feet. 28 And he, as a rotten thing conſumeth, as a garment that is moth-eaten.

Wherefore do I take my Fleſh in my Teeth, and put my Life in my Hand] According to this Tranſlation, the Senſe ſeems to be this: If, as you ſay, God puniſhes none but wicked Men, why does he bring me (whom he knows to be no Hypocrite, as you ſlander me) to that Extremity of Pain and Miſery, that I am almoſt conſtrained to tare and eat my own Fleſh (which is mentioned as the Character of Men in great Anguiſh, Iſa. ix. 20. and xlix. 26.) and am ready to lay violent Hands upon myſelf? Is the Crime ſo great to complain in this Caſe, or at leaſt to enquire into the Cauſe of this unuſual Severity? But this Senſe ſeems not to ſuit well either with the foregoing or following Verſes, but to come abruptly. Others therefore render the Words thus, Why ſhould I take my Fleſh in my Teeth, &c. and ſo this may be either, 1. A Reaſon of his ardent Deſire of Liberty and Speech, becauſe he could hold his Tongue no longer, but muſt needs tare himſelf to pieces, if he had not ſome Vent for his Grief. So this agrees well with Ver. 13. where he deſired this Freedom, and with Ver. 19. where the ſame Senſe is expreſſed in plainer Words. Or, 2. An Antidote againſt Deſpair. I perceive, my Friends, by your Diſcourſes, that you intend to drive me to utter Deſpair, if I do not turn to God in another Manner than yet I have done: Which, if you could do, I ſhould certainly tare my Fleſh, and violently take away my own Life: But I ſee no Reaſon why I ſhould give Way to any ſuch Deſpair or deſperate Actions. And this alſo hath a good Dependance upon the foregoing Words, Let come on me what will; as if he had ſaid, I have no Reaſon to fear ſuch Conſequences as ye ſuggeſt, nor to deſpair of a merciful Audience and Relief from God, and it is a good Connection with thoſe that follow, Ver. 15. where he declares his Hope and Confidence in God. The Phraſe of having one's Life in his Hand, notes a Condition extremely dangerous, and almoſt deſperate, as Judg. xii. 3. 1 Sam. xix. 5. and xxviii. 21. Pſ. cxix. 109.

CHAP. XIV.

Man's natural Miſery, Sin, and ſhort Life; the Certainty of Death. Job begs to be hid in the Grave, yet will wait his appointed Time.

Ver. 1. MAN that is born of a woman, is of few days, and full of trouble. 2 He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth alſo as a ſhadow, and continueth not. 3 And doſt thou open thine eyes upon ſuch an one, and bringeſt me into judgment with thee? 4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one. 5 Seeing his days are determined, the number of his months are with thee, thou haſt appointed his bounds that he cannot paſs. 6 Turn from him that he may reſt, till he ſhall accompliſh, as an hireling, his day. 7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will ſprout again, and that the tender branch thereof will not ceaſe. 8 Though the root thereof wax old in the earth, and the ſtock thereof die in the ground: 9 Yet through the ſcent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant. 10 But man dieth, and waſteth away: yea, man giveth up the ghoſt, and where is he? 11 As the waters fail from the ſea, and the flood decayeth and drieth up. 12 So man lieth down, and riſeth not till the heavens be no more, they ſhall not awake, nor be raiſed out of their ſleep. 13 O that thou wouldeſt hide me in the grave, that thou wouldeſt keep me ſecret, until thy wrath be paſt, that thou wouldeſt appoint me a ſet time, and remember me! 14 If a man die, ſhall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come. 15 Thou ſhalt call, and I will anſwer thee: thou wilt have a deſire to the work of thine hands. 16 For now thou numbreſt my ſteps, doſt thou not watch over my ſin? 17 My tranſgreſſion is ſealed up in a bag, and thou ſoweſt up mine iniquity. 18 And ſurely the mountain falling cometh to nought: and the rock is removed out of his place. 19 The waters wear the ſtones: thou waſheſt away the things which grow out of the duſt of the earth, and thou deſtroyeſt the hope of man. 20 Thou prevaileſt for ever againſt him, and he paſſeth: thou changeſt his countenance, and ſendeſt him away. 21 His ſons come to honour, and he knoweth it not; and they are brought low, but he perceiveth it not of them. 22 But his fleſh upon him ſhall have pain, and his ſoul within him ſhall mourn.

As the Waters fail from the Sea, and the Flood decayeth, or drieth up; ſo Man lieth down—] Now this may be underſtood, either, 1. By Way of Oppoſition, The Waters go, or flow out of the Sea, and return thither again, Eccleſ. i. 7. and a Lake or River ſometimes decays and drieth up; but is afterwards recruited and replenished: But Man lieth down, &c. Or, 2. By Way of Reſemblance, as Waters, i. e. ſome Portion of Waters, fail from the Sea, being either exhaled or drawn up by the Sun, or received and ſunk into the dry and thirſty Earth, or overflow its Banks; and as a Flood or a River, or a Pond (for the Word ſignifies any of derable Confluence of Waters) in a great Drought, decayeth and is dried up; in both which Cases the ſelf-ſame Waters never return to their former Places; ſo it is with Man. Or thus, as when the Waters fail from the Sea, i. e. as when the Sea forſakes the Place into which it uſed to flow, the River, which was fed by it, Eccleſ. i. 7. decayeth and drieth up without all Hopes of Recovery; ſo Man, when once the Fountain of his radical Moiſture is dried up, dies, riſeth not till the Heavens will be no more, or ſhall be awakened out of their Sleep: That is, to this Life; for he ſpeaks not here of the Life to come, nor of the Reſurrection after Death, by the Divine Power; of the Belief whereof he gives ſufficient Evidences in divers Places. 'Till the Heavens be no more, i. e. Either, 1. Never; becauſe the Heavens, tho' they ſhall be changed in their Qualities, yet ſhall never ceaſe to be, as to the Subſtance of them. And therefore, everlaſting and unchangeable Things are expreſſed by the Durations of the Heavens, Pſ. lxxii. 5. 7, 17. Matt. v. 18, &c. Or, 2. Not until the Time of the general Reſurrection, and the Reſtitution of Things, when theſe viſible Heavens ſhall paſs away, and be no more, at leaſt in the ſame Form and Manner as now they are, Pſ. cii. 26. Luke xxii. 33. 2 Pet. iii. 7, 10. Rev. xxi. 1.

CHAP. XV.

Eliphaz reprehends Job for his Impiety and vain Talk; and proves by Tradition the Unquietneſs of wicked Men.

Ver. 1. THEN anſwered Eliphaz the Temanite, and ſaid, 2 Should a wiſe man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the eaſt-wind? 3 Should he reaſon with unprofitable talk? or with ſpeeches wherewith he can do no good? 4 Yea, thou caſteſt off fear, and reſtraineſt prayer before God. 5 For thy mouth uttereth thine iniquity, and thou chooſeſt the tongue of the crafty. 6 Thine own mouth condemneth thee and not I: yea, thine own lips teſtifie againſt thee. 7 Art thou the firſt man that was born? or waſt thou made before the hills? 8 Haſt thou heard the ſecret of God? and doſt thou reſtrain wiſdom to thy ſelf? 9 What knoweſt thou that we know not? what understandeſt thou, which is not in us? 10 With us are both the gray-headed, and very aged men, much elder than thy father. 11 Are the conſolations of God ſmall with thee? is there any ſecret thing with thee? 12 Why doth thine heart carry thee away? and what do thine eyes wink at, 13 That thou turneſt thy ſpirit againſt God, and letteſt ſuch words go out of thy mouth? 14 What is man, that he ſhould be clean? and he which is born of a woman, that he ſhould be righteous? 15 Behold, he putteth no truſt in his ſaints; yea, the heavens are not clean in his ſight. 16 How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinketh iniquity like water? 17 I will ſhew thee, hear me, and that which I have ſeen, I will declare, 18 Which wiſe men have told from their fathers, and have not hid it: 19 Unto whom alone the earth was given, and no ſtranger paſſed among them. 20 The wicked man travelleth with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppreſſor. 21 A dreadful ſound is in his ears; in proſperity the deſtroyer ſhall come upon him. 22 He believeth not that he ſhall return out of darkneſs, and he is waited for of the ſword. 23 He wandreth abroad for bread, ſaying, Where is it? he knoweth that the day of darkneſs is ready at his hand. 24 Trouble and anguiſh ſhall make him afraid: they ſhall prevail againſt him, as a king ready to the battle. 25 For he ſtretcheth out his hand againſt God, and ſtrengtheneth himſelf againſt the Almighty. 26 He runneth upon him, even on his neck, upon the thick boſſes of his bucklers. 27 Becauſe he covereth his face with his fatneſs, and maketh collops of fat on his flanks. 28 And he dwelleth in deſolate cities, and in houſes which no man inhabiteth, which are ready to become heaps. 29 He ſhall not be rich, neither ſhall his ſubſtance continue, neither ſhall he prolong the perfection thereof upon the earth. 30 He ſhall not depart out of darkneſs, the flame ſhall dry up his branches, and by the breath of his mouth ſhall he go away. 31 Let not him that is deceived, truſt in vanity: for vanity ſhall be his recompenſe. 32 It ſhall be accompliſhed before his time, and his branch ſhall not be green. 33 He ſhall ſhake off his unripe grape as the vine, and ſhall caſt off his flower as the olive. 34 For the congregation of hypocrites ſhall be deſolate, and fire ſhall conſume the tabernacles of bribery. 35 They conceive miſchief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly prepareth deceit.

Unto whom alone the Earth was given] The Earth was given to them (i. e. Wiſe Men) either, 1. By the ſpecial and gracious Gift of God; whereas wicked Men invaded their Parts of the Earth. Or, 2. By the Choice and Conſent of the People, who for their great and known Wiſdom and Virtue, conferred this Power and Truſt upon them. This he alledges, partly, to make their Teſtimony more conſiderable, becauſe they were not obſcure, mean, or fooliſh Men, whoſe Words are commonly deſpiſed, but the moſt virtuous and famous Men of their Age and Country; and, partly, to contradict and confute what Job had ſaid, Ch. ix. 24. that the Earth was given into the Hand of the Wicked. By the Earth he either means the Dominion of the Earth, namely, of that Part of the Earth near to which Job and his Friends lived. Or rather, the Poſſeſſion of the Earth, that is, a great Portion of worldly Goods: Or, particularly, the Land of Canaan, which, by ſpecial Gift, was given to Abraham, (from whom it ſeems highly probable, that both Job and his Friends were deſcended) Iſaac, and Jacob; who, tho' they met with ſome common and ordinary Afflictions, yet enjoyed a great Comfort and Meaſure of Wealth, Honour, and Power in the World, as the Fruits of God's Bleſſing, and of his Covenant made with good Men, whilſt wicked Men were expoſed to manifold Diſtreſſes and grievous Calamities. All which thoſe holy Patriarchs diligently obſerved, and induſtriouſly imparted to their Children, to encourage them to continue and proceed in the Ways of Piety.

But how was the Earth or Land given to them alone, as is here ſaid? Either, 1. Becauſe Noah and his Sons (of whom ſome underſtand theſe Words) had the ſole Poſſeſſion and Dominion of the Earth. Or, 2. Becauſe Canaan was given to Abraham, and to his Seed alone. And ſome of Abraham's Children had the Dominion of, or an ample Poſſeſſion in thoſe Parts, where Job and his Friends lived, who alſo ſeem to be in the Number of them. Or, 3. Becauſe they only had it by God's ſpecial and gracious Providence, or by the Choice and Approbation of the People; whereas wicked Men took it by Rapine and Violence, without aſking Leave either of God or Man.

CHAP. XVI.

Job reproves his Friends for Unmercifulneſs; ſets forth the Pitifulneſs of his Caſe, and maintains his Innocence.

Ver.

Ver. 1. THEN Job answered and said, 2 I have heard many such things: miserable comforters are ye all. 3 Shall vain words have an end? or what emboldeneth thee that thou answerest? 4 I also could speak as ye do: if your soul were in my souls stead, I could heap up words against you, and shake mine head at you. 5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the moving of my lips should assuage your grief. 6 Though I speak, my grief is not assuaged: and though I forbear, what am I eased? 7 But now he hath made me weary: thou hast made desolate all my company. 8 And thou hast filled me with wrinkles which is a witness against me: and my leanness rising up in me, beareth witness in my face. 9 He teareth me in his wrath, who hateth me: he gnasheth upon me with his teeth; mine enemy sharpeneth his eye upon me. 10 They have gaped upon me with their mouth, they have smitten me upon the cheek reproachfully, they have gathered themselves together against me. 11 God hath delivered me to the ungodly, and turned me over into the hands of the wicked. 12 I was at ease, but he hath broken me asunder: he hath also taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces, and set me up for his mark. 13 His archers compass me round about, he cleaveth my reins asunder, and doth not spare; he poureth out my gall upon the ground. 14 He breaketh me with breach upon breach, he runneth upon me like a giant. 15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust. 16 My face is foul with weeping, and on my eye-lids is the shadow of death: 17 Not for any injustice in mine hands: also, my prayer is pure. 18 O earth, cover not thou my blood, and let my cry have no place. 19 Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high. 20 My friends scorn me: but mine eye poureth out tears unto God. 21 O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbour! When a few years are come, then I shall go the way whence I shall not return.

O that one might plead for Man with God, as a Man pleadeth for his Neighbour] As if he had said, O that either I, or some faithful Advocate, might be admitted to plead my Cause, either with God, or rather with you, before God's Tribunal, God being Witness and Judge between us. But this Verse is, and that very agreeably to the Hebrew Text, otherwise translated and interpreted, either, 1. With respect to Christ, and he (that is, God, last mentioned, namely, God the Son, Christ Jesus) will plead for a Man, that is, for me against whom you plead. He modestly speaks of himself in the third Person, (as is usual) with God (namely, with God the Father) and the Son of Man, (as Christ is often called) will plead for his Friend, or Companion, or Neighbour, that is, for a Man whom he has taken into Relation with himself. It is plain that the Mystery of Man's Redemption by Christ was known to the antient Patriarchs, and to Job among others, Ch. xix. 25. Or, 2. As the Matter for which he prayed, and cried to God, That he (God) would plead, or judge, or give Sentence for a Man, (that is, for me, or in my Cause) with God (namely, with himself, the Noun being put for the Pronoun, as Gen. ii. 20. and iv. 15, 16. and elsewhere, or at his own Tribunal, to which I have appealed) as a Man pleadeth for his Friend or Neighbour, with or before an earthly Judge or Tribunal. This seems most agreeable to the Scope of the Place, which was to maintain his own Integrity, against his Friends before God.

CHAP. XVII.

Job describes the Misery of his Life. False Friends and their Punishment. His Contempt, and Sorrow. The Righteous shall be established. His Hope is not in Life, but in Death.

Ver. 1. MY breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me. 2 Are there not mockers with me? and doth not mine eye continue in their provocation? 3 Lay down now, put me in a surety with thee: who is he that will strike hands with me? 4 For thou hast hid their heart from understanding: therefore shalt thou not exalt them. 5 He that speaketh flattery to his friends, even the eyes of his children shall fail. 6 He hath made me also a by-word of the people, and aforetime I was as a tabret. 7 Mine eye also is dim by reason of sorrow, and all my members are as a shadow. 8 Upright men shall be astonied at this, and the innocent shall stir up himself against the hypocrite. 9 The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger. 10 But as for you all, do you return and come now: for I cannot find one wise man among you. 11 My days are past, my purposes are broken off, even the thoughts of my heart. 12 They change the night into day: the light is short, because of darkness. 13 If I wait, the grave is mine house: I have made my bed in the darkness. 14 I have said to corruption, Thou art my father: to the worm, Thou art my mother, and my sister. 15 And where is now my hope? as for my hope, who shall see it? 16 They shall go down to the bars of the pit, when our rest together is in the dust.

Lay down now, put thee in a Surety with thee, who is he that will strike Hands with me] There are several Passages in Scripture that relate to some particular Customs that were in Use only at that Time, of which we can have but little Idea at this Distance, and the true Meaning whereof can therefore be only guessed. Of this Kind, perhaps, is the Verse now recited. Job here seems to turn his Speech to Eliphaz, who spoke last; or rather to God, as is evident from the next Verse. These Words contain either, 1. An humble Desire to God, that he would appoint him a Surety, who should undertake for his Friends, that they should refer the Cause, in Difference between them, to God, or to some other Person, who should determine the Matter in God's Name, and according to God's Will; or that God would be his Surety, or appoint him a Surety, who should maintain his righteous Cause against his Opposers; for so this Phrase is often used, as Psal. cxix. 21. Isa. xxxviii. 14. and some expound this, as they do the 21st Verse of Ch. xvi. of Jesus Christ, who is called our Surety, Heb. vii. 22. appoint, I pray, thee, my Surety, (i. e. Christ, who is now) with thee to plead my Cause. Or, rather, 2. an Appeal from Man unto God, or a Kind of Challenge or Desire of debating his Cause with God. Which, tho' it savoureth too much of Boldness and Irreverence to God, yet Job expresses the same Desire, almost in the same Manner Ch. ix. 33, 34. and is sharply reproved by God for contending with him, Ch. xl. 2. I see no Inconvenience in ascribing the same Thing to him here. So the Sense is, Because I am not able to deal with thee immediately, considering the Dread of thy Majesty, my only Desire is, that thou wouldest deal with me upon fair and equal Terms, as if thou wert a Man like myself; or appoint some Man, who shall in thy Name and stead, determine the Time and Place of the Trial of my Cause with thee. And this agrees well with the two following Verses, because his Friends were without Understanding, Ver. 4. and partial, Ver. 5. therefore he desires to cease discoursing with them, and to debate his Cause with God, who was just and impartial, and would judge favourably. Who is he that will strike Hands with me? That is, agree, and promise, or be Surety to me; whereof that was the usual Gesture, Prov. vi. 1, 2. and xvii. 18. and xxii. 26.

CHAP. XVIII.

Bildad reproves Job for his Presumption and Impatience. The Calamities of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. THEN answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said, 2 How long will it be, ere you make an end of words? mark, and afterwards we will speak. 3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and reputed vile in your sight? 4 He teareth himself in his anger: shall the earth be forsaken for thee? and shall the rock be removed out of his place? 5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be put out, and the spark of his fire shall not shine. 6 The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, and his candle shall be put out with him. 7 The steps of his strength shall be straitned, and his own counsel shall cast him down. 8 For he is cast into a net by his own feet, and he walketh upon a snare. 9 The grin shall take him by the heel, and the robber shall prevail against him. 10 The snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way. 11 Terrors shall make him afraid on every side, and shall drive him to his feet. 12 His strength shall be hunger bitten, and destruction shall be ready at his side. 13 It shall devour the strength of his skin: even the first-born of death shall devour his strength. 14 His confidence shall be rooted out of his tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the king of terrours. 15 It shall dwell in his tabernacle, because it is none of his: brimstone shall be scattered upon his habitation. 16 His roots shall be dried up beneath, and above shall his branch be cut off. 17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street. 18 He shall be driven from light into darkness, and chased out of the world. 19 He shall neither have son nor nephew among his people, nor any remaining in his dwellings. 20 They that come after him shall be astonied at his day, as they that went before were affrighted. 21 Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

It shall dwell in his Tabernacle, because it is none of his: Brimstone shall be scattered upon his Habitation] It, i. e. Destruction, expressed Ver. 12. and designed by this Particle it, Ver. 13. shall not come upon him and stay, for a Season, for then there might be some Hopes of a Recovery; but it shall fix its Abode with him, — because it is none of his. This may be added either, 1. By Way of Correction; did I say, his Tabernacle? I must retract the Expression; for in Truth it is none of his, it is become another Man's. Or, 2. As a Reason of the Ruin of his Tabernacle, because it is none of his own, but got from others by Deceit or Violence. But these Words are, and may be joined with the former, and both thus rendered: A Stranger (Heb. one that is not his, that is, not descended from him, and hath no Relation to him) shall dwell in his Tabernacle, i. e. shall possess his House and Goods. —

Brimstone shall be scattered on his Habitation, i. e. it shall be utterly and prodigiously destroyed, as it were, by Fire and Brimstone. He seems to allude both to the Destruction of Sodom, upon which God did scatter Fire and Brimstone, which happened not long before these Times, and could not be unknown to them who lived so near that Place, and were diligent Observers of God's Works; and to the Judgment which befel Job, Ch. i. 16. When the Stranger hath taken and rifled his Dwelling, he shall forsake it as an accursed Place, and shall burn it with Brimstone and Fire, that there may be no Monument left of so vile a Person upon the Earth.

CHAP. XIX.

Job complains of the Cruelty of his Friends, and allows that his Misfortunes furnish them with Matter enough to torment him. He acknowledges a Redeemer, and believes a Resurrection.

Ver. 1. THEN Job answered and said, 2 How long will ye vex my soul, and break me in pieces with words? 3 These ten times have ye reproached me: you are not ashamed that you make your selves strange to me. 4 And be it indeed that I have erred, mine errour remaineth with my self. 5 If indeed ye will magnifie your selves against me, and plead against me my reproach: 6 Know now that God hath overthrown me, and hath compassed me with his net. 7 Behold, I cry out of wrong, but I am not heard: I cry aloud, but there is no judgment. 8 He hath fenced up my way that I cannot pass, and he hath set darkness in my paths. 9 He hath stript me of my glory, and taken the crown from my head. 10 He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am gone: and mine hope hath he removed like a tree. 11 He hath also kindled his wrath against me, and he counteth me unto him, as one of his enemies. 12 His troops come together and raise up their way against me, and encamp round about my tabernacle. 13 He hath put my brethren far from me, and mine acquaintance are verily estranged from me. 14 My kinsfolk have failed, and my familiar friends have forgotten me. 15 They that dwell in mine house, and my maids, count me for a stranger: I am an alient in their sight. 16 I called my servant, and he gave me no answer: I intreated him with my mouth. 17 My breath is strange to my wife, though I intreated for the childrens sake of mine own body. 18 Yea, young children despised me; I arose, and they spake against me. 19 All my inward friends abhorred me: and they whom I loved, are turned against me. 20 My bone cleaveth to my skin, and to my flesh, and I am escaped with the skin of my teeth. 21 Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends, for the hand of God hath touched me. 22 Why do ye persecute me as God, and are not satisfied with my flesh? 23 Oh that my words were now written, O that they were printed in a book! 24 That they were graven with an iron pen, and lead, in the rock for ever! 25 For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth. 26 And though after my skin, worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: 27 Whom I shall see for my self, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another; though my reins be consumed within me. 28 But ye should say, Why persecute we him, ſeeing the root of the matter is found in me? 29 Be ye afraid of the ſword: for wrath bringeth the puniſhments of the ſword, that ye may know there is a judgment.

O that my Words were now written! O that they were printed in a Book! That they were graven with an iron Pen and Lead, in the Rock for ever! For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he ſhall ſtand in the latter Day upon the Earth] If Job, ſays Campbel, had really intended no more, than to aſſure his Friends he did not deſpair, but hoped yet to ſee good Days upon Earth, I think he could never have made uſe of theſe Words. What Occaſion could there be for writing thus? Of what Conſequence was it, that he ſhould deſire its being inſcribed on a Rock? Common Things were not, even in thoſe Days, written in ſuch a Manner as Job wiſhed his Words to be writ. There is an Emphaſis in his Expreſſion, which plainly points at his wiſhing a Record might be made for the Uſe of Ages to come.

The Words in our Bible, printed in a Book, ſignify, Put in a Roll, that is, ſuch a Roll as their Genealogies were written in, which we know were the Writings moſt eſteemed among them. The graving with an iron Pen and Lead, was without all Doubt, a ſtronger and more laſting Method of preſerving the Memory of Things deſcribed in this Manner; and all together proves plainly, that what Job was about to declare, was a Point of very high Importance. Then follow immediately the Words which I propoſe to examine: For I know that my Redeemer liveth. The Word Goel, which we tranſlate Redeemer, is a Word very often uſed in the Old Teſtament, and conſequently the Senſe of it is very well fixed; it ſignifieth the next of Kin; he to whom the Right of Redemption from Captivity or Bondage belonged, or the Power of retrieving from Mortgage or Pawn. Thus, in Leviticus, we read this Injunction: If thy Brother be waxen Poor, and have ſold away ſome of his Poſſeſſion, and if any of his Kin come to redeem it, then ſhall he redeem that which his Brother ſold, Ch. xxv. 25. Now it is impoſſible that Job ſhould have made Uſe of any Word more expreſſive of the Office of the Meſſiah than this. Thus, in the Prophecy of Iſaiah, we are told in very lively and expreſſive Terms how his Sufferings ſhould profit us. He was wounded (ſays the Prophet) for our Tranſgreſſions; he was bruiſed for our Iniquities; the Chaſtiſement of our Peace was upon him, and with his Stripes we are healed, Iſa. liii. 5. The Apoſtle to the Hebrews explains this Matter yet more fully, and more to our Purpoſe. And for this Cauſe (ſays he) he, that is, Chriſt, is the Mediator of the New Teſtament, that, by Means of Death, for the Redemption of the Tranſgreſſions that were under the firſt Covenant, they which are called might receive the Inheritance, Heb. ix. 15. But as this Appellation very fitly pointed out the Office of Chriſt our Saviour, ſo we find it among the Names or Titles, by which the Meſſiah is expreſly called in the Old Teſtament. When Jacob bleſſed Joſeph and his Sons, he ſaith: The Angel which redeemed me from all Evil bleſs the Lads, Gen. xlviii. 16. And in the Prophet Iſaiah we find: The Redeemer ſhall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from Tranſgreſſion in Jacob, ſaith the Lord, Iſa. lix. 20. Both which Paſſages the Jews, as well as we, interpret of the Meſſiah. The Time which he expected this Redeemer, is another ſtrong Proof that it was indeed the Meſſiah of whom he ſpoke; for tho' he declares that he knew his Redeemer was then living, yet it was not till the laſt Day that he expected he ſhould ſtand upon the Earth; and in this Day plainly he expected his Deliverance. I know that learned Men have endeavoured to give other Senſes to this Expreſſion; but then it is with great Violence done to the natural Conſtruction of the Words, and with ſuch an apparent Prejudice againſt that Senſe in which we take them, as I think no impartial Perſon can digeſt; for they would have us believe, that the Meaning of this Aſſertion is no more, than that Job believed God would deliver him from all the Evils which oppreſſed him, and be, as it were, laſt in the Field, when all his Enemies were trod down and ſubdued.

But, obſerve, Job does not ſpeak here ſimply of God, but of his Goel, his Redeemer; and the Word he makes Uſe of, does not ſignify after a Time, but in the very laſt Time; ſo the Word Haphar does not ſignify a Field or Place of Battle, but the Earth, or Duſt of the Earth. Beſides, Job does not ſpeak of Victory gained by his Redeemer; but of a Victory to be gained by himſelf, when he ſhould behold his Redeemer. The Manner in which he declares he ſhould behold him, confirms what has been ſaid: Though after my Skin, Worms deſtroy this Body, yet in my Fleſh ſhall I ſee God, whom I ſhall ſee for myſelf, and my Eyes ſhall behold, and not another. To ſay, that, by this, no more is meant than a confident Hope, that God would, ſome Time or other, relieve him, is ſuch a manifeſt Departure from the literal Senſe, and is introducing ſuch a ſtrange Method of interpreting Scripture, as would enable Men to give any Senſe they pleaſe to any Text which is produced: Nor is it poſſible to aſſign any Reaſon, either for underſtanding the Words in the Senſe laſt mentioned, or to doubt of Job's Meaning the beatifick Viſion of his Saviour in another Life; but the obſtinate Opinion which ſome Men have, that the Reſurrection of the Dead was a Point neither known nor believed by the Patriarchs; but ſure this Prejudice of theirs ought not to deſtroy the Profeſſion of an inſpired Writer, delivered in the moſt expreſs Terms. The Exclamation with which Job concludes this Proteſtation, is very maſculine and noble, although in our Tranſlation, it is ſo rendered as not to be eaſily underſtood; for having given this conciſe, and yet apparent Teſtimony of his Faith, the holy Man adds, The Zeal with which [illegible] hope conſumes me; thereby expreſſing the Livelineſs of his Truſt in God, and the burning Deſire he had to behold his Redeemer. This, I ſay, is the true Meaning of the Text, which, in our Bible ſtands, Tho' my Reins be conſumed within me, Job xix. 27. The Vulgar Latin has it as it ought to be: Repoſita hæc ſpes mea in ſinu meo; This is the Hope laid up in my Boſom; conformable to a Multitude of Paſſages in Scripture to the ſame Purpoſe; neither are theſe Starts or Apoſtrophes, however uncommon in European Authors, at all infrequent in oriental Writers, or even in the Books of Scripture. In the Teſtament, or rather in the Death-bed Prophecy of Jacob, we have an Inſtance of this Kind; for the Patriarch having deſcribed the Condition of Dan, cries out of a ſudden, before he proceeds to ſpeak of Gad, I have waited for thy Salvation, O Lord. The Truth of our Comment on the Words of Job, and of our Aſſertion that he believed in the Meſſiah, and in the Reſurrection of the Dead, might be ſafely reſted here for the Evidence already produced is as convincing as in this Caſe, can be deſired. But the following Verſe wherein the good Man ſums up the Effect of all he has ſaid, and applies it directly to his Friends, who had charged him with want of Faith, and with Diffidence as to his Creator, is ſo very much to my Purpoſe, that I cannot perſuade myſelf to paſs by it: But [illegible] ſay, Why perſecute we him? Seeing the Root of the Matter is found in me, Job xix. 28. It is clear that [illegible] looked upon his Declaration as a full Evidence of [illegible] being faithful, and holding the true Faith of his Fa[illegible] thers, and therefore he calls his Faith a Root, which implies Fixedneſs, and urges it as a Cauſe why his Friends ſhould lay aſide their Reproaches; [illegible] however they might differ about leſs material Points yet, as to the main Articles of Religion, they were agreed. Thoſe who would have all this mean no more than a firm Hope of being reſtored to temporal Proſperity make Job give up his Argument, and go over, in a great Meaſure, to the Sentiments of his Opponents: at leaſt they make him contradict himſelf, by making him ſay the very Reverſe of what he had before ſaid, that he had no Hopes but in Death. Whereas the contrary of all this appears beyond Contradiction: for the Controverſy is not ended by this Speech of [illegible] Friends purſue the Arguments they had [illegible] much Vigour, tho' not with as much Acrimony as before; for now they were satisfied that Job believed and trusted in God, whereas, before, they imagined that, through Despair, he had cast off all Reverence of the Divine Being. Those who maintain the Sentiment, we reject, are forced to have Recourse to mystical Senses, and to allegorical Expressions; Things they would not care to admit on another Occasion, and which there is no Colour for allowing in the Case before us, because there is not a Word which has an Air of Metaphor in the Text; whereas in admitting the Sense which here, and in the History, I have endeavoured to support, there is no straining at all of the Words or of the Matter; but the whole of Job's Speeches and of his Visitants are uniform and consistent, which surely is the strongest Proof that this is the genuine Meaning of the inspired Writer. For tho' Job, worn with Grief and with a cruel Disease, desired to be at Ease from Afflictions, and to rest in the Grave from the excruciating Torments of temporal Calamities, as his Words so often mentioned implied; yet why is this to be taken for an utter Despair of God's Favour, a relinquishing all Hope in him? Even in the Midst of his Sorrows and Complaints, this good and righteous Person professed quite the contrary: Though he should slay me, yet would I trust in him, Job xiii. 25. But tho' he knew that the Grave was the End of worldly Things, and that the Joys of this Life were buried therein; yet he knew too that his Innocence would receive a Reward, and therefore he thirsted for a better State. Had his Expectation been in this Life, would he have said, that, in the last Days, he should have Deliverance? Would he have declared, that this should not come till his Body was corrupted throughout, even as his Skin then was by his Malady? Would he have profes's'd, after all this, an Assurance of seeing God, his Redeemer, in the Flesh? And would he have called this Declaration a Root of the Matter, when thus, understood, 'tis neither more nor less than what his Opponents had advanced? Certainly it would not. His Redemption was quite of another Nature, and he grounded his Hopes on very solid Foundations, viz. on God's Justice, and on his own Innocence. He maintains the first always, tho' he insists that it is inscrutable by human Understanding; and insists on the latter, as the Source of all his Hope. He believes that his Creator is absolute Lord of his Creatures, there he submits. He knows, from his own Case, and from reflecting on that he has seen, that the unhappy are not always wicked; therefore he affirms the Unsearchableness of God's Ways. He is sensible in Death there is Rest; for this Reason he passionately longs for it. He is satisfied God is righteous and merciful; therefore, in the World to come, he doubts not of Salvation. This is the real Meaning of Job's Speeches.

And though after my Skin Worms destroy this Body, yet in my Flesh shall I see God] Before we proceed to examine the Purport of these Words, says the same Author, it will be necessary to give a more literal Interpretation than that which we have copied from our Bible.

Though it be not exactly agreeable to our Idiom, and, consequently, could not so well be used there: I know that my Redeemer lives, and shall stand at last on the Earth; and after my Skin, this too being destroyed, yet in my Flesh shall I see God." Two Questions have arisen from this Assertion of Job, viz. Who that remember is whom he speaks? And when it was that Job expected Deliverance? Of the first we shall elsewhere speak at large; but of the latter we shall here give our Readers as clear an Account as we are able.

The Fathers of the Christian Church, and after them many learned Expositors of the Holy Scripture, understand this Passage as referring to the Resurrection of the Dead; and the principal Reasons which they assign for so explaining it, may be reduced to the following Heads: First they alledge, that the plain and literal Sense of what Job says, is wholly in their Favour; since he affirms, that his Redeemer lives, that at the last he shall stand on Earth; that after his Body should be as much corrupted as his Skin was at the Time of his speaking, yet in his Flesh he should see God; Phrases which they assert can signify nothing but his Confidence of God's coming at the last Day, and of his beholding him then in the Flesh, himself being raised from the Dead. Secondly, They argue the earnest Desire which Job had hitherto shewed for Death, and especially that Passage before mentioned, Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him; which, say they, would have no Meaning at all, unless he hoped in another Life to receive that Reward of his Righteousness, which, for Reasons unfathomable by human Understanding, had been denied him in this. Thirdly, That considering the many hasty and impatient Sayings which the virulent Reproaches of his Friends had extorted from Job, it is difficult to conceive why God, in so express Terms, should declare his Approbation of what this holy Man had delivered concerning him, unless we admit that Job, in the midst of his Sufferings, stedfastly believed that God would hereafter raise him up from the Dead, and reward him with eternal Felicity.

Some modern Commentators have, however, embraced a contrary Opinion; denying that Job had any Idea of a future State, or Resurrection from the Dead, and alledging, that the Passage of which we are now speaking refers onely to the Hopes he had of being restored to a prosperous Condition in this Life: Wherefore, according to their Sentiments, the Assertion of this devout Person is thus to be understood: I know that my God lives, and that hereafter he shall manifest his Power in my Favour, by laying mine Enemy in the Dust; and, notwithstanding the miserable Condition I am now in, yet my Body, however corrupted, shall be restored, and in my Flesh, that is, in this Life, shall I see God; that is, his Power, in delivering me from all these Evils. To support this Manner of interpreting Job's Testimony of his Faith, they alledge, That in the Scriptures there are many Instances of great and heavy Sufferings being spoken of, as of Death; as in the Psalms, when we read, My Strength is dried like a Potsherd, and my Tongue cleaveth to my Jaws; and thou hast brought me into the Dust of Death. Comformable to which, Resurrection and Quickening are made use of to denote God's returning and delivering the Spirits of the Righteous from those deep and daily Calamities; to which purpose, we read also in the Psalms, God, who hath shewed me great and sore Troubles, shall quicken me again, and shall bring me up again from the Depths of the Earth. They argue, farther, That Job himself, in other Parts of his Lamentations, expresses no other Hopes in Death than being absolutely free from Sensation; and, consequently, would thereby be rid of those excruciating Torments under which he at that Time groaned. And this, according to them, is exactly conformable to the Divinity of those antient Times, wherein, as Job's Friends plainly set it forth, they conceived, from the Observation and Advice of their Fathers, that God constantly rewarded the pious with good Things, and plagued the wicked for their Offences: Which was directly opposite to the Notion of a future State, wherein is conceived that exact Retribution is made; and, such good Men as have been unhappy in this World, are there amply recompensed. They also observe, That in the Sense they take this Expression, it actually did come to pass; the Lord removing those Ills which were intended for his Trial, and raising him to a more exalted State than that from which he had fallen. Which being the Conclusion of the Book, they argue from thence, that we are to draw no other Moral from it but what hath respect to the Mercy of God in delivering, temporally, all such as trust in him: And, being so taken, say they, it could not but excite the Israelites to Patience, who would hardly have been induced to listen to any other Consideration.

The Assertors of this latter Opinion urge farther in its Support, That there are various Objections to the contrary Interpretation, which cannot be answered: As, for Instance; If this Place, say they, had been antiently understood as relating to the Resurrection of the Dead, how could it be poſſible that the Jews ſhould never take Notice of it: Or why did they not urge it againſt the Saaduces, who abſolutely denied the Reſurrection, though, in other Reſpects, very religious Perſons, and zealous Aſſertors of the Law. Secondly, From whom did Job derive this Knowledge? ſince at the Time in which he lived, the Immortality of the Soul was a Doctrine hardly known in the World, as far as we can, with any Certainty, trace it. Thirdly, Why did Job ſo bitterly complain of what had befallen him? Or, Why did he arraign the Juſtice of God's Procedure towards him, and wiſh that he might plead with God as a Man pleads with his Neighbour, if all this Time he was ſatisfied in his own Mind, that after this Life paſſed he ſhould be judged and accepted by a living Redeemer, received to Mercy, and crowned with Glory? Many pious and moderate Divines have, from the Weight of theſe Reaſons, been led to join in this Sentiment, that Job intended a temporal Reſtitution only, and not a future Reſurection from the Dead; at leaſt, that his Words have only a ſecondary Meaning if taken in this Senſe, the natural Deſign of them being fulfilled by his attaining a ſecond Time to worldly Happineſs; under which might figuratively be ſet forth that eternal Felicity to which the Bleſſed are exalted in the next World, after having ſuffered ſuch Troubles and Afflictions as holy Job underwent in this: And, if I apprehend his Meaning right, it is after this Manner that the learned and devout Biſhop Patrick would have theſe Verſes of Job underſtood.

The Nature and Deſign of this Work, neceſſarily conſtrain us to deliver our own Sentiments on this ſo much Controverted Point; for, though in hiſtorical or critical Altercation, we are cautious of interpoſing our own Judgment, yet in a Caſe of ſuch Conſequence as this, wherein the very Foundation, not of the Chriſtian only, but of all Religion, is concerned, we eſteem it our Duty openly to defend the true Faith, and not leave any Advantages to the ſceptical Deriders of a future Sate; as we humbly apprehend ſome pious Divines have done, through a deſire, perhaps, of avoiding ſuch Imputations as the Malice of modern Infidels had ſuggeſted againſt the warmer Advocates for the Truth of revealed Religion. Induced by this Conſideration, we intreat our Readers to conſider, that however common the Notion may be, yet there are no Arguments which can be drawn either from Scripture or Reaſon, to prove that ſuch holy Perſons as retained the true Faith after the Flood, had but dark and obſcure Conceptions as to the Attributes of God, his Promiſe of a Saviour, and his raiſing up the Righteous to Life eternal: For we ſay, and ſay it with Authority of the Scriptures, both of the Old and New Teſtament, That Noah, and the Patriarchs deſcending from him, had clear and certain Revelations, for a conſiderable Tract of Time after the Flood: And tho' it be true that the Corruption of human Nature diſcovered itſelf ſoon after, and that Vice, Idolatry, and Superſtition made a ſwift and amazing Progreſs among Mankind in the ſucceeding Ages, yet there were ſtill ſome Perſons untainted both in Faith and Morals; ſuch as Melchiſedeck, King of Salem; nor is there any Reaſon to doubt, that, while ſuch religious and virtuous Perſons remained, God vouchſafed them ſuch Manifeſtations as were requiſite to ſupport their Belief, as may be collected from various Paſſages in this very Book of which we are ſpeaking. As to the Revelation afforded to Abraham, it is evident that it not only convinced him, but ſerved alſo to withdraw his Father Terah and his Family from the Adoration of falſe Gods to the Worſhip of the True. What the Faith was which Terah received, we can only conjecture from what we know of that of Abraham, and concerning it we are told by Chriſt that he ſaw his Day, and was glad; that is, he ſaw it by Faith, and was aſſured of the Coming of the Meſſiah, and, doubtleſs, of the Conſequence of his coming, viz. the ſaving thoſe who believed in him. In aſſerting this Doctrine, the Author of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, and the Apoſtle Peter, in his General Epiſtle, as clearly and fully concur, as it is in the Power of Words to teſtify. Now, this being conſidered, what Abſurdity, what Incongruity, what Straining, can there be in applying the Words of Job to the Reſurrection of the Dead? Or, rather, what Probability, what Propriety, what Connection, does there appear in giving them another Senſe? Which, indeed his Friends had hinted to him, but he himſelf had more than once diſclaimed; aſſerting, that he had no Pleaſure, no Deſire, no Hope, in this Life, but that he earneſtly ſighed for a Deliverance by Death; not impiouſly ſeeking thereby to be out of the Reach of God's Arm, but becauſe he ſhould then ſee him for himſelf, and behold him with his Eyes; to which very Profeſſion he appeals, as ſoon as he had made it, as a plain Teſtimony of his Piety, and urges it as a Reaſon why his Friends ſhould retract their ill Opinion of him: Ye ſhould ſay, (adds Job) why perſecute we him, ſeeing the Root of the Matter is found in me; that is, Why ſhould ye longer treat as an Hypocrite, or an Infidel, one who, from this publick Confeſſion, ye know to have received the true Faith; and, who, notwithſtanding the Complaints forced from him by Pain, believes and truſts in God. The Arguments, we hope, without deſcending to farther Particulars, are weighty enough to convince unprejudiced Perſons, that this is the genuine Senſe of what the righteous Job advances, concerning the Confidence he had of beholding his Redeemer in the Fleſh, after his Body was conſumed. But it is now Time to return to the Current of the Hiſtory, and the ſubſequent Diſcourſes between Job and his Friends.

CHAP. XX.

Zophar's Anſwer, in which he ſets forth the State and Portion of the Wicked, altho' for a Time he may flouriſh and proſper.

Ver. 1. THEN anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid, 2 Therefore do my thoughts cauſe me to anſwer, and for this I make haſte. 3 I have heard the check of my reproach, and the ſpirit of my underſtanding cauſeth me to anſwer. 4 Knoweſt thou not this of old, ſince man was placed upon earth, 5 That the triumphing of the wicked is ſhort, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment? 6 Though his excellency mount up to the heavens, and his head reach unto the clouds: 7 Yet he ſhall periſh for ever like his own dung: they which have ſeen him ſhall ſay, Where is he? 8 He ſhall flie away as a dream, and ſhall not be found: yea, he ſhall be chaſed away as a viſion of the night. 9 The eye alſo which ſaw him ſhall ſee him no more; neither ſhall his place any more behold him. 10 His children ſhall ſeek to pleaſe the poor, and his hands ſhall reſtore their goods. 11 His bones are full of the ſin of his youth, which ſhall lie down with him in the duſt. 12 Though wickedneſs be ſweet in his mouth, though he hide it under his tongue; 13 Though he ſpare it, and forſake it not; but keep it ſtill within his mouth: 14 Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gall of aſps within him. 15 He hath ſwallowed down riches, and he ſhall vomit them up again: God ſhall caſt them out of his belly. 16 He ſhall ſuck the poiſon of aſps: the vipers tongue ſhall ſlay him. 17 He ſhall not ſee the rivers, the floods, the brooks of honey and butter. 18 That which he laboured for, ſhall he reſtore, and ſhall not ſwallow it down: according to his ſubſtance ſhall the reſtitution be, and he ſhall not rejoice therein. 19 Becauſe he hath oppreſſed, and hath forſaken the poor; becauſe he hath violently taken away house which he builded not: 20 Surely he shall not feel quietness in his belly, he shall not save of that which he desired. 21 There shall none of his meat be left; therefore shall no man look for his goods. 22 In the fulness of his sufficiency he shall be in straits: every hand of the wicked shall come upon him. 23 When he is about to fill his belly, God shall cast the fury of his wrath upon him, and shall rain it upon him while he is eating. 24 He shall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of steel shall strike him through. 25 It is drawn and cometh out of the body; yea, the glistering sword cometh out of his gall; terrours are upon him. 26 All darkness shall be hid in his secret places: a fire not blown shall consume him; it shall go ill with him that is left in his tabernacle. 27 The heaven shall reveal his iniquity: and the earth shall rise up against him. 28 The increase of his house shall depart, and his goods shall flow away in the day of his wrath. 29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the heritage appointed unto him by God.

This is the Portion of a wicked Man from God, and the Heritage appointed to him by God] God, like a wise Master of a Feast, gives to every Man his proper Portion, and as a just Judge, distributes to him according to his Deserts. In the Hebrew it is the Heritage of his Word, i. e. the Portion as before, called here an Heritage; thereby to note the Stability and Assurance of it, that it is as firm as an Inheritance, which he had not gotten by Fraud and Violence. Of his Word; either, 1. Of God's Word, i. e. which is allotted to him by the Word or Sentence of God. Or, 2. Of the wicked Man's Word, the Reward of his Speeches; which, like his Actions, are, and may well be presumed to be wicked and blasphemous, and many Ways offensive to God. And he instances in his Speeches, rather than in his Actions, to meet with Job, who, tho' he had made some colourable Excuses for his Actions, yet was guilty of many Excesses against God, which he would thereby insinuate, were not so harmless and excusable as he pretended, as appeared by these severe Judgments, which they brought on wicked Men.

CHAP. XXI.

Shews, that even in the Judgment of Man he has Reason to complain.

1. BUT Job answered and said, 2 Hear diligently my speech, and let this be your consolations. 3 Suffer me that I may speak, and after that I have spoken, mock on. 4 As for is my complaint to man? and if it were so, why should not my spirit be troubled? 5 Mark me, and be astonished, and lay your hand upon your mouth. 6 Even when I remember, I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my flesh. 7 Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power? 8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their offspring before their eyes. 9 Their houses are safe from fear, neither is the rod of God upon them. 10 Their bullock gendreth and faileth not, their cow calveth and casteth not her calf. 11 They send forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance. 12 They take the timbrel and harp, and rejoyce at the sound of the organ. 13 They spend their days in wealth, and in a moment go down to the grave. 14 Therefore they say unto God, Depart from us; for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways. 15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve him? and what profit should we have if we pray unto him? 16 Lo, their good is not in their hand: the counsel of the wicked is far from me. 17 How oft is the candle of the wicked put out? and how oft cometh their destruction upon them? God distributeth sorrow in his anger. 18 They are as stubble before the wind, and as chaff that the storm carrieth away. 19 God layeth up his iniquity for his children: he rewardeth him, and he shall know it. 20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty. 21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his months is cut off in the midst? 22 Shall any teach God knowledge? seeing he judgeth those that are high. 23 One dieth in his full strength, being wholly at ease and quiet. 24 His breasts are full of milk, and his bones are moistened with marrow. 25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soul, and never eateth with pleasure. 26 They shall lie down alike in the dust, and the worms shall cover them. 27 Behold I know your thoughts, and the devices which ye wrongfully imagine against me. 28 For ye say, Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked? 29 Have ye not asked them that go by the way? and do ye not know their tokens? 30 That the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction; they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath. 31 Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall repay him what he hath done? 32 Yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb. 33 The clods of the valley shall be sweet unto him, and every man shall draw after him, as there are innumerable before him. 34 How then comfort ye me in vain, seeing in your answers there remaineth falshood?

Have ye not asked them that go by the Way? And do ye not know their Tokens] The first Clause contains the Words of Job's Friends, who thus continue their former Discourse by a second Enquiry: Or, rather secondly, of Job himself, who answers one Question with another. You may learn this, which is the Subject of our Debate, namely, that good Men are often afflicted, and that wicked Men as commonly die in Prosperity, and are not punished in this World, even from them that go by the Way, i. e. either from Travellers, who, by their universal Knowledge of Mankind, are more capable Judges in this Affair, or from any one that passeth along the Highway, every Man you meet with. It is so common and trivial a Thing, that no Man of common Sense can be ignorant of it. And do ye not know their Tokens? The Example, or Evidences, or Signs of this Truth, which they that go by the Way can produce. They will shew you in divers Places the magnificent Houses and Structures, and other Monuments of Power and Dignity, which wicked great Men have erected, which they now possess, and in which they live and die. He alludes here to those Tokens which are set up in the High-ways, for the Direction of Travellers. The Thing they were to learn of Passengers, follows in the next Verse; that is, that the Wicked are reserved to the Day of Destruction; i. e. either to some terrible and desolating Judgments, which God sometimes sends upon wicked Princes or People, or to the last and general Day of Judgment, which is called in Scripture, the Day of Wrath. For the Day of the general Resurrection, was not unknown to Job and his Friends.

CHAP. XXII.

Eliphaz ſhews, that Man's Goodneſs profits not God. He charges Job's Miſery on his Sins, which God beheld and knew. He exhorts him to return to God, aſſuring him of Mercy and Acceptance.

Ver. 1. THEN Eliphaz the Temanite anſwered and ſaid, 2 Can a man be profitable unto God, as he that is wiſe may be profitable unto himſelf? 3 Is it any pleaſure to the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it gain to him that thou makeſt thy ways perfect? 4 Will he reprove thee for fear of thee? will he enter with thee into judgment? 5 Is not thy wickedneſs great? and thine iniquities infinite? 6 For thou haſt taken a pledge from thy brother for nought, and ſtripped the naked of their cloathing. 7 Thou haſt not given water to the weary to drink, and thou haſt withholden bread from the hungry. 8 But as for the mighty man, he had the earth, and the honourable man dwelt in it. 9 Thou haſt ſent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherleſs have been broken. 10 Therefore ſnares are round about thee, and ſudden fear troubleth thee; 11 Or darkneſs that thou canſt not ſee, and abundance of waters cover thee. 12 Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the ſtars how high they are. 13 And thou ſayeſt, How doth God know? can he judge through the dark cloud? 14 Thick clouds are a covering to him that he ſeeth not, and he walketh in the circuit of heaven. 15 Haſt thou marked the old way which wicked men have troden? 16 Which were cut down out of time, whoſe foundation was overflown with a flood. 17 Which ſaid unto God, Depart from us: and what can the Almighty do for them? 18 Yet he filled their houſes with good things: but the counſel of the wicked is far from me. 19 The righteous ſee it, and are glad: and the innocent laugh them to ſcorn. 20 Whereas our ſubſtance is not cut down, but the remnant of them the fire conſumeth. 21 Acquaint now thy ſelf with him, and be at peace: thereby good ſhall come unto thee. 22 Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart. 23 If thou return to the Almighty, thou ſhalt be built up, thou ſhalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles. 24 Then ſhalt thou lay up gold as duſt, and the gold of Ophir as the ſtones of the brooks. 25 Yea, the Almighty ſhall be thy defence, and thou ſhalt have plenty of ſilver. 26 For then ſhalt thou have thy delight in the Almighty, and ſhalt lift up thy face unto God. 27 Thou ſhalt make thy prayer unto him, and he ſhall hear thee, and thou ſhalt pay thy vows. 28 Thou ſhalt alſo decree a thing, and it ſhall be eſtabliſhed unto thee: and the light ſhall ſhine upon thy ways. 29 When men are caſt down, then thou ſhalt ſay, There is lifting up: and he ſhall ſave the humble perſon. 30 He ſhall deliver the iſland of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureneſs of thine hands.

And ſtripped the Naked of their Cloathing] He calls them naked, either, 1. Becauſe they had but few and mean Cloaths, ſuch being often called naked, as Deut. xxviii. 48. 1 Cor. iv. 11. James ii. 15. Or, 2. From the Effect; becauſe, tho' he did not find them Naked, yet he made them ſo. The like Phraſes we have Iſa. xlvii. 2. grind Meal, that is, by grinding Corn make it Meal, Amos viii. 5. falſifying the deceitful Ballances, that is, by falſifying, making true Ballances deceitful. And ſo here, to ſtrip the Naked, is, by ſtripping them, to make them naked.

He ſhall deliver the Iſland of the Innocent; and it is delivered by the Pureneſs of thine Hands] God, whoſe Prerogative it is, upon thy Requeſt, when thou ſhalt become innocent, will for thy Sake deliver the whole Iſland (or Country, as the Word is often uſed in Scripture to ſignify, Gen. x. 5, &c. Pſ. lxxii. 10. and xcvii. 1. Iſa. xli. 5.) in which thou dwelleſt: Or the guilty, or him that is not innocent. For the Word here rendered Iſland, is ſometimes uſed for not, in Scripture, as 1 Sam. iv. 21. Prov. xxxi. 3. So the Senſe is, God will have ſo great a Reſpect to thy Innocence and Purity, that for thy Sake he will deliver thoſe that belong to thee, or will live with or near thee, tho' in themſelves they are Sinners, and ripe for Deſtruction. Thus, as he aſſerts the Prevalency of the righteous Man's Prayers with God, and by the ſame Argument perſuades Job to Repentance; ſo he alledges this as an Evidence, that Job did not ſtretch out pure Hands to God in Prayer, as he pretended, becauſe his Prayers could not prevail for the Preſervation of himſelf or his Children, and much leſs for others at a greater Diſtance.

CHAP. XXIII.

Job deſires to plead with God, who would not confound, but ſtrengthen him. God, by his Providence, brings about what he had decreed. Job's Trouble herein.

Ver. 1. THEN Job anſwered and ſaid, 2 Even to day is my complaint bitter: my ſtroke is heavier than my groaning. 3 O that I knew where I might find him; that I might come even to his ſeat! 4 I would order my cauſe before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. 5 I would know the words which he would anſwer me, and underſtand what he would ſay unto me. 6 Will he plead againſt me with his great power? No, but he would put ſtrength in me. 7 There the righteous might diſpute with him; ſo ſhould I be delivered for ever from my judge. 8 Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him: 9 On the left hand, where he doth work, but I cannot behold him: he hideth himſelf on the right hand that I cannot ſee him. 10 But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I ſhall come forth as gold. 11 My foot hath held his ſteps, his way have I kept, and not declined. 12 Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips, I have eſteemed the words of his mouth, more than my neceſſary food. 13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his ſoul deſireth, even that he doeth. 14 For he performeth the thing that is appointed for me: and many ſuch things are with him. 15 Therefore am I troubled at his preſence: when I conſider, I am afraid of him. 16 For God maketh my heart ſoft, and the Almighty troubleth me: 17 Becauſe I was not cut off before the darkneſs, neither hath he covered the darkneſs from my face.

Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him; on the Left Hand when he doth work, but I cannot behold him; he hideth himſelf on the Right Hand, that I cannot ſee him] I go forwards, i. e. toward the Eaſt, which in Scripture is counted the Fore-part of the World, as the Hebrew Name of it ſignifies, becauſe of the Light of the Sun which ariſeth there, and draws our Eyes towards it. But he is not there; that is, ſo as I would have him, as a Judge to hear and determine my Cauſe, of which he is here ſpeaking; for otherwiſe he heard and believed that God was eſſentially preſent in all Places. And backwards; that is, towards the Weſt. So alſo the North is called the Left Hand, and the South the Right Hand, becauſe they are all ſo towards the Eaſt. He names the four Quarters of the World, to ſhew his eager Deſire and reſtleſs Endeavours to find out God, and to preſent himſelf before him. On the Left Hand where he doth work; that is, in a ſpecial Manner, more than in other Parts of the World; for ſo indeed God did work in thoſe Parts which were northward from Job, becauſe there Mankind (among whom God delights to be, and to work) were moſt numerous, and moſt ingenious to diſcern and acknowledge God's Works. There alſo was the Seat of the Syrian Empire, and afterwards of the other ſucceſſive Empires; where God did many eminent and glorious Works: But this Hebrew Word is, by others, improperly rendered when, or whilſt he worketh, namely, in a ſignal Manner. So this is added to aggravate Job's Unhappineſs. We may certainly find any Man when and where he is working: But I, ſays Job, ſearch for God when and where he is working, and yet cannot find him out. He hideth himſelf, that is, from me. He withdraweth his Favour, and will not afford me his Preſence or Audience. I cannot ſee him; either, 1. I cannot diſcern his Counſels and Ways, and the Reaſons of his ſevere Dealings with me. Or rather, 2. He doth not appear to me as a Judge to examine my Cauſe and Arguments, but condemns me unheard.

CHAP. XXIV.

The Practice and Proſperity of the Wicked. Their Puniſhment and Curſe in the End.

Ver. 1. WHY, ſeeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him, not ſee his days? 2 Some remove the land marks: they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof. 3 They drive away the aſs of the fatherleſs, they take the widows ox for a pledge. 4 They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themſelves together. 5 Behold, as wild aſſes in the deſart, go they forth to their work, riſing betimes for a prey: the wilderneſs yieldeth food for them, and for their children. 6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked. 7 They cauſe the naked to lodge without cloathing, that they have no covering in the cold. 8 They are wet with the ſhowers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a ſhelter. 9 They pluck the fatherleſs from the breaſt, and take a pledge of the poor. 10 They cauſe him to go naked without cloathing, and they take away the ſheaf from the hungry. 11 Which make oyl within their walls, and tread their wine-preſſes, and ſuffer thirſt. 12 Men groan from out of the city, and the ſoul of the wounded crieth out: yet God layeth not folly to them. 13 They are of thoſe that rebel againſt the light, they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof. 14 The murderer riſing with the light, killeth the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief. 15 The eye alſo of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, ſaying, No eye ſhall ſee me: and diſguiſeth his face. 16 In the dark they dig through houſes, which they had marked for themſelves in the day-time: they know not the light. 17 For the morning is to them even as the ſhadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the ſhadow of death. 18 He is ſwift as the waters, their portion is curſed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards. 19 Drought and heat conſume the ſnow-waters; ſo doth the grave thoſe which have ſinned. 20 The womb ſhall forget him, the worm ſhall feed ſweetly on him, he ſhall be no more remembred, and wickedneſs ſhall be broken as a tree. 21 He evil intreateth the barren that beareth not: and doeth not good to the widow. 22 He draweth alſo the mighty with his power: he riſeth up, and no man is ſure of life. 23 Though it be given him to be in ſafety, whereon he reſteth; yet his eyes are upon their ways. 24 They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low, they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn. 25 And if it be not ſo now, who will make me a liar, and make my ſpeech nothing worth?

Why, ſeeing Times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him, not ſee his Days] The Senſe of the Words, according to this Tranſlation, is this, Why (how comes it to paſs) ſeeing Times, namely, the ſeveral Times of every Man's Life, how long he ſhall live, as the fitteſt Seaſons and Opportunities (which are often called Times and Opportunities, as Gen. xxiv. 11. Pſ. xxxi. 15. and cxix. 126. Acts i. 6, 7.) for every Action, and particularly for the Puniſhment of wicked Men, about which the preſent Controverſy was, are not hidden from, or unknown to the Almighty, (that is, ſeeing all Times, and Men that live, and Things that are done, or to be done in their Times and Seaſons, are exactly known to God) do they that know him (that is, who love and obey him, as that Word is often uſed, as Pſ. ix. 10. xxxvi. 10. and xci. 14. or they who obſerve and regard his Ways and Works done in the World) not ſee (whence it is they cannot diſcern) his (God's) Days? that is, his Times and Seaſons which he takes for the Puniſhment of ungodly Men; which if they were conſtant and fixed in this Life, as you pretend they are, they would not be unknown to good Men, to whom God uſeth to reveal his Secrets, and they could not be unobſerved by ſo many good Men, who make it their Buſineſs to mind and ſtudy the Works of God, and eſpecially the Courſe and Method of his Providence towards good and bad Men. The Times or Days of God's executing Judgments upon Sinners, are frequently called the Days of the Lord, as Iſa. ii. 12. and xiii. 6. Jer. xlvi. 10. compare Job xx. 28. Prov. vi. 38. Acts ii. 20. as the Time of Man's judging is called Man's Day, 1 Cor. iv. 3. But this Verſe is in Part, and may, very agreeably to the Hebrew Text, be rendered and interpreted thus, Why, or how are not Times (that is, the Times and Seaſons appointed for the Puniſhment of evil Doers, about which the Diſpute was) hidden, or reſerved by, or with God; that is, kept as a Secret in his own Breaſt, and concealed from the Knowledge of Mankind: How can you ſay or think with any Colour, that theſe Times are fixed and manifeſt to all Men, and that Sinners are conſtantly puniſhed in this Life, and that ſo notoriouſly that all good Men may ſee it, as Ch. xxii. 15, 19. Seeing they that know him (that give themſelves to underſtand and conſider his Doings in the World, who of all Men are moſt likely to know this, if it were true and certain) do not ſee his Days, namely, of puniſhing the Wicked in this Life; and this he mentions as a fit Preface to uſher in the following Diſcourſe concerning the manifold Wickedneſs of Men, and withal their preſent Impunity.

He is ſwift as the Waters, their Portion is curſed in the Earth; he beholdeth not the Way of the Vineyards] In the firſt Clauſe is deſcribed, either, 1. The wicked Man's Diſpoſition and Deportment, that ſuch Perſons are light and frothy in their Spirits, or ſwift, or haſty to do Evil, or unſtable in their Ways as the Water; or or upon the Face of the Waters; i. e. like the Foam or Froth, or any other light Thing that ſwims upon the Face of the Waters. Or, rather, 2. His miſerable Condition, of which he evidently ſpeaks in the next Words, and in the two next Verſes. For tho' Job conſtantly affirms and maintains it againſt his Friends, that God will, ſooner or later, puniſh them, and ſometimes here cutting them off by remarkable and untimely Deaths, or otherwiſe inflicting on them ſome ſignal Judgment. So the Senſe is, He is ſwift, i. e. he quickly paſſeth away with all his Glory, as the Waters which never ſtay in one Place, but are always running away, or like a Ship or any other Thing which ſwimmeth upon the Face of the Waters: Tho' he ſeems to ſtand as firm and immoveable as a Rock, and to have taken deep Rooting in the Earth, yet he is ſuddenly and unexpectedly removed and plucked up by the Roots. Their Portion, or his, for he ſtill ſpeaks of the ſame Perſon, tho' with a Change of the Number, which is frequent in this Book, and elſewhere in Scripture. Their Portion, or Part, i. e. his Habitation and Eſtate which he left behind him, Is curſed in the Earth; is really accurſed by God, and ſo pronounced by all Men who live near or obſerve it, becauſe of the remarkable Judgments of God upon it, and upon his Poſterity or Family to which he left it, and from whom it is ſuddenly and ſtrangely alienated. He beholdeth not the Way of the Vineyard, i. e. he ſhall never more ſee or enjoy his Vineyards, or other pleaſant Places and Things, which ſeem to be comprehended under that Particular.

CHAP. XXV.

The Divine Majeſty and Purity ſuch, that Man cannot be juſtified before God, in whoſe Sight the heavenly Lights loſe their Luſtre.

Ver. 1. THEN anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid, 2 Dominion and fear are with him, he maketh peace in high places. 3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light ariſe? 4 How then can man be juſtified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman? 5 Behold, even to the moon, and it ſhineth not; yea, the ſtars are not pure in his ſight. 6 How much leſs man that is a worm: and the ſon of man which is a worm?

Dominion and Fear are with him; he maketh Peace in his high Places] That is, he hath abſolute and ſovereign Power over all Perſons and Things, with whom to contend, is both Rebellion and Madneſs. And Fear; actively underſtood, or Terror, i. e. that which juſtly makes him dreadful to all Men, eſpecially to all that undertake to diſpute with him: Aweful Majeſty, infinite Knowledge, whereby he knows Mens Hearts far better than they know themſelves, and ſees much Sin in them, which themſelves do not diſcover, and exact Purity and Juſtice, which render him formidable to Sinners. Are with him: Emphatically ſpoken; with him whom thou challengeſt; with him who is not lightly or irreverently to be named, much leſs to be contended with. And therefore it is thy Duty to humble thyſelf for thy preſumptuous Words and Carriages towards him, and quietly and modeſtly to ſubmit thyſelf and thy Cauſe to his Pleaſure. He maketh Peace in his high Places. This Clauſe, as well as the following Verſe, ſeems to be added to prove what he laſt ſaid of his Dominion and Dreadfulneſs. He keepeth and ruleth all Perſons and Things in Heaven, in Peace and Harmony, and the Order which he hath eſtabliſhed among them. The Angels, tho' very numerous, and differing in Orders and Miniſteries, all acknowledge his Sovereignty, and acquieſce in his Pleaſure, without diſputing or murmuring. The Stars and heavenly Bodies, tho' vaſt in their Bulk, and various in their Motions, yet exactly keep their Courſes, and the Order appointed them by God: And therefore it is great Folly and Impudence in thee to exempt thyſelf from his Juriſdiction, or to quarrel with the Methods of his Dealings with thee.

CHAP. XXVI.

Job reproves Bildad for his uncharitable Suggeſtions. He acknowledges God's Power and Providence to be infinite and unſearchable; of which our Knowledge is but ſmall.

Ver. 1. BUT Job anſwered and ſaid, 2 How haſt thou helped him that is without power? how ſaveſt thou the arm that hath no ſtrength? 3 How haſt thou counſelled him that hath no wiſdom? and how haſt thou plentifully declared the thing as it is? 4 To whom haſt thou uttered words? and whoſe ſpirit came from thee? 5 Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof. 6 Hell is naked before him, and deſtruction hath no covering. 7 He ſtretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing. 8 He bindeth up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them. 9 He holdeth back the face of his throne, and ſpreadeth his cloud upon it. 10 He hath compaſſed the waters with bounds, until the day and night come to an end. 11 The pillars of heaven tremble, and are aſtoniſhed at his reproof. 12 He divideth the ſea with his power, and by his underſtanding he ſmiteth through the proud. 13 By his Spirit he hath garniſhed the heavens; his hand hath formed the crooked ſerpent. 14 Lo, theſe are parts of his ways, but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his power who can underſtand?

It is evident from the foregoing Words of Bildad that Job's Arguments had made a great Impreſſion on his Friends, ſince there does not appear that Rancour of Spirit in this which ſhewed itſelf in the laſt Reply. It is true, there are no Conceſſions made by Bildad, yet, if we conſider, that Zophar, when he had done, attempted not to carry on the Diſpute; it may be reaſonably believed, that, finding themſelves unable to confute what in his ſeveral Diſputes Job had advanced, as to the Inſcrutability of God's Providence and the Injuſtice they were guilty of, in ſuppoſing him a Hypocrite, and grievous Sinner, merely becauſe they ſaw him covered with Sores, and every Way in deep Affliction; they diſcovered ſuch an Alteration in their Countenances, as encouraged the holy Job to enter upon a copious Declaration of his Thoughts concerning Providence, and a full Defence both of his Behaviour ſince his Trouble, and of his Courſe of Life before the Evils came upon him. This Speech is in the Hebrew called Maſhal, which we tranſlate a Parable, but the literal Senſe thereof is an excellent Diſcourſe; and, indeed, whether we conſider the Matter contained therein, or the Manner in which it is expreſſed, there is not, perhaps, in any Author, an Oration which could have better deſerved that Title; and, we make no Queſtion, had it been found in any prophane Writer, but that Volumes would have been written by Way of Comment thereon; and the ſame high Strains of Panegyric been diſcernible in ſuch Writings, as are at this Day to be found in the Labours of thoſe who have explained Homer, or Virgil; ſince it is impoſſible to deny that in Grandeur of Stile, and Sublimity of Thought this ſingle Harangue of Job is preferable to any Thing which can be produced from the Works either of the Philoſophers or Poets.

CHAP. XXVII.

Job will not renounce his Integrity. The Character of an Hypocrite, and his Misery; the Portion and Heritage of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. MOREOVER, Job continued his parable, and said, 2 As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment, and the Almighty, who hath vexed my soul; 3 All the while my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God is in my nostrils; 4 My lips shall not speak wickedness, nor my tongue utter deceit. 5 God forbid that I should justify you: till I die, I will not remove my integrity from me. 6 My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live. 7 Let mine enemy be as the wicked, and he that riseth up against me, as the unrighteous. 8 For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he had gained, when God taketh away his soul? 9 Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him? 10 Will he delight himself in the Almighty? will he always call upon God? 11 I will teach you by the hand of God: that which is with the Almighty, will I not conceal. 12 Behold, all ye your selves have seen it, why then are ye thus altogether vain? 13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of oppressors, which they shall receive of the Almighty. 14 If his children be multiplied, it is for the sword: and his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread. 15 Those that remain of him shall be buried in death: and his widows shall not weep. 16 Though he heap up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay; 17 He may prepare it, but the just shall put it on, and the innocent shall divide the silver. 18 He buildeth his house as a moth, and as a booth that the keeper maketh. 19 The rich man shall lie down, but he shall not be gathered: he openeth not his eyes, and he is not. 20 Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night. 21 The east-wind carrieth him away, and he departeth: and as a storm hurleth him out of his place. 22 For God shall cast upon him, and not spare: he would fain flee out of his hand. 23 Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place.

Those that remain of him shall be buried in Death; and his Widows shall not weep] Those that escape the Sword and Famine just before mentioned, shall be buried in Death. Either, 1. They shall die, and so be buried. Or, 2. Shall be buried as soon as ever they are dead, either because their Relations or Dependants are left they should revive again, and give them more trouble, or because they were not able to bestow any funeral Pomp upon them, or thought them unworthy of it. Or, 3. Shall be in a Manner utterly extinct or by Death; all their Hope, Glory, Name, and Memory (which they designed to perpetuate to all Ages) shall be buried with them, and they shall never rise again to a blessed Life; whereas a good Man hath Hope in his Death, and leaves his good Name alive and flourishing in the World, and rests in his Grave in Assurance of Redemption from it, and a glorious Resurrection to Happy and eternal Life. And his Widows (for they had many Wives, either to gratify their Lust, or to increase and strengthen their Family and Interest) shall not weep; either because they durst not lament their Death, which was entertained with publick Joy; or because they were overwhelmed and astonished with the Greatness and Strangeness of the Calamity, and therefore could not weep; or because they also, as well as others, groaned under their Tyranny and Cruelty, and rejoiced in their Deliverance from it.

CHAP. XXVIII.

God's Power and Wisdom in the Works of Nature, such as is not to be bought or acquired, and is only in God. Man's Wisdom is to fear God.

Ver. 1. SURELY, there is a vein for the silver, and a place for gold where they fine it. 2 Iron is taken out of the earth, and brass is molten out of the stone. 3 He setteth an end to darkness, and searcheth out all perfection: the stones of darkness and the shadow of death. 4 The flood breaketh out from the inhabitant; even the waters forgotten of the foot: they are dried up, they are gone away from men. 5 As for the earth, out of it cometh bread: and under it is turned up as it were fire. 6 The stones of it are the place of saphires: and it hath dust of gold. 7 There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vultures eye hath not seen. 8 The lions whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it. 9 He putteth forth his hand upon the rock; he overturneth the mountains by the roots. 10 He cutteth out rivers among the rocks, and his eye seeth every precious thing. 11 He bindeth the floods from overflowing, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he forth to light. 12 But where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding? 13 Man knoweth not the price thereof; neither is it found in the land of the living. 14 The depth saith, It is not in me: and the sea saith, It is not with me. 15 It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof. 16 It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx, or the saphire. 17 The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold. 18 No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies. 19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold. 20 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding? 21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air. 22 Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears. 23 God understandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof. 24 For he looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven. 25 To make the weight for the winds, and he weigheth the waters by measure. 26 When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder: 27 Then did he see it, and declare it, he prepared it, yea, and searched it out. 28 And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom, and to depart from evil is understanding.

And unto Man he said, Behold the Fear of the Lord, that is Wisdom, and to depart from Evil is Understanding] He said to Adam at first, and in, and with him, to all his Posterity. — He said, i. e. God spoke it, partly, and and at first inwardly to the Mind of Man, in which God wrote this with his own Finger, and engraved it as a first Principle for his Direction; and partly afterwards by the Instructions of the holy Prophets, who declared the Will of God, and taught the People their Duty both to God and Man, making it their chief Business to make Man wise unto Salvation. Behold; which denotes the great Importance of this Doctrine, and likewise Man's Dulness and Reluctance to apprehend and consider it, and his Proneness to place his Wisdom in vain and curious Speculations. — The Fear of the Lord, i. e. true Religion, and the right Worship of God, internal and external, all which comes under this Appellation — that is Wisdom. In that only consists true Wisdom, because that, and only that, is his Duty, his Safety, and his Happiness, both for this Life and the next; this is actually attainable; but the Depth of God's Ways are unknown and inscrutable by the utmost Reach of human Ability. — And so depart from Evil, i. e. from Sin, which is called Evil eminently, as being the chief, if not the only Evil, and the Cause of all other Evils, as constantly and immutably evil, whereas Afflictions may be rendered good and highly beneficial. Religion consists of two Branches, doing Good, and forsaking Evil; the first is expressed in the former Clause of this Verse, and the latter in these Words — is Understanding. It is the best Kind of Knowledge or Wisdom to which Man can attain in this Life. The same Thing is here twice repeated in different Phrases: And the Design of Job in this Close of his Discourse, is not only to shew the Mistake, and reprove the Arrogance and Boldness of his Friends, in prying into God's Secrets, and passing such a rash Censure upon him, and upon God's Ways and Conduct towards him; but also to vindicate himself from the Imputation of Hypocrisy and Prophaneness, which they had fastened upon him, by shewing that he had ever esteemed it his best Wisdom, and truest Interest to fear God, and to depart from Evil.

CHAP. XXIX.

Job's former Happiness in God's Favour; his Honour among Princes; his Charity; Justice to the Wicked; the Respect shewn him by all Degrees of Men.

Ver. 1. MOREOVER, Job continued his parable, and said, 2 Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me: 3 When his candle shined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness: 4 As I was in the days of my youth, when the secret of God was upon my tabernacle: 5 When the Almighty was yet with me, when my children were about me: 6 When I washed my steps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oyl: 7 When I went out to the gate, through the city, when I prepared my seat in the street! 8 The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the aged arose, and stood up. 9 The princes refrained talking, and laid their hand on their mouth. 10 The nobles held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth. 11 When the ear heard me, then it blessed me; and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me: 12 Because I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him. 13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came upon me: and I caused the widows heart to sing for joy. 14 I put on righteousness, and it cloathed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem. 15 I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame. 16 I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not, I searched out. 17 And I brake the jaws of the wicked, and pluckt the spoil out of his teeth. 18 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my days as the sand. 19 My root was spread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch. 20 My glory was fresh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand. 21 Unto me men gave ear, and waited, and kept silence at my counsel. 22 After my words they spake not again, and my speech dropped upon them. 23 And they waited for me, as for the rain, and they opened their mouth wide as for the latter rain. 24 If I laughed on them, they believed it not, and the light of my countenance they cast not down. 25 I chose out their way, and sat chief, and dwelt as a king in the army, as one that comforteth the mourners.

I observe no Difficulty in this Chapter that needs Explanation; let us therefore hasten to the next.

CHAP. XXX.

Job's Honour is changed into extreme Contempt, and his Prosperity into the deepest Calamity.

Ver. 1. BUT now they that are younger than I, have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock. 2 Yea whereto might the strength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was perished? 3 For want and famine they were solitary: fleeing into the wilderness in former time desolate and waste: 4 Who cut up mallows by the bushes, and juniper-roots for their meat. 5 They were driven forth from among men (they cried after them, as after a thief) 6 To dwell in the clifts of the valleys, in caves of the earth, and in the rocks. 7 Among the bushes they brayed, under the nettles they were gathered together. 8 They were children of fools, yea, children of base men: they were viler than the earth. 9 And now am I their song, yea, I am their by-word. 10 They abhor me, they flee far from me, and spare not to spit in my face. 11 Because he hath loosed my cord, and afflicted me, they have also let loose the bridle before me. 12 Upon my right hand rise the youth, they push away my feet, and they raise up against me the ways of their destruction. 13 They mar my path, they set forward my calamity, they have no helper. 14 They came upon me as a wide breaking in of waters: in the desolation they rolled themselves upon me. 15 Terrors are turned upon me: they pursue my soul as the wind: and my welfare passeth away as a cloud. 16 And now my soul is poured out upon me; the days of affliction have taken hold upon me; 17 My bones are pierced in me in the night-season: and my sinews take no rest. 18 By the great force of my disease, is my garment changed: it bindeth me about as the collar of my coat. 19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like dust and ashes. 20 I cry unto thee, and thou dost not hear me: I stand up, and thou regardest me not. 21 Thou art become cruel to me: with thy strong hand thou opposest thy self against me. 22 Thou liftest me up to the wind: thou causest me to ride upon it, and dissolvest my substance. 23 For I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and the houſe appointed for all living. 24 Howbeit he will not ſtretch out his hand to the grave, though they cry in his deſtruction. 25 Did not I weep for him that was in trouble? was not my ſoul grieved for the poor? 26 When I looked for good, then evil came unto me: and when I waited for light there came darkneſs. 27 My bowels boiled and reſted not: the days of affliction prevented me. 28 I went mourning without the ſun: I ſtood up, and I cried in the congregation. 29 I am a brother to dragons, and a companion to owls. 30 My ſkin is black upon me, and my bones are burnt with heat. 31 My harp alſo is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of them that weep.

Howbeit, he will not ſtretch out his Hand to the Grave, tho' they cry in his Deſtruction] There is great Variety and Difficulty, ſays Pool, in the Senſe and Connection of theſe Words: They may be joined either, 1. With the following Verſe, as deſcribing Job's Compaſſion to others in Affliction, which, by the Principles of Reaſon and Religion, ſhould have procured him ſome Pity from God and Man in his Affliction. And to that Purpoſe they were, or may be, tranſlated thus: But were not my Prayers for them (which Words may be underſtood of the following Clauſe) when he ſtretched out his Hand (namely, againſt them to deſtroy them) in his Deſtruction or Oppreſſion (underſtand it actively, i. e. When God was about to deſtroy any other Man or Men) was not (the Negation being deduced from the former Part of the Verſe, as is uſual) my Cry for them? for thoſe Things, thoſe deſtructive Calamities that were upon them? Or, 2. With the foregoing Verſe: And ſo the Words contain either, 1. A Conſolation againſt the Evil laſt mentioned: So the Senſe is, Tho' God will undoubtedly bring me to the Grave by theſe Torments, yet this comforts me, that ſurely he will not ſtretch out his Hand (namely, to afflict or puniſh me further, as this Phraſe is uſed, Exod. ii. 20. Iſa. ix. 12, 13.) in the Grave, tho' they, i. e. the periſhing Perſons, cry, or roar, i. e. but ſorely pained or tormented in his Deſtruction, i. e. whilſt God is deſtroying them. Or, this laſt Clauſe may be read interrogatively, Is there any Cry in his Deſtruction? When a Man is cut off or deſtroyed by Death, doth he then cry or complain? No, there is an End of all theſe Miſeries. Or, rather, 2. It is a Confirmation of what he ſaid laſt. For the whole Context ſhews, that Job is not taking any Comfort to himſelf, but rather aggravating his Sufferings. I know, ſaith he, I am a dead Man, and my Condition is deſperate; for ſurely he, i. e. God, will not ſtretch out his Hand (namely, to ſave, or reſcue me, as this Phraſe is uſed, Pſ. xviii. 17. and cxliv. 7. compared with Acts iv. 30.) to or in the Grave, (i. e. to a dead Man, ſuch as I am in Effect) tho' they cry in his Deſtruction, i. e. tho' there be a general Cry and Lamentation for him among his Friends, and an earneſt Deſire of him, if poſſible, to be reſtored to Life again, when he is deſtroyed or dead; yet all theſe Cries would be in vain.

CHAP. XXXI.

Ver. 1. I Made a covenant with mine eyes; why then ſhould I think upon a maid? For what portion of God is there from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high? 3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked? and a ſtrange puniſhment to the workers of iniquity? Doth not he ſee my ways, and count all my ſteps? 5 If I have walked with vanity, or if my foot hath haſted to deceit; 6 Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity. 7 If my ſtep hath turned out of the way, and mine heart walked after mine enemies, and if any blot hath cleaved to my hands: 8 Then let me ſow, and let another eat; yea, let my offſpring be rooted out. 9 If mine heart have been deceived by a woman, or if I have laid wait at my neighbour's door: 10 Then let my wife grind unto another, and let others bow down upon her. 11 For this is an heinous crime, yea, it is an iniquity to be puniſhed by the judges. 12 For it is a fire that conſumeth to deſtruction, and would root out all mine increaſe. 13 If I did deſpiſe the cauſe of my man-ſervant, or of my maid-ſervant, when they contended with me: 14 What then ſhall I do when God riſeth up? and when he viſiteth, what ſhall I anſwer him? 15 Did not he that made me in the womb, make him? and did not one faſhion us in the womb? 16 If I have withheld the poor from their deſire, or have cauſed the eyes of the widow to fail: 17 Or have eaten my morſel myſelf alone, and the fatherleſs hath not eaten thereof: 18 (For from my youth he was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her from my mothers womb) 29 If I have ſeen any periſh for want of cloathing, or any poor without covering: 20 If his loyns have not bleſſed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my ſheep: 21 If I have lift up my hand againſt the fatherleſs, when I ſaw my help in the gate: 22 Then let mine arm fall from my ſhoulder-blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone. 23 For deſtruction from God was a terror to me, and by reaſon of his highneſs I could not endure. 24 If I have made gold my hope, or have ſaid to the fine gold, Thou art my confidence: 25 If I rejoiced becauſe my wealth was great, and becauſe mine hand had gotten much: 26 If I beheld the ſun when it ſhined, or the moon walking in brightneſs: 27 And my heart hath been ſecretly enticed, or my mouth hath kiſſed my hand: 28 This alſo were an iniquity to be puniſhed by the judge: for I ſhould have denied the God that is above. 29 If I rejoiced at the deſtruction of him that hated me, or lift up myſelf when evil found him: 30 (Neither have I ſuffered my mouth to ſin, by wiſhing a curſe to his ſoul) 31 If the men of my tabernacle ſaid not, Oh that we had of his fleſh! we cannot be ſatisfied. 32 The ſtranger did not lodge in the ſtreet: but I opened my doors to the traveller. 33 If I covered my tranſgreſſions, as Adam: by hiding mine iniquity in my boſom: 34 Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrifie me: that I kept ſilence, and went not out of the door? 35 O that one would hear me! behold, my deſire is, that the Almighty would anſwer me, and that mine adverſary had written a book. 36 Surely I would take it upon my ſhoulder, and bind it as a crown to me. 37 I would declare unto him the number of my ſteps, as a prince would I go near unto him. 38 If my land cry againſt me, or that the furrows likewiſe thereof complain: 39 If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, or have cauſed the owners thereof to loſe their life: 40 Let thiſtles grow inſtead of wheat, and cockle inſtead of barley. The words of Job are ended.

If I beheld the Sun when it ſhined, or the Moon walking in Brightneſs; and my Heart hath been ſecretly enticed, or my Mouth hath kiſſed my Hand] If I beheld the the Sun — not ſimply, nor only with Admiration, for that we are required to do, as it is a glorious Work of God; but ſo as to aſcribe to it the Honour only due to the Supreme Being — The Sun, Hebrew, the Light, namely, of the Sun, which is the Fountain of Light to this viſible World. The Hoſt of Heaven, particularly the Sun and the Moon were the moſt antient Objects of Idolatry, and moſt frequent in the eaſtern Countries, in one of which Job reſided. When it ſhined, i. e. in its full Strength and Glory; for then it commands our Admiration at its Beauty, and affects us with its Benefits; and Men, in thoſe Times of Darkneſs and Ignorance, might make an eaſy Tranſition from Admiration to Adoration. — And my Heart hath been ſecretly enticed, i. e. If while I openly profeſſed the true Religion, my inward Thoughts or Affections were ſeduced or deceived by the glorious Appearance of thoſe bright Luminaries, which might eaſily ſeduce a credulous and inconſiderate Perſon, to believe there was a Divinity in them, and ſo be perſuaded to worſhip it. This emphatical Expreſſion, enticed, ſeems to intimate to us this neceſſary and uſeful Truth, That no Miſtake or Error of the Mind would excuſe the Practice of Idolatry. — My Hand hath kiſſed my Mouth, i. e. in Token of Worſhip, whereof this was a Sign, whether given to Men, as Gen. xli. 40. Pſ. ii. 12. or to Idols, 1 Kings xix. 18. Hoſ. xiii. 2. And when Idols were out of the Reach of Idolaters, that they could not kiſs them, they uſed to kiſs their Hands, and, as it were, to throw Kiſſes at them; of which we have many Examples in Heathen Writers.

CHAP. XXXII.

Elihu, Job's fourth Friend, is angry both with Job and his three Friends; with him for juſtifying himſelf, and with them for not ſatisfying, and yet condemning him. He apologizes for his Youth, but being full of Matter, is conſtrained to ſpeak.

Ver. 1. SO theſe three men ceaſed to anſwer Job, becauſe he was righteous in his own eyes. 2 Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu the ſon of Barachel the Buzite, of the kindred of Ram: againſt Job was his wrath kindled, becauſe he juſtified himſelf rather than God. 3 Alſo againſt his three friends was his wrath kindled, becauſe they had found no anſwer, and yet had condemned Job. 4 Now Elihu had waited till Job had ſpoken, becauſe they were elder than he. 5 When Elihu ſaw that there was no anſwer in the mouth of theſe three men, then his wrath was kindled. 6 And Elihu the ſon of Barachel the Buzite anſwered and ſaid, I am young, and ye are very old, wherefore I was afraid, and durſt not ſhew you mine opinion. 7 I ſaid, Days ſhould ſpeak, and multitude of years ſhould teach wiſdom. 8 But there is a ſpirit in man: and the inſpiration of the Almighty giveth them underſtanding. 9 Great men are not always wiſe: neither do the aged underſtand judgment. 10 Therefore I ſaid, Hearken to me, I alſo will ſhew mine opinion. 11 Behold, I waited for your words; I gave ear to your reaſons, whilſt you ſearched out what to ſay. 12 Yea, I attended unto you: and behold, there was none of you that convinced Job, or that anſwered his words: 13 Leſt ye ſhould ſay, We have found out wiſdom: God thruſteth him down, not man. 14 Now he hath not directed his words againſt me: neither will I anſwer him with your ſpeeehes. 15 They were amazed, they anſwered no more: they left off ſpeaking. 16 When I had waited, (for they ſpake not, but ſtood ſtill and anſwered no more) 17 I ſaid, I will anſwer alſo my part, I alſo will ſhew mine opinion. 18 For I am full of matter, the ſpirit within me conſtraineth me. 19 Behold my belly is as wine which hath no vent, it is ready to burſt like new bottles. 20 I will ſpeak that I may be refreſhed: I will open my lips and anſwer. 21 Let me not, I pray you, accept any mans perſon, neither let me give flattering titles unto man. 22 For I know not to give flattering titles, in ſo doing my maker would ſoon take me away.

Beſides the three Friends of Job, already ſo often mentioned, there was it ſeems a fourth Perſon, who had been hitherto only an Auditor to their Debates; his Name was Elihu, which ſignifies my God himſelf; his Father's Name Barachel, i. e. God bleſſeth, a Deſcendant from Buz, the Son of Nachor, Brother to Uz the Anceſtor of Job. He is yet farther in Scripture ſaid to be of the Kindred of Ram; about the Meaning of which Commentators have differed, ſome taking Ram for a Contraction of Abram or Abraham; others, for the Abbreviation of Aram, which is indeed more probable, ſince on the Whole, it has been by the beſt Interpreters allowed, that Elihu was the neareſt Relation of the righteous Perſon in Diſtreſs, dwelling but a ſmall Diſtance from him, and called, as Laban was, an Aramean or Syrian. Some have pretended Similiarity of Names, and the Authority of Rabbinical Writers, for cied Elihu to be the ſame Perſon as Balaam; an Error againſt which ſome Hebrew Writings may be alledged wherein the Prophets among the Gentiles being reckon up, Elihu and Balaam are both named.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Elihu offers himſelf in God's Stead, with Sincerity and Meekneſs, to reaſon with Job. He excuſes God from giving an Account of his Ways. Excites Job to Attention.

Ver. 1. WHerefore Job, I pray thee, hear my ſpeeches, and hearken to all my words. 2 Behold, now I have opened my mouth, my tongue hath ſpoken in my mouth. 3 My words ſhall be of the uprightneſs of my heart: and my lips ſhall utter knowledge clearly. 4 The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life. If thou canſt anſwer me, ſet thy words in order before me, ſtand up. 6 Behold, I am according to thy wiſh in Gods ſtead: I alſo am formed out of the clay. 7 Behold, my terror ſhall not make thee afraid, neither ſhall my hand be heavy upon thee. 8 Surely thou haſt ſpoken in mine hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words ſaying, 9 I am clean without tranſgreſſion, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me. 10 Behold, he findeth occaſions againſt me, he counteth me for his enemy. 11 He putteth my feet in the ſtocks, he marketh all my paths. 12 Behold, in this thou art not juſt: I will anſwer thee, that God is greater than man. 13 Why doſt thou ſtrive againſt him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters. 14 For God ſpeaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not. 15 In a dream, in a viſion of the night, when deep ſleep falleth upon men, in ſlumbrings upon the bed: 16 Then he openeth the ears of men, and ſealeth their inſtruction, 17 That he may withdraw man from his purpoſe, and hide pride from man. 18 He keepeth back his ſoul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword. 19 He is chastned also with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain: 20 So that his life abhorreth bread, and his soul dainty meat. 21 His flesh is consumed away that it cannot be seen, and his bones that were not seen, stick out. 22 Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers. 23 If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness: 24 Then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit, I have found a ransom. 25 His flesh shall be fresher than a childs: he shall return to the days of his youth. 26 He shall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him, and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness. 27 He looketh upon men, and if any say, I have sinned and perverted that which was right, and it profited me not; 28 He will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light. 29 Lo, all these things worketh God often times with man. 30 To bring back his soul from the pit, to be enlightned with the light of the living. 31 Mark well, O Job, hearken unto me, hold thy peace, and I will speak. 32 If thou hast any thing to say, answer me: speak, for I desire to justifie thee. 33 If not, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I shall teach thee wisdom.

If there be a Messenger with him, an Interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto Man his Uprightness] Messenger: Either, 1. An Angel sent to him from Heaven, for Angels are ministring Spirits, Ps. ciii. 20. Heb. i. 4. and especially in that Time and State of the Church, were frequently employed by God on Messages to Men. But why then should he say, one of a thousand Angels, since one of the meanest Angels was sufficient for this Work? Or, rather, 2. A Prophet or Teacher, such are often called Messengers, Mal. ii. 7. and iii. 1. and such Persons are appointed by God for, and most usually employed in such Work. — With him: either, 1. With God, to plead Man's Cause. Or, rather, 2. With Man, who is mentioned in the last clause of this Verse, and of whom the Pronoun him is there used in the next Verse. Nor is it strange that the Pronoun Relative, is put before the Noun to which it belongs, since it is usual in the Hebrew Language, Exod. ii. 6. Prov. v. 22. and xiv. 33, &c. — An Interpreter; i. e. one whose Office it is to declare the Will of God to a sick Man, to explain the Reason of God's contending with him, and to shew what he would have him to do. — One among a thousand; a Person duly qualified for this great and hard Work, such as there are but few, scarce one of a thousand; which Expression is used to denote the Scarcity and Fewness of Persons, Eccles. vii. 28. By which Words he covertly reflects on Job's three Friends, and implies that they were not such Persons, tho' they had undertaken this Office to Job; and also modestly intimates, that tho' himself was inferior to all of them, yet he was selected by God for this Work; this he says, not as boasting of his own superior Abilities, but to dispose Job to a serious Attention to, and ready Entertainment of his Discourses. — To shew unto Man his Uprightness, i. e. either, 1. God's: To convince a Man that God is just and right in all his Dealings with him, of which Job was not yet convinced. Or, rather, 2. Man's: To teach Man his Duty, or to direct him to a right Way and Method to please God, and to secure that Mercy and Deliverance he longs for; which is not by quarrelling with God, as Job did, but by humble Confession, a hearty Detestation and Repentance of his Sins, and Supplication to God for Mercy through Christ the Redeemer, of whom Job spoke before, and who is hinted at in the next Verse. Or thus, To discover to Man, that altho' he be afflicted, yet he is an upright and righteous Person, and consequently in God's Favour; about which good Men are often in doubt, and need the Help of a skilful Minister to direct them therein. But this seems not so well to suit Job's Case, who was more than sufficiently persuaded of his own Integrity, and needed no Minister to preach that Doctrine to him.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Elihu accuses Job of charging God with Injustice. Man's Duty under Afflictions. He reproves Job for his Words against God.

Ver. 1. FUrthermore Elihu answered and said, 2 Hear my words, O ye wise men, and give ear unto me, ye that have knowledge. 3 For the ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat. 4 Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among our selves what is good. 5 For Job hath said, I am righteous: and God hath taken away my judgment. 6 Should I lie against my right? my wound is incurable without transgression. 7 What man is like Job, who drinketh up scorning like water? 8 Which goeth in company with the workers of iniquity, and walketh with wicked men. 9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should delight himself with God. 10 Therefore hearken unto me, ye men of understanding: far be it from God, that he should do wickedness, and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity. 11 For the work of a man shall he render unto him, and cause every man to find according to his ways. 12 Yea, surely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment 13 Who hath given him a charge over the earth or who hath disposed the whole world? 14 If he set his heart upon man, if he gather unto himself his spirit and his breath; 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall turn again unto dust. 16 If now thou hast understanding, hear this: hearken to the voice of my words. 17 Shall even he that hateth right govern? and wilt thou condemn him that is most just? 18 Is it fit to say to a king, Thou art wicked? and to princes, Ye are ungodly? 19 How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor? for they all are the work of his hands. 20 In a moment shall they die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and pass away; and the mighty shall be taken away without hand. 21 For his eyes are upon the ways of man, and he seeth all his goings. 22 There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves. 23 For he will not lay upon man more than right; that he should enter into judgment with God. 24 He shall break in pieces mighty men without number, and set others in their stead. 25 Therefore he knoweth their works, and he overturneth them in the night, so that they are destroyed. 26 He striketh them as wicked men in the open sight of others: 27 Because they turned back from him, and would not consider any of his ways. 28 So that they cause the cry of the poor to come unto him, and he heareth the cry of the afflicted. 29 When he giveth quietneſs, who then can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who then can behold him? whether it be done againſt a nation, or againſt a man only: 30 That the hypocrite reign not, leſt the people be enſnared. 31 Surely it is meet to be ſaid unto God, I have born chaſtiſement, I will not offend any more. 32 That which I ſee not, teach thou me; if I have done iniquity, I will do no more. 33 Should it be according to thy mind? he will recompenſe it, whether thou refuſe, or whether thou chooſe, and not I: therefore ſpeak what thou knoweſt. 34 Let men of underſtanding tell me, and let a wiſe man hearken unto me. 35 Job hath ſpoken without knowledge, and his words were without wiſdom. 36 My deſire is that Job may be tried unto the end, becauſe of his anſwers for wicked men. 37 For he addeth rebellion unto his ſin, he clappeth his hands amongſt us, and multiplieth his words againſt God.

Shall even he that hateth Right govern] By the Words, He that hateth Right, underſtand unrighteous. But this he expreſſes in a moſt emphatical Manner, the Reaſon and Weight whereof ſeem to be this: If God be unjuſt, he is not ſo for Fear of any Superior (as inferior Magiſtrates do many unrighteous Things againſt their Conſciences to pleaſe their Prince or chief Ruler, or to avoid his Diſpleaſure) but merely from an intrinſical Hatred of Juſtice, or Love of Unrighteouſneſs; which being moſt abſurd to imagine concerning God, therefore he cannot poſſibly be unjuſt, or do any unjuſt Action. As to the Word govern, which properly ſignifies to bind, it is fitly ſo rendered by moſt Interpreters, and ſo it is uſed Iſa. iii. 7. becauſe Governors have a Power to bind their Subjects by Laws and Penalties, and they are as it were, the Ligaments by which Societies are bound and kept together, which, without them, would be diſſolved and broken to Pieces, Elihu's Argument here is the ſame with that of Abraham's, Gen. xviii. 25. and that of St. Paul's, Rom. iii. 5, 6. If God be unrighteous, how ſhall he judge or govern the World? And the Argument is undeniable: If God were unjuſt, there would be nothing but Injuſtice and Confuſion, and Miſchief in the World, whereas we ſee there is a great deal of Juſtice adminiſtered by Rulers, which muſt all proceed from him who is the Fountain and Author of all Juſtice, Rule and Authority. And, as the Pſalmiſt ſays, Pſ. xix. 4, 9. He that formed the Eye, ſhall not he ſee? So, he that makes juſt, ſhall he be unjuſt?

CHAP. XXXV.

Our Good or Evil extends not to God, but to Men, who are oppreſſed and cry out, but not unto God, nor are delivered. He exhorts Job to hope in God, tho' for the preſent he be angry.

Ver. 1. ELIHU ſpake moreover, and ſaid, 2 Thinkeſt thou this to be right, that thou ſaidſt, My righteouſneſs is more than Gods? 3 For thou ſaidſt, What advantage will it be unto thee, and what profit ſhall I have if I be cleanſed from my ſin? 4 I will anſwer thee, and thy companions with thee. 5 Look unto the heavens, and ſee, and behold the clouds which are higher than thou. 6 If thou ſinneſt, what doſt thou againſt him? or if thy tranſgreſſions be multiplied, what doeſt thou unto him? 7 If thou be righteous what giveſt thou him? or what receiveth he of thine hand? 8 Thy wickedneſs may hurt a man as thou art, and thy righteouſneſs may profit the ſon of man. 9 By reaſon of the multitude of oppreſſions, they make the oppreſſed to cry: they cry out by reaſon of th arm of the mighty. 10 But none ſaith, where God my maker, who giveth ſongs in the nigh 11 Who teacheth us more than the beaſts of t earth, and maketh us wiſer than the fowls heaven. 12 There they cry, (but none give anſwer) becauſe of the pride of evil men. Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will t Almighty regard it. 14 Although thou ſay thou ſhalt not ſee him, yet judgment is befo him, therefore truſt thou in him. 15 But no becauſe it is not ſo, he hath viſited in his ange yet he knoweth it not in great extremity: Therefore doth Job open his mouth in vain; multiplieth words without knowledge.

But now becauſe it is not ſo, he hath viſited in Anger, yet he knoweth it not in great Extremity] B cauſe Job doth not acknowledge God's Juſtice, and own Sins, and wait upon God in his Ways for Merc according to the Advice given him in the preced Verſe, God, to whom this great Work of viſiting aſcribed every where in Scripture, hath laid theſe flictions upon him; all which is too little to bring to a Compliance with God, nor is he ſo ſenſibly affec therewith as to be humbled under God's Hand. T Verſe may likewiſe be rendered thus; And now kno that his (i. e. God's) Anger hath viſited thee little or thing (i. e. in compariſon of what thou haſt deſerv and mighteſt reaſonably expect) neither hath he kn (i. e. judged or puniſhed, as this Word is uſed, Pr x. 9.) thee in or according to (as the prefixed Beth ſometimes uſed) the great Abundance; namely, of Sins. And therefore thy Complaints of God are h injurious and abſolutely cauſeleſs.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Elihu demonſtrates the Righteouſneſs of God in his Ways; deſcribes the ſad State of the Hy crite; and exhorts Job to Repentance.

Ver. 1. filled the judgment of the wicked: judgment and justice take hold on thee. 18 Because there is wrath, beware lest he take thee away with his stroke: then a great ransom cannot deliver thee. 19 Will he esteem thy riches? no, not gold, nor all the forces of strength. 20 Desire not the night, when people are cut off in their place. 21 Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this hast thou chosen rather than affliction. 22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: who teacheth like him? 23 Who hath enjoined him his way? or who can say, Thou hast wrought iniquity? 24 Remember that thou magnify his work, which men behold. 25 Every man may see it, man may behold it afar off. 26 Behold, God is great, and we know him not, neither can the number of his years be searched out. 27 For he maketh small the drops of water: they pour down rain according to the vapour thereof: 28 Which the clouds do drop, and distil upon man abundantly. 29 Also can any understand the spreadings of the clouds, or the noise of his tabernacle? 30 Behold, he spreadeth his light upon it, and covereth the bottom of the sea. 31 For by them judgeth he the people, he giveth meat in abundance. 32 With clouds he covereth the light; and commandeth it not to shine, by the cloud that cometh betwixt. 33 The noise thereof sheweth concerning it, the cattle also concerning the vapour.

Elihu shews, that the Works of God are incomprehensibly great and glorious, and proves it from the most visible Works of Nature and Providence, which, throughly considered, are full of Wonder, and past the Reach of the greatest Philosophers, who, indeed, speak of them only by Guess, and, by their innumerable Disputations about them, discover their Ignorance of them.

CHAP. XXXVII.

God's great Works both of Creation and Providence, call for Reverence and Fear. We are ignorant, and cannot speak to God, but must fear Him who respects none.

37. 1. AT this also my heart trembleth, and is moved out of his place. 2 Hear attentively the noise of his voice, and the sound that goeth out of his mouth. 3 He directeth it under the whole heaven, and his lightning unto the ends of the earth. 4 After it a voice roareth: he thundreth with the voice of his excellency, and he will not stay them when his voice is heard. 5 God thundreth marvellously with his voice; great things doeth he, which we cannot comprehend. 6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou on the earth; likewise to the small rain, and to the great rain of his strength. 7 He sealeth up the hand of every man; that all men may know his work. 8 Then the beasts go into dens, and remain in their places. 9 Out of the south cometh the whirlwind: and cold out of the north. 10 By the breath of God, frost is given: and the breadth of the waters is straitned. 11 Also by watering he wearieth the thick cloud: he scattereth his bright cloud. 12 And it is turned round about by his counsels: that they may do whatsoever he commandeth them, upon the face of the world in the earth. 13 He causeth it to come, whether for correction, or for his land, or for mercy. 14 Hearken unto this, O Job: stand still, and consider the wondrous works of God. 15 Dost thou know when God disposed them, and caused the light of his cloud to shine? 16 Dost thou know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him, which is perfect in knowledge? 17 How thy garments are warm, when he quieteth the earth by the south-wind? 18 Hast thou with him spread out the skie, which is strong, and as a molten looking-glass? 19 Teach us what we shall say unto him; for we cannot order our speech by reason of darkness. 20 Shall it be told him that I speak? if a man speak, surely he shall be swallowed up. 21 And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds: but the wind passeth and cleanseth them. 22 Fair weather cometh out of the north: with God is terrible majesty. 23 Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict. 24 Men do therefore fear him: he respecteth not any that are wise of heart.

Hear attentively the Noise of his Voice] It is not improbable, that whilst Elihu was speaking, it thundered greatly, and that Tempest was begun wherewith God ushered in his Speech, as it follows in the next Chapter, and that this occasioned his Return to that Subject of which he had been before discoursing, and his Exhortation to him to mind it with greater Attention.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God challenges Job to answer, and, by his mighty Works, convinces him of his Ignorance and Imbecility.

Ver. 1. THEN the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said, 2 Who is this that darkneth counsel by words without knowledge? 3 Gird up now thy loyns like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me. 4 Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast understanding. 5 Who hath laid the measures thereof, if thou knowest? or who hath stretched the line upon it? 6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof fastned? or who laid the corner-stone thereof? 7 When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy. 8 Or who shut up the sea with doors, when it brake forth as if it had issued out of the womb? 9 When I made the cloud the garment thereof, and thick darkness a swadling-band for it. 10 And brake up for it my decreed place, and set bars and doors. 11 And said, Hitherto shalt thou come but no further: and here shall thy proud waves be stayed. 12 Hast thou commanded the morning since thy days? and caused the day-spring to know his place, 13 That it might take hold of the ends of the earth, that the wicked might be shaken out of it? 14 It is turned as clay to the seal, and they stand as a garment. 15 And from the wicked their light is withholden, and the high arm shall be broken. 16 Hast thou entred into the springs of the sea? or hast thou walked in the search of the depth? 17 Have the gates of death been opened unto thee? or hast thou seen the doors of the shadow of death? 18 Hast thou perceived the breadth of the earth? declare if thou knowest it all. 19

Where

Where is the way where light dwelleth? and as for darkneſs, where is the place thereof? 20 That thou ſhouldeſt take it to the bound thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt know the paths to the houſe thereof; 21 Knoweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then born? or becauſe the number of thy days is great? 22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnow? or haſt thou ſeen the treaſures of the hail? 23 Which I have reſerved againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of battle and war? 24 By what way is the light parted, which ſcattereth the eaſt-wind upon the earth? 25 Who hath divided a water-courſe for the overflowing of waters? or a way for the lightning of thunder, 26 To cauſe it to rain on the earth, where no man is; on the wilderneſs wherein there is no man? 27 To ſatisfy the deſolate and waſte ground, and to cauſe the bud of the tender herb to ſpring forth? 28 Hath the rain a father? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew? 29 Out of whoſe womb came the ice? and the hoary froſt of heaven, who hath gendred it? 30 The waters are hid as with a ſtone, and the face of the deep is frozen. 31 Canſt thou bind the ſweet influences of Pleiades, or looſe the bands of Orion? 32 Canſt thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his ſeaſon, or canſt thou guide Arcturus with his ſons? 33 Knoweſt thou the ordinances of heaven? canſt thou ſet the dominion thereof in the earth? 34 Canſt thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that abundance of waters may cover thee? 35 Canſt thou ſend lightnings, that they may go, and ſay unto thee, Here we are? 36 Who hath put wiſdom in the inward parts? or who hath given underſtanding to the heart? 37 Who can number the clouds in wiſdom? or who can ſtay the bottles of heaven? 38 When the duſt groweth into hardneſs, and the clods cleave faſt together? 39 Wilt thou hunt the prey for the lion? or fill the appetite of the young lions, 40 When they couch in their dens, and abide in the covert to lie in wait? 41 Who provideth for the raven his food? when his young ones cry unto God, they wander for lack of meat.

Canſt thou bind the ſweet Influences of Pleiades] The Senſe of the Words is this, Canſt thou at the Spring reſtrain? I have here, ſays Campbel, inſtead of the literal Verſion of the Words, retained in our Bible, given the certain and undeniable Meaning of them, as being moſt intelligible. The Senſe therefore, of this Part of the Speech, which the Deity is here recorded to have made unto Job, in the Preſence of his Friends, amounts to much the ſame Thing, as if we ſhould urge againſt a Perſon, diſputing the Will of a wiſe and virtuous Prince: You ſee in a Multitude of Inſtances how far he tranſcends thee, not only in his Power to do, but in his Prudence alſo in doing; wherefore then ſhouldeſt thou pretend to enter into a Controverſy with one ſo much too mighty for thee? Let the Things which thou ſeeſt him daily do reſtrain thy Preſumption; and ſince thou art incapable of doing the like, or even of judging on what Motives, or in what Manner they are brought to paſs, think more coolly, and ſubmiſſively of thoſe Matters which regard yourſelf, and do not raſhly decide in Points as difficult as they are important.

From the Text above cited, and the two following Verſes, which mentions the Names of ſeveral of the Conſtellations, we are not to draw Conſequences of the Power of the Stars in human Affairs, as ſome without Reaſon have done; neither is there a Neceſſity that we ſhould run into long and perplexed Enquiries as to the Senſe of theſe Words, which, it may be, are not here exactly tranſlated; nay, it is poſſible they never can be ſo: For we may, without it, perfectly underſtand the Meaning and Intent of the Expreſſion; and if ſo, the literal Senſe of the Words, tranſlated Pleiades, Orion, and Arcturus, are not material. Doubtleſs the Arabian Aſtronomy was, in thoſe Days, ſo far advanced, that they reckoned, with tolerable Exactneſs, the Progreſs of the Seaſons by celeſtial Obſervations. Now, this is all that is intended in the Text, that the Changes of the Weather were, indeed diſcernible by Men, but that they are ignorant, why, or in what Manner they are produced. This is the Nature not only of this Interrogatory, but in Truth of all the reſt in this Chapter; and the Sum of them amounts to this: The Structure and the Government of the Univerſe are wonderful, and yet uſeful; wherefore Man comprehends as much concerning them as is neceſſary for him to know, and yet is ſo far ignorant on the ſame Heads, that he muſt be ſenſible of the infinite and tranſcending Wiſdom of that Almighty Power by whom the Univerſe was formed, and is preſerved and ordered. On this laſt Point God preſſes Job, in order to convince him how poorly Man was qualified to judge of the Proceedings, Juſtice, or Equity of his Maker; and how humbly, from a due Senſe of his Inability, a wiſe and pious Man would think on ſuch Heads; nor are the Arguments produced here at all changed by the Increaſe of human Knowledge, but, on a ſtrict Enquiry, they will appear as ſtrong and cogent as they then were.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Of the wild Goats and Hinds; the wild Aſs; the Unicorn; the Peacock, Stork, and Oſtrich; the Horſe, Hawk, and Eagle; neither of them known to, or to be governed by Job; which muſt convince him of his Unfitneſs to judge of the Counſels of God.

Ver. 1. KNoweſt thou the time when the wild goats of the rock bring forth? or canſt thou mark when the hinds do calve? 2 Canſt thou number the months that they fulfil? or knoweſt thou the time when they bring forth? 3 They bow themſelves, they bring forth their young ones, they caſt out their ſorrows. 4 Their young ones are in good liking, they grow up with corn: they go forth and return not unto them. 5 Who hath ſent out the wild aſs free? or who hath looſed the bands of the wild aſs? 6 Whoſe houſe I have made the wilderneſs, and the barren land his dwellings. 7 He ſcorneth the multitude of the city, neither regardeth he the crying of the driver. 8 The range of the mountains is his paſture, and he ſearcheth after every green thing. 9 Will the unicorn be willing to ſerve thee, or abide by thy crib? 10 Canſt thou bind the unicorn with his band in the furrow, or will he harrow the valleys after thee? 11 Wilt thou truſt him becauſe his ſtrength is great? or wilt thou leave thy labour to him? 12 Wilt thou believe him that he will bring home thy ſeed, and gather it into thy barn? 13 Gavſt thou the goodly wings unto the peacocks? or wings and feathers unto the oſtrich? 14 Which leaveth her eggs in the earth, and warmeth them in the duſt, 15 And forgetteth that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beaſt may break them. 16 She is hardned againſt her young ones, as though they were not hers: her labour is in vain without fear; 17 Becauſe God hath deprived her of wiſdom, neither hath he imparted to her underſtanding. 18 What time ſhe lifteth up herſelf on high, ſhe ſcorneth the horſe and his rider. 19 Haſt thou given the horſe ſtrength? haſt thou cloathed his neck with thunder?

thou make him afraid as a graſhopper? the glory of his noſtrils is terrible. 21 He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his ſtrength: he goeth on to meet the armed men. 22 He mocketh at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the ſword. 23 The quiver rattleth againſt him, the glittering ſpear and the ſhield. 24 He ſwalloweth the ground with fierceneſs and rage; neither believeth he that it is the ſound of the trumpet. 25 He ſaith among the trumpets, Ha, ha; and he ſmelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the ſhouting. 26 Doth the hawk flie by thy wiſdom, and ſtretch her wings toward the ſouth? 27 Doth the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her neſt on high? 28 She dwelleth and abideth on the rock, upon the crag of the rock, and the ſtrong place. 29 From thence ſhe ſeeketh the prey, and her eyes behold afar off. 30 Her young ones alſo ſuck up blood: and where the ſlain are, there is ſhe.

Will the Unicorn be willing to ſerve thee] The Seventy tranſlate the Word Reem by Monoceros, an Unicorn, in which they have been followed by Junius and Tremellius, our preſent Bible, and the Tranſlation that preceded it: In which the following Gloſs is put in the Margin: 'Is it poſſible to make the Unicorn tame? ſignifying, that if a Man cannot rule a Creature, that it is much more impoſſible, that he ſhould confine the Wiſdom of God, whereby he governeth all the World.' That we may better judge of the Credit due to this Tranſlation, it will be proper to examine the Sentiments of ſuch as have written about the Unicorn; from whence we may diſcern, whether it reſemble the Deſcription here given of the Reem.

The Authors who have ſpoken of this Animal, are chiefly Pliny and Solinus, who take a great Part of what they ſay from Cteſias, a Writer much ſuſpected of Falſhood. In regard, however, to this Creature, thoſe who have copied him ſeem to enlarge conſiderably: 'They have Horns (ſays he) in the Middle of their Foreheads of about a Cubit in Length. There ſhoots (ſays Solinus) from their Foreheads a Horn of a wonderful Luſtre, to the Length of four Feet.' Not to tire our Readers with prolix Quotations, we ſhall only obſerve, that they agree pretty nearly in the following Deſcription: 'The Unicorn hath the Head of a Stag, the Body of an Horſe, and the Feet of an Elephant; he is however ſo exceſſively ſwift, that nothing can overtake it; ſo fierce, that it is an Enemy unto all other Animals; its Horn ſo ſtrong as to pierce, break through, or rip open whatſoever it puſhes; and the Courage and Boldneſs of the Creature ſo great, that none of them were ever taken alive.' A Circumſtance which is very juſtly urged againſt their Exiſtence. Philoſtratus, and ſome other antient Authors that have recorded certain Circumſtances of the ſame Kind; but the Arabians, to whom ſuch Subjects as this properly belong, as far exceed theſe in Fables, as they exceed them in Truth. 'The Female (ſay they) like the Elephant, carries her Young ſeven Years, and when the Time of their bringing forth draws nigh, the young one puts its Head out to eat the green Branches of Trees, and then retires back into the Belly of the Dam; it feeds, when grown up, like the Ox or the Camel, upon Graſs, and chews the Cud; it lives to a prodigious Age, and bears a particular Spleen againſt Elephants and Men. Againſt the back Part of the firſt-mentioned Animal, it runs its Horn with inconceivable Violence; and, having drove it as high as his Forehead, will let it go, the Elephant falls, and the Unicorn with him, being unable to get out his Weapon, ſo that both periſh there together. Its Swiftneſs and Courage preſerve it ſo well from all Danger, that there is but one Way of taking it, which, according to theſe Authors, is this: A young Maid muſt ſit down in the Place where the Unicorn 'is known to haunt; and he, ſo ſoon as he ſees her, 'will gently approach, and ſuffer her to ſtroke him, 'till at length leaning his Head on her Breaſt, or in 'her Lap, he falls faſt aſleep, when the Hunters break 'in and ſeize him.' From the Inconſiſtency of theſe abſurd Relations, Men of Senſe have abſolutely denied the Exiſtence of ſuch an Animal, and Bochart, in his Hierozoicon, has drawn together ſo many Arguments to this Purpoſe, that I think no Man, who has read him, can fail of being convinced. As to the wreathed Horns, which are frequently expoſed as the Horns of Unicorns, and were formerly ſold at an extravagant Price, they are counterfeit, i. e. made of an Elephant's Tooth, wrought into that Shape, or elſe they are Horns of the Sea-Unicorn, which is largely and exactly deſcribed by Periere, in his Account of Greenland, on the Coaſts of which they are taken.

Aquila renders Reem by Rhinoceros, and has been followed therein by the vulgar Latin; but there does not appear any juſt Reaſon for admitting that, more than the former Tranſlation, as we ſhall preſently prove. In the mean Time, it will be proper to ſay ſomething of this Beaſt, that our Readers may be able to compare it with the Reem in the Text.

The Rhinoceros is an Animal larger than an Ox, and leſs than an Elephant, having a ſtrong Horn riſing from his Snout, wherewith he defends himſelf, and annoys other Beaſts. Father le Compte ſays, that they are rare even in the Countries where they are found, and that their Horns are very much valued; their Hides are covered with hard Scales, and this Beaſt has on his Belly ſuch a Bunch as the Camel has on his Back; it runs very ſwiftly, and does much Miſchief in the Woods where it haunts; but the moſt extraordinary Thing about the Rhinoceros, is the Tongue, which is long and rough as a File, with which it licks off the tender Bark of Trees, or whatever elſe it meets with. The Fierceneſs of the Rhinoceros, probably, engaged thoſe who adhered to this Verſion, to imagine it muſt be the Reem; but it is not a little hard to account both for their Notion, and for that entertained by the LXX, in fancying this Animal had but one Horn; ſince there is nothing here or elſewhere in Scripture, which can any where juſtify it, tho' it appears plainly they took it for a Property eſſentially belonging to the Reem.

From theſe arbitrary Tranſlations, which ſeem to have but little Recourſe to the Scriptures, let us ſee if by comparing the Paſſages wherein this Animal is ſpoken of, we ſhall not be able to form a more rational Idea of its Nature, and conſequently of its Species. When Balak enquired of Balaam, what it was the Lord had revealed to him, concerning the Houſe of Iſrael? Balaam, in his Anſwer, ſetting forth the Strength and Power of the Nation, ſays, Numb. xxiii. 22. God brought them out of Egypt; he hath, as it were, the Strength of the Reem. The Prophet Iſaiah, declaring at large the Miſeries which ſhould fall upon a Land againſt which he denounced Judgments, ſays, Ch. xxxiv. 7. And the Reemim ſhall come down with them, and the Bullocks with the Bulls, and their Lands ſhall be ſoaked with Blood. The Pſalmiſt complaining of the cruel Malice of his Enemies, Pſ. xxii. 12, 13. expreſſeth himſelf thus, Many Bulls have compaſſed me about; ſtrong Bulls of Baſhan have beſet me round. They opened their Mouths wide againſt me, as a ravening and roaring Lion. Lower in the ſame Pſalm, putting up Prayers to God for his Deliverance, Ver. 20. he ſays, Deliver my Soul from the Sword, my only one from the Power of the Dogs. Save me from the Lion's Mouth, for thou haſt heard me from the Horns of the Reemim. In the ninety ſecond Pſalm, the Author having obſerved, that the Vengeance of God overthrew the Wicked, acknowledges, that as to himſelf, he had great Hopes from the Lord, Ver. 10. But my Horn ſhalt thou exalt like the Horns of the Reem. From theſe Paſſages, and that in Job, which occaſioned theſe Reflexions, we think it evident, 1. That the Reem is an Animal of great Strength. 2. That it is common in the Countries of Judea, Syria, and Arabia. 3. That its Food is the ſame with that of Oxen. The learned Bochart, after a laborious Search into this Matter, thought it must be the Urus, a Kind of wild Bullock described first by Cæsar, in the 6th Book of his Commentaries: But this Interpretation clashing with our second Observation, we chuse rather to follow the learned Bochart in his Opinion, that the Reem is a wild untractable Goat, described by several Arabian Authors, under the Name of Rim, which has a great Affinity with the Hebrew Appellation. However, we do not presume to decide farther of this Matter, than by saying, the Reem, in all Likelihood, is neither a Unicorn, Rhinoceros, or wild Bull, but some Animal far more common in the oriental Regions.

Gavest thou goodly Wings unto the Peacocks? or Wings and Feathers unto the Ostrich] It is certain, says Campbell, that in the whole Old Testament, there is not any Verse more crabbed and perplexed than this. The first Word, Renanim, which we render Peacocks, is liable to much Dispute, and perhaps it is not possible to defend this Version. Some Criticks are of Opinion that it should have been rendered Ostriches; and, indeed, the only Argument in Favour of our Version is, that the Finery of this Bird's Feathers are here celebrated, which seems best to agree with the Peacock. The Names of Animals, Trees, Fruits, and Flowers are so much altered, that it is not easy to distinguish them; but we do not apprehend, that this will furnish any reasonable Man with an Excuse for not believing the Holy Scriptures, which some evil disposed Persons have endeavoured to depreciate on this Account. For, admitting all they assert, that at this Day we are not able to ascertain the very Species mentioned in various Passages of Scripture, as for Instance in this Verse of the Book of Job, what Consequence will follow from thence? The plain indubitable Assertion in the Text is, that the Renanim, let them be what Kind of Birds they will, did not derive the Beauty of their Plumage from Job: Now, should one assert the true Meaning of the Word to be Peacocks, another Ostriches, a third Hawks, the several Arguments produced by each in Defence of his Opinion, and in Opposition to what the others advanced, will no way prejudice the Truth of the original Proposition; seeing whatever Kind of Birds they were, nothing can be more sure than that they received the exquisite Variegations of their Feathers from the Almighty only. It is evident, that the same Answer will be as full to any other Objection arising from Words as hard to be understood as this.

Which leaveth her Eggs in the Earth, &c.] The learned and excellent Dr. Derham, has given a very full and judicious Interpretation of this Passage, P. 355, of his Physico-Theology, where, having cited the three Verses in the Text, takes Notice of three Things. 1. Of this anomalous Way of Generation. It is not very strange, that no other Incubation but that of the Sun should produce the Young; but 'tis very odd and wonderful, that one Species should vary from all the rest of the Tribe. But above all, 2. The singular Care of the Creator is, in this Case very remarkable, in supplying some other Way, the Want of the Parent Animal's Care, and the innate Tenderness which they have for their Offspring, so that the Young should notwithstanding be bred up in those large and barren Deserts of Arabia and Africa, and in such like Places, where those Birds dwell, the most unlikely and unfitting, in human Opinion, to afford Sustenance to young helpless Creatures, but the fittest, therefore, to give Demonstration of the Wisdom, Care, and special Providence of the infinite Creator and Conservator of the World. 3. The last Thing I shall remark is, that the Instinct of irrational Animals, at least of this specified in the Text, is attributed to God. For the Reason the Text gives, why the Ostrich is hardened against her young ones, as tho' they were not hers, is, because God hath deprived her of Wisdom, and not imparted Understanding to her (i. e. He hath denied her that Wisdom, he hath not imparted to her that Understanding, that natural Instinct, to provide for and nurse up her Young) that most Creatures of the same and other Tribes, are endowed with.

CHAP. XL.

God reproves Job, who humbles himself. God again declares his Righteousness, Majesty, and the Power of his Wrath to abase the Proud. Of Behemoth.

Ver. 1. MOreover the Lord answered Job, and said, 2 Shall he that contendeth with the Almighty instruct him? he that reproveth God, let him answer it. 3 Then Job answered the Lord, and said, 4 Behold, I am vile, what shall I answer thee? I will lay mine hand upon my mouth. 5 Once have I spoken, but I will not answer: yea, twice, but I will proceed no further. 6 Then answered the Lord unto Job out of the whirlwind, and said, 7 Gird up thy loyns now like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me. 8 Wilt thou also disanul my judgment? wilt thou condemn me that thou mayest be righteous? 9 Hast thou an arm like God? or canst thou thunder with a voice like him? 10 Deck thy self now with majesty and excellency, and array thy self with glory and beauty. 11 Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath: and behold every one that is proud, and abase him. 12 Look on every one that is proud, and bring him low: and tread down the wicked in their place. 13 Hide them in the dust together, and bind their faces in secret. 14 Then will I also confess unto thee, that thine own right hand can save thee. 15 Behold now Behemoth which I made with thee, he eateth grass as an ox. 16 Lo now, his strength is in his loyns, and his force is the navel of his belly. 17 He moveth his tail like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapt together. 18 His bones are strong pieces of brass, his bones are like bars of iron. 19 He is the chief of the ways of God: he that made him, can make his sword to approach unto him. 20 Surely the mountains bring him forth food: where all the beasts of the field play. 21 He lieth under the shady trees, in the covert of the reed and fens. 22 The shady trees cover him with their shadow: the willows of the brook compass him about. 23 Behold, he drinketh up a river, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw up Jordan into his mouth. 24 He taketh it with his eyes: his nose pierceth through snares.

Behold now Behemoth] There has been much Dispute, whether we are hereby to understand the Elephant, or Hippopotamus, or River-horse. The ancient Commentators declare for the former. But the learned Bochart, alledges many Things which render it probable that the latter should be meant thereby. By the Description of both Animals, it appears that either comes very near the Description in the Text, but which comes nearest, let the Reader judge.

First then of an Elephant, which, as Authors are pretty well agreed, is the largest of all four footed Beasts. Pliny gives a large, and, for the most Part, a precise exact Account of this famous Animal, and observes that, of all Beasts, he approaches nearest to Man in Sagacity, and the Exercise of a Faculty not much removed from Reason, which some have thought agrees well with what is said here in the Text, that Behemoth, whom I have made with thee, i. e. nearly allied to thee, by Superiority in Knowledge, over the rest of the Brutes. Considering the vast Bulk and mighty Strength of this huge Creature, we cannot but admire the Wisdom and Goodness of God, in making gentle Nature, feeding like the tamer Cattle, on Graſs and Herbs, injuring and diſturbing nothing, unleſs firſt injured or diſturbed by it. The prodigious Strength of this large Animal we may gather from what we read concerning it in antient and modern Authors, and eſpecially from the Accounts of the Uſe made of it in War, and the Turrets, Combatants, and Ammunition it carried on its Back: But the Member moſt conſiderable about the Elephant, is his Proboſcis, or Trunk, whereby, notwithſtanding his Size, he performs whatever he pleaſes, with wonderful Facility and Quickneſs. Some have thought that the Words, Ver. 17. he moveth his Tail like a Cedar, allude to his Trunk or Snout, which is, indeed, ſupported, in ſome Meaſure, by the Examples drawn from Holy Writings, wherein the Tail is put only for the Extremity, as Deut. xxv. 18. and xxviii. 13, 14. Pliny obſerves of the Legs of this Creature, that in Shape and Bulk they reſemble Pillars, and the reſt of the Bones are, doubtleſs, proportionably ſtrong, large and firm. So that reflecting on the Boldneſs of the Arabian Similitudes, we may eaſily admit their being compared to Iron and Braſs. What is next aſſerted of the Behemoth, viz. that he is the chief of the Ways of God, may be very well applied to this Animal, as, 1. From his ſtupendous Bulk, being commonly ten or twelve Feet high. 2. From his amazing Strength, whereby he is able to overturn Trees, and even Huts built by Men. 3. From his wonderful Sagacity, of which all Authors ſpeak copiouſly, who mention him at all. 4. From the ſurprizing Agility which he ſhews, notwithſtanding the unweildy Appearance of his Body. 5. From the great Uſe made of him in War, concerning which we have the unanimous Teſtimonies of antient and modern Hiſtorians. 6. From the great Extent of Years unto which they live, Ariſtotle and others affirming, that they reach 200. 7. Their Practice of various Virtues, viz. Chaſtity, Temperance, Fidelity, Gratitude, and Compaſſion. Nor are thoſe Qualities lightly aſcribed to them by fabulous Authors, but are acknowledged, and recorded by Writers very worthy of Credit. As the Elephant is of a placid, gentle Nature, ſo the Beaſts feed near him without Fear, which theſe Words of Scripture poſſibly refer, Surely the Mountains bring him forth Food, where all the wild Beaſts of the Field play. This Animal, being very hot in its Nature, and living in Countries where the Climate is very ſultry, the Elephant, therefore, as various authentick Authors aſſure us, of all Things rejoices in ſhady Places, where he lays himſelf down among the Reeds and Water, in order to cool his Body, and quench his Third; for that ridiculous Fable of having no Joints in his Legs, and conſequently of his Inability to raiſe himſelf, if once thrown upon the Ground, has been long ſince exploded.

Thus we have ſhewn, that the Deſcription in Job is far from being incompatible with what Naturaliſts report concerning this wonderful Creature, ſo truely admirable in its Formation, and ſo ſtrong a Proof of the Wiſdom and Power of the Almighty Maker of all things.

The great Aſſerter of the oppoſite Opinion, viz. that Behemoth is not the Elephant, but the Hippopotamus or River-horſe, is the great Bochart, whoſe unwearied Pains, accurate Judgment, and profound Erudition, give a ſtrong Biaſs in Favour of whatever he advances. That we may do Juſtice therefore to his Sentiments on this Head, we ſhall tranſcribe what he has in his Hierozoicon, P. 49. 'It will be ſufficient to prove, that the Behemoth is an amphibious Animal, and that which we have aſſerted it to be, if we paraphraſe the Verſes where this Creature is deſcribed, viz. 15. Behold, ſays the Lord, the Hippopotamus which I have made near thee, i. e. in Egypt, nor far diſtant from Job's Country: Who admires him not? He is an Inhabitant of the Deep, and yet eateth Hay as an Ox. Ver. 16. Neither is his Strength only in his Loins, but in the Bottom of his Belly, even in his Navel, where other Creatures are weak. Ver. 17. His Tail, tho' it be ſtrong and firm as a Cedar, yet doth move with great Agility; the Nerves and 'Sinews alſo of his Thighs are wrapped ſtrongly together, and thereby ſhew the prodigious Strength he 'hath in his Limbs. Ver. 18. Neither hath he, as 'Fiſhes, pliable and cartilaginous Bones; but, on the 'contrary, they are firm as Iron, and ſolid as Braſs. 'Ver. 19. And that the Wiſdom of God might be 'rendered more eminently conſpicuous in this Animal, 'his Teeth are formed ſo as to cut or mow down Corn 'as a Scythe or Sickle. Ver. 20. Thus provideth he 'for himſelf even on the Mountains where the Beaſts 'play. Ver. 21. As an Aquatick, he delights to lie 'in Marſhes, and among the tender Reeds. Ver. 22. 'Or reſted under the Shade of the Willows which grow 'on the Banks of the Nile. Ver. 23. Yet diveth he 'to the Bottom without Hurt; he beholds the Streams 'ruſhing over him without Fear. Ver. 24. Who dares 'approach ſuch a Creature with open Force? Who 'can hope to thruſt a Hook into his Noſe.' More might be added on the ſame Subject, but it would be protracting the Work too much.

CHAP. XLI.

God's Sovereignty over all the Children of Pride, ſeen in the Leviathan.

Ver. 1. CANST thou draw out Leviathan with an hook? or his tongue with a cord which thou letteſt down? 2 Canſt thou put an hook into his noſe? or bore his jaw through with a thorn? 3 Will he make many ſupplications unto thee? will he ſpeak ſoft words unto thee? 4 Will he make a covenant with thee? wilt thou take him for a ſervant for ever? 5 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maidens? 6 Shall the companions make a banquet of him? ſhall they part him among the merchants? 7 Canſt thou fill his ſkin with barbed irons? or his head with fiſh-ſpears? 8 Lay thine hand upon him, remember the battle, do no more. 9 Behold, the hope of him is in vain: ſhall not one be caſt down even at the ſight of him? 10 None is ſo fierce that dare ſtir him up: who then is able to ſtand before me? 11 Who hath prevented me that I ſhould repay him? whatſoever is under the whole heaven is mine. 12 I will not conceal his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion. 13 Who can diſcover the face of his garment? or who can come to him with his double bridle? 14 Who can open the doors of his face? his teeth are terrible round about. 15 His ſcales are his pride, ſhut up together as with a cloſe ſeal. 16 One is ſo near to another, that no air can come between them. 17 They are joined one to another, they ſtick together, that they cannot be ſundred. 18 By his neeſings, a light doth ſhine, and his eyes are like the eye-lids of the morning. 19 Out of his mouth go burning lamps, and ſparks of fire leap out. 20 Out of his noſtrils goeth ſmoak, as out of a ſeething pot or caldron. 21 His breath kindleth coals, and a flame goeth out of his mouth. 22 In his neck remaineth ſtrength, and ſorrow is turned into joy before him. 23 The flakes of his fleſh are joyned together: they are firm in themſelves, they cannot be moved. 24 His heart is as firm as a ſtone, yea, as hard as a piece of the nether milſtone. 25 When he raiſeth up himſelf, the mighty are afraid: by reaſon of breakings they purifie themſelves. 26 The ſword of him that layeth at him cannot hold: the ſpear, the dart, nor the habergeon. 27 He eſteemeth iron as a ſtraw, ſtraw, and braſs as rotten wood. 28 The arrow cannot make him flee: ſling-ſtones are turned with him into ſtubble. 29 Darts are counted as ſtubble: he laugheth at the ſhaking of a ſpear. 30 Sharp ſtones are under him: he ſpreadeth ſharp-pointed things upon the mire. 31 He maketh the deep to boyl like a pot: he maketh the ſea like a pot of ointment. 32 He maketh a path to ſhine after him; one would think the deep to be hoary. 33 Upon earth there is not his like: who is made without fear. 34 He beholdeth all high things: he is a king over all the children of pride.

This whole Chapter is taken up in the Deſcription of the Leviathan. As the true Signification of Behemoth has been much controverted, ſo alſo great Diſputes have ariſen concerning the Import of this Word Leviathan; ſome conceiving it as intended of the Whale, others of the Crocodile. Both thoſe Creatures are ſo well known, that a Deſcription of them would be ſuperfluous. The learned Mr. Pool, in his Annotations, and in his Synopſis, has laid before his Readers Variety of Proofs, tending to ſhew, that the Words of God, related in this Chapter, are fulfilled, in caſe the Leviathan ſhould be taken for either, tho' we are inclined, from various Reaſons, to believe, it is rather to be underſtood of the Crocodile. 1. Becauſe it is reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that the Almighty would chuſe no Animal for this Demonſtration of his Power and Wiſdom, but what was ſufficiently known to Job and his Friends; otherwiſe the Argument raiſed therefrom, would evidently have leſs Weight. Now, the Whale could not be a Creature ſo known; whereas the Crocodile, being ſo common in Egypt, they could not but be acquainted therewith, and with all its Properties. 2. The Leviathan is here ſaid to have had large and ſtrong-knit Scales, as if they had been ſealed together, whereas the Whale has no Scales at all; but the Crocodile correſponds exactly with that Deſcription. 3. His Breath is ſet forth as very hot, and that by a ſtrong Metaphor; which has been obſerved of the laſt mentioned Animal, but never in Whales, or in any other Fiſh. In other Places of Scripture, Leviathan is ſometimes to be underſtood of a Whale, ſometimes of a Crocodile; ſo that we could not draw any Argument of Conſequence from thence enough to determine the Diſpute.

CHAP. XLII.

Job's Humiliation and Repentance. God prefers Job's Cauſe, and is angry with his Friends; Job intercedes for them and is accepted. The happy Event of all his Troubles, in the vaſt Increaſe of his Riches and Family.

Ver. 1. THen Job anſwered the Lord, and ſaid, 2 I know that thou canſt do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee. 3 Who is he that hideth counſel without knowledge? therefore have I uttered that I underſtood not, things too wonderful for me, which I knew not. 4 Hear, I beſeech thee, and I will ſpeak: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me. 5 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear; but now mine eye ſeeth thee. 6 Wherefore I abhor myſelf, and repent in duſt and aſhes. 7 And it was ſo, that after the Lord had ſpoken theſe words unto Job, the Lord ſaid to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled againſt thee, and againſt thy two friends: for ye have not ſpoken of me the thing that is right, as my ſervant Job hath. 8 Therefore take unto you now ſeven bullocks, and ſeven rams, and go to my ſervant Job, and offer up for your ſelves a burnt-offering, and my ſervant Job ſhall pray for you, for him will I accept: leſt I deal with you after your folly, in that ye have not ſpoken of me the thing which is right, like my ſervant Job. 9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord commanded them: the Lord alſo accepted Job. 10 And the Lord turned the captivity of Job when he prayed for his friends: alſo the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before. 11 Then came there unto him all his brethren, and all his ſiſters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his houſe: and they bemoaned him, and comforted him over all the evil that the Lord had brought upon him: every man alſo gave him a piece of money, and every one an ear-ring of gold. 12 So the Lord bleſſed the latter end of Job more than his beginning: for he had fourteen thouſand ſheep, and ſix thouſand camels, and a thouſand yoke of oxen, and a thouſand ſhe-aſſes. 13 He had alſo ſeven ſons and three daughters. 14 And he called the name of the firſt Jemima, and the name of the ſecond Kezia, and the name of the third, Keren-happuch. 15 And in all the land were no women found ſo fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren. 16 After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and ſaw his ſons, and his ſons ſons, even four generations. 17 So Job died being old, and full of days.

Here, ſays Patrick, ends the Book of Job, who's ſhort Sufferings (for the Space of twelve Months, the Hebrews reckon in Seder Olam) were recompenſed with a very long Life in great Proſperity, if we could rely upon all their Traditions, his Life was two hundred and ten Years. For in the Jeruſalem Targum upon Exod. xii. 40. and in Bereſchit Rabba upon Gen. xlii. 2. they make Account that the Iſraelites ſtayed juſt ſo long in Egypt; and in the Chronicle forenamed, and in Baba Bathera, and other Books they tell us, that Job was born that very Year when Jacob went with his Family down thither to ſojourn; and died that Year they were delivered from thence by the Hand of Moſes. But this agrees neither with what other of their Authors ſay, nor with the Septuagint, who, in the laſt Verſe but one of this Book, inſert this Clauſe, All the Days of his Life were two hundred and forty Years.

Before the Law given from Sinai, ſays Campbell, the Faithful were acquainted with the Will of God three ſeveral Ways; that is, By Miniſters ſent by the Almighty; by internal Notices; and by Tradition from their Fathers.

The Friends of Job appear to have been as well versed as himſelf in true Divinity; their Diſcourſes are conceived in Terms perfectly ſublime, and exactly ſuited to the Excellency of their Subject; inſomuch that from this Book alone, a late learned Writer, Jurieu, has drawn a full and yet conciſe Syſtem of Divinity, as it was received under the Patriarchal Diſpenſation.

'The Theology of the Antients, I conceive, ſays he, contained all Things eſſential to Religion, which 'will appear by conſidering the following Heads of their 'Belief. 1. That God alone is worthy of Adoration, 'that he is infinite, and that he knows all Things both 'in Heaven and in Earth. 2. That he is the Creator 'and Preſerver of the Univerſe. 3. That the Effects 'of Evil happen not but by his Permiſſion. 4. That 'the Juſtice of God is ever obſervant of the Conduct 'of Men, diſcerning whether they do good, or whether they do evil, in order to reward or punish them 'accordingly. 5. That this World is not the Place 'wherein God makes ſuch Retributions; but that 'this Life, he diſtributes indifferently both Good and Calamities on the Juſt and on the Unjuſt. 6. That, beſides the general Beneficence which God is pleaſed to exerciſe towards all his Creatures, he hath a Loving-kindneſs in Reſerve for thoſe who confide in, or attend upon him; that he hath prepared, for the laſt Days, a Deliverer, a Redeemer, a Shiloh, a Bleſſed Seed, a Saviour, who ſhall free his Church from Captivity, and ſhall deſtroy the Empire of the Devil. 7. That a hearty Confidence in God, a ſincere Belief in his Promiſes, a true Repentance, are the only Means whereby to attain or preſerve his Favour. 8. That Death, as well as the other Enemies of the Church, ſhall, in the End be vanquiſhed; and that, at the Reſurrection, the Almighty will deliver out of his Hands all thoſe whom he had ſubdued.'

St. Jerom, in his Preface to the Book of Job, informs us, that the Verſe in which it is chiefly compoſed, is Heroic. From the Beginning of the Book, to the 3d Chapter, he ſays, it is Proſe; but from Job's Words, Let the Day periſh wherein I was born, &c. Ch. iii. 3. unto theſe Words, Wherefore I abhor myſelf, and repent in Duſt and Aſhes, Ch. xlii. 6. the Verſes are hexameter, conſiſting of Dactyls and Spondees, like the Greek Verſes of Homer, and the Latin of Virgil. Marianus Victorius, in his Note upon this Paſſage of St. Jerom, ſays, that he has examined the Book of Job, and finds St. Jerom's Obſervation to be true. Only we muſt obſerve, that the ſeveral Sentences, directing us to the ſeveral Speakers, ſuch as theſe, Moreover the Lord anſwered Job, and ſaid — Elihu ſo proceeded, and ſaid. — Elihu ſpake moreover, and ſaid, &c. are in Proſe, and not in Verſe. St. Jerom makes this farther Remark, that the Verſes in the Book of Job do not always conſiſt of Dactyls and Spondees, but that other Feet do frequently occur inſtead of them; that we often meet in them Words of four Syllables, inſtead of a Dactyl and Spondee; and that the Meaſure of the Verſes frequently differs in the Numbers of the Syllables of the ſeveral Feet; but allowing two ſhort Syllables to be equal to one long one, the Sums of the Meaſure of the Verſes are always the ſame.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Book of PSALMS.

The ARGUMENT.

This Book, in the Hebrew Language, is called Sepher Tehillem, the Book of Pſalms or Hymns, i. e. Praiſes of the Lord: Becauſe, tho' there are many Complaints, and Imprecations, and Prayers in it, yet the greateſt Part are Praiſes and Thankſgivings unto God: And in thoſe other, there are many Mixtures of Acknowledgments of what God had formerly done for him; or of Confidence what He would ſtill do; or of Reſolutions how thankful he would be, when God granted him Deliverance: Which gave them ſuch a ſtrange Power to cure Heavineſs, to extirpate Grief, to wipe away Sorrow, to lay aſleep troubleſome Thoughts and Paſſions, to eaſe us of our Cares, to recreate thoſe who are oppreſſed with any Sort of Pains (they are the Words of Proclus Archbiſhop of Conſtantinople) as well as to move Compunction for Sin, and to ſtimulate unto Piety; that no Book in the World is to compare with it, for theſe Purpoſes.

And as it is called the Book of Pſalms, or Praiſes, from the major Part; ſo they are called David's Pſalms, becauſe he made the moſt of them; tho' it muſt be confeſſed, there were ſeveral other Authors by whom ſome of them were compoſed.

In the Hebrew they are divided, like Moſes's Law, into five Books, and ſo may be called a ſecond Pentateuch: Which ſeem to have been collected by ſeveral Perſons, for no other Reaſon but that can be given, why all that belong to one Subject were not put together, or, at leaſt, all thoſe compoſed by David, placed by themſelves, and not ſo mixed as they are with thoſe made by other Authors.

Some think they were collected by the Friends of Hezekiah, before the Captivity. But if they had been ſo, they would, in all Probability, have been diſpoſed in ſuch Order as they were penn'd; all the ſacred Books being preſerved in the Temple, as Joſephus witneſſes, with great Care; from whence they might have taken Copies of them, with the Names of all their Authors; which now, in many of them are wanting. Which makes it more likely, that after the Temple and ſacred Records were burnt by the King of Babylon's Army, ſome pious Perſons collected as many as they could find, by enquiring among their Friends, in thoſe good Mens Hands, who had heretofore tranſcribed them for their own private Uſe every one as he had moſt need. For the Songs of Sion, the People were very well acquainted with, tho' it lay deſolate, as appears by the cxxxviith Pſalm, where the Babylonians deſire to hear one of them ſung by the mournful Captives: Who preſerved them, no doubt, to their Comfort in that ſad Condition, and added to them ſuch as had been made by divine Men, during its Continuance, and after their Return from their Captivity: When, as St. Athanaſius reſolves in his Synopſis (following the Hebrew Tradition) Eſdras put them together in one Volume, as we now have them; which is not affirmed without Reaſon: For we find that no ſooner was the Foundation of the ſacred Temple, but Ezra (as the Hebrews call him) reſtored the antient Cuſtom of Pſalmody, or ſinging Pſalms of Praiſe, Ezra iii. 10, 11. which David had appointed to accompany the Sacrifices as ſoon as the Ark was ſetled, 1 Chron. vi. 31. xvi. 17. Eccleſ. i. 15, 16. &c. and which Solomon continued after he had built the Temple and brought the Ark into it, 2 Chron. v. 12, 13.

PSAL. I.

The Happineſs of the upright Man. The Unhappineſs of the Ungodly.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is the man that walketh not in the counſel of the ungodly, nor ſtandeth in the way of ſinners, nor ſitteth in the ſeat of the ſcornful. 2 But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in his law doth he meditate day and night. 3 And he ſhall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his ſeaſon; his leaf alſo ſhall not wither, and whatſoever he doth, ſhall proſper. 4 The ungodly are not ſo: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away. 5 Therefore the ungodly ſhall not ſtand in the judgment, nor ſinners in the congregation of the righteous. For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly ſhall periſh.

This Pſalm was put firſt as a Preface to all the reſt, as a powerful Perſuaſive to the diligent reading, and ſerious Study of the whole Book, and of the reſt of the holy Scriptures; containing a Deſcription of the [illegible] Man's happy Life and Converſation, in Oppoſition the perverſe and wretched Courſe and Condition of the Wicked and Ungodly.

PSAL. II.

The Kingdom of Chriſt; Kings are exhorted to ſubmit to it.

Ver. 1. WHy do the heathen rage, and people imagine a vain thing? 2 The kings of the earth ſet themſelves, and the rulers take counſel together againſt the Lord, and againſt his anointed, ſaying, 3 Let us break their bands aſunder, and caſt away their cords from us. 4 He that ſitteth in the heavens will laugh: the Lord ſhall have them in deriſion. 5 Then ſhall he ſpeak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his ſore diſpleaſure. 6 Yet have I ſet my king upon my holy hill of Zion. 7 I will declare the decree: the Lord hath ſaid unto me, Thou art my ſon, this day have I begotten thee. 8 Aſk of me, and I ſhall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermoſt parts of the earth for thy poſſeſſion. 9 Thou ſhalt break them with a rod of iron, thou ſhalt daſh them in pieces like a potters veſſel. 10 Be wiſe now therefore, O ye kings: be inſtructed ye judges of the earth. 11 Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling. 12 Kiſs the Son leſt he be angry, and ye periſh from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little: bleſſed are all they that put their truſt in him.

This Pſalm, under the Hiſtory of David, (whom from a low and afflicted Condition, God raiſed to a Throne, and notwithſtanding all the Oppoſition made againſt it, firſt, by Saul, and then by others, ſetled him in it) contains a moſt illuſtrious Prophecy of the Kingdom of Chriſt; whom God raiſed even from the Dead, made the King of Glory, notwithſtanding all that the Scribes and Phariſees, Herod and other Princes could do to hinder it, enlarged his Kingdom to the uttermoſt Parts of the Earth.

The antient Hebrew Writers unanimouſly expounded this Chapter of the Meſſiah, as is confeſſed by their brethren, particularly by Rabbi Solomon Jarchi, who hath this memorable Paſſage, viz. 'Our Doctors expounded this Pſalm of the King Meſſiah, but that we may anſwer the Hereticks (meaning the Chriſtians) 'tis expedient to interpret it of David's Perſon, as the Words ſound.' Which Words, altho' they are left out of the latter Editions of that Book, either by the fraud of the Jews, or Careleſſneſs or Miſtake of others, yet are extant in the antient Editions of it.

PSAL. III.

The Security of thoſe who make God their Protection.

A Pſalm of David when he fled from Abſalom his Son.

Ver. 1. LORD, how are they increaſed that trouble me? many are they that riſe up againſt me. 2 Many there be which ſay of my ſoul, There is no help for him in God. Selah. 3 But thou, O Lord, art a ſhield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of mine head. 4 I cried unto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill. Selah. 5 I laid me down and ſlept; I awaked, for the Lord ſuſtained me. 6 I will not be afraid of ten thouſands of people, that have ſet themſelves againſt me round about. 7 Ariſe, O Lord, ſave me, O my God; for thou haſt ſmitten all mine enemies upon the cheek bone: thou haſt broken the teeth of the ungodly. 8 Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy bleſſing is upon thy people. Selah.

Apollinarius calls this Lugron Melos, a mournful or lamentable Song. And ſo it is, if compared with the precedent; otherwiſe there are in it far greater Expreſſions of Faith and triumphant Confidence in God, than there are of Trouble and Dejection of Spirit, tho' David's Condition when he wrote it was very ſad and dangerous. For the Title (which St. Jerom truely calls the Key of the Pſalm, whereby we are let into the Senſe) informs us, that it is a Meditation compoſed in his Flight from Jeruſalem, when his Son Abſalom conſpired againſt him, and moſt of the Kingdom fell off from him, (2 Sam. xv. &c.) which after his Return thither, he commanded to be ſung in the Tabernacle, in Commemoration of that diſconſolate Condition.

And here I muſt note once for all, ſays Patrick, that it cannot be certainly known what is meant by the Word Selah, which we meet withal thrice in this ſhort Pſalm. The moſt probable Opinion is, that it was a Note in Muſick. In which David (as Theodoret obſerves upon this Word) being a very great Maſter, he ſet ſome of his Pſalms himſelf, to be ſung to ſuch Inſtruments as he thought was moſt agreeable to the Notes. But that Muſick being now loſt, ſome Interpreters have wholly omitted this Word Selah.

PSAL. IV.

David prays for Audience; reproves and exhorts his Enemies. Man's Happineſs is in God's Favour.

To the chief Muſician upon Neginoth. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HEar me when I call, O God of my righteouſneſs: thou haſt enlarged me when I was in diſtreſs, have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer. 2 O ye ſons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into ſhame? how long will ye love vanity, and ſeek after leaſing? Selah. 3 But know that the Lord hath ſet apart him that is godly, for himſelf: the Lord will hear when I call unto him. 4 Stand in awe, and ſin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be ſtill. Selah. 5 Offer the ſacrifices of righeouſneſs: and put your truſt in the Lord. 6 There be many that ſay, Who will ſhew us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us. 7 Thou haſt put gladneſs in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increaſed. 8 I will both lay me down in peace, and ſleep: for thou Lord only makeſt me dwell in ſafety.

We can learn no more from this Title, but that David was the Author of this Pſalm, and that he delivered it to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle, to be ſung to the ſtringed Inſtruments. But when, or upon what Occaſion he penned it, is not certainly known, tho' the Matter of it makes it probable, it was in the ſame, or the like Diſtreſs, wherein he made the foregoing Pſalm.

Neginoth, or ſtringed Inſtrument, as this Word is tranſlated, Hab. iii. 9. for the Hebrew Word Niggen, whence this is derived, ſignifies to play with the Hand on an Inſtrument, 1 Sam. xvi. 23. and xviii. 10. The Meaning may be, that this Pſalm was ſung to ſuch Kind of Inſtruments, or that it was ſent to the Chief of the Muſicians who played upon ſuch Inſtruments; for every ſeveral Sort of Inſtruments had its Band or Company of Muſicians. See Patrick and Pool.

PSAL. V.

David earneſtly beſeeches God to hear his Prayer; aſſures himſelf of God's Juſtice againſt his Enemies; exclaims againſt their Cruelty, and prays God to deſtroy them, but to preſerve the Godly.

To the chief Muſician upon Nehiloth. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. GIve ear to my words, O Lord, conſider my meditation. 2 Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my king, and my God: for unto thee will I pray. 3 My voice ſhalt thou hear in the morning, O Lord; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up. 4 For thou art not a God that hath pleaſure in wickedneſs; neither ſhall evil dwell with thee. 5 The fooliſh ſhall not ſtand in thy ſight: thou hateſt all workers of iniquity. 6 Thou ſhalt deſtroy them that ſpeak leaſing: the Lord will abhor the bloody and deceitful man. 7 But as for me, I will come into thy houſe in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worſhip toward thy holy temple. 8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteouſneſs, becauſe of mine enemies; make thy way ſtraight before my face. 9 For there is no faithfulneſs in their mouth, their inward part is very wickedneſs: their throat is an open ſepulchre, they flatter with their tongue. 10 Deſtroy thou them, O God; let them fall by their own counſels: caſt them out in the multitude of their tranſgreſſions, for they have rebelled againſt thee. 11 But let all thoſe that put their truſt in thee, rejoice: let them ever ſhout for joy: becauſe thou defendeſt them: let them alſo that love thy name, be joyful in thee. 12 For thou, Lord, wilt bleſs the righteous, with favour wilt thou compaſs him as with a ſhield.

The Word Nehiloth is no where elſe uſed in Scripture. It is generally and probably thought to be a Term belonging to Muſick, and to ſignify ſome Kind of Tune, or rather an Inſtrument, or particularly a Wind-Inſtrument, as Neginoth, in the Title of the laſt Pſalm, ſignified ſtringed Inſtruments.

When, and on what Occaſion, this Pſalm was penned, is not certainly known, tho' the Matter of it makes it probable, it was the ſame (or the like) Diſtreſs, wherein he made the foregoing Pſalm.

PSAL. VI.

David being very weak and feeble, prays for Mercy and Recovery; and being aſſured of a gracious Hearing, triumphs over all his Enemies.

To the chief Muſician on Neginoth upon Sheminith. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chaſten me in thy hot diſpleaſure. 2 Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am weak: O Lord, heal me, for my bones are vexed. 3 My ſoul is alſo ſore vexed: but thou, O Lord, how long? 4 Return, O Lord, deliver my ſoul: Oh ſave me for thy mercies ſake. 5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee; in the grave who ſhall give thee thanks? 6 I am weary with my groaning, all the night make I my bed to ſwim: I water my couch with my tears. 7 Mine eye is conſumed becauſe of grief; it waxeth old becauſe of all mine enemies. 8 Depart from me all ye workers of iniquity; for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping. 9 The Lord hath heard my ſupplication; the Lord will receive my prayer. 10 Let all mine enemies be aſhamed and ſore vexed: let them return and be aſhamed ſuddenly.

The Word Sheminith, ſignifies the eighth. It is thought to be the ſhrilleſt or loftieſt Note, as Alemoth is the loweſt; of which ſee 1 Chron. xv. 20, 21. and, as ſome add Muthlabben, Pſ. ix. the Middle or Mean. But all this is only Conjecture; and the Jews themſelves have no certain Knowledge of their own antient Muſick, and of the Terms belonging to it.

By Way of Accommodation, the Words have been applied to the Sickneſs of the Mind; and as it is ſuppoſed that David laboured under ſome grievous Diſeaſe of the Body, it may be called one of the penitential Pſalms.

PSAL. VII.

David prays for Deliverance from his perſecuting Enemies, and makes a ſolemn Profeſſion of his Innocence; by Faith he ſees his Defence, and the Deſtruction of his Enemies.

Shiggaion of David, which he ſang unto the Lord, concerning the Words (or Buſineſs) of Cuſh the Benjamite.

Ver. 1. O Lord my God, in thee do I put my truſt: ſave me from all them that perſecute me, and deliver me. 2 Leſt he tear my ſoul like a lion, renting it in pieces, while there is none to deliver. 3 O Lord my God, if I have done this; if there be iniquity in my hands: 4 If I have rewarded evil unto him that was at peace with me: (yea, I have delivered him that without cauſe is mine enemy) 5 Let the enemy perſecute my ſoul, and take it, yea, let him tread down my life upon the earth, and lay mine honour in the duſt. Selah. 6 Ariſe, O Lord, in thine anger, lift up thy ſelf, becauſe of the rage of mine enemies: and awake for me to the judgment that thou haſt commanded. So ſhall the congregation of the people compaſs thee about: for their ſakes therefore return thou on high. 8 The Lord ſhall judge the people: judge me, O Lord, according to my righteouſneſs, and according to mine integrity that is in me. 9 O let the wickedneſs of the wicked come to an end, but eſtabliſh the juſt: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins. My defence is of God, which ſaveth the upright in heart. 11 God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day. If he turn not, he will whet his ſword; he hath bent his bow, and made it ready. 13 He hath alſo prepared for him the inſtruments of death; he ordaineth his arrows againſt the perſecutors. 14 Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived miſchief, and brought forth falſhood. He made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made. 16 His miſchief ſhall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing ſhall come down upon his own pate. 17 I will praiſe the Lord according to his righteouſneſs, and will ſing praiſe to the name of the Lord moſt high.

Shiggaion ſeems to be the Name of a certain Kind of Song, or Tune, or Inſtrument, which was then well known, but now can only be gueſſed at. The Occaſion of this Pſalm, was the falſe and ſlanderous Reports, raiſed and fomented by one Cuſh a Benjamite; by whom is meant either, 1. Saul, whom he thought it indecent, for ſeveral Reaſons, to mention by his proper Name, and therefore deciphers him enigmatically, which is not unuſual in Scripture, where Babylon is called Sheſhack, Jer. xxv. 26. and li. 41. and Rome is called Egypt, and Sodom, and Babylon, in the Revelation; and John the Baptiſt is called Elias. And the Pſalmiſt might call him Cuſh, partly by a tacit Alluſion to his Father's Name Kiſh, and, partly, with reſpect to his black and wicked Diſpoſition, planted and firmly rooted in him; who could no more alter his Mind, full of Hatred to David, than a Man of Cuſh, or an Ethiopian, could his Skin or Complexion. 2. Some eminent Perſon in high Authority under Saul, called Cuſh, tho' he is no where elſe named; as ſeveral other Perſons are but once mentioned in Scripture. And he is called the Benjamite, becauſe he was one of that Tribe in which Saul put moſt Confidence, 1 Sam. xxii. 7. Pool's Ann.

PSAL. VIII.

David extols the Majeſty, Power, and Providence of God in the World, and his Love and Kindneſs to Mankind, in giving him Power over the Earth, the Air, and the Sea.

To the chief Muſician upon Gittith. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth? who haſt ſet thy glory above the heavens. 2 Out of the mouth of babes and ſucklings, haſt thou ordained ſtrength, becauſe of thine enemies, that thou mighteſt ſtill the enemy and the avenger. 3 When I conſider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the ſtars which thou haſt ordained? 4 What is man that thou art mindful of him? and the ſon of man, that thou viſiteſt him? 5 For thou haſt made him a little lower than the angels, and haſt crowned him with glory and honour. 6 Thou madeſt him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou haſt put all things under his feet: 7 All ſheep and oxen, yea, and the beaſts of the field: 8 The fowl of the air, and the fiſh of the ſea, and whatſoever paſſeth through the paths of the ſeas. 9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!

The Targum takes the Word Gittith to denote, that this Pſalm was to be ſung to a Harp, which David brought with him from Gath. Others think it to be only ſome Note in Muſick; or to have a Relation to the Time of Vintage. But Theodoret looking upon it (as indeed it ſeems to be) a Pſalm of Triumph to God, the Author of ſome great Victory he had gotten, I take it to have been compoſed by David, and delivered to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle, after he had overthrown the haughty inſolent Giant Goliah of Gath: Which is very agreeable to the Matter of the Pſalm, and a lively Emblem of Chriſt's Conqueſt over our great Enemy the Devil. See Patrick's Paraph.

PSAL. IX.

David praiſes God for executing Judgment on the Wicked, and excites others to praiſe him, and prays him to conſider his Trouble, that he may have Cauſe to praiſe him.

To the chief Muſician upon Muth-labben. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. I Will praiſe thee, O Lord, with my whole heart, I will ſhew forth all thy marvellous works. 2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will ſing praiſe to thy name, O thou moſt High. 3 When mine enemies are turned back, they ſhall fall and periſh at thy preſence. 4 For thou haſt maintained my right and my cauſe, thou ſatteſt in the throne judging right. 5 Thou haſt rebuked the heathen, thou haſt deſtroyed the wicked, thou haſt put out their name for ever and ever. 6 O thou enemy, deſtructions are come to a perpetual end: and thou haſt deſtroyed cities, their memorial is periſhed with them. 7 But the Lord ſhall endure for ever: he hath prepared his throne for judgment. 8 And he ſhall judge the world in righteouſneſs, he ſhall miniſter judgment to the people in uprightneſs. 9 The Lord alſo will be a refuge for the oppreſſed, a refuge in times of trouble. 10 And they that know thy name will put their truſt in thee: for thou, Lord, haſt not forſaken them that ſeek thee. 11 Sing praiſes to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings. 12 When he maketh inquiſition for blood, he remembreth them: he forgetteth not the cry of the humble. 13 Have mercy upon me, O Lord, conſider my trouble which I ſuffer of them that hate me, thou that lifteſt me up from the gates of death: 14 That I may ſhew forth all thy praiſe in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoyce in thy ſalvation. 15 The heathen are ſunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid, is their own foot taken. 16 The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is ſnared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion, Selah. 17 The wicked ſhall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God. 18 For the needy ſhall not alway be forgotten: the expectation of the poor ſhall not periſh for ever. 19 Ariſe, O Lord, let not man prevail; let the heathen be judged in thy ſight. 20 Put them in fear, O Lord: that the nations may know themſelves to be but men, Selah.

Muth-labben, ſays Pool, ſeems to be another Title of ſome Song, or Tune, or Inſtrument; of which we muſt continue ignorant, ſince the Jewiſh Doctors are ſo. Some render it, Upon the Death of his Son, namely, Abſalom, or of one called Labben, or of the Middle-man, or the Man that ſtood between the two Armies, namely, Goliah, who is ſo called in the Hebrew Text, 1 Sam. xvii. 4. But none of theſe ſuit with the Deſign and Matter of this Pſalm, which is more general, and relates to his former manifold Dangers, and the Deliverance which God had graciouſly given him out of them. That of Goliah agrees not with Ver. 14. where there is Mention made of praiſing God in Zion, which then, and long after, was in the Hands of the Jebuſites.

PSAL. X.

The Pſalmiſt complains of God's hiding himſelf, and of the Pride and Outrage of the World. The Language and malicious Practice of the Wicked, and their denying God's Omniſcience; he prays for a Remedy, and profeſſes his Confidence in God.

Ver. 1. WHy ſtandeſt thou afar off, O Lord, why hideſt thou thy ſelf in times of trouble? 2 The wicked in his pride doth perſecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that that they have imagined. 3 For the wicked boaſteth of his hearts deſire, and bleſſeth the covetous, whom the Lord abhorreth. 4 The wicked through the pride of his countenance, will not ſeek after God: God is not in all his thoughts. 5 His ways are always grievous: thy judgments are far above out of his ſight: as for all his enemies, he puffeth at them. 6 He hath ſaid in his heart, I ſhall not be moved: for I ſhall never be in adverſity. 7 His mouth is full of curſing, and deceit, and fraud: under his tongue is miſchief and vanity. 8 He ſitteth in the lurking places of the villages: in the ſecret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are privily ſet againſt the poor. 9 He lieth in wait ſecretly as a lion in his den: he lieth in wait to catch the poor: he doth catch the poor when he draweth him into his net. 10 He croucheth, and humbleth himſelf, that the poor may fall by his ſtrong ones. 11 He hath ſaid in his heart, God hath forgotten: he hideth his face, he will never ſee it. 12 Ariſe, O Lord, O God, lift up thine hand: forget not the humble. 13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemn God? he hath ſaid in his heart, Thou wilt not require it. 14 Thou haſt ſeen it, for thou beholdeſt miſchief and ſpite to requite it with thy hand: the poor committeth himſelf unto thee, thou art the helper of the fatherleſs. 15 Break thou the arm of the wicked, and the evil man: ſeek out his wickedneſs till thou find none. 16 The Lord is king for ever and ever: the heathen are periſhed out of his land. 17 Lord, thou haſt heard the deſire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cauſe thine ear to hear: 18 To judge the fatherleſs and the oppreſſed, that the man of the earth may no more oppreſs.

It is not known, ſays Patrick, by whom, or on what Occaſion this Pſalm was compoſed: But it is a moſt lively Deſcription of the Inſolence of wicked atheiſtical Men, when they have Power, and are in Authority; which they abuſe to the Oppreſſion of the meaner or weaker Sort, and make no Conſcience by what Arts they bring their Deſigns about. Againſt whom the Pſalmiſt humbly beſeeches the divine Vengeance, and reſts confident they ſhall be ſuppreſſed.

PSAL. XI.

David encourages himſelf in God againſt the wicked Deſigns of his Enemies. The Providence and Juſtice of God to the Righteous and Wicked.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. IN the Lord put I my truſt: how ſay ye to my ſoul, Flee as a bird to your mountain? 2 For lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the ſtring: that they may privily ſhoot at the upright in heart. 3 If the foundations be deſtroyed, what can the righteous do? 4 The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lords throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eye-lids try the children of men. 5 The Lord trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence, his ſoul hateth. 6 Upon the wicked he ſhall rain ſnares, fire and brimſtone, and an horrible tempeſt: this ſhall be the portion of their cup. 7 For the righteous Lord loveth righteouſneſs, his countenance doth behold the upright.

This Pſalm David is ſuppoſed to have made when Saul perſecuted him; and ſome adviſed him to ſeek his Safety in Flight. Or rather, when Saul began to have evil Deſigns againſt him, and he was invited by ſome who pretended Friendſhip to him, to a Place of Safety in the mountainous Country of Judea.

If the Foundations be deſtroyed, what can the Righteous do] If Men have no regard to Laws and publick Decrees, which are the Foundation of human Society, but will boldly violate all known and ſtanding Rules of Juſtice and Truth; what Security can an honeſt Man have? or what ſhall he do, but make haſte away from this Court, where they act ſo arbitrarily, and are ſo perfidious?

PSAL. XII.

David, being deſtitute of human Comfort, craves Help of God; he exclaims againſt flattering and deceitful Tongues, and comforts himſelf in his tried Mercies to the Needy.

To the chief Muſician upon Sheminith. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HElp, Lord, for the godly man ceaſeth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men. 2 They ſpeak vanity every one with his neighbour: with flattering lips, and with a double heart do they ſpeak. 3 The Lord ſhall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that ſpeaketh proud things: 4 Who have ſaid, With our tongue will we prevail, our lips are our own: who is lord over us? 5 For the oppreſſion of the poor, for the ſighing of the needy, now will I ariſe, (ſaith the Lord) I will ſet him in ſafety from him that puffeth at him. 6 The words of the Lord are pure words: as ſilver tried in a furnace of earth, purified ſeven times. 7 Thou ſhalt keep them, O Lord, thou ſhalt preſerve them from this generation for ever. 8 The wicked walk on every ſide, when the vileſt men are exalted.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, and delivered to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle, to be ſung as the vith Pſalm, upon the Harp with eight Strings. The Occaſion of it is not expreſſed, but it is a ſad Complaint of the corrupt Manners of that Age, (eſpecially of the Court of Saul, Ver. 3.) in which it was hard to find an honeſt plain-dealing Man, in whom one might confide. Some think it aims partly at Doeg and ſuch-like Courtiers; partly at the Ziphites, and ſuch perfidious People in the Country, who, promiſing him their Friendſhip (as Theodoret underſtands it) would have moſt baſely betrayed him unto Saul, his declared Enemy.

PSAL. XIII.

David complains of God's Delay to help. He prays for preventing Grace; profeſſes his Truſt in God, and boaſts of divine Mercy.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HOw long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me? 2 How long ſhall I take counſel in my ſoul, having ſorrow in my heart daily? how long ſhall mine enemy be exalted over me? 3 Conſider and hear me, O Lord my God; lighten mine eyes, leſt I ſleep the ſleep of death; 4 Leſt mine enemy ſay, I have prevailed againſt him; and thoſe that trouble me rejoice when I am moved. 5 But I have truſted in thy mercy, my heart ſhall rejoice in thy ſalvation vation. 6 I will ſing unto the Lord, becauſe he hath dealt bountifully with me.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, and given to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle. It is not known to what Time it relates, but by the Matter of it we underſtand he was in ſome great Diſtreſs when he indited it, either by the Perſecution of Saul, or of Abſalom. Theodoret thinks the latter, and gives this Reaſon for it, That the Trouble which Saul gave him was before his great Sin, and ſo he was full of Confidence; but that of Abſalom was after it, which made him cry out in this doleful Manner.

PSAL. XIV.

David ſhews the Atheiſm and Corruption of Men. He convinces the Wicked by the Light of Conſcience, and longs for the Salvation of God.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THE fool hath ſaid in his heart, There is no God: they are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good. 2 The Lord looketh down from heaven upon the children of men; to ſee if there were any that did underſtand, and ſeek God. 3 They are all gone aſide, they are all together become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no not one. 4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not upon the Lord. 5 There were they in great fear: for God is in the generation of the righteous. 6 You have ſhamed the counſel of the poor: becauſe the Lord is his refuge. 7 O that the ſalvation of Iſrael were come out of Zion! when the Lord bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob ſhall rejoice and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

This Pſalm, ſays Patrick, may probably refer, tho' it be not in the Title expreſſed, to the univerſal Apoſtacy of the People, in the Rebellion of Abſalom, from the Allegiance they owed to him, and from the Duty they owed to God.

When the Lord bringeth back the Captivity of his People, Jacob ſhall rejoice, and Iſrael ſhall be glad] Theſe Words, ſays Pool, deſign principally, the ſpiritual Redemption and Salvation of all God's People by the Meſſias; as is evident, 1. Becauſe the antient Jews thus underſtand it, and among others Jonathan's Targum or Paraphraſe on the Bible; with whom agrees the Targum of Jeruſalem. 2. The Doctrine of Iſraels Redemption or Salvation by Chriſt was very well known, to other antient Patriarchs, John viii. 56. 1 Pet. i. 10. &c. ſo particularly to David; and other Prophets in the Midſt of their ſad Thoughts, Fears, and Troubles, did uſually comfort themſelves with the Promiſe and Expectation of the Meſſiah, by whom alone they did receive that plenary Salvation, which they ſo much deſired; of which it is thought we have one Inſtance, Gen. xlix. 18. but we have many unqueſtionable Inſtances in the Prophecy of Iſaiah. 3. To this agreeſ the Mention of Zion, becauſe the Prophets did and knew, that the Meſſias, or Deliverer, muſt firſt come to Zion, and ſet up his Throne there, and from thence ſend forth his Laws and Edicts to the whole World, as is poſitively affirmed, Pſ. ii. 6. and Iſa. ii. 3. and lix. 20. compared with Rom. xi. 26. &c. 4. The following Words agree only to this Time, wherein he ſpeaks of the bringing back of the Captivity of his People, with the univerſal Joy of all Iſrael; which cannot agree to David's Time, when there was no ſuch Captivity of the People, but a Civil War; nor to the Time of Iſrael's Return from Babylon, when there was no ſuch Return of all the Tribes, but only of Judah and Benjamin, and ſome few of the other Tribes; and the Joy which the returning Iſraelites then had, was but low, and mixed with many Fears, Dangers, and Reproaches. See Ezra and Nehemiah. And therefore they can be applicable to no other Times than thoſe of the Meſſiah, by whom this Promiſe was fulfilled to the true Iſrael of God, who were brought back from that real and dreadful, tho' ſpiritual Captivity of Sin and Satan, as Luke iv. 18. Epheſ. iv. 18. and ſhall be literally accompliſhed to the natural Seed of Jacob and Iſrael, according to the Expectation and Belief of all the Jews in their ſeveral Ages, and of moſt Chriſtian Writers.

David deſcribes a Citizen of Zion.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. LORD, who ſhall abide in thy tabernacle; who ſhall dwell in thy holy hill? 2 He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteouſneſs, and ſpeaketh the truth in his heart. 3 He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbour, nor taketh up a reproach againſt his neighbour. 4 In whoſe eyes a vile perſon is contemned; but he honoureth them that fear the Lord: he that ſweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not. 5 He that putteth not out his money to uſury, nor taketh reward againſt the innocent. He that doeth theſe things, ſhall never be moved.

The Occaſion and Time of compoſing this Pſalm are uncertain; but the Scope, Intent, and Meaning of it is plain, namely, to give the Character of a holy and happy Man, and to deſcribe the Way to true Happineſs.

It is obſervable, that the Pſalmiſt is here wholly ſilent as to the ceremonial or ritual Obſervations of the Law; not that he diſowns them, or allows the Neglect of them, as is manifeſt from David's conſtant Practice, and from many other Paſſages; but that he might undeceive the hypocritical Iſraelites, who laid too great a Streſs upon thoſe Things, as if the diligent Performance thereof would excuſe their wicked Lives; which Error almoſt all the Prophets obſerve and condemn in them; and that he might inform the Church of that, and all ſucceeding Ages, that the Subſtance of Religion conſiſts in the Practice of true Holineſs and Righteouſneſs.

PSAL. XVI.

David diſtruſting his own Merit, and hating Idolatry, flies to God for Preſervation. He ſhews the Hope of his Calling, of the Reſurrection, and of Life everlaſting.

Michtam of David.

Ver. 1. PRESERVE me, O God: for in thee do I put my truſt. 2 O my ſoul, thou haſt ſaid unto the Lord, thou art my Lord: my goodneſs extendeth not to thee: 3 But to the ſaints that are in the earth, and to the excellent, in whom is all my delight. 4 Their ſorrows ſhall be multiplied, that haſten after another god: their drink-offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips. 5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance, and of my cup: thou maintaineſt my lot. 6 The lines are fallen unto me in pleaſant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. 7 I will bleſs the Lord, who hath given me counſel my reins alſo inſtruct me in the night-ſeaſons. 8 I have ſet the Lord always before me: becauſe he is at my right-hand, I ſhall not be moved. 9 Therefore fore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my fleſh alſo ſhall reſt in hope. 10 For thou wilt not leave my ſoul in hell; neither wilt thou ſuffer thine holy One to ſee corruption. 11 Thou wilt ſhew me the path of life: in thy preſence is fulneſs of joy, at thy right hand there are pleaſures for evermore.

Divers render this Word Michtam, a Golden Pſalm, becauſe of the Preciouſneſs and Excellence of the Matter; for it treats of Chriſt's Death and Reſurrection. But as this Title is prefixed to Pſalm lvii, lviii, lix, lx. wherein there is no ſuch peculiar Excellence, it may ſeem rather a Title belonging to the Muſick of the Song, which, with the reſt, is now loſt and unknown. It is a great Queſtion among Expoſiters, in whoſe Name and Perſon he ſpeaks this Pſalm, whether his own or Chriſt's. It ſeems hard to exclude David's Perſon, to whom almoſt the whole Pſalm properly and literally belongs, and to whom ſome Parts of it are more applicable than to Chriſt, of whom it is expounded by the two great Apoſtles Peter and Paul, Acts ii. 25. and xiii. 35. And yet it ſeems probable, by the Contexture of the Pſalm, and the Coherence of the ſeveral Verſes together, that the whole Pſalm ſpeaks of one and the ſame Perſon; David both being a Member, and an eminent Type of Chriſt, he may, without any Inconvenience, be thought to ſpeak of himſelf, ſometimes in the one, and ſometimes in the other Capacity, to paſs from one to the other. And therefore having ſpoken of himſelf as a Believer, or Member of Chriſt, in the former Part of the Pſalm, he proceeds to conſider himſelf as a Type of Chriſt, and having Chriſt in his Eye, and being inſpired by the Holy Ghoſt, with the Knowledge and Contemplation of Chriſt's Paſſion and Reſurrection, towards the Cloſe of the Pſalm he ſpeaks ſuch Things, which tho' they might be accommodated to himſelf, in a very imperfect, obſcure, and improper Senſe, yet could not truly, literally, properly, fully, and compleatly belong to any but Chriſt, to whom they are therefore appropriated in the New Teſtament. See Pool's Ann.

PSAL. XVII.

David, in Confidence of his Integrity, prays to God for Defence againſt his Enemies.

Ver. 1. HEar the right, O Lord, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer that goeth not out of feigned lips. 2 Let my ſentence come forth from thy preſence: let thine eyes behold the things that are equal. 3 Thou haſt proved mine heart, thou haſt viſited me in the night, thou haſt tried me, and ſhalt find nothing: I am purpoſed that my mouth ſhall not tranſgreſs. 4 Concerning the works of men by the word of thy lips, I have kept me from the paths of the deſtroyer. 5 Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footſteps ſlip not. 6 I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my ſpeech. 7 Shew thy marvellous loving kindneſs, O thou that ſaveſt by thy right hand, them which put their truſt in thee, from thoſe that riſe up againſt them. 8 Keep me as the apple of the eye: hide me under the ſhadow of thy wings. 9 From the wicked that oppreſs me, from my deadly enemies, who compaſs me about. 10 They are incloſed in their own fat: with their mouth they ſpeak proudly. 11 They have now compaſſed us in our ſteps: they have ſet their eyes bowing down to the earth: 12 Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in ſecret places. 13 Ariſe, O Lord, diſappoint him, caſt him down: deliver my ſoul from the wicked, which is thy ſword: 14 From men which are thy hand, O Lord, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whoſe belly thou filleſt with thy hid treaſure: they are full of children, and leave the reſt of their ſubſtance to their babes. 15 As for me, I will behold thy face in righteouſneſs: I ſhall be ſatisfied, when I awake with thy likeneſs.

As for me I will behold thy Face in Righteouſneſs; I ſhall be ſatisfied when I awake with thy Likeneſs.] Thus paraphraſed by Bp. Patrick: Which Proſperity I do in no wiſe envy them, but think myſelf happy that I can approach into thy Preſence, and with a good Conſcience wait for thy Favour; nothing doubting, but when thou ſhalt ſhew thyſelf in thy Majeſty and Power, it will be abundantly to my Satisfaction.

The Words, when I awake, Mr. Pool interprets of the Reſurrection, when I ſhall ariſe from the Dead: For Death is frequently called Sleep in Scripture, and likewiſe in other Authors; and conſequently Reſurrection from the Dead, is properly awaking, as Job xiv. 12. Dan. xii. 2. John xi. 11. And ſince the Doctrine of the Reſurrection was not unknown to the holy Men of God in the Old Teſtament, nor to David in particular, Pſ. xvi. 10, 11. it cannot be imagined, but that he would comfort and ſupport himſelf in his greateſt Agonies, with the Conſideration thereof, this being incomparably the moſt effectual and weighty Argument, and Ground of Comfort he could poſſibly uſe; and this beſt ſuits with the Context: For David is here oppoſing his Hopes and Portion to that of his Enemies, and having noted, not without a ſecret Reflexion and Reproach upon them for it, that their Portion was in this Life, it is very proper he ſhould ſeek for, and have his Happineſs in a future. — By, thy Likeneſs, he underſtands either, 1. Chriſt the Son of God, who was known to David and other Prophets, as is evident, and that under the Name of the Son of God, Pſ. ii. 7, 12. Prov. xxx. 4. Hoſ. xi. 1. compared with Matt. ii. 15. who being exactly like his Father, might moſt fitly be called his Likeneſs or Image, as he is, Heb. i. 3. Or, 2. The Image of God ſtamped upon his glorified Soul, which muſt afford him infinite Delight and Satisfaction. Or, 3. God himſelf, or the Face of God mentioned in the former Clauſe, and explained here by another Phraſe, as is uſual in theſe Writings. And this Interpretation may receive a Strength from Numb. xii. 8. where beholding the Similitude of the Lord is evidently the ſame Thing, which is elſewhere called, ſeeing his Face, and from Heb. x. 1. where the Image doth not note the Likeneſs or Repreſentation, but the Truth and Exiſtence of the Thing.

PSAL. XVIII.

David profeſſes his Love to, and Confidence in God, and acknowledges his Help againſt his Enemies.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David, the Servant of the Lord, who ſpake unto the Lord the Words of this Song in the Day that the Lord delivered him from the Hand of all his Enemies.

Ver. 1. I Will love thee, O Lord, my ſtrength. 2 The Lord is my rock, and my fortreſs, and my deliverer: my God, my ſtrength, in whom I will truſt, my buckler, and the horn of my ſalvation, and my high tower. 3 I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſaved from mine enemies. 4 The ſorrows of death compaſſed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid. 5 The ſorrows of hell compaſſed me about: the ſnares of death prevented prevented me. 6 In my diſtreſs I called upon the Lord, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears. 7 Then the earth ſhook and trembled; the foundations alſo of the hills moved and were ſhaken, becauſe he was wroth. 8 There went up a ſmoak out of his noſtrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured; coals were kindled by it. 9 He bowed the heavens alſo and came down: and darkneſs was under his feet. 10 And he rode upon a cherub, and did flie: yea, he did flie upon the wings of the wind. 11 He made darkneſs his ſecret place: his pavilion round about him, were dark waters, and thick clouds of the skies. 12 At the brightneſs that was before him, his thick clouds paſſed, hail-ſtones and coals of fire. 13 The Lord alſo thundred in the heavens, and the Higheſt gave his voice; hail-ſtones and coals of fire. 14 Yea, he ſent out his arrows, and ſcattered them; and he ſhot out lightnings, and diſcomfited them. 15 Then the chanels of waters were ſeen, and the foundations of the world were diſcovered: at thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blaſt of the breath of thy noſtrils. 16 He ſent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters. 17 He delivered me from my ſtrong enemy, and from them which hated me? for they were too ſtrong for me. 18 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my ſtay. 19 He brought me forth alſo into a large place: he delivered me, becauſe he delighted in me. 20 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteouſneſs, according to the cleanneſs of my hands hath he recompenſed me. 21 For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God. 22 For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his ſtatutes from me. 23 I was alſo upright before him: and I kept my ſelf from mine iniquity. 24 Therefore hath the Lord recompenſed me according to my righteouſneſs, according to the cleanneſs of my hands in his eye-ſight. 25 With the merciful thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf merciful, with an upright man thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf upright. 26 With the pure, thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf pure, and with the froward thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf froward. 27 For thou wilt ſave the afflicted people; but wilt bring down high looks. 28 For thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will enlighten my darkneſs. 29 For by thee I have run through a troop: and by my God have I leaped over a wall. 30 As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all thoſe that truſt in him. 31 For who is God ſave the Lord? or who is a rock ſave our God? 32 It is God that girdeth me with ſtrength, and maketh my way perfect. 33 He maketh my feet like hinds feet, and ſetteth me upon my high places. 34 He teacheth my hands to war, ſo that a bow of ſteel is broken by mine arms. 35 Thou haſt alſo given me the ſhield of thy ſalvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleneſs hath made me great. 36 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me; that my feet did not ſlip. 37 I have purſued mine enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were conſumed. 38 I have wounded them that they were not able to riſe; they are fallen under my feet. 39 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength unto battle: thou haſt ſubdued under me thoſe that roſe up againſt me. 40 Thou haſt alſo given me the necks of mine enemies: that I might deſtroy them that hate me. 41 They cried, but there was none to ſave them: even unto the Lord, but he anſwered them not. 42 Then did I beat them ſmall as the duſt before the wind: I did caſt them out as the dirt in the ſtreets. 43 Thou haſt delivered me from the ſtrivings of the people: and thou haſt made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known ſhall ſerve me. 44 As ſoon as they hear of me, they ſhall obey me: the ſtrangers ſhall ſubmit themſelves unto me. 45 The ſtrangers ſhall fade away, and be afraid out of their cloſe places. 46 The Lord liveth and bleſſed be my rock: and let the God of my ſalvation be exalted. 47 It is God that avengeth me, and ſubdueth the people under me. 48 He delivereth me from mine enemies: yea, thou lifteſt me up above thoſe that riſe up againſt me: thou haſt delivered me from the violent man. 49 Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O Lord, among the heathen: and ſing praiſes unto thy name. 50 Great deliverance giveth he to his king: and ſheweth mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his ſeed for evermore.

This Pſalm, with few and ſmall Variations, is written 2 Sam. xxii. It was compoſed by David towards the End of his Reign and Life, after the Death of Saul, the Conqueſt of all his ſucceeding Enemies, and his own firm Eſtabliſhment in the Kingdom.

PSAL. XIX.

God glorified in his Works. The Extent, Purity, and Perfection of God's Law. He prays againſt preſumptuous Sins.

Ver. 1. THE heavens declare the glory of God: and the firmament ſheweth his handy work. 2 Day unto day uttereth ſpeech, and night unto night ſheweth knowledge. 3 There is no ſpeech nor language, where their voice is not heard. 4 There line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world: in them hath he ſet a tabernacle for the ſun. 5 Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a ſtrong man to run a race. 6 His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof. 7 The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the ſoul: the teſtimony of the Lord is ſure, making wiſe the ſimple. 8 The ſtatutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightning the eyes. 9 The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. 10 More to be deſired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: ſweeter alſo than honey, and the honey-comb. 11 Moreover, by them is thy ſervant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward. 12 Who can underſtand his errours? cleanſe thou me from ſecret faults. 13 Keep back thy ſervant alſo from preſumptuous ſins, let them not have dominion over me: then ſhall I be upright, and I ſhall be innocent from the great tranſgreſſion. 14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy ſight, O Lord, my ſtrength and my redeemer.

In this Pſalm David declares, that no Man could be ignorant of God, who would conſider his admirable Works; much leſs could the Jews, whom he had inſtructed by his Law, and therefore juſtly expected their greater Care not wilfully to offend him.

PSAL. XX.

The Church prays to God to hear and defend the King, and for a Bleſſing on all his Deſigns; her Confidence is in God.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THE Lord hear thee in the day of trouble, the name of the God of Jacob defend thee. 2 Send thee help from the ſanctuary: and ſtrengthen thee out of Zion. 3 Remember all thy offerings, and accept thy burnt-ſacrifices. Selah. 4 Grant thee according to thine own heart, and fulfil all thy counſel. 5 We will rejoice in thy ſalvation, and in the name of our God we will ſet up our banners: the Lord fulfil all thy petitions. 6 Now know I that the Lord ſaveth his anointed: he will hear him from his holy heaven, with the ſaving ſtrength of his right hand. 7 Some truſt in chariots, and ſome in horſes: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God. 8 They are brought down and fallen, but we are riſen and ſtand upright. 9 Save, Lord, let the king hear us when we call.

A Pſalm compoſed by David, wherein the People are taught to pray for his good Succeſs in ſome great Expedition; it is probable (from Ver. 7.) againſt the Ammonites and Syrians, who came with great Numbers of Horſemen and Chariots to fight with him, 2 Sam. x. 6, 8. 1 Chron. xix. 5.

Save, Lord, let the King hear us when we call] By the King underſtand, either, 1. David: So the Senſe is, O Lord preſerve, and aſſiſt the King, that when we are diſtreſſed, and cry to him for Help, he may be able and ready to help us. Or, 2. God, the Supreme Monarch, the King of Kings, and in a peculiar Manner the King of Iſrael, hear and anſwer us, when we pray for our King and People. And for the Change of Perſons in this Verſe, nothing is more common. Or, 3. Chriſt, called the King, both in the Old and New Teſtament. But this Verſe is by divers learned Men, rendered thus, Lord, ſave the King. He (i. e. the Lord) will hear us (or Let him hear us; for the future Tenſe is often put imperatively) when we cry, or call upon him. And this Verſion is very agreeable to the Hebrew Text. For, whereas the only Ground of the old Tranſlation is, that the Hebrew Accent called Athnach, is put under the Word Save, which is ſuppoſed to ſtop the Senſe there, it is ſufficiently evident, that Athnach doth not always make ſuch a Diſtinction in theſe poetical Books, as appears from Pſ. xi. 5. and xvii. 10. xix. 4. and xxii. 31. and therefore this may ſeem to be the better Verſion.

PSAL. XXI.

David profeſſes his Joy and Gladneſs for God's having anſwered his Prayers; and his Confidence for farther Succeſs againſt his Enemies.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THE king ſhall joy in thy ſtrength, O Lord, and in thy ſalvation how greatly ſhall he rejoice! 2 Thou haſt given him his hearts deſire, and haſt not withholden the requeſt of his lips. Selah. 3 For thou preventeſt him with the bleſſings of goodneſs: thou ſetteſt a crown of pure gold on his head. 4 He aſked life of thee, and thou gaveſt it him, even length of days for ever and ever. 5 His glory is great in thy ſalvation, honour and majeſty haſt thou laid upon him. 6 For thou haſt made him moſt bleſſed for ever: thou haſt made him exceeding glad with thy countenance. 7 For the king truſteth in the Lord, and through the mercy of the moſt High, he ſhall not be moved. 8 Thine hand ſhall find out all thine enemies, thy right hand ſhall find out thoſe that hate thee. 9 Thou ſhalt make them as a fiery oven in the time of thine anger: the Lord ſhall ſwallow them up in his wrath, and the fire ſhall devour them. 10 Their fruit ſhalt thou deſtroy from the earth, and their ſeed from among the children of men. 11 For they intended evil againſt thee: they imagined a miſchievous device which they are not able perform. 12 Therefore ſhalt thou make them turn their back, when thou ſhalt make ready thine arrows upon thy ſtrings againſt the face of them. 13 Be thou exalted, Lord, in thine own ſtrength: ſo will we ſing and praiſe thy power.

Theodoret truely obſerves, that in this Pſalm, as well as the former, David ſpeaks in the Perſon of the People, whom he inſtructs how to give God Thanks, for granting him thoſe Victories which they prayed for in the Pſalm foregoing. And it is generally looked upon as deſcribing, under that Figure, the Exaltation, Glory and Majeſty of Chriſt; which he obtained by his bloody Death and Paſſion. Many of the Hebrews themſelves apply it to the Meſſiah. So that it may be called a Pſalm of Triumph, after the Victories which David got over his Enemies; which are a Type of Chriſt's Victory over Death, and of the Triumph that enſued. And truly there are ſome Things in it which are more literally fulfilled in Chriſt, than in David, as Ver. 4, 5, 6.

PSAL. XXII.

David complains, that God had forſaken him, tho' he had heard his Fathers, and delivered them; acknowledges his own Vileneſs, and ſhews the Language of the Enemy againſt him; the Meek ſhall be ſatisfied, and the Gentiles turn unto the Lord.

To the chief Muſician upon Aijeleth Sahar. Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. MY God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? why art thou ſo far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring? 2 O my God, I cry in the day-time, but thou heareſt not; and in the night-ſeaſon, and am not ſilent. 3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabiteſt the praiſes of Iſrael. 4 Our fathers truſted in thee: they truſted, and thou didſt deliver them. 5 They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they truſted in thee, and were not confounded. 6 But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and deſpiſed of the people. 7 All they that ſee me, laugh me to ſcorn: they ſhoot out the lip, they ſhake the head, ſaying, 8 He truſted on the Lord, that he would deliver im, let him deliver him, ſeeing he delighted in him.

But thou art he that took me out of the womb;
hou didſt make me hope, when I was upon my nothers breaſts. 10 I was caſt upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mothers belly.
11 Be not far from me, for trouble is near: for there
s none to help. 12 Many bulls have compaſſed me: ſtrong bulls of Baſhan have beſet me round.
13 They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a avening and a roaring lion. 14 I am poured out ike water, and all my bones are out of joynt: my eart is like wax, it is melted in the midſt of ny bowels. 15 My ſtrength is dried up like a otſherd: and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws;
nd thou haſt brought me into the duſt of death.
16 For dogs have compaſſed me, the aſſembly f the wicked have incloſed me: they pierced my ands and my feet. 17 I may tell all my bones:
hey look and ſtare upon me. 18 They part ny garments among them, and caſt lots upon my ord, O my ſtrength, haſte thee to help me. 20

eliver my ſoul from the ſword: my darling om the power of the dog. 21 Save me from e lions mouth: for thou haſt heard me from e horns of the unicorns. 22 I will declare y name unto my brethren; in the midſt of the ngregation will I praiſe thee. 23 Ye that fear
e Lord, praiſe him; all ye the ſeed of Jacob, orifie him; and fear him, all ye the ſeed of Iſrael.
For he hath not deſpiſed, nor abhorred the liction of the afflicted: neither hath he hid s face from him, but when he cried unto m, he heard. 25 My praiſe ſhall be of thee the great congregation: I will pay my vows fore them that fear him. 26 The meek ſhall
t and be ſatisfied: they ſhall praiſe the Lord at ſeek him; your heart ſhall live for ever.
All the ends of the world ſhall remember and n unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the tions ſhall worſhip before thee. 28 For the ngdom is the Lords: and he is the governor ong the nations. 29 All they that be fat upon rth, ſhall eat and worſhip: all they that go wn to the duſt, ſhall bow before him, and ne can keep alive his own ſoul. 30 A ſeed ll ſerve him, it ſhall be accounted to the d ſhall declare his righteouſneſs unto a people at ſhall be born, that he hath done this.

The Words Aijeleth Shahar ſignify the Hind of the rning. This Pſalm was compoſed by David, where- under his own Perſon (who was perſecuted as a d is by the Hunters early in the Morning, Ver. 16.) makes a large Deſcription of the Sufferings of Chriſt; , in Concluſion, of his Exaltation, and the Propaga- n of his Kingdom to the utmoſt Ends of the Earth. ne of which Things are delivered in ſuch Expreſſions, they are more literally fulfilled in our Saviour, than r they were in David; to whom they belong but in etaphorical Senſe.

PSAL. XXIII.

vid deſcribes his own Happineſs, both in Tempo- als and Spirituals; his Confidence in God's Mercy, and vows to dwell in his Houſe for ever.

A Pſalm of David.

1. THE Lord is my ſhepherd, I ſhall not want. 2 He maketh me to lie down in green paſtures: he leadeth me beſide the ſtill waters. 3 He reſtoreth my ſoul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteouſneſs for his names ſake. 4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the ſhadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me, thy rod and thy ſtaff they comfort me. 5 Thou prepareſt a table before me in the preſence of mine enemies: thou anointeſt my head with oil, my cup runneth over. 6 Surely goodneſs and mercy ſhall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the houſe of the Lord for ever.

The Matter of this Pſalm, ſays Pool, gives us ſome general Diſcovery of the Time of its Writing; which was when David was delivered out of his Anxieties and Troubles, and quietly ſetled in his Kingdom; for he repreſents in his own Perſon, as in a Mirror, the Happineſs, or bleſſed Condition, of a true Servant of God; ſaying, That as he had formerly been driven from God's Houſe, he remained aſſured that he ſhould now conſtantly enjoy the bleſſed Privilege of ſerving God in his Sanctuary, which he prized more than his Dominions; as well knowing the bleſſed and comfortable Effects of God's Favour and Protection, whoſe admirable Readineſs to do Good to his People, and his preventing them with Bleſſings, David ſets forth, by ſhewing how the Lord furniſhed him with Plenty and Variety of Proviſions and Comforts, in a Place he little could expect it, and when he was ſurrounded by his Enemies, who ſaw, envied, and fretted at it, but were not able to hinder it.

PSAL. XXIV.

David acknowledges God's Sovereignty over the World. A Deſcription of the Perſons who ſhall be of his ſpiritual Kingdom; their Bleſſing. Who the King of Glory is.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THE earth is the Lords, and the fulneſs thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. 2 For he hath founded it upon the ſeas, and eſtabliſhed it upon the floods. 3 Who ſhall aſcend into the hill of the Lord? and who ſhall ſtand in his holy place? 4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lift up his ſoul unto vanity, nor ſworn deceitfully. 5 He ſhall receive the bleſſing from the Lord, and righteouſneſs from the God of his ſalvation. 6 This is the generation of them that ſeek him, that ſeek thy face, O Jacob. Selah. 7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates, and be ye lift up, ye everlaſting doors, and the King of glory ſhall come in. 8 Who is this King of glory? the Lord ſtrong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle. 9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates, even lift them up, ye everlaſting doors, and the King of glory ſhall come in. 10 Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hoſts, he is the king of glory. Selah.

As the foregoing Pſalm ſeems to have been made by David, preſently after his Settlement in his Kingdom; ſo this, it is moſt likely, was penn'd by him, when he brought the Ark from the Houſe of Obed-edom, and ſettled it (after many Removals) in Mount Zion: Which Place, upon that Account, he prefers before all the reſt of the World; and excites the People, who attended the Ark thither with extraordinary Pomp and Solemnity, not to content themſelves merely with that Sort of Piety, but to add the Practice of all Moral Virtues; that ſo they might enjoy the Bleſſings which might be expected from the Divine Preſence with them, and comfortably wait for the Coming of the Meſſiah; whoſe whoſe Aſcenſion into Heaven is repreſented by carrying the Ark up into Mount Zion, which was a Type of Heaven, as the Ark was of the Lord Chriſt.

The Hebrews were wont to ſing this Pſalm on the Firſt Day of the Week; becauſe, as ſome fancy, there is Mention, in the Beginning of it, of the Creation of the Earth, which Moſes ſays, was on that Day: But rather, I ſhould think, ſays Patrick, becauſe their Prophets and wiſe Men ſaw a Prophecy of Chriſt; whoſe firſt Step to the Throne of his Glory, was upon the firſt Day of the Week, when we conſtantly commemorate his Reſurrection. And there is ſo remarkable a Difference between the 8th Verſe and the 10th, that we may juſtly think that ſome new Thing is intended in the 9th and 10th Verſes, which are a Repetition of the 7th and 8th, viz. the Aſcenſion of our Lord Chriſt. For in the Beginning of the Verſe, the Queſtion is put with greater Emphaſis. Who is He, This King of Glory? And in the latter End of the Words, mighty in Battle, are omitted; becauſe in the Days of Chriſt, as Aben-Ezra himſelf gives the Account, Men are to turn their Swords into Plow-ſhares, &c.

PSAL. XXV.

David, being diſtreſſed by his Enemies, takes Refuge in God; prays for the Remiſſion of the Sins of his Youth; ſets forth the Goodneſs of the Lord; prays for Help againſt his Enemies, and to redeem his Church from Trouble.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. UNto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my ſoul. 2 O my God, I truſt in thee, let me not be aſhamed: let not mine enemies triumph over me. 3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be aſhamed: let them be aſhamed which tranſgreſs without cauſe. 4 Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths. 5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my ſalvation, on thee do I wait all the day. 6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy loving kindneſſes: for they have been ever of old. 7 Remember not the ſins of my youth, nor my tranſgreſſions: according to thy mercy remember thou me, for thy goodneſs ſake, O Lord. 8 Good and upright is the Lord: therefore will he teach ſinners in the way. 9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way. 10 All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth, unto ſuch as keep his covenant, and his teſtimonies. 11 For thy names ſake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity: for it is great. 12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him ſhall he teach in the way that he ſhall chooſe. 13 His ſoul ſhall dwell at eaſe, and his ſoul ſhall inherit the earth. 14 The ſecret of the Lord is with them that fear him: and he will ſhew them his covenant. 15 Mine eyes are ever towards the Lord: for he ſhall pluck my feet out of the net. 16 Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me: for I am deſolate, and afflicted. 17 The troubles of my heart are enlarged: O bring thou me out of my diſtreſſes. 18 Look upon mine affliction, and my pain, and forgive all my ſins. 19 Conſider mine enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruel hatred. 20 O keep my ſoul and deliver me: let me not be aſhamed, for I put my truſt in thee. 21 Let integrity and uprightneſs preſerve me: for I wait on thee. 22 Redeem Iſrael, O God, out of all his troubles.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been penn'd by David after the Commiſſion of ſome great Sin (Ver. 11.) and in ſome great Diſtreſs, whereinto he was fallen, (Ver. 15, 16.) probably after the Matter of Urijah, and when Abſalom rebelled againſt him: Which brought to mind all the Offences of his Youth, Ver. 7. and made him an earneſt Supplicant for them, and for Deliverance from his Enemies. He began to make this Petition with an extraordinary Art; but the Method is preſently diſturbed by the Ardency of his Deſires, and his paſſionate Sorrow, which would not let him follow exactly the Order of the Letters of the Alphabet, in the Beginning of every Verſe, as he firſt deſigned.

PSAL. XXVI.

David declares his Integrity and Innocence, and his Hatred to the Congregation of the Wicked; juſtifies God's Works; loves to dwell in his Houſe; prays for Deliverance, and returns God Thanks.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. JUdge me, O Lord, for I have walked in mine integrity: I have truſted alſo in the Lord: therefore ſhall I not ſlide. 2 Examine me, O Lord, and prove me; try my reins and my heart. 3 For thy loving kindneſs is before mine eyes: and I have walked in thy truth. 4 I have not ſat with vain perſons, neither will I go in with diſſemblers. 5 I have hated the congregation of evil-doers: and will not ſit with the wicked. 6 I will waſh mine hands in innocency: ſo will I compaſs thine altar, O Lord. 7 That I may publiſh with the voice of thankſgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous works. 8 Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy houſe, and the place where thine honour dwelleth. 9 Gather not my ſoul with ſinners, nor my life with bloody men: 10 In whoſe hands is miſchief: and their right hand is full of bribes. 11 But as for me, I will walk in mine integrity: redeem me, and be merciful unto me. 12 My foot ſtandeth in an even place: in the congregations will I bleſs the Lord.

The Matter of this Pſalm ſeems to relate to ſome Times, when David was perſecuted by Saul, and looked upon as a publick Enemy, 1 Sam. xxiv. 9. Theodoret underſtands it; and thinks he was now among the Philiſtines, or in ſome other ſtrange Country, in which he was ſometimes forced by that Perſecution.

PSAL. XXVII.

David declares, that God is his only Comfort and Confidence in all Dangers; deſires to be in the Houſe of God; prays for the Light of God's Face and his Salvation; and from his Experience exhorts others to wait on him.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THe Lord is my light and my ſalvation; whom ſhall I fear? the Lord is the ſtrength of my life, of whom ſhall I be afraid? 2 When the wicked, even mine enemies, and my foes came upon me to eat up my fleſh, they ſtumbled and fell. 3 Though an hoſt ſhould encamp againſt me, my heart ſhould not fear: though war ſhould riſe againſt me, in this will I be confident. 4 One thing have I deſired of the Lord, that will I ſeek after, that I may dwell in the houſe of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple. 5 For in the time of rouble he ſhall hide me in his pavilion: in the ecret of his tabernacle ſhall he hide me, he ſhall et me up upon a rock. 6 And now ſhall mine ead be lifted up above mine enemies round bout me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle acrifices of joy, I will ſing, yea, I will ſing praiſes nto the Lord. 7 Hear, O Lord, when I cry with my voice: have mercy alſo upon me, and anſwer me. 8 When thou ſaidſt, ſeek ye my face; my eart ſaid unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I eek. 9 Hide not thy face far from me, put ot thy ſervant away in anger: thou haſt been my help, leave me not, neither forſake me, O God of my ſalvation. 10 When my father and nd my mother forſake me, then the Lord will ake me up. 11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, nd lead me in a plain path, becauſe of mine nemies. 12 Deliver me not over unto the will f mine enemies: for falſe witneſſes are riſen p againſt me, and ſuch as breathe out cruelty. 3 I had fainted unleſs I had believed to ſee the oodneſs of the Lord in the land of the living. 4 Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, nd he ſhall ſtrengthen thine heart: wait, I ſay, n the Lord.

It is not eaſy to reſolve, whether David compoſed is Pſalm when he was perſecuted by Saul, before he s crowned; or when he was forced to fly from bſalom; or, as ſome of the Jews think, which ſeems oſt probable, (becauſe it agrees very well with ſeveral ſſages in the Pſalm) when, in Fight with the Phi-ines, he had engaged himſelf ſo far among the Ene-es, that he was in Danger of being killed by a Giant, biſhai had not ſeaſonably ſtept in and relieved him. his was in his declining Years, when the ſame Cou-ge remained, but not the ſame Strength, which he d in his Youth. And therefore the People came d ſware to him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt go out no more th us to Battle, that thou quench not the Lamp of Iſrael, am. xxi. 17.

avid prays earneſtly, that he might not be led away by the Wicked. The Reaſon of his Prayer. He bleſſes God for hearing him, and prays for the People.

A Pſalm of David.

r. 1. UNto thee will I cry, O Lord my rock, be not ſilent to me: leſt if ou be ſilent to me, I become like them that down into the pit. 2 Hear the voice of my pplications, when I cry unto thee: when I ft up my hands toward thine holy oracle. 3 raw me not away with the wicked, and with e workers of iniquity: which ſpeak peace to eir neighbours, but miſchief is in their hearts. Give them according to their deeds, and ac-rding to the wickedneſs of their endeavours: ve them after the work of their hands, render them their deſert. 5 Becauſe they regard the works of the Lord, nor the operation his hands, he ſhall deſtroy them, and not ild them up. 6 Bleſſed be the Lord, becauſe hath heard the voice of my ſupplications. 7 e Lord is my ſtrength and my ſhield, my art truſted in him, and I am helped: there-e my heart greatly rejoiceth, and with my g will I praiſe him. 8 The Lord is their rength, and he is the ſaving ſtrength of his anointed. 9 Save thy people, and bleſs thine inheritance: feed them alſo, and lift them up for ever.

Theodoret thinks this Pſalm was compoſed by David, during Saul's Perſecution; when he was betrayed by thoſe whom he took for his Friends, or not for his Enemies; ſuch as Doeg, the Ziphites, and many others. But the Matter of the Pſalm, ſays Patrick, inclines me to conſider it as a Meditation, on ſome ſuch Occaſion as moved him to pen the foregoing. For he bleſſes God, in the latter Part of it, (Ver. 7, 8.) for the Victories he had got over his Enemies, and for the Peace he enjoyed; and yet he complains in the Beginning of it, of ſome Men who moleſted him, and ſought an Occaſion to do him a Miſchief. See 2 Sam. xxi. 18, 19, 20. where we read of three Battles between his Forces and the Philiſtines, when it is likely ſome of his own Subjects took an Opportunity to give him ſome Diſturbance.

Give them according to their Deeds, and according to the Wickedneſs of their Endeavours] David uſes theſe Imprecations, ſays Pool, partly to vindicate himſelf from the Slander of his Enemies, who reported him to be as wicked as they were, only more cloſe and cunning therein; which if he had been, he had bitterly curſed himſelf, which it cannot reaſonably be ſuppoſed he would do; partly, from his great and long Experience of their implacable and incorrigible Malignity, not only againſt him, but againſt God and his declared Will, and againſt all truly good Men, and that covered with Pretences of Piety to God, and of Peaceableneſs towards their Neighbours, Ver. 3. which made their Wickedneſs more inexcuſable and deteſtable; partly, by the Inſtinct and Direction of God's Spirit, by whoſe Inſpiration he uttered this, as well as the reſt of the Pſalms; and, partly, that he might thereby provoke them to Repentance: For this Curſe only belongs to thoſe who ſhall obſtinately perſiſt in their wicked Courſes. Add to all this, that as Verbs of the Imperative Mood are often uſed by the Hebrews for the Future, ſo theſe may not properly be Imprecations, but Predictions of their Deſtruction.

PSAL. XXIX.

David exhorts the Mighty of this World, to give Glory to God, who manifeſts his Power by Thunder, Lightning, and by other Creatures.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. GIve unto the Lord, O ye mighty, give unto the Lord glory and ſtrength. 2 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name; worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs. 3 The voice of the Lord is upon the waters: the God of glory thundreth, the Lord is upon many waters. 4 The voice of the Lord is powerful: the voice of the Lord is full of majeſty. 5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon. 6 He maketh them alſo to ſkip like a calf: Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn. 7 The voice of the Lord divideth the flames of fire: 8 The voice of the Lord ſhaketh the wilderneſs: the Lord ſhaketh the wilderneſs of Kadeſh. 9 The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calve, and diſcovereth the foreſts: and in his temple doth every one ſpeak of his glory. 10 The Lord ſitteth upon the flood: yea, the Lord ſitteth King for ever. 11 The Lord will give ſtrength unto his people, the Lord will bleſs his people with peace.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been compoſed by David after ſome terrible Tempeſt of Thunder, Lightning, and Rain; whereby (it is probable) God had ſo diſcom-fited his Enemies, and put their Forces into ſuch Diſorder, that he eaſily got the Victory over them. Whereupon he exhorts them to ſubmit to that glorious Majeſty, from whom that Thunder came, and who can ſo eaſily ſtrike a Terror into the Hearts of his ſtouteſt and moſt reſolved Oppoſers.

PSAL. XXX.

The Pſalmiſt prays for Deliverance out of great Danger, and exhorts others to do the ſame. He acknowledges to God that his Prayer was heard. He will give God Thanks for ever.

A Pſalm and Song, at the Dedication of the Houſe of David.

Ver. 1. I Will extol thee, O Lord, for thou haſt lifted me up, and haſt not made my foes to rejoyce over me. 2 O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou haſt healed me. 3 O Lord, thou haſt brought up my ſoul from the grave: thou haſt kept me alive that I ſhould not go down to the pit. 4 Sing unto the Lord, O ye ſaints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holineſs. 5 For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. 6 And in my proſperity I ſaid, I ſhall never be moved. 7 Lord, by thy favour thou haſt made my mountain to ſtand ſtrong: thou didſt hide thy face, and I was troubled. 8 I cried to thee, O Lord: and unto the Lord I made ſupplication. 9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? ſhall the duſt praiſe thee? ſhall it declare thy truth? 10 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy upon me: Lord, be thou my helper. 11 Thou haſt turned for me my mourning into dancing: thou haſt put off my ſackcloth, and girded me with gladneſs: 12 To the end that my glory may ſing praiſe to thee, and not be ſilent: O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever.

The Title of this Pſalm differs from all the foregoing; it being the firſt that is called a Pſalm and Song, or a Pſalm-Song; as others are called a Song and Pſalm, or a Song-Pſalm. The Difference of which it is hard to find out. But here the Words may be otherwiſe conſtrued; for, they run currently enough in the Hebrew, thus, A Pſalm, A Song of Dedication of the Houſe made by David; who would not eat in his Houſe, till he had firſt addreſſed himſelf to God in a ſolemn Manner, at his Entrance into it; either after it was newly built, (2 Sam. v. 11.) or (which agrees beſt with a great Part of the Pſalm) when he returned to it again, after he had been driven from it by the Rebellion of Abſalom, who defiled it, 2 Sam. xvi. 21. Then he gave God Thanks for his being reſtored to a peaceable Poſſeſſion of his Palace; and made a Feaſt for his Friends (as their Manner was at their coming to dwell in a new built Houſe) with extraordinary Piety and Devotion acknowledging God's Goodneſs, who had graciouſly reinſtated him in his Throne. The Talmudiſts generally underſtand by the Houſe here mentioned, the Houſe of the Sanctuary; but, ſays Patrick, I ſee no Ground for it: For David did not build God a Houſe, nor do the Words of the Pſalm agree to that Matter.

PSAL. XXXI.

David prays for Preſervation, and that he might rejoice in his Mercy; declares what he ſuffered from his Enemies and Friends, but praiſes God for his Goodneſs to himſelf, and to the Faithful.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. IN thee, O Lord, do I put my truſt, let me never be aſhamed: deliver me in thy righteouſneſs. 2 Bow down thine ear to me, deliver me ſpeedily: be thou my ſtrong rock, for an houſe of defence to ſave me. 3 For thou art my rock and my fortreſs: therefore for thy name ſake lead me, and guide me. 4 Pull me out of the net, that they have laid privily for me: for thou art my ſtrength. 5 Into thine hand I commit my ſpirit: thou haſt redeemed me, O Lord God of truth. 6 I have hated them that regard lying vanities: but I truſt in the Lord. 7 I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy: for thou haſt conſidered my trouble; thou haſt known my ſoul in adverſities; 8 And haſt not ſhut me up into the hand of the enemy: thou haſt ſet my feet in a large room. 9 Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am in trouble; mine eye is conſumed with grief, yea, my ſoul and my belly. 10 For my life is ſpent with grief, and my years with ſighing: my ſtrength faileth becauſe of mine iniquity, and my bones are conſumed. 11 I was a reproach among all mine enemies, but eſpecially among my neighbours, and a fear to mine acquaintance: they that did ſee me without, fled from me. 12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken veſſel. 13 For I have heard the ſlander of many, fear was on every ſide, while they took counſel together againſt me, they deviſed to take away my life. 14 But I truſted in thee, O Lord: I ſaid, Thou art my God. 15 My times are in thy hand: deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that perſecute me. 16 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant: ſave me for thy mercies ſake. 17 Let me not be aſhamed, O Lord, for I have called upon thee; let the wicked be aſhamed, and let them be ſilent in the grave. 18 Let the lying lips be put to ſilence: which ſpeak grievous things proudly and contemptuouſly againſt the righteous. 19 O how great is thy goodneſs which thou haſt laid up for them that fear thee, which thou haſt wrought for them that truſt in thee before the ſons of men! 20 Thou ſhalt hide them in the ſecret of thy preſence from the pride of man: thou ſhalt keep them ſecretly in a pavilion from the ſtrife of tongues. 21 Bleſſed be the Lord; for he hath ſhewed me his marvellous kindneſs in a ſtrong city. 22 For I ſaid in my haſte, I am cut off from before thine eyes: nevertheleſs thou heardeſt the voice of my ſupplications, when I cried unto thee. 23 O love the Lord, all ye his ſaints: for the Lord preſerveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer. 24 Be of good courage, and he ſhall ſtrengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord.

The Occaſion of David's compoſing this Pſalm, ſuppoſed to be, his Eſcape from Keilah, when Saul purſued him ſo cloſe in the Wilderneſs of Maon, that without an extraordinary Providence of God over him he had certainly fallen into his Hands. To that ſtrait Deliverance, and not that from Abſalom, it is the most probable that he hath Reſpect in this Pſalm, (in the latter End of which it is thankfully commemorated) becauſe the Haſte, with which the Pſalmiſt (Ver. 22.) he made in that ſore Diſtreſs, is expreſſed by the very ſame Word, (and uſed no where elſe in other Part of David's Hiſtory) when the great Fr e was in, and his ſudden ſpeedy Flight from one Place o another, is deſcribed, 1 Sam. xxiii. 26.

PSAL. XXXII.

hey are bleſſed whoſe Sins are forgiven. Confeſſion eaſes the Conſcience. God's Promiſe to thoſe who truſt in him.

A Pſalm of David. Maſchil.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is he whoſe tranſgreſſion is forgiven, whoſe ſin is covered. 2 Bleſſed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whoſe ſpirit there is no guile. 3 When I kept ſilence, my bones waxed old: through my roaring all the day long. 4 For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me: my moiſture is turned into the drought of ſummer. Selah. 5 I acknowledged my ſin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid: I ſaid, I will confeſs my tranſgreſſions unto the Lord; and thou forgaveſt the iniquity of my ſin. Selah. 6 For this ſhall every one that is godly, pray unto thee in a time when thou mayeſt be found: ſurely in the floods of great waters, they ſhall not come nigh unto him. 7 Thou art my hiding-place, thou ſhalt preſerve me from trouble: thou ſhalt compaſs me about with ſongs of deliverance. Selah. 8 I will inſtruct thee, and teach thee in the way which thou ſhalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye. 9 Be ye not as the horſe, or as the mule which have no underſtanding: whoſe mouth muſt be held in with bit and bridle, leſt they come near unto thee. 10 Many ſorrows ſhall be to the wicked: but he that truſteth in the Lord, mercy ſhall compaſs him about. 11 Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice ye righteous: and ſhout for joy all ye that are upright in heart.

Some imagine that this Pſalm was intended for publick Uſe, upon the great Day of Expiation, when the whole Nation made a general Confeſſion of their Sins; and called Maſchil, either becauſe it contains an excellent Inſtruction (as that Word ſignifies) concerning the Means to obtain true Bleſſedneſs; or becauſe it was ſet to the Tune of a Song, in vulgar Uſe in thoſe Days, which began with the Word Maſchil. This is the more probable of the two, becauſe there are Twelve Pſalms beſides this that have the ſame Title, to all of which the former Reaſon cannot be applied.

PSAL. XXXIII.

God is to be praiſed for his Goodneſs, Power, and Providence; and they that fear him, ſhall find Mercy and rejoice in him.

Ver. 1. REjoyce in the Lord, O ye righteous, for praiſe is comely for the upright. 2 Praiſe the Lord with harp: ſing unto him with the pſaltery, and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings. 3 Sing unto him a new ſong, play ſkilfully with a loud noiſe. 4 For the word of the Lord is right: and all his works are done in truth. 5 He loveth righteouſneſs and judgment: the earth is full of the goodneſs of the Lord. 6 By the word of the Lord were the heavens made: and all the hoſt of them by the breath of his mouth. 7 He gathereth the waters of the ſea together, as an heap: he layeth up the depth in ſtore-houſes. 8 Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world ſtand in awe of him. 9 For he ſpake, and it was done; he commanded, and it ſtood faſt. 10 The Lord bringeth the counſel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect. 11 The counſel of the Lord ſtandeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations. 12 Bleſſed is the nation whoſe God is the Lord: and the people whom he hath choſen for his own inheritance. 13 The Lord looketh from heaven: he beholdeth all the ſons of men. 14 From the place of his habitation he looketh upon all the inhabitants of the earth. 15 He faſhioneth their hearts alike; he conſidereth all their works. 16 There is no king ſaved by the multitude of an hoſt: a mighty man is not delivered by much ſtrength. 17 An horſe is a vain thing for ſafety: neither ſhall he deliver any by his great ſtrength. 18 Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him: upon them that hope in his mercy: 19 To deliver their ſoul from death, and to keep them alive in famine. 20 Our ſoul waiteth for the Lord: he is our help and our ſhield. 21 For our heart ſhall rejoice in him: becauſe we have truſted in his holy name. 22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be upon us, according as we hope in thee.

It is not recorded by whom this Pſalm was compoſed, nor upon what Occaſion. There is little Queſtion however, but it was a pious Meditation of David, (of whoſe Spirit it ſavours) and, as we may gueſs, upon Occaſion of ſome ſpecial Benefit received from God, (tho' not particularly mentioned) which makes him call it, Ver. 3. a new Song; wherein he deſires all the Faithful to join with him in joyful Praiſes of the Lord; conſidering his excellent Nature, and his admirable Works, both of Creation and Providence; eſpecially over good Men, who piouſly truſt in Him, and expect all Good from Him; and therefore ought to think themſelves bleſſed that they have Relation to Him.

PSAL. XXXIV.

David praiſes God, and exhorts others to do the ſame, from his own Experience of the divine Goodneſs.

A Pſalm of David, when he changed his Behaviour before Abimelech; who drove him away, and he departed.

Ver. 1. I Will bleſs the Lord at all times: his praiſe ſhall continually be in my mouth. 2 My ſoul ſhall make her boaſt in the Lord: the humble ſhall hear thereof, and be glad. 3 O magnifie the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together. 4 I ſought the Lord, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears. 5 They looked unto him, and were lightened: and their faces were not aſhamed. 6 This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him; and ſaved him out of all his troubles. 7 The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them. 8 O taſte and ſee that the Lord is good: bleſſed is the man that truſteth in him. 9 O fear the Lord, ye his ſaints: for there is no want to them that fear him. 10 The young lions do lack, and ſuffer hunger: but they that ſeek the Lord ſhall not want any good thing. 11 Come ye children, hearken unto me: I will teach you the fear of the Lord. 12 What man is he that deſireth life, and loveth many days, that he may ſee good? 13 Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from ſpeaking guile. 14 Depart

Depart from evil, and do good: ſeek peace and purſue it. 15 The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry. 16 The face of the Lord is againſt them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth. 17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth and delivereth them out of all their troubles. 18 The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart: and ſaveth ſuch as be of a contrite ſpirit. 19 Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the Lord delivereth him out of them all. 20 He keepeth all his bones; not one of them is broken. 21 Evil ſhall ſlay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous ſhall be deſolate. 22 The Lord redeemeth the ſoul of his ſervants: and none of them that truſt in him ſhall be deſolate.

The Title tells us this Pſalm was penn'd by David, after the Eſcape he made from Achiſh King of Gath, (in which Country all their Kings were called by the common Name of Abimelech, i. e. my Father the King; as in Egypt antiently they were all called Pharaoh, and afterward Ptolemy) who, he was afraid, would ſeize on him, when he heard it commonly reported, that he was the Perſon that killed Goliah, and pretended to the Sovereignty over all thoſe Countries, 1 Sam. xxi. 11. And therefore he put on the Behaviour of a Man beſide himſelf; hoping, that when Achiſh ſaw this, he would deſpiſe him; and looking upon him as an uſeleſs Man, who could do neither Good nor Harm, think fit to thruſt him out of his Court, wherein he had been entertained, and ſend him packing from thence. And accordingly it ſucceeded, 1 Sam. xxi. 14, 15. But tho' he was preſerved by this Artifice, the Deliverance notwithſtanding is piouſly aſcribed unto God's great Mercy, who proſpered the Device. To whom therefore he would have all pious Men commit themſelves, and depend upon his Favour in well-doing; which he declares is the ſure Courſe to be happy. The Pſalm is curiouſly compoſed, according to the Number and Order of the Hebrew Alphabet, in the Beginning of every Verſe; which ſhews it was contrived, when he reflected upon his Eſcape, in ſome Place of Safety.

PSAL. XXXV.

David prays for his own Safety, and his Enemies Deſtruction; but for the Joy and Preſervation of the Godly.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. PLead my cauſe, O Lord, with them that ſtrive with me: fight againſt them that fight againſt me. 2 Take hold of ſhield and buckler, and ſtand up for mine help. 3 Draw alſo out the ſpear, and ſtop the way againſt them that perſecute me: ſay unto my ſoul, I am thy ſalvation. 4 Let them be confounded and put to ſhame that ſeek after my ſoul: let them be turned back and brought to confuſion that deviſe my hurt. 5 Let them be as chaff before the wind: and let the angel of the Lord chaſe them. 6 Let their way be dark and ſlippery, and let the angel of the Lord perſecute them. 7 For without cauſe have they hid for me their net, in a pit, which without cauſe they have digged for my ſoul. 8 Let deſtruction come upon him at unawares, and let his net that he hath hid, catch himſelf: into that very deſtruction let him fall. 9 And my ſoul ſhall be joyful in the Lord: it ſhall rejoice in his ſalvation. 10 All my bones ſhall ſay, Lord, who is like unto thee, which deliverеſt the poor from him that is too ſtrong for him, yea, the poor and the needy, from him that ſpoileth him? 11 Falſe witneſſes did riſe up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not. 12 They rewarded me evil for good, to the ſpoiling of my ſoul. 13 But as for me when they were ſick, my cloathing was ſackcloth: I humbled my ſoul with faſting, and my prayer returned into mine own boſom. 14 I behaved my ſelf as though he had been my friend, or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourneth for his mother. 15 But in mine adverſity they rejoiced, and gathered themſelves together: yea, the abjects gathered themſelves together againſt me, and I knew it not; they did tear me, and ceaſed not. 16 With hypocritical mockers in feaſts; they gnaſhed upon me with their teeth. 17 Lord, how long wilt thou look on? reſcue my ſoul from their deſtructions, my darling from the lions. 18 I will give thee thanks in the great congregation: I will praiſe thee among much people. 19 Let not them that are mine enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: neither let them wink with the eye, that hate me without a cauſe. 20 For they ſpeak not peace, but they deviſe deceitful matters againſt them that are quiet in the land. 21 Yea, they opened their mouth wide againſt me, and ſaid, Aha, aha, our eye hath ſeen it. 22 This thou haſt ſeen, O Lord, keep not ſilence: O Lord, be not far from me. 23 Stir up thy ſelf, and awake to my judgment, even unto my cauſe, my God, and my Lord. 24 Judge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteouſneſs, and let them not rejoyce over me. 25 Let them not ſay in their hearts, Ah, ſo would we have it: let them not ſay, We have ſwallowed him up. 26 Let them be aſhamed and brought to confuſion together, that rejoice at mine hurt: let them be cloathed with ſhame and diſhonour, that magnifie themſelves againſt me. 27 Let them ſhout for joy, and be glad, that favour my righteous cauſe: yea, let them ſay continually, Let the Lord be magnified, which hath pleaſure in the proſperity of his ſervant. 28 And my tongue ſhall ſpeak of thy righteouſneſs, and of thy praiſe all the day long.

This Pſalm, we are ſufficiently informed by the Matter of it, was penn'd by David, when he was fiercely perſecuted by Saul: Whoſe Forces, which were unjuſtly raiſed againſt him, he beſeeches the Lord to diſſipate; and eſpecially to ſtop the Mouth of his falſe Accuſers; (ſuch as Doeg and the Ziphites) of whom he moſt heavily complains in the Middle of the Pſalm, vowing to God, that he would be ever mindful of the Benefit, and never ceaſe to give him Thanks and Praiſe for his Loving-kindneſs, if he would be pleaſed to confound them, and deliver him.

There may ſeem to be here, as in ſome other Pſalms, ſuch horrid Imprecations againſt his Enemies, as do not become the Mouth of a good Man. But, ſays Pa. trick, they muſt be conſidered as an Appeal to God in a particular Caſe, for Juſtice againſt thoſe whom no Court on Earth could or would puniſh. Which made it fit, he thought, to deſire the Divine Majeſty to execute the Judgment he had enacted in his Law, against obſtinate and incurable Offenders, who elſe would eſcape the Hand of Juſtice; whereby others alſo would be hardened in their Wickedneſs.

Beſides, the Words may be interpreted, not as a Prayer, but as a Prediction; and rendered, not, Let them be, but, They ſhall be confounded, &c.

PSAL. XXXVI.

David ſets forth the grievous State of the Wicked; the Excellency of God's Mercy; and prays for Favour to the Children of God.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David, the Servant of the Lord.

Ver. 1. THE tranſgreſſion of the wicked ſaith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes. 2 For he flattereth himſelf in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful. 3 The words of his mouth are iniquity, and deceit: he hath left off to be wiſe, and to do good. 4 He deviſeth miſchief upon his bed: he ſetteth himſelf in a way that is not good; he abhorreth not evil. 5 Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulneſs reacheth unto the clouds. 6 Thy righteouſneſs is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preſerveſt man and beaſt. 7 How excellent is thy loving kindneſs, O God! therefore the children of men put their truſt under the ſhadow of thy wings. 8 They ſhall be abundantly ſatisfied with the fatneſs of thy houſe: and thou ſhalt make them drink of the river of thy pleaſures. 9 For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light ſhall we ſee light. 10 O continue thy loving-kindneſs unto them that know thee; and thy righteouſneſs to the upright in heart. 11 Let not the foot of pride come againſt me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me. 12 There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are caſt down, and ſhall not be able to riſe.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been penn'd by David, as the former, and many others were, during the Perſecution he ſuffer'd from Saul. It is hard to ſay, to what Part of that Time it peculiarly belongs. The moſt probable Opinion is, that it hath Reſpect to the Beginning of it; when Saul had a Jealouſy of him, and a Hatred to him; but hid it ſecretly in his Heart, and counterfeited Friendſhip to him, and Deſire of his Alliance; (as you read 1 Sam. xviii.) and yet could not carry the Matter ſo cunningly, and ſo wholly ſuppreſs and conceal his Intentions to deſtroy him, but that they broke out in ſome Fits, as you find there, (Ver. 11. and in the next Chapter, Ver. 10.) and by the very Preferment he gave him, made it plainly appear he deſigned his Ruin. This Treachery David here deſcribes, (without naming Saul, to whom he preſerved a due Reverence) and oppoſes thereunto the Fidelity and Goodneſs of God, who rules the whole World, and takes Care of Beaſts as well as Men; and therefore would not, he hoped, deſert him, nor any elſe that depend on him, and are his faithful Servants; as he, in a ſpecial Manner, profeſſed himſelf, and was obliged to be.

PSAL. XXXVII.

The Pſalmiſt perſuades to Patience and Confidence in God; and ſhews the different State of the Godly and the Wicked in all their Dealings.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. FRet not thy ſelf becauſe of evil doers, neither be thou envious againſt the workers of iniquity. 2 For they ſhall ſoon be cut down like the graſs, and wither as the green herb. 3 Truſt in the Lord, and do good, ſo ſhalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou ſhalt be fed. 4 Delight thy ſelf alſo in the Lord; and he ſhall give thee the deſires of thine heart. 5 Commit thy way unto the Lord: truſt alſo in him, and he ſhall bring it to paſs. 6 And he ſhall bring forth thy righteouſneſs as the light, and thy judgment as the noon-day. 7 Reſt in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thy ſelf becauſe of him who proſpereth in his way, becauſe of the man who bringeth wicked devices to paſs. 8 Ceaſe from anger, and forſake wrath: fret not thy ſelf in any wiſe to do evil. 9 For evil doers ſhall be cut off: but thoſe that wait upon the Lord, they ſhall inherit the earth. 10 For yet a little while, and the wicked ſhall not be: yea, thou ſhalt diligently conſider his place, and it ſhall not be. 11 But the meek ſhall inherit the earth: and ſhall delight themſelves in the abundance of peace: 12 The wicked plotteth againſt the juſt, and gnaſheth upon him with his teeth. 13 The Lord ſhall laugh at him, for he ſeeth that his day is coming. 14 The wicked have drawn out the ſword, and have bent their bow to caſt down the poor and needy, and to ſlay ſuch as be of upright converſation. 15 Their ſword ſhall enter into their own heart, and their bows ſhall be broken. 16 A little that a righteous man hath, is better than the riches of many wicked. 17 For the arms of the wicked ſhall be broken: but the Lord upholdeth the righteous. 18 The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance ſhall be for ever. 19 They ſhall not be aſhamed in the evil time: and in the days of famine they ſhall be ſatisfied. 20 But the wicked ſhall periſh, and the enemies of the Lord ſhall be as the fat of lambs, they ſhall conſume: into ſmoak ſhall they conſume away. 21 The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again; but the righteous ſheweth mercy, and giveth. 22 For ſuch as be bleſſed of him, ſhall inherit the earth; and they that be curſed of him, ſhall be cut off. 23 The ſteps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way. 24 Though he fall, he ſhall not be utterly caſt down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand. 25 I have been young, and now am old: yet have I not ſeen the righteous forſaken, nor his ſeed begging bread. 26 He is ever merciful, and lendeth: and his ſeed is bleſſed. 27 Depart from evil, and do good: and dwell for evermore. 28 For the Lord loveth judgment, and forſaketh not his ſaints, they are preſerved for ever: but the ſeed of the wicked ſhall be cut off. 29 The righteous ſhall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever. 30 The mouth of the righteous ſpeaketh wiſdom; and his tongue talketh of judgment. 31 The law of his God is in his heart, none of his ſteps ſhall ſlide. 32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and ſeeketh to ſlay him. 33 The Lord will not leave him, in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged. 34 Wait on the Lord, and keep his way, and he ſhall exalt thee to inherit the land: when the wicked are cut off, thou ſhalt ſee it. 35 I have ſeen the wicked in great power: and ſpreading himſelf like a green bay-tree. 36 Yet he paſſed away, and lo, he was not: yea, I ſought him, but he could not be found. 37 Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace. 38 But the tranſgreſſors ſhall be deſtroyed together, the end of the wicked ſhall be cut off. 39 But the ſalvation of the righteous is of the Lord, he is their ſtrength in the time of trouble. 40 And the Lord ſhall help them, and deliver them: he ſhall deliver them from the wicked, and ſave them becauſe they truſt in him.

In this Pſalm (which is compoſed ſo artificially, that the Order of the Letters of the Alphabet is obſerved in the firſt Letter of every other Verſe) David ſeems to intend to prevent the Scandal which ſome might take when they ſaw the Wicked in Proſperity, and the Godly under Affliction; (as they did ſometimes) quite contrary to the Law, which promiſed all good Things to thoſe that kept it, and threatened all the Evil to thoſe that broke it. He bids them be patient, and ſtay awhile, and they ſhould ſee both verified. For the Proſperity of the Wicked ſhall be ſhort, (as he over and over again bids them conſider) and the Juſt, if they would but wait awhile, ſhould not only ſee themſelves delivered out of Trouble, but made very flouriſhing. And therefore he adviſes, in the firſt Place, that no Man by any Means ſuffer himſelf to be tempted by the ſplendid Condition of the Wicked, to imitate them in their ungodly Courſes, but to ſtick cloſe to the Principles of Piety and Virtue, truſting in God, and committing himſelf to Him, who will give great Satisfaction to ſuch honeſt Men, in what they have at preſent, tho' never ſo little, and at laſt put them in Poſſeſſion of all that their Hearts can deſire. And to preſerve themſelves in this pious Temper, he ſhews, that nothing could be more available than Meekneſs and Humility, (which procures us Abundance of good Things) and to reflect on the lamentable End of the Proud and Haughty, who take unjuſt Courſes; as was apparent in what befel Saul and Abſalom, and ſuch like Perſons. Which ſufficiently admoniſhes all Men to bear their preſent Troubles decently and well, and not to envy the proſperous Succeſſes of the Wicked, nor to call them Bleſſed; but rather account them unhappy and miſerable.

The Son of Syrach ſeems to have ſummed up this Pſalm in thoſe few Words, Eccluſ. i. 23, &c. A patient Man will bear for a Time, and afterwards Joy ſhall ſpring up unto him. For the Fear of the Lord is Wiſdom; and Faith and Meekneſs are his Delight.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

David, in his Affliction, bewails his woful Condition by Reaſon of his Sins; prays for Forgiveneſs, Help, and Favour; and declares the Unfaithfulneſs of his Friends, and Cruelty of his Enemies.

A Pſalm of David, to bring to Remembrance.

Ver. 1. O Lord, rebuke me not in thy wrath: neither chaſten me in thy hot diſpleaſure. 2 For thine arrows ſtick faſt in me, and thy hand preſſeth me ſore. 3 There is no ſoundneſs in my fleſh, becauſe of thine anger: neither is there any reſt in my bones, becauſe of my ſin. 4 For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as an heavy burden they are too heavy for me. 5 My wounds ſtink, and are corrupt: becauſe of my fooliſhneſs. 6 I am troubled, I am bowed down greatly; I go mourning all the day long. 7 For my loyns are filled with a loathſome diſeaſe: and there is no ſoundneſs in my fleſh. 8 I am feeble and ſore broken: I have roared by reaſon of the diſquietneſs of my heart. 9 Lord, all my deſire is before thee: and my groaning is not hid from thee. 10 My heart panteth, my ſtrength faileth me: as for the light of mine eyes, it alſo is gone from me. 11 My lovers and my friends ſtand aloof from my ſore: and my kinſmen ſtand afar off. 12 They alſo that ſeek after my life, lay ſnares for me and they that ſeek my hurt, ſpeak miſchievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long. 13 But I as a deaf man heard not; and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth. 14 Thus I was as a man that heareth not, and in whoſe mouth are no reproofs. 15 For in thee, O Lord, do I hope: thou wilt hear, O Lord my God. 16 For I ſaid, Hear me, leſt otherwiſe they ſhould rejoice over me: when my foot ſlippeth, they magnifie themſelves againſt me. 17 For I am ready to halt, and my ſorrows are continually before me. 18 For I will declare mine iniquity; I will be ſorry for my ſin. 19 But mine enemies are lively, and they are ſtrong: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied. 20 They alſo that render evil for good, are mine adverſaries! becauſe I follow the thing that good is. 21 Forſake me not, O Lord: O my God, be not far from me. 22 Make haſte to help me, O Lord my ſalvation.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, either during his Affliction, to deſire God graciouſly to remember him, (as the Title of it is) and ſend him Deliverance; or afterwards, to put himſelf in Remembrance of the Means he made when he was in that ſad Condition, and how earneſt he then was with God, to pardon all the Sins which had brought him into it, and to releaſe him out of it; and what Hope and Confidence he then had in God, which might encourage him and all others to place the like humble Truſt in his Goodneſs for the Time to come.

What the Affliction was, is not ſo certain as may ſeem at firſt. It is generally thought he was ſick, and that of ſome noiſome, ulcerous Diſeaſe; as in the Beginning of the Pſalm ſeveral Expreſſions, if they be taken literally, plainly enough denote. But he preſently falling into a doleful Complaint of the Malignity of his Enemies, and the Coldneſs of his Friends Affection towards him; it is not thought improbable by others, that he deſcribes the crazy Condition he was in (under the Perſecution of Saul) by the Languiſhment of a ſick Man under ſome dangerous Diſeaſe. And thus Theodoret underſtands it; only he ſuppoſes that it reflects upon the diſaſtrous Things that befel him after he came to the Crown, by the Murther of his Son Amnon, the Rebellion of Abſalom, the Falſeneſs of Achitophel, the abuſive Reproaches of Shimei, and all the other Afflictions mentioned in his Hiſtory, which were ſent by God upon him for the Cure of his Sins.

And this Senſe we muſt follow; or elſe ſay, he was at the ſame Time ſick of a grievous Diſeaſe, when he laboured under one of thoſe Perſecutions. And ſince the Pſalm will be of larger Uſe, if we ſo interpret it, ſays Patrick, I ſhall follow that Conjecture. So I call it, becauſe we do not read of any Sickneſs David had; nor are we certain what the particular Sins were, which he bewails in ſo ſad a Manner, that it hath made this be called one of the Penitential Pſalms, beginning juſt as the firſt of them doth, Pſalm vi.

PSAL. XXXIX.

David is careful of his Thoughts, Words, and Works; conſiders the Brevity and Vanity of Man's Life; hopes in God; prays for Forgiveneſs, and Favour in his Pilgrimage.

To the chief Muſician, even to Jeduthun. Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. I Said, I will take heed to my ways, that I ſin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked is before me. 2 I was dumb with ſilence, I held my peace even from good, and my ſorrow was ſtirred. 3 My heart was hot within me, while I was muſing the fire burned: then ſpake I with my tongue. 4 Lord, make me to know mine end, and the meaſure of my days, what it is: that I may know how frail I am. 5 Behold, thou haſt made my days as an hand-breadth, and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his beſt ſtate is altogether vanity. Selah. 6 Surely every man walketh in a vain ſhew; ſurely they are diſquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who ſhall gather them. 7 And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee. 8 Deliver me from all my tranſgreſſions, make me not the reproach of the fooliſh. 9 I was dumb, I opened not my mouth: becauſe thou didſt it. 10 Remove thy ſtroke away from me: I am conſumed by the blow of thine hand. 11 When thou with rebukes doſt correct man for iniquity, thou makeſt his beauty to conſume away like a moth: ſurely every man is vanity. Selah. 12 Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry, hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a ſtranger with thee, and a ſojourner, as all my fathers were. 13 O ſpare me, that I may recover ſtrength; before I go hence, and be no more.

It is thought by ſome, that this Pſalm (which David delivered afterward to Jeduthun, an excellent Muſician, and Governor of the Muſick in the Tabernacle, Chron. xxv.) was made upon the ſame Occaſion with the foregoing. And ſo in Part it was; for, tho' there is little Reaſon to think that he was ſtill ſick when he compoſed it, (as they imagine) yet his Enemies, it is manifeſt, preſſed him ſorely: And the Conſideration of the flouriſhing Condition wherein they were, tho' very wicked, whilſt he, a pious Servant of God, was lamentably afflicted, put him into ſome Commotion, notwithſtanding his Reſolution to the contrary; till the Thoughts of the Shortneſs of Man's Life, and conſequently, of his Sufferings, and how eaſy it was for God, to cut off his Enemies, compoſed his Spirit again, and made him patient, and content with his preſent Condition.

So that this Pſalm ſeems to me, ſays Patrick, to be rather of the ſame Kind with the xxxviith than the xxviiith. Only there David gives Counſel to others, after God had delivered him from many Perſecutions, to be patient by his Example: But here he himſelf puts that Counſel in Practice (perhaps when the Rebellion of Abſalom renewed his Trouble) tho' he ſhews it is very difficult, on ſome Occaſions, not to be very much diſturbed at wicked Men's Proſperity, and good Men's Affliction, eſpecially when it comes to be a Man's own caſe, under ſome grievous Calamity.

PSAL. XL.

The Benefit of Confidence in God. Obedience is the beſt Sacrifice. The Senſe of David's Evils inflames his Prayers.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

1 I Waited patiently for the Lord, and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry. 2 He brought me up alſo out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and ſet my feet upon a rock, and eſtabliſhed my goings. 3 And he hath put a new ſong in my mouth, even praiſe unto our God: many ſhall ſee it, and fear, and ſhall truſt in the Lord. 4 Bleſſed is that man that maketh the Lord his truſt: and reſpecteth not the proud, nor ſuch as turn aſide to lies. 5 Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou haſt done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and ſpeak of them, they are more than can be numbered. 6 Sacrifice and offering thou didſt not deſire, mine ears haſt thou opened: burnt-offering and ſin-offering haſt thou not required. 7 Then ſaid I, Lo, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me: 8 I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart. 9 I have preached righteouſneſs in the great congregation: lo, I have not refrained my lips, O Lord, thou knoweſt. 10 I have not hid thy righteouſneſs within my heart, I have declared thy faithfulneſs and thy ſalvation: I have not concealed thy loving-kindneſs, and thy truth, from the great congregation. 11 Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy loving-kindneſs and thy truth continually preſerve me. 12 For innumerable evils have compaſſed me about, mine iniquities have taken hold upon me, ſo that I am not able to look up: they are more than the hairs of mine head, therefore my heart faileth me. 13 Be pleaſed, O Lord, to deliver me: O Lord make haſte to help me. 14 Let them be aſhamed and confounded together, that ſeek after my ſoul to deſtroy it: let them be driven backward, and put to ſhame that wiſh me evil. 15 Let them be deſolate for a reward of their ſhame, that ſay unto me Aha, aha. 16 Let all thoſe that ſeek thee, rejoice and be glad in thee: let ſuch as love thy ſalvation, ſay continually, The Lord be magnified. 17 But I am poor and needy, yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer, make no tarrying, O my God.

In this Pſalm, David thankfully acknowledges God's Goodneſs to him, in delivering him from ſome great Danger; it is not certain what; but may be applied either to the Diſtreſs he was reduced to by his Enemies, as we read in the Pſalm foregoing, or to the Sickneſs God had inflicted on him, or to both, mentioned Pſ. xxxviii. And then declares his Reſolution to ſerve God faithfully and chearfully, in ſuch Words as may be better applied to Chriſt's Readineſs to do the Will of God, tho' it were by dying for us.

But it ſeems this Deliverance was not ſo complete, but that ſtill he was infeſted with many Enemies; and therefore in the latter Part of the Pſalm he commends himſelf ſtill to God's merciful Providence, beſeeching him to finiſh what he had begun, by continuing to be his Deliverer.

Then ſaid I, Lo, I come; in the Volume of the Book it is written of me] Theſe Words, ſays Pool, do truly and literally belong to Chriſt, and the Senſe is this: Since thou requireſt a better Sacrifice than thoſe of the Law, Lo, I do offer myſelf to come, and I will in due Time come, to wit, from Heaven, or in the Fleſh, or into the World, as this Phraſe is more fully expreſſed and explained in divers Places in Scripture, particularly Heb. x. 5. where this Paſſage is explained and applied to Chriſt. — In the Volume of the Book. Volume and Book are indifferently uſed of any Writing, and both Words ſeem here to expreſs the ſame Thing, as may appear by comparing Jer. xxxiv. where we have the ſame Words, and what is called the Roll, or Volume, Ver. 6, 20. and the Book, Ver. 10, 13. it being uſual with the Hebrews to join two Words together in like Manner; of which we have an Inſtance in Ver. 2. of this Pſalm, miry Clay, Heb. Clay of Mire. Now by this Volume of the Book, is meant either, 1. Of the Predeſtination in which Chriſt was written, as being foreordained before the Foundation of the World, 1 Pet. i. 20. But that is a ſecret Book not to be read by any living, and therefore not fitly alledged as an Evidence in this Matter

ter. Or, 2. Of a legal Inſtrument, wherein the Contract was drawn betwixt God and him, wherein he obliged himſelf to ſerve God, and to execute his Will in all Things; it being the Manner of the Hebrews to write their Contracts in a little Volume or Book. But, 1. We read of no ſuch Uſage among the Hebrews, in the Contracts between Maſter aud Servant, but only of the boring of the Servant's Ear, Exod. xxi. 6. So the Foundation of this Alluſion is deſtroyed. 2. At leaſt, there was no ſuch Contract written between God and him. And if it be ſaid, that he only ſpeaks thus by Way of Alluſion, this is but a Suppoſition without Ground. And as the Words may be properly underſtood as they ſound, of a Thing really done, why ſhould we forſake the plain Senſe without Neceſſity? 3. The Phraſe here uſed agrees not to this Senſe; for then he ſhould have ſaid, I am written in the Volume of the Book, i. e. in the Catalogue of thy Servants; for in that Caſe, the Perſons or their Names, are conſtantly ſaid to be written, as Exod. xxxii. 32, 33. Pſ. lxix. 28. Dan. xii. 1. Luke x. 20. Heb. xii. 23. Rev. xiii. 8. and xx. 15. and not any Thing to be written of them, as it is here. Or, 3. Of the holy Scriptures: In which ſomething indeed was written concerning David, namely, That he was a Man after God's own Heart, 1 Sam. xiii. 14. But it muſt be remembered, that thoſe Books were not written till after David's Death, in whoſe Time there was no Book of Scripture extant, but the five Books of Moſes, unleſs you except that of Job. And therefore this is meant of the Law of Moſes, which is commonly and emphatically called the Book, and was made up in the Form of a Roll or Volume, as the Hebrew Books generally were, Ezek. iii. 1, &c. And ſo this Place manifeſtly points to Chriſt, and muſt neceſſarily be underſtood of him only, concerning whom much is ſaid in the Books of Moſes, as is evident from Luke xxiv. 27, 44. John v. 46. Acts iii. 22. and xxvi. 22. and xxviii. 32. and this Senſe being plain, natural, and unforced, and exactly agreeing both in the Words and Truth of the Thing, and the Belief of all Chriſtians, I ſee no Reaſon why we may not acquieſce in it.

PSAL. XLI.

He is bleſſed who conſiders the Poor. David confeſſes his Sins, and complains of the Treachery of his Enemies; but flies to God for Succour.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is he that conſidereth the poor; the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. 2 The Lord will preſerve him, and keep him alive, and he ſhall be bleſſed upon the earth; and thou wilt not deliver him into the will of his enemies. 3 The Lord will ſtrengthen him upon the bed of languiſhing: thou wilt make all his bed in his ſickneſs. 4 I ſaid, Lord, be merciful unto me; heal my ſoul, for I have ſinned againſt thee. 5 Mine enemies ſpeak evil of me: when ſhall he die, and his name periſh? 6 And if he come to ſee me, he ſpeaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to it ſelf, when he goeth abroad, he telleth it. 7 All that hate me whiſper together againſt me: againſt me do they deviſe my hurt. 8 An evil diſeaſe, ſay they, cleaveth faſt unto him: and now that he lieth, he ſhall riſe up no more. 9 Yea, mine own familiar friend in whom I truſted, which did eat of my bread, hath lift up his heel againſt me. 10 But thou, O Lord, be merciful unto me, and raiſe me up, that I may requite them. 11 By this I know that thou favoureſt me, becauſe mine enemy doth not triumph over me. 12 And as for me, thou upholdeſt me in mine integrity, and ſetteſt me before thy face for ever. 13 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, from everlaſting, and to everlaſting. Amen and amen.

Tho' ſome will have this Pſalm to have been compoſed by David, only upon Occaſion of that great Streight, into which he was brought by the Rebellion of his Son Abſalom; yet it is the more common Opinion, and ſeems more probable, that he had been alſo lately very ſick. And then finding, by ſad Experience, what an Aggravation it was of his Affliction, to ſee his Enemies ſo barbarous as to rejoice at it, and wiſh his Death; nay, his Friends, eſpecially ſome particular Friend (who was a Type of the Traytor Judas) not only take no Pity on him, but prove falſe and perfidious to him: He, in the firſt Place, highly commends and bleſſes that Temper of Mind, which inclines Men to be pitiful and compaſſionate to thoſe that are ſick, and aſſures ſuch Perſons that they ſhall feel the happy Fruits of it; and then complains moſt heavily of their Inhumanity, who inſulted over him in his Calamity, and with reproachful Words, and vile Calumnies, exaſperated the Grief of his Mind. On which he hoped God, who loves merciful Men, would take Compaſſion, and put him into a Condition to chaſtize their Inſolence.

PSAL. XLII.

The Pſalmiſt being deprived of God's Service, ardently deſires to be in his Houſe again. He calls upon his Soul to truſt in God; his Enemies reproach him; his Faith in God.

To the chief Muſician, Maſchil, for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. AS the hart panteth after the water brooks, ſo panteth my ſoul after thee, O God. 2 My ſoul thirſteth for God, for the living God: when ſhall I come and appear before God? 3 My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually ſay unto me, Where is thy God? 4 When I remember theſe things, I pour out my ſoul in me; for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the houſe of God; with the voice of joy and praiſe, with a multitude that kept holy-day. 5 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted in me? hope thou in God; for I ſhall yet praiſe him for the help of his countenance. 6 O my God, my ſoul is caſt down within me: therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites from the hill Mizar. 7 Deep calleth unto deep at the noiſe of thy water-ſpouts: all thy waves and thy billows are gone over me. 8 Yet the Lord will command his loving-kindneſs in the day-time, and in the night his ſong ſhall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life. 9 I will ſay unto God my rock, Why haſt thou forgotten me? why go I mourning becauſe of the oppreſſion of the enemy? 10 As with a ſword in my bones, mine enemies reproach me; while they ſay daily unto me, Where is thy God? 11 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? hope thou in God, for I ſhall yet praiſe him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

Here, ſays Patrick, begins the Second of the five Books of Pſalms, according to the Hebrew Diviſion. All thoſe of the former Book, except Four, have the Name of David prefixed to them, as the Author of them; and ſo were put together by him that collected them into one Volume. But in this Second Book, the firſt Part of it conſiſts of Pſalms entitled to the Sons of Korah; as ſeveral learned Men underſtand the Inſcriptions; who imagine that ſome holy Men among the compoſed theſe Pſalms in the Time of the Captivity. But I ſhall follow our Engliſh Tranſlation, and take this Pſalm (as the Septuagint and vulgar Latin do) to be directed to the Sons of Korah, to be ſet or ſung by them, under the chief Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle. And then there is little Queſtion to be made, but David indited this, and ſome of the Pſalms which have this Title; as it is certain he did moſt, if not all, of thoſe contained in the latter Part of this ſecond Book, from Pſ. l. to the End of lxxii. And this preſent Pſalm, with that which follows, ſeems to have been penn'd, either when he was under the Perſecution of Saul, or (which is more probable) when he was driven again from the Houſe of God by Abſalom. Which ſad Condition he bewails with a great Mixture of Grief, for his Baniſhment from thoſe ſweet Enjoyments which he had there; and of Hope to be reſtored to them again.

This Pſalm is the Second of thoſe thirteen, which are called Maſchil (ſee Pſ. xxxii.) by ſome here taken to be an Epithet of the Maſter of Muſick, who taught or inſtructed the Sons of Korah very ſkilfully.

PSAL. XLIII.

David prays againſt his fierce and crafty Enemies, and to be reſtored to God's Temple; promiſes to ſerve him joyfully; and encourages his Soul to truſt in God.

Ver. 1. JUdge me, O God, and plead my cauſe againſt an ungodly nation; O deliver me from the deceitful and unjuſt man. 2 For thou art the God of my ſtrength, why doſt thou caſt me off? why go I mourning becauſe of the oppreſſion of the enemy? 3 O ſend out thy light and thy truth; let them lead me, let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles. 4 Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praiſe thee, O God my God. 5 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? hope in God, for I ſhall yet praiſe him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

This Pſalm, in all Probability, was compoſed by the ſame Author as the former, (and accordingly the lxx expreſly aſcribe it to David) and upon the ſame Occaſion, when he was driven by Abſalom (who drew the whole Kingdom into the Conſpiracy) from the Houſe of God, which he loved more than his own Palace. Either therefore he deſires to be reſtored, and expreſſes a Hope of it, in the very ſame Words that he did in the Pſalm foregoing.

PSAL. XLIV.

The Church commemorates paſt Mercies; complains of divers Troubles, of which Sin was the Cauſe; profeſſes her Integrity. A fervent Prayer.

To the chief Muſician, for the Sons of Korah. Maſchil.

Ver. 1. WE have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us, what work thou didſt in their days, in the times of old. 2 How thou didſt drive out the heathen with thy hand, and plantedſt them; how thou didſt afflict the people, and caſt them out. 3 For they got not the land in poſſeſſion by their own ſword, neither did their own arm ſave them: but thy right hand, and thine arm, and the light of thy countenance, becauſe thou hadſt a favour unto them. 4 Thou art my King, O God, command deliverances for Jacob. 5 Through thee will we puſh down our enemies; through thy name will we tread them under that riſe up againſt us. 6 For I will not truſt in my bow, neither ſhall my ſword ſave me. 7 But thou haſt ſaved us from our enemies, and haſt put them to ſhame that hated us. 8 In God we boaſt all the day long: and praiſe thy name for ever. Selah. 9 But thou haſt caſt off, and put us to ſhame; and goeſt not forth with our armies. 10 Thou makeſt us to turn back from the enemy: and they which hate us ſpoil for themſelves. 11 Thou haſt given us like ſheep appointed for meat: and hath ſcattered us among the heathen. 12 Thou ſelleſt thy people for nought, and doſt not increaſe thy wealth by their price. 13 Thou makeſt us a reproach to our neighbours, a ſcorn and a deriſion to them that are round about us. 14 Thou makeſt us a by-word among the heathen: a ſhaking of the head among the people. 15 My confuſion is continually before me, and the ſhame of my face hath covered me: 16 For the voice of him that reproacheth and blaſphemeth; by reaſon of the enemy and avenger. 17 All this is come upon us; yet have we not forgotten thee, neither have we dealt falſly in thy covenant. 18 Our heart is not turned back, neither have our ſteps declined from thy way. 19 Though thou haſt ſore broken us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the ſhadow of death. 20 If we have forgotten the name of our God, or ſtretched out our hands to a ſtrange god: 21 Shall not God ſearch this out? for he knoweth the ſecrets of the heart. 22 Yea, for thy ſake are we killed all the day long; we are counted as ſheep for the ſlagher. 23 Awake, why ſleepeſt thou, O Lord? ariſe, caſt us not off for ever. 24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face? and forgetteſt our affliction, and our oppreſſion? 25 For our ſoul is bowed down to the duſt; our belly cleaveth unto the earth. 26 Ariſe for our help, and redeem us for thy mercies ſake.

This, ſays Patrick, is the third of thoſe Pſalms called Maſchil, (ſee Pſ. xxxii.) and the ſecond of thoſe directed to the Sons of Korah, (ſee Pſ. xlii.) but doth not ſeem to have been compoſed by David, as the two foregoing were: For in his Days they were not oppreſſed by foreign Enemies, as the Pſalmiſt here complains, in the Name of the whole Church, they were to ſuch a Degree, that ſome of them were made Slaves, others killed, and all of them become a Reproach. Yet I do not think it was compoſed in the Captivity of Babylon (much leſs in the Perſecution by Antiochus, as Theodoret thinks, when theſe Inſpirations were ceaſed) but before that Time, tho' long after David's Days, while their Kingdom was as yet ſtanding, and they had ſome Forces remaining, tho' God did not bleſs them with Succeſs, Ver. 9.

And if we will fix upon any particular Time, and not content ourſelves to know in general, that it was penn'd when the whole Nation was in great Diſtreſs, I can find none ſo likely as the Days of Hezekiah; who was a pious Reformer of that Church, and had reſtored the Divine Service according to the Law of Moſes, and the Ordinances of David, and taken Care the Prieſts and Levites ſhould not only do their Duty, but have their Tithes paid them punctually; and yet notwithſtanding was invaded by the King of Aſſyria, (ſee 2 Chron. xxix. xxx. xxxi.) who did not merely make ſome Inroads upon them, and carry away a great many People, but took all the fenced Cities, and came before Jeruſalem with a great Army, 2 Kings xviii. 13,

17. Iſa. xxxvi. 1. In this Streight that good King, (or ſome other divine Perſon, 2 Chron. xxix. 25.) indited this Pſalm; wherein he remembers what God had done for their Anceſtors; and conſidering he was ſtill their King, thought they might have hoped for the like Victories, of which they could not but ſtill boaſt and glory. But alas! it fell out quite contrary, for, when they expected his Help, he deliver'd them up into their Enemies Hands, and that when they were the true Worſhippers of him, and for his Sake were ſlain all the Day long. The Conſideration of which, he hoped, would move God at length to take Compaſſion upon them, and ariſe for their Deliverance.

This is the beſt Account I can give of this Pſalm; and we need not ſcruple to think there were Pſalmodiſts in Hezekiah's Days; for, after that, we find this Gift remained with the Prophets. For Inſtance, it is viſible in Habakkuk; who compoſed a Prayer after the Manner of David's Pſalms, as we read in the laſt Chapter of his Prophecy; where there are ſeveral Words, which are to be met with no where, but in the Book of Pſalms; ſuch as Sigionoth, Selah, and Neginoth.

PSAL. XLV.

The Pſalmiſt celebrates the Majeſty and Grace of Chriſt's Kingdom; and the Glory and Excellency of the Church by his Graces.

To the chief Muſician upon Shuſhannim, for the Sons of Korah, Maſchil. A Song of Loves.

Ver. 1. MY heart is inditing a good matter: I ſpeak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer. 2 Thou art fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into thy lips: therefore God hath bleſſed thee for ever. 3 Gird thy ſword upon thy thigh, O moſt mighty: with thy glory and thy majeſty. 4 And in thy majeſty ride proſperouſly, becauſe of truth and meekneſs and righteouſneſs: and thy right hand ſhall teach thee terrible things. 5 Thine arrows are ſharp in the heart of the kings enemies; whereby the people fall under thee. 6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the ſceptre of thy kingdom is a right ſceptre. 7 Thou loveſt righteouſneſs, and hateſt wickedneſs: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oyl of gladneſs above thy fellows. 8 All thy garments ſmell of myrrhe, and aloes, and caſſia; out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad. 9 Kings daughters were among thy honourable women: upon thy right hand did ſtand the queen in gold of Ophir. 10 Hearken, O daughter, and conſider, and incline thine ear; forget alſo thine own people and thy fathers houſe. 11 So ſhall the king greatly deſire thy beauty: for he is thy Lord, and worſhip thou him. 12 And the daughter of Tyre ſhall be there with a gift, even the rich among the people ſhall intreat thy favour. 13 The kings daughter is all glorious within; her cloathing is of wrought gold. 14 She ſhall be brought unto the king in raiment of needle-work: the virgins her companions that follow her ſhall be brought unto thee. 15 With gladneſs and rejoicing ſhall they be brought: they ſhall enter into the kings palace. 16 Inſtead of thy fathers ſhall be thy children, whom thou mayeſt make princes in all the earth. 17 I will make thy name to be remembred in all generations: therefore ſhall the people praiſe thee for ever and ever.

The foregoing Pſalm (Biſhop Patrick obſerves) is not more ſad and mournful, than this is joyful and comfortable, promiſing the moſt glorious things to them. The Author of it is not named; but it was delivered, as the former, to the Maſter of Muſick, for the Uſe of God's Service in the Tabernacle; to be ſung upon Shuſhannim (by which we may underſtand all thoſe Inſtruments that had ſix Strings) by the Sons of Korah, to the known Tune of Maſchil (ſee Pſ. xxxii.) and being a Song of Loves, as the Title tells us, and (alluding plainly to the Name of Jedidiah given to Solomon by Nathan the Prophet, 2 Sam xii. 25.) moſt Interpreters conclude it was compoſed upon the Occaſion, at leaſt of Solomon's Marriage with Pharaoh's Daughter; who, it is moſt probable, was a Proſelite to the Jewiſh Religion.

Some few indeed will not allow ſo much as this, that there is any Reſpect to Solomon at all in this Pſalm, but only to Chriſt. And the Truth is, many of the Expreſſions in it are ſo magnificent, that they can but in a very poor and low Senſe be applied to Solomon and his Bride, and ſome of them ſcarce at all. Tho', on the contrary Side, other Expreſſions ſeem ſo plainly to belong to him, that they can no other Way, but by an Allegory be applied to our Saviour: It being ſo apparent, that no Chriſtian can deny it, that the Mind of the Prophet, while he was writing ſome Part of this Pſalm; was carried quite beyond King Solomon, to the great King, the Lord Chriſt; or, at leaſt he was guided to uſe Words ſo high, that they proved too big for Solomon; and we muſt ſay, as our Saviour doth in another Caſe, Behold, a greater than Solomon is here. And ſo the beſt of the Jewiſh Interpreters acknowledge.

PSAL. XLVI.

The Confidence and ſafe Condition of the Church under God's Care, manifeſted in his wonderful Deliverance of her from her Enemies.

To the chief Muſician, for the Sons of Korah. A Song upon Alamoth.

Ver. 1. GOD is our refuge and ſtrength, a very preſent help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midſt of the ſea. 3 Though the waters thereof roar, and be troubled, though the mountains ſhake with the ſwelling thereof. Selah. 4 There is a river, the ſtreams whereof ſhall make glad the city of God: the holy place of the tabernacles of the moſt High. 5 God is in the midſt of her; ſhe ſhall not be moved: God ſhall help her, and that right early. 6 The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved: he uttered his voice, the earth melted. 7 The Lord of hoſts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah. 8 Come, behold the works of the Lord, what deſolations he hath made in the earth. 9 He maketh wars to ceaſe unto the end of the earth, he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the ſpear in ſunder, he burneth the chariot in the fire. 10 Be ſtill, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth. 11 The Lord of hoſts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

It is not known to what Time this Pſalm belongs (about which there are ſeveral Conjectures) nor who was the Author of it. I ſhall ſuppoſe it, ſays Patrick, to have been made by David, or ſome of the Sons of Korah, after thoſe great Victories which he won over ſeveral Nations, mentioned 2 Sam. viii. 10. For one may ſee, that it is a pious Triumph in God, ſome remarkable Deliverance from very powerful Enemies; and there are none we can find in the hiſtorical Books, to whom it can more probably relate, than to thoſe there recorded. Of which great Victories it was fit there ſhould be ſome thankful Monument left to Poſterity; whereby they might be encouraged to hope in God, and not ſuffer themſelves to be diſmayed at the Sight of the moſt numerous Armies, that might be gathered againſt them, if they adhered faithfully to their Duty. And therefore this Pſalm was delivered to the Maſter of Muſick, to be ſung in the Tabernacle upon Alamoth; of which Mention is made 1 Chron. xv. 20. and is thought to be ſome Tune then in common Uſe, or ſome Kind of Muſical Inſtrument unknown to us; in which young Virgins, as ſome fancy, took a peculiar Delight, and were wont to play upon it, which they make the Reaſon and Original of its Name.

PSAL. XLVII.

The Church is exhorted to praiſe God, who ſubdues his Enemies, and gives her an excellent Inheritance. A Promiſe of calling and gathering the Gentiles.

To the chief Muſician, a Pſalm for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. O Clap your hands all ye people, ſhout unto God with the voice of triumph: 2 For the Lord moſt high is terrible; he is a great King over all the earth. 3 He ſhall ſubdue the people under us, and the nations under our feet. 4 He ſhall chooſe our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved. Selah. 5 God is gone up with a ſhout, the Lord with the ſound of a trumpet. 6 Sing praiſes to God, ſing praiſes: ſing praiſes unto our King, ſing praiſes. 7 For God is the King of all the earth, ſing ye praiſes with underſtanding. 8 God reigneth over the heathen: God ſitteth upon the throne of his holineſs. 9 The princes of the people are gathered together, even the people of the God of Abraham: for the ſhields of the earth belong unto God: he is greatly exalted.

This Pſalm is thought by ſome to have been compoſed by David (tho' his Name be not in the Title) when he tranſlated the Ark (which was the Token of the Divine Preſence with them) either from Kirjath-jearim, with the moſt ſolemn Pomp, and all Sorts of Muſick, 2 Sam. vi. 5. or from the Houſe of Obed Edom into Mount Sion, Ver. 14, 15. Others think it was compoſed by ſome of the Sons of Korah, when the Ark was again tranſlated by Solomon, with the like Rejoicing, 2 Chron. v. 2, 12, 13.) from Mount Sion to the Houſe which he had built for it on the neighbouring Mountain. And there may be a third Conjecture allowed, that it was made after ſome great Victory which God had given them over their Enemies; and ſung as they followed the Ark back to its Dwelling-place, from whence it had been carried before them to the Battle. There is no doubt but one or other of theſe Triumphs gave Occaſion to it: And the Ark being a Figure of Chriſt, and that Mountain was of the Heavens, the Tranſlation or carrying back of the Ark thither, may be looked upon as a Figure of Chriſt's Aſcenſion (after he had dwelt here a while in a meaner Place, and conquered Death) unto the high and holy Place, where he is now at God's right Hand in the Heavens. And with Relation to this alone, the antient Fathers expound this Pſalm; which may be eaſily applied, in the myſtical Senſe, unto that Buſineſs.

PSAL. XLVIII.

The Prophet declares the Glory and Excellency of the Church, preſerved from her potent Enemies; for which God is glorified, and the Faithful invited to take Notice of its Beauty and Firmneſs.

A Song and Pſalm, for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. GReat is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed in the city of our God, in the mountain of his holineſs. 2 Beautiful for ſituation, the joy of the whole earth is mount Zion, on the ſides of the north, the city of the great King. 3 God is known in her palaces for a refuge. 4 For lo, the kings were aſſembled, they paſſed by together. 5 They ſaw it, and ſo they marvelled, they were troubled and haſted away. 6 Fear took hold upon them there, and pain as of a woman in travail. 7 Thou breakeſt the ſhips of Tarſhiſh with an eaſt-wind. 8 As we have heard, ſo have we ſeen in the city of the Lord of hoſts, in the city of our God, God will eſtabliſh it for ever. Selah. 9 We have thought of thy loving-kindneſs, O God, in the midſt of thy temple. 10 According to thy name, O God, ſo is thy praiſe unto the ends of the earth: thy right hand is full of righteouſneſs. 11 Let mount Zion rejoice, let the daughters of Judah be glad, becauſe of thy judgments. 12 Walk about Zion, and go round about her: tell the towers thereof. 13 Mark ye well her bulwarks, conſider her palaces; that ye may tell it to the generation following. 14 For this God is our God for ever and ever; he will be our guide even unto death.

This Pſalm was compoſed upon Occaſion of ſome eminent Deliverance, vouchſafed by God to the City of Jeruſalem, from ſome potent Enemy, or dreadful Danger; either that in Jehoſhaphat's Time, when a Combination of Kings, as intimated Ver. 4. had joined their Forces together againſt him, with an Intention, as ſeems probable, to fall upon Jeruſalem, 2 Chron. xx. or that under Hezekiah, when the King of Aſſyria's Army, under Sennacherib, had actually begirt that City, 2 Kings xviii. 19. In both which Times there were holy Prophets, by ſome of whom this Pſalm might be made; deſcribing the Glory and Excellency of the Church, under the Figure of Jeruſalem, preſerved from her potent Enemies, whereby God is glorified, and the Faithful exhorted to contemplate her Beauty and Stability, and tranſmit it to ſucceeding Generations.

PSAL. XLIX.

The Pſalmiſt ſhews the Vanity of truſting in Riches; and exhorts them not to fear the Proſperity of the Wicked, ſince it cannot deliver him from the Grave.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. HEar this, all ye people, give ear all ye inhabitants of the world: 2 Both low and high, rich and poor together. 3 My mouth ſhall ſpeak of wiſdom: and the meditation of my heart ſhall be of underſtanding. 4 I will incline mine ear to a parable; I will open my dark ſaying upon the harp. 5 Wherefore ſhould I fear in the days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels ſhall compaſs me about? 6 They that truſt in their wealth, and boaſt themſelves themſelves in the multitude of their riches: 7 None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ranſom for him: 8 (For the redemption of their ſoul is precious, and it ceaſeth for ever) 9 That he ſhould ſtill live for ever, and not ſee corruption. 10 For he ſeeth that wiſe men die, likewiſe the fool and the brutiſh perſon periſh and leave their wealth to others. 11 Their inward thought is, that their houſes ſhall continue for ever, and their dwelling-places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names. 12 Nevertheleſs, man being in honour, abideth not: he is like the beaſts that periſh. 13 This their way is their folly; yet their poſterity approve their ſayings. Selah. 14 Like ſheep they are laid in the grave, death ſhall feed on them; and the upright ſhall have dominion over them in the morning, their beauty ſhall conſume in the grave, from their dwelling. 15 But God will redeem my ſoul from the power of the grave; for he ſhall receive me. Selah. 16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his houſe is increaſed. 17 For when he dieth, he ſhall carry nothing away: his glory ſhall not deſcend after him. 18 Though whiles he lived, he bleſſed his ſoul: and men will praiſe thee, when thou doeſt well to thy ſelf. 19 He ſhall go to the generation of his fathers, they ſhall never ſee light. 20 Man that is in honour and underſtandeth not, is like the beaſts that periſh.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been penn'd upon the ſame Occaſion with Pſ. xxxix. and lxxiii. upon the Contemplation of the Affliction of the People of God, and the Proſperity and Glory of ungodly Men.

Wherefore ſhould I fear in the Days of Evil, when the Iniquity of my Heels ſhall compaſs me about] Thus paraphraſed by Patrick: I intend not to neglect the Counſel I give to others, and therefore I ſhall aſk myſelf the Queſtion, I mean to anſwer: What Cauſe is there that I ſhould be troubled with Fears, and Cares, and Anxiety of Mind in calamitous Times, when the Iniquity of thoſe that endeavour to ſupplant me, hath ſurrounded on all Sides, and left me no way to eſcape them?

Pool obſerves, that the Iniquity of his Enemies, as he explains it, is here noted to be exerciſed about his Heels and Footſteps, as this Word ſignifies, either becauſe they malignantly obſerved all his Footſteps or Ways, that they might have Occaſion to load him with Reproaches, in order to his Ruin; or becauſe they purpoſed to trip up his Heels, or to overthrow his Goings, as he complains, Pſ. cxl. 4. Beſides, the Words may be rendered, the Iniquity of my Supplanters; for the Hebrew Word rendered Heels, may be, and is by ſome learned Interpreters, taken for a Particle of that Verb, which ſignifies to ſupplant, or trip up the Heels, or circumvent; from whence Jacob had his Name. And this Character fitly agrees with David's Enemies, who were not only moſt malicious, but alſo very deceitful and treacherous, as he every where complains.

PSALM L.

God comes with great Majeſty into his Church, and gathers his Saints together; teſtifies he has no Pleaſure in Ceremonies, but in Sincerity and Obedience; threatens the Wicked for contemning his Word; and ſhews who it is that glorifies him.

A Pſalm of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. THE almighty God, even the Lord hath ſpoken, and called the earth from the riſing of the ſun, unto the going down thereof. 2 Out of Zion the perfection of beauty, God hath ſhined. 3 Our God ſhall come, and ſhall not keep ſilence: a fire ſhall devour before him, and it ſhall be very tempeſtuous round about him. 4 He ſhall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people. 5 Gather my ſaints together unto me: thoſe that have made a covenant with me by ſacrifice. 6 And the heavens ſhall declare his righteouſneſs: for God is judge himſelf. Selah. 7 Hear, O my people, and I will ſpeak: O Iſrael, and I will teſtifie againſt thee: I am God, even thy God. 8 I will not reprove thee for thy ſacrifices, or thy burnt-offerings, to have been continually before me. 9 I will take no bullock out of thy houſe, nor he-goats out of thy folds. 10 For every beaſt of the foreſt is mine, and the cattle upon a thouſand hills. 11 I know all the fowls of the mountains: and the wild beaſts of the field are mine. 12 If I were hungry, I would not tell thee, for the world is mine, and the fulneſs thereof. 13 Will I eat the fleſh of bulls, and drink the blood of goats? 14 Offer unto God thankſgiving, and pay thy vows unto the moſt High. 15 And call upon me in the day of trouble; I will deliver thee, and thou ſhalt glorifie me. 16 But unto the wicked, God ſaith, What haſt thou to do to declare my ſtatutes, or that thou ſhouldeſt take my covenant in thy mouth? 17 Seeing thou hateſt inſtruction, and caſteth my words behind thee. 18 When thou ſaweſt a thief, then thou conſentedſt with him, and haſt been partaker with adulterers. 19 Thou giveſt thy mouth to evil, and thy tongue frameth deceit. 20 Thou ſitteſt and ſpeakeſt againſt thy brother; thou ſlandereſt thine own mothers ſon. 21 Theſe things haſt thou done, and I kept ſilence: thou thoughteſt that I was altogether ſuch a one as thy ſelf: but I will reprove thee, and ſet them in order before thine eyes. 22 Now conſider this, ye that forget God, leſt I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver. 23 Whoſo offereth praiſe, glorifieth me: and to him that ordereth his converſation aright, will I ſhew the ſalvation of God.

The Author of this Pſalm, the Title tells us, (as we tranſlate it) was Aſaph, who compoſed ſeveral Songs as well as David, for the Uſe of the Tabernacle, as we read 2 Chron. xxix. 30. But whether he was Aſaph the Levite, who lived in the ſame Age with David, or ſome other Prophet in after Times, cannot be certainly reſolved. It ſeems to me, ſays Patrick, that it was not the former, becauſe he is never, as I remember, called Aſaph the Seer, as the other is, whoſe Pſalms Hezekiah cauſed to be ſung together with thoſe of David. And therefore I judge it moſt likely, that he lived in after Times, in the Reign of ſome pious Prince ſuch as Jehoſhaphat; or, which is moſt probable, in the Days of Hezekiah himſelf (ſee Pſ. xliv.) who, tho' he had reformed the Worſhip of God, yet could not amend Mens Minds; but there ſtill remained, this Prophet obſerved, Abundance of Hypocriſy among them both among the People, who placed all Religion in Sacrifices, and other external Rites and Ceremonies; and among the Doctors of the Law, and the Judges, who taught the People their Duty, but obſerved none of thoſe Precepts themſelves, which they expounded to others.

PSAL. LI.

David confeſſes his Sins, and prays for Remiſſion, and for the Renovation of the Holy Spirit to ſupport himſelf, and inſtruct others; promiſes ſincere Thankfulneſs, and prays for the Good of the whole Church.

To the chief Muſician, a Pſalm of David, when Nathan the Prophet came unto him, after he had gone in to Bathſheba.

Ver. 1. HAve mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving-kindneſs: according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my tranſgreſſions. 2 Waſh me throughly from mine iniquity, and cleanſe me from my ſin. 3 For I acknowledge my tranſgreſſions: and my ſin is ever before me. 4 Againſt thee, thee only have I ſinned, and done this evil in thy ſight: that thou mighteſt be juſtified when thou ſpeakeſt, and be clear when thou judgeſt. 5 Behold, I was ſhapen in iniquity: and in ſin did my mother conceive me. 6 Behold, thou deſireſt truth in the inward parts: and in the hidden part thou ſhalt make me to know wiſdom. 7 Purge me with hyſſop, and I ſhall be clean: waſh me, and I ſhall be whiter than ſnow. 8 Make me to hear joy and gladneſs; that the bones which thou haſt broken, may rejoice. 9 Hide thy face from my ſins; and blot out all mine iniquities. 10 Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right ſpirit within me. 11 Caſt me not away from thy preſence; and take not thy Holy Spirit from me. 12 Reſtore unto me the joy of thy ſalvation: and uphold me with thy free Spirit. 13 Then will I teach tranſgreſſors thy ways, and ſinners ſhall be converted unto thee. 14 Deliver me from blood-guiltineſs, O God, thou God of my ſalvation: and my tongue ſhall ſing aloud of thy righteouſneſs. 15 O Lord, open thou my lips, and my mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy praiſe. 16 For thou deſireſt not ſacrifice, elſe would I give it: thou delighteſt not in burnt-offering. 17 The ſacrifices of God are a broken ſpirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not deſpiſe. 18 Do good in thy good pleaſure unto Zion: build thou the walls of Jeruſalem. 19 Then ſhalt thou be pleaſed with the ſacrifices of righteouſneſs, with burnt-offering and whole burnt-offering: then ſhall they offer bullocks upon thine altar.

Here now begins a new Collection of ſome Pſalms, of which David was the Author; which I ſuppoſe, ſays Origen, were found after the firſt Book was publiſhed, and the ſecond begun; to the End of which from this place they continue, as we read Pſ. lxxii. ult. For, though the Author of the two laſt before that, be not mentioned in the Title; yet the very Matter of them, as well as the Concluſion of the Book, aſſures they were compoſed by David: Who, in this fifty firſt Pſalm, (as the Title tells us) moſt ſadly bewails the Sin which he had committed with Bathſheba, and thoſe that followed it. In which he had alſo continued for ſome time, till Nathan the Prophet came with a Meſſage from God to reprove him, and to pronounce a very ſad Judgment againſt him and his Family for his Sin.

After this Divine Reprehenſion and Threatning, he was very much humbled, and, to make himſelf as notable an Example of true Repentance, as he had been of Wickedneſs, he compoſed this Penitential Hymn; and ſent it to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle, to be uſed perpetually there, as a Teſtimony of his unfeigned Sorrow for what he had done, and of the miſerable Condition he thought himſelf in, without the infinite Mercy of God to him: Which he begs with the greateſt Earneſtneſs; together with the Aſſiſtance of his Grace, which he promiſes to employ for the reducing other Sinners; beſeeching him withal to be favourable to his People, eſpecially to the City of Jeruſalem; and not let them and that ſuffer for his Offences.

PSAL. LII.

David reproves the Inſolence of Doeg, and propheſies his Deſtruction; but places his own Truſt and Confidence in God, and praiſes him.

To the chief Muſician, Maſchil, a Pſalm of David, when Doeg the Edomite came and told Saul, and ſaid unto him, David is come to the houſe of Ahimelech.

Ver. 1. WHy boaſteth thou thy ſelf in miſchief, O mighty man? the goodneſs of God endureth continually. 2 Thy tongue deviſeth miſchiefs: like a ſharp raſor, working deceitfully. 3 Thou loveſt evil more than good: and lying rather than to ſpeak righteouſneſs. Selah. 4 Thou loveſt all devouring words, O thou deceitful tongue. 5 God ſhall likewiſe deſtroy thee for ever, he ſhall take thee away, and pluck thee out of thy dwelling-place, and root thee out of the land of the living. Selah. 6 The righteous alſo ſhall ſee, and fear, and ſhall laugh at him. 7 Lo, this is the man that made not God his ſtrength: but truſted in the abundance of his riches, and ſtrengthned himſelf in his wickedneſs. 8 But I am like a green olive-tree in the houſe of God: I truſt in the mercy of God for ever and ever. 9 I will praiſe thee for ever, becauſe thou haſt done it: and I will wait on thy name, for it is good before thy ſaints.

The Title ſufficiently inſtructs every one about the Author, and the Occaſion of this Pſalm, if they will but read the Hiſtory to which it directs them, in 1 Sam. xxii. And it was afterwards deliver'd to the Maſter of the Muſick in the Tabernacle, to be ſung in perpetual Memory of the Thing, to the vulgar Tune called Maſchil, (ſee Pſ. xxxii.) or, as Theodoret ſeems here to expound the Word, to fortify thoſe with Patience and Conſtancy, who unjuſtly ſuffer, by inſtructing them in the Juſtice of the Divine Sentence in the Iſſue.

PSAL. LIII.

David deſcribes the Atheiſm and Corruption of Men, and convinces the Wicked by the Light of their own Conſcience. He glories in the Salvation of God.

To the chief Muſician upon Mahalath, Maſchil. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THe fool hath ſaid in his heart, There is no God; corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that doeth good. 2 God looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to ſee if there were any that did underſtand, that did ſeek God. 3 Every one of them is gone back, they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no not one. 4 Have the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people, as they eat bread, they have not called upon God. 5 There were they in great fear, where no fear was: for God hath ſcattered the bones of him that encampeth againſt thee, thou haſt put them to ſhame, becauſe God hath deſpiſed them. 6 O that the ſalvation of Iſrael were come out of Zion! when God bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob ſhall rejoice, and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

This Pſalm, and the fourteenth, differ ſo little, that it hath troubled Interpreters to give a Reaſon for a Repetition of the ſame Thing, almoſt in the ſame Words. There is ſome Variation indeed in every Verſe, but it is merely the Change of one Word for another of the ſame Import; (as for Example, GOD for LORD, Ver. 2, 4, 9.) except only Ver. 5. where there is a much greater Alteration; and the Sixth wholly omitted; which makes it probable that there was ſome new Occaſion for uſing this Hymn again, tho' an Occaſion exceeding like the former. And as the former related to the Apoſtacy of the People under Abſalom, as it's generally ſuppos'd, ſo this, as Patrick conjectures, was made on the new Revolt of the Iſraelites, before David had quite recover'd Jeruſalem, by Sheba's Sedition, and every Man of Iſrael, it is ſaid, left David, and followed after him, 2 Sam. xx. 2.

This, David deſired ſhould be commemorated, together with his Deliverance from Abſalom's Rebellion, and therefore making a Review of the xivth Pſalm, (wherein that Diſtreſs is deſcribed) he delivers it again to the Maſter of Muſick (as appeared after the firſt Collection of the Book of Pſalms was finiſhed) with ſome ſmall Alterations, relating to this new Buſineſs; deſiring God, for Inſtance, to give them ſtill ſome farther and new Salvation, Ver. 6. For the Word here is in the plural Number, but in the xivth Pſalm in the ſingular; and ſo may be render'd complete Salvation, which he implores with the ſame Earneſtneſs he had done before, and orders alſo how the Pſalm ſhould be ſung upon Mahalath, or the hollow Inſtrument, (Flute or Pipe) to the Tune of Maſchil, (or as a Caveat againſt Rebellion, ſee Pſ. xxii.)

If any be not ſatisfied with this Account of the Pſalm, becauſe of the Word Captivity in the laſt Verſe, which they may think ought to be taken properly; then they may ſuppoſe the Pſalm to have been reviewed by Aſaph the Seer in the Days of Hezekiah, when Abundance of the People had been indeed carried captive, Iſa. v. 13. But there is no Need to have Recourſe to this; for the Word Captivity imports no more, in ſome Places, but only great Deſolation; ſuch as was made of Job's Eſtate and Family, Ch. xlii. 10. and by the Philiſtines, when Shiloh was deſtroyed, Judg. xviii. 30, 31.

PSAL. LIV.

David prays for God's Protection, and the juſt Puniſhment of his Enemies; and promiſes a free Sacrifice of Thankſgiving.

To the chief Muſician on Neginoth, Maſchil, a Pſalm of David, when the Ziphites came and ſaid to Saul, Doth not David hide himſelf with us?

Ver. 1. SAve me, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy ſtrength. 2 Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth. 3 For ſtrangers are riſen up againſt me, and oppreſſors ſeek after my ſoul; they have not ſet God before them. Selah. 4 Behold God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that uphold my ſoul. 5 He ſhall reward evil unto mine enemies; cut them off in thy truth. 6 I will freely ſacrifice unto thee; I will praiſe thy name, O Lord, for it is good. 7 For he hath delivered me out of all trouble; and mine eye hath ſeen his deſire upon mine enemies.

The Occaſion of this Pſalm, as we read in the Title, we find recorded in 1 Sam. xxiii. In his Diſtreſs he made his Addreſs to God by Prayer in the Words of the three firſt Verſes of this Pſalm: But on a ſudden (hearing, I ſuppoſe, ſays Patrick, how Saul himſelf was alarm'd with the News of an Invaſion) he breaks out Ver. 4, 5. into Admiration of God's Goodneſs. And when the Danger was quite over, added, I ſuppoſe, the two laſt Verſes; wherein he expreſſes with what Joy he took a View from the Mountains where he lay hid, of Saul's Forces as they retreated. Which was a Thing ſo memorable, that, when he came to the Kingdom, he deliver'd the Whole to the Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle, to be ſung as the ivth Pſalm, to the Tune of Maſchil.

PSAL. LV.

David, in his Diſtreſs, prays that God would ſtrate the Projects of cruel Enemies; and ſtrengthens himſelf with God's Protection, and be Enemies utter Deſtruction.

To the chief Muſician on Neginoth. Maſchil. Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. GIve ear to my prayer, O God: and hide not thy ſelf from my ſupplication. 2 Attend unto me, and hear me: I mourn in my complaint, and make a noiſe, 3 Because of the voice of the enemy, becauſe of the oppreſſion of the wicked: for they caſt iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me. 4 My heart is ſore pained within me: and the terrors of death are fallen upon me. 5 Fearfulneſs and trembling are come upon me, and horror hath overwhelmed me. 6 And I ſaid, O that I had wings like a dove; for then would I flie away, and be at reſt. 7 Lo, then would I wander afar off, and remain in the wilderneſs. Selah. 8 I would haſten my eſcape from the windy ſtorm and tempeſt. 9 Deſtroy, O Lord, and divide their tongues: for I have ſeen violence and ſtrife in the city. 10 Day and night they go about it upon the walls thereof: miſchief alſo and ſorrow are in the midſt of it. 11 Wickedneſs is in the midſt thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her ſtreets. 12 For it was not an enemy that reproached me, then I could have born it; neither was it he that hated me, that did magnifie himſelf againſt me, then I would have hid myſelf from him. 13 But it was thou, a man, mine equal, my guide, and mine acquaintance. 14 We took ſweet counſel together, and walked unto the houſe of God in company. 15 Let death ſeize upon them, and let them go down quick into hell: for wickedneſs is in their dwellings, and among them. 16 As for me, I will call upon God: and the Lord ſhall ſave me. 17 Evening and morning, and at noon will I pray, and cry aloud: and he ſhall hear my voice. 18 He hath delivered my ſoul in peace from the battle that was againſt me: for there were many with me. 19 God ſhall hear and afflict them, even he that abideth of old, Selah: becauſe they have no changes, therefore they fear not God. 20 He hath put forth his hands againſt ſuch as be at peace with him: he hath broken his covenant. 21 The words of his mouth were ſmoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were ſofter than oyl, yet were they drawn ſwords. 22 Caſt thy burden upon the Lord, and he ſhall ſuſtain thee: he ſhall never ſuffer the righteous to be moved. 23 But thou, O God, ſhalt bring them down into the pit of deſtruction: bloody and deceitful men ſhall not live out half their days, but I will truſt in thee.

The Complaint which David makes in the Middle of the Pſalm, that his greateſt Confident proved treacherous to him, makes it probable that it was compoſed when Abſalom's Rebellion broke out, and was forced to flee ſuddenly from Jeruſalem; and as he was going bare-foot up Mount Olivet (he and all his Company weeping) to increaſe his Sorrow, met with the News, that Achitophel was alſo among the Conſpirators, 2 Sam. xv. 31. Upon which, we read there, he preſently fell to his Prayers; and as ſoon as he came to a Place where he could reſt and retire himſelf, he repreſented, it is likely, the Sadneſs of his Condition more largely in this Pſalm; beſeeching God to diſappoint the Conſpirators, Ver. 9. Firſt, becauſe of the Violence they had committed at Jeruſalem (Ver. 9, 10, 11.) and, ſecondly, becauſe of the vile Treachery of Achitophel, from the 12th to the 15th, which ſeems to me, ſays Patrick, ought to be connected with the Beginning of the 9th Verſe; for he goes on in the 15th, to beſeech God to defeat them all, which he had begun in the 9th, but breaks off to inſert his Reaſons why he was ſo earneſt. And then in the Concluſion he exhorts all thoſe that adhered to him, not to be diſcouraged, but to caſt their Care upon the Lord; who would reward their pious Confidence in him, by protecting and delivering them, and deſtroying his and their Enemies.

PSAL. LVI.

David complains to God of his Sufferings, and magnifies his Word; is confident of God's fulfilling it, and promiſes to praiſe him for it.

To the chief Muſician upon Jonath-elem rechokim. Michtam of David, when the Philiſtines took him in Gath.

Ver. 1. BE merciful unto me, O God, for man would ſwallow me up: he fighting daily oppreſſeth me. 2 Mine enemies would daily ſwallow me up: for they be many that fight againſt me, O thou moſt High. 3 What time I am afraid, I will truſt in thee. 4 In God I will praiſe his word, in God I have put my truſt, I will not fear what fleſh can do unto me. 5 Every day they wreſt my words: all their thoughts are againſt me for evil. They gather themſelves together, they hide themſelves, they mark my ſteps when they wait for my ſoul. 7 Shall they eſcape by iniquity? in thine anger caſt down the people, O God. Thou tellеſt my wandrings, put thou my tears into thy bottle: are they not in thy book? When I cry unto thee, then ſhall mine enemies turn back: this I know, for God is for me. 10 In God will I praiſe his word: in the Lord will I praiſe his word. 11 In God have I put my truſt: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me. 12 Thy vows are upon me, O God: I will render praiſes unto thee. 13 For thou haſt delivered my ſoul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?

Jonath-elem rechokim, ſays Pool, is ſuppoſed to be the Name of a Song. But many render it as the Name of the Subject, concerning the dumb Dove afar off. Which agrees very well to David in his preſent Circumſtances. For he calls himſelf a Dove for his Innocence and Folly (which is aſcrib'd to the Dove, Hoſ. vii. 11.) in caſting himſelf into this Snare; and for his Vexation and Perſecution by his Enemies, thoſe Birds of Prey; and for his ſad and mournful Poſture. Silent he was, and it was Prudence ſo to be in that Place and Condition; for he was remote enough from his Father's Houſe, and from God's Sanctuary, where his Heart was. —In Gath; where he took Refuge, when chas'd by Saul's reſtleſs Malice; and where the following Meditations came into his Mind; which, after his Eſcape, he digeſted into this Order and Pſalm.

PSAL. LVII.

David prays for Protection and Favour in his dangerous Condition; deſcribes the wicked Projects of his Enemies, and encourages himſelf from God's Mercy to praiſe him.

To the chief Muſician, Al-taſchith. Michtam of David, when he fled from Saul in the Cave.

Ver. 1. BE merciful unto me, O God, be merciful unto me, for my ſoul truſteth in thee: yea, in the ſhadow of thy wings will I make my refuge, until theſe calamities be overpaſt. 2 I will cry unto God moſt high: unto God that performeth all things for me. 3 He ſhall ſend from heaven and ſave me from the reproach of him that would ſwallow me up; Selah. God ſhall ſend forth his mercy and his truth. 4 My ſoul is among lions, and I lie even among them that are ſet on fire, even the ſons of men, whoſe teeth are ſpears and arrows, and their tongue a ſharp ſword. 5 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens: let thy glory be above all the earth. 6 They have prepared a net for my ſteps, my ſoul is bowed down: they have digged a pit before me, into the midſt whereof they are fallen themſelves. Selah. 7 My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will ſing and give praiſe. 8 Awake up my glory, awake pſaltery and harp: I my ſelf will awake early. 9 I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the people: I will ſing unto thee among the nations. 10 For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds. 11 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens: let thy glory be above all the earth.

Al-taſchith ſignifies, deſtroy not; alluding to the Manner of the Tranſaction to which it relates. For Saul coming into the Cave, where David with his Men lay hid, ſome of them, obſerving the Advantage, would fain have diſpatch'd him, if David had not forbidden the Perſon who was ready to ſtrike the Blow, ſaying, Al-taſchith, Thou ſhalt not deſtroy him; or, deſtroy him not. So ſome expound that Word; tho' others (obſerving the ſame Word to be in the Title of the two following Pſalms, and of the lxxvth, which belongeth not to this Matter) judge it more probable, that Al-taſchith was the Beginning of ſome Song, according to which this Pſalm was to be ſung. To which, notwithſtanding, in my Opinion, ſays Patrick, it may be replied, that thoſe Three Pſalms which follow after this, had that Title prefix'd, only to ſhew, that they were to be ſung like this.

It is called Michtam for the ſame Reaſon as the former was, becauſe of the ſingular Favour which God ſhewed him in this Deliverance; more precious to him than any Jewel, and that deſerved an everlaſting Remembrance.

PSAL. LVIII.

David, reproving wicked Judges, deſcribes their Nature, and prays God to puniſh and deſtroy them, them, for his own Glory, and the Joy of the Righteous.

To the chief Muſician. Al-taſchith. Michtam of David.

Ver. 1. DO ye indeed ſpeak righteouſneſs, O congregation? do ye judge uprightly, O ye ſons of men? 2 Yea, in heart you work wickedneſs, you weigh the violence of your hands in the earth. 3 The wicked are eſtranged from the womb, they go aſtray, aſſoon as they be born, ſpeaking lies. 4 Their poiſon is like the poiſon of a ſerpent; they are like the deaf adder that ſtoppeth her ears: 5 Which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, charming never ſo wiſely. 6 Break their teeth, O God, in their mouth: break out the great teeth of the young lions, O Lord. 7 Let them melt away as waters, which run continually: when he bendeth his bow to ſhoot his arrows, let them be as cut in pieces. 8 As a ſnail which melteth, let every one of them paſs away: like the untimely birth of a woman, that they may not ſee the ſun. 9 Before your pots can feel the thorns, he ſhall take them away as with a whirlwind, both living, and in his wrath. 10 The righteous ſhall rejoice when he ſeeth the vengeance; he ſhall waſh his feet in the blood of the wicked. 11 So that a man ſhall ſay, Verily there is a reward for the righteous: verily he is a God that judgeth in the earth.

This and the next Pſalm, in order of Time, precede the foregoing. But it is an ordinary Method among the Hebrews, to go backward from the laſt to the firſt; as they ſeem to me, ſays Patrick, very plainly, in theſe three Pſalms, which have the Title of Al-taſchith. For David's firſt Eſcape, when Saul ſent to kill him, was certainly the Occaſion of Pſ. lix. and then Saul calling his Privy Council together, who, without any more ado, pronounced him guilty of High Treaſon; which is the Subject of this preſent Pſalm. And after that Saul perſecuted him with the greater Colour and Shew of Juſtice, accuſing him of the worſt of Crimes, as he complains in many Places, particularly in the Pſalm foregoing, which is called Al-taſchith, for the Reaſon there aſſign'd. This was appointed to be ſung in the ſame Manner as that, and had the ſame Name given to it, with the Title of Michtam alſo; becauſe it contains a memorable Reproof of thoſe evil Counſellors, who againſt their Conſcience had condemned David, merely to pleaſe the King, and give him a Pretence to deſtroy him. And therefore he propheſies a ſignal Vengeance ſhould overtake them, (which he would have every Body obſerve) and that ſo ſuddenly and dreadfully, that he compares it to a Miſchief which a Whirlwind does, when it carries all before it in a Moment; and particularly he remembers the Pots and Caldrons over the Fire, which ſhould ſuffer by it; to intimate, I ſuppoſe, that theſe Men were great Oppreſſors, and devoured the People; as the Prophets often complain, in that very Language, particularly Mic. iii. 2, 3. where you read how the Senators of Iſrael broke the very Bones of the Poor, and chopt them in Pieces as for the Pot, and as Fleſh within the Caldron. Which Place affords the beſt Explication, that I can find, of the 9th Verſe of this Pſalm; where I take hai and haron to refer to Thorns, and render the former green or alive, the other dry, or ſcorch'd and burnt. But whatſoever theſe Words ſignify, the Repetition of chemo before each of them, plainly denotes (to any one that underſtands the Hebrew Language) that the Things meant by thoſe Words ſhould be ſerved both alike.

PSAL. LIX.

David prays for Deliverance from his Enemies, and relates his own Innocence, and their Cruelty; he truſts in God, and prays againſt them; he promiſes Thankfulneſs to God, for being his Defence and Refuge.

To the chief Muſician. Al-taſchith. Michtam of David; when Saul ſent, and they watched the Houſe to kill him.

Ver. 1. DEliver me from mine enemies, O my God: defend me from them that riſe up againſt me. 2 Deliver me from the workers of iniquity, and ſave me from bloody men. 3 For lo, they lie in wait for my ſoul: the mighty are gathered againſt me; not for my tranſgreſſion, nor for my ſin, O Lord. 4 They run and prepare themſelves without my fault: awake to help me, and behold. 5 Thou therefore, O Lord God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, awake to viſit all the heathen: be not merciful to any wicked tranſgreſſors. Selah. 6 They return at evening: they make a noiſe like a dog, and go round about the city. 7 Behold, they belch out with their mouth: ſwords are in their lips; for who (ſay they) doth hear? 8 But thou, O Lord, ſhalt laugh at them; thou ſhalt have all the heathen in deriſion. 9 Becauſe of his ſtrength will I wait upon thee: for God is my defence. 10 The God of my mercy ſhall prevent me: God ſhall let me ſee my deſire upon mine enemies. 11 Slay them not, leſt my people forget: ſcatter them by thy power; and bring them down, O Lord our ſhield. 12 For the ſin of their mouth, and the words of their lips, let them even be taken in their pride; and for curſing and lying which they ſpeak. 13 Conſume them in wrath, conſume them, that they may not be: and let them know that God ruleth in Jacob unto the ends of the earth. Selah. 14 And at evening let them return, and let them make a noiſe like a dog, and go round about the city. 15 Let them wander up and down for meat, and grudge if they be not ſatisfied. 16 But I will ſing of thy power; yea, I will ſing aloud of thy mercy in the morning: for thou haſt been my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble. 17 Unto thee, O my ſtrength, will I ſing: for God is my defence, and the God of my mercy.

Conſume them in thy Wrath, conſume them that they may not be; and let them know that God ruleth in Jacob unto the Ends of the Earth] Thus paraphraſed by Patrick: Let ſuch vile Wretches as theſe, who incourage trick: thy juſt Diſpleaſure againſt them, be utterly conſuming; let them waſte away by Degrees in their Diſpersion, till there be none of them found; that they may be convinced there is a Supreme Being, a moſt righteous Judge, who governs all Things; and controuls even Kings themſelves, not only among us, but throughout the World.

PSAL. LX.

The Pſalmiſt, complaining of former Judgments, acknowledges God's Mercy; comforts himſelf in the Promiſes, prays for Help, and trufts in God.

To the chief Muſician upon Shuſhan Eduth, A Michtam of David, to teach; when he ſtrove

Aram-naharaim, and with Aram zobah, when Joab returned and ſmote of Edom, in the Valley of Salt, twelve thouſand.

Ver. 1. O God, thou haſt caſt us off, thou haſt ſcattered us, thou haſt been diſpleaſed; O turn thy ſelf to us again. 2 Thou haſt made the earth to tremble; thou haſt broken it: heal the breaches thereof, for it ſhaketh. 3 Thou haſt ſhewed thy people hard things: thou haſt made us to drink the wine of aſtoniſhment. 4 Thou haſt given a banner to them that fear thee: that it may be diſplayed becauſe of the truth. Selah. 5 That thy beloved may be delivered; ſave with thy right hand, and hear me. 6 God hath ſpoken in his holineſs, I will rejoice: I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth. 7 Gilead is mine, and Manaſſeh is mine, Ephraim alſo is the ſtrength of mine head; Judah is my law-giver. 8 Moab is my waſhpot, over Edom will I caſt out my ſhoe: Philiſtia, triumph thou becauſe of me. 9 Who will bring me into the ſtrong city? who will lead me into Edom? 10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadſt caſt us off? and thou, O God, which didſt not go out with our armies? 11 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man. 12 Through God we ſhall do valiantly: for he is that ſhall tread down our enemies.

This Pſalm, we learn by the Title, was penn'd by David, after Saul's Perſecution was ended by Death, and David ruled not only over Judah, but Iſrael alſo, all which Time the Philiſtines and other Nations afflicted the Country very much, by reaſon of the Divisions between the two Kingdoms of Judah and Iſrael; and they had done alſo all the Days of Saul, while he was buſying himſelf in purſuing his Hatred againſt David; and neglected his foreign Enemies ſo much, that the Philiſtines were too hard for him, and at laſt overthrew him in that great Battle wherein he and his Sons were ſlain, 1 Sam. xxxi. But when David was come to the Crown, and both Kingdoms alſo united in him, God himſelf ſeemed to lift up an Enſign to them, (as he ſpeaks here Ver. 4.) to call them to reſort with one conſent unto David, in aſſured Hope of Victory over their Enemies. Accordingly he ſubdued the Philiſtines, as you read 2 Sam. viii. 1. (which Chapter muſt be read for the underſtanding of this Pſalm) and after that vanquiſhed the Moabites, Ver. 2. of that Chapter; and then, in a memorable Battle (particularly taken Notice of in the Title of this Pſalm) overthrew the Syrians, called Aram and in other Places, Aram: Both thoſe that lived between the two Rivers, Tigris and Euphrates, called Aram-naharaim, and thoſe that adjoined to them, in that part of Syria, called Zobah, Ver. 3, &c. And returning from this Victory, after his Lieutenant General Abiſhai had ſlain of the Edomites 18,000 (2 Sam. viii. 13. 1 Chron. xviii. 12.) Joab, the General with all his Forces fell upon them again, and killed in the ſame Place, the Valley of Salt, 12,000 more (as the Title of this Pſalm informs us) and afterwards deſtroyed them entirely, leaving never a Male-child, that he could find remaining, 1 Kings xi. 15, 16.

For all which Expeditions when David was preparing himſelf, he compoſed this Pſalm, to be ſung upon an Inſtrument of ſix Strings, which was wont to be uſed in ſolemn Thankſgivings (and therefore called Shuſhan-Eduth). For he nothing doubted, but God would protect him in his Arms, better than he had done Saul's; and would give him the Victory over their Forces in the Field, and bring him alſo into their fortified Cities, Ver. 10. as we read he did, 2 Sam. viii. 14. which made this Pſalm be alſo called Michtam of David, being a most precious Memorial, worthy to be ever preſerved, for his Faith in God, and of the admirable Succeſs of it; whereby Poſterity ſhould learn to truſt in him.

PSAL. LXI.

David, in great Danger, flies to God for Deliverance; vows perpetual Service for having heard his Prayers; and aſſuring himſelf of long Life, promiſes Thankfulneſs.

To the chief Muſician upon Neginoth. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HEar my cry, O God, attend unto my prayer. 2 From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I. 3 For thou haſt been a ſhelter for me, and a ſtrong tower from the enemy. 4 I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will truſt in the covert of thy wings. Selah. 5 For thou, O God, haſt heard my vows: thou haſt given me the heritage of thoſe that fear thy name. 6 Thou wilt prolong the kings life: and his years as many generations. 7 He ſhall abide before God for ever: O prepare mercy and truth which may preſerve him. 8 So will I ſing praiſe unto thy name for ever, that I may daily perform my vows.

All agree, that in the Beginning of this Pſalm, David relates what his Thoughts were, when he fled either from Saul, or from his Son Abſalom, who drove him over Jordan, as far as Mahanaim, the very Extremity of Judea. Of this latter it is moſt probable he complains here, Ver. 2. becauſe afterwards he calls himſelf King, Ver. 6. which he would not have done during the Life of Saul, tho' he was anointed and deſigned by God to that high Dignity; becauſe nothing could have juſtified Saul's perſecuting of him ſo much as his taking upon him that Title.

PSAL. LXII.

David profeſſes his Confidence in God, to the Diſcouragement of his Enemies, but to the Encouragement of the Godly. No Truſt in Man or worldly Things, but in God, to whom Power, Mercy, and Juſtice belong.

To the chief Muſician, to Jeduthun. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. TRuly my ſoul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my ſalvation. 2 He only is my rock and my ſalvation: he is my defence; I ſhall not be greatly moved. 3 How long will ye imagine miſchief againſt a man? ye ſhall be ſlain all of you: as a bowing wall ſhall ye be, and as a tottering fence. 4 They only conſult to caſt him down from his excellency, they delight in lies: they bleſs with their mouth, but they curſe inwardly. Selah. 5 My ſoul, wait thou only upon God: for my expectation is from him. 6 He only is my rock and my ſalvation; he is my defence; I ſhall not be moved. 7 In God is my ſalvation and my glory: the rock of my ſtrength, and my refuge in God. 8 Truſt in him at all times; ye people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us. Selah. 9 Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity. 10 Truſt not in oppreſſion, and become not vain in robbery: if riches increaſe, ſet not your heart upon them. 11 God hath ſpoken once; twice have I heard this, that power belongeth unto God. 12 Alſo unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou rendreſt to every man according to his work.

There are no Petitions at all in this Pſalm, nor any Thankſgivings; but only Expreſſions of David's Faith and Confidence in God: Which (notwithſtanding the Straits he was in, as appears from Ver. 3, 4.) grew greater and ſtronger (compare Ver. 2. with Ver. 6.) and moved him to earneſt Exhortations of all other Perſons, never to truſt in Man; much leſs in thoſe wicked Arts of fraudulent Dealing and Robbery, whereby Men are wont to advance themſelves to great Eſtates; hoping thereby to be ſo ſtrong, that Nobody dare meddle with them; but to place all their Confidence in God alone, who can and will make thoſe Supports fail thoſe that rely upon them; and bleſs the Piety of ſuch Men as depend wholly upon him.

Which would make one think, that this Pſalm was penn'd by him, when he had overcome all the Fears into which the Rebellion of Abſalom at firſt put him; but yet was not reſtored to his Kingdom. Unto which when he returned, he committed this Meditation to the Maſter of Muſick, to be ſung according to the Tune to which Jeduthun, a famous Artiſt, had ſet the xxxixth Pſalm.

P S A L. LXIII.

David, in the Wilderneſs, longs to be in God's Houſe. His Experience, Hope, and Delight in God; comforts himſelf that his Enemies ſhall be deſtroyed, and that he ſhall be in Safety.

A Pſalm of David when he was in the Wilderneſs of Judah.

Ver. 1. O God, thou art my God, early will I ſeek thee: my ſoul thirſteth for thee, my fleſh longeth for thee in a dry and thirſty land, where no water is: 2 To ſee thy power and thy glory, ſo as I have ſeen thee in the ſanctuary. 3 Becauſe thy loving-kindneſs is better than life; my lips ſhall praiſe thee. 4 Thus will I bleſs thee, while I live: I will lift up my hands in thy name. 5 My ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied as with marrow and fatneſs; and my mouth ſhall praiſe thee with joyful lips: 6 When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night-watches. 7 Becauſe thou haſt been my help; therefore in the ſhadow of thy wings will I rejoice. 8 My ſoul followeth hard after thee: thy right hand upholdeth me. 9 But thoſe that ſeek my ſoul to deſtroy it, ſhall go into the lower parts of the earth. 10 They ſhall fall by the ſword, they ſhall be a portion for foxes. 11 But the king ſhall rejoice in God, every one that ſweareth by him ſhall glory: but the mouth of them that ſpeak lies ſhall be ſtopped.

This Pſalm, the Title tells us, repreſents David's Thoughts, when he was in the Wilderneſs of Judah. But whether by that he meant the Foreſt of Hareth, wherein after other Places, he ſecured himſelf when he fled from Saul, 1 Sam. xxxii. 5. or the Wilderneſs he went through when he fled from Abſalom, 2 Sam. xvii. 29. may be queſtioned. Theodoret takes it for the former, but I, ſays Patrick, incline to the latter, for the ſame Reaſon I gave before; becauſe he calls himſelf a King, Ver. 11. which he would not have done during the Reign of Saul, becauſe it would have given him too juſt Cauſe to perſecute him; and made the People look upon him as a Traytor. Unleſs we ſay that he did not publiſh this Pſalm, but reſerved it for his own private Uſe, till he came to the Kingdom, when he delivered it to the chief Muſician, for the Service of the Tabernacle; where he longed very much to be, when he was in his Baniſhment.

P S A L. LXIV.

The Pſalmiſt deſcribes the crafty and wicked Practice of his Enemies; prays God for his Deliverance; and foretels their utter Ruin, to the Honour of God, and Joy of the Righteous.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HEar my voice, O God, in my prayer; preſerve my life from fear of the enemy. 2 Hide me from the ſecret counſel of the wicked; from the inſurrection of the workers of iniquity: 3 Who whet their tongue like a ſword, and bend their bows to ſhoot their arrows, even bitter words: 4 That they may ſhoot in ſecret at the perfect: ſuddenly do they ſhoot at him, and fear not. 5 They encourage themſelves in an evil matter: they commune of laying ſnares privily, they ſay, Who ſhall ſee them? 6 They ſearch out iniquities; they accompliſh a diligent ſearch; both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart is deep. 7 But God ſhall ſhoot at them with an arrow, ſuddenly ſhall they be wounded. 8 So they ſhall make their own tongue to fall upon themſelves: all that ſee them, ſhall flee away. 9 And all men ſhall fear, and ſhall declare the work of God; for they ſhall wiſely conſider of his doing. 10 The righteous ſhall be glad in the Lord, and ſhall truſt in him; and all the upright in heart ſhall glory.

The Enemy of whom David here complains, it is moſt probable, was Saul; whoſe Hatred to him was very much heightened, and made more malignant, by the Calumnies and falſe Stories, which were told of him by ſome ill Men in his Court, who were always plotting and contriving in their Cabals, how to compaſs his Deſtruction, tho', in Truth, they were all the Time deviſing their own.

P S A L. LXV.

David praiſes God for ſpiritual Bleſſings, and extols the Happineſs of thoſe who dwell in his Courts, and expatiates on the divine Goodneſs many Ways ſhewn to the Children of Men.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm and Song of David.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe waiteth for thee, O God, in Sion: and unto thee ſhall the vow be performed. 2 O thou that heareſt prayer, unto thee ſhall all fleſh come. 3 Iniquities prevail againſt me: as for our tranſgreſſions, thou ſhalt purge them away. 4 Bleſſed is the man whom thou chooſeſt and cauſeſt to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we ſhall be ſatisfied with the goodneſs of thy houſe, even of thy holy temple. 5 By terrible things in righteouſneſs, wilt thou anſwer us, O God of our ſalvation: who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off, upon the ſea. 6 Which by his ſtrength ſetteth fast the mountains: being girded with power. 7 Which ſtilleth the noiſe of the ſeas, the noiſe of their waves, and the tumult of the people. 8 They alſo that dwell in the uttermoſt parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makeſt the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice. 9 Thou viſiteſt the earth, and watereſt it: thou greatly inricheſt it with the river of God which is full of water: thou prepareſt them corn, when thou haſt ſo provided for it. 10 Thou watereſt the ridges thereof abundantly: thou ſettleſt the furrows thereof: thou makeſt it ſoft with ſhowers, thou bleſſeſt the ſpringing thereof. 11 Thou crowneſt the year with thy goodneſs, and thy paths drop fatneſs. 12 They drop upon the paſtures of the wilderneſs: and the little hills rejoice on every ſide. 13 The paſtures are cloathed with flocks; the valleys alſo are covered over with corn? they ſhout for joy, they alſo ſing.

The latter Part of this excellent Hymn of Praiſe (as is ſignified by the Title) hath moved ſome judicious Interpreters to think, that it was delivered by David to the Maſter of Muſick, after ſome great Drought, which had brought, or threatened to bring a Dearth upon the Land; and there are thoſe who imagine it relates to the three Years Famine, after the Rebellion of Abſalom, 2 Sam. xxi. which being removed by plentiful Showers of Rain, the Pſalmiſt gives God publick Thanks in this Hymn, for ſending them ſeaſonably to his People; whom he had formerly obliged by ſeveral other great Benefits, as he doth all other Nations; which David here firſt of all commemorates. This, ſays Patrick, ſeems to be the moſt probable Senſe of the Pſalm.

PSAL. LXVI.

The Pſalmiſt exhorts all to praiſe God for his wonderful Works, eſpecially for delivering his Church out of all Troubles; he promiſes to pay his Vows, and declares God's ſpecial Goodneſs to himſelf.

To the chief Muſician. A Song or Pſalm.

Ver. 1. MAke a joyful noiſe unto God, all ye lands. 2 Sing forth the honour of his name: make his praiſe glorious. 3 Say unto God, How terrible art thou in thy works! through the greatneſs of thy power ſhall thine enemies ſubmit themſelves unto thee. 4 All the earth ſhall worſhip thee, and ſhall ſing unto thee, they ſhall ſing to thy name. Selah. 5 Come and ſee the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the children of men. 6 He turned the ſea into dry land: they went through the flood on foot, there did we rejoice in him. 7 He ruleth by his power for ever, his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themſelves. Selah. 8 O bleſs our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praiſe to be heard. 9 Which holdeth our ſoul in life, and ſuffereth our feet to be moved. 10 For thou, O God, haſt proved us: thou haſt tried us as ſilver is tried. 11 Thou broughteſt us into the net, thou laidſt affliction upon our loyns. 12 Thou haſt cauſed men to ride over our heads, we went through fire and through water: but thou broughteſt us out into a wealthy place. 13 I will go into thy houſe with burnt offerings: I will pay thee my vows, 14 Which my lips have uttered, and my mouth hath ſpoken when I was in trouble. 15 I will offer unto thee burnt-ſacrifices of fatlings, with the incenſe of rams: I will offer bullocks with goats. Selah. 16 Come and hear all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my ſoul. 17 I cried unto him with my mouth, and he was extolled with my tongue. 18 If I regard iniquity in my heart: the Lord will not hear me. 19 But verily God hath heard me: he hath attended to the voice of my prayer. 20 Bleſſed be God, which hath not turned away my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

The vulgar Latin hath an Inſcription to this Pſalm, which, as Theodoret witneſſes, is not to be found in other Interpreters, no more than in the Hebrew, no, not in the LXX Tranſlation, which was in the famous Hexaplus: Nor can any good Reaſon be given why they call it, A Song Pſalm concerning the Reſurrection; unleſs we underſtand thereby the Reſurrection of the dry Bones, of which Ezekiel propheſied, Ch. xxxvii. which was the bringing the People in Babylon, where they ſeemed to be buried, to their own Land again, Ver. 12. And ſo Theodoret himſelf takes it for a Pſalm which David, by a prophetical Spirit, compoſed for the People in Captivity, not praying for their Return, (as he fancies they do in the Pſalm foregoing) but upon their Way home, and praiſing God for their Liberty.

Certain it is, this Pſalm was made after a very remarkable Deliverance from ſome ſore Calamity, under which the Nation had groaned. And it not being ſaid by whom it was penn'd, nor who the Enemies were that oppreſſed them, it is generally thought not to be David's, whoſe Name it doth not bear in the Title, as the foregoing do; but to have been made by ſome holy Man after, or in their Return from the beforementioned Captivity. But he that collected the Pſalms, contained in this ſecond Book, tho' he did not find David's Name in the Front of it; yet took him, I believe, ſays Patrick, to be the Author both of this and of the next Pſalm, as well as of the foregoing: Otherwiſe he would not have placed them between thoſe on both Sides, which certainly belong to him, when he intended, as appears by the Concluſion of this Book, (Pſ. lxx. 20.) to put together all the Prayers that he had then met withal of David's. He that conſiders alſo, that the lxxiſt and lxxiid Pſalms, have not David's Name in the Title, and yet are generally thought to be of his compoſing, will not take the Want of the uſual Inſcription here, to be a ſufficient Argument, why we ſhould ſeek for ſome other Author of this Pſalm.

Which was penned, I judge, after God had advanced David to the Throne, and peaceably ſetled him in his Kingdom. Till which Time they had been in a very unſetled Condition, not only during the Rule of the Judges (when, as he ſpeaks here, Ver. 12. many of their Neighbours rid over their Heads, or domineer'd over them as they pleaſed) but alſo in the Reign of Saul, when the Philiſtines were ſo powerful, that the Iſraelites durſt not look them in the Face, but hid themſelves in Caves and Thickets, and in Rocks, and in high Places, and in Pits, 1 Sam. xiii. 6. For they had diſarmed them; ſo that when they came to fight, there was not a Man had a Sword or a Spear but Saul and Jonathan, Ver. 22. And tho' they prevailed over the Philiſtines afterward in ſeveral Battles, yet they grew ſo ſtrong again, that they penetrated into the Country as far as Mount Gilboa, where Saul and his Sons were ſlain; and the People were thereupon ſo diſmayed, that they about Jordan forſook their Cities, and the Philiſtines came and dwelt in them, Ver. 7. To theſe Things the 10, 11, and 12 Verſes of this Pſalm may have Reſpect. And then the freeing the Country from that Oppreſſion, and forcing thoſe inſolent Enemies to ſubmit to David, Ver. 3. (where there is the ſame Expreſſion in Subſtance with that which he uſes, Pſ. xviii. 45. after he had overcome all his Enemies) may be the Thing for which he here gives Praiſe to God; exciting all the Country to join with him in bleſſing his divine Majeſty, not only for this, but for former Deliverances he had vouchſafed to that Nation: Which he would have acknowledged with their moſt chearful Thankſgivings (which may be the Meaning of a Song Pſalm) Pſalm) eſpecially in the publick Service of God at the Tabernacle; into which he promiſes to go, Ver. 13, 14. (a Sign the Pſalm was not made at their coming out of Babylon, when there was no Houſe to go unto) and pay his Vows, which he had made before theſe Victories. But at their Return from Babylon, it's like they might uſe this Pſalm, and apply it to that Purpoſe, going to the Place where the Houſe of God formerly ſtood.

PSAL. LXVII.

The Church prays for the Enlargement of the Kingdom of God, to the Joy of the Nations, for the Increaſe of ſpiritual and temporal Bleſſings.

To the chief Muſician on Neginoth. A Pſalm or Song.

Ver. 1. GOD be merciful unto us, and bleſs us: and cauſe his face to ſhine upon us. Selah. 2 That thy way may be known upon earth, thy ſaving health among all nations. 3 Let the people praiſe thee, O God; let all the people praiſe thee. 4 O let the nations be glad and ſing for joy: for thou ſhalt judge the people righteouſly, and govern the nations upon earth. Selah. 5 Let the people praiſe thee, O God; let all the people praiſe thee. 6 Then ſhall the earth yield her increaſe; and God, even our own God ſhall bleſs us. 7 God ſhall bleſs us, and all the ends of the earth ſhall fear him.

This excellent Pſalm, all agree, hath the ſame Author as the former, and was probably compoſed by David, (ſee Notes on the foregoing Pſalm) wherein he manifeſtly imitates that Form of Bleſſing, which the Prieſts were appointed to uſe on ſolemn Occaſions (Numb. vi. 23, 24, 25.) It is no Argument againſt this, to ſay, that he doth not bleſs them here in the Name of the Lord, which is uſed in the Bleſſing which Moſes taught them. For it is certain he alludes in the Beginning of the next Pſalm, to the Form of Prayer uſed in ſetting forward the Ark (Numb. x. 35.) and yet there alſo he uſes the Word Elohim, inſtead of Jehova; as he doth in this Pſalm; which he delivered afterward to the Maſter of Muſick, to be ſung as the ivth Pſalm.

But what Difference there is between a Song-Pſalm (in which the Title of lxvth, and of this, and the next, differ from the foregoing, as the Title of the xxxth doth from the xlviiith) I am not able, ſays Patrick, certainly to reſolve. For ſome think that a Pſalm-Song, or Song of a Pſalm, began with Voices, the muſical Inſtruments following after. Others give a quite contrary Account; for, taking a Pſalm to be properly the Sound of Inſtruments preceding, (whereof there were ſix or ſeven Sorts) and a Song to be the Voice of Singers; they will have a Pſalm-Song to be that, where, the Sound of Inſtruments preceding, the ſinging Voices followed. But Kimchi ingenuouſly confeſſes, in his Preface to the Book of Pſalms, that their Nation can give no Account of ſuch-like Things, which we meet with in the Title of the Pſalms.

PSAL. LXVIII.

David's Song of Praiſe at removing the Ark. He bleſſes God for his Judgments on his Church's Enemies, for his Promiſes to his People, and for his Threats to the Cruel. The Kingdoms of the Earth are called upon to ſing to the Lord, whoſe Power and Majeſty is heard in the Heavens, and whoſe Strength and Excellency are over Iſrael.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm or Song of David.

Ver. 1. LET God ariſe, let his enemies be ſcattered: let them alſo that hate him, flee before him. 2 As ſmoak is driven away, ſo drive them away: as wax melteth before the fire, ſo let the wicked periſh at the preſence of God. 3 But let the righteous be glad: let them rejoyce before God, yea, let them exceedingly rejoyce. 4 Sing unto God, ſing praiſes to his name: extol him that rideth upon the heavens by his name JAH, and rejoice before him. 5 A father of the fatherleſs, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation. 6 God ſetteth the ſolitary in families: he bringeth out thoſe which are bound with chains, but the rebellious dwell in a dry land. 7 O God, when thou wenteſt forth before thy people; when thou didſt march through the wilderneſs. Selah: 8 The earth ſhook, the heavens alſo dropped at the preſence of God: even Sinai it ſelf was moved at the preſence of God, the God of Iſrael. 9 Thou, O God, didſt ſend a plentiful rain, whereby thou didſt confirm thine inheritance when it was weary. 10 Thy congregation hath dwelt therein; thou, O God, haſt prepared of thy goodneſs for the poor. 11 The Lord gave the word, great was the company of thoſe that publiſhed it. 12 Kings of armies did flee apace: and ſhe that tarried at home divided the ſpoil. 13 Though ye have lien among the pots, yet ſhall ye be as the wings of a dove covered with ſilver, and her feathers with yellow gold. 14 When the Almighty ſcattered kings in it, it was white as ſnow in Salmon. 15 The hill of God is as the hill of Baſhan, an high hill as the hill of Baſhan. 16 Why leap ye, ye high hills? this is the hill which God deſireth to dwell in, yea, the Lord will dwell in it for ever. 17 The chariots of God are twenty thouſand, even thouſands of angels: the Lord is among them as in Sinai, in the holy place. 18 Thou haſt aſcended on high, thou haſt led captivity captive: thou haſt received gifts for men, yea, for the rebellious alſo, that the Lord God might dwell among them. 19 Bleſſed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our ſalvation. Selah. 20 He that is our God, is the God of ſalvation: and unto God the Lord belong the iſſues from death. 21 But God ſhall wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy ſcalp of ſuch a one as goeth on ſtill in his treſpaſſes. 22 The Lord ſaid, I will bring again from Baſhan, I will bring my people again from the depths of the ſea: 23 That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongue of thy dogs in the ſame. 24 They have ſeen thy goings, O God, even the goings of my God, my King, in the ſanctuary. 25 The ſingers went before, the players on inſtruments followed after; amongſt them were the damſels playing with timbrels. 26 Bleſs ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Iſrael. 27 There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah and their counſel, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali. 28 Thy God hath commanded thy ſtrength: ſtrengthen, O God, that which thou haſt wrought for us. 29 Because of thy temple at Jeruſalem, ſhall kings bring preſents unto thee. 30 Rebuke the company of ſpear-men, the multitude of the bulls, the calves of the people, till every one ſubmit himſelf with pieces of ſilver: ſcatter thou the people that delight in war. 31 Princes ſhall come out of Egypt, Ethiopia ſhall ſoon ſtretch out her hands unto God. 32 Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth: O ſing praiſes unto the Lord, Selah. 33 To him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens, which were of old; lo, he doth ſend out his voice, and that a mighty voice. 34 Aſcribe ye ſtrength unto God: his excellency is over Iſrael, and his ſtrength is in the clouds. 35 O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places, the God of Iſrael is he that giveth ſtrength and power unto his people: bleſſed be God.

David having brought the Ark to Jeruſalem with a great deal of Joy and Triumph, (2 Sam. vi.) after it had been long neglected in the Reign of Saul (1 Chron. xiii. 3.) which was one Cauſe, it is like, that he had no better Succeſs againſt his foreign Enemies, hoped God would be more propitious to him, according to the Prayer he had made in the foregoing Pſalm. For how he had, to repair that Negligence of Saul, not only brought the Ark near to his own Palace, in the chief City of the Kingdom, but prepared a noble Place for its Reception, (2 Sam. vi. 16. 2 Chron. i. 4.) which had been a long Time without. For ever ſince its falling into the Hands of the Philiſtines, (1 Sam. iv. 11.) it had been ſeparated from the Tabernacle of the Congregation built for it by Moſes, which was God's Habitation or Dwelling-place; and after the Deſtruction of Shiloh was removed to Nob, 1 Sam. xxi. 6. and from thence, after Doeg had ſlain the Prieſts, to Gibeon, where it remained till the Building of Solomon's Temple. All which Time, it is manifeſt, it had no Ark of God's Preſence in it, for that was in Kirjath-jearim, 1 Sam. vii. 1. from whence David fetched it, (1 Chron. xiii. 5.) to Mount Sion; where he having made a Tabernacle for its Entertainment, The Lord God might be ſaid (as we read it Ver. 36 of this Pſalm) to dwell among them, with an Intention not to remove from thence (as the Ark had done before) to any other Mountain, Ver. 16. And indeed there He dwelt more magnificently than he had done before, and was more royally attended, and ſolemnly ſerved: David appointing, a little before he died (as he had begun to do before, 1 Chron. xvi.) the Prieſts and Levites, in their Courſes, conſtantly to wait upon him, with Songs and Inſtruments of Muſick; and ſetting all other Officers belonging to a Houſe, and ſuitable to the Greatneſs of the Majeſty who dwelt there, 1 Chron. xxiii, xxiv, xxv, xxvi.

Which Honour being done to God, he hoped that He would favour him in his Enterprizes, better than He had done Saul, who took Care of no ſuch Matters. And being ſhortly to engage ſome potent Enemies, (2 Sam. viii.) he earneſtly begs the Preſence of God with him (of which the Ark was a Token) in this excellent Pſalm. And he begs in that very Form of Words (Ver. 1.) which Moſes directed the Prieſts to uſe every Time that they took up the Ark, to ſet forward in their March to the Land of Canaan, Numb. x. 35. Upon which Occaſion he calls to Mind what Wonders God had done for them, in leading them by the Ark of his Preſence thro' the Wilderneſs into their promiſed Land: Where he hoped He would ſettle and bleſs his People, now that He had in ſo pompous and triumphant a Manner, aſcended into the high Hill of Sion (out of which David had expelled the Jebuſites, 2 Sam. v. 6.) and by his ſpecial Direction and Conduct had ſo lately given them ſuch great Victories over the Philiſtines, their mortal Enemies (2 Sam. v. 19, 23.) that they were an Emblem of the far more glorious Aſcenſion of our Lord Chriſt, after he had overcome Death itſelf, the laſt and greateſt Enemy of Mankind, into the Holy Heavens.

PSAL. LXIX.

David, as a Type of Chriſt, complains of his heavy and manifold Afflictions, curſes his Enemies, and praiſes God in Confidence of his Pardon and Acceptance.

To the chief Muſician upon Shoſhannim. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. SAve me, O God, for the waters are come in unto my ſoul. 2 I ſink in deep mire, where there is no ſtanding: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me. 3 I am weary of my crying, my throat is dried: mine eyes fail while I wait for my God. 4 They that hate me without a cauſe, are more than the hairs of mine head: they that would deſtroy me being mine enemies wrongfully, are mighty: then I reſtored that which I took not away. 5 O God, thou knoweſt my fooliſhneſs; and my ſins are not hid from thee. 6 Let not them that wait on thee, O Lord God of hoſts, be aſhamed for my ſake: let not thoſe that ſeek thee, be confounded for my ſake, O God of Iſrael. 7 Becauſe for thy ſake I have borne reproach; ſhame hath covered my face. 8 I am become a ſtranger unto my brethren, and an aliant unto my mothers children. 9 For the zeal of thine houſe hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee, are fallen upon me. 10 When I wept, and chaſtned my ſoul with faſting, that was to my reproach. 11 I made ſackcloth alſo my garment: and I became a proverb to them. 12 They that ſit in the gate, ſpeak againſt me; and I was the ſong of the drunkards. 13 But as for me, my prayer is unto thee, O Lord, in an acceptable time: O God, in the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy ſalvation. 14 Deliver me out of the mire, and let me not ſink: let me be delivered from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters. 15 Let not the water-flood overflow me, neither let the deep ſwallow me up, and let not the pit ſhut her mouth upon me. 16 Hear me, O Lord, for thy loving-kindneſs is good: turn unto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies. 17 And hide not thy face from thy ſervant, for I am in trouble: hear me ſpeedily. 18 Draw nigh unto my ſoul, and redeem it: deliver me becauſe of mine enemies. 19 Thou haſt known my reproach, and my ſhame, and my diſhonour: mine adverſaries are all before thee. 20 Reproach hath broken my heart, and I am full of heavineſs; and I looked for ſome to take pity, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none. 21 They gave me alſo gall for my meat, and in my thirſt they gave me vinegar to drink. 22 Let their table become a ſnare before them: and that which ſhould have been for their welfare, let it become a trap. 23 Let their eyes be darkned that they ſee not: and make their loyns continually to ſhake. 24 Pour out thine indignation upon them, and let thy wrathful anger take hold of them. 25 Let their habitation be deſolate, and let none dwell in their tents. 26 For they perſecute him whom thou haſt ſmitten, and they talk to the grief of thoſe whom thou haſt wounded. 27 Add iniquity to their iniquity:

and let them not come into thy righteouſneſs. 28 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous. 29 But I am poor, and ſorrowful: let thy ſalvation, O God, ſet me up on high. 30 I will praiſe the name of God with a ſong, and will magnifie him with thankſgiving. 31 This alſo ſhall pleaſe the Lord better than an ox or bullock that hath horns and hoofs. 32 The humble ſhall ſee this, and be glad: and your heart ſhall live that ſeek God. 33 For the Lord heareth the poor, and deſpiſeth not his priſoners. 34 Let the heaven and earth praiſe him, the ſeas, and every thing that moveth therein. 35 For God will ſave Sion, and will build the cities of Judah: that they may dwell there, and have it in poſſeſſion. 36 The ſeed alſo of his ſervants ſhall inherit it: and they that love his name ſhall dwell therein.

The Matter of this Pſalm ſufficiently declares, that David was in extreme Danger when it was penned; perhaps about that Time when he concluded that he ſhould one Day periſh by the Hand of Saul, were it not for what we read here, Ver. 35. concerning God's Love to Sion; which was not then in the Poſſeſſion of the Iſraelites. And therefore it muſt rather be indicted when he was perſecuted by his rebellious Son Abſalom; who preſſed him ſo ſorely, and reduced him to ſuch lamentable Streights, that as he feared he ſhould never extricate himſelf, ſo he could find no Words high enough to expreſs the Agonies into which they caſt him. But this is not ſo conſiderable a Difficulty as to be ſufficient to incline thoſe who read the whole Pſalm ſeriouſly, to conclude that it hath no Reference to Saul's Perſecution; unto which ſome Paſſages in it ſeem more plainly to belong than to the other. And therefore I ſuppoſe, ſays Patrick, he only reviewed it (ſee Pſ. lxx.) and added the 35th Verſe, in the Rebellion of Abſalom; which was likewiſe ſo grievous and dangerous, that he could find no Words fitter to repreſent his ſad Condition, than thoſe he had uſed in the like Diſtreſs. And ſome of the Expreſſions, it is manifeſt, are ſuch, as were not literally fulfilled in him, in either of thoſe Afflictions, but in our Saviour CHRIST; of whom David was a Figure, both in his Sufferings, and in his Advancement afterwards to a Kingdom. The Word Shoſhannim only denotes, that the Maſter of the Muſick was to take Care this Pſalm ſhould be ſung as the lxvth.

Why Theodoret ſhould think this Pſalm was made, without Reſpect to David, for the Jews in the Captivity of Babylon, praying for Deliverance out of that Servitude, I cannot imagine. But what he adds concerning our Saviour's Sufferings, which are here foretold, together with the utter Overthrow of the Jewiſh Nation, who were the Authors of them, is very conſiderable. For becauſe, ſaith he, they were ſo audaciouſly wicked, as to do that to their Benefactor and Saviour, which they had ſuffered from their ſpiteful Enemies; God the righteous Judge, condemned them to ſuffer that themſelves, which they prayed might fall on the Heads of thoſe Enemies.

PSAL. LXX.

David prays to God for Help, to the Shame of his Enemies, the Joy of the Godly, and the magnifying of his Name.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David, to bring to Remembrance.

Ver. 1. MAke haſte, O God, to deliver me; make haſt to help me, O Lord. 2 Let them be aſhamed and confounded, that ſeek after my ſoul: let them be turned backward, and put to confuſion, that deſire my hurt. 3 Let them be turned back for a reward of their ſhame, that ſay, Aha, aha. 4 Let all thoſe that ſeek thee, rejoice, and be glad in thee: and let ſuch as love thy ſalvation ſay continually, Let God be magnified. 5 But I am poor and needy, make haſte unto me, O God: thou art my help and my deliverer; O Lord, make no tarrying.

The Contents of this Pſalm are almoſt all to be found in Pſ. xl. 13. to the End. Nor is it ſtrange that they are here repeated, becauſe the ſame or like Occaſions were often repeated. As theſe Things were joined with many Paſſages in Pſ. xl. ſo they are diſtinctly repeated, as a Form of Prayer, which himſelf and others might uſe in ſuch a Condition.

PSAL. LXXI.

The Pſalmiſt, from his Experience of paſt Favours, prays God to deliver him, but to conſume his Enemies; prays for Perſeverance, and praiſe to God.

Ver. 1. IN thee, O Lord, do I put my truſt; let me never be put to confuſion. 2 Deliver me in thy righteouſneſs, and cauſe me to eſcape; incline thine ear unto me, and ſave me. 3 Be thou my ſtrong habitation, whereunto I may continually reſort: thou haſt given commandment to ſave me, for thou art my rock and my fortreſs. 4 Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man. 5 For thou art my hope, O Lord God: thou art my truſt from my youth. 6 By thee have I been holden up from the womb; thou art he that took me out of my mothers bowels: my praiſe ſhall be continually of thee. 7 I am as a wonder unto many; but thou art my ſtrong refuge. 8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praiſe, and with thy honour all the day. 9 Caſt me not off in the time of old age, forſake me not when my ſtrength faileth. 10 For mine enemies ſpeak againſt me: and they that lay wait for my ſoul, take counſel together, 11 Saying, God hath forſaken him: perſecute and take him, for there is none to deliver him. 12 O God, be not far from me: O my God, make haſt for my help. 13 Let them be confounded and conſumed, that are adverſaries to my ſoul: let them be covered with reproach and diſhonour that ſeek my hurt. 14 But I will hope continually, and will yet praiſe thee more and more. 15 My mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy righteouſneſs, and thy ſalvation all the day: for I know not the numbers thereof. 16 I will go in the ſtrength of the Lord God: I will make mention of thy righteouſneſs, even of thine only. 17 O God, thou haſt taught me from my youth: and hitherto have I declared thy wondrous works. 18 Now alſo when I am old and gray-headed, O God, forſake me not: until I have ſhewed thy ſtrength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come. 19 Thy righteouſneſs alſo, O God, is very high, who haſt done great things: O God, who is like unto thee? 20 Thou who haſt ſhewed me great and ſore troubles, ſhalt quicken me again, and ſhalt bring me up again from the depth of the earth. 21 Thou ſhalt increaſe my greatneſs, and comfort on every ſide. 22 I will alſo praiſe thee with the pſaltery, even thy truth, O my God: unto thee will I ſing with the harp, O thou holy One of Iſrael. 23 My lips ſhall greatly rejoice when I ſing unto thee: and my ſoul which thou haſt redeemed. 24 My tongue alſo ſhall talk of thy righteouſneſs all the day long; for they are confounded, for they are brought unto ſhame, that ſeek my hurt.

Tho' this Pſalm wants an Inſcription, it is generally thought that David was the Author of it: And if he was, there is no Doubt he compoſed it upon the Occaſion of Abſalom's unnatural Rebellion. For the Matter of the Pſalm ſufficiently informs us, that when he made it, he was in extreme Danger of periſhing; that this Danger alſo happened in the Time of his old Age, Ver. 9. when he was grey-headed, Ver. 18. Now he was not ſo during the Time of Saul's Perſecution, (2 Sam. v. 4.) but in that of Abſalom's he was, which tho' it did not laſt ſo long as the other, yet in this Regard was more grievous to him, that it fell out in his declining Years, when Men are more unapt for Toil and Labour, and naturally deſirous of Quiet and Repoſe. And therefore he begins the Pſalm almoſt in the ſame Words, as he doth one of thoſe which he made when he was diſtreſſed by Saul, (Pſ. xxxi.) in his younger Years, when he was better able to bear it.

PSAL. LXXII.

David praying for Solomon, ſhews the bleſſed and glorious State of his Kingdom (as typifying Chriſt's*) in its Duration, Largeneſs, and Graciouſneſs; and concludes with a hearty Thankſgiving.*

A Pſalm for Solomon.

Ver. 1. GIve the king thy judgments, O God, and thy righteouſneſs unto the king's ſon. 2 He ſhall judge thy people with righteouſneſs, and thy poor with judgment. 3 The mountains ſhall bring peace to the people, and the little hills, by righteouſneſs. 4 He ſhall judge the poor of the people, he ſhall ſave the children of the needy, and ſhall break in pieces the oppreſſor. 5 They ſhall fear thee as long as the ſun and moon endure, throughout all generations. 6 He ſhall come down like rain upon the mown graſs: as ſhowers that water the earth. 7 In his days ſhall the righteous flouriſh: and abundance of peace ſo long as the moon endureth. 8 He ſhall have dominion alſo from ſea to ſea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth. 9 They that dwell in the wilderneſs ſhall bow before him: and his enemies ſhall lick the duſt. 10 The kings of Tarſhiſh and of the iſles ſhall bring preſents: the kings of Sheba and Seba ſhall offer gifts. 11 Yea, all kings ſhall fall down before him: all nations ſhall ſerve him. 12 For he ſhall deliver the needy when he crieth: the poor alſo, and him that hath no helper. 13 He ſhall ſpare the poor and needy, and ſhall ſave the ſouls of the needy. 14 He ſhall redeem their ſoul from deceit and violence: and precious ſhall their blood be in his ſight. 15 And he ſhall live, and to him ſhall be given of the gold of Sheba; prayer alſo ſhall be made for him continually, and daily ſhall he be praiſed. 16 There ſhall be an handful of corn in the earth upon the top of the mountains; the fruit thereof ſhall ſhake like Lebanon; and they of the city ſhall flouriſh like graſs of the earth. 17 His name ſhall endure for ever: his name ſhall be continued as long as the ſun: and men ſhall be bleſſed in him; all nations ſhall call him bleſſed. 18 Bleſſed be the Lord God, the God of Iſrael, who only doeth wondrous things. 19 And bleſſed be his glorious name for ever, and let the whole earth be filled with his glory; Amen and amen. 20 The prayers of David the ſon of Jeſſe are ended.

That this Pſalm was made by David is evident; and that it was made with Reſpect to Solomon, is no leſs certain from the very Title of it. That David, or at leaſt the Holy Ghoſt, which dictated this Pſalm, did look beyond Solomon, and unto the Meſſiah, of whom Solomon was an illuſtrious and unqueſtionable Type, ſeems as manifeſt from divers Paſſages of this Pſalm, which do not agree with Solomon, nor with any other King but the Meſſiah; and from the Confeſſion of the Jewiſh Doctors themſelves, who underſtand it ſo; and the Pſalmiſt deſignedly wrote it in ſuch a Stile, that the Reader might be led by it to the Contemplation of Chriſt, and of his Kingdom, upon this Occaſion. Which was the more neceſſary for the Support and Comfort of God's true Iſrael, becauſe the Spirit of God foreſaw Solomon's dreadful Apoſtaſy, and the great Calamities and Miſcarriages of his Succeſſors, and of the Kingdom under their Hands; and therefore was pleaſed to fortify their Hearts with that glorious Condition which they ſhould enjoy under the Meſſiah, who ſhould certainly come.

The Prayers of David the Son of Jeſſe are ended.] This is called the laſt of David's Pſalms; either, 1. Becauſe it is the laſt of that Part or Book of Pſalms, which reached from the Beginning of them hitherto, whereof the far greateſt Number were compoſed by David, and all of them digeſted into this Order; the reſt which follow, being collected, by ſome other holy Men, after David's Death, and compoſed Part by David, and Part by other Prophets. Or rather, 2. The laſt Pſalm which David compoſed: For this was wrote but a little before his Death, as we may judge from the firſt Verſe, which is to be applied to Solomon, who was anointed King, his Father yet living.

PSAL. LXXIII.

The Prophet being under Temptation, by Reaſon of proſperous Wickedneſs, declares his Diffidence thereupon, and ſhews the Way to overcome ſuch Temptations, namely, by his Knowledge of God's Purpoſe to deſtroy the Wicked, and ſuſtain the Righteous.

A Pſalm of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. TRuly God is good to Iſrael, even to ſuch as are of a clean heart. 2 But as for me, my feet were almoſt gone: my ſteps had well-nigh ſlipt. 3 For I was envious at the fooliſh, when I ſaw the proſperity of the wicked. 4 For there are no bands in their death: but their ſtrength is firm. 5 They are not in trouble as other men: neither are they plagued like other men. 6 Therefore pride compaſſeth them about as a chain: violence covereth them as a garment. 7 Their eyes ſtand out with fatneſs: they have more than heart could wiſh. 8 They are corrupt, and ſpeak wickedly concerning oppreſſion: they ſpeak loftily. 9 They ſet their mouth againſt the heavens, and their tongue walketh through the earth. 10 Therefore his people return hither: and waters of a full cup are wrung out of them. 11 And they ſay, How doth God know? and is there knowledge in the moſt High? 12 Behold theſe are the ungodly, who proſper in the world, they they increase in riches. 13 Verily I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed my hands in innocency. 14 For all the day long have I been plagued, and chastened every morning. 15 If I say, I will speak thus: behold I should offend against the generation of thy children. 16 When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me. 17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end. 18 Surely thou didst set them in slippery places: thou castedst them down into destruction. 19 How are they brought into desolation, as in a moment! they are utterly consumed with terrors. 20 As a dream when one awaketh; so, O Lord, when thou awakest thou shalt despise their image. 21 Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins. 22 So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee. 23 Nevertheless, I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. 24 Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory. 25 Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire besides thee. 26 My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever. 27 For lo, they that are far from thee shall perish: thou hast destroyed all them that go a whoring from thee. 28 But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

Here begins, says Patrick, a new Collection of seventeen Psalms, most of them very disconsolate and full of sad Complaints, which make up the third Book of this Volume; as the Hebrews divide it. They were most of them composed by Asaph (and but one of them by David) tho' who he was, is not resolved by Interpreters; who suspect indeed there might be another of these Psalms; but have no other Asaph to name, but Asaph the Singer, who was famous in the Days of David, 1 Chron. vi. 39. xvi. 5. 2 Chron. v. 12. And accordingly Apollinarius thus descants upon the Title, 'The divine Invention of David failing in the composing of Songs, Asaph arose, and by the Divine 'Spirit resounded this Hymn.' But it seems to me that there is another Person of this Name mentioned in the holy Books (who may be more probably entitled to this Work) called Asaph the Seer, who lived in the Days of Hezekiah, 2 Chron. xxix. 30. and whose Son, I suppose, was then Recorder, 2 Kings xviii. 37. Isa. xxxvi. 3. Some of them may be thought to belong to another Asaph in After-times; but for the present Psalm (and most of the rest) I can find no Person so likely to whom it may be entitled, as him now named; who composed it I conceive, either when he saw the miserable Havock which Strangers made among them in the Days of Ahaz, 2 Chron. xxviii. 17, 18, 19. xxix. 8, 9. or when Sennacherib invaded them, notwithstanding the Reformation which Hezekiah had made; or, which is most probable, upon the Occasion that David wrote the xxxviith Psalm, to comfort himself and good Men, when they saw the lewder Sort among them thrive and prosper, and the Pious sometimes sorely afflicted; quite contrary to the Sanctions of their Law, which promised all good Things to those who observed it; and threaten'd the evil to those that broke it. This extremely afflicted his Spirit, and stagger'd his Faith, till he consider'd the Matter more deeply, and then he broke out into this Meditation.

PSAL. LXXIV.

The Church complains of the Desolation, which the Enemies had made in the Temple and Synagogues; prays God to help, by his great Power, against the Reproach and Blasphemy of the Enemies; and prays for God's beloved and covenanted ones.

Maschil of Asaph.

Ver. 1. O God, why hast thou cast us off for ever? why doth thine anger smoke against the sheep of thy pasture? 2 Remember thy congregation which thou hast purchased of old: the rod of thine inheritance which thou hast redeemed, this mount Zion wherein thou hast dwelt. 3 Lift up thy feet unto the perpetual desolations: even all that the enemy hath done wickedly in the sanctuary. 4 Thine enemies roar in the midst of thy congregations: they set up their ensigns for signs. 5 A man was famous according as he had lifted up axes upon the thick trees. 6 But now they break down the carved work thereof at once, with axes and hammers. 7 They have cast fire into thy sanctuary, they have defiled by casting down the dwelling-place of thy name to the ground. 8 They said in their hearts, let us destroy them together: they have burnt up all the synagogues of God in the land. 9 We see not our signs: there is no more any prophet, neither is there among us any that knoweth how long. 10 O God, how long shall the adversary reproach? shall the enemy blaspheme thy name for ever? 11 Why withdrawest thou thy hand, even thy right hand? pluck it out of thy bosom. 12 For God is my King of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth. 13 Thou didst divide the sea by thy strength: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in waters. 14 Thou brakest the heads of the leviathan in pieces, and gavest him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderness. 15 Thou didst cleave the fountain and the flood: thou driedst up mighty rivers. 16 The day is thine, the night also is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sun. 17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter. 18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached, O Lord, and that the foolish people have blasphemed thy name. 19 O deliver not the soul of thy turtle dove, unto the multitude of the wicked, forget not the congregation of thy poor for ever. 20 Have respect unto the covenant: for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty. 21 O let not the oppressed return ashamed: let the poor and needy praise thy name. 22 Arise, O God, plead thine own cause: remember how the foolish man reproacheth thee daily. 23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: the tumult of those that rise up against thee increaseth continually.

The Desolation of Jerusalem and of the Temple, as well as of the rest of the Country, made by Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon, was the sad Occasion of this Psalm. For it is altogether improbable, that this Psalm hath Respect to the Days of Antiochus Epiphanes, as some fancy; because, as Theodoret pertinently notes, we read nothing in History of his burning the Temple, or so much as of laying the City waste; which are both here most sorrowfully bewailed by Asaph: Nor was not therefore that Asaph in David's Time (as we should grant him to have written by the Spirit of Prophecy, and predicted what should be in After-times as a great many think) becauſe there was no ſuch Temple in thoſe Days, nor had been, as is here deſcribed. Nor was it Aſaph the Seer, in Hezekiah's Days, who ſaw no ſuch Deſolation made by Sennacherib (for he did not take Jeruſalem, nor ſhoot ſo much as an Arrow into it) nor, in all Likelihood, prophefied of the Deſtruction here ſpoken of; becauſe the Deſcription of it in this Pſalm is ſo plain, that we may moſt reaſonably think, that the Author of it had it before his Eyes, and did not merely ſee it by the Spirit of Prophecy; which is not wont to foretel Things in ſo clear a Manner, but more obſcurely and darkly.

I conclude therefore, ſays Patrick, it was ſome other Aſaph who compoſed this Pſalm, in the Time of the Captivity, and in the Middle, or rather toward the Concluſion of it; becauſe he complains, Ver. 9. that they had no Prophet (as there was in the Beginning of the Captivity, particularly Jeremiah) to tell them how long it ſhould laſt. And conſidering that in the ſecond Verſe, he ſpeaks of himſelf as one that ſtill dwelt in the Land of Iſrael, pointing to Mount Sion as a Place near to him; I take him to have been ſome pious Man of the Poſterity of Aſaph, who was ſuffered to remain there with the Chaldeans.

And if it were fit to ſuppoſe him to have writ this Pſalm very young, and to have lived to a great Age, when I have no Proof of either, I ſhould gueſs him to be Aſaph the Keeper of the King's Foreſt, in the Days of Nehemiah; who deſired Artaxerxes to write to him, to furniſh him with Timber out of Lebanon, for the rebuilding of thoſe Places, which the Pſalmiſt here complains were deſtroyed; among which the Porch of the Court of the Sanctuary remained unbuilt even unto thoſe Times.

The Pſalmiſt, praiſing God for his wondrous Works, promiſes to judge uprightly; rebukes the Proud and Fooliſh, and declares he will execute Juſtice.

To the chief Muſician, Al-taſchith. A Pſalm or Song of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. UNto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee, do we give thanks: for that thy name is near, thy wondrous works declare. 2 When I ſhall receive the congregation, I will judge uprightly. 3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are diſſolved: I bear up the pillars of it. Selah. 4 I ſaid unto the fools, Deal not fooliſhly; and to the wicked, Lift not up the horn. 5 Lift not up your horn on high: ſpeak not with a ſtiff neck. 6 For promotion cometh neither from the eaſt, nor from the weſt, nor from the ſouth. 7 But God is the judge: he putteth down one, and ſetteth up another. 8 For in the hand of the Lord there is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full of mixture, and he poureth out of the ſame: but the dregs thereof all the wicked of the earth ſhall wring them out, and drink them. 9 But I will declare for ever; I will ſing praiſes to the God of Jacob. 10 All the horns of the wicked alſo will I cut off; but the horns of the righteous ſhall be exalted.

Aſaph] That is, ſays Pool, of, or to, or for Aſaph, which may be put by Way of Oppoſition to the following and general Expreſſion, To the chief Muſician, which is here limited to, and explained of Aſaph. Pſ. lxii. having ſaid, To the chief Muſician, he adds, Jeduthun; and then follows the Author, David, or Aſaph in David's Name and Perſon, as it is not unuſual for Poets to bring in Princes ſpeaking in their own Name. The Word Al-taſchith, ſignifies deſtroys not. The Pſalm ſeems to relate to the Time when David had entered upon, but not got full Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom.

But Patrick thinks, it was made by Aſaph the Seer, mentioned 2 Chron. xxix. 30. after the great Deliverance, which, by the ſtrange Deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army, God gave the good King Hezekiah; for whoſe Uſe Aſaph compoſed it, and delivered it to the chief Maſter of Muſick in the Tabernacle; that he might therein make his publick Profeſſion of his Obligations to Almighty God, and his Reſolution to ſerve him, and to depend upon him.

Symmachus gives a more ſpiritual Senſe of the Word Al-taſchith, and calls this a triumphal Song concerning Immortality; becauſe it contains, as Theodoret explains it, a Prediction of the righteous Judgment of God in the Deſtruction of the Wicked, and rewarding the Lovers of Virtue: Which ſhould admoniſh us, not to ſuffer any ungodly Thoughts which we have in our Mind to periſh; but to preſerve them whole and entire, that we may inherit Immortality.

Ver. 1. IN Judah is God known: his name is great in Iſrael. 2 In Salem alſo is his tabernacle, and his dwelling-place in Zion. 3 There brake he the arrows of the bow, the ſhield, and the ſword, and the battle. Selah. 4 Thou art more glorious and excellent than the mountains of prey. 5 The ſtout-hearted are ſpoiled, they have ſlept their ſleep: and none of the men of might have found their hands. 6 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, both the chariot and horſe are caſt into a dead ſleep. 7 Thou, even thou art to be feared, and who may ſtand in thy ſight when once thou art angry? 8 Thou didſt cauſe judgment to be heard from heaven; the earth feared, and was ſtill, 9 When God aroſe to judgment to ſave all the meek of the earth. Selah. 10 Surely the wrath of man ſhall praiſe thee; the remainder of wrath ſhalt thou reſtrain. 11 Vow, and pay unto the Lord your God; let all that be round about him bring preſents unto him that ought to be feared. 12 He ſhall cut off the ſpirit of princes: he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

It is viſible to every Eye, that the Pſalmiſt here commemorates ſome notable Victory, or Deliverance from ſome very powerful Enemy, probably Sennacherib; whereby God delivered (when it was in great Danger) the whole Country, particularly Jeruſalem; which is here called Salem, Ver. 2. by an uſual Form of Speech among the Hebrews, who are wont in Names of Places, to cut off the former Part; inſtead of Abel-Sittim, ſaying only Sittim; and Nimrim for Beth-Nimrim; Lechi, for Ramoth-Lechi; Sheba, for Beer-ſheba, and many ſuch like, as Bochart hath ſhewn in the ſecond Book of Phaleg, Ch. xxv. and in the firſt Part of this Work, concerning the Animals named in Scripture, B. 2. The Prophet ſhews what a fierce Combat he had with Diffidence; and his Victory by the Conſideration of God's wonderful Works, and former Mercies.

To the chief Muſician, to Jeduthun. A Pſalm of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. I Cried unto God with my voice: even unto God with my voice, and he gave ear unto me. 2 In the day of my trouble I ſought the Lord; my ſore ran in the night, and ceaſed not: my ſoul refuſed to be comforted. 3 I remembred God, and was troubled: I complained, and my ſpirit was overwhelmed. Selah. 4 Thou holdeſt mine eyes waking: I am ſo troubled that I cannot ſpeak. 5 I have conſidered the days of old, the years of ancient times. 6 I call to remembrance my ſong in the night: I commune with mine own heart, and my ſpirit made diligent ſearch. 7 Will the Lord caſt off for ever? and will he be favourable no more? 8 Is his mercy clean gone for ever? doth his promiſe fail for evermore? 9 Hath God forgotten to be gracious? hath he in anger ſhut up his tender mercies? Selah. 10 And I ſaid, This is my infirmity: but I will remember the years of the right hand of the moſt High. 11 I will remember the works of the Lord: ſurely I will remember thy wonders of old. 12 I will meditate alſo of all thy work, and talk of thy doings. 13 Thy way, O God, is in the ſanctuary: who is ſo great a God as our God? 14 Thou art the God that doeſt wonders: thou haſt declared thy ſtrength among the people. 15 Thou haſt with thine arm redeemed thy people, the ſons of Jacob and Joſeph. Selah. 16 The waters ſaw thee, O God, the waters ſaw thee: they were afraid; the depths alſo were troubled. 17 The clouds poured out water, the ſkies ſent out a ſound: thine arrows alſo went abroad. 18 The voice of thy thunder was in the heaven: the lightnings lightned the world, the earth trembled and ſhook. 19 Thy way is in the ſea, and thy path in the great waters, and thy foot-ſteps are not known. 20 Thou leddeſt thy people like a flock, by the hand of Moſes and Aaron.

A Pſalm compoſed by Aſaph, and ſent by him to their Song-maſter, who was over the Children of Jeduthun; in which, ſays Patrick, I imagined at firſt Sight, that he repreſented the ſad Condition of Hezekiah, and the Motions of his Heart towards God in his Sickneſs, 2 Chron. xxxii. 24. Iſa. xxxviii. 1. But, upon further Conſideration, it appears from the latter Part of it, that he bewails the Calamity of all the Nation; either when Sennacherib over-ran the Country; or elſe in the Captivity of Babylon. If we refer to the latter, then it was not Aſaph the Seer, that made this Pſalm; but ſome other in After-times (ſee Pſ. lxxiv.) who laments the long Continuance of their Captivity; which looked like an utter forſaking of God; but he comforts himſelf at the laſt with the Remembrance of what God had done formerly for them, when he delivered them out of the Egyptian Bondage.

Ver. 1. GIve ear, O my people, to my law: incline your ears to the words of my mouth. 2 I will open my mouth in a parable; I will utter dark ſayings of old: 3 Which w have heard and known, and our fathers have to us. 4 We will not hide them from their children ſhewing to the generation to come, the praiſes the Lord; and his ſtrength and his wonderf works that he hath done. 5 For he eſtabliſhed teſtimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Iſrae which he commanded our fathers that they ſhou make them known to their children. 6 That t generation to come might know them, even t children which ſhould be born: who ſhould ar and declare them to their children: 7 That th might ſet their hope in God, and not forget t works of God; but keep his commandment 8 And might not be as their fathers, a ſtu born and rebellious generation; a generati that ſet not their heart aright, and whoſe ſpi was not ſtedfaſt with God. 9 The children Ephraim being armed and carrying bows, tur ed back in the day of battle. 10 They ke not the covenant of God, and refuſed to walk his law: 11 And forgat his works, and wonders that he had ſhewed them. 12 M vellous things did he in the ſight of their fath in the land of Egypt in the field of Zoan. He divided the ſea, and cauſed them to p through, and he made the waters to ſtand as heap. 14 In the day time alſo he led th with a cloud, and all the night with a light fire. 15 He clave the rocks in the wilderne and gave them drink as out of the great dep 16 He brought ſtreams alſo out of the ro and cauſed waters to run down like rivers. And they ſinned yet more againſt him, by p voking the moſt High in the wilderneſs. And they tempted God in their heart, by aſki meat for their luſt. 19 Yea, they ſpake aga God: they ſaid, Can God furniſh a table in wilderneſs? 20 Behold, he ſmote the rock, t the waters guſhed out, and the ſtreams ov flowed; can he give bread alſo? can he prov fleſh for his people? 21 Therefore the L heard this, and was wroth, ſo a fire was kind againſt Jacob, and anger alſo came up againſt rael; 22 Becauſe they believed not in God, truſted not in his ſalvation: 23 Though he commanded the clouds from above, and ope the doors of heaven, 24 And had rained do manna upon them to eat, and had given th of the corn of heaven. 25 Man did eat ang food: he ſent them meat to the full. 26 cauſed an eaſt-wind to blow in the heaven: by his power he brought in the ſouth-wind. He rained fleſh alſo upon them as duſt, feathered fowls like as the ſand of the ſea. And he let it fall in the midſt of their camp, ro about their habitations. 29 So they did and were well filled: for he gave them their deſire; 30 They were not eſtranged from t luſt: but while their meat was yet in their mou 31 The wrath of God came upon them, ſlew the fatteſt of them, and ſmote down choſen men of Iſrael. 32 For all this they ſin ſtill: and believed not for his wondrous wo 33 Therefore their days did he conſume vanity, and their years in trouble. 34 W he ſlew them, then they ſought him; they returned and enquired early after God. And they remembred that God was their r and the high God their redeemer. 36 Ne th theleſs they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues. 37 For their heart was not right with him, neither were they ſtedfaſt in his covenant. 38 But he being full of compaſſion, forgave their iniquity, and deſtroyed them not; yea, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not ſtir up all his wrath. 39 For he remembred that they were but fleſh; a wind that paſſeth away and cometh not again. 40 How oft did they provoke him in the wilderneſs, and grieve him in the deſart? 41 Yea, they turned back and tempted God, and limited the Holy One of Iſrael. 42 They remembred not his hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the enemy. 43 How he had wrought his ſigns in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan: 44 And had turned their rivers into blood; and their floods that they could not drink. 45 He ſent divers ſorts of flies among them, which devoured them; and frogs, which deſtroyed them. 46 He gave alſo their increaſe unto the caterpillar, and their labour unto the locuſt. 47 He deſtroyed their vines with hail, and their ſycomore-trees with froſt. 48 He gave up their cattle alſo to the hail, and their flocks to hot thunder-bolts. 49 He caſt upon them the fierceneſs of his anger, wrath and indignation and trouble, by ſending evil angels among them. 50 He made a way to his anger, he ſpared not their ſoul from death: but gave their life over to the peſtilence. 51 And ſmote all the firſt-born in Egypt: the chief of their ſtrength in the tabernacles of Ham: 52 But made his own people to go forth like ſheep, and guided them in the wilderneſs like a flock. 53 And he led them on ſafely, ſo that they feared not: but the ſea overwhelmed their enemies. 54 And he brought them to the border of his ſanctuary, even to this mountain, which his right hand had purchaſed. 55 He caſt out the heathen alſo before them, and divided them an inheritance by line, and made the tribes of Iſrael to dwell in their tents. 56 Yet they tempted and provoked the moſt high God, and kept not his teſtimonies: 57 But turned back and dealt unfaithfully like their fathers: they were turned aſide like a deceitful bow. 58 For they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to jealouſie with their graven images. 59 When God heard this, he was wroth, and greatly abhorred Iſrael: 60 So that he forſook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent which he placed among men: 61 And delivered his ſtrength into captivity, and his glory into the enemies hand. 62 He gave his people over alſo unto the ſword: and was wroth with his inheritance. 63 The fire conſumed their young men: and their maidens were not given to marriage. 64 Their prieſts fell by the ſword: and their widows made no lamentation. 65 Then the Lord awaked as one out of ſleep, and like a mighty man that ſhouteth by reaſon of wine. 66 And he ſmote his enemies in the hinder parts: he put them to a perpetual reproach. 67 Moreover he refuſed the tabernacle of Joſeph: and choſe not the tribe of Ephraim. 68 But choſe the tribe of Judah, the mount Zion which he loved. 69 And he built his ſanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath eſtabliſhed for ever. 70 He choſe David alſo his ſervant, and took him from the ſheepfolds: 71 From following the ews great with young, he brought him to feed Jacob his people, and Iſrael his inheritance. 72 So he fed them according to the integrity of his heart: and guided them by the ſkilfulneſs of his hands.

A Pſalm of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance, thy holy temple have they defiled: they have laid Jeruſalem on heaps. 2 The dead bodies of thy ſervants have they given to be meat unto the fowls of the heaven, the fleſh of thy ſaints unto the beaſts of the earth. 3 Their blood have they ſhed like water round about Jeruſalem: and there was none to bury them. 4 We are become a reproach to our neighbours: a ſcorn and deriſion to them that are about us. 5 How long, Lord? wilt thou be angry for ever? ſhall thy jealouſie burn like fire? 6 Pour out thy wrath upon the heathen that have not known thee, and upon the kingdoms that have not called upon thy name. 7 For they have devoured Jacob, and laid waſte his dwelling-place. 8 O remember not againſt us former iniquities: let thy tender mercies ſpeedily prevent us: for we are brought very low. 9 Help us, O God of our ſalvation, for the glory of thy name: and deliver us and purge away our ſins for thy name ſake. 10 Wherefore ſhould the heathen ſay, Where is their God? let him be known among the heathen in our ſight by the revenging of the blood of thy ſervants which is ſhed. 11 Let the ſighing of the priſoner come before thee, according to the greatneſs of thy power: preſerve thou thoſe that are appointed to die. 12 And render unto our neighbours ſeven-fold into their boſom, their reproach wherewith they have reproached thee, O Lord. 13 So we thy people and ſheep of thy paſture, will give thee thanks for ever; we will ſhew forth thy praiſe to all generations.

This Pſalm was penn'd, in all Probability, upon the ſame Occaſion with the lxxivth, viz. the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Nebuchadnezzar: For, it's altogether unlikely, that this ſhould have Reſpect to the Times of Antiochus Epiphanes, as many imagine, and among the reſt Theodoret; which is the more ſtrange, becauſe the ſame Reaſon he gives there, why the lxxivth does not belong to thoſe Times (which he repeats again upon Pſ. lxxx. 17.) lies as ſtrongly againſt the Application of this Pſalm to the Fury and Rage wherewith that Prince fell upon the Jewiſh Nation: Whoſe miſerable Calamity under Nebuchadnezzar, we find bewailed by Jeremiah, who then lived (Jer. x. 25.) in the very Words of the 6th and 7th Verſes of this Pſalm; which is ſome Indication, that they belong both to the ſame Matter: But whether Jeremiah took them from Aſaph, or Aſaph from him, cannot certainly be determined. The latter is moſt likely, becauſe this Pſalm ſeems to have been written after that Deſolation had continued ſome Time.

A Pſalm of Aſaph.

Ver. 1. GOD ſtandeth in the congregation of the mighty: he judgeth among the gods? 2 How long will ye judge unjuſtly, and accept the perſons of the wicked? Selah. 3 Defend the poor and fatherleſs: do juſtice to the afflicted and needy. 4 Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked. 5 They know not, neither will they underſtand; they walk on in darkneſs: all the foundations of the earth are out of courſe. 6 I have ſaid, Ye are gods: and all of you are children of the moſt High. 7 But ye ſhall die like men, and fall like one of the princes. 8 Ariſe, O God, judge the earth: for thou ſhalt inherit all nations.

Tho' there had been a notable Reformation made by Jehoſhaphat, 2 Chron. xix. 5, 6, &c. which had been growing in the ſupreme Court of Judicature at Jeruſalem, as well as in the leſſer Courts in other Cities, ever ſince the Times of David and Solomon (who took Care to ſee Juſtice done, 1 Chron. xviii. 14. 1 Kings iii. 28.) yet it appears by the frequent Complaints of Iſaiah, that when Hezekiah (in whoſe Days that Prophet lived) came to the Crown, there was a general Depravation again; and that notwithſtanding the Amendment he had made in Matters of the Divine Worſhip (2 Chron. xxx, xxxi.) and his Reſolutions and Endeavours, no queſtion, to reform the Abuſes which were in their Civil Judicature, they continued ſtill exceeding Corrupt: Inſomuch that Iſaiah calls their Judges, Rulers of Sodom, Iſa. i. 10. (when he finds no Fault with their religious Services, Ver. 11, 12, &c.) and ſays, That their Princes were rebellious, Companions of Thieves, and Gifts, and following after Rewards, Ver. 23. Where, it is evident, he deſcribes the Judges in the higheſt Court of all; who are called by the Name of Princes in ſeveral Places, particularly in Jeremiah; and ſo being condemned by the Prieſts, and Prophets, and People, as a Man worthy to die, Jer. xxvi. 8, 9. is brought before the Princes, Ver. 10, 11. at whoſe Bar he cleared himſelf ſo well, that they acquitted him, Ver. 16.

And as there they are called Princes, with reſpect to their Superiority over the People; ſo here in this Pſalm, they are called Elohim, Gods, in reſpect to the Fountain of their Power, which was from the moſt High, who honoured them with his own Name; which was ſo frequent for thoſe of the ſupreme Court, that we, not unreaſonably, underſtand thoſe Words, Pſal. lxxxii. 13. which we render, chears the Heart of God and Man, in this Manner: Wine alike chears both Princes and People, Judges and Clients, the meaner Perſons (called in this Pſalm, Adam, Man, Ver. 6, 7.) as well as the greateſt, who in Oppoſition to them are called Gods: Whom Aſaph (who lived in the Time of Hezekiah, 2 Chron. xxix. 30.) admoniſhes to be more careful in their Duty; and to remember that God obſerved them, and would judge them.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

Church's Complaint of her Enemies Conſpiracies. Her Prayer againſt Oppreſſors; that God would fill them with Shame, and make them know, that he alone is Jehovah.

A Song or Pſalm of Aſaph.

1. KEEP not thou ſilence, O God: hold not thy peace, and be not ſtill, O God. 2 For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, have lift up the head. 3 They have taken crafty counſel againſt thy people, and conſulted againſt thy hidden ones. 4 They have ſaid, Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation: that the name of Iſrael may be no more in remembrance. 5 For they have conſulted together with one conſent: they are confederate againſt thee. 6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Iſhmaelites: of Moab, and the Hagarenes. 7 Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek, the Philiſtines, with the inhabitants of Tyre. 8 Aſſur alſo is joyned with them; they have holpen the children of Lot. Selah. 9 Do unto them, as unto the Midianites, as to Siſera, as to Jabin, at the brook of Kiſon: 10 Which periſhed at Endor: they became as dung for the earth. 11 Make their nobles like Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes as Zebah, and as Zalmunna: 12 Who ſaid, let us take to our ſelves the houſes of God in poſſeſſion. 13 O my God, make them like a wheel: as the ſtubble before the wind. 14 As the fire burneth the wood, and as the flame ſetteth the mountains on fire; 15 So perſecute them with thy tempeſt, and make them afraid with thy ſtorm. 16 Fill their faces with ſhame: that they may ſeek thy name, O Lord. 17 Let them be confounded and troubled for ever; yea, let them be put to ſhame and periſh; 18 That men may know, that thou whoſe name alone is JEHOVAH, art the moſt high over all the earth.

The Occaſion of this Pſalm is manifeſt from the Body of it; and it ſeems to have been a dangerous Attempt and Conſpiracy of divers neighbouring Nations, again Iſrael or Judah. It ſeems to be a Form of Prayer againſt the Danger the Church was in, probably, that mentioned, 2 Chron. xx. wherein the different Nations here mentioned, might be engaged, tho' all of them be not there expreſſed; this being uſual in the ſacred Hiſtorians, for the latter to record the Paſſages which the former omitted. Or, it may have a more general Reſpect to the ſeveral Enterprizes and Combinations of all thoſe People againſt them, ſome at one Time, and ſome at another.

PSAL. LXXXIV.

The Bleſſedneſs of thoſe who dwell in the Sanctuary. What the Word of the Lord is to them that truſt in him.

To the chief Muſician upon Gittith. A Pſalm for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. HOW amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hoſts: 2 My ſoul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my fleſh crieth out for the living God. 3 Yea, the ſparrow hath found an houſe, and the ſwallow a neſt for herſelf, where ſhe may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hoſts, my King, and my God. 4 Bleſſed are they that dwell in thy houſe; they will be ſtill praiſing thee. Selah. 5 Bleſſed is the man, whoſe ſtrength is in thee: in whoſe heart are the ways of them. 6 Who paſſing through the valley of Baca, make it a well: the rain alſo filleth the pools. 7 They go from ſtrength to ſtrength, every one of them in Zion appeareth before God. 8 O Lord God of hoſts, hear my prayer: give ear, O God of Jacob. Selah. 9 Behold, O God our ſhield, and look upon the face of thine anointed. 10 For a day in thy courts is better than a thouſand: I had rather be a door-keeper in the houſe of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedneſs. 11 For the Lord God is a ſun and ſhield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. 12 O Lord of hoſts, bleſſed is the man that truſteth in thee.

It is uncertain to what Times this Pſalm belongs. They ſeem to have moſt Reaſon on their Side, who think it was compoſed on the ſame Occaſion with the xliid and xliiid, when David was forced from Jeruſalem by the Rebellion of his Son Abſalom, moſt paſſionately longed to be reſtored to the Place of God's Worſhip. But it may as well, or better, in my Judgment, ſays Patrick, be thought to have been compoſed by ſome pious Levite in the Country, when Sennacherib's Army had blocked up the Way to Jeruſalem, and hindered them from waiting upon the Service of God in the Temple; where he judged the loweſt Miniſter, that of a Porter (Ver. 10.) to be far more honourable, than the higheſt Preferment among Pagan Nations.

Who paſſing through the Valley of Baca, make it a Well] Baca, a Place ſo called, which ſome Jewiſh and other Writers affirm, was a very dry Place, and therefore incommodious for Travellers in thoſe hot Countries, and in hot Seaſons. Which Place may be here mentioned, not excluſive of other Ways and Paſſages; for this Highway being but one, and on one Side of Jeruſalem, could not be a general Way for all the Iſraelites thither, but Synechdochically, for all the Places of the like Nature, which made their Journey to Jeruſalem unpleaſant or inconvenient. But their Zeal for God's Service eaſily overcame theſe and other Difficulties. Or, The Valley of Tears, as this Valley might be called, for the Trouble and Vexation which Travellers found of Drought, or otherwiſe.

They make it a Well, or Wells. That is, they dig divers little Pits or Wells in it for their Relief. This Trouble they willingly undertook, rather than neglect the Opportunity of going up to Jeruſalem at their ſolemn Feaſts. And poſſibly they did this, not only for themſelves, but for the Benefit of other Travellers who came after them. See Pool's Annot.

PSAL. LXXXV.

The Pſalmiſt prays for the Continuance of God's Mercies; reſolves to wait on the Lord, and hear what he will ſpeak. His Confidence in his Goodneſs, Mercy and Truth.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm for the Sons of Korah.

Ver. 1. LORD, thou haſt been favourable unto thy land: thou haſt brought back the captivity of Jacob. 2 Thou haſt forgiven the iniquity of thy people, thou haſt covered all their ſins. Selah. 3 Thou haſt taken away all thy wrath: thou haſt turned thy ſelf from the fierceneſs of thine anger. 4 Turn us, O God of our ſalvation, and cauſe thine anger towards us to ceaſe. 5 Wilt thou be angry with us for ever? wilt thou draw out thine anger to all generations? 6 Wilt thou not revive us again: that thy people may rejoice in thee? 7 Shew us thy mercy, O Lord, and grant us thy ſalvation. 8 I will hear what God the Lord will ſpeak: for he will ſpeak peace unto his people, and to his ſaints; but let them not turn again to folly. 9 Surely his ſalvation is nigh them that fear him; that glory may dwell in our land. 10 Mercy and truth are met together: righteouſneſs and peace have kiſſed each other. 11 Truth ſhall ſpring out of the earth: and righteouſneſs ſhall look down from heaven. 12 Yea, the Lord ſhall give that which is good: and our land ſhall yield her increaſe. 13 Righteouſneſs ſhall go before him: and ſhall ſet us in the way of his ſteps.

It is thought by many, that this Pſalm was compoſed by ſome of the Sons of Korah, after David's Baniſhment from Jeruſalem by his Son Abſalom (called a Captivity, as we read Iſa. xiv. ult.) and his happy Reſtoration to his Kingdom; tho' not to ſuch a Settlement as they deſired. But it may as well, or better, be applied to the miraculous Providence which drove Sennacherib out of the Land (who had taken many Captives, Iſa. v. 13.) and reſtored them to the happy Liberty, whoſe Loſs they bewailed in the Pſalm foregoing.

Which Way ſoever we underſtand it, the Compoſure is ſuch, that it might be much better uſed by them after their Return from the Captivity of Babylon, than at any other Time; when they were infeſted with many Enemies, who diſturbed the peaceable Enjoyment of their Country and Religion. And therefore it is poſſible it might be reviewed, if not made, in thoſe Days, and delivered to the chief Maſter of Muſick in the Temple, to be ſung preſently after the Foundation of it was laid; (Ezra iii. 10, 11, &c.) but the Work hinder'd from proceeding by the Oppoſition of their Enemies.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

David ſtrengthens himſelf in Prayer, and deſires the Continuance of God's Grace; complains of his proud Enemies, and entreats for ſome Token of his Love, to their Shame and Confuſion.

A Prayer of David.

Ver. 1. BOw down thine ear, O Lord, hear me: for I am poor and needy. 2 Preſerve my ſoul, for I am holy: O thou my God, ſave thy ſervant that truſteth in thee. 3 Be merciful unto me, O Lord: for I cry unto thee daily. 4 Rejoice the ſoul of thy ſervant: for unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my ſoul. 5 For thou, Lord, art good and ready to forgive, and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon thee. 6 Give ear, O Lord, unto my prayer: and attend to the voice of my ſupplications. 7 In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee: for thou wilt anſwer me. 8 Among the gods there is none like unto thee, O Lord; neither are there any works like unto thy works. 9 All nations whom thou haſt made ſhall come and worſhip before thee, O Lord: and ſhall glorifie thy name. 10 For thou art great and doeſt wondrous things: thou art God alone. 11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name. 12 I will praiſe thee, O Lord my God, with all my heart: and I will glorifie thy name for evermore. 13 For great is thy mercy toward me, and thou haſt delivered my ſoul from the loweſt hell. 14 O God, the proud are riſen against me, and the aſſemblies of violent men have ſought after my ſoul: and have not ſet thee before them. 15 But thou, O Lord, art a God full of compaſſion, and gracious: long-ſuffering and plenteous in mercy and truth. 16 O turn unto me, and have mercy upon me, give thy ſtrength unto thy ſervant, and ſave the ſon of thine handmaid. 17 Shew me a token for good hat they which hate me may ſee it, and be ſhamed: becauſe thou, Lord, haſt holden me, nd comforted me.

Preſerve my Soul, for I am holy] That is, ſanctied, in ſome Meaſure, by thy Grace, and ſincerely evoted to thy Service. This David ſpeaks, not in a Way of vain Oſtentation, but, partly, as a powerful Arument to move God to hear his Prayer, becauſe he as one of thoſe to whom God had engaged himſelf Promiſe and Covenant; and, partly, by way of juſt indication of himſelf from the Cenſures of his Eneies, who repreſented him to the World as a groſs iſſembler, and ſecretly a very wicked Man; concernwhich he here makes a ſolemn Appeal to God, iring Audience and Help from God, on no other erms than upon this Suppoſition, that he was a holy an, which, by the Way, ſavoureth no more of Arrance, than where he, in another Place, profeſſeth great Love to, and Longing after God, his ſincere bedience to all God's Commands, and his Hatred of ery falſe Way, and the like.

e Prophet celebrates the Glory of the Church, and God's Love to it; of the Increaſe, Honour, and Comfort thereof.

A Pſalm or Song for the Sons of Korah.

v. 1. HIS foundation is in the holy mountains. 2 The Lord loveth the tes of Zion, more than all the dwellings of cob. 3 Glorious things are ſpoken of thee, city of God. Selah. 4 I will make mention Rahab and Babylon, to them that know me; hold Philiſtia, and Tyre with Ethiopia: this n was born there. 5 And of Zion it ſhall be d, This and that man was born in her: and Higheſt himſelf ſhall eſtabliſh her. 6 The rd ſhall count when he writeth up the people, this man was born there. Selah. 7 As well ſingers as the players on inſtruments ſhall be re: all my ſprings are in thee.

This Pſalm was, without doubt, compoſed after the lding of the Temple; and, as learned Men think, it ſeems probable, when the People were newly rned out of Babylon, and laboured under many couragements about the Return of their Brethren; the very many Difficulties and Obſtructions they with in rebuilding their Temple and City.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

Pſalmiſt declares his former Practice of Prayer o God; begs preſent Audience; declares his Miery and Frailty, and what he ſuffered from God's Wrath, and the Unkindneſs of his Friends. His Mourning and Ejaculation.

ong or Pſalm for the Sons of Korah, to the hief Muſician upon Mahalath Leannoth, Maſbil of Heman the Ezrahite.

v. 1. O Lord God of my ſalvation, I have cried day and night before thee. 2 my prayer come before thee: incline thine unto my cry. 3 For my ſoul is full of bies: and my life draweth nigh unto the ve. 4 I am counted with them that go down the pit: I am as a man that hath no ſtrength. ree among the dead, like the ſlain that lie in grave, whom thou remembreſt no more: they are cut off from thy hand. 6 Thou id me in the loweſt pit, in darkneſs, in the deeps. 7 Thy wrath lieth hard upon me, and thou haſt afflicted me with all thy waves. Selah. 8 Thou haſt put away mine acquaintance far from me: thou haſt made me an abomination unto them: I am ſhut up, and I cannot come forth. 9 Mine eye mourneth by reaſon of affliction: Lord, I have called daily upon thee, I have ſtretched out my hands unto thee. 10 Wilt thou ſhew wonders to the dead? ſhall the dead ariſe and praiſe thee? Selah. 11 Shall thy lovingkindneſs be declared in the grave? or thy faithfulneſs in deſtruction? 12 Shall thy wonders be known in the dark? and thy righteouſneſs in the land of forgetfulneſs? 13 But unto thee have I cried, O Lord, and in the morning ſhall my prayer prevent thee. 14 Lord, why caſteſt thou off my ſoul? why hideſt thou thy face from me? 15 I am afflicted and ready to die, from my youth up: while I ſuffer thy terrors, I am diſtracted. 16 Thy fierce wrath goeth over me, thy terrors have cut me off. 17 They came round about me daily like water, they compaſſed me about together. 18 Lover and friend haſt thou put far from me, and mine acquaintance into darkneſs.

Mahalath. This ſeems to be the Name of the Tune or Inſtrument, Pſ. liii. — Leannoth. This may be either the latter Part of the proper Name of the Tune or Inſtrument; or an appellative Name; and ſo ſome render it, to ſing, or to be ſung, to wit, alternately.

Who this Heman was, is uncertain. Not he who was the famous Singer in David's Time, for he was of the Tribe of Levi, (1 Chron. vi. 32. xv. 17.) whereas this was deſcended from Zerah, who was one of the Sons of Judah, 1 Chron. ii. 6. where we find indeed not only Heman, but Ethan, (to whom the next Pſalm is aſcribed) mentioned as two of Zerah's Sons: But we cannot reaſonably think that they were, in thoſe early Times, the Authors of theſe two Pſalms; becauſe Ethan plainly makes mention of David, and the Promiſe which God had paſſed to him of a perpetual Kingdom.

It remains therefore that theſe two here mentioned were of the Poſterity of the Sons of Zerah (thence called Ezrahites) and had the Names of their noble Anceſtors given them, to perpetuate the Memory of thoſe who were ſo famous for Wiſdom, 1 Kings iv. 31.

But in what Time they lived, cannot certainly be determined; it is probable when Jechoniah, otherwiſe called Jehoiachin (or after him Zedekiah) was taken, and carried captive to Babylon, together with Abundance of the Nobility, and principal Commanders and Artizans, 2 Kings xxiv. 14, 15, 16. In ſome of which Ranks, I ſuppoſe, ſays Patrick, this Heman was; who being caſt into a dark Priſon, (which hath made ſome fancy Jehoiachin himſelf made it) Ver. 6, 8. or otherwiſe as miſerably treated as if he had been in a Dungeon; bewails his private Calamity; as Ethan in the next Pſalm doth the Publick.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

The Pſalmiſt praiſes God for keeping Covenant with David and his Seed; for his Care over the Church; and for his Favours to the Kingdom. Complains, expoſtulates with, prays to, and bleſſes God.

Maſchil of Ethan the Ezrahite.

Ver. 1. I Will ſing of the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulneſs to all generations. 2 For I have ſaid, Mercy ſhall be built up for ever: thy faithfulneſs ſhalt thou eſtabliſh in the very heavens.

heavens. 3 I have made a covenant with my choſen, I have ſworn unto David my ſervant. 4 Thy ſeed will I eſtabliſh for ever, and build up thy throne to all generations. Selah. 5 And the heavens ſhall praiſe thy wonders, O Lord: thy faithfulneſs alſo in the congregation of the ſaints. 6 For who in the heaven can be compared unto the Lord? who among the ſons of the mighty can be likened unto the Lord? 7 God is greatly to be feared in the aſſembly of the ſaints: and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him. 8 O Lord God of hoſts, who is a ſtrong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulneſs round about thee? 9 Thou ruleſt the raging of the ſea: when the waves thereof ariſe, thou ſtilleſt them. 10 Thou haſt broken Rahab in pieces, as one that is ſlain; thou haſt ſcattered thine enemies with thy ſtrong arm. 11 The heavens are thine, the earth alſo is thine: as for the world, and the fulneſs thereof, thou haſt founded them. 12 The north and the ſouth thou haſt created them: Tabor and Hermon ſhall rejoice in thy name. 13 Thou haſt a mighty arm: ſtrong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand. 14 Juſtice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth ſhall go before thy face. 15 Bleſſed is the people that know the joyful ſound: they ſhall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance. 16 In thy name ſhall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteouſneſs ſhall they be exalted. 17 For thou art the glory of their ſtrength; and in thy favour our horn ſhall be exalted. 18 For the Lord is our defence: and the holy One of Iſrael is our king. 19 Then thou ſpakeſt in viſion to the holy One, and ſaidſt, I have laid help upon one that is mighty: I have exalted one choſen out of the people. 20 I have found David my ſervant: with my holy oyl have I anointed him. 21 With whom my hand ſhall be eſtabliſhed: mine arm alſo ſhall ſtrengthen him. 22 The enemy ſhall not exact upon him: nor the ſon of wickedneſs afflict him. 23 And I will beat down his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him. 24 But my faithfulneſs and my mercy ſhall be with him: and in my name ſhall his horn be exalted. 25 I will ſet his hand alſo in the ſea, and his right hand in the rivers. 26 He ſhall cry unto me, Thou art my father, my God, and the rock of my ſalvation. 27 Alſo I will make him my firſt-born, higher than the kings of the earth. 28 My mercy will I keep for him for evermore, and my covenant ſhall ſtand faſt with him. 29 His ſeed alſo will I make to endure for ever, and his throne as the days of heaven. 30 If his children forſake my law, and walk not in my judgments; 31 If they break my ſtatutes, and keep not my commandments: 32 Then will I viſit their tranſgreſſion with the rod, and their iniquity with ſtripes. 33 Nevertheleſs, my loving-kindneſs will I not utterly take from him, nor ſuffer my faithfulneſs to fail. 34 My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips. 35 Once have I ſworn by my holineſs, that I will not lie unto David. 36 His ſeed ſhall endure for ever, and his throne as the ſun before me. 37 It ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witneſs in heaven. Selah. 38 But thou haſt caſt off and abhorred, thou haſt been wroth with thine anointed. 39 Thou haſt made void the covenant of thy ſervant: thou haſt profaned his crown, by caſting it to the ground. 40 Thou haſt broken down all his hedges, thou haſt brought his ſtrong holds to ruin. 41 All that paſs by the way ſpoil him: he is a reproach to his neighbours. 42 Thou haſt ſet up the right hand of his adverſaries; thou haſt made all his enemies to rejoice. 43 Thou haſt alſo turned the edge of his ſword, and haſt not made him to ſtand in the battle. 44 Thou haſt made his glory to ceaſe, and caſt his throne down to the ground. 45 The days of his youth haſt thou ſhortened; thou haſt covered him with ſhame. Selah. 46 How long, Lord, wilt thou hide thy ſelf, for ever? ſhall thy wrath burn like fire? 47 Remember how ſhort my time is: wherefore haſt thou made all men in vain? 48 What man is he that liveth, and ſhall not ſee death? ſhall he deliver his ſoul from the hand of the grave? Selah. 49 Lord, where are thy former loving-kindneſſes, which thou ſwareſt unto David in thy truth? 50 Remember, Lord, the reproach of thy ſervants; how I do bear in my boſom the reproach of all the mighty people; 51 Wherewith thine enemies have reproached, O Lord; wherewith they have reproached the footſteps of thine anointed. 52 Bleſſed be the Lord for evermore, Amen, and amen.

The Author of this Pſalm was near of Kin to him that made the foregoing, (as was there obſerv'd) and they lived, I ſuppoſe, ſays Patrick, in the ſame Time. Only Heman bewailed ſome private Affliction which had befallen him; whereas Ethan (after a thankful Acknowledgment of the Benefits God beſtowed upon them, and eſpecially of his Promiſe made to David by Samuel and Nathan of ſettling the Kingdom upon him and his Poſterity for ever) ſadly laments the public Calamity, by the Subverſion of the Royal Family and Government, in the Days of Jehoiachin, or Zedekiah. Whoſe miſerable Fate ſeems in the Concluſion of the Pſalm to be bewailed with the greater Paſſion, becauſe it looked like a Breach of God's Promiſe to David; and gave the Babylonians and other Nations who aſſiſted in their Deſtruction, Occaſion to ſay that notwithſtanding all the Promiſes they boaſted of and the Fidelity of their God in their Performance, there was now a Period put to David's Family and Kingdom.

That's the cleareſt Account I can give of the Meaning of the laſt Clauſe of the laſt Verſe but one; where we read that they reproached the Foot-ſteps of his anointed. The Word we render Foot-ſteps, ſignifies properly the Heel of a Man's Foot; and from thence is transferred to ſignify the End of any Thing, as in Pſal. cxix. 33. which Notion of it, in my Judgment, beſt ſuits with all that goes before in the Pſalm, concerning the Stability of David's Kingdom; which their Enemies now boaſted (as we ſay) they ſaw upon its Legs: And the Truth is, it was never reſtored to the Family, till Chriſt, the great Son of David, came, to whom ſome Paſſages in this Pſalm are applied even by the Jews themſelves.

Moſes declares the Eternity and Providence of God; deſcribes the Miſery and Shortneſs of Man's Life; prays for Wiſdom to number his Days; and for the Knowledge and ſenſible Experience of God's good Providence.

from everlaſting to everlaſting thou art God. 3
Thou turneſt man to deſtruction: and ſayeſt, Return ye children of men. 4 For a thouſand years in thy ſight are but as yeſterday when it is paſt, and as a watch in the night. 5 Thou a ſleep: in the morning they are like graſs which groweth up. 6 In the morning it flouriſheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth. 7 For we are conſumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled. 8 Thou haſt ſet our iniquities before thee, our ſecret ſins in the light of thy countenance. 9 For all our days are paſſed away in thy wrath: we ſpend our years as a tale that is told. 10 The days of our years are threeſcore years and ten; and if by reaſon of ſtrength they be fourſcore years, yet is their ſtrength, labour and ſorrow: for it is ſoon cut off, and we flie away. 11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? even according to thy fear, ſo is thy wrath. 12 So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wiſdom. 13 Return, O Lord, how long? and let it repent thee concerning thy ſervants. 14

O ſatisfie us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days. 15 Make us glad according to the days wherein thou haſt afflicted us, and the years wherein we have ſeen and thy glory unto their children. 17 And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us:

and eſtabliſh thou the work of our hands, up-

Here begins the fourth Book of Pſalms; in this differing from the reſt, that as thoſe of the firſt Book are moſt of them aſcribed to David, and thoſe of the ſecond, in great Part, to the Sons of Korah, and thoſe of the third to Aſaph; ſo there are few of theſe whoſe Author is certainly known: And therefore, ſays Pa- trick, I ſuppoſe, were all put together in one and the ſame Collection. The firſt of them indeed being made by Moſes, the Hebrews have entertained a Conceit (which St. Jerome and St. Hillary alſo follow) that he was the Author alſo of the Ten next enſuing: But as there is no Reaſon for that, ſo I can ſee no Cauſe why we ſhould fancy David, or ſome of the Children of Korah in his Time, or a Singer of that Name (as Ezra conjectures) to have compoſed this preſent Pſalm; when not only the Title expreſly gives it to Moſes who was the Man of God (as their Lawgiver is called Deut. xxxiii. 1.) or that famous Prophet by whom God ſpake to them; but the Chaldee Paraphraſe, and the very Matter of the Pſalm ſufficiently ſhew, that it was a Meditation of his, when the People offended ſo highly againſt God in the Wil-derneſs (eſpecially by murmuring at the Relation the Spies brought them of the good Land, Numb. xiv.)
that he ſhorten'd their Lives to ſeventy or eighty Years at moſt; and ſuffer'd them not to arrive at the Years of their Anceſtors, or of Moſes, Caleb, and Jo- ſhua, whoſe Lives he prolonged to an hundred and ten Years.

PSAL. XCI.

The Pſalmiſt deſcribes the happy State of the Godly, their Safety, and Place of Habitation.

Ver. 1. HE that dwelleth in the ſecret place of the moſt High, ſhall abide under the ſhadow of the Almighty. 2 I will ſay of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortreſs: my God, in him will I truſt. 3 Surely he ſhall deliver thee from the ſnares of the fowler: and from the noiſome peſtilence. 4 He ſhall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings ſhalt thou truſt: his truth ſhall be thy ſhield and buckler.
5 Thou ſhalt not be afraid for the terror by night: nor for the arrow that flieth by day: 6
Nor for the peſtilence that walketh in darkneſs:
nor for the deſtruction that waſteth at noon-day.
7 A thouſand ſhall fall at thy ſide, and ten thouſand at thy right hand: but it ſhall not come nigh thee.
8 Only with thine eyes ſhalt thou behold, and ſee the reward of the wicked. 9 Becauſe thou haſt made the Lord which is my refuge, even the moſt High, thy habitation: 10 There ſhall no evil befall thee, neither ſhall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. 11 For he ſhall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. 12 They ſhall bear thee up in their hands, leſt thou daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone.
13 Thou ſhalt tread upon the lion, and adder:
the young lion, and the dragon ſhalt thou trample under feet. 14 Becauſe he hath ſet his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will ſet him on high, becauſe he hath known my name. 15 He ſhall call upon me, and I will anſwer him: I will be with him in trouble, I will deliver him and honour him. 16 With long life will I ſatisfie him, and ſhew him my ſalvation.

The Author of this Pſalm is not known, but the Occaſion ſeems to have been ſome great Peſtilence. Now, ſays Patrick, there is no Peſtilence ſo likely to have given Occaſion to this Pſalm, as that in the latter End of David's Reign; who having number'd the People, and not made thoſe Acknowledgments to God which the Law in that Caſe deſcribed, (Exod. xii.) had this ſad Choice given him by the Prophet Gad, whether he would be puniſhed for his Negligence by Famine, by the Sword of his Enemies, or by Peſtilence. And ſubmitting to the laſt, was taught, very probably, by that Prophet, called David's Seer, to recommend himſelf to the divine Protection, in the Words of this Pſalm. For that David himſelf was the Author, as ſome conceive, is not ſo probable; becauſe there is no ſuch Confeſſion of his Sin, and Deprecation of the divine Diſpleaſure in this Pſalm, as we read he made on that Occaſion, 2 Sam. xxiv. 1 Chron. xxi. unleſs we will imagine, that he made this Pſalm after that Plague, to direct and excite all others to make God their Refuge, as he had done, in ſuch-like Calamities.

The antient Interpreters, by Shacal, (which commonly ſignifies a Lion) do ſo unanimouſly underſtand ſome Kind of Serpent, and not without Reaſon (as Bochart hath demonſtrated) that I muſt take the Word in the ſame Senſe, Ver. 13.

PSAL. XCII.

An Exhortation to praiſe God for his great Works; his Judgments on the Wicked, and gracious Promiſes to the Righteous, who ſhall be fruitful.

A Pſalm or Song for the Sabbath-day.

Ver. 1. IT is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to ſing praiſes unto thy name, O moſt High: 2 To ſhew forth thy loving-kindneſs in the morning, and thy faith-fulneſs every night; 3 Upon an inſtrument of ten ſtrings, and upon the pſaltery; upon the harp with a ſolemn ſound. 4 For thou, Lord, haſt made me glad through thy work: I will triumph in the works of thy hands. 5 O Lord, how great are thy work! and thy thoughts are very deep. 6 A brutiſh man knoweth not: neither doth a fool underſtand this. 7 When the wicked ſpring as the graſs, and when all the workers of iniquity do flouriſh: it is that they ſhall be deſtroyed for ever. 8 But thou, Lord, art moſt high for evermore. 9 For lo thine enemies, O Lord: for lo thine enemies ſhall periſh: all the workers of iniquity ſhall be ſcattered. 10 But my horn ſhalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I ſhalt be anointed with freſh oyl. 11 Mine eye alſo ſhall ſee my deſire on mine enemies; and mine ears ſhall hear my deſire of the wicked that riſe up againſt me. 12 The righteous ſhall flouriſh like the palm-tree: he ſhall grow like a cedar in Lebanon. 13 Thoſe that be planted in the houſe of the Lord, ſhall flouriſh in the courts of our God. 14 They ſhall ſtill bring forth fruit in old age: they ſhall be fat and flouriſhing: 15 To ſhew that the Lord is upright: he is my rock, and there is no unrighteouſneſs in him.

If Adam had made this Pſalm preſently after he was created, in the Evening of the Sabbath (which is a Rabbinical Fancy, mentioned in the Midraſh upon this Place) ſure it would have been ſet in this fourth Book of Pſalms, before that of Moſes, who may more probably be conceived to have compoſed it, to raiſe the Hearts of the Iſraelites, to the proper Buſineſs of the Sabbath-day; which was to praiſe God, when they meditated upon his wonderful Works, not only of Creation, but of Providence, in the Government of the World.

But there is no Certainty of theſe Things, or rather it is certain that neither of theſe Conjectures is true. For as Adam in Paradiſe had no Enemies to riſe up againſt him, nor was troubled with any Workers of Iniquity (as Ver. 7, 11.) and there were no Pſalteries, Harps, and Inſtruments of Muſick then made, which Moſes himſelf ſays, were found out by Jubal; ſo thoſe Inſtruments were not employed in the Service of God till the Days of David; who may therefore more reaſonably be thought to have made this Pſalm for the Sabbath, than either of the other; after God had given him ſuch Reſt round about from all his Enemies, 2 Sam. vii. 2. that he concluded he ſhould be able to ſubdue thoſe who ſhould hereafter adventure to oppoſe him; ſuch as thoſe mentioned in the following Chapter, 2 Sam. viii. 10.

PSAL. XCIII.

A Deſcription of the Majeſty and Power of God. The Certainty of God's Word, and the Neceſſity of Holineſs in God's Houſe.

Ver. 1. THE Lord reigneth, he is cloathed with majeſty, the Lord is cloathed with ſtrength wherewith he hath girded himſelf: the world alſo is ſtabliſhed that it cannot be moved. 2 Thy throne is eſtabliſhed of old: thou art from everlaſting. 3 The floods are lifted up, O Lord, the floods have lifted up their voice, the floods have lift up their waves. 4 The Lord on high is mightier than the noiſe of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the ſea. 5 Thy teſtimonies are very ſure: holineſs becometh thine houſe, O Lord, for ever.

There is no Title in the Hebrew to tell us who was the Author of this Pſalm; nor was there any in Origen's Hexaplus, or in Euſebius, as Theodoret confeſſes; who found in the Greek Copy which he uſed, this Pſalm called, An Ode of David in Praiſe of God. To which hath been ſince added, in the Day before the Sabbath, when the Earth began to be inhabited. Which Muſculus thinks, was not raſhly done by the Greeks; but ſuſpects they were moved to it, becauſe they knew, perhaps, that the Jews uſed this Pſalm upon that Day: As indeed they did; for the Words of the Talmud, in the Title Kediſhim, confirm his Suſpicion; which are theſe, (as I find them ſet down by de Dieu upon the foregoing Pſalm) The Canticles which the Levite ſung in the Sanctuary, were as follow; on the firſt Day of the Week the xxiv. on the ſecond the xlviii. the third the lxxxii. on the fourth the xciv. on the fifth the lxxxi. on the ſixth the xciii. and on the ſeventh the xcii.

Nor is the Matter of this Pſalm more diſtant from the foregoing, than the ſixth Day is from the ſeventh; for it ſeems to me, ſays Patrick, to have been compoſed, when ſome of thoſe potent Enemies began to take Heart again, and threaten to diſturb David's Peace and Tranquillity; which, in the foregoing Pſalm, he ſaid he was confident they ſhould never be able to overthrow. Tho', in the more ſublime Senſe, it ought to be applied to the Stability of Chriſt's Kingdom, which ſeveral of the Jews acknowledge, is propheſied of in this, and in all the Pſalms that follow unto the Hundredth.

PSAL. XCIV.

The Pſalmiſt calls to God for Juſtice; complains of Tyranny and Impiety; teaches Fools God's Providence; ſhews the bleſſed Effects of inſtruction. God the Defence and Refuge of the Afflicted.

Ver. 1. O Lord God, to whom vengeance belongeth: O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, ſhew thy ſelf. 2 Lift up thy ſelf, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud. 3 Lord, how long ſhall the wicked, how long ſhall the wicked triumph? 4 How long ſhall they utter and ſpeak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity boaſt themſelves? 5 They break in pieces thy people, O Lord, and afflict thine heritage. 6 They ſlay the widow and the ſtranger, and murder the fatherleſs. 7 Yet they ſay, The Lord ſhall not ſee: neither ſhall the God of Jacob regard it. 8 Underſtand, ye brutiſh among the people: and ye fools, when will ye be wiſe? 9 He that planteth the ear, ſhall he not hear? he that formed the eye, ſhall he not ſee? 10 He that chaſtiſeth the heathen, ſhall not he correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, ſhall not he know? 11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity. 12 Bleſſed is the man whom thou chaſteneſt, O Lord, and teacheſt him out of thy law: 13 That thou mayeſt give him reſt from the days of adverſity, until the pit be digged for the wicked. 14 For the Lord will not caſt off his people, neither will he forſake his inheritance. 15 But judgment ſhall return unto righteouſneſs: and all the upright in heart ſhall follow it. 16 Who will riſe up for me againſt the evil doers? or who will ſtand up for me againſt the workers of iniquity? 17 Unleſs the Lord had been my help, my ſoul had almoſt dwelt in ſilence. 18 When I ſaid, My foot ſlippeth: thy mercy, O Lord, held me up. 19 In the multitude of my thoughts within me, thy comforts delight my ſoul. 20 Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowſhip with thee, which frameth miſchief by a law? 21 They gather themſelves together againſt the ſoul of the righteous, righteous; and condemn the innocent blood. 22 But the Lord is my defence: and my God is the rock of my refuge. 23 And he ſhall bring upon them their own iniquity, and ſhall cut them off in their own wickedneſs; yea, the Lord our God ſhall cut them off.

This Pſalm alſo wants an Inſcription in the Hebrew, to tell us who was the Author of it; but the later Greeks entitle David to it; and call it, A Pſalm of his for the fourth Day of the Week; which they had (as above ſhewn) from the Hebrew Tradition in the Talmud. And he hath little Acquaintance with the Hiſtory of David, who doth not ſee here is an exact Deſcription of the Court of Saul, who abuſed their Authority to all Manner of Oppreſſion and Violence, eſpecially againſt David, without any Fear of God, or Thought that he would call them to an Account for it; as he complains in ſeveral other Pſalms; particularly LVII, LVIII, LIX.

PSAL. XCV.

An Exhortation to praiſe God. A Caution againſt Hardneſs of Heart; God's Threatening againſt it confirmed by an Oath.

Ver. 1. O Come, let us ſing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noiſe to the rock of our ſalvation. 2 Let us come before his preſence with thankſgiving, and make a joyful noiſe unto him with pſalms. 3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods. 4 In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the ſtrength of the hills is his alſo. 5 The ſea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land. 6 O come, let us worſhip and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. 7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his paſture, and the ſheep of his hand: to-day if ye will hear his voice, 8 Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderneſs: 9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and ſaw my work. 10 Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and ſaid, It is a people that do err in their heart, and they have not known my ways. 11 Unto whom I ſware in my wrath, that they ſhould not enter into my reſt.

This Pſalm, tho' it has no Title in the Hebrew, yet in the Greeks is called A Pſalm of David: See alſo Heb. iv. 7. Altho' it is delivered in general Terms, as an Invitation to Mankind to yield unto the true God that Praiſe, Worſhip and Obedience which he requires and deſerves, yet it hath a ſpecial Reference to the Days of the Meſſiah; of which Chriſtians have great Reaſon to doubt, ſeeing it is underſtood ſo by the Hebrew Doctors themſelves; alſo by the Apoſtle Heb. iii. 7, &c. and eſpecially Heb. iv. 3 — 9, where he not only expounds it of thoſe Times, but proves that it cannot be meant of the former Times or State of the Church.

PSAL. XCVI.

The Inhabitants of Heaven, Earth, and Sea, are called upon to praiſe the Lord, for his great Honour and Majeſty, and for his wiſe Government of the World.

Ver. 1. O Sing unto the Lord a new ſong: ſing unto the Lord all the earth. 2 Sing unto the Lord, bleſs his name: ſhew forth his ſalvation from day to day. 3 Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people. 4 For the Lord is great, and greatly to be praiſed: he is to be feared above all gods. 5 For all the gods of the nations are idols: but the Lord made the heavens. 6 Honour and majeſty are before him: ſtrength and beauty are in his ſanctuary. 7 Give unto the Lord, O ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and ſtrength. 8 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering and come into his courts. 9 O worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs: fear before him all the earth. 10 Say among the heathen, that the Lord reigneth: the world alſo ſhall be eſtabliſhed that it ſhall not be moved; he ſhall judge the people righteouſly. 11 Let the heavens rejoyce, and let the earth be glad: let the ſea roar, and the fulneſs thereof. 12 Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein: then ſhall all the trees of the wood rejoyce 13 Before the Lord; for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth; he ſhall judge the world with righteouſneſs, and the people with his truth.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, upon Occaſion, or at the Time of bringing the Ark into the Tabernacle, which God had prepared for it in Zion, as may be gathered by comparing it with 1 Chron. xvi. 7, 23, 24, &c. where almoſt the whole Pſalm is to be found. As the Ark was an evident Type of the Meſſiah, ſo David's Thoughts, or at leaſt the Deſign of the Spirit of God, which indited this Pſalm, was extended beyond, and above it, even to the Time of the Meſſiah, and to his glorious and univerſal Kingdom, in which, not the Jews only, but the Gentiles ſhould worſhip the true God, and kiſs his Son the Meſſiah.

PSAL. XCVII.

A Deſcription of the Majeſty of God's Kingdom; the Church's Joy at his Juſtice and Judgment upon Idolaters. An Exhortation to Godlineſs and ſpiritual Rejoicing.

Ver. 1. THE Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice: let the multitude of iſles be glad thereof. 2 Clouds and darkneſs are round about him: righteouſneſs and judgment are the habitation of his throne. 3 A fire goeth before him, and burneth up his enemies round about. 4 His lightnings enlighten the world; the earth ſaw and trembled. 5 The hills melted like wax at the preſence of the Lord: at the preſence of the Lord of the whole earth. 6 The heavens declare his righteouſneſs: and all the people ſee his glory. 7 Confounded be all they that ſerve graven images, that boaſt themſelves of idols: worſhip him all ye gods. 8 Zion heard, and was glad, and the daughters of Judah rejoiced; becauſe of thy judgments, O Lord. 9 For thou, Lord, art high above all the earth: thou art exalted far above all gods. 10 Ye that love the Lord, hate evil: he preſerveth the ſouls of his ſaints, he delivereth them out of the hand of the wicked. 11 Light is ſown for the righteous, and gladneſs for the upright in heart. 12 Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous: and give thanks at the remembrance of his holineſs.

If we could conceive, with ſome of the Hebrews, that Moſes was the Author of this Pſalm, I ſhould think, ſays says Patrick, it was composed after the Israelites had conquered Sihon and his Land; over whom they triumphed, as he had done over the former Possessors of that Country. But the Psalm seems so plainly to have been composed, in pursuance of what was said of the foregoing Psalm, that the Lord reigneth, and is King, not only over Israel, but all the Earth; that one cannot but think they had the same Author; who shews the Truth of that, by the illustrious Victories which God, as their King, had given them over all those that opposed them. For the 8th Verse makes it manifest, that this Psalm hath Respect to some Conquests they had lately made over the Heathen; which, it's likely, were no other than those which David won over divers Nations, not long after he had brought the Ark to Sion (1 Chron. xviii. 1.) and delivered the foregoing Hymn to be sung, to put the Israelites in Hope, and their Enemies in Fear, of the great Things which should ensue upon this special Presence of God among them. Which moved the Greeks to call this A Psalm of David, after his Land was restored unto him; that is, after he was made Master of all those Countries, which God antiently designed to have been the Inheritance of Israel.

But whatever was the carnal Sense, it belongs in the divine Meaning, to Christ's Triumph over the Grave, and all the Powers of Darkness, at his Resurrection, and Ascension to his Throne in Heaven, as appears by those Words, which the Apostle to the Hebrews alledges out of the 7th Verse, and applies to Christ's Royal Power and Authority over Angels; which the Hebrew Doctors themselves, as Kimchi confesses, take to be there intended.

PSAL. XCVIII.

The Prophet exhorts Jews, Gentiles, and all other Creatures, to praise God for his Truth and Salvation.

A Psalm.

Ver. 1. O Sing unto the Lord a new song, for he hath done marvellous things: his right hand, and his holy arm hath gotten him the victory. 2 The Lord hath made known his salvation: his righteousness hath he openly shewed in the sight of the heathen. 3 He hath remembred his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God. 4 Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all the earth; make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise. 5 Sing unto the Lord with the harp; with the harp, and the voice of a psalm. 6 With trumpets, and sound of cornet, make a joyful noise before the Lord, the king. 7 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof: the world, and they that dwell therein. 8 Let the floods clap their hands: let the hills be joyful together. 9 Before the Lord; for he cometh to judge the earth: with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity.

There is no Title here but only this, A Psalm; to which the Greeks add, of David; who, it is very probable, was the Author; or if he was not, it was made by some holy Man in Imitation of what David saith in xcvith (of many of whose Expressions this Psalm consists) upon Occasion of some remarkable Deliverance which God had granted to Israel, as an Earnest of future Blessings; especially of the Coming of that great Blessing, the Lord Christ, to give complete Salvation to his People.

PSAL. XCIX.

The Psalmist sets forth the mighty Power of God in Zion. God's Holiness a Reason for our praising him. The Church exhorted, by the Example of their Forefathers, to praise and magnify him in his holy Hill.

Ver. 1. THE Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth between the cherubims, let the earth be moved. 2 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high above all people. 3 Let them praise thy great and terrible name; for it is holy. 4 The kings strength also loveth judgment, thou dost establish equity, thou executest judgment and righteousness in Jacob. 5 Exalt ye the Lord our God, and worship at his footstool: for he is holy. 6 Moses and Aaron among his priests, and Samuel among them that call upon his name: they called upon the Lord, and he answered them. 7 He spake unto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the ordinance that he gave them. 8 Thou answeredst them, O Lord our God: thou wast a God that forgavest them, though thou tookest vengeance of their inventions. 9 Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill: for the Lord our God is holy.

The Greeks entitle David to this Psalm; which seems to have been made upon the same Occasion, and to the same Effect with the three foregoing, only with these two Differences; first, that from the Consideration of the Royal Power of the Lord (who had manifested himself by some notable Conquests over his Enemies, to be the only Monarch, whose Sovereignty extends over all the World) they should mix Fear and Trembling together with that Joy and Exaltation, to which in the former Psalm he had excited them. And secondly, that he doth not so plainly, as in those Psalms, prophesy of the Kingdom of the Lord Christ.

Exalt ye the Lord our God, and worship at his Footstool; for he is holy] Thus paraphrased by Patrick. Do you therefore, above all People, extol the Lord our God, both in your Thoughts, Affections, and Words, and turning your Faces towards the Ark of his Presence, prostrate yourselves before his Majesty, in Token of your absolute Subjection to him; for he is incomparably above all other Beings, and the proper Object of your Adoration.

PSAL. C.

An Exhortation to praise God joyfully for his Goodness, Power, Goodness, and Faithfulness, to the Church.

A Psalm of Praise.

Ver. 1. MAke a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. 2 Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. 3 Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people and the sheep of his pasture. 4 Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. 5 For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting: and his truth endureth to all generations.

This Psalm seems to have been composed for the Use of the Israelites, in their Thanksgivings, or upon other solemn Occasions of praising God, as the Title speaks. The Psalmist prophesieth, that God's Benefits, in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall have wonderful Occasion to praise his Mercy, and rejoice.

The Greeks think it was made by David, who ites all the World to join with the Iſraelites, in the ervice of Him who was kind and gracious to them be- ond Expreſſion. Accordingly we Chriſtians now pro- erly uſe it, in Acknowledgment of God's wonderful ove to us in Chriſt; by whom we offer up conti- ually ſpiritual Sacrifices; for redeeming us by the Sa- rifice He made of himſelf; for making the World ew, and creating us again to good Works, according his faithful Promiſes, which we may depend upon ever. See Pool and Patrick.

PSAL. CI.

avid makes a Vow to praiſe the Lord, to walk perfectly for an Example, to deſtroy all the Wicked; and to delight in the Faithful of the Lord.

A Pſalm of David.

r. 1. I Will ſing of mercy and judgment: unto thee, O Lord, will I ſing. 2 I will have my ſelf wiſely in a perfect way; O when lt thou come unto me? I will walk within y houſe with a perfect heart. 3 I will ſet no cked thing before mine eyes: I hate the work them that turn aſide, it ſhall not cleave to me. A froward heart ſhall depart from me: I will t know a wicked perſon. 5 Whoſo privily ndereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him t hath an high look, and a proud heart, will t I ſuffer. 6 Mine eyes ſhall be upon the faith- l of the land, that they may dwell with me: that walketh in a perfect way, he ſhall ſerve . 7 He that worketh deceit, ſhall not dwell thin my houſe: he that telleth lies, ſhall not ry in my ſight. 8 I will early deſtroy all the cked of the land: that I may cut off all wicked ers from the city of the Lord.

The Title tells us who made this Pſalm; and the tter of it is ſo plain, that any Body may ſee it is a s Reſolution of David, to govern firſt himſelf, and n his Court, and then his Kingdom, with ſo much r, that the Good might expect all Favour from him, no wicked Man, of any Sort, have the leaſt Coun- ance or Encouragement.

David ſeems to have compoſed it between the Time God's promiſing the Kingdom to him, and his actual ſeſſion of it, as appears from Ver. 2. and from the ntexture of the Pſalm, wherein David conſiders at Manner of King he would be, when God ſhould ce him upon the Throne; promiſing openly that he uld be merciful and juſt, in puniſhing Vice, and couraging the Godly.

e Church prays for Audience, and complains of her Sufferings, but comforts herſelf in the eternal Mercy of God. Deliverance from the Babyloniſh Captivity, and the Reſtoration of Jeruſalem foretold.

Prayer for the Afflicted, when he is over- whelmed, and poureth out his Complaints be- fore the Lord.

r. 1. HEar my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee. 2 Hide not face from me in the day when I am in trouble, line thine ear unto me: in the day when I call, wer me ſpeedily. 3 For my days are con- ed like ſmoak: and my bones are burnt as an rth. 4 My heart is ſmitten, and withered e graſs; ſo that I forget to eat my bread. By reaſon of the voice of my groaning, my bones cleave to my ſkin. 6 I am like a pelican in the wilderneſs: I am like an owl of the deſart. 7 I watch, and am as a ſparrow alone upon the houſe-top. 8 Mine enemies reproach me all the day: and they that are mad againſt me, are ſworn againſt me. 9 For I have eaten aſhes like bread, and mingled my drink with weeping: 10 Becauſe of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou haſt lifted me up, and caſt me down. 11 My days are like a ſhadow that declineth: and I am withered like graſs. 12 But thou, O Lord, ſhalt endure for ever, and thy remembrance unto all generations. 13 Thou ſhalt ariſe, and have mercy upon Zion: for the time to favour her, yea, the ſet time is come. 14 For thy ſervants take pleaſure in her ſtones, and favour the duſt thereof. 15 So the heathen ſhall fear the name of the Lord: and all the kings of the earth thy glory. 16 When the Lord ſhall build up Zion, he ſhall appear in his glory. 17 He will regard the prayer of the deſtitute, and not deſpiſe their prayer. 18 This ſhall be written for the generation to come: and the people which ſhall be created, ſhall praiſe the Lord. 19 For he hath looked down from the height of his ſanctuary: from heaven did the Lord behold the earth: 20 To hear the groaning of the priſoner, to looſe thoſe that are appointed to death; 21 To declare the name of the Lord in Zion, and his praiſe in Jeruſalem: 22 When the people were gathered together, and the kingdoms to ſerve the Lord. 23 He weakned my ſtrength in the way; he ſhortned my days. 24 I ſaid, O my God, take me not away in the midſt of my days: thy years are throughout all generations. 25 Of old haſt thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands. 26 They ſhall periſh, but thou ſhalt endure: yea, all of them ſhall wax old like a garment; as a veſture ſhalt thou change them, and they ſhall be changed. 27 But thou art the ſame, and thy years ſhall have no end. 28 The children of thy ſervants ſhall continue, and their ſeed ſhall be eſtabliſhed before thee.

This is a Prayer compoſed by ſome pious Perſon (toward the latter End of the Captivity of Babylon, or rather, preſently after their Return from thence, to their own Country, Ver. 13, 14.) who was extremely afflicted, and even overwhelmed with Grief and Trouble, to ſee the Temple ſtill lie in its Rubbiſh, and the Rebuilding of it hindered by many Enemies. This was the Cauſe of thoſe ſad Complaints and Lamentations, wherein he takes the Liberty to repreſent their Condition unto the Lord, and thereby give ſome Eaſe to his oppreſſed Spirit; which began to lift up itſelf with ſome comfortable Hopes, when he conſidered both the Faithfulneſs of God to his Promiſes, and the Honour it would be to Him, when the Nations round about ſhould ſee the wonderful Reſtoration happily completed, and thereby invited to embrace their Religion. Which proved a lively Emblem of the Coming of the Gentiles into the Church of Chriſt; the Eternity of whoſe Kingdom, is here propheſied of in the Concluſion of this Pſalm. Which, as Theodoret well expreſſes it, may ſerve for any Man's Uſe who wreſtles with any great Calamity, and implores the divine Favour for his Help and Deliverance. It may be applied alſo to his ſad Condition, who groans under the Burden of his Sins, and cries for Mercy; being the fifth among thoſe ſeven which are called Penitential Pſalms.

David ſtirs up himſelf to bleſs God for his manifold Mercies to himſelf and to the Church; he conſiders the Frailty of Men, and exhorts all Creatures to praiſe him.

Ver. 1. BLeſs the Lord, O my ſoul: and all that is within me, bleſs his holy name. 2 Bleſs the Lord, O my ſoul, and forget not all his benefits. 3 Who forgiveth all thine iniquities: who healeth all thy diſeaſes. 4 Who redeemeth thy life from deſtruction: who crowneth thee with loving-kindneſs and tender mercies. 5 Who ſatisfieth thy mouth with good things: ſo that thy youth is renewed like the eagles. 6 The Lord executeth righteouſneſs and judgment for all that are oppreſſed. 7 He made known his ways unto Moſes, his acts unto the children of Iſrael. 8 The Lord is merciful and gracious, ſlow to anger, and plenteous in mercy. 9 He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever. 10 He hath not dealt with us after our ſins; nor rewarded us according to our iniquities. 11 For as the heaven is high above the earth: ſo great is his mercy toward them that fear him. 12 As far as the eaſt is from the weſt: ſo far hath he removed our tranſgreſſions from us. 13 Like as a father pitieth his children: ſo the Lord pitieth them that fear him. 14 For he knoweth our frame: he remembreth that we are duſt. 15 As for man, his days are as graſs: as a flower of the field, ſo he flouriſheth. 16 For the wind paſſeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof ſhall know it no more. 17 But the mercy of the Lord is from everlaſting to everlaſting upon them that fear him: and his righteouſneſs unto childrens children: 18 To ſuch as keep his covenant, and to thoſe that remember his commandments to do them. 19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens: and his kingdom ruleth over all. 20 Bleſs the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in ſtrength, that do his commandments, hearkning unto the voice of his word. 21 Bleſs ye the Lord, all ye his hoſt, ye miniſters of his that do his pleaſure. 22 Bleſs the Lord, all his works in all places of his dominion: bleſs the Lord, O my ſoul.

The Title tells us, that this is one of David's Pſalms; and the 3d, 4th, and 5th Verſes may ſatisfy us, that he compoſed it after his Recovery from a dangerous Sickneſs, to ſuch a vigorous Health, as the Eagles have when they renew their Plumes. To that he alludes Ver. 5. as Euthymius and St. Jerome underſtand it. The latter of whom ſays, upon Iſa. xl. that he had often thought the Eagles do no other Way return to Youthfulneſs, when they are old, but only by Change of their Feathers.

The Prophet ſtirs up himſelf to praiſe God for his Power manifeſted in the Creation, and his Wiſdom in governing all Things; vows perpetually to praiſe him, and curſes the Unthankfulneſs of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. BLeſs the Lord, O my ſoul: O Lord my God, thou art very great, thou art cloathed with honour and majeſty. 2 Who covereſt thy ſelf with light, as with a garment: who ſtretcheſt out the heavens like a curtain: 3 Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters, who maketh the clouds his chariot, who walketh upon the wings of the wind. 4 Who maketh his angels ſpirits; his miniſters a flaming fire. 5 Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it ſhould not be removed for ever. 6 Thou coveredſt it with the deep as with a garment: the waters ſtood above the mountains. 7 At thy rebuke they fled: at the voice of thy thunder they haſted away. 8 They go up by the mountains: they go down by the valleys unto the place which thou haſt founded for them. 9 Thou haſt ſet a bound that they may not paſs over: that they turn not again to cover the earth. 10 He ſendeth the ſprings into the valleys, which run among the hills. 11 They give drink to every beaſt of the field: the wild aſſes quench their thirſt. 12 By them ſhall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which ſing among the branches. 13 He watereth the hills from his chamber: the earth is ſatisfied with the fruit of thy works. 14 He cauſeth the graſs to grow for the cattle, and herb for the ſervice of man: that he may bring forth food out of the earth: 15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyl to make his face to ſhine, and bread which ſtrengtheneth mans heart. 16 The trees of the Lord are full of ſap: the cedars of Lebanon which he hath planted. 17 Where the birds make their neſts: as for the ſtork, the fir-trees are her houſe. 18 The high hills are a refuge for the wild-goats, and the rocks for the conies. 19 He appointeth the moon for ſeaſons; the ſun knoweth his going down. 20 Thou makeſt darkneſs, and it is night: wherein all the beaſts of the foreſt do creep forth. 21 The young lions roar after their prey, and ſeek their meat from God. 22 The ſun ariſeth, they gather themſelves together, and lay them down in their dens. 23 Man goeth forth to his work and to his labour until the evening. 24 O Lord how manifold are thy works! in wiſdom haſt thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. 25 So is this great and wide ſea, wherein are things creeping innumerable, both ſmall and great beaſts. 26 There go the ſhips; there is that leviathan, whom thou haſt made to play therein. 27 Theſe wait all upon thee: that thou mayeſt give them their meat in due ſeaſon. 28 That thou giveſt them, they gather: thou openeſt thine hand, they are filled with good. 29 Thou hideſt thy face, they are troubled; thou takeſt away their breath, they die, and return to their duſt. 30 Thou ſendeſt forth thy Spirit, they are created: and thou reneweſt the face of the earth. 31 The glory of the Lord ſhall endure for ever: the Lord ſhall rejoice in his works. 32 He looketh on the earth, and it trembleth; he toucheth the hills, and they ſmoak. 33 I will ſing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will ſing praiſe unto my God, while I have my being. 34 My meditation of him ſhall be ſweet: I will be glad in the Lord. 35 Let the ſinners be conſumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. bleſs thou the Lord, O my ſoul. Praiſe ye the Lord.

The foregoing and the following Pſalm being ce-ainly compoſed by David, the Greeks, and from them everal other antient Interpreters, have aſcribed this lſo to the ſame Author. For which they had this rther Reaſon, that it begins (as Aben Ezra obſerves) ſt as the foregoing Pſalm ends; and celebrates the ighty Power and Goodneſs of God in the Fabrick of e World; as the ciii. doth his Benefits to himſelf, d to the reſt of the Children of Men.

As for the Occaſion of it, we may look upon it as probable Opinion, that when David thought of build- g a Houſe for the Divine Service, and God ſent Na- an to forbid him, (2 Sam. vii. 5.) he fell not long ter into the Contemplation of the Majeſty of God; ho having built this great World, as his Temple, eeded none of his erecting; tho' he would be pleaſed accept one for the burning Sacrifice before him, as lomon afterwards ſpeaks, 2 Chron. ii. 6. To ſtrengthen is Conjecture, it may be obſerved, that he begins is Pſalm with ſuch an Admiration of God's moſt ex- llent Perfection, as we meet withal in David's Prayer, mediately after God had certified him of his Love to- rds him, tho' he would not let him build him an uſe, 2 Sam. vii. 22. Thou art great, O Lord, for re is none like unto thee. In the ſame Manner he h here, O Lord my God thou art very great; as he ceeds to demonſtrate from his wonderful Works.

Exhortation to praiſe God. A Recital of God's Promiſes to, and Providence over Abraham, Joſeph, and Jacob in Egypt; in delivering the Iſraelites from thence, and conducting them ſafe to the Land of Canaan.

1 O Give thanks unto the Lord; call upon his name; make known his deeds ong the people. 2 Sing unto him, ſing lms unto him: talk ye of all his wondrous rks. 3 Glory ye in his holy name: let the art of them rejoice that ſeek the Lord. 4 ek the Lord and his ſtrength: ſeek his face rmore. 5 Remember his marvellous works he hath done, his wonders and the judgments his mouth. 6 O ye ſeed of Abraham his vant, ye children of Jacob his choſen. 7 He he Lord our God, his judgments are in all earth. 8 He hath remembred his covenant ever, the word which he commanded to a uſand generations. 9 Which covenant he de with Abraham, and his oath unto c: 10 And confirmed the ſame unto Ja- for a law, and to Iſrael for an everlaſting enant: 11 Saying, Unto thee will I give the d of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance. 12 en they were but a few men in number: yea, y few, and ſtrangers in it. 13 When they t from one nation to another, from one king- m to another people: 14 He ſuffered no n to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings their ſakes: 15 Saying, Touch not mine inted, and do my prophets no harm. 16 reover, he called for a famine upon the land: brake the whole ſtaff of bread. 17 He ſent an before them, even Joſeph who was ſold a ſervant. 18 Whoſe feet they hurt with rs: he was laid in iron. 19 Until the time his word came: the word of the Lord tried 20 The king ſent and looſed him: even ruler of the people, and let him go free. He made him lord of his houſe, and ruler of s ſubſtance: 22 To bind his princes at his ure: and teach his ſenators wiſdom. 23 alſo came into Egypt: and Jacob ſojourned in the land of Ham. 24 And he increaſed his people greatly: and made them ſtronger than their enemies. 25 He turned their heart to hate his people, to deal ſubtilly with his ſervants. 26 He ſent Moſes his ſervant, and Aaron whom he had choſen. 27 They ſhewed his ſigns among them, and wonders in the land of Ham. 28 He ſent darkneſs, and made it dark: and they rebelled not againſt his word. 29 He turned their waters into blood, and ſlew their fiſh. 30 Their land brought forth frogs in abundance, in the chambers of their kings. 31 He ſpake, and there came divers ſorts of flies, and lice in all their coaſts. 32 He gave them hail for rain: and flaming fire in their land. 33 He ſmote their vines alſo and their fig-trees: and brake the trees of their coaſts. 34 He ſpake, and the locuſts came: and caterpillars, and that without number, 35 And did eat up all the herbs in their land: and devoured the fruit of their ground. 36 He ſmote alſo all the firſt-born in their land: the chief of all their ſtrength. 37 He brought them forth alſo with ſilver and gold: and there was not one feeble perſon among their tribes. 38 Egypt was glad when they departed: for the fear of them fell upon them. 39 He ſpread a cloud for a covering: and fire to give them light in the night. 40 The people aſked, and he brought quails: and ſatisfied them with the bread of heaven. 41 He opened the rock, and the waters guſhed out, they ran in the dry places like a river. 42 For he remembred his holy promiſe, and Abraham his ſervant. 43 And he brought forth his people with joy, and his choſen with gladneſs: 44 And gave them the lands of the heathen: and they inherited the labour of the people: 45 That they might obſerve his ſtatutes, and keep his laws. Praiſe ye the Lord.

Tho' this Pſalm has no Title, yet we are aſſured by what we read, 1 Chron. xvi. 8, &c. that the firſt Part of it at leaſt (to the End of Ver. 15.) was made by David, and delivered by him to Aſaph and his Brethren, for the conſtant Service of God in the Tabernacle; when, after ſeveral Victories over the Philiſtines (1 Chron. xiv.) he had ſetled the Ark of God in Sion. And it is moſt probable, that he afterwards enlarged this Pſalm (for who elſe would adventure to do it?) that it might be a more complete Commemoration of all the Mercies of God to their Nation, from the Days of Abraham, to their taking Poſſeſſion of the Land of Canaan. Into which he ſhews their gracious Lord conducted them by ſo many miraculous Providences, in ſeveral Ages (according to his Promiſe made to Abraham his faithful Servant) that it deſerved their moſt hearty Acknowledgments; to which he excites them by ten ſeveral Expreſſions in the five firſt Verſes of this Pſalm: To which the Greeks prefix an Hallelujah (for they take the laſt Word of the foregoing Pſalm, and ſet it at the Head of this) as a Note how much they were obliged to praiſe the Lord, according to that Exhortation; when they remembered in this Pſalm, the Benefits that he had beſtowed upon their Forefathers; which were ſufficient to excite and whet their Minds to the Imitation of their Virtue.

Ver.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord. O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever. 2 Who can utter the mighty acts of the Lord? who can ſhew forth all his praiſe? 3 Bleſſed are they that keep judgment: and he that doeth righteouſneſs at all times. 4 Remember me, O Lord, with the favour that thou beareſt unto thy people: O viſit me with thy ſalvation: 5 That I may ſee the good of thy choſen, that I may rejoice in the gladneſs of thy nation: that I may glory with thine inheritance. 6 We have ſinned with our fathers: we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly. 7 Our fathers underſtood not thy wonders in Egypt, they remembred not the multitude of thy mercies, but provoked him at the ſea, even at the Red-ſea. 8 Nevertheleſs, he ſaved them for his names ſake: that he might make his mighty power to be known. 9 He rebuked the Red-ſea alſo, and it was dried up: ſo he led them through the depths as through the wilderneſs. 10 And he ſaved them from the hand of him that hated them: and redeemed them from the hand of the enemy. 11 And the waters covered their enemies: there was not one of them left. 12 Then believed they his words, they ſang his praiſe. 13 They ſoon forgat his works, they waited not for his counſel: 14 But luſted exceedingly in the wilderneſs, and tempted God in the deſart. 15 And he gave them their requeſt, but ſent leanneſs into their ſoul. 16 They envied Moſes alſo in the camp, and Aaron the ſaint of the Lord. 17 The earth opened and ſwallowed up Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram. 18 And a fire was kindled in their company; the flame burnt up the wicked. 19 They made a calf in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten image. 20 Thus they changed their glory into the ſimilitude of an ox that eateth graſs. 21 They forgat God their ſaviour, which had done great things in Egypt: 22 Wondrous works in the land of Ham, and terrible things by the Red-ſea. 23 Therefore he ſaid that he would deſtroy them, had not Moſes his choſen ſtood before him in the breach: to turn away his wrath, leſt he ſhould deſtroy them. 24 Yea, they deſpiſed the pleaſant land: they believed not his word: 25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkned not unto the voice of the Lord. 26 Therefore he lifted up his hand againſt them, to overthrow them in the wilderneſs: 27 To overthrow their ſeed alſo among the nations, and to ſcatter them in the lands. 28 They joyned themſelves alſo unto Baalpeor, and ate the ſacrifices of the dead. 29 Thus they provoked him to anger with their inventions: and the plague brake in upon them. 30 Then ſtood up Phineas, and executed judgment: and ſo the plague was ſtayed. 31 And that was counted unto him for righteouſneſs unto all generations for evermore. 32 They angred him alſo at the waters of ſtrife, ſo that it went ill with Moſes for their ſakes: 33 Becauſe they provoked his ſpirit, ſo that he ſpake unadviſedly with his lips. 34 They did not deſtroy the nations, concerning whom the Lord commanded them: 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works. 36 And they ſerved their idols: which were a ſnare unto them. 37 Yea, they ſacrificed their ſons and their daughters unto devils. 38 And ſhed innocent blood, even the blood of their ſons and of their daughters, whom they ſacrificed unto the idols of Canaan: and the land was polluted with blood. 39 Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions. 40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, inſomuch that he abhorred his own inheritance. 41 And he gave them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, ruled over them. 42 Their enemies alſo oppreſſed them, and they were brought into ſubjection under their hand. 43 Many times did he deliver them; but they provoked him with their counſel, and were brought low for their iniquity. 44 Nevertheleſs, he regarded their affliction when he heard their cry. 45 And he remembred for them his covenant, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies. 46 He made them alſo to be pitied of all thoſe that carried them captives. 47 Save us, O Lord our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks unto thy holy name, and to triumph in thy praiſe. 48 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael from everlaſting to everlaſting: and let all the people, ſay, Amen. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm, ſays Pool, was unqueſtionably compoſed in the Time of the Captivity and Diſperſion of the Iſraelites, as is manifeſt from Ver. 47. but whether it was that of Babylon, or ſome other of a later Date, is neither eaſy nor neceſſary to determine. Moſt Interpreters imagine it to have been made in the Time of the Captivity of Babylon. However, Bp. Patrick is of another Opinion; who ſays, that the 47th Verſe may have another Conſtruction, and mean no more by this; that God would be pleaſed when the Nation, or any Part of it, ſhould be carried captive, to take Pity upon them, and reſtore them to their Country. Or rather, it refers to thoſe, who, in the Days of Saul or before, were taken Priſoners by the Philiſtines, and other Nations; whom David prays God to gather into their own Land, that they might worſhip him in the Place which he had prepared for the Ark of his Preſence. For it ſeems plain enough, that this is one of the Pſalms which he delivered then to Aſaph; the firſt Verſe and the two laſt being ſet down in 1 Chron. xvi. 36, 37. the Beginning and Ending of another Pſalm (which can be none but this) which he then gave in with the other two there mentioned, (xcvi. and cv.) to praiſe the Lord withal.

An Exhortation to the Redeemed to praiſe the Lord, and to obſerve his manifold Providences to Strangers and Captives, &c. commending thoſe that carefully obſerve it.

Ver. 1. O Give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever. 2 Let the redeemed of the Lord ſay ſo, whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy: 3 And gathered them out of the lands from the eaſt and from the weſt, from the north and from the ſouth. 4 They wandered in the wilderneſs in a ſolitary way; they found no city to dwell in. 5 Hungry and thirſty, their ſoul fainted in them. 6 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their diſtreſſes. 7 And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation. 8 Oh men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! 9 For he ſatisfieth the longing ſoul, and filleth the hungry ſoul with goodneſs. 10 Such as ſit in darkneſs and in the ſhadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron: 11 Becauſe they rebelled againſt the words of God, and contemned the counſel of the moſt High: 12 Therefore he brought down their heart with labour, they fell down, and there was none to help. 13 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he ſaved them out of their diſtreſſes. 14 He brought them out of darkneſs and the ſhadow of death, and brake their bands in ſunder. 15 O that men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! 16 For he hath broken the gates of braſs, and cut the bars of iron aſunder. 17 Fools, becauſe of their tranſgreſſion, and becauſe of their iniquities, are afflicted. 18 Their ſoul abhorreth all manner of meat, and they draw near unto the gates of death. 19 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their diſtreſſes. 20 He ſent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their deſtructions. 21 Oh that men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! 22 And let them ſacrifice the ſacrifices of thankſgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing. 23 They that go down to the ſea in ſhips, that do buſineſs in great waters: 24 Theſe ſee the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep. 25 For he commandeth, and raiſeth the ſtormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof. 26 They mount up to the heaven, they go down again the depths, their ſoul is melted becauſe of trouble. 27 They reel to and fro, and ſtagger like a drunken man, and are at their wits end. 28 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their diſtreſſes. 29 He maketh the ſtorm a calm, ſo that the waves thereof are ſtill. 30 Then are they glad becauſe they be quiet; ſo he bringeth them unto their deſired haven. 31 O that men would praiſe the Lord for his goodneſs, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! 32 Let them exalt him alſo in the congregation of the people, and praiſe him in the aſſembly of the elders. 33 He turneth rivers into a wilderneſs, and the water ſprings into dry ground: 34 A fruitful land into barrenneſs, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein. 35 He turneth the wilderneſs into a ſtanding water, and dry ground into water-ſprings. 36 And there he maketh the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation; 37 And ſow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increaſe. 38 He bleſſed them alſo ſo that they are multiplied greatly, and ſuffereth not their cattle to decreaſe. 39 Again they are miniſhed and brought low through oppreſſion, affliction and ſorrow. 40 He poureth contempt upon princes, and cauſeth them to wander in the wilderneſs, where there is no way. 41 Yet ſetteth he the poor on high from affliction, and maketh him families like a flock. 42 The righteous ſhall ſee it, and rejoice; and all iniquity ſhall ſtop her mouth. 43 Whoſo is wiſe, and will obſerve thoſe things, even they ſhall underſtand the loving kindneſs of the Lord.

The fifth Book of Pſalms (which conſiſts moſtly of Praiſes and Thankſgivings) begins here; with an Exhortation to thoſe whom God (according to the Prayer foregoing, Pſ. cvi. 47.) had delivered from Pagan Servitude, to acknowledge that ſingular Benefit with their hearty Thankſgivings; and thence to take Occaſion to magnify his merciful Providence over all other Men, not only of that, but of all Nations, when they addreſſed themſelves to him in their Diſtreſſes.

The Author of this Pſalm is unknown; but if I have gueſſed aright, ſays Patrick, at the Connexion of this with the foregoing Pſalm, it is moſt probable it was compoſed by David; who having in the cvth, put them in Mind (as Theodoret obſerves) of the Promiſes made to the Patriarchs, and of the Bleſſings beſtowed on their Poſterity; and in the cvi. of their horrid Ingratitude for ſuch Benefits, and the Puniſhments for that Cauſe inflicted on them; declares in this Pſalm the inexplicable Kindneſs of God, in their Freedom from Slavery; and in his careful Providence over all Mankind; which might give them the greater Encouragement to hope in him, if they ſerved him faithfully, who had taken them for his peculiar People.

Ver. 1 O God, my heart is fixed, I will ſing and give praiſe, even with my glory. 2 Awake pſaltery and harp: I my ſelf will awake early. 3 I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the people: and I will ſing praiſes unto thee among the nations. 4 For thy mercy is great among the heavens: and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds. 5 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens: and thy glory above all the earth; 6 That thy beloved may be delivered: ſave with thy right hand and anſwer me. 7 God hath ſpoken in his holineſs, I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth. 8 Gilead is mine, Manaſſeh is mine, Ephraim alſo is the ſtrength of mine head, Judah is my law-giver. 9 Moab is my waſhpot, over Edom will I caſt out my ſhoe: over Philiſtia will I triumph. 10 Who will bring me into the ſtrong city? who will lead me into Edom? 11 Wilt not thou, O God, who haſt caſt us off? and wilt not thou, O God, go forth with our hoſts? 12 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man. 13 Through God we ſhall do valiantly: for he it is that ſhall tread down our enemies.

This Pſalm is almoſt Word for Word taken out of two other Pſalms; the firſt five Verſes out of Pſ. lvii. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. and the reſt out of Pſ. lx. 5, &c. This only is obſervable, that the Pſalmiſt deſigning to take the Body of this Pſalm out of Pſ. lx. doth induſtriouſly lay aſide that mournful Preface, Ver. 1, 2, 3, 4. and borrows one more pleaſant out of Pſ. lvii. The Reaſon of which Change is ſuppoſed to be this, that Pſ. lx. was compoſed in the Time of his Danger and Diſtreſs, and the latter after his Deliverance.

PSAL. CIX.

David, complaining of his falſe Accuſers, who requited him Evil for Good, devotes them and their Children to all Miſery and Oblivion; ſhews his great Affliction, prays for Deliverance, and promiſes Thankfulneſs.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HOld not thy peace, O God of my praiſe. 2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth of the deceitful are opened againſt me: they have ſpoken againſt me with a lying tongue. 3 They compaſſed me about alſo with words of hatred: and fought againſt me without a cauſe. 4 For my love they are my adverſaries: but I give my ſelf unto prayer. 5 And they have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love. 6 Set thou a wicked man over him: and let Satan ſtand at his right hand. 7 When he ſhall be judged, let him be condemned, and let his prayer become ſin. 8 Let his days be few, and let another take his office. 9 Let his children be fatherleſs, and his wife a widow. 10 Let his children be continually vagabonds, and beg: let them ſeek their bread alſo out of their deſolate places. 11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath: and let the ſtranger ſpoil his labour. 12 Let there be none to extend mercy unto him: neither let there be any to favour his fatherleſs children. 13 Let his poſterity be cut off, and in the generation following let their name be blotted out. 14 Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembred with the Lord: and let not the ſin of his mother be blotted out. 15 Let them be before the Lord continually, that he may cut off the memory of them from the earth. 16 Becauſe that he remembred not to ſhew mercy, but perſecuted the poor and needy man, that he might even ſlay the broken in heart. 17 As he loved curſing, ſo let it come unto him: as he delighted not in bleſſing, ſo let it be far from him. 18 As he cloathed himſelf with curſing, like as with his garment: ſo let it come into his bowels like water, and like oyl into his bones. 19 Let it be unto him as the garment which covereth him, and for a girdle wherewith he is girded continually. 20 Let this be the reward of mine adverſaries from the Lord, and of them that ſpeak evil againſt my ſoul. 21 But do thou for me, O God the Lord, for thy names ſake: becauſe thy mercy is good, deliver thou me. 22 For I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me. 23 I am gone like the ſhadow, when it declineth: I am toſſed up and down as the locuſt. 24 My knees are weak, through faſting: and my fleſh faileth of fatneſs. 25 I became alſo a reproach unto them: when they looked upon me, they ſhaked their heads. 26 Help me, O Lord my God: O ſave me according to thy mercy: 27 That they may know, that this is thy hand: that thou, Lord, haſt done it. 28 Let them curſe, but bleſs thou: when they ariſe, let them be aſhamed: but let thy ſervant rejoice. 29 Let mine adverſaries be cloathed with ſhame: and let them cover themſelves with their own confuſion, as with a mantle. 30 I will greatly praiſe the Lord with my mouth: yea, I will praiſe him among the multitude. 31 For he ſhall ſtand at the right hand of the poor, to ſave him from thoſe that condemn his ſoul.

It is ſufficiently evident from the Body of this Pſalm, that it was compoſed by David, when he was in a State of Perſecution, either by Saul, or by Abſalom, and that amongſt and above the Reſt of his Enemies, he takes very particular Notice of, and breaks forth into vehement Expreſſions of Anger againſt one particular Perſon, but whether it was Doeg or Achitophel is not certain, nor at all neceſſary to know. But as David was, and very well knew himſelf to be a Type of Chriſt, and conſequently that his Enemies did typify or repreſent ſome ſingular and notorious Enemy of Chriſt, who tho' David might not, yet the Spirit of God, who indited this Pſalm, did know to be Judas, and accordingly directed all theſe bitter Invectives and Imprecations againſt him, who deſerved and received far worſe Puniſhments for his monſtrous Wickedneſs, than all that are here mentioned.

And that he was the Perſon principally aimed at in this Pſalm, will ſeem very probable to him who conſiders David's mild and merciful Temper, even to his Enemies, which he profeſſes in Words in this very Book, Pſ. xxxv. 12, 13, 14. and practiſed in Deeds as Pſ. xvi. 10, 11. and xix. 22, 23. and withal, the Severity of theſe Imprecations, reaching not only to the Perſons of his Enemies, but to their Children, who yet, by the Law of God, were not to ſuffer for their Parents Sins, Deut. xxiv. 16.

PSAL. CX.

The Pſalmiſt celebrates the Kingdom of Chriſt, his everlaſting Prieſthood; his mighty Conqueſt over his Enemies; his Sufferings and Triumph.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. THe Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footſtool. 2 The Lord ſhall ſend the rod of thy ſtrength out of Zion: rule thou in the mids of thine enemies. 3 Thy people ſhall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holineſs from the womb of the morning: thou haſt the dew of thy youth. 4 The Lord hath ſworn, and will not repent, Thou art a prieſt for ever, after the order of Melchizedek. 5 The Lord at thy right hand ſhall ſtrike through kings in the day of his wrath. 6 He ſhall judge among the heathen, he ſhall fill the places with dead bodies: he ſhall wound the heads over many countries. 7 He ſhall drink of the brook in the way: therefore ſhall he lift up the head.

There is the ſame Reaſon to think this Pſalm was compoſed by David (not by ſome other concerning him) that there is to conclude all the reſt to be which have the ſame Title. And then, as it is very plain, he ſpeaks of ſome Perſon much greater than himſelf, whom he calls his Lord Chriſt; of whom he here propheſies. Not, as he is wont to do elſewhere with reſpect to himſelf, in the firſt Place, as his Type and Figure; but in plain Words, which can belong to none but Chriſt alone. For no other King but He can be ſaid in any Senſe, to ſit at God's Right Hand, nor was there any Prieſt of the Order of Melchizedek that could be a Shadow of Him.

And therefore it is in vain to accommodate any Part of this Pſalm to David; who conquered many of his neighbouring Countries, ſmote their Kings; made them bring him Tribute, and at laſt ſmote the Head of the Country of Rabbah (as ſome render the laſt Words of the 6th Verſe of this Pſalm) that is, the King of the Children of Ammon: But ſtill we are to ſeek, how the reſt can be applied to him, who never had any Pretence to ſuch an Authority as is here deſcribed, nor can in any Senſe call himſelf my Lord; but, as our Lord Chriſt hath demonſtrated, ſpake concerning Him (Matt. xxii. 43, &c.) and his Exaltation after his Reſurrection from the Dead, (as St. Peter and St. Paul alſo ſhew, Acts ii. 34, 35. 1 Cor. xv. 25. Heb. i, 13. v. 6.) when he ſet up another Prieſthood, and aboliſhed that of Moſes, which Change is here predicted.

And tho' the Jews have taken a great deal of Pains wreſt this Pſalm to another Senſe; yet they are ſo vided in their Opinions about it, that from thence one we may be ſatisfied they are in the Wrong, and ve their Eyes blinded. Some of them, however, uch as R. Moſes Hadarſan, Saadias Gaon, and divers hers) have been forced to acknowledge that it be- ngs to Chriſt; and is a very plain Prediction of his ivinity, his Royal Dignity, his Prieſthood, his Vic- ries and Triumphs.

From the Womb of the Morning: Thou haſt the Dew thy Youth] This Place, ſays Pool, is judged the oſt difficult and obſcure of any in this Book. The Words are diverſly render'd and underſtood. As, I. Chriſt himſelf, and that in reſpect, 1. Of his di- ne and eternal Generation, which may be called the ew of his Youth, or Birth, and which he may be ſaid have had from the Womb of the Morning, before e firſt Morning and Light was created, or brought t of its Womb; that is, before the World was, hich, in Scripture, is a common Deſcription of Eter- y. Or, 2. Of his human Nature and Birth; and ſo e Words may be thus render'd, From the Womb of the Morning; or, as it is render'd by divers others, From Womb, from the Morning; that is, from the very t Birth, thou haſt, or hadſt the Dew of thy Youth; t is, thoſe eminent Bleſſings and Graces wherewith ou waſt enriched, or thy Youth or Childhood was like Dew, precious and acceptable. Or, rather, II. Chriſt's Subjects or People, of whom he evidently ke in the former Part of the Verſe. For it ſeems probable, that the Pſalmiſt, after he had diſcourſed Chriſt's Advancement to his Kingdom, and his Ad- niſtration of it, and Succeſs in it, both as to his emies and Friends, ſhould run back to his Birth, her divine or human, both which were evidently neceſſarily ſuppoſed in what he had already ſaid of . But then theſe Words may be read, either, 1. arately, as two diſtinct Clauſes, as they ſeem to be en by our Engliſh Tranſlators, and by the Colon ich they placed in the Middle. And ſo the firſt uſe belongs to the foregoing Words, as noting the e when the People ſhould be willing, which having ared more generally in theſe Words, in the Day of Power, he deſcribes more particularly and exactly, they ſhould be ſo even from the Morning, or, in oetical Strain, very ſuitable to this Book, from the b of the Morning, namely, of that Day of his er; that is, from the Beginning of Chriſt's En- ce upon his Kingdom, which was after his Reſur- ion and Aſcenſion into Heaven, and from the very Preaching of the Goſpel, after that Time, when titudes were made Chriſt's willing People, by the ching of the Apoſtles, Acts ii. 3, 4, 5, &c. And he ſecond Clauſe, it is to be underſtood thus; thou, or as it is in the Hebrew, to thee is the Dew of Youth, or of thy Childhood; for the Word Jeled, which this is derived, ſignifies ſometimes a young, and ſometimes a Child or Infant. By Youth or Childhood he here ſeems to underſtand thoſe young or Children which ſhould be born to the Meſſias, are called his Children, Heb. ii. 13. and his Seed, liii. 10. wherein poſſibly there might be an Allu- to this Dew. Thus the Abſtract is here put for Concrete, which is frequent in the Hebrew Tongue, Circumciſion and Uncircumciſion are put for the Cir- ciſed and the Uncircumciſed, &c. And even in Latin Tongue, this very Word Youth is often uſed young Man, or for a Company of young Men. e Dew of Youth, he means Youth, or young Men Dew, the Note of Similitude being often under- . And this Progeny of Chriſt is compared to the partly becauſe of their great Multitude, being Drops of Dew, innumerable, and covering the Face of the Earth, 2 Sam. xvii. 12. And, part- ecauſe of their ſtrange Manner of Generation, like that of the Dew, is done ſuddenly and ſe- and not perceived till it be accompliſhed, and Admiration of thoſe who behold it; ſee Iſa. 21. Or, 2. Jointly, as one entire Sentence, The Dew of thy Youth, (i. e. thy Poſterity, which is like Dew, as before explained) is as the Dew (which may be very well underſtood of the foregoing Clauſe, as the Word Feet is underſtood in like Manner, Pſ. xviii. 33. He maketh my Feet like Hinds Feet) of or from the Womb of the Morning, it is like the Morning Dew, as it is called both in Scripture, Hoſ. vi. 4. and in other Authors. Nor is it ſtrange a Womb ſhould be aſcrib'd to the Morning, ſince we read of the Womb of the Sea, and of the Womb of the Ice or Froſt, Job xxxviii. 8, 28, 29.

PSAL. CXI.

The Pſalmiſt, by his own Example, exhorts all Men to praiſe God; rehearſes his glorious and wonderful Works; his keeping Covenant with them that fear him, whoſe Fear is the Beginning of Wiſdom.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord, I will praiſe the Lord with my whole heart, in the aſſembly of the upright, and in the congregation. 2 The works of the Lord are great, ſought out of all them that have pleaſure therein. 3 His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteouſneſs endureth for ever. 4 He hath made his wonderful works to be remembred: the Lord is gracious and full of compaſſion. 5 He hath given meat unto them that fear him: he will ever be mindful of his covenant. 6 He hath ſhewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen. 7 The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are ſure. 8 They ſtand faſt for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightneſs. 9 He ſent redemption unto his people, he hath commanded his covenant for ever: holy and reverend is his name. 10 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom: a good underſtanding have all they that do his commandments: his praiſe endureth for ever.

Hallelujah, i. e. Praiſe ye the Lord, the firſt Words of the Pſalm, are certainly, ſays Patrick, the Title of it. The Pſalm conſiſts of as many ſhort Meters as there are Letters in the Hebrew Alphabet; and therefore cannot begin with Hallelujah, whoſe firſt Letter is the fifth, not the firſt Letter in that Alphabet. In which Order it proceeds for the better Help of the Memory; being compoſed thus artificially, that every one, as well as the Singers (to whom the Hallelujah perhaps is directed) might have in their Minds a brief Form of thanking God (eſpecially upon Feſtival Days) for the wonderful Things he had done for that Nation.

PSAL. CXII.

The Bleſſedneſs of them that fear the Lord in this Life, and in that to come; for which the Wicked envy them, and are grieved.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord, Bleſſed is the man that feareth the Lord, that delighteth greatly in his commandments. 2 His ſeed ſhall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the upright ſhall be bleſſed. 3 Wealth and riches ſhall be in his houſe: and his righteouſneſs endureth for ever. 4 Unto the upright there ariſeth light in the darkneſs: he is gracious, and full of compaſſion, and righteous. 5 A good man ſheweth favour and lendeth; he will guide his affairs with diſcretion. 6 Surely he ſhall not be moved for ever: the righteous ſhall be in everlaſting remembrance. 7 He ſhall not be afraid afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, truſting in the Lord. 8 His heart is eſtabliſhed, he ſhall not be afraid until he ſee his deſire upon his enemies. 9 He hath diſperſed, he hath given to the poor; his righteouſneſs endureth for ever; his horn ſhall be exalted with honour. 10 The wicked ſhall ſee it, and be grieved; he ſhall gnaſh with his teeth, and melt away: the deſire of the wicked ſhall periſh.

This Pſalm is compoſed after the ſame Manner with the former, and ſeems to be intended for a ſhort Commentary upon the laſt Verſe of it; ſhewing how well and wiſely they conſult their own Good and Happineſs, who obſerve God's Commandments; eſpecially thoſe about Charity, or doing Good to others. Of which that they might be always mindful, the Pſalm is contrived for the Help of their Memories into as many ſhort Verſicles, as there are Letters in the Hebrew Alphabet. Hallelujah therefore is no Part of them, but the Title prefix'd to the Pſalm, to excite them to praiſe the Lord, who had made it their preſent Intereſt to be religious.

PSAL. CXIII.

An Exhortation to praiſe the Lord for his Excellency and Greatneſs; and for his Condeſcenſion to the Poor and humble minded.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord, Praiſe, O ye ſervants of the Lord, praiſe the name of the Lord. 2 Bleſſed be the name of the Lord, from this time forth and for evermore. 3 From the riſing of the ſun unto the going down of the ſame, the Lords name is to be praiſed. 4 The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory above the heavens. 5 Who is like unto the Lord our God, who dwelleth on high? 6 Who humbleth himſelf to behold the things that are in heaven, and in the earth? 7 He raiſeth up the poor out of the duſt, and lifteth the needy out of the dunghil: 8 That he may ſet him with princes, even with the princes of his people. 9 He maketh the barren woman to keep houſe, and to be a joyful mother of children. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm, with the five next which follow, the Hebrews call by the Name of Hallel, Hymn; which they recited at their Table (as in the New Moons, and other Feaſts, ſo) in the Paſchal Night, after they had eaten the Lamb; concluding it with Hallelujah, which is the Title of this Pſalm (as of the two foregoing) to excite all God's People, eſpecially thoſe that attended in the Tabernacle, in the Praiſe of God's good Providence, which extends itſelf as far as this Earth where we live.

PSAL. CXIV.

The Pſalmiſt, rehearſing God's delivering the Iſraelites out of Egypt, exhorts all Creatures to praiſe him.

Ver. 1. WHen Iſrael went out of Egypt, the houſe of Jacob from a people of ſtrange language; 2 Judah was his ſanctuary, and Iſrael his dominion. 3 The ſea ſaw it, and fled; Jordan was driven back. 4 The mountains ſkipped like rams, and the little hills like lambs. 5 What aileth thee, O thou ſea, that thou fleddeſt? thou Jordan, that thou waſt driven back? 6 Ye mountains, that ye ſkipped like rams; and ye little hills like lambs? 7 Tremble thou earth at the preſence of the Lord, at the preſence of the God of Jacob. 8 Which turned the rock into a ſtanding water, the flint into a fountain of waters.

As the foregoing Pſalm puts them in Mind of ſeveral Works of the Divine Providence about particular Perſons; ſo this makes a brief Relation of ſeveral miraculous Works, wherein God declared his Power when he brought the whole Jewiſh Nation out of the Egyptian Bondage.

PSAL. CXV.

The Church prays to God to preſerve her from the Vanity of Idol-worſhip; exhorts to Confidence in Him, being aſſured of his Bleſſing; her Reſolution to praiſe the Lord.

Ver. 1. NOt unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy, and for thy truths ſake. 2 Wherefore ſhould the heathen ſay, Where is now their God? 3 But our God is in the heavens, he hath done whatſoever he pleaſed. 4 Their idols are ſilver and gold, the work of mens hands. 5 They have mouths, but they ſpeak not; eyes have they, but they ſee not. 6 They have ears, but they hear not; noſes have they, but they ſmell not. 7 They have hands, but they handle not; feet have they, but they walk not; neither ſpeak they through their throat. 8 They that make them, are like unto them; ſo is every one that truſteth in them. 9 O Iſrael, truſt thou in the Lord: he is their help and their ſhield. 10 O houſe of Aaron, truſt in the Lord: he is their help and their ſhield. 11 Ye that fear the Lord, truſt in the Lord: he is their help and their ſhield. 12 The Lord hath been mindful of us, he will bleſs us, he will bleſs the houſe of Iſrael, he will bleſs the houſe of Aaron. 13 He will bleſs them that fear the Lord, both ſmall and great. 14 The Lord ſhall increaſe you more and more, you and your children. 15 You are bleſſed of the Lord, which made heaven and earth. 16 The heaven, even the heavens are the Lords: but the earth hath he given to the children of men. 17 The dead praiſe not the Lord, neither any that go down into ſilence. 18 But we will bleſs the Lord, from this time forth and for evermore. Praiſe the Lord.

The Occaſion of this Pſalm was to manifeſt ſome ſore Diſtreſs of the People of Iſrael, from ſome idolatrous Nations. But whether it was that mention'd 2 Chron. xx. or what other, is but a Matter of Conjecture, and not worth our Enquiry.

PSAL. CXVI.

The Pſalmiſt profeſſes his Love to God for his manifold Mercies; promiſes to walk holily; prays for his future Protection; and ſtudies and promiſes to be thankful.

Ver. 1. I Love the Lord, becauſe he hath heard my voice and my ſupplications. 2 Becauſe he hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will I call upon him as long as I live. 3 The ſorrows of death compaſſed me, and the pains of hell gat hold upon me: I found trouble and ſorrow. 4 Then called I upon the name of the Lord; O Lord, I beſeech thee, deliver my ſoul. 5 Gracious is the Lord, and righteous yea, our God is merciful. 6 The Lord preſerveth the ſimple: I was brought low, and he helped me. 7 Return unto thy reſt, O my ſoul, for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee, 8 For thou haſt delivered my ſoul from death. mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling. 9 I will walk before the Lord in the land of the living. 10 I believed, therefore have I ſpoken: I was greatly afflicted. 11 I ſaid in my haſte, All men are liars. 12 What ſhall I render unto the Lord, for all his benefits towards me? 13 I will take the cup of ſalvation, and call upon the name of the Lord. 14 I will pay my vows unto the Lord, now in the preſence of all his people. 15 Precious in the ſight of the Lord, is the death of his ſaints. 16 O Lord, truly I am thy ſervant, I am thy ſervant, and the ſon of thy hand-maid: thou haſt looſed my bonds. 17 I will offer to thee the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, and will call upon the name of the Lord. 18 I will pay my vows unto the Lord, now in the preſence of all his people: 19 In the courts of the Lords houſe, in the midſt of thee, O Jeruſalem. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm, ſays Patrick, agrees exactly to the Condition of David in his Flight from his Son Abſalom (which ſeems to be mentioned, Ver. 11.) when Achitophel and others proved very falſe to him; and he had little or nothing to depend upon, but only the Goodneſs of the Almighty, who was pleaſed to plead his Cauſe and deliver him.

PSAL. CXVII.

An Exhortation to all Nations to praiſe God for his Mercy and Truth's Sake.

Ver. 1. O Praiſe the Lord all ye nations: praiſe him all ye people. 2 For his merciful kindneſs is great towards us: and the truth of the Lord endureth for ever. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm contains a Prophecy of the Calling of the Gentiles, as appears from the Matter of it, and from Rom. xv. 11. where it is quoted for that Purpoſe.

For his merciful Kindneſs is great towards us] Either, 1. Towards us Jews, to whom he hath given thoſe peculiar Privileges, which he hath denied to all other Nations. But this may ſeem an improper Argument to move the Gentiles to praiſe God, for his Mercies to others, from which they were excluded. Or, 2. Towards all of us, all the Children of Abraham, whether carnal or ſpiritual, who were to be incorporated together, and made one Body, and one Fold, by and under the Meſſiah, John x. 16. Epheſ. ii. 14. which Myſtery ſeems to be inſinuated by this Manner of Expreſſion.

PSAL. CXVIII.

The Pſalmiſt exhorts all to praiſe the Lord. By his own Experience ſhews how good it is to truſt in God. Under the Type of the Pſalmiſt, the Coming of Chriſt is expreſſed.

Ver. 1. O Give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: becauſe his mercy endureth for ever. 2 Let Iſrael now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever. 3 Let the houſe of Aaron now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever. 4 Let them now that fear the Lord ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever. 5 I called upon the Lord in diſtreſs: the Lord anſwered me, and ſet me in a large place. 6 The Lord is on my ſide, I will not fear: what can man do unto me? 7 The Lord taketh my part with them that help me: therefore ſhall I ſee my deſire upon them that hate me. 8 It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in man. 9 It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in princes. 10 All nations compaſſed me about: but in the name of the Lord will I deſtroy them. 11 They compaſſed me about, yea, they compaſſed me about: but in the name of the Lord I will deſtroy them. 12 They compaſſed me about like bees, they are quenched as the fire of thorns: for in the name of the Lord, I will deſtroy them. 13 Thou haſt thruſt ſore at me that I might fall: but the Lord helped me. 14 The Lord is my ſtrength and ſong, and is become my ſalvation. 15 The voice of rejoycing and ſalvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the Lord doeth valiantly. 16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord doeth valiantly. 17 I ſhall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord. 18 The Lord hath chaſtened me ſore: but he hath not given me over unto death. 19 Open to me the gates of righteouſneſs: I will go in to them, and I will praiſe the Lord: 20 This gate of the Lord: into which the righteous ſhall enter. 21 I will praiſe thee, for thou haſt heard me, and art become my ſalvation. 22 The ſtone which the builders refuſed, is become the head ſtone of the corner. 23 This is the Lords doing, it is marvellous in our eyes. 24 This is the day which the Lord hath made, we will rejoice and be glad in it. 25 Save now, I beſeech thee, O Lord: O Lord, I beſeech thee, ſend now proſperity. 26 Bleſſed be he that cometh in the name of the Lord: we have bleſſed you out of the houſe of the Lord. 27 God is the Lord, which hath ſhewed us light; bind the ſacrifice with cords, even unto the horns of the altar. 28 Thou art my God, and I will praiſe thee; thou art my God, I will exalt thee. 29 O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

This Pſalm was probably compoſed by David, when the Civil Wars between the Houſes of Saul and David were ended, and David lately ſetled in the Kingdom of all Iſrael, and had newly brought up the Ark of God to his Royal City.

But tho', ſays Pool, this was the Occaſion, yet David, or at leaſt the Spirit of God, who indited this Pſalm, had a farther Reach, and higher Deſign in it, eſpecially in the latter Part of it, which was to carry the Reader's Thoughts beyond the Type to the Antitype, the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, who was chiefly intended in it. Which is apparent both from the Teſtimonies produced out of it to that Purpoſe in the New Teſtament, as Matt. xxi. 19, 42. Mark xii. 10, 11. Acts iv. 11, &c. and from the Conſent of the Hebrew Doctors both antient and modern; one Evidence whereof is, that in their Prayers for the Meſſiah, they uſe ſome Part of this Pſalm, and likewiſe from the Matter itſelf. The Form of this Pſalm may ſeem to be dramatical, and ſeveral Parts of it are ſpoken in the Names of ſeveral Perſons, yet ſo, that the Diſtinction of the Perſons, and their ſeveral Paſſages, is not expreſſed, but left to the Obſervation of the intelligent and diligent Reader, as it is in the Book of the Song of Solomon, and in ſome Part of Eccleſiaſtes, and in many prophane Writers. David ſpeaks in his own Name from the Begin-

Beginning to Ver. 22. and from thence to Ver. 25. in the Name of the People; and then concludes in his own Name.

PSAL. CXIX.

This Pſalm contains Commendations of God's Law, Statutes, Commandments, Precepts, Word, Promiſes, Way, Name, Righteouſneſs, Truth, &c.

ALEPH.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the way of the Lord. 2 Bleſſed are they that keep his teſtimonies, and that ſeek him with the whole heart. 3 They alſo do no iniquity: they walk in his ways. 4 Thou haſt commanded us to keep thy precepts diligently. 5 O that my ways were directed to keep thy ſtatutes! 6 Then ſhall I not be aſhamed, when I have reſpect unto all thy commandments. 7 I will praiſe thee with uprightneſs of heart, when I ſhall have learned thy righteous judgments. 8 I will keep thy ſtatutes: O forſake me not utterly.

BETH.

9 Wherewith ſhall a young man cleanſe his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word. 10 With my whole heart have I ſought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments. 11 Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not ſin againſt thee. 12 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy ſtatutes. 13 With my lips have I declared all the judgments of thy mouth. 14 I have rejoiced in the way of thy teſtimonies, as much as in all riches. 15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and have reſpect unto thy ways. 16 I will delight my ſelf in thy ſtatutes: I will not forget thy word.

GIMEL.

17 Deal bountifully with thy ſervant, that I may live, and keep thy word. 18 Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. 19 I am a ſtranger in the earth, hide not thy commandments from me. 20 My ſoul breaketh for the longing that it hath unto thy judgment at all times. 21 Thou haſt rebuked the proud that are curſed, which do err from thy commandments. 22 Remove from me reproach and contempt, for I have kept thy teſtimonies. 23 Princes alſo did ſit and ſpeak againſt me: but thy ſervant did meditate in thy ſtatutes. 24 Thy teſtimonies alſo are my delight, and my counſellours.

DALETH.

25 My ſoul cleaveth unto the duſt: quicken thou me according to thy word. 26 I have declared my ways, and thou hearedſt me: teach me thy ſtatutes. 27 Make me to underſtand the way of thy precepts: ſo ſhall I talk of thy wondrous works. 28 My ſoul melteth for heavineſs: ſtrengthen thou me according unto thy word. 29 Remove from me the way of lying: and grant me thy law graciouſly. 30 I have choſen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me. 31 I have ſtuck unto thy teſtimonies: O Lord, put me not to ſhame. 32 I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou ſhalt inlarge my heart.

HE.

33 Teach me, O Lord, the way of thy ſtatutes, and I ſhall keep it unto the end. 34 Give me underſtanding, and I ſhall keep thy law, yea, I ſhall obſerve it with my whole heart. 35 Make me to go in the path of thy commandments, for therein do I delight. 36 Incline my heart unto thy teſtimonies, and not to covetouſneſs. 37 Turn away mine eyes from beholding vanity: and quicken thou me in thy way. 38 Stabliſh thy word unto thy ſervant, who is devoted to thy fear. 39 Turn away my reproach which I fear: for thy judgments are good. 40 Behold, I have longed after thy precepts: quicken me in thy righteouſneſs.

VAU.

41 Let thy mercies come alſo unto me, O Lord, even thy ſalvation according to thy word. 42 So ſhall I have wherewith to anſwer him that reproacheth me: for I truſt in thy word. 43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth; for I have hoped in thy judgments. 44 So ſhall I keep thy law continually for ever and ever. 45 And I will walk at liberty: for I ſeek thy precepts. 46 I will ſpeak of thy teſtimonies alſo before kings, and will not be aſhamed. 47 And I will delight my ſelf in thy commandments which I have loved. 48 My hands alſo will I lift up unto thy commandments which I have loved: and I will meditate in thy ſtatutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remember the word unto thy ſervant, upon which thou haſt cauſed me to hope. 50 This is my comfort in my affliction: for thy word hath quickened me. 51 The proud have had me greatly in deriſion: yet have I not declined from thy law. 52 I have remembred thy judgments of old, O Lord; and have comforted my ſelf. 53 Horror hath taken hold upon me, because of the wicked that forſake thy law. 54 Thy ſtatutes have been my ſongs in the houſe of my pilgrimage. 55 I have remembred thy name, O Lord, in the night, and have kept thy law. 56 This I had: becauſe I kept thy precepts.

CHETH.

57 Thou art my portion, O Lord, I have ſaid, that I would keep thy words. 58 I intreated thy favour with my whole heart: be merciful unto me according to thy word. 59 I thought on my ways, and turned my feet unto thy teſtimonies. 60 I made haſte, and delayed not to keep thy commandments. 61 The bands of the wicked have robbed me: but I have not forgotten thy law. 62 At midnight I will riſe to give thanks unto thee: becauſe of thy righteous judgments. 63 I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts. 64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy ſtatutes.

TETH.

65 Thou haſt dealt well with thy ſervant, O Lord, according unto thy word. 66 Teach me good judgment, and knowledge: for I have believed thy commandments. 67 Before I was afflicted, I went aſtray: but now have I kept thy word. 68 Thou art good, and doeſt good; teach me thy ſtatutes. 69 The proud have forged a lie againſt me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart. 70 Their heart is as fat as greaſe, but I delight in thy law. 71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted, that I might learn thy ſtatutes. 72 The law thy mouth is better unto me, than thouſands of gold and ſilver.

JOD.

73 Thy hands have made me and faſhioned me: give me underſtanding, that I may learn thy commandments. 74 They that fear thee, will be glad when they ſee me: becauſe I have hoped in thy word. 75 I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are right, and that thou in faithfulneſs haſt afflicted me. 76 Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindneſs be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy ſervant. 77 Let thy tender mercies come unto me, that I may live: for thy law is my delight. 78 Let the proud be aſhamed, for they dealt perverſly with me without a cauſe; but I will meditate in thy precepts. 79 Let thoſe that fear thee, turn unto me, and thoſe that have known thy teſtimonies. 80 Let my heart be ſound in thy ſtatutes; that I be not aſhamed.

CAPH.

81 My ſoul fainteth for thy ſalvation: but I hope in thy word. 82 Mine eyes fail for thy word, ſaying, When wilt thou comfort me? 83 For I am become like a bottle in the ſmoak: yet do I not forget thy ſtatutes. 84 How many are the days of thy ſervant? when wilt thou execute judgment on them that perſecute me? 85 The proud have digged pits for me, which are not after thy law. 86 All thy commandments are faithful: they perſecute me wrongfully; help thou me. 87 They had almoſt conſumed me upon earth: but I forſook not thy precepts. 88 Quicken me after thy loving-kindneſs, ſo ſhall I keep the teſtimony of thy mouth.

LAMED.

89 For ever, O Lord, thy word is ſettled in heaven. 90 Thy faithfulneſs is unto all generations: thou haſt eſtabliſhed the earth, and it abideth. 91 They continue this day according to thine ordinances: for all are thy ſervants. 92 Unleſs thy law had been my delights, I ſhould then have periſhed in mine affliction. 93 I will never forget thy precepts: for with them thou haſt quickned me. 94 I am thine, ſave me: for I have ſought thy precepts. 95 The wicked have waited for me to deſtroy me: but I will conſider thy teſtimonies. 96 I have ſeen an end of all perfection; but thy commandment is exceeding broad.

MEM.

97 O how love I thy law: it is my meditation all the day. 98 Thou through thy commandments haſt made me wiſer than mine enemies: for they are ever with me. 99 I have more underſtanding than all my teachers: for thy teſtimonies are my meditation. 100 I underſtand more than the antients: becauſe I keep thy precepts. 101 I have refrained my feet from every evil way: that I might keep thy word. 102 I have not departed from thy judgments: for thou haſt taught me. 103 How ſweet are thy words unto my taſte! yea, ſweeter than honey to my mouth. 104 Through thy precepts I get underſtanding: therefore I hate every falſe way.

NUN.

105 Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path. 106 I have ſworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep thy righteous judgments. 107 I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O Lord, according unto thy word. 108 Accept, I beſeech thee, the free-will-offerings of my mouth, O Lord, and teach me thy judgments. 109 My ſoul is continually in my hand: yet do I not forget thy law. 110 The wicked have laid a ſnare for me: yet I erred not from thy precepts. 111 Thy teſtimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart. 112 I have inclined mine heart to perform thy ſtatutes alway, even unto the end.

SAMECH.

113 I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love. 114 Thou art my hiding-place and my ſhield: I hope in thy word. 115 Depart from me, ye evil-doers; for I will keep the commandments of my God. 116 Uphold me according unto thy word, that I may live: and let me not be aſhamed of my hope. 117 Hold thou me up, and I ſhall be ſafe: and I will have reſpect unto thy ſtatutes continually. 118 Thou haſt troden down all them that err from thy ſtatutes: for their deceit is falſhood. 119 Thou putteſt away all the wicked of the earth like droſs: therefore I love thy teſtimonies. 120 My fleſh trembleth for fear of thee, and I am afraid of thy judgments.

AIN.

121 I have done judgment and juſtice: leave me not to mine oppreſſors. 122 Be ſurety for thy ſervant for good: let not the proud oppreſs me. 123 Mine eyes fail for thy ſalvation, and for the word of thy righteouſneſs. 124 Deal with thy ſervant according to thy mercy, and teach me thy ſtatutes. 125 I am thy ſervant, give me underſtanding, that I may know thy teſtimonies. 126 It is time for thee, Lord, to work: for they have made void thy law. 127 Therefore I love thy commandments above gold, yea, above fine gold. 128 Therefore I eſteem all thy precepts concerning all things to be right; and I hate every falſe way.

PE.

129 Thy teſtimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my ſoul keep them. 130 The entrance of thy words giveth light: it giveth underſtanding unto the ſimple. 131 I opened my mouth, and panted: for I longed for thy commandments. 132 Look thou upon me, and be merciful unto me, as thou uſeſt to do unto thoſe that love thy name. 133 Order my ſteps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me. 134 Deliver me from the oppreſſion of man: ſo will I keep thy precepts. 135 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant: and teach me thy ſtatutes. 136 Rivers of waters run down mine eyes: becauſe they kept not thy law.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and upright are thy judgments. 138 Thy teſtimonies that thou haſt commanded are righteous, and very faithful. 139 My zeal hath conſumed me: becauſe mine enemies have forgotten thy words. 140 Thy word is very pure: therefore thy ſervant loveth it. 141 I am ſmall and deſpiſed: yet do not I forget thy precepts. 142 Thy righteouſneſs is an everlaſting righteouſneſs, and thy law is the truth. 143 Trouble

Trouble and anguiſh have taken hold on me: yet thy commandments are my delights. 144 The righteouſneſs of thy teſtimonies is everlaſting: give me underſtanding, and I ſhall live.

KOPH.

145 I cried with my whole heart, hear me, O Lord: I will keep thy ſtatutes. 146 I cried unto thee, ſave me, and I ſhall keep thy teſtimonies. 147 I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word. 148 Mine eyes prevent the night watches, that I might meditate in thy word. 149 Hear my voice according unto thy loving-kindneſs: O Lord, quicken me according to thy judgment. 150 They draw nigh that follow after miſchief: they are far from thy law. 151 Thou art near, O Lord: and all thy commandments are truth. 152 Concerning thy teſtimonies, I have known of old, that thou haſt founded them for ever.

RESH.

153 Conſider mine affliction, and deliver me: for I do not forget thy law. 154 Plead my cauſe, and deliver me: quicken me according to thy word. 155 Salvation is far from the wicked: for they ſeek not thy ſtatutes. 156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy judgments. 157 Many are my perſecutors, and mine enemies: yet do I not decline from thy teſtimonies. 158 I beheld the tranſgreſſors, and was grieved: becauſe they kept not thy word. 159 Conſider how I love thy precepts: quicken me, O Lord, according to thy loving-kindneſs. 160 Thy word is true from the beginning: and every one of thy righteous judgments endureth for ever.

SCHIN.

161 Princes have perſecuted me without a cauſe: but my heart ſtandeth in awe of thy word. 162 I rejoice at thy word, as one that findeth great ſpoil. 163 I hate and abhor lying: but thy law do I love. 164 Seven times a day do I praiſe thee: becauſe of thy righteous judgments. 165 Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing ſhall offend them. 166 Lord, I have hoped for thy ſalvation, and done thy commandments. 167 My ſoul hath kept thy teſtimonies: and I love them exceedingly. 168 I have kept thy precepts and thy teſtimonies: for all my ways are before thee.

TAU.

169 Let my cry come near before thee, O Lord: give me underſtanding according to thy word. 170 Let my ſupplication come before thee: deliver me according to thy word. 171 My lips ſhall utter praiſe, when thou haſt taught me thy ſtatutes. 172 My tongue ſhall ſpeak of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteouſneſs. 173 Let thine hand help me: for I have choſen thy precepts. 174 I have longed for thy ſalvation, O Lord: and thy law is my delight. 175 Let my ſoul live, and it ſhall praiſe thee: and let thy judgments help me. 176 I have gone aſtray like a loſt ſheep, ſeek thy ſervant: for I do not forget thy commandments.

This Pſalm is divided into two and twenty Parts, or Pauſes, in every one of which there are eight Verſes, each of which begins in the Hebrew with that Letter whereby each Part is called. So all the Verſes of the firſt Part begin with an Aleph, or A. The Verſes of the ſecond, every one with Beth, as B; and ſo forward in Order, according to the Hebrew Alphabet, or A, B; which is the Reaſon that ſome among the Learned, have called this Pſalm, the A B of Piety and Goodneſs. Every Verſe of this Pſalm contains either a ſpecial Praiſe and Commendation of the Word of God, by Reaſon of its Excellency; or a Teſtification of David's Love unto it; or elſe a Prayer for Grace, to carry himſelf according to it. Obſerve, that in every Verſe of this Pſalm, David makes Mention of God's Law, Inſtitutions, or Ordinances, Commandments, Teſtimonies, Precepts, Word, Promiſes, Ways, Judgments, Name, Righteouſneſs, and the like; except Ver. 122. where he calls upon God for Help and Aſſiſtance, and Ver. 90. where he celebrates God's Faithfulneſs, which relates to the Stedfaſtneſs of his Promiſe (called in this Pſalm his Word) it may well be thought no Exception to that Obſervation.

Theodoret hath another Conjecture concerning David's Deſign in this Pſalm. David had great Varieties in his Condition; for he both fled from Enemies, and chaſed them; lived ſometimes very melancholy, and again moſt pleaſantly; ran in God's Ways, and ſtumbled, and roſe again to run that Courſe. 'Now 'all theſe Things, ſays he, (and it is not improbable) 'David afterwards collected into this one Pſalm; 'collecting all the Prayers which he had made to God 'at ſeveral Times, and on ſeveral Occaſions, and put'ting them together in this admirable Meditation, di'vided into twenty two Parts, which propound one 'and the ſame moſt profitable to all Men; and teaches 'them how it is poſſible to live virtuouſly in the worſt 'Condition. Nor doth he neglect dogmatical Inſtruc'tion, as he ſpeaks, but adds it to the other: So that 'this Pſalm is ſufficient to inſtruct thoſe that ſtudy 'exquiſite Virtue, and to ſtir up the Diligence of thoſe 'that are Lazy; to comfort thoſe that are ſad; to 'correct the Negligent; and, in one Word, to afford 'all Manner of Medicines, for the Cure of the various 'Diſeaſes of Mankind.'

PSAL. CXX.

David prays againſt lying Lips and deceitful Tongues; and complains that his Habitation was among wicked and unpeaceable Men.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. IN my diſtreſs I cried unto the Lord, and he heard me. 2 Deliver my ſoul, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue. 3 What ſhall be given unto thee? or what ſhall be done unto thee, thou falſe tongue? 4 Sharp arrows of the mighty, with coals of juniper. 5 Wo is me, that I ſojourn in Meſech, that I dwell in the tents of Kedar. 6 My ſoul hath long dwelt with him that hateth peace. I am for peace: but when I ſpeak, they are for war.

There can no certain Account be given, why this and the fourteen following Pſalms, are called Songs of Degrees, or Aſcents. Their Conjecture ſeems moſt probable, who think the Title denotes, either the Elevation of the Voice in the ſinging theſe Songs, or the Excellence of the Compoſure, or of the Muſick to which they were ſet, or the high Eſteem they had of them upon ſome Account or other; particularly, becauſe they were ſo fit for their Uſe (tho' moſt of them compoſed in former Times) at and after their Return from the Captivity of Babylon. Some think this Title was given them, becauſe they ſung them as they went up to their own Country.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been made by David, when the Calumnies of Doeg, and others, forced him to flee his Country, and to go as far as the Kedarens, or Arabians, (Ver. 5.) whoſe Company was very irkſome to him. We do not read indeed in his Hiſtory, that he was there; but we may well think he ſought for Safety in more Places than are particularly mentioned; and might as well be there, as amongſt the Moabites, and in the Wilderneſs of Paran, (1 Sam. xxv. 1.) which was not far from them. As for Meſech, it may ſignify, not a Place, but the Length of Time he ſtaid there, before he durſt ſtir from thence; or which he was forced to ſpend in Exile; as moſt of the antient Interpreters underſtand it. See Bochart in his Phaleg, L. 3. C. 12.

PSAL. CXXI.

The Pſalmiſt ſhews, that the great Safety of the Godly is from the Lord, who keeps them in their Out-goings and In-comings from all Evil.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. I Will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help. 2 My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. 3 He will not ſuffer thy foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not ſlumber. 4 Behold, he that keepeth Iſrael, ſhall neither ſlumber nor ſleep. 5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy ſhade upon thy right hand. 6 The ſun ſhall not ſmite thee by day; nor the moon by night. 7 The Lord ſhall preſerve thee from all evil: he ſhall preſerve thy ſoul. 8 The Lord ſhall preſerve thy going out and thy coming in, from this time forth, and even for evermore.

The Matter of this Pſalm ſufficiently ſhews, that the Pſalmiſt was ſtrugling with great Difficulties and Oppoſitions, looking every where for Help, as Men in ſuch Circumſtances uſe to do, turning his Eyes to God and his Providence, and encouraging himſelf by the Promiſes of God made to his People.

PSAL. CXXII.

David profeſſes his Joy when he went into the Houſe of the Lord; and prays for the Welfare, Proſperity, and Peace of Jeruſalem.

A Song of Degrees of David.

Ver. 1. I Was glad when they ſaid unto me, Let us go into the houſe of the Lord. 2 Our feet ſhall ſtand within thy gates, O Jeruſalem. 3 Jeruſalem is builded as a city, that is compact together: 4 Whither the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord, unto the teſtimony of Iſrael, to give thanks unto the name of the Lord. 5 For there are ſet thrones of judgment: the thrones of the houſe of David. 6 Pray for the peace of Jeruſalem: they ſhall proſper that love thee. 7 Peace be within thy walls, and proſperity within thy palaces. 8 For my brethren and companions ſakes, I will now ſay, Peace be within thee. 9 Becauſe of the houſe of the Lord our God, I will ſeek thy good.

This Pſalm ſeems to have been written by David, for the Uſe of the People, when they came up to Jeruſalem to the ſolemn Feaſts. By the artificial Joining and Beauty of the Houſes, he means the concordant Love between the Citizens. In the Houſe of the Lord was placed the Throne of Juſtice, the Figure of Chriſt's Kingdom; for the Welfare, Proſperity, and Peace of which, the Prophet prays.

If the Talmudiſts may be believed, they were wont to ſing the firſt Verſe of this Pſalm as they went out of the Country towards Jeruſalem, carrying their Firſt-fruits to the Houſe of the Lord; as the Law (Deut. xxvi. 2.) directed them. And when they entered within the Gates of the City, they ſung the ſecond Verſe. There they were met by ſome of the Citizens, who, if this be true, ſung the reſt of the Pſalm, it is likely, together with them, as they went toward the Temple.

PSAL. CXXIII.

The Godly profeſs their patient truſting and Confidence in God; and earneſtly pray to be delivered from the Contempt of the Proud.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. UNto thee lift I up mine eyes, O thou that dwelleſt in the heavens. 2 Behold, as the eyes of ſervants look unto the hand of their maſters, and as the eyes of a maiden unto the hand of her miſtreſs: ſo our eyes wait upon the Lord our God, until that he have mercy upon us. 3 Have mercy upon us, O Lord, have mercy upon us: for we are exceedingly filled with contempt. 4 Our ſoul is exceedingly filled with the ſcorning of thoſe that are at eaſe, and with the contempt of the proud.

This Pſalm, it is certain, was compoſed in a Time of great Diſtreſs; when they were extremely afflicted by ſome haughty and inſolent Enemies, Ver. 3, 4. who thoſe Enemies were, there are ſeveral Conjectures; and I, ſays Patrick, will add mine: That this ſhort Form of Prayer was made by ſome pious Perſon, when the King of Aſſyria (whoſe Pride the Prophet Iſaiah deſcribes, Ch. viii. 7. and many other Places) ſent Rabſhakeh and other of his Captains to beſiege Jeruſalem; where they poured out moſt contemptuous, nay, blaſphemous Words againſt God and his People, 2 Kings xviii. xix. It is probable, if this Conjecture be admitted, that it was made by Iſaiah, whom Hezekiah deſired to lift up his Prayer for the Remnant that was left, 2 Kings xix. 4. Iſa. xxxvii. 4. Accordingly we read, (2 Chron. xxxii. 20.) both he and Hezekiah cried unto the Lord; and we may ſuppoſe, lifted up his Eyes to Heaven, and ſaid the Words of this Pſalm.

PSAL. CXXIV.

The Church ſets forth God's Mercy for a miraculous Deliverance, out of the apparent Danger of powerful Enemies, and bleſſes him for it.

A Song of Degrees of David.

Ver. 1. IF it had not been the Lord, who was on our ſide, now may Iſrael ſay: 2 If it had not been the Lord who was on our ſide, when men roſe up againſt us: 3 Then they had ſwallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled againſt us. 4 Then the waters had overwhelmed us, the ſtreams had gone over our ſoul. 5 Then the proud waters had gone over our ſoul. 6 Bleſſed be the Lord, who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth. 7 Our help is eſcaped as a bird out of the ſnare of the fowlers; the ſnare is broken, and we are eſcaped. 8 Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, in the Name, and for the Uſe of all the Church and People of Iſrael; as a Thankſgiving for their Deliverance, from ſome imminent Danger or Dangers, from proud and potent Enemies. Many ſuch they had in David's Time; but which of them is here intended, is hard to determine, and not worth the Enquiry.

PSAL. CXXV.

The Stedfaſtneſs of ſuch as truſt in God. A Prayer for the Godly to do them Good, and againſt the Ungodly to deſtroy them.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. THey that truſt in the Lord ſhall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever. 2 As the mountains are round about Jeruſalem, ſo the Lord is round about his people, from henceforth even for ever. 3 For the rod of the wicked ſhall not reſt upon the lot of the righteous: leſt the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity. 4 Do good, O Lord, unto thoſe that be good, and to them that are upright in their hearts. 5 As for ſuch as turn aſide unto their crooked ways, the Lord ſhall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace ſhall be upon Iſrael.

This Pſalm was deſigned for the Conſolation and Encouragement of God's Church and People in all Ages, againſt all the Plots and Malice of their inveterate and irreconcileable Enemies.

PSAL. CXXVI.

The Church celebrates the Mercy of God from the Babylonian Captivity; prays that he would perfect his Work; and foretels the good Succeſs thereof.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. WHen the Lord turned again the captivity of Zion, we were like them that dream. 2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ſinging: then ſaid they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them. 3 The Lord hath done great things for us: whereof we are glad. 4 Turn again our captivity, O Lord, as the ſtreams in the ſouth. 5 They that ſow in tears, ſhall reap in joy. 6 He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious ſeed, ſhall doubtleſs come again with rejoicing, bringing his ſheaves with him.

This Pſalm is ſo univerſally thought to be a joyful Song compoſed by Ezra, or ſome other good Man, when they returned out of Babylon, that, ſays Patrick, I ſhall ſeek for no other Interpretation; but obſerve, with Theodoret, that when Cyrus gave them all Leave to return to their own Land, ſome were ſo ill-minded, that they choſe to continue where they were. But ſuch as had any Senſe of the Piety of their Forefathers, and deſired to ſee the Worſhip of God, according to the Law, reſtored, gladly embraced the Opportunity of returning to their own Country: Where they thought themſelves ſo happy in the Liberty which they enjoyed, that they pray (Ver. 4.) all the reſt of the Nation, that remained ſtill behind, would come and partake of it.

PSAL. CXXVII.

No Succeſs in City or Family without God's Bleſſing and Protection. Good Children are his Gift; their Happineſs that have them.

A Song of Degrees for Solomon.

Ver. 1. EXcept the Lord build the houſe, they labour in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain. 2 It is vain for you to riſe up early, to ſit up late, to eat the bread of ſorrows: for ſo he giveth his beloved ſleep. 3 Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is his reward. 4 As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man: ſo are children of the youth. 5 Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them: they ſhall not be aſhamed, but they ſhall ſpeak with the enemies in the gate.

The Hebrew Particle which here we tranſlate for (in the Title) is thought by our Interpreters, in moſt other Places, to ſignify of; and ſo they tranſlate it a little before, in the Title of Pſ. cxxiv. and a little after, in that of cxxxi. Therefore, ſays Patrick, I ſhall look upon this Pſalm as compoſed by Solomon, who, you read, 1 Kings iv. 32. made above three thouſand Songs; tho' none of them (except that large Poem called the Song of Songs, and as ſome think, Pſ. cxxxii. and, as I ſuppoſe, the next to this) have been tranſmitted to Poſterity, but only this; which is a Commentary upon a pious Maxim of his, often repeated in the Book of his Proverbs; that it is in vain to attempt any Thing, if the Lord do not proſper it. Teaching us therefore, in all our Ways to acknowledge Him (Prov. iii. 6. xvi. 3.) and not to preſume, that it is in our Power to direct our own Way (that is, our Deſigns, Enterprizes, and Actions) to what Iſſue we pleaſe. For, tho' a Man's Heart deviſeth his Way, yet it is the Lord that directed his Steps, Prov. xvi. 9. xx. 24. xxi. 30, 31. A Truth to be deeply pondered by all, eſpecially by Princes; in whoſe Affairs, this over-ruling Providence is moſt viſible.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

The Pſalmiſt ſhews the happy State of him that fears God, in his Labour, Wife, and Children; he ſhall ſee the Good of Jeruſalem, and Peace upon Iſrael.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is every one that feareth the Lord: that walketh in his ways. For thou ſhalt eat the labour of thine hands: happy ſhalt thou be, and it ſhall be well with thee. 3 Thy wife ſhall be as a fruitful vine by the ſides of thine houſe: thy children like olive-plants round about thy table. 4 Behold, that thus ſhall the man be bleſſed, that feareth the Lord. 5 The Lord ſhall bleſs thee out of Zion: and thou ſhalt ſee the good of Jeruſalem, all the days of thy life. 6 Yea, thou ſhalt ſee thy children's children, and peace upon Iſrael.

It is not unlikely, that this Pſalm was compoſed by the ſame Author that made the former; to excite Men to be truly religious, as the only Way to obtain the Bleſſings, there mentioned, of the Lord.

Some think this was a Form preſcribed to be uſed at the Bleſſing of their Marriages; when they wiſhed the new-married Couple all Manner of Happineſs; eſpecially a long Life in peaceable Times, Ver. 5, 6.

PSAL. CXXIX.

The various and manifold Afflictions of the Church deſcribed; ſhe is delivered out of all; thoſe that hate her are curſed and devoted to Judgment.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. MAny a time have they afflicted me from my youth, may Iſrael now ſay: 2 Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth youth: yet they have not prevailed againſt me. 3 The plowers plowed upon my back: they made long their furrows. 4 The Lord is righteous: he hath cut aſunder the cords of the wicked. 5 Let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Zion. 6 Let them be as the graſs upon the houſe-tops, which withereth afore it groweth up: 7 Wherewith the mower filleth not his hand; nor he that bindeth ſheaves his boſom. 8 Neither do they which go by ſay, The bleſſing of the Lord be upon you: we bleſs you in the name of the Lord.

This Pſalm was made when ſome new Calamity threatened them; either by Sennacherib, or, as Theodoret thinks, by thoſe Nations which combined to deſtroy the Jews, as ſoon as they returned from the Captivity of Babylon. When they were taught by Ezra, or ſome ſuch holy Man, to recount what God had done for them ever ſince they were a People; and to denounce the divine Vengeance againſt thoſe that now ſought their Ruin. The former Conjecture ſeems the truer; becauſe as yet, he ſaith, Ver. 2. their Enemies had not prevailed againſt them; unleſs we expound that Phraſe (according to the received Interpretation of the Pſalm) that they had not quite deſtroyed them, and made them ceaſe to be a Nation.

PSAL. CXXX.

The Pſalmiſt, under a deep Senſe of his Sins, profeſſes his Hope in God, and exhorts Iſrael alſo to hope in him.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. OUT of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord. 2 Lord, hear my voice: let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my ſupplications. 3 If thou, Lord, ſhouldſt mark iniquities: O Lord, who ſhall ſtand? 4 But there is forgiveneſs with thee: that thou mayeſt be feared. 5 I wait for the Lord, my ſoul doth wait, and in his word do I hope. 6 My ſoul waiteth for the Lord, more than they that watch for the morning: I ſay, more than they that watch for the morning. 7 Let Iſrael hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption. 8 And he ſhall redeem Iſrael from all his iniquities.

Some think David made this Prayer, after he had plunged himſelf into a very deep Guilt, by his Sin with Bathſheba: I rather think, ſays Patrick, when he was perſecuted by Saul, and reduced to ſo low a Condition, that his Heart began to ſink within him. For the Floods of ungodly Men (as he ſpeaks, Pſ. xviii. 4.) made him afraid, that he ſhould one Day periſh in them (1 Sam. xxix. 1.) and he complains elſewhere, that he ſunk in the Mire, where there was no ſtanding, &c. Pſ. lxix. 2, 14, 15. This is the laſt but one of the ſeven Penitential Pſalms.

PSAL. CXXXI.

David teſtifies his Humility, and exhorts Iſrael to truſt in the Lord.

A Song of Degrees of David.

Ver. 1. LORD, my heart is not haughty, nor mine eyes lofty: neither do I exerciſe myſelf in great matters, or in things too high for me. 2 Surely I have behaved and quieted myſelf as a child that is weaned of his mother: my ſoul is even as a weaned child. 3 Let Iſrael hope in the Lord from henceforth and for ever.

Tho' David could not purge himſelf from all Manner of Guilt (as he confeſſes in the foregoing Pſalm, Ver. 3.) yet in that Matter which he was charged withal by his Enemies (of affecting the Kingdom) he could ſafely proteſt he was innocent as a little Child: Which he doth in this Pſalm particularly; and in ſeveral Parts of other Pſalms.

PSAL. CXXXII.

The Pſalmiſt, in Prayer, commends unto God, the Care he had for the Ark. A Rehearſal of God's Oath, and Promiſes of the everlaſting Kingdom of Chriſt.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. LORD, remember David, and all his afflictions: 2 How he ſware unto the Lord, and vowed unto the mighty God of Jacob. 3 Surely I will not come into the tabernacle of my houſe, nor go up into my bed: 4 I will not give ſleep to mine eyes, or ſlumber to mine eyelids, 5 Until I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Jacob. 6 Lo, we heard of it at Ephratah: we found it in the fields of the wood. 7 We will go into his tabernacles: we will worſhip at his footſtool. 8 Ariſe, O Lord, into thy reſt: thou, and the ark of thy ſtrength. 9 Let thy prieſts be cloathed with righteouſneſs: and let thy ſaints ſhout for joy. 10 For thy ſervant Davids ſake, turn not away the face of thine anointed. 11 The Lord hath ſworn in truth unto David, he will not turn from it, Of the fruit of thy body, will I ſet upon thy throne. 12 If thy children will keep my covenant and my teſtimony, that I ſhall teach them; their children alſo ſhall ſit upon thy throne for evermore. 13 For the Lord hath choſen Zion: he hath deſired it for his habitation. 14 This is my reſt for ever: here will I dwell, for I have deſired it. 15 I will abundantly bleſs her proviſion: I will ſatisfie her poor with bread. 16 I will alſo cloath her prieſts with ſalvation: and her ſaints ſhall ſhout aloud for joy. 17 There will I make the horn of David to bud: I have ordained a lamp for mine anointed. 18 His enemies will I cloath with ſhame: but upon himſelf ſhall his crown flouriſh.

The Penman of this Pſalm, ſays Pool, was either David, when God had graciouſly declared his Acceptance of David's Deſire to build an Houſe for God, and his Purpoſe of eſtabliſhing the Kingdom of David, and his Seed for ever; or Solomon, as may be gathered from the whole Matter of the Pſalm, which ſeems better to agree with him, than with David, particularly from Ver. 8, 9, 10. compared with 2 Chron. vi. 41, 42. where we have the ſame Words, with but a ſmall Variation.

Lo, we heard of it at Ephratah; we found it in the Fields of the Wood] Thus paraphraſed by Patrick: And now, behold, the Lord himſelf, to our great Joy, hath told us himſelf the very Place where he will fix his Habitation (1 Chron. xxi. 18, 26.) in the Territory of Bethlehem Ephrata (Gen. xxxv. 16, 19.) in the Fields of that Foreſt, where the Angel ſtood and directed David, to build an Altar unto the Lord, 1 Chron. xxi. 18. xxii. 1.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

David extols the Benefit and Excellency of the Unity and brotherly Communion of the Faithful.

A Song of Degrees of David.

Ver. 1. BEhold, how good and how pleaſant it is, for brethren to dwell together in unity. 2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aarons beard, that went down to the ſkirts of his garments. 3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that deſcended upon the mountains of Zion; for there the Lord commanded the bleſſing, even life for evermore.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, upon the happy Occaſion of the Ending of the Civil War between the two Houſes of Saul and David. In which having felt the ſad Effects of Diſcord and Diviſion, both the King and the People were more ſenſible of the great Bleſſing of Reconciliation and Unity.

PSAL. CXXXIV.

The Prieſts and Levites are exhorted to bleſs God in his Sanctuary.

A Song of Degrees.

Ver. 1. BEhold, bleſs ye the Lord, all ye ſervants of the Lord, which by night ſtand in the houſe of the Lord. 2 Lift up your hands in the ſanctuary: and bleſs the Lord. 3 The Lord that made heaven and earth, bleſs thee out of Zion.

It is uncertain by whom this Pſalm was compoſed; but it ſeems to have been made to be ſung by ſome or more of the Levites, at the ſhutting up of the Gates of the Temple; to excite the reſt, whoſe Turn it was to watch that Night, to be diligent in their Office of ſinging Pſalms, and making devout Prayers for the People. It is the laſt of thoſe that have the Title of a Song of Degrees.

PSAL. CXXXV.

The Servants of the Lord are exhorted to praiſe Him for his Mercy to Iſrael, and for his Judgments on Egypt, and other Nations. The Vanity of Idols, and they that truſt in them. The Houſes of Aaron and Levi are exhorted to bleſs God.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord, praiſe ye the name of the Lord, praiſe him, O ye ſervants of the Lord. 2 Ye that ſtand in the houſe of the Lord, in the courts of the houſe of our God. 3 Praiſe ye the Lord, for the Lord is good: ſing praiſes unto his name, for it is pleaſant. 4 For the Lord hath choſen Jacob unto himſelf, and Iſrael for his peculiar treaſure. 5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is above all gods. 6 Whatſoever the Lord pleaſed, that did he in heaven and in earth, in the ſeas, and all deep places. 7 He cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth, he maketh lightnings for the rain: he bringeth the wind out of his treaſuries. 8 Who ſmote the firſt-born of Egypt, both of man and beaſt. 6 Who ſent tokens and wonders into the midſt of thee, O Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his ſervants. 10 Who ſmote great nations and ſlew mighty kings: 11 Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Baſhan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan: 12 And gave their land for an heritage unto Iſrael his people. 13 Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever, and thy memorial, O Lord, throughout all generations. 14 For the Lord will judge his people, and he will repent himſelf concerning his ſervants. 15 The idols of the heathen are ſilver and gold, the work of mens hands. 16 They have mouths, but they ſpeak not; eyes have they, but they ſee not. 17 They have ears, but they hear not; neither is there any breath in their mouths. 18 They that make them are like unto them: ſo is every one that truſteth in them. 19 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Iſrael: bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Aaron. 20 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Levi; ye that fear the Lord, bleſs the Lord. 21 Bleſſed be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth at Jeruſalem. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This perhaps was the Morning Hymn, which the Præcentor, Ver. 4, 5. called upon the Levites to ſing at the opening the Gates of the Temple; as the former was ſung at the ſhutting up of the Gates in the Evening. It recounts ſeveral of the great Works of the Lord, eſpecially towards that Nation; whom it excites to Stedfaſtneſs in their Religion, and to Contempt of Idols and Idolaters. It both begins and concludes with an Exhortation to praiſe God; and ſo was entitled, as ſeveral other Pſalms here (cvi, cxi, &c.) Hallelujah, or Praiſe the Lord. That is, by this Hymn ſet forth the moſt excellent Perfections and Works of the Lord.

The four following Verſes of this Pſalm, (15, 16, 17, 18.) differ very little from the 4, 5, 6, 8. of Pſ. cxv. which it is certain was compoſed in a Time of great Diſtreſs; as this was when it was over.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

The Pſalmiſt exhorts all to praiſe God for his Power and Wiſdom, and governing the World; for delivering the Iſraelites out of Egypt, and bringing them to the promiſed Land.

Ver. 1. O Give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever. 2 O give thanks to the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for ever. 3 O give thanks to the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for ever. 4 To him who alone doeth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for ever. 5 To him that by wiſdom made the heavens: for his mercy endureth for ever. 6 To him that ſtretched out the earth above the waters: for his mercy endureth for ever. 7 To him that made great lights: for his mercy endureth for ever. 8 The ſun to rule by day: for his mercy endureth for ever. 9 The moon and ſtars to rule by night: for his mercy endureth for ever. 10 To him that ſmote Egypt in their firſt-born: for his mercy endureth for ever. 11 And brought out Iſrael from among them: for his mercy endureth for ever. 12 With a ſtrong hand, and a ſtretched out arm: for his mercy endureth for ever. 13 To him which divided the Red-ſea into parts: for his mercy endureth for ever. 14 And made Iſrael to paſs through the midſt of it: for his mercy endureth for ever. 15 But overthrew Pharaoh and his hoſt in the Red-ſea: for his mercy endureth for ever. 16 To him which led his people through the wilderneſs: for his mercy endureth for ever. 17 To him which ſmote great kings: for his mercy endureth for ever. 18 And ſlew famous kings: for his mercy endureth for ever. 19 Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endureth for ever. 20 And Og the king of Baſhan: for his mercy endureth for ever. 21 A

1 And gave their land for an heritage: for his

The Matter of this Pſalm is the ſame with the ormer, only it is a little more fitted to the Uſe and ervice of the Temple, by the continued Repetition of at ſolemn Clauſe, For his Mercy endureth for ever; hich was much uſed by the ſacred Singers, 2 Chron.

he ſad Complaint of the Jews in Captivity. Of the Scoffing of their Enemies, yet their Conſtancy to remember Jeruſalem. Judgments imprecated upon Jeruſalem and Babylon.

Ver. 1. BY the rivers of Babylon, there we ſat down, yea we wept, when we remem-red Zion. 2 We hanged our harps upon the illows, in the midſt thereof. 3 For there they at carried us away captive, required of us a ng; and they that waſted us, required of us irth, ſaying, Sing us one of the ſongs of Zion.
How ſhall we ſing the Lords ſong in a ſtrange nd? 5 If I forget thee, O Jeruſalem, let my ght hand forget her cunning. 6 If I do not rember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof my mouth; if I prefer not Jeruſalem above
y chief joy. 7 Remember, O Lord, the chilen of Edom, in the day of Jeruſalem; who d, Raſe it, raſe it, even to the foundation reof. 8 O daughter of Babylon who art to deſtroyed: happy ſhall he be that rewardeth e, as thou haſt ſerved us. 9 Happy ſhall he that taketh and daſheth thy little ones againſt ſtones.

The Penman of this Pſalm is uncertain; the Occan of it was unqueſtionably the Conſideration of the bylonish Captivity; and it ſeems to have been comed, either during the Time of that Captivity, or ſently after their Deliverance out of it. This Pſalm forth the ſad Complaint of the Jews, againſt the ffing and Jeering of their Enemies, who would e them uſe merry Songs; concluding with impreng Judgments on Edom and Babylon. This Song is the Elegiac Kind, and deplores the unhappy State the captive Jews in Babylon.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

vid praiſes God for his Goodneſs and Truth, and foretels that the Kings of the Earth ſhall praiſe Him; and profeſſes the Fruit of his truſting in God, in the Midſt of his Troubles.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. I Will praiſe thee with my whole heart, before the Gods will I ſing praiſe unto
. 2 I will worſhip towards thy holy tem-and praiſe thy name, for thy loving-kind-
, and for thy truth: for thou haſt magnified word above all thy name. 3 In the day n I cried, thou anſweredſt me: and ſtrengthdſt me with ſtrength in my ſoul. 4 All the kings of the earth ſhall praiſe thee, O Lord, when they hear the words of thy mouth. 5 Yea, they ſhall ſing in the ways of the Lord: for great is the glory of the Lord. 6 Though the Lord be high, yet hath he reſpect unto the lowly: but the proud he knoweth afar off. 7 Though I walk in the mids of trouble, thou wilt revive me, thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thine hand againſt the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand ſhall ſave me. 8 The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forſake not the works of thine own hands.

This is one of David's Pſalms, (as the Title aſſures us) wherein he thankfully acknowledges God's Goodneſs to him, in advancing him from a low and afflicted Condition to the Royal Dignity: Which remarkable Change would invite, he thought, other Kings and Princes to have a very great Regard to his Divine Majeſty; who, he hoped therefore would ſupport and defend him in his new-gotten Kingdom, by the ſame Almighty Power which raiſed him to it.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

David magnifies the all-ſeeing Providence of God; abhors all Converſe with wicked Men; prays for, and teſtifies his Sincerity.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. O Lord, thou haſt ſearched me, and known me. 2 Thou knoweſt my down-ſitting, and mine up-riſing, thou underſtandeſt my thought afar off. 3 Thou compaſſeſt my path, and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways. 4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but lo, O Lord, thou knoweſt it altogether. 5 Thou haſt beſet me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me. 6 Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it. 7 Whither ſhall I go from thy Spirit? or whither ſhall I flee from thy preſence? 8 If I aſcend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. 9 If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermoſt parts of the ſea: 10 Even there ſhall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand ſhall hold me. 11 If I ſay, Surely the darkneſs ſhall cover me; even the night ſhall be light about me. 12 Yea, the darkneſs hideth not from thee; but the night ſhineth as the day: the darkneſs and the light are both alike to thee. 13 For thou haſt poſſeſſed my reins; thou haſt covered me in my mothers womb. 14 I will praiſe thee, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; marvellous are thy works, and that my ſoul knoweth right well. 15 My ſubſtance was not hid from thee, when I was made in ſecret; and curiouſly wrought in the loweſt parts of the earth. 16 Thine eyes did ſee my ſubſtance yet being unperfect, and in thy book all my members were written which in continuance were faſhioned, when as yet there was none of them. 17 How precious alſo are thy thoughts unto me, O God? how great is the ſum of them? 18 If I ſhould count them, they are more in number than the ſand: when I awake, I am ſtill with thee. 19 Surely thou wilt ſlay the wicked, O God: depart from me therefore, ye bloody men. 20 For they ſpeak againſt thee wickedly, wickedly, and thine enemies take thy name in vain. 21 Do not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and am not I grieved with thoſe that riſe up againſt thee? 22 I hate them with perfect hatred; I count them mine enemies. 23 Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts. 24 See if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlaſting.

This Pſalm is eſteemed, by the Hebrews, the moſt excellent in the whole Book. The Matter of it is noble and ſublime, and ſo is the Style. The Occaſion of it ſeems to have been thoſe heavy Cenſures and Reproaches wherewith David was loaded by his Enemies, who branded him for a notorious Hypocrite and Impoſtor, that pretended Religion only for the covering and promoting his own ambitious and wicked Deſigns againſt his lawful King, whoſe Life and Crown he ſought to take away. Againſt theſe he comforts himſelf with the Conſideration of God's Omniſcience, to whom he appeals as the only proper Judge of the Integrity of his Heart, declaring he will have no Communication with evil and wicked Men.

PSAL. CXL.

The Pſalmiſt prays for Deliverance and Safety from wicked Men; and comforts himſelf with an Aſſurance of God's Righteouſneſs.

To the chief Muſician. A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. DEliver me, O Lord, from the evil man; preſerve me from the violent man; 2 Which imagine miſchiefs in their heart; continually are they gathered together for war. 3 They have ſharpened their tongues like a ſerpent; adders poiſon is under their lips. Selah. 4 Keep me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked, preſerve me from the violent man, who have purpoſed to overthrow my goings. 5 The proud have hid a ſnare for me, and cords, they have ſpread a net by the way-ſide: they have ſet grins for me. Selah. 6 I ſaid unto the Lord, Thou art my God: hear the voice of my ſupplications, O Lord. 7 O God the Lord, the ſtrength of my ſalvation; thou haſt covered my head in the day of battel. 8 Grant not, O Lord, the deſires of the wicked, further not his wicked device, leſt they exalt themſelves. Selah. 9 As for the head of thoſe that compaſs me about, let the miſchief of their own lips cover them. 10 Let burning coals fall upon them, let them be caſt into the fire; into deep pits, that they riſe not up again. 11 Let not an evil ſpeaker be eſtabliſhed in the earth: evil ſhall hunt the violent man to overthrow him. 12 I know that the Lord will maintain the cauſe of the afflicted, and the right of the poor. 13 Surely the righteous ſhall give thanks unto thy name, the upright ſhall dwell in thy preſence.

This Pſalm was compoſed by David, upon Account of thoſe ſlanderous and reproachful Speeches and treacherous Dealings, which David had from his Enemies, in the Time of Saul, of which we have an Account in the Hiſtory.

PSAL. CXLI.

David prays for Audience and Comfort; that his Service might be ſincere, and his Life ſafe from the Snares of his Adverſaries.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. LORD, I cry unto thee, make haſte unto me; give ear unto my voice, when I cry unto thee. 2 Let my prayer be ſet forth before thee as incenſe; and the lifting up of my hands, as the evening ſacrifice. 3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, keep the door of my lips. 4 Incline not my heart to any evil thing, to practiſe wicked works with men that work iniquity; and let me not eat of their dainties. 5 Let the righteous ſmite me, it ſhall be a kindneſs; and let him reprove me, it ſhall be an excellent oil, which ſhall not break my head: for yet my prayer alſo ſhall be in their calamities. 6 When their judges are overthrown in ſtony places, they ſhall hear my words, for they are ſweet. 7 Our bones are ſcattered at the graves mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth wood upon the earth. 8 But mine eyes are unto thee, O God the Lord: in thee is my truſt, leave not my ſoul deſtitute. 9 Keep me from the ſnare which they have laid for me, and the grins of the workers of iniquity. 10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilſt that I withal eſcape.

If the Title had not told us that David was the Author of this Pſalm, the Matter of it would have led our Minds to think of him, and his many Sufferings during the Perſecution of Saul: Which he prays to God (as Theodoret obſerves upon the 3d and 4th Verſes) he may be able to bear ſo patiently, that it may not exaſperate his Spirit to ſpeak irreverently of Saul, much leſs to do him any Miſchief; but leave it unto God to take his Enemy in the Snare they had laid for him.

Our Bones are ſcattered at the Grave's Mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth Wood upon the Earth. That is, ſays Pool, our Caſe is almoſt as hopeleſs as theſe who are dead, and whoſe Bones are ſcattered in ſeveral Places. As much neglected and deſpiſed, as the Chips which a Carpenter makes when he is cutting Wood, which he will not ſtoop to take up. Or rather, as the LXX and Chaldee, and Syriac underſtand it, and as it is in the Hebrew, as when one (the Huſbandman) cutteth and cleaveth the Earth, or in the Earth; which he teareth without any Mercy.

PSAL. CXLII.

David finding Help no-where in his Streights and Difficulties, comforts himſelf in Prayer to God.

Maſchil of David. A Prayer when he was in the Cave.

Ver. 1. I Cried unto the Lord with my voice; with my voice unto the Lord did I make my ſupplication. 2 I poured out my complaint before him; I ſhewed before him my trouble. 3 When my ſpirit was overwhelmed within me, then thou kneweſt my path: in the way wherein I walked, have they privily laid a ſnare for me. 4 I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me; refuge failed me; no man cared for my ſoul. 5 I cried unto thee, O Lord; I ſaid, Thou art my refuge, and my portion in the land of the living. 6 Attend unto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliver me from my perſecutors, for they are ſtronger than I. 7 Bring my ſoul out of priſon, that I may praiſe thy name: the righteous ſhall compaſs me about, for thou ſhalt deal bountifully with me.

I cried unto the Lord with my Voice; with my Voice unto the Lord did I make my Supplication] Either, ſays Pool, with the Voice of my Soul: But ſo this Addition would be ſuperfluous, and much more the Repetition of it, becauſe that is neceſſarily implied in the former Word, I cried, and the following, did I make Supplication. Or rather, 2. With my corporeal Voice, which the Fervour of my Soul forced me to uſe, when I could not do it without ſome Danger, the Enemy being at the Mouth of the Cave. And ſo this Addition is emphatical, and therefore is repeated. But it's probable, that David ſpoke with a low Voice, and that he might do ſo without imminent Danger, is manifeſt from that Diſcourſe which paſſed between David and his Men, even when Saul was entered into the Cave, 1 Sam. xxiv. 4, 5, 6, 7.

PSAL. CXLIII.

The Pſalmiſt prays that God would hear him, and not enter into Judgment with him; complains of his perſecuting Enemies; prays for ſpeedy Deliverance, for Sanctification, and the Deſtruction of his Enemies.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. HEAR my prayer, O Lord, give ear to my ſupplications: in thy faithfulneſs anſwer me, and in thy righteouſneſs. 2 And enter not into judgment with thy ſervant: for in thy ſight ſhall no man living be juſtified. 3 For the enemy hath perſecuted my ſoul, he hath ſmitten my life down to the ground: he hath made me to dwell in darkneſs, as thoſe that have been long dead. 4 Therefore is my ſpirit overwhelmed within me: my heart within me is deſolate. 5 I remember the days of old, I meditate on all thy works: I muſe on the work of thy hands. 6 I ſtretch forth my hands unto thee: my ſoul thirſteth after thee, as a thirſty land. Selah. 7 Hear me ſpeedily, O Lord, my ſpirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, leſt I be like unto them that go down into the pit. 8 Cauſe me to hear thy loving-kindneſs in the morning, for in thee do I truſt: cauſe me to know the way wherein I ſhould walk, for I lift up my ſoul unto thee. 9 Deliver me, O Lord, from mine enemies: I flee unto thee to hide me. 10 Teach me to do thy will, for thou art my God: thy Spirit is good, lead me into the land of uprightneſs. 11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy name's ſake: for thy righteouſneſs ſake bring my ſoul out of trouble. 12 And of thy mercy cut off mine enemies, and deſtroy all them that afflict my ſoul: for I am thy ſervant.

This Pſalm is much of the ſame Nature with the former, and ſeems to have been compoſed much about the ſame Time, and upon the like Occaſion. Tho' we think he made it upon his being perſecuted by his Son Abſalom. For then it was he had moſt Reaſon to fear leſt God ſhould deal with him according to his Sins. The Memory alſo of God's former Deliverances of him, a great while before (Ver. 5.) may well refer to what he had done for him, not only againſt Saul, long before he knew him; which as he doth not forget, ſo he hoped the Lord would now remember, and work for him the like again, when he was in the like Diſtreſs. This is the laſt of the Penitential Pſalms.

PSAL. CXLIV.

David bleſſes God for his Mercy to him in his Wars and Government; confeſſes his own and Man's Worthleſſneſs; prays for Deliverance from his powerful Enemies, and promiſes to praiſe Him.

The Happineſs of that Kingdom whoſe God is the Lord.

A Pſalm of David.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed be the Lord my ſtrength, which teacheth my hands to war, and my fingers to fight. 2 My goodneſs and my fortreſs, my high tower and my deliverer, my ſhield, and he in whom I truſt: who ſubdueth my people under me. 3 Lord, what is man, that thou takeſt knowledge of him? or the ſon of man that thou makeſt account of him? 4 Man is like to vanity: his days are as a ſhadow that paſſeth away. 5 Bow thy heavens, O Lord, and come down: touch the mountains, and they ſhall ſmoak. 6 Caſt forth lightning and ſcatter them: ſhoot out thine arrows and deſtroy them. 7 Send thine hand from above, rid me, and deliver me out of great waters; from the hand of ſtrange children: 8 Whoſe mouth ſpeaketh vanity; and their right hand is a right hand of falſhood. 9 I will ſing a new ſong unto thee, O God: upon a pſaltery, and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings will I ſing praiſes unto thee. 10 It is he that giveth ſalvation unto kings: who delivereth David his ſervant from the hurtful ſword. 11 Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of ſtrange children; whoſe mouth ſpeaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falſhood. 12 That our ſons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner-ſtones, poliſhed after the ſimilitude of a palace: 13 That our garners may be full, affording all manner of ſtore; that our ſheep may bring forth thouſands, and ten thouſands in our ſtreets: 14 That our oxen may be ſtrong to labour; that there be no breaking in, nor going out; that there be no complaining in our ſtreets: 15 Happy is that people that is in ſuch a caſe: yea, happy is that people, whoſe God is the Lord.

This Pſalm is partly gratulatory for Mercies received, and partly petitionary for farther Bleſſings. It ſeems to have been compoſed after the Death of Saul, and in the Beginning of the Reign of David, when he was expoſed to many Perils, both from his own rebellious Subjects, and from the Philiſtines, and other foreign Enemies; yet he had a good Proſpect and aſſurance of a more complete and eſtabliſhed Felicity, vowing to praiſe God for his Bleſſings.

PSAL. CXLV.

David magnifies God for his Greatneſs and terrible Acts; for his Goodneſs and everlaſting Kingdom; for his Care and Providence over all; and for his ſaving Mercies to them that fear Him.

David's Pſalm of Praiſe.

Ver. 1. I Will extol thee, my God, O king, and I will bleſs thy name for ever and ever. 2 Every day will I bleſs thee, and I will praiſe thy name for ever and ever. 3 Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed; and his greatneſs is unſearchable. 4 One generation ſhall praiſe thy works to another, and ſhall declare thy mighty acts. 5 I will ſpeak of the glorious honour of thy majeſty, and of thy wondrous works. 6 And men ſhall ſpeak of the might of thy terrible acts: and I will declare thy greatneſs. 7 They ſhall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodneſs, and and ſhall ſing of thy righteouſneſs. 8 The Lord is gracious, and full of compaſſion; ſlow to anger, and of great mercy. 9 The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works. 10 All thy works ſhall praiſe thee, O Lord, and thy ſaints ſhall bleſs thee. 11 They ſhall ſpeak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power. 12 To make known to the ſons of men, his mighty acts, and the glorious majeſty of his kingdom. 13 Thy kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. 14 The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiſeth up all thoſe that be bowed down. 15 The eyes of all wait upon thee, and thou giveſt them their meat in due ſeaſon. 16 Thou openeſt thine hand, and ſatisfieſt the deſire of every living thing. 17 The Lord is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works. 18 The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth. 19 He will fulfil the deſire of them that fear him: he alſo will hear their cry, and will ſave them. 20 The Lord preſerveth all them that love him: but all the wicked will he deſtroy. 21 My mouth ſhall ſpeak the praiſe of the Lord: and let all fleſh bleſs his holy name for ever and ever.

After David had obtained thoſe Favours of God for himſelf and for the Nation, which he begs in the foregoing Pſalm; he compoſed (according to his Promiſe there, Ver. 9.) this admirable Hymn; which, ſays Patrick, is contrived with ſuch Art, that, it is manifeſt from thence, he made it when he was much at Leiſure, and God had given him Reſt from all his Enemies, 2 Sam. vii. 1. For every Verſe begins with a new Letter of the Alphabet in Order; which are all here, except the Letter Nun, which is wanting, Ver. 13. I ſuppoſe it was loſt when this Pſalm came to the Hands of the Collector of this Book; and he would not adventure to ſupply it with one of his own inventing. The Greek indeed, (that is, the preſent Greek Copies; for Theodotion, and Aquila, and the antient LXX had it not) and Latin, and Arabick (which in Effect are but one and the ſame) have another Verſe, which we may well think, if it were in the Hebrew, began with that Letter Nun: But differs ſo little from the 17th Verſe (when there is no Repetition in any other Part of the Pſalm) that it doth not, in my Opinion, look like the true original Verſe. And it may be doubted, whether there ever was any ſuch Verſe in that Place (where we ſuppoſe one wanting) for the Pſalmiſt might be carried (ſee Pſ. xxv.) by the Strength of the Inſpiration which was upon him, out of the Method he had at firſt propoſed to himſelf.

Certain it is, this Pſalm was always eſteemed ſo excellent, that the Title of the whole Book of Pſalms is taken from this; which is wholly ſpent in praiſing God, with ſuch admirable Devotion, that the antient Hebrews were wont to ſay (as Valentine Schindler hath long ago obſerved) He could not fail to be a Child of the World to come, who would ſay this Pſalm three Times every Day. And for that Reaſon perhaps it was compoſed Alphabetically, that ſo uſeful a Pſalm might be the more eaſily learnt, and remember'd by every Body.

PSAL. CXLVI.

The Pſalmiſt vows perpetual Praiſes to God, and exhorts that none put their Truſt in Man; for God only is worthy to be confided in.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord. Praiſe the Lord, O my ſoul. 2 While I live, will I praiſe the Lord: I will ſing praiſes unto my God, while I have any being. 3 Put not your truſt in princes, nor in the ſon of man, in whom there is no help. 4 His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth: in that very day his thoughts periſh. 5 Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whoſe hope is in the Lord his God: 6 Which made heaven and earth, the ſea, and all that therein is: which keepeth truth for ever. 7 Which executeth judgment for the oppreſſed, which giveth food to the hungry: the Lord looſeth the priſoners. 8 The Lord openeth the eyes of the blind; the Lord raiſeth them that are bowed down; the Lord loveth the righteous. 9 The Lord preſerveth the ſtrangers; he relieveth the fatherleſs and widow: but the way of the wicked he turneth upſide down. 10 The Lord ſhall reign for ever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm, and the other four which follow, both begin and conclude with the Word Hallelujah, i. e. Praiſe ye the Lord; and therefore might, if the Jews had pleaſed, have been called The great Hallelujah, being all of them Exhortations and Incitements to the People, to ſtir up themſelves to that heavenly Employment; which this Pſalm recommends to them, from the Conſideration of ſeveral of the Divine Excellencies which make him the proper Object of our Confidence in all Conditions.

PSAL. CXLVII.

The Prophet exhorts the People to praiſe God for his Care of the Church; his Wiſdom and Government over all; and for his Salvation to his Faithful.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord: for it is good to ſing praiſes unto our God; for it is pleaſant, and praiſe is comely. 2 The Lord doth build up Jeruſalem: he gathereth together the out-caſts of Iſrael. 3 He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. 4 He telleth the number of the ſtars; he calleth them all by their names. 5 Great is our Lord, and of great power; his underſtanding is infinite. 6 The Lord lifteth up the meek; he caſteth the wicked down to the ground. 7 Sing unto the Lord with thankſgiving: ſing praiſe upon the harp unto our God: 8 Who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh graſs to grow upon the mountains. 9 He giveth to the beaſt his food, and to the young ravens which cry. 10 He delighteth not in the ſtrength of the horſe; he taketh not pleaſure in the legs of a man. 11 The Lord taketh pleaſure in them that fear him, in thoſe that hope in his mercy. 12 Praiſe the Lord, O Jeruſalem: praiſe thy God, O Zion. 13 For he hath ſtrengthened the bars of thy gates; he hath bleſſed thy children within thee. 14 He maketh peace in thy borders, and filleth thee with the fineſt of the wheat. 15 He ſendeth forth his commandment upon earth: his word runneth very ſwiftly. 16 He giveth ſnow like wool: he ſcattereth the hoar froſt like aſhes. 17 He caſteth forth his ice like morſels: who can ſtand before his cold? 18 He ſendeth out his word, and melteth them; he cauſeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow. 19 He ſheweth his word unto Jacob, his ſtatutes and his judgments unto Iſrael. 20 He hath not dealt ſo with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them. Praiſe ye the Lord.

St. Chryſoſtom and Theodoret think this Pſalm hath Reſpect to the Return of the Jewiſh Nation from the Captivity of Babylon, and the Inſtauration of Jeruſalem which followed upon it. And the 2d and 13th Verſes may well incline us to be of the Opinion, that it was made by ſome holy Man at that Time (Haggai or Zechariah, ſome antient Interpreters imagine; or rather Nehemiah, who built the Walls, and ſet up the Gates) eſpecially if we obſerve that there are ſome Phraſes in it which favour of the Chaldean Language. And tho' this can be no more than a Conjecture, yet it is very certain and evident, that in that Deliverance, God gave ſuch illuſtrious Proofs of his Power, Wiſdom, Mercy, and Juſtice, as the Pſalmiſt here exhorts the People to celebrate with their thankful Praiſes.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

The Pſalmiſt exhorts all celeſtial and terreſtrial Creatures, eſpecially Man, to praiſe God for his Favour and Mercy to the Church.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord from the heavens: praiſe him in the heights. 2 Praiſe ye him all his angels: praiſe ye him all his hoſts. 3 Praiſe ye him ſun and moon: praiſe him all the ſtars of light. 4 Praiſe him ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that be above the heavens. 5 Let them praiſe the name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created. 6 He hath alſo ſtabliſhed them for ever, and ever: he hath made a decree which ſhall not paſs. 7 Praiſe the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all deeps. 8 Fire and hail, ſnow and vapour, ſtormy wind fulfilling his word. 9 Mountains and all hills, fruitful trees and all cedars. 10 Beaſts and all cattel, creeping things and flying fowl. 11 Kings of the earth, and all people; princes, and all judges of the earth. 12 Both young men and maidens, old men and children. 13 Let them praiſe the name of the Lord: for his name alone is excellent, his glory is above the earth and heaven. 14 He alſo exalteth the horn of his people, the praiſe of all his ſaints; even of the children of Iſrael, a people near unto him. Praiſe ye the Lord.

It doth not appear who was the Author of this Hymn, nor upon what Occaſion it was compoſed. But the laſt Verſe ſufficiently ſhews the Nation was then in a very flouriſhing Condition; and therefore probably it was made by David, when God had given him Reſt from all his Enemies; which filled his Heart with ſuch Love to God, that it tranſported him into this Rapture: Wherein, finding how ſhort his own Praiſes were, he wiſhes all Creatures in Heaven and Earth would conſpire in a ſweet Symphony, as Theodoret ſpeaks, of ſinging Hymns to him.

PSAL. CXLIX.

Exhortation to praiſe God for his Love to his People, and for enabling them by his Power to overcome their Enemies.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord. Sing unto the Lord a new ſong, and his praiſe in the congregation of ſaints. 2 Let Iſrael rejoyce in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their king. 3 Let them praiſe his name in the dance: let them ſing praiſes unto him with the timbrel and harp. 4 For the Lord taketh pleaſure in his people: he will beautify the meek with ſalvation. 5 Let the ſaints be joyful in glory: let them ſing aloud upon their beds. 6 Let the high praiſes of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged ſword in their hand; 7 To execute vengeance upon the heathen, and puniſhments upon the people; 8 To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron; 9 To execute upon them the judgment written: this honour have all his ſaints. Praiſe ye the Lord.

Theodoret thinks this Pſalm was made for them, that after their Return from Captivity had many Oppoſers; but by the divine Aſſiſtance overcame them; and that it is a Prediction of thoſe great Things which were done by the Maccabees. Certain it is, ſays Patrick, that ſome ſignal Victory was the Occaſion of it; and thence St. Chryſoſtom hath here given us a full Account of the Meaning of A new Song; which, according to the Uſe of the Word new in other Places (when they would expreſs a Thing very wonderful, ſuch as hath not been ſeen or heard of before, Numb. xvi. 30. Jer. xxxi. 22.) he takes to denote An illuſtrious and famous Hymn, made for Victories, for great Atchievements and Trophies: Which were never more remarkable in this Nation, than in the Days of David; and therefore this Pſalm may very well relate to his Reign; who ſubdued ſeveral Kingdoms, which ſtood out, and would not ſubmit to Iſrael till his Time, tho' God had promiſed to give their Countries to them, Gen. xv. 18. Exod. xxiii. 31. 1 Sam. viii. 1, 2, &c. x. 19.

PSAL. CL.

An Exhortation to celebrate the Holineſs, Power, and Kindneſs of God, with all Sorts of muſical Inſtruments.

Ver. 1. PRaiſe ye the Lord. Praiſe God in his ſanctuary: praiſe him in the firmament of his power. 2 Praiſe him for his mighty acts: praiſe him according to his excellent greatneſs. 3 Praiſe him with the ſound of the trumpet: praiſe him with the pſaltery and harp. 4 Praiſe him with the timbrel and dance: praiſe him with ſtringed inſtruments, and organs. 5 Praiſe him upon the loud cymbals: praiſe him upon the high-ſounding cymbals. 6 Let every thing that hath breath, praiſe the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord.

This Pſalm agrees much with the former; and is an Invitation to all Men to praiſe God, and eſpecially to the Levites, or thoſe who were appointed to this Work, as may be gather'd both from the Place in which they were to praiſe Him, which is, according to our Tranſlation, in the Sanctuary, and from that great Variety of Inſtruments here mentioned, all which were frequently uſed in the Service of the Temple, and ſeldom in any other Place. Every living Creature in Heaven and in Earth are exhorted to praiſe the Lord. But the Evangeliſt St. John declares this more fully: And every Creature that is in Heaven, and upon the Earth, and under the Earth, and that are in the Sea, and all that is therein, I heard ſay, To Him that ſitteth on the Throne, and to the Lamb, be the Thankſgiving, and the Honour, and the Glory, and the Power, to all Eternity. Amen. Hallelujah.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Book of PROVERBS.

The ARGUMENT.

Next to the Pſalms of David, which are an admirable Collection of Devotion, follow the Proverbs of Solomon, which contain moſt excellent Rules of Life. They are commonly called his Ethicks; correcting Mens Errors, and teaching them how to conduct themſelves in all Relations: But may as well be called his Politicks alſo, comprehending under that Word, Rules for the Government of Families, Cities, and Kingdoms, as well as of particular Perſons. For, as St. Baſil ſpeaks, this Book is an univerſal Inſtruction and Direction for all Men, and for the whole Life; containing frequent Documents of what is to be done on all Occaſions.

Solomon's Sentences in this Book, are called Proverbs, ſignifying Sayings as trite and common as the Highway; worn, as we ſay, threadbare by every Body's conſtant Uſe. Thus ſignifies the Latin and Engliſh Word Proverb; but the Word in the Hebrew, denotes only any acute or excellent Saying, which is as worthy to be known by all, and to be in every one's Mouth, as common Proverbs are. And thus it is uſed in the moſt antient Book of holy Scripture, for an eloquent Speech, much exceeding thoſe that had been made before. And ſo the Doctors of the Church explain it. A Proverb, ſaith St. Baſil, is a profitable Saying, delivered with a moderate Concealment of the Senſe, &c. or a pithy Sentence in a few Words, expreſſing much Senſe.

This Book conſiſts of a Preface, and of the Book itſelf. The Preface is in the nine firſt Chapters; ſeveral of which ſeem to be an Admonition what is to be done, and what is to be avoided, to make a Man capable of Wiſdom; which in the eighth and ninth Chapters ſets forth her own Praiſes.

Then begins, as you find in the Front of the tenth Chapter, the Proverbs of Solomon, which conſiſt of three Parts of Books. The firſt Part, from the Beginning of the xth Chapter, to the xviith Verſe of the xxiid, where a new Form of Speech, any Body may diſcern, begins and continues to the xxvth Chapter; which may be called the ſecond Part. And then from the xxvth to the xxxth (which is the laſt Part). follow ſuch Sentences as were collected afterwards out of his Writings, or the Writings of thoſe who had recorded them, by ſome Perſons whom Hezekiah employed to ſearch the antient Records. For we are told in 1 Kings iv. that he ſpake in all three thouſand Proverbs; which Joſephus thinks were ſo many Books which periſhed in the Captivity; but St. Jerom takes for ſo many Sentences contained in this Book; that is, ſome of them, for there are in all but 800 Verſes. And ſome of them are not Solomon's; for in the End of the Book are added certain Sayings of Agur to his Scholar, and the Inſtructions of a pious Mother to her Son Lemuel.

CHAP. I.

The Uſe of Proverbs. An Exhortation to fear God and believe his Word. The Glory of thoſe Children who obey the Inſtruction of their Parents. A Caution againſt yielding to enticing Sinners. Wiſdom's Call to Repentance. The Fruit of Sin. Peace to the Penitent.

Ver. 1. THE Proverbs of Solomon the ſon of David, king of Iſrael; 2 To know wiſdom and inſtruction, to perceive the words of underſtanding; 3 To receive the inſtruction of wiſdom, juſtice, and judgment, and equity; 4 To give ſubtilty to the ſimple, to the young man knowledge and diſcretion. 5 A wiſe man will hear, and will increaſe learning; and a man of underſtanding ſhall attain unto wiſe counſels: 6 To underſtand a proverb and the interpretation; the words of the wiſe, and their dark ſayings. 7 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools deſpiſe wiſdom and inſtruction. 8 My ſon, hear the inſtruction of thy father, and forſake not the law of thy mother: 9 For they ſhall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck. 10 My ſon, if ſinners entice thee, conſent thou not. 11 If they ſay, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privily for the innocent without cauſe: 12 Let us ſwallow them up alive as the grave, and whole, as thoſe that go down into the pit: 13 We ſhall find all precious ſubſtance, we ſhall fill our houſes with ſpoil: 14 Caſt in thy lot among us, let us all have one purſe: 15 My ſon, walk not thou in the way with them; refrain thy foot from their path. 16 For their feet run to evil, and make haſte to ſhed blood. 17 Surely in vain the net is ſpread in the ſight of any bird. 18 And they lay wait for their own blood, they lurk privily for their own lives. 19 So are the ways of every one that is greedy of gain: which taketh away the life of the owners thereof. 20 Wiſdom crieth without, ſhe uttereth her voice in the ſtreets: 21 She crieth in the chief place of concourſe, in the openings of the gates: in the city ſhe uttereth her words, ſaying, 22 How long, ye ſimple ones, will ye love ſimplicity? and the ſcorners delight in their ſcorning, and fools hate knowledge? 23 Turn you at my reproof: behold, I will pour out my ſpirit unto you, I will make known my words unto you. 24 Becauſe I have called, and ye refuſed, I have ſtretched out my hand, and no man regarded; 25 But ye have ſet at nought all my counſel, and would none of my reproof: 26 I will laugh at your calamity, I will mock when your fear cometh; 27 When your fear cometh as deſolation, and your deſtruction cometh as a whirl-wind; when diſtreſs and anguiſh cometh upon you. 28 Then ſhall they call upon me, but I will not anſwer; they ſhall ſeek me early, but they ſhall not find me: 29 For that they hated knowledge, and did not chooſe the fear of the Lord. 30 They would none of my counſel; they deſpiſed all my reproof. 31 Therefore ſhall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices, 32 For the turning away of the ſimple ſhall ſlay them, and the proſperity of fools ſhall deſtroy them. 33 But whoſo hearkeneth unto me, ſhall dwell ſafely, and ſhall be quiet from fear of evil.

The Fear of the Lord is the Beginning of Knowledge] That is, ſays Patrick, that a due Senſe of God is a moſt neceſſary Qualification to profit by theſe Inſtructions; which will ſignify nothing to Epicures, and ſuch like profane Perſons. This is the very firſt Word of the Book; teaching us that our firſt Care muſt be to poſſeſs our Minds with a lively Senſe that there is a God; and that the higheſt Wiſdom in the World, is to ſtudy to pleaſe Him; and to be fearful to offend Him, by any Neglect of Him, or by doing any Thing contrary to his Will. Which Fear of offending God is commonly founded in a Dread of his Puniſhments; which perhaps gives the firſt Riſe to this Fear. However Nazianzen well obſerves, that we muſt not, if we would be wiſe, firſt begin in Contemplation, and ſo end in Fear; (for an unbridled Contemplation is very dangerous) but being thoroughly ſeaſoned and purged, and as we may ſay attenuated, and humbled by Fear, ſo be carried aloft in Contemplation.

Wiſdom crieth without, ſhe uttereth her Voice in the Streets] By the Name of Wiſdom, or Wiſdoms, as it is in the Hebrew, he ſeems, ſays Pool, to underſtand the Wiſdom or Counſel of God revealed to the Sons of Men by his Word; which he calls Wiſdom here, as Prov. ix. 1. either to note the Excellency of this Wiſdom beyond all other, as the greateſt and chief of it is called Behemoth or Beaſts, Job xl. 13. or becauſe it conſiſts of a Multitude of wiſe Precepts; or becauſe it hath been delivered to Men at ſundry Times, in divers Manners, and by many Perſons, Prophets and Apoſtles, and eſpecially by the Son of God, who is called the Wiſdom of God, Luke xi. 41. and this Wiſdom is ſaid to cry with a loud Voice, to intimate both God's Earneſtneſs in inviting Sinners to Repentance, and their Inexcuſableneſs if they do not hear ſuch loud a Call.—Without, or abroad, or in the Streets or open Places, as many render it, and as it is in the next Clauſe. Not in Corners and privily, as Seducers perſuade Men to Error or Wickedneſs, being afraid of the Light, but openly and publickly before all the World.

CHAP. II.

The Benefits obtained, and the Evils avoided by Wiſdom. The Ways of the Wicked. An Habitation promiſed the Righteous. The End of the Wicked miſerable.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; 2 So that thou incline thine ear unto wiſdom, and apply thine heart to underſtanding: 3 Yea, if thou crieſt after knowledge, and lifteſt up thy voice for underſtanding: 4 If thou ſeekeſt her as ſilver, and ſearcheſt for her, as for hid treaſures: 5 Then ſhalt thou underſtand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God. 6 For the Lord giveth wiſdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and underſtanding. 7 He layeth up ſound wiſdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly. 8 He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preſerveth the way of his ſaints. 9 Then ſhalt thou underſtand righteouſneſs, and judgment, and equity; yea, every good path. 10 When wiſdom entreth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleaſant unto thy ſoul; 11 Diſcretion ſhall preſerve thee, underſtanding ſhall keep thee: 12 To deliver thee from the way of the evil man, from the man that ſpeaketh froward things. 13 Who leave the paths of uprightneſs, to walk in the ways of darkneſs: 14 Who rejoice to do evil, and delight in the frowardneſs of the wicked. 15 Whoſe ways are crooked, and they froward in their paths. 16 To deliver thee from the ſtrange woman, even from the ſtranger which flattereth with her words: 17 Which forſaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the covenant of her God. 18 For her houſe inclineth unto death, and her paths unto the dead. 19 None that go unto her, return again, neither take they hold of the paths of life. 20 That thou mayeſt walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous. 21 For the upright ſhall dwell in the land, and the perfect ſhall remain in it. 22 But the wicked ſhall be cut off from the earth, and the tranſgreſſors ſhall be rooted out of it.

To deliver thee from the ſtrange Woman] By the ſtrange Woman, Solomon means an Adultereſs or Whore, called ſtrange, partly, becauſe ſuch Perſons were common Heathens, and are ſuppoſed to be ſuch by Reaſon of that ſevere Law againſt thoſe Practices in Iſraeliti∫h Women, Deut. xxiii. 17. or are juſtly reputed Heathens, as being degenerate Iſraelites, who are often called Strangers, as in the Book of Pſalms; and partly, becauſe Converſation with ſuch Perſons is forbidden to Men, as thoſe Iſraelites, who were not Levites, are called Strangers, Numb. i. 51. in reſpect of the holy Things which they were forbid to touch; and forbidden Fire is called ſtrange Fire, Numb. iii. 4.

Which forſaketh the Guide of her Youth, and forgetteth the Covenant of her God] The Guide of her Youth, is her Huſband, whom ſhe took to be her Guide and Governor, and that in her Youth; which Circumſtance is added to aggravate her Sin and Shame, becauſe Love is commonly moſt ſincere and fervent between a Huſband and the Wife of his Youth, as they are for that Reaſon emphatically called, Prov. v. 18. Iſa. liv. 6, &c.—Forgetteth, or violateth, or breaketh, as that Word is commonly uſed in a practical Senſe.—The Covenant of her God. The Marriage Covenant; ſo called, called, partly, because God is the Author and Institutor of that Society and mutual Obligation; and, partly, because God is called to be the Witness and Judge of that solemn Promise and Covenant, and the Avenger of the Breach of it.

CHAP. III.

Solomon exhorts to the Practice of sundry Virtues. The Happiness of him that findeth Wisdom. The Misery of the Wicked, and Blessings of the Just.

Ver. 1. MY son, forget not my law, but let thine heart keep my commandments: 2 For length of days, and long life, and peace shall they add to thee. 3 Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them about thy neck, write them upon the table of thine heart. 4 So shalt thou find favour, and good understanding in the sight of God and man. 5 Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. 6 In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. 7 Be not wise in thine own eyes; fear the Lord, and depart from evil. 8 It shall be health to thy navel, and marrow to thy bones. 9 Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first-fruits of all thine increase. 10 So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine. 11 My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord: neither be weary of his correction. 12 For whom the Lord loveth, he correcteth, even as a father the son, in whom he delighteth. 13 Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. 14 For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold. 15 She is more precious than rubies: and all the things thou canst desire, are not to be compared unto her. 16 Length of days is in her right hand: and in her left hand riches and honour. 17 Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace. 18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her; and happy is every one that retaineth her. 19 The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding he hath established the heavens. 20 By his knowledge the depths are broken up, and the clouds drop down the dew. 21 My son, let not them depart from thine eyes: keep sound wisdom and discretion. 22 So shall they be life unto thy soul, and grace to thy neck. 23 Then shalt thou walk in thy way safely, and thy foot shall not stumble. 24 When thou liest down, thou shalt not be afraid: yea, thou shalt lie down, and thy sleep shall be sweet. 25 Be not afraid of sudden fear, neither of the desolation of the wicked, when it cometh. 26 For the Lord shall be thy confidence, and shall keep thy foot from being taken. 27 Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it. 28 Say not unto thy neighbour, Go, and come again, and to morrow I will give; when thou hast it by thee. 29 Devise not evil against thy neighbour, seeing he dwelleth securely by thee. 30 Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm. 31 Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways. 32 For the froward is abomination to the Lord, but his secret is with the righteous. 33 The curse of the Lord is the house of the wicked; but he blesseth th habitation of the just. 34 Surely he scorne the scorners; but he giveth grace unto the lowl 35 The wise shall inherit glory, but shame sha be the promotion of fools.

Solomon represents Wisdom, (Ver. 16, 17, &c.) th is, Religion and Virtue, as other Authors have done, the Shape of a beautiful Woman, or rather Queen with her Arms extended, in the Posture not only directing, but also of rewarding her Lovers and Fo lowers. For she holds forth in her Right Hand t great Blessings of Health, and Length of Days, unto those that will walk in the Way to which she point And it was but just to place this in her Right Han that is, to give it the Precedence, because it was t chief Promise of the Law; and indeed the most d sirable of all earthly Blessings, without which nothi can be enjoyed; no, not ourselves. And then, aft this, follow Wealth and Reputation; Things that Ma kind mightily covet; which he places in her Le Hand; as inferior Blessings, but that come also fro her Gift.

Ver. 1. HEAR, ye children, the instructio of a father, and attend to know un derstanding. 2 For I give you good doctrin forsake you not my law. 3 For I was my fathe son, tender and only beloved in the sight of m mother. 4 He taught me also, and said un me, Let thine heart retain my words; keep m commandments and live. 5 Get wisdom, g understanding: forget it not, neither decline fro the words of my mouth. 6 Forsake her no and she shall preserve thee: love her, and sh shall keep thee. 7 Wisdom is the princip thing, therefore get wisdom: and with all th getting get understanding. 8 Exalt her, an she shall promote thee: she shall bring thee honour, when thou dost embrace her. 9 Sh shall give to thine head an ornament of grace a crown of glory shall she deliver to thee. 1 Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings: an the years of thy life shall be many. 11 I hav taught thee in the way of wisdom: I have le thee in right paths. 12 When thou goest, th steps shall not be straitened, and when thou ru neſt, thou shalt not stumble. 13 Take fast ho of instruction, let her not go; keep her, for sh is thy life. 14 Enter not into the path of th wicked, and go not in the way of evil men. I Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it, and pa away. 16 For they sleep not except they hav done mischief: and their sleep is taken awa unless they cause some to fall. 17 For they e the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine o violence. 18 But the path of the just is as th shining light, that shineth more and more unt the perfect day. 19 The way of the wicked as darkness: they know not at what they stum ble. 20 My son, attend to my words, inclin thine ear unto my sayings. 21 Let them not d pa the ways of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his goings. 22 His own iniquities ſhall take the wicked himſelf, and he ſhall be holden with the cords of his ſins. 23 He ſhall die without inſtruction, and in the greatneſs of his folly he ſhall go aſtray.

Solomon deſcribes the miſerable Effects of Whoredom by ſeveral apt Reſemblances (Ver. 4, 5.) which ſhew how, by this Vice, Men loſe their Honour, their Time, their Health and Eſtates: For the Prevention of which, he commends the Uſe of Marriage, and a paſſionate Love for a Man's own Wife; which he deſcribes allegorically; firſt, under the Compariſon of a domeſtick Fountain (Ver. 15, 16.) where a Man may quench his natural Thirſt, and from whence Streams (i. e. Children) may be derived abroad to ſerve the publick Good, &c. and, ſecondly, under the Compariſon of a young Hind, and a young wild Goat; which are taken Notice of by Authors that write of Animals (particularly Oppianus) to be loving Creatures; and which in antient Times were Play-fellows (as one may call them) for the greateſt Perſons, who kept them in their Palaces, and diverted themſelves with them, as a lovely Sort of Creatures, which they adorn'd with Chains and Garlands, and ſuch like Things. Bochart hath demonſtrated, that the Jaalah (which we tranſlate a Roe) is a Creature that lived in mountainous Places, and could climb up the ſteepeſt Rocks. Unto which, as well as to a young Hind, Solomon compares a good Wife, becauſe of the Simplicity, Good Nature of this kind Creature, and other Qualities mentioned by antient Authors; which good Qualities are not to be found in Harlots. From whence the Wiſe Man ſhews the Unreaſonableneſs, nay, unaccountable Folly of preferring Fornication and vagrant Luſts, before the innocent Joys of a married Life, (Ver. 20.) to which a Man who conſiders his own Good, would chuſe to be tied, that he may avoid the Inconveniencies, or rather Miſeries to which the Luſts of Uncleanneſs reduce him; but eſpecially the heavy Judgments of God; who having ordained Marriage for the Benefit of Mankind, and the preſerving Society (Ver. 21, &c.) will not therefore let the Contempt of it go unpuniſhed.

All theſe Circumſtances are mentioned to ſhew the Neceſſity and great Benefit of wholeſome Inſtruction (which his royal Parents would not neglect, no not in his tender Years) and thereby to prepare and excite them by his Example to receive Inſtruction.

An Exhortation to the Study of Wiſdom. The Miſchief of Whoredom and Riots. Chaſtity recommended in a married State. The miſerable End of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, attend unto my wiſdom, and bow thine ear to my underſtanding. 2 That thou mayeſt regard diſcretion, and that thy lips may keep knowledge. 3 For the lips of a ſtrange woman drop as an honeycomb, and her mouth is ſmoother than oil. 4 But her end is bitter as worm-wood, ſharp as a two-edged ſword. 5 Her feet go down to death: her ſteps take hold on hell. 6 Leſt thou ſhouldeſt ponder the path of life, her ways are moveable, that thou canſt not know them. 7 Hear me now therefore, O ye children, and depart not from the words of my mouth. 8 Remove thy way far from her, and come not nigh the door of her houſe: 9 Leſt thou give thine honour unto others, and thy years unto the cruel. 10 Leſt ſtrangers be filled with thy wealth, and thy labour be in the houſe of a ſtranger; 11 And thou mourn at the laſt, when thy fleſh and thy body are conſumed, 12 And ſay, how have I hated inſtruction, and my heart deſpiſed reproof? 13 And have not obeyed the voice of my teachers, nor inclined mine ear to them that inſtructed me? 14 I was almoſt in all evil, in the midſt of the congregation and aſſembly. 15 Drink waters out of thine own ciſtern; and running waters out of thine own well. 16 Let thy fountains be diſperſed abroad, and rivers of waters in the ſtreets. 17 Let them be only thine own, and not ſtrangers with thee. 18 Let thy fountain be bleſſed; and rejoice with the wife of thy youth. 19 Let her be as the loving hind, and pleaſant roe, let her breaſt ſatisfy thee at all times, and be thou raviſht always with her love. 20 And why wilt thou, my ſon, be raviſht with a ſtrange woman, and embrace the boſom of a ſtranger? 21 For

The Danger of becoming Surety, and the Way of Deliverance from it. The Sluggard and Ant. Seven Things diſpleaſing to God. The Benefits of keeping the Commandments. The Miſchief of Adultery.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, if thou be ſurety for thy friend, if thou haſt ſtricken thy hand with a ſtranger, 2 Thou art ſnared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. 3 Do this now, my ſon, and deliver thyſelf, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend; go, humble thyſelf, and make ſure thy friend. 4 Give not ſleep to thine eyes, nor ſlumber to thine eye-lids. 5 Deliver thyſelf as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler. 6 Go to the ant, thou ſluggard, conſider her ways, and be wiſe: 7 Which having no guide, overſeer, or ruler, 8 Provideth her meat in the ſummer, and gathereth her food in the harveſt. 9 How long wilt thou ſleep, O ſluggard? when wilt thou ariſe out of thy ſleep? 10 Yet a little ſleep, a little ſlumber, a little folding of the hands to ſleep. 11 So ſhall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man. 12 A naughty perſon, a wicked man walketh with a froward mouth. 13 He winketh with his eyes, he ſpeaketh with his feet, he teacheth with his fingers. 14 Frowardneſs is in his heart; he deviſeth miſchief continually, he ſoweth diſcord. 15 Therefore ſhall his calamity come ſuddenly; ſuddenly ſhall he be broken without remedy. 16 Theſe ſix things doth the Lord hate; yea, ſeven are an abomination unto him: 17 A proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that ſhed innocent blood. 18 An heart that deviſeth wicked imaginations, feet that be ſwift in running to miſchief. 19 A falſe witneſs that ſpeaketh lies, and him that ſoweth diſcord among brethren. 20 My ſon, keep thy fathers commandment, and forſake not the law of thy mother. 21 Bind them continually upon thine heart, and tie them about thy neck. 22 When thou goeſt, it ſhall lead thee; when thou ſleepeſt, it ſhall keep thee; and when thou awakeſt, it ſhall talk with thee. 23 For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of inſtruction are the way of life: 24 To keep thee from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a ſtrange woman. 25 Luſt not after her beauty in thine heart; neither let her take thee with her eye-lids. 26 For by means of a whoriſh woman a man is brought to a piece of bread; and the adultereſs will hunt for the precious life. 27 Can a man take fire in his boſom, and his cloaths not be burnt? 28 Can one go upon hot coals, and his feet not be burnt? 29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife; whoſoever toucheth her, ſhall not be innocent. 30 Men do not deſpiſe a thief, if he ſteal to ſatisfy his ſoul when he is hungry: 31 But if he be found, he ſhall reſtore ſeven-fold, he ſhall give all the ſubſtance of his houſe. 32 But whoſo committeth adultery with a woman, lacketh underſtanding; he that doth it, deſtroyeth his own ſoul. 33 A wound and diſhonour ſhall he get, and his reproach ſhall not be wiped away. 34 For jealouſy is the rage of a man: therefore he will not ſpare in the day of vengeance. 35 He will not regard any ranſom: neither will he reſt content, though thou giveſt many gifts.

So ſhall thy Poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy Want as an armed Man] Upon this proverbial Speech, the Lord Bacon hath made a very ingenious Obſervation; diſtinguiſhing in this Manner, between the Poverty that comes as a Traveller, and the Want that comes as an armed Man; 'That the Shipwreck 'of Fortune falls upon Prodigals, or ſuch as are careleſs 'of their Eſtates, by inſenſible Degrees of the firſt; 'with ſoft ſilent Paces, as like a Traveller, and is 'hardly perceived: But ſoon after Neceſſity invades 'him, like an armed Man; that is, preſſes upon him 'ſo hard, that he feels it plainly, and perceives there 'is no Reſiſtance to be made.' And thereupon he gives this prudent Advice, to prevent the Traveller, and to be well provided againſt the armed Man.

But if he be found, he ſhall reſtore Seven-fold] Thus we tranſlate it; but the Law of Moſes enjoins no ſuch Reſtitution, but much leſs, (Exod. xxii. 1, 4.) and there is no Reaſon to think the Law was altered in After-times. Therefore, ſays Patrick, I have followed another Uſe of the Word Schivatajim, which ſignifies not any determinate Number; but only ſuch as is perfect and complete in its Kind; as may be ſeen Gen. iv. 15, 24. Pſ. xii. 7. Iſa. xxx. 26.

With wh Tranſlation Interpreters find Fault, becauſe it lo like a Contradiction, they ſay, to call that Day b Name, which ſignifies the Moon to be covered; therefore they tranſlate it rather the New Moon, as do in the Margin of our Bibles. But they that conſult Lud. de Dieu upon Pſ. lxxxi. 3. will find g Reaſon to take it otherwiſe, for the Full Moon; wh giving Light all the Night, made it a fit Time fo Journey, either in Winter (as by the Darkneſs of Night, Ver. 9. I ſuppoſe it might now be) when Days are ſhort; or in the Summer when the H made it unfit to travel.

CHAP. VIII.

Wiſdom's Fame, Call, and Exhortation; her ex lent Properties. The Happineſs of thoſe that truely wiſe. The Fruits of Sin.

Ver. 1. DOTH not wiſdom cry? and underſtanding put forth her voice? 2 She ſtandeth in the top of high places, by the way in the places of the paths. 3 She crieth at the gates, at the entry of the city, at the coming in at the doors. 4 Unto you, O men, I call, and my voice is to the ſons of man. 5 O ye ſimple, underſtand wiſdom: and ye fools, be ye of an underſtanding heart. 6 Hear, for I will ſpeak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips, ſhall be right things. 7 For my mouth ſhall ſpeak truth, and wickedneſs is an abomination to my lips. 8 All the words of my mouth are in righteouſneſs, there is nothing froward or perverſe in them. 9 They are all plain to him that underſtandeth, and right to them that find knowledge. 10 Receive my Inſtruction, and not ſilver; and knowledge rather than choice gold. 11 For wiſdom is better than rubies; and all things that may be deſired, are not to be compared to it. 12 I wiſdom dwell with prudence, and find out knowledge of witty inventions. 13 The fear of the Lord is to hate evil; pride and arrogancy, and the evil way, and the froward mouth do I hate. 14 Counſel is mine, and ſound wiſdom: I am underſtanding, I have ſtrength. 15 By me kings reign, and princes decree juſtice. 16 By me princes rule, and nobles, even all the judges of the earth. 17 I love them that love me, and thoſe that ſeek me early ſhall find me. 18 Riches and honour are with me: yea, durable riches and righteouſneſs. 19 My fruit is better than gold, yea, than fine gold; and my revenue than choice ſilver. 20 I lead in the way of righteouſneſs, in the midſt of the paths of judgment: 21 That I may cauſe thoſe that love me, to inherit ſubſtance; and I will fill their treaſures. 22 The Lord poſſeſſed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old. 23 I was ſet up from everlaſting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was. 24 When there were no depths, I was brought forth: when there were no fountains abounding with water. 25 Before the mountains were ſettled; before the hills was I brought forth: 26 While as yet he had not made the earth, nor the fields, nor the higheſt part of the duſt of the world. 27 When he prepared the heavens, I was there: when he ſet a compaſs upon the face of the depth: 28 When he eſtabliſhed the clouds above: when he ſtrengthned the fountains of the deep: 29 When he gave to the ſea his decree, that the waters ſhould not paſs his commandment: when he appointed the foundations of the earth: 30 Then I was by him as one brought up with him: and I was daily his delight, rejoicing always before him: 31 Rejoicing in the habitable part of his earth, and my delights were with the ſons of men. 32 Now therefore hearken unto me, O ye children: for bleſſed are they that keep my ways. 33 Hear inſtruction, and be wiſe, and refuſe it not. 34 Bleſſed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the poſts of my doors. 35 For whoſo findeth me, findeth life, and ſhall obtain favour of the Lord. 36 But he that ſinneth againſt me, wrongeth his own ſoul: all they that hate me, love death.

It is a great Queſtion among the Learned, what this Wiſdom is, of which Solomon diſcourſes ſo largely and profoundly in this Chapter. Some underſtand it of that Attribute and Perfection in the Divine Nature, which is called Wiſdom, whereby God perfectly knows all Things, and makes known to Men what he judges neceſſary and expedient for them to know. Others underſtand it of the ſecond Perſon in the Godhead, the Son of God, who is called the Wiſdom of God, Luke xi. 49. And it cannot fairly be denied, that ſome Paſſages do beſt agree to the former, and others to the latter Opinion. Poſſibly both may be joined together, and the Chapter may be underſtood of Chriſt, conſider'd, partly in his perſonal Capacity, and partly in Regard of his Office, which was to impart the Will of God to Mankind; which he did, 1. By revealing it to, and writing it upon the Mind of Man, at his firſt Creation: For it was Chriſt who then gave Being, Light and Life to Mankind, as is undeniably evident from John 1, 2, 3, &c. 2. By publiſhing it to the holy Patriarchs and Prophets in the Time of the Old Teſtament; for it was Chriſt who ſpake and diſcovered Things to them from Time to Time, as is manifeſt from 1 Pet. i. ii. and iii. 18, 19, 20. and from many other Texts both in the Old and New Teſtament. 3. By declaring it by his own Mouth, and by his Apoſtles and Miniſters under the Goſpel. — And Underſtanding put forth her Voice; clearly and audibly inſtructs Men how to avoid thoſe fleſhly Luſts. He oppoſes the inviting Words of Wiſdom, to the ſeducing Speeches of the Harlot in the preceding Chapter.

By Earth, Ver. 31. he means, that Man who is the Work of God, in whom Wiſdom took Pleaſure; inſomuch as for Man's Sake, the Divine Wiſdom took Man's Nature and dwelt among us, filling us with unſpeakable Pleaſures; and this is that Solace and Paſtime ſpoken of here.

But the Excellency and divine Perfections of Wiſdom are ſet forth in ſo elegant and poetical Stile, and deſcribed in ſuch ſublime Expreſſions, that the moſt critical Reader muſt be pleaſed with it.

Ver. 1. WISDOM hath builded her houſe, ſhe hath hewn out her ſeven pillars. 2 She hath killed her beaſts, ſhe hath mingled her wine: ſhe hath alſo furniſhed her table. 3 She hath ſent forth her maidens, ſhe crieth upon the higheſt places of the city. 4 Whoſo is ſimple, let him turn in hither: as for him that wanteth underſtanding, ſhe ſaith to him, 5 Come eat of my bread, and drink of the wine which I have mingled. 6 Forſake the fooliſh, and live; and go in the way of underſtanding. 7 He that reproveth a ſcorner, getteth to himſelf ſhame: and he that rebuketh a wicked man, getteth himſelf a blot. 8 Reprove not a ſcorner leſt he hate thee: rebuke a wiſe man, and he will love thee. 9 Give inſtruction to a wiſe man, and he will be yet wiſer: teach a juſt man, and he will increaſe in learning. 10 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom: and the knowledge of the holy is underſtanding. 11 For by me thy days ſhall be multiplied, and the years of thy life ſhall be increaſed. 12 If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt be wiſe for thyſelf: but if thou ſcorneſt, thou alone ſhalt bear it. 13 A fooliſh woman is clamorous; ſhe is ſimple, and knoweth nothing. 14 For ſhe ſitteth at the door of her houſe, on a ſeat in the high places of the city, 15 To call paſſengers who go right on their ways. 16 Whoſo is ſimple, let him turn in hither:

ther: and as for him that wanteth underſtanding ſhe ſaith to him. 17 Stolen waters are ſweet, and bread eaten in ſecret is pleaſant. 18 But he knoweth not that the dead are there; and that her gueſts are in the depths of hell.

Under the Similitude of a Feaſt is ſet forth the high Satisfaction, Joy and Pleaſure, which the Principles of Wiſdom and Virtue fill our Hearts withal; when we have a true Reliſh of them, that we embrace and digeſt them, and are enliven'd by them to a pious Life.

This is the Subſtance of the Parable, every Part of which is not to be minutely ſcann'd; nor, ſays Patrick, ſhall I go about to ſay, what is particularly meant by the ſeven Pillars of Wiſdom's Houſe (tho' taking the Houſe for the World, the ſeven Pillars may well be thought the ſeven Planets) what by her Meat, what by her Drink, &c. but look upon them only as a Deſcription of the Ability of Wiſdom to impart complete Satisfaction to thoſe that entertain her Precepts; Which were principally taught in the Schools of the Prophets; whoſe Buſineſs it was to inſtruct the People (as the Scribes did afterwards) in the Law of God, and being diſperſed in ſeveral Places of the Country, I conjecture their Schools might be the Houſe here ſpoken of, where Wiſdom had her Habitation. I cannot ſay certainly, how many of them there were, much leſs that there were juſt ſeven principal Schools, which might be look'd upon as the juſt Supporters of Religion and Virtue; but that there were more than one is evident from ſacred Hiſtory, where in one City, 1 Sam. ix. 13, 14. we find Samuel ſeated (in whoſe Time theſe Schools began to flouriſh) who no doubt had there a College of Prophets with him, as he had afterward, we find, at Ramah, xix. 20. and in another Place called the Hill of God, where the Philiſtines had a Garriſon; we meet with another Company of Prophets, 1 Sam. x. 5, 10. And in After-times there were Sons of the Prophets both at Bethel (where they ſeem to have been more antiently, 1 Sam. x. 3.) and at Jericho, 2 Kings ii. 3, 5. and at Gilgal, iv. 38.

Theſe Schools alſo were ſeated in high Places, as appears from 1 Sam. ix. 2. x. 5. 2 Kings i. 9. (and might be one Reaſon of their ſacrificing in ſuch Places) which agrees exactly with what is ſaid here of Wiſdom's crying upon the high Places of the City, Ver. 3. to call all thoſe who had an Appetite, to come and partake of her Inſtructions. Which there was ſome Hope all might do, who were merely inconſiderate and deluded. (Ver. 4.) tho' Scorners (as he obſerves, Ver. 7, 8. who perhaps called the Prophets mad Men) are ſo incapable of Correction, that nothing will move them to become better; and therefore ſhe paſſes them by, and leaves them to their beaſtly Folly; which inclines them rather to liſten to the Enticements of ſuch filthy Strumpets as he had deſcribed, Ch. vii.

CHAP. X.

From this Chapter to the twenty-fifth, are ſundry Obſervations concerning moral Virtues, and their contrary Vices, with excellent Rules for the Government of our Converſation.

THE proverbs of Solomon. A wiſe ſon maketh a glad father; but a fooliſh ſon is the heavineſs of his mother. 2 Treaſures of wickedneſs profit nothing: but righteouſneſs delivereth from death. 3 The Lord will not ſuffer the ſoul of the righteous to famiſh: but he caſteth away the ſubſtance of the wicked. 4 He becometh poor that dealeth with a ſlack hand: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich. 5 He that gathereth in ſummer, is a wiſe ſon: but he that ſleepeth in harveſt, is a ſon that cauſeth ſhame. 6 Bleſſings are upon the head of the juſt: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked. 7 The memory of the juſt is bleſſed: but the name of the wicked ſhall rot. 8 The wiſe in heart will receive commandments: but a prating fool ſhall fall. 9 He that walketh uprightly, walketh ſurely: but he that perverteth his way, ſhall be known. 10 He that winketh with the eye cauſeth ſorrow: but a prating fool ſhall fall. 11 The mouth of a righteous man is a well of life: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked. 12 Hatred ſtirreth up ſtrifes: but love covereth all ſins. 13 In the lips of him that hath underſtanding wiſdom is found: but a rod is for the back of him that is void of underſtanding. 14 Wiſe men lay up knowledge: but the mouth of the fooliſh is near deſtruction. 15 The rich man's wealth is his ſtrong city: the deſtruction of the poor is their poverty. 16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: the fruit of the wicked to ſin. 17 He is in the way of life that keepeth inſtruction: but he that refuſeth reproof erreth. 18 He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a ſlander, is a fool. 19 In the multitude of words there wanteth not ſin: but he that refraineth his lips, is wiſe. 20 The tongue of the juſt is as choice ſilver: the heart of the wicked is little worth. 21 The lips of the righteous feed many: but fools die for want of wiſdom. 22 The bleſſing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no ſorrow with it. 23 It is a ſport to a fool to do miſchief: but a man of underſtanding hath wiſdom. 24 The fear of the wicked, it ſhall come upon him: but the deſire of the righteous ſhall be granted. 25 As the whirlwind paſſeth, ſo is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlaſting foundation. 26 As vinegar to the teeth, and as ſmoke to the eyes, ſo is the ſluggard to them that ſend him. 27 The fear of the Lord prolongeth days: but the years of the wicked ſhall be ſhortned. 28 The hope of the righteous ſhall be gladneſs: but the expectation of the wicked ſhall periſh. 29 The way of the Lord is ſtrength to the upright: but deſtruction ſhall be to the workers of iniquity. 30 The righteous ſhall never be removed: but the wicked ſhall not inhabit the earth. 31 The mouth of the juſt bringeth forth wiſdom: but the frowardtongue ſhall be cut out. 32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable; but the mouth of the wicked ſpeaketh frowardneſs.

Here now begins the Book of the Proverbs, (as the Title of this Chapter tells us) what hath been deliver'd hitherto, being rather a Preface, to awaken Attention and from ſundry Arguments to commend the Inſtructions, which now follow, to every one's Practice; and to caution thoſe who would receive Benefit by theſe Inſtructions, from ſuch Things as may hinder their Edification in the School of Wiſdom: What Leſſons, in this firſt Part of the Book, (which reaches to the 17th Verſe of the xxii Chapter) are deliver'd in ſhort Sentences; every Verſe being a Leſſon by itſelf; which commonly hath no Connection with that which goes before and follows after; or if there be any, it is not ſo clear as to be eaſily made out. All theſe Leſſons are for the moſt Part deliver'd, either by way of Antitheſis, i. e. comparing Oppoſites one with another; the Wiſe, for Inſtance, and the Fool, the Diligent and the Sluggiſh, the Rich and the Poor, and, in general, Virtue and Vice, aſſigning to each their proper Rewards and Puniſhments; or they are mere Parables, that is, Similitudes; in which

Thing is compared to another that reſembles it.

CHAP. XI.

Ver. 1. A Falſe balance is abomination to the delight. Lord: but a juſt weight is his 2 When pride cometh, then cometh ſhame: but with the lowly is wiſdom. 3 The integrity of the upright ſhall guide them: but the perverſeneſs of the trangreſſors ſhall deſtroy them. 4 Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteouſneſs delivereth from death. 5 The righteouſneſs of the perfect ſhall direct his way: but the wicked ſhall fall by his own wickedneſs. 6 The righteouſneſs of the upright ſhall deliver them: but tranſgreſſors ſhall be taken in their own naughtineſs. 7 When a wicked man dieth, his expectation ſhall periſh: and the hope of unjuſt men periſheth. 8 The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked cometh in his ſtead. 9 An hypocrite with his mouth deſtroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge ſhall the juſt be delivered. 10 When it goeth well with the righteous, the city rejoiceth: and when the wicked periſh, there is ſhouting. 11 By the bleſſing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked. 12 He that is void of wiſdom, deſpiſeth his neighbour: but a man of underſtanding holdeth his peace. 13 A tale-bearer revealeth ſecrets: but he that is of a faithful ſpirit concealeth the matter. 14 Where no counſel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counſellers there is ſafety. 15 He that is ſurety for a ſtranger, ſhall ſmart for it: and he that hateth ſuretiſhip is ſure. 16 A gracious woman retaineth honour: and ſtrong men retain riches. 17 The merciful man doeth good to his own ſoul: but he that is cruel, troubleth his own fleſh. 18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but to him that ſoweth righteouſneſs ſhall be a ſure reward. 19 As righteouſneſs tendeth to life: ſo he that purſueth evil, purſueth it to his own death. 20 They that are of a froward heart are abomination to the Lord: but ſuch as are upright in their way, are his delight. 21 Though hand join in hand, the wicked ſhall not be unpuniſhed: but the ſeed of the righteous ſhall be delivered. 22 As a jewel of gold in a ſwine's ſnout, ſo is a fair woman which is without diſcretion. 23 The deſire of the righteous is only good: but the expectation of the wicked is wrath. 24 There is that ſcattereth, and yet increaſeth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty. 25 The liberal ſoul ſhall be made fat: and he that watereth, ſhall be watered alſo himſelf. 26 He that withholdeth corn, the people ſhall curſe: but bleſſing ſhall be upon the head of him that ſelleth it. 27 He that diligently ſeeketh good, procureth favour: but he ſeeketh miſchief, it ſhall come unto him. 28 He that truſteth in his riches, ſhall fall: but the righteous ſhall flouriſh as a branch. 29 He that troubleth his own houſe, ſhall inherit the wind: and the fool ſhall be ſervant to the wiſe of heart. 30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth ſouls is wiſe. 31 Behold, the righteous ſhall be recompenſed in the earth: much more the wicked and the ſinner.

Though Hand join in Hand, the Wicked ſhall not be unpuniſhed] There are, ſays Patrick, almoſt as many Gloſſes upon this Paſſage as there are Interpreters. But I have only put together thoſe two Senſes of the former Part of the Verſe, which are moſt agreeable to the latter; and ſhall only remark on the other, that moſt Interpreters by Hand in Hand underſtand the Hands of divers Perſons; but ſome few take it for the Hands of the ſame Perſon, who puts one Hand into the other. And theſe laſt named, make the Senſe one of theſe two Ways; either that tho' a Sinner endeavour to hide his Sin (as a Man doth a Thing which he holds in one Hand and covers with the other) he ſhall notwithſtanding be found out and puniſhed for it; or that though wicked Men do nothing, but like an idle Perſon have their Hands folded one in the other, yet they are not free from Sin, which they are deviſing in their Mind, and will draw a juſt Vengeance upon them.

It is alſo thus paraphraſed by the ſame Author: Tho' the Wicked endeavour to ſtrengthen himſelf and his Family by powerful Leagues and Confederacies, and his Succeſſors alſo have mighty Aſſociates to maintain his Acquiſitions, they ſhall not be able to defend themſelves from the Puniſhment their Iniquity deſerves.

CHAP. XII.

Ver. 1. WHoſo loveth inſtruction, loveth knowledge; but he that hateth reproof is brutiſh. 2 A good man obtaineth favour of the Lord: but a man of wicked devices will he condemn. 3 A man ſhall not be eſtabliſhed by wickedneſs: but the root of the righteous ſhall not be moved. 4 A virtuous woman is a crown to her huſband; but ſhe that maketh aſhamed, is as rottenneſs in his bones. 5 The thoughts of the righteous are right; but the counſels of the wicked are deceit. 6 The words of the wicked are to lie in wait for blood; but the mouth of the upright ſhall deliver them. 7 The wicked are overthrown, and are not: but the houſe of the righteous ſhall ſtand. 8 A man ſhall be commended according to his wiſdom; but he that is of a perverſe heart ſhall be deſpiſed. 9 He that is deſpiſed and hath a ſervant, is better than he that honoureth himſelf, and lacketh bread. 10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beaſt; but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel. 11 He that tilleth his land, ſhall be ſatisfied with bread; but he that followeth vain perſons, is void of underſtanding. 12 The wicked deſireth the net of evil men: but the root of the righteous yieldeth fruit. 13 The wicked is ſnared by the tranſgreſſion of his lips; but the juſt ſhall come out of trouble. 14 A man ſhall be ſatisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth, and the recompenſe of a mans hands ſhall be rendred unto him. 15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counſel is wiſe. 16 A fools wrath is preſently known: but a prudent man covereth ſhame. 17 He that ſpeaketh truth, ſheweth forth righteouſneſs; but a falſe witneſs, deceit. 18 There is that ſpeaketh like the piercings of a ſword: but the tongue of the wiſe is health. 19 The lip of truth ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever; but a lying tongue is but for a moment. 20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine evil: but to the counſellors of peace, is joy. 21 There ſhall no evil happen to the juſt; but the wicked ſhall be filled with miſchief. 22 Lying lips are abomination unto the Lord: but they that deal truely are his delight. 23 A prudent man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of fools proclaimeth fooliſhneſs.

neſs. 24 The hand of the diligent ſhall bear rule; but the ſlothful ſhall be under tribute. 25 Heavineſs in the heart of man maketh it ſtoop: but a good word maketh it glad. 26 The righteous is more excellent than his neighbour: but the way of the wicked ſeduceth them. 27 The ſlothful man roaſteth not that which he took in hunting; but the ſubſtance of a diligent man is precious. 28 In the way of righteouſneſs is life, and in the path-way whereof there is no death.

A righteous Man regardeth the Life of his Beaſt; but the tender Mercies of the Wicked are cruel] Lord Bacon obſerves upon this Verſe, 'That there is implanted in 'Man's Nature a noble and excellent Affection of Pity 'and Compaſſion, called here Mercy; which extends 'itſelf even unto brute Creatures, that are by divine 'Ordination ſubject to his Command. And therefore 'this Compaſſion hath ſome Analogy with that of a 'Prince towards his Subjects. Nay further, it is moſt 'certain, the worthier any Soul is, the larger is its 'Compaſſion. For contracted and degenerated Minds 'imagine theſe Things appertain not to them; but 'the Mind that looks upon itſelf as a noble Portion of 'the Univerſe, is kindly affected towards inferior 'Creatures, out of the Communion there is between 'them: Wherefore we ſee that there were under the 'old Law many Precepts concerning this, which were 'not merely ceremonial, as Inſtitutions of Mercy; as, 'that of eating Fleſh with the Blood in it, and ſuch 'like.' The latter Part of the Verſe he looks upon, as a Kind of Caution added by the Wiſe Man, leſt we ſhould think he patronizes all Sort of Mercy and Compaſſion. 'No, the Mercy which ſpares wicked 'Perſons from being cut off by the Hand of Juſtice, is 'not Mercy, but more cruel than Cruelty itſelf. For 'Cruelty is exerciſed upon ſingle Perſons only; but 'this Kind of Mercy, by the Grant of Impunity, 'arms the whole Band of impious Men againſt the 'Innocent.' So that, by the Mercies of the Wicked, he underſtands, Mercy ſhewn to the Wicked; which, ſays Patrick, is an unuſual Form of Speech, and diſagreeing to the Oppoſition, which the Wiſe Man, in this proverbial Saying, makes between the Righteous and the Wicked; and therefore it is not to be look'd upon as a true Expoſition. The Senſe lies rather in this Paraphraſe of the Words: For their Kindneſſes being treacherous, are a cruel Cheat; nay, the higheſt Expreſſions which they make of Tenderneſs and Compaſſion (whereby they induce others to repoſe a Truſt in them) are intended merely as a Cover, for the Miſchief they mean more ſecurely to do them.

CHAP. XIII.

Ver. 1. A Wiſe ſon heareth his fathers inſtruction: but a ſcorner heareth not rebuke. 2 A man ſhall eat good by the fruit of his mouth; but the ſoul of the tranſgreſſors ſhall eat violence. 3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life; but he that openeth wide his lips, ſhall have deſtruction. 4 The ſoul of the ſluggard deſireth, and hath nothing: but the ſoul of the diligent ſhall be made fat. 5 A righteous man hateth lying; but a wicked man is lothſom, and cometh to ſhame. 6 Righteouſneſs keepeth him that is upright in the way: but wickedneſs overthroweth the ſinner. 7 There is that maketh himſelf rich, yet hath nothing; there is that maketh himſelf poor, yet hath great riches. 8 The ranſom of a mans life are his riches; but the poor heareth not rebuke. 9 The light of the righteous rejoiceth: but the lamp of the wicked ſhall be put out. 10 Only by pride cometh contention; but with the well-adviſed is wiſdom. 11 Wealth gotten by vanity, ſhall be diminiſhed; but he tha gathereth by labour ſhall increaſe. 12 Hope de ferred maketh the heart ſick; but when the de ſire cometh, it is a tree of life. 13 Whoſo de ſpiſeth the word, ſhall be deſtroyed; but he tha feareth the commandment, ſhall be rewarded. 1 The law of the wiſe is a fountain of life, to de part from the ſnares of death. 15 Good under ſtanding giveth favour; but the way of tranſgreſſors is hard. 16 Every prudent man dealet with knowledge; but a fool layeth open his foll 17 A wicked meſſenger falleth into miſchief: bu a faithful ambaſſador is health. 18 Poverty an ſhame ſhall be to him that refuſeth inſtruction but he that regardeth reproof, ſhall be honoured 19 The deſire accompliſhed is ſweet to the ſoul but it is abomination to fools to depart from evi 20 He that walketh with wiſe men, ſhall be wiſ but a companion of fools ſhall be deſtroyed. 2 Evil purſueth ſinners; but to the righteous, goo ſhall be repayed. 22 A good man leaveth inheritance to his childrens children; and th wealth of the ſinner is laid up for the juſt. 2 Much food is in the tillage of the poor; but the is that is deſtroyed for want of judgment. 2 He that ſpareth his rod, hateth his ſon; but that loveth him chaſteneth him betimes. 25 T righteous eateth to the ſatisfying of his ſoul; b the belly of the wicked ſhall want.

As the Chapter begins with an Admonition to he ken to Reproof (eſpecially from Parents) which is peated again in the Middle, Ver. 13, 18. ſo it co cludes, in the laſt Verſe but one, with an Advice Parents, not to ſpare the Rod, if Reproof will not d which is but neceſſary in very young Children; beca there is not other Means perhaps to make them derſtand the Difference between Good and Evil, cent and unſeemly; but only to make them ſmart the one, and to give them ſome ſenſible Pleaſure the other. Some Children, that is, are ſo diſpoſ that they muſt be thus treated: And it ſeems a wo derful Piece of Wiſdom in the old Lacedemonian Plutarch relates in his Laconical Inſtitutes) that, ou an univerſal Love and Care for each other's Good, t made it lawful for any Man to correct the Child another Perſon, if he ſaw him do amiſs. And if Child complained of it to his Father, it was loo upon as a Fault in the Father if he did not correct h again for making that Complaint. Such was their C fidence in each other, that every Man being as mu concerned for another Man's Children as for his ow would never do them any Injury, nor unreaſona check them without Cauſe. For this is the Charac Plutarch gives of them; that they did not, as in ot Cities, 'look every Man only after his own Childr 'Servants and Cattle; but every Man look'd u 'what was his Neighbours as his own; that th 'might be, as much as was poſſible, a Commun 'among them, and they might take Care of what 'longed to others, as if they were their own pr 'Goods.'

CHAP. XIV.

Ver. 1. Every wiſe woman buildeth her hou but the fooliſh plucketh it do with her hands. 2 He that walketh in his rightneſs, feareth the Lord: but he that is verſe in his ways, deſpiſeth him. 3 In mouth of the fooliſh is a rod of pride; but lips of the wiſe ſhall preſerve them. 4 W no oxen are, the crib is clean: but much incr is by the ſtrength of the ox. 5 A faithful neſs will not lie; but a falſe witneſs will utter lies. 6 A ſcorner ſeeketh wiſdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is eaſy unto him that underſtandeth. 7 Go from the preſence of a fooliſh man; when thou perceiveſt not in him the lips of knowledge. 8 The wiſdom of the prudent is to underſtand his way: but the folly of fools is deceit. 9 Fools make a mock at ſin; but among the righteous there is favour. 10 The heart knoweth his own bitterneſs: and a ſtranger doth not intermeddle with his joy. 11 The houſe of the wicked ſhall be overthrown; but the tabernacle of the upright ſhall flouriſh. 12 There is a way which ſeemeth right unto a man; but the end thereof, are the ways of death. 13 Even in laughter the heart is ſorrowful; and the end of that mirth is heavineſs. 14 The backſlider in heart ſhall be filled with his own ways: and a good man ſhall be ſatisfied from himſelf. 15 The ſimple believeth every word; but the prudent man looketh well to his going. 16 A wiſe man feareth, and departeth from evil; but the fool rageth and is confident. 17 He that is ſoon angry dealeth fooliſhly: and a man of wicked devices is hated. 18 The ſimple inherit folly; but the prudent are crowned with knowledge. 19 The evil bow before the good; and the wicked at the gates of the righteous. 20 The poor is hated even of his own neighbour: but the rich hath many friends. 21 He that deſpiſeth his neighbour, ſinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he. 22 Do they not err that deviſe evil? but mercy and truth ſhall be to them that deviſe good. 23 In all labour there is profit; but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury. 24 The crown of the wiſe is their riches; but the fooliſhneſs of fools is folly. 25 A true witneſs delivereth ſouls, but a deceitful witneſs ſpeaketh lies. 26 In the fear of the Lord is ſtrong confidence; and his children ſhall have a place of refuge. 27 The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to depart from the ſnares of death. 28 In the multitude of people is the kings honour; but in the want of people is the deſtruction of the prince. 29 He that is ſlow to wrath is of great underſtanding; but he that is haſty of ſpirit exalteth folly. 30 A ſound heart is the life of the fleſh; but envy the rottenneſs of the bones. 31 He that oppreſſeth the poor, reproacheth his maker; but he that honoureth him, hath mercy on the poor. 32 The wicked is driven away in his wickedneſs: but the righteous hath hope in his death. 33 Wiſdom reſteth in the heart of him that hath underſtanding: but that which is in the midſt of fools is made known. 34 Righteouſneſs exalteth a nation: but ſin is a reproach to any people. 35 The kings favour is toward a wiſe ſervant: but his wrath is againſt him that cauſeth ſhame.

As the foregoing Chapter began with a Deſcription of a towardly Child, ſo this with the Character of a good Mother of a Family; who by her prudent Care makes it flouriſh; when a leud Woman (as we ſay) throws a Houſe out of Window: For ſo the Wiſe Man obſerves, She pulls down the Houſe with her own hands, that is, ruins the Family without any other help. There needs no more than a bad Wife to undo a Family.

A Scorner ſeeketh Wiſdom, and findeth it not] Upon which the Lord Bacon makes this uſeful Gloſs, He that comes to ſeek after Knowledge, with a Mind to ſcorn and cenſure, ſhall be ſure to find Matter enough for his Humour, but none for his Inſtruction. One Reaſon of which is, that this Humour of deriding all Things, ſprings from a great Pride and Conceit of their own Wit, which diſpoſes them to ſeek for Wiſdom not from others, but wholly from themſelves; and ſo, as the Wiſe Man obſerves, they are not likely to find it where it is not to be had. When he that attributes leſs to himſelf, and hath the Humility to liſten to Inſtruction, in a ſhort Time gains great Wiſdom. I cannot wholly omit the Opinion of Janſenius; who thinks the Wiſe Man means, that he who hath accuſtomed himſelf to laugh at all wholſome Counſel, and in ſome Strait or other begins to think what is beſt to do, commonly finds himſelf at ſuch a Loſs, that he cannot ſee his Way out of it. And it may be applied to thoſe alſo, who having mocked at Religion all their Days, at laſt deſire to underſtand it; but cannot through their own inveterate Diſpoſition to it.

CHAP. XV.

Ver. 1. A Soft anſwer turneth away wrath, but grievous words ſtir up anger. 2 The tongue of the wiſe uſeth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fools poureth out fooliſhneſs. 3 The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good. 4 A wholſome tongue is a tree of life: but perverſeneſs therein is a breach in the ſpirit. 5 A fool deſpiſeth his fathers inſtruction; but he that regardeth reproof, is prudent. 6 In the houſe of the righteous is much treaſure, but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble. 7 The lips of the wiſe diſperſe knowledge: but the heart of the fooliſh doth not ſo. 8 The ſacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord; but the prayer of the upright is his delight. 9 The way of the wicked is an abomination unto the Lord: but he loveth him that followeth after righteouſneſs. 10 Correction is grievous unto him that forſaketh the way: and he that hateth reproof ſhall die. 11 Hell and deſtruction are before the Lord; how much more then the hearts of the children of men? 12 A ſcorner loveth not one that reproveth him: neither will he go unto the wiſe. 13 A merry heart maketh a chearful countenance: but by ſorrow of the heart, the ſpirit is broken. 14 The heart of him that hath underſtanding, ſeeketh knowledge: but the mouth of fools feedeth on fooliſhneſs. 15 All the days of the afflicted are evil; but he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feaſt. 16 Better is little with the fear of the Lord, than great treaſure, and trouble therewith. 17 Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a ſtalled ox, and hatred therewith. 18 A wrathful man ſtirreth up ſtrife: but he that is ſlow to anger appeaſeth ſtrife. 19 The way of the ſlothful man is an hedge of thorns: but the way of the righteous is made plain. 20 A wiſe ſon maketh a glad father: but a fooliſh man deſpiſeth his mother. 21 Folly is joy to him that is deſtitute of wiſdom: but a man of underſtanding walketh uprightly. 22 Without counſel, purpoſes are diſappointed: but in the multitude of counſellors they are eſtabliſhed. 23 A man hath joy by the anſwer of his mouth: and a word ſpoken in due ſeaſon, how good is it? 24 The way of life is above to the wiſe, that he may depart from hell beneath. 25 The Lord will deſtroy the houſe of the proud: but he will eſtabliſh eſtabliſh the border of the widow. 26 The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the Lord: but the words of the pure are pleaſant words. 27 He that is greedy of gain, troubleth his own houſe; but he that hateth gifts ſhall live. 28 The heart of the righteous ſtudieth to anſwer; but the mouth of the wicked poureth out evil things. 29 The Lord is far from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous. 30 The light of the eyes rejoiceth the heart: and a good report maketh the bones fat. 31 The ear that heareth the reproof of life, abideth among the wiſe. 32 He that refuſeth inſtruction, deſpiſeth his own ſoul: but he that heareth reproof, getteth underſtanding. 33 The fear of the Lord is the inſtruction of wiſdom; and before honour is humility.

A ſoft Anſwer turneth away Wrath] This Chapter begins with that Aphoriſm, which the Lord Bacon hath ſet in the Front of all thoſe which he has culled out of this Book; for an Example of that Sort of Wiſdom which is to be exerciſed in Buſineſs, upon various Occaſions. And he applies it particularly to a Man's Behaviour towards a Prince or other great Perſon, when he is angry with him. 'Two Things, ſaith he, So- 'lomon adviſes in this Caſe; the one is, that an An- 'ſwer be made; the other, that it be ſoft. The firſt 'of which contains three Precepts. Firſt, that you 'beware of a ſad and ſullen Silence, which either charges 'the Fault wholly upon yourſelves, or impeaches your 'Maſter of Injuſtice, as if his Ears were not open to a 'juſt Defence. Secondly, that you beware of delaying 'the Anſwer, and of craving longer Time for your 'Defence; becauſe that plainly betrays you are de- 'viſing ſome cunning or counterfeit Apology, having 'no preſent Anſwer. Thirdly, that by all Means an 'Anſwer be made; an Anſwer, I ſay, not a mere Con- 'feſſion, or Submiſſion; but with ſome Sprinklings of 'an Excuſe let fall here and there. For it is not ſafe 'to bear yourſelf otherways, unleſs you have to deal 'with very generous and noble Diſpoſitions, which 'are rare. But then, this Anſwer (which is the ſe- 'cond and principal Thing here adviſed) muſt be very 'ſoft and temperate, not harſh and peremptory; for 'that will make the Buſineſs worſe than if it had never 'been medled with at all; and increaſe that Wrath 'which you ſhould ſtudy to appeaſe.'

Melanæthon alſo commends this Leſſon very much to his Scholars; but looks upon it as a general Precept for the Preſervation of Peace, and avoiding unneceſſary Contentions; which ariſe out of Pride, Ambition, Moroſeneſs, Emulation, Wrath, Superſtition; which move Men either to give ill Words, or to return worſe to thoſe that are given them; endeavouring to overcome by Sharpneſs and Bitterneſs, not by Lenity and Moderation. And the Truth is, the Hebrew Word we tranſlate Anſwer, ſignifies as well what is firſt ſaid, as the Reply to it. So that Solomon here gives this Caution, that we ſhould not think it enough, not to begin Strife and Contention; but if others begin, we ſhould not continue it by rough Anſwers; but endeavour to make an End preſently by mollifying the Matter, and yield much for the Sake of the common Tranquillity; and thinks it a Precept of the ſame Nature with that of Pythagoras, Stir not up Fire with a Sword.

CHAP. XVI.

Ver. 1. THE preparations of the heart in man, and the anſwer of the tongue is from the Lord. 2 All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes: but the Lord weigheth the ſpirits. 3 Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts ſhall be eſtabliſhed. 4 The Lord hath made all things for himſelf: yea, even the wicked for the day of evil. 5 Every one tha is proud in heart, is an abomination to th Lord: though hand join in hand, he ſhall no be unpuniſhed. 6 By mercy and truth iniquit is purged; and by the fear of the Lord, me depart from evil. 7 When a mans ways plea the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be peace with him. 8 Better is a little with righ teouſneſs, than great revenues without right. A mans heart deviſeth his way: but the Lor directeth his ſteps. 10 A divine ſentence is i the lips of the king; his mouth tranſgreſſeth no in judgment. 11 A juſt weight and balance a the Lords: all the weights of the bag are h work. 12 It is an abomination to kings to com mit wickedneſs; for the throne is eſtabliſhed b righteouſneſs. 13 Righteous lips are the delig of kings; and they love him that ſpeaketh righ 14 The wrath of a king is as meſſengers death, but a wiſe man will pacify it. 15 In th light of the kings countenance is life, and his f vour is as a cloud of the latter rain. 16 Ho much better is it to get wiſdom, than gold? an to get underſtanding, rather to be choſen th ſilver? 17 The high-way of the upright is depart from evil; he that keepeth his way, pr ſerveth his ſoul. 18 Pride goeth before deſtru tion; and a haughty ſpirit before a fall. 19 Be ter it is to be of an humble ſpirit with the lowl than to divide the ſpoil with the proud. 20 H that handleth a matter wiſely ſhall find good; an whoſo truſteth in the Lord, happy is he. The wiſe in heart ſhall be called prudent, and t ſweetneſs of the lips increaſeth learning. 22 Un derſtanding is a well-ſpring of life unto him th hath it; but the inſtruction of fools is folly. The heart of the wiſe teacheth his mouth, an addeth learning to his lips. 24 Pleaſant wor are as an honey-comb, ſweet to the ſoul, an health to the bones. 25 There is a way th ſeemeth right unto a man; but the end there are the ways of death. 26 He that labouret laboureth for himſelf; for his mouth craveth of him. 27 An ungodly man diggeth up evi and in his lips there is as a burning fire. 28 froward man ſoweth ſtrife, and a whiſperer ſep rateth chief friends. 29 A violent man entice his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way tha is not good. 30 He ſhutteth his eyes to devi froward things; moving his lips he bringeth ev to paſs. 31 The hoary head is a crown of glor if it be found in the way of righteouſneſs. 3 He that is ſlow to anger, is better than the migh ty: and he that ruleth his ſpirit, than he th taketh a city. 33 The lot is caſt into the lap but the whole diſpoſing thereof is of the Lord.

A divine Sentence is in the Lips of the King; his Mouth tranſgreſſeth not in Judgment] 'Theſe Word 'ſays Melanæthon, affirm the whole political Order, M 'giſtrates, Laws, Diſtinction of Dominions, Contract 'Judgments, Puniſhments, to be ordained by the Wi 'dom of God among Men. And ſince we know p 'litical Order to be the Work of God, we ought 'love it, and ſtudy to defend it, and modeſtly f 'God's ſake obey it, and give Thanks to God w 'preſerves it, and look upon thoſe horrible Furies 'the Devil and Men, who diſturb this Order, to 'diſpleaſing to God; as this whole Doctrine is explaine 'Rom. xiii. But what is this divine Sentence which is 'the King's Lips? It is, the Laws, ſays he; and Jud 'ments according to the Laws: And beſides, God ha 'arm armed Kings with a Power to make Laws of their own, not repugnant to his Laws, but built upon them, either by Demonſtration or probable Reaſons. God ſometimes moves the Minds of Kings alſo, and gives them ſingular Motions (as other excellent Artificers have) becauſe he will by that Means ſave Mankind, &c. Thus it was a ſingular Motion in Solomon's Reaſoning about the true Mother of the Child. And in the Judgment of Gonzaga in the laſt Age, upon the Spaniſh Governor of Milan under him: Who having held a noble Perſon captive a long Time, would not deliver him to his Wife (when ſhe petitioned and offered a large Sum of Money for his Redemption) unleſs he might lie with her; and after he had obtained his Deſire, cauſed her Huſband to be killed, and delivered him dead to her. Which when Gonzaga heard, and had examined, he compelled him to marry this Woman; and as ſoon as he had done that, he condemned him to be immediately beheaded, and gave her all his Eſtate.'

But we are not from ſuch Places as this to infer, that Kings cannot give a wrong Judgment; tho' this be as good a Concluſion as from thoſe Words, the Prieſt's Lips ſhall preſerve Knowledge, to conclude the Pope cannot err. Kings, from this Place of Solomon, may as well pretend to Infallibility, as Prieſts from that Place of Malachi. And yet all the Places that can be brought either for the King's or the Prieſt's Authority, rather ſhew what Manner of Men they ſhould be, both in Life and Judgment, than aſſure them of any Infallibility of Judgment, if they be diſſolute of Life, and regard not the Laws of God.

CHAP. XVII.

Ver. 1. BEtter is a dry morſel, and quietneſs therewith, than a houſe full of ſacrifices with ſtrife. 2 A wiſe ſervant ſhall have rule over a ſon that cauſeth ſhame; and ſhall have part of the inheritance among the brethren. 3 The fining-pot is for ſilver, and the furnace for gold: but the Lord trieth the hearts. 4 A wicked doer giveth heed to falſe lips; and a liar giveth ear to a naughty tongue. 5 Whoſo mocketh the poor, reproacheth his maker; and he that is glad at calamities, ſhall not be unpuniſhed. 6 Children's children are the crown of old men; and the glory of children are their fathers. 7 Excellent ſpeech becometh not a fool; much leſs do lying lips a prince. 8 A gift is as a precious ſtone in the eyes of him that hath it; whitherſoever it turneth, it proſpereth. 9 He that covereth a tranſgreſſion, ſeeketh love, but he that repeateth a matter, ſeparateth very friends. 10 A reproof entereth more into a wiſe man, than an hundred ſtripes into a fool. 11 An evil man ſeeketh only rebellion, therefore a cruel meſſenger ſhall be ſent againſt him. 12 Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man, rather than a fool in his folly. 13 Whoſo rewardeth evil for good, evil ſhall not depart from his houſe. 14 The beginning of ſtrife is as when one letteth out water; therefore leave off contention, before it be medled with. 15 He that juſtifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the juſt, even they both are abomination to the Lord. 16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of a fool to get wiſdom, ſeeing he hath no heart to it? 17 A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adverſity. 18 A man void of underſtanding ſtriketh hands, and becometh ſurety in the preſence of his friend. 19 He loveth tranſgreſſion, that loveth ſtrife; and he that exalteth his gate, ſeeketh deſtruction. 20 He that hath a froward heart, findeth no good: and he that hath a perverſe tongue, falleth into miſchief. 21 He that begetteth a fool, doth it to his ſorrow; and the father of a fool hath no joy. 22 A merry heart doth good like a medicine; but a broken ſpirit drieth the bones. 23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the boſom to pervert the ways of judgment. 24 Wiſdom is before him that hath underſtanding; but the eyes of a fool are in the ends of the earth. 25 A fooliſh ſon is a grief to his father, and bitterneſs to her that bare him. 26 Alſo to puniſh the juſt is not good, nor to ſtrike princes for equity. 27 He that hath knowledge ſpareth his words; and a man of underſtanding is of an excellent ſpirit. 28 Even a fool when he holdeth his peace, is counted wiſe; and he that ſhutteth his lips, is eſteemed a man of underſtanding.

In the firſt Verſe of this Chapter, the Wiſe Man obſerves, how happy that Family is, which lives in Peace and perfect Agreement one with another, tho' they have but a mean Eſtate. And next to this, how happy a Thing it is, if there be but one wiſe and virtuous Man in a Family (ſuppoſe he be but a Servant) when any Diſſentions or Differences ariſe in it: For ſo the Lord Bacon expounds the ſecond Verſe; whoſe Words, if they hit not the Senſe completely, yet they pithily expreſs a Part of it, and carry in them an important Truth. 'In all troubled and diſagreeing Families, 'ſaith he, there is always ſome Servant or gentle Friend, 'who being powerful with both Sides, may moderate 'and compoſe the Differences among them; to whom, 'in that Reſpect, the whole Houſe, and the Maſter 'himſelf, are much engaged and beholden. This Ser'vant, if he aim only at his own Ends, cheriſhes and ag'gravates the Diviſions of the Family; but if he be 'ſincerely faithful and upright, certainly he deſerveth 'much; ſo as to be reckoned one of the Brethren; or 'at leaſt, to receive a fiduciary Adminiſtration of the 'Inheritance.'

CHAP. XVIII.

Ver. 1. THrough deſire a man having ſeparated himſelf, ſeeketh and intermedleth with all wiſdom. 2 A fool hath no delight in underſtanding, but that his heart may diſcover itſelf. 3 When the wicked cometh, then cometh alſo contempt, and with ignominy reproach. 4 The words of a mans mouth are as deep waters, and the well-ſpring of wiſdom as a flowing-brook. 5 It is not good to accept the perſon of the wicked, to overthrow the righteous in judgment. 6 A fools lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for ſtrokes. 7 A fools mouth is his deſtruction, and his lips are the ſnare of his ſoul. 8 The words of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermoſt parts of the belly. 9 He alſo that is ſlothful in his work, is brother to him that is a great waſter. 10 The name of the Lord is a ſtrong tower; the righteous runneth into it, and is ſafe. 11 The rich mans wealth is his ſtrong city, and as an high wall in his own conceit. 12 Before deſtruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humility. 13 He that anſwereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and ſhame unto him. 14 The ſpirit of a man will ſuſtain his infirmity; but a wounded ſpirit who can bear? 15 The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the ear of the wiſe ſeeketh knowledge. 16 A mans gift maketh room for him, and bringeth him before great men. 17 He that is firſt in his own cauſe ſeemeth juſt; but his neighbour cometh and ſearcheth him. 18 The lot cauſeth contentions to ceaſe, and parteth between the mighty. 19

A brother offended is harder to be won than a ſtrong city; and their contentions are like the bars of a caſtle. 20 A mans belly ſhall be ſatisfied with the fruit of his mouth; and with the increaſe of his lips ſhall he be filled. 21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue; and they that love it, ſhall eat the fruit thereof. 22 Whoſo findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favour of the Lord. 23 The poor uſeth intreaties, but the rich anſwereth roughly. 24 A man that hath friends, muſt ſhew himſelf friendly; and there is a friend that ſticketh cloſer than a brother.

Through Deſire a Man having ſeparated himſelf, ſeeketh and intermedleth with all Wiſdom] According to this Interpretation, ſays Pool, the Senſe is, thro' Deſire (of it, to wit, of Wiſdom, which is eaſily underſtood out of the End of the Verſe; ſuch Ellipſes being frequent in Scripture) a Man having ſeparated himſelf (being ſequeſtered from the Company, Noiſe and Buſineſs of the World) ſeeketh and intermedleth with all Wiſdom; i. e. uſeth all Diligence, that he may ſearch and find out all ſolid Knowledge and true Wiſdom. And this earneſt Deſire and Endeavour to get true Wiſdom, is fitly oppoſed to the Fool's Contempt of Wiſdom, or to his Deſire of it, not for Uſe and Benefit, but only for vain Oſtentation, which is expreſſed in the next Verſe, altho' Coherence is little regarded by Interpreters, in the ſeveral Verſes and Proverbs of this Book. But this is otherwiſe rendered in our Engliſh Bible, and by divers others, He that ſeparateth himſelf (either, 1. from his Friend; or rather, 2. from other Men, affecting Singularity) ſeeketh according to his Deſire to gratify his own Inclinations and Affections) and intermedleth (for this Word is uſed in a bad Senſe, Prov. xvii. 1. and xx. 3. and it is not found elſewhere, except in this Place) in every Buſineſs, as proud and ſingular Perſons are commonly pragmatical, delighting to find Fault in others, that they may get ſome Reputation to themſelves by it. Heb. in every Thing that is, thruſting themſelves into the Affairs and Concerns of other Men. Or, as this laſt Clauſe is, and may be rendered, and contendeth, Heb. mingleth himſelf (for Words of that Signification are commonly uſed for contending or fighting, as Deut. ii. 5, 9, 19. Iſa. xxxvi. 8. Dan. xi. 10.) with, or againſt all Reaſon and Wiſdom; whatever a Man ſpeaketh againſt his Opinion or Deſire, tho' it be never ſo reaſonable or evident, he rejects it, and obſtinately maintains his own Opinion.

A Fool hath no Delight in Underſtanding, but that his Heart may diſcover itſelf] Theſe Words are commonly underſtood of accommodating one's Self to the Humour of a Fool; but the Lord Bacon applies it to the Way of dealing with Men of corrupt Minds and depraved Judgments; ‹ who pre-ſuppoſe that Honeſty grows out of Weakneſs ‹ of Wit, and Want of Experience; or only out of a ‹ ſilly Belief given to Preachers and Schoolmaſters, to ‹ Books and popular Opinions. And therefore, unleſs ‹ you can make them plainly perceive, that you know ‹ what is in their very Heart, when you exhort and admoniſh them; and are as well acquainted with their ‹ depraved Principles and crooked Rules, and have as ‹ fully diſcovered, and deeply ſounded them as themſelves, they will deſpiſe all Manner of Virtue, and ‹ the moſt excellent Counſels; according to that admirable Oracle of Solomon, A Fool will not receive the ‹ Words of the Wiſe, unleſs thou ſpeak the very Things ‹ that are in his Heart; i. e. an honeſt Man can do ‹ no Good upon the Wicked, unleſs he know all the ‹ Coverts and Depths of his Wickedneſs. In which ‹ Machiavel himſelf hath done ſome Service, by diſcovering plainly what Men uſe to do, not what they ‹ ought to do.

CHAP. XIX.

Ver. 1. BEtter is the poor that walketh in his integrity, than he that is perverſe in his lips, and is a fool. 2 Alſo, that the ſoul be without knowledge, it is not good; and he that haſteth with his feet ſinneth. 3 The fooliſhneſs of man perverteth his way; and his heart fretteth againſt the Lord. 4 Wealth maketh many friends; but the poor is ſeparated from his neighbour. 5 A falſe witneſs ſhall not be unpuniſhed, and he that ſpeaketh lies ſhall not eſcape. 6 Many will intreat the favour of the prince; and every man is a friend to him that giveth gifts. 7 All the brethren of the poor do hate him; how much more do his friends go far from him? he purſueth them with words, yet they are wanting to him. 8 He that getteth wiſdom, loveth his own ſoul; he that keepeth underſtanding, ſhall find good. 9 A falſe witneſs ſhall not be unpuniſhed, and he that ſpeaketh lies, ſhall periſh. 10 Delight is not ſeemly for a fool; much leſs for a ſervant to have rule over princes. 11 The diſcretion of a man deferreth his anger, and it is his glory to paſs over a tranſgreſſion. 12 The kings wrath is as the roaring of a lion; but his favour is as dew upon the graſs. 13 A fooliſh ſon is the calamity of his father; and the contentions of a wife are a continual dropping. 14 Houſe and riches are the inheritance of fathers; and a prudent wife is from the Lord. 15 Slothfulneſs caſteth into a deep ſleep; and an idle ſoul ſhall ſuffer hunger. 16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his own ſoul; but he that deſpiſeth his ways, ſhall die. 17 He that hath pity upon the poor, lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given, will he pay him again. 18 Chaſten thy ſon while there is hope, and let not thy ſoul ſpare for his crying. 19 A man of great wrath ſhall ſuffer puniſhment; for if thou deliver him, yet thou muſt do it again. 20 Hear counſel, and receive inſtruction, that thou mayeſt be wiſe in thy latter end. 21 There are many devices in a mans heart; nevertheleſs the counſel of the Lord, that ſhall ſtand. 22 The deſire of a man is his kindneſs: and a poor man is better than a liar. 23 The fear of the Lord tendeth to life, and he that hath it ſhall abide ſatisfied: he ſhall not be viſited with evil. 24 A ſlothful man hideth his hand in his boſom, and will not ſo much as bring it to his mouth again. 25 Smite a ſcorner, and the ſimple will beware; and reprove one that hath underſtanding, and he will underſtand knowledge. 26 He that waſteth his father, and chaſeth away his mother, is a ſon that cauſeth ſhame, and bringeth reproach. 27 Ceaſe, my ſon, to hear the inſtruction, that cauſeth to err from the words of knowledge. 28 An ungodly witneſs ſcorneth judgment: and the mouth of the wicked devoureth iniquity. 29 Judgments are prepared for ſcorners, and ſtripes for the back of fools.

This Chapter begins with a Compariſon between the Rich and the Poor; whom, in another Regard, he has compared together in the laſt Verſe but one of the foregoing Chapter. The Senſe is plain enough; and one of thoſe Proverbs which contains much Wiſdom in as Greg. Nazianzen ſpeaks; who applies it to Chriſtians of mean Underſtanding, and ſimple Speech; that underſtand not either the Inſtances of Pyrrho, or the Syllogiſms of Chryſippus; nor the depraved Cunning of Ariſtotle's Arts, nor the Witchery of Plato's Eloquence, which like the Egyptian Plagues had infeſted the Church. There is no Need, ſays he, of any of theſe, but a poor Man that walks in his Simplicity; for Discourse, and Reasoning, and Knowledge, as he paraphrases it, and relies upon plain simple Words, is much better (and will in this Way be saved, as in a small Cog-boat) than a Fool (for he is no better) that knows how to wind and turn every Way in his Discourse, and most unlearnedly trusts to his Demonstration, &c. However, this must be acknowledged not to be the true Sense of the Words, but only an Accommodation of them to his Purpose; which was to represent, how commendable Simplicity is in Religion, and Enquiries of Faith, as well as in all Things else. Not that a Man should content himself to be ignorant, but only that he should not be too curious and subtil in his Disquisitions: For Solomon, in the next Verse, observes two great Springs of all our Miscarriages, Want of Understanding, and Want of Deliberation.

CHAP. XX.

Ver. 1. WINE is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. 2 The fear of a king is as the roaring of a lion: whoso provoketh him to anger, sinneth against his own soul. 3 It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling. 4 The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing. 5 Counsel in the heart of a man is like deep water: but a man of understanding will draw it out. 6 Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find? 7 The just man walketh in his integrity: his children are blessed after him. 8 A king that sitteth in the throne of judgment, scattereth away all evil with his eyes. 9 Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin? 10 Divers weights, and divers measures, both of them are alike abomination to the Lord. 11 Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right. 12 The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them. 13 Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty; open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread. 14 It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. 15 There is gold, and a multitude of rubies: but the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel. 16 Take his garment that is surety for a stranger: and take a pledge of him for a strange woman. 17 Bread of deceit is sweet to a man: but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel. 18 Every purpose is established by counsel: and with good advice make war. 19 He that goeth about as a tale-bearer, revealeth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips. 20 Whoso curseth his father or his mother, his lamp shall be put out in obscure darkness. 21 An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning: but the end thereof shall not be blessed. 22 Say not thou, I will recompense evil: but wait on the Lord, and he shall save thee. 23 Divers weights are an abomination unto the Lord: and a false balance is not good. 24 Mans goings are of the Lord, how can a man then understand his own way? 25 It is a snare to the man who devoureth that which is holy: and after vows to make enquiry. 26 A wise king scattereth the wicked, and bringeth the wheel over them. 27 The spirit of man is the candle of the Lord, searching all the inward parts of the belly. 28 Mercy and truth preserve the king: and his throne is upholden by mercy. 29 The glory of young men is their strength: and the beauty of old men is the grey head. 30 The blueness of a wound cleanseth away evil: so do stripes the inward parts of the belly.

Counsel in the Heart of Man is like deep Water, but a Man of Understanding will draw it out] Here Solomon observes, that there are no Men so cunning, but there are others as subtil to find them out. Concerning which Art of finding out Men, the great Lord Bacon hath given many notable Rules (in Book viii. Ch. 2. of the Advancement of Learning) for, tho' the Knowledge itself falls not under Precepts, because it is of Individuals; yet Instructions for the deducing of it may be given. And he observes six Ways whereby the Knowledge of Men may be drawn out and disclosed. By their Faces and Countenances; by Words; by Deeds; by their Nature; by their Ends; and by the Relations of others. What he says upon these Heads, the Reader may there find. I shall only mention this single Observation of his; That the weakest and simplest Sort of Men, are best interpreted by their Natures (according to which they commonly act) but the wisest and most reserved, are best expounded by their Ends and Aims.

Even a Child is known by his Doings, whether his Work be pure, and whether it be right] Thus paraphrased by Patrick. It is not hard to give a shrewd Conjecture, what a Child is like to prove when he is a Man: For not only Youths, but little Children, make early Discoveries by their Behaviour, by their Contrivances, by their Dealings one with another; nay, their very Sports and Pastimes, and such Things wherein they delight, whether their future Life will be modest and honest; free, that is, from Lasciviousness, Impurity, and such like Vices; and void also of Fraud and Guile, and Malignity of Spirit.

CHAP. XXI.

Ver. 1. THE kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the rivers of water: he turneth it whithersoever he will. 2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts. 3 To do justice and judgment, is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice. 4 An high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked is sin. 5 The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness: but of every one that is hasty, only to want. 6 The getting of treasures by a lying tongue, is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death. 7 The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them; because they refuse to do judgment. 8 The way of man is froward and strange: but as for the pure, his work is right. 9 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house-top; than with a brawling woman in a wide house. 10 The soul of the wicked desireth evil: his neighbour findeth no favour in his eyes. 11 When the scorner is punished, the simple is made wise: and when the wise is instructed, he receiveth knowledge. 12 The righteous man wisely considereth the house of the wicked: but God overthroweth the wicked for their wickedness. 13 Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard. 14 A gift in secret pacifieth anger: and a reward in the bosom, strong wrath. 15 It is joy to the just to do judgment: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity. 16 The man that wandreth out of the way of understanding, shall remain in the congregation of the dead. 17 He that loveth

pleaſure ſhall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil ſhall not be rich. 18 The wicked ſhall be a ranſom for the righteous; and the tranſgreſſor for the upright. 19 It is better to dwell in the wilderneſs, than with a contentious and an angry woman. 20 There is a treaſure to be deſired, and oil in the dwelling of the wiſe: but a fooliſh man ſpendeth it up. 21 He that followeth after righteouſneſs and mercy, findeth life, righteouſneſs and honour. 22 A wiſe man ſcaleth the city of the mighty, and caſteth down the ſtrength of the confidence thereof. 23 Whoſo keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his ſoul from troubles. 24 Proud and haughty ſcorner is his name, who dealeth in proud wrath. 25 The deſire of the ſlothful killeth him; for his hands refuſe to labour. 26 He coveteth greedily all the day long: but the righteous giveth and ſpareth not. 27 The ſacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more, when he bringeth it with a wicked mind? 28 A falſe witneſs ſhall periſh: but the man that heareth, ſpeaketh conſtantly. 29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but as for the upright, he directeth his way. 30 There is no wiſdom nor underſtanding, nor counſel againſt the Lord. 31 The horſe is prepared againſt the day of battle: but ſafety is of the Lord.

This Chapter begins with a Sentence, which Themiſtius, a Pagan Philoſopher and Orator, ſeems to have Notice of, and mentions as very memorable in the Aſſyrian (as he is ſuppoſed to call the Hebrew) Writings; and commends to the Thoughts of the Emperor Valens, in a Speech he made to him. But if he had Reſpect to this Proverb of Solomon's, he will not fully comprehend the Senſe of it; for he takes Notice only of a Prince's Mind being in the Cuſtody, and under the Guard of God. For thus he tranſlates it, the Mind of the King is kept in ſafe Cuſtody in the Hand of God. From whence he draws this Reference, that a King ought to be very ſenſible what Danger he is in, if he go about any Thing contrary to the Mind of God; becauſe he is then in Peril to fall out of the Hand which preſerves and keeps him. Nay, thou oughteſt, O King, ſaith he, not only to deſign nothing thyſelf, but what is holy; but they that are about thee ought to ſpeak nothing that is not ſo: For Words that come to thy Ears is written in his uncorrupted Hand. But tho' this be a moſt excellent Admonition, was this to be written in the Hearts of all Princes, that it is very unbecoming to have any evil Things, any Thing impure, or the leaſt blemiſhed with Cruelty or Inhumanity, in that Heart, which thoſe moſt holy and moſt gracious and benign Hands of God, carry in their Keeping; yet there is a great deal more than theſe Aſſyrian Letters or Pictures, which he ſpeaks of, expreſs. For Solomon would have them, and us, ſenſible, that they cannot manage Things by their Power, as they think good; but depend upon an higher Cauſe, who orders all their Motions, good or bad, to ſuch Ends as he propoſes to himſelf, quite contrary to their Intentions and Inclinations: Which is an Inſtruction ſufficient to correct the Pride of the moſt abſolute Monarch, and the Impatience of the moſt oppreſſed Subject.

CHAP. XXII.

Ver. 1. A Good name is rather to be choſen than great riches, and loving favour rather than ſilver and gold. 2 The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all. 3 A prudent man foreſeeth the evil, and hideth himſelf: but the ſimple paſs on and are puniſhed. 4 By humility and the fear of the Lord, are riches, and honour, and life. 5 Thorns and ſnares are in the way of the froward: he that doth keep his ſoul ſhall be far from them. 6 Train up a child in the way he ſhould go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. 7 The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is ſervant to the lender. 8 He that ſoweth iniquity, ſhall reap vanity: and the rod of his anger ſhall fail. 9 He that hath a bountiful eye ſhall be bleſſed: for he giveth of his bread to the poor. 10 Caſt out the ſcorner, and contention ſhall go out; yea, ſtrife and reproach ſhall ceaſe. 11 He that loveth pureneſs of heart for the grace of his lips, the king ſhall be his friend. 12 The eyes of the Lord preſerve knowledge, and he overthroweth the words of the tranſgreſſor. 13 The ſlothful man ſaith, There is a lion without, I ſhall be ſlain in the ſtreets. 14 The mouth of ſtrange women is a deep pit: he that is abhorred of the Lord, ſhall fall therein. 15 Fooliſhneſs is bound in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction ſhall drive it far from him. 16 He that oppreſſeth the poor to increaſe his riches, and he that giveth to the rich ſhall ſurely come to want. 17 Bow down thine ear, and hear the words of the wiſe, and apply thine heart unto my knowledge. 18 For it is a pleaſant thing if thou keep them within thee; they ſhall withal be fitted in thy lips. 19 That thy truſt may be in the Lord, I have made known to thee this day, even to thee. 20 Have not I written to thee excellent things in counſels and knowledge? 21 That I might make thee know the certainty of the words of truth; that thou mighteſt anſwer the words of truth to them that ſend unto thee? 22 Rob not the poor, becauſe he is poor, neither oppreſs the afflicted in the gate. 23 For the Lord will plead their cauſe, and ſpoil the ſoul of thoſe that ſpoiled them. 24 Make no friendſhip with an angry man: and with a furious man thou ſhalt not go: 25 Leſt thou learn his ways, and get a ſnare to thy ſoul. 26 Be not thou one of them that ſtrike hands, or, of them that are ſureties for debts. 27 If thou haſt nothing to pay, why ſhould he take away thy bed from under thee? 28 Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have ſet. 29 Seeſt thou a man diligent in his buſineſs? he ſhall ſtand before kings, he ſhall not ſtand before mean men.

The Poor and the Rich meet together; the Lord is the Maker of them all] Greg. Nazianzen is of Opinion that Solomon doth not ſay, that God hath made one Man poor and another rich, for it is not apparent that ſuch a Diſtinction is from God; but his Meaning is only this, that they are both alike the Workmanſhip of God, tho' in external Regard they be unequal. Which ought to ſhame rich Men into Sympathy and Brotherly Kindneſs towards them; that when they are apt to be lifted up becauſe of thoſe Things wherein they are unequal, they may be taken down again and become more moderate, when they conſider how in the greatest Things they are both alike.

But if God did not intend, in the Beginning, ſo great a Diſparity as we now ſee, yet ſome Diſparity it may be eaſily proved, he did deſign; the mean Condition (tho' not Beggary) of ſome, in Compariſon with others. Which ſerves many wiſe Ends of his Providence; nay, Beggary may be uſeful, to give a greater Occaſion of Liberality on the one Hand, and of Patience, Humility, and honeſt Diligence on the other. And to be commended for theſe Virtues, [illegible] much better than to be rich, as he obſerves in the firſt Verſe.

He that oppreſſeth the Poor to increaſe his Riches, and he that giveth to the Rich ſhall ſurely come to Want.] Or as the Vulgar Latin has it (which comes nearer the Hebrew) He that ſqueezes the Poor to increaſe his own Eſtate, gives to the Rich (not to ſecure what he hath gotten, but) only to impoveriſh it: That is, he ſhall be ſqueezed by ſome mightier Perſon than himſelf: And ſo the Paraphraſe, ſays Patrick, in more Words ſhould be this: Such is the juſt Providence of Almighty God, that he, who, to enlarge his own Eſtate or Power, oppreſſeth the Poor by Violence or Deceit, ſhall meet with the like Extortion from others more powerful than himſelf; and thereby be reduced to as poor a Condition as thoſe whom he oppreſſed.

From the 17th Verſe, there is ſcarce any Interpreter but hath obſerved another Form of Speech much different from the former, begins, and continues unto Chap. xxv. and therefore it may not unfitly be called, The Second Part of the Book of Proverbs.

From the Beginning of the Tenth Chapter to this Place, the Inſtructions of Wiſdom are delivered in ſhort Sentences, and Proverbs properly ſo called, which have ſeldom any Connexion one with another, or not eaſily diſcerned; ſhewing what is good, true or falſe, &c. But now follow Exhortations and Precepts, in the Imperative Mood of Speech, and thoſe comprehended in two or three or more Verſes, before he finiſhes what he intends. In which Alteration, ſome think the Weakneſs of the Reader is conſulted; who being weary of the ſententious Way of Inſtruction, may be refreſhed and awaken'd unto new Inſtruction, by varying the Form of writing.

CHAP. XXIII.

Ver. 1. WHEN thou ſitteſt to eat with a ruler, conſider diligently what is before thee. 2 And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite. 3 Be not deſirous of his dainties: for they are deceitful meat. 4 Labour not to be rich: ceaſe from thine own wiſdom. 5 Wilt thou ſet thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themſelves wings, they fly away as an eagle towards heaven. 6 Eat thou not the bread of him that hath an evil eye, neither deſire thou his dainty meats. 7 For as he thinketh in his heart, ſo is he: Eat and drink ſaith he to thee, but his heart is not with thee. 8 The morſel which thou haſt eaten, ſhalt thou vomit up, and loſe thy ſweet words. 9 Speak not in the ears of a fool; for he will deſpiſe the wiſdom of thy words. 10 Remove not the old land-mark; and enter not into the fields of the fatherleſs. 11 For their redeemer is mighty: he ſhall plead their cauſe with thee. 12 Apply thine heart unto inſtruction, and thine ears to the words of knowledge. 13 Withhold not correction from the child; for if thou beateſt him with the rod, he ſhall not die. 14 Thou ſhalt beat him with the rod, and ſhalt deliver his ſoul from hell. 15 My ſon, if thine heart be wiſe, my heart ſhall rejoice, even mine. 16 Yea, my reins ſhall rejoice, when thy lips ſpeak right things. 17 Let not thine heart envy ſinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long. 18 For ſurely there is an end, and thine expectation ſhall not be cut off. 19 Hear thou my ſon, and be wiſe, and guide thine heart in the way. 20 Be not amongſt wine-bibbers; amongſt riotous eaters of flesh. 21 For the drunken and the glutton ſhall come to poverty: and drowſineſs ſhall cloath a man with rags. 22 Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and deſpiſe not thy mother when ſhe is old. 23 Buy the truth, and ſell it not; alſo wiſdom and inſtruction, and underſtanding. 24 The father of the righteous ſhall greatly rejoice: and he that begetteth a wiſe child, ſhall have joy of him. 25 Thy father and thy mother ſhall be glad, and ſhe that bare thee ſhall rejoice. 26 My ſon, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes obſerve my ways. 27 For an whore is a deep ditch; and a ſtrange woman is a narrow pit. 28 She alſo lieth in wait as for a prey, and increaſeth the tranſgreſſors among men. 29 Who hath wo? who hath ſorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cauſe? who hath redneſs of eyes? 30 They that tarry long at the wine, they that go to ſeek mixt wine. 31 Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itſelf aright. 32 At the laſt it biteth like a ſerpent, and ſtingeth like an adder. 33 Thine eyes ſhall behold ſtrange women, and thine heart ſhall utter perverſe things. 34 Yea, thou ſhalt be as he that lieth down in the midſt of the ſea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a maſt. 35 They have ſtricken me, ſhalt thou ſay, and I was not ſick; they have beaten me, and I felt it not: when ſhall I awake? I will ſeek it yet again.

As the foregoing Chapter concludes with an Obſervation concerning the Quality of a Perſon who is moſt likely to come to Preferment; ſo this begins with a Caution to him, when he is promoted to it. For the firſt Verſe is (as Melanchthon calls it) Aulica Admonitio, an Admonition to a Courtier; remembring him, that there is Danger, even in the Favour, eſpecially in the Familiarity of Princes and great Men. Whoſe Kindneſs muſt be uſed with much Modeſty and Circumſpection; eſpecially if they be ſo extraordinary kind, as to admit an Inferior to eat with them; when if a Man uſe not great Moderation, he loſes the Guard he ought to have upon himſelf. And therefore Solomon adviſes a Perſon to be very conſiderate at that Time, above all others; and with earneſt Attention to mind both who and what is before him; (for the Hebrew Words may refer to both) there being great Danger of his Ruin, if he give any Offence, at ſuch a Time, when the Paſſions of the Prince or Ruler are as apt to be as diſordered as his own; and therefore had need be watched, that he may know how to appeaſe them preſently; and ſo govern himſelf, as to receive no Prejudice thereby.

But eſpecially, he muſt be ſure to have a Command over his Tongue (which Melanchthon takes to be the Meaning of putting a Knife to his Throat, Ver. 2.) that it take not too much Liberty, and that he ſpeak nothing raſhly; which may undo him, as it did Clitus, whom Alexander ſlew at a Feaſt, for contradicting him too freely. He cites many Admonitions out of the Poets concerning this Danger; concluding with that Counſel which Æſop gave Solon, when he was going to Cræſus; ſpeak to a King, either as little, or as ſweet as poſſible.

But this is too narrow a Senſe of that Phraſe put a Knife to thy Throat; tho' it be a Part of it. For it expreſſes the exceeding great Caution a Man ſhould uſe at a Feaſt, leſt he exceed his Bounds in eating and drinking: Wherein he ſhould be as careful, as he is of cutting his Throat; which many have in effect done by Intemperance; whereby ſome have utterly deſtroyed their Healths at laſt; and others fallen into ſuch a Liberty of Speech, as hath on a ſudden coſt them their Lives. Be as afraid, therefore, ſays the Wiſe Man, of running into Exceſs (of which thou art in great Danger at a great Table, if thou haſt a great Stomach) as if if thy Knife, wherewith thou cutteſt thy Meat, would certainly cut thy Throat, if thou eateſt too much. In ſhort, he adviſes a Man to affright himſelf from Intemperance, where there is a great Temptation to it.

CHAP. XXIV.

Ver. 1. BE not thou envious againſt evil men, neither deſire to be with them. 2 For their heart ſtudieth deſtruction, and their lips talk of miſchief. 3 Through wiſdom is an houſe builded, and by underſtanding it is eſtabliſhed: 4 And by knowledge ſhall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleaſant riches. 5 A wiſe man is ſtrong, yea, a man of knowledge increaſeth ſtrength. 6 For by wiſe counſel thou ſhalt make thy war: and in multitude of counſellors there is ſafety. 7 Wiſdom is too high for a fool: he openeth not his mouth in the gate. 8 He that deviſeth to do evil, ſhall be called a miſchievous perſon. 9 The thought of fooliſhneſs is ſin: and the ſcorner is an abomination to men. 10 If thou faint in the day of adverſity, thy ſtrength is ſmall. 11 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and thoſe that are ready to be ſlain: 12 If thou ſayeſt, Behold, we knew it not: doth not he that pondereth the heart conſider it? and he that keepeth thy ſoul, doth not he know it? and ſhall not he render to every man according to his works? 13 My ſon, eat thou honey, becauſe it is good: and the honey-comb, which is ſweet to thy taſte: 14 So ſhall the knowledge of wiſdom be unto thy ſoul: when thou haſt found it, then there ſhall be a reward, and thy expectation ſhall not be cut off. 15 Lay not wait, O wicked man, againſt the dwelling of the righteous: ſpoil not his reſting-place. 16 For a juſt man falleth ſeven times, and riſeth up again: but the wicked ſhall fall into miſchief. 17 Rejoice not when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart be glad when he ſtumbleth: 18 Leſt the Lord ſee it, and it diſpleaſe him, and he turn away his wrath from him. 19 Fret not thyſelf becauſe of evil men, neither be thou envious at the wicked. 20 For there ſhall be no reward to the evil man, the candle of the wicked ſhall be put out. 21 My ſon, fear thou the Lord, and the king: and meddle not with them that are given to change. 22 For their calamity ſhall riſe ſuddenly, and who knoweth the ruin of them both? 23 Theſe things alſo belong to the wiſe. It is not good to have reſpect of perſons in judgment. 24 He that ſaith unto the wicked, Thou art righteous; him ſhall the people curſe, nations ſhall abhor him. 25 But to them that rebuke him ſhall be delight, and a good bleſſing ſhall come upon them. 26 Every man ſhall kiſs his lips that giveth a right anſwer. 27 Prepare thy work without, and make it fit for thyſelf in the field; and afterwards build thine houſe. 28 Be not a witneſs againſt thy neighbour without cauſe: and deceive not with thy lips. 29 Say not, I will do ſo to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work. 30 I went by the field of the ſlothful, and by the vineyard of the man void of underſtanding: 31 And lo, it was all grown over with thorns, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the ſtone-wall thereof was broken down. 32 Then I ſaw, and conſidered it well: I looked upon it, and received inſtruction. 33 Yet a little ſleep, a little ſlumber, a little folding of the hands to ſleep. 34 So ſhall thy poverty come, as one that travelleth; and thy want as an armed man.

My Son, fear thou the Lord, and the King; and meddle not with them that are given to change] 'This 'Sentence, ſaith Melanæthon, is to be reckoned among 'the principal in this Book; commanding Obedience, 'and directing the Order of it.' For, firſt he commands us to obey God, and then the King; whoſe Office it is to ſee the Laws of God obſerved by his Subjects; and to make ſuch Laws as are not repugnant to God's Laws; and to puniſh the contumacious; and to pronounce all Sentences according to the Laws, &c. And in dubious Caſes, their Decrees ought to prevail not only becauſe there is a probable Reaſon on their Side, but becauſe of the Authority given from above unto Magiſtrates, whom God would have us in civil Affairs, tho' dubious before, to obey. And becauſe ſometimes more mild and gentle, ſometimes leſs kind, he would have us alſo to bear, onera duriora, heavier Burdens, if they be tolerable, and Obedience be not a Sin. For he threatens here a ſevere Vengeance to thoſe that are ſeditious; for ſo ſignifies the Word Selonim, which the Chaldee tranſlates Fools (Changelings in our Language) for they are no better, who invert and change this Order (as ſome underſtand the Word) either by advancing the Will of the Prince above all Law, without any Regard to what God himſelf hath enacted; or pretending Religion and the Fear of the Lord, for Rebellion againſt the King, who ordains nothing againſt God's Law.

For their Calamity ſhall riſe ſuddenly, and who knoweth the Ruin of them both?] Thus paraphraſed by Patrick: For an unexpected and dreadful Calamity ſhall unavoidably and violently ſeize on them: But when, or how either God or the King will puniſh them, none can tell, or what terrible Vengeance they will take, both upon thoſe that move Rebellion, and thoſe that aſſociate with them.

CHAP. XXV.

Obſervations about Kings. A Caution againſt Contentions; againſt revealing of Secrets, and the Reaſon of this Caution. Divers other Rules.

Ver. 1. THeſe are alſo proverbs of Solomon, which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied out. 2 It is the glory of God to conceal a thing: but the honour of kings is to ſearch out a matter. 3 The heaven for height, and the earth for depth, and the heart of kings is unſearchable. 4 Take away the droſs from the ſilver, and there ſhall come forth a veſſel for the finer. 5 Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed in righteouſneſs. 6 Put not forth thyſelf in the preſence of the king, and ſtand not in the place of great men. 7 For better it is that it be ſaid unto thee, Come up hither: than that thou ſhouldeſt be put lower in the preſence of the prince whom thine eyes have ſeen. 8 Go not forth haſtily to ſtrive, leſt thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to ſhame. 9 Debate thy cauſe with thy neighbour himſelf; and diſcover not a ſecret to another: 10 Leſt he that heareth it, put thee to ſhame, and thine infamy turn not away. 11 A word fitly ſpoken is like apples of gold in pictures of ſilver. 12 As an earing of gold, and an ornament of fine gold, ſo is a wiſe reprover upon an obedient ear. 13 As the cold of ſnow in the time of harveſt, ſo is a faithful meſſenger to them that ſend him: for he refreſheth the ſoul of his maſters. 14 Whoſo boaſteth himſelf of a falſe gift, is like clouds and wind without rain. 15 By long forbearing is a prince perſuaded, and a ſoft tongue breaketh the bone. 16 Haſt thou found honey? eat ſo much as is ſufficient for thee, leſt thou be filled therewith, and vomit it. 17 Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbours houſe: leſt he be weary of thee, and ſo hate thee. 18 A man that beareth falſe witneſs againſt his neighbour, is a maul, and a ſword, and a ſharp arrow. 19 Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a foot out of joint. 20 As he that taketh away a garment in cold weather, and as vinegar upon nitre: ſo is he that ſingeth ſongs to an heavy heart. 21 If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat: and if he be thirſty, give him water to drink: 22 For thou ſhalt heap coals of fire upon his head, and the Lord ſhall reward thee. 23 The north wind driveth away rain: ſo doth an angry countenance a back-biting tongue. 24 It is better to dwell in a corner of the houſetop, than with a brawling woman and in a wide houſe. 25 As cold waters to a thirſty ſoul: ſo is good news from a far country. 26 A righteous man falling down before the wicked, is as a troubled fountain, and a corrupt ſpring. 27 It is not good to eat much honey: ſo for men to ſearch their own glory, is not glory. 28 He that hath no rule over his own ſpirit, is like a city that is broken down, and without walls.

Theſe are alſo Proverbs of Solomon, which the Men of Hezekiah, King of Judah, copied out] Here begins the third Part of the Book of Proverbs; which are a Collection made by ſome belonging to Hezekiah: But who the Perſons were whom he employed in tranſcribing theſe Proverbs out of the antient Records, is uncertain. Some of the Hebrews ſay, Shebna the Scribe, and his Officers or Clerks that were under the principal Secretary. Others add Eliakim and Joab (who are joined together in 2 Kings xviii. 26, 37.) Others fancy them to have been Iſaiah (a Perſon of great Quality, near of kin to the King, and very familiar with him) together with Hoſea and Michah; who all lived in the Days of Hezekiah, and might poſſibly undertake this excellent Work; in which they inſert ſome Things, which are to be found in the foregoing Part of this Book, in Words but little different, as Ver. 24. of this Chapter, and Ch. xxvi. 13, 15, 22. and other Places.

It is the Glory of God to conceal a Thing; but the Honour of Kings is to ſearch out a Matter] In which Sentence, ſaith Lord Bacon, Solomon challenges nothing to himſelf, but only the Honour of the Inquiſition and Invention of Truth; which it is the Glory of God to conceal, and the Glory of a King to find out. As if the Divine Majeſty took Delight to hide his Works, to the end to have them found out; and as if Kings could not have greater Honour (or Pleaſure, or Recreation rather) than to employ themſelves in that Buſineſs; conſidering the great Command they have of Wit, and Means, whereby the Veſtigation of all Things may be effected.

CHAP. XXVI.

Rules for behaving towards Fools. The Slothful. The Contentious, Buſy-body, and Tale-bearer. The Evil of Hypocriſy and Lying.

Ver. 1. AS ſnow in ſummer, and as rain in harveſt; ſo honour is not ſeemly for a fool. 2 As the bird by wandring, as the ſwallow by flying, ſo the curſe cauſeleſs ſhall not come. 3 A whip for the horſe, a bridle for the aſs, and a rod for the fools back. 4 Anſwer not a fool according to his folly, leſt thou alſo be like unto him. 5 Anſwer a fool according to his folly, leſt he be wiſe in his own conceit. 6 He that ſendeth a meſſage by the hand of a fool, cutteth off the feet, and drinketh damage. 7 The legs of the lame are not equal: ſo is a parable in the mouth of fools. 8 As he that bindeth a ſtone in a ſling: ſo is he that giveth honour to a fool. 9 As a thorn goeth up into the hand of a drunkard, ſo is a parable in the mouth of fools. 10 The great God that formed all things, both rewardeth the fool, and rewardeth tranſgreſſors. 11 As a dog returneth to his vomit; ſo a fool returneth to his folly. 12 Seeſt thou a man wiſe in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him. 13 The ſlothful man ſaith, There is a lion in the way, a lion is in the ſtreets. 14 As the door turneth upon his hinges, do doth the ſlothful upon his bed. 15 The ſlothful hideth his hand in his boſom, it grieveth him to bring it again to his mouth. 16 The ſluggard is wiſer in his own conceit, than ſeven men that can render a reaſon. 17 He that paſſeth by and medleth with ſtrife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears. 18 As a mad man who caſteth fire-brands, arrows, and death: 19 So is the man that deceiveth his neighbour, and ſaith, Am not I in ſport? 20 Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out: ſo where there is no tale-bearer, the ſtrife ceaſeth. 21 As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; ſo is a contentious man to kindle ſtrife. 22 The words of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermoſt parts of the belly. 23 Burning lips, and a wicked heart, are like a potſherd covered with ſilver droſs. 24 He that hateth, diſſembleth with his lips, and layeth up deceit within him. 25 When he ſpeaketh fair, believe him not: for there are ſeven abominations in his heart. 26 Whoſe hatred is covered by deceit, his wickedneſs ſhall be ſhewed before the whole congregation. 27 Whoſo diggeth a pit, ſhall fall therein: and he that rolleth a ſtone, it will return upon him. 28 A lying tongue hateth thoſe that are afflicted by it, and a flattering mouth worketh ruin.

This Chapter begins with a tacit Admonition to Kings, to be very careful in diſpoſing Preferments only to worthy Perſons. For bad Men are made worſe by them; and they do as much Hurt to others, by the Abuſe of their Power, to the diſcouraging of Virtue, and promoting Vice, as Snow or Hail doth to the Fruits of the Earth, when they are ripe or ready to be gathered. So that we may make this Aphoriſm out of Solomon's Words, that the blending of Summer and Winter would not cauſe a greater Diſorder in the natural World, than the Diſpoſal of Honour to bad Men (and conſequently throwing Contempt upon the Good) doth in the World moral; where wicked Men when they are in Power, if they can do no more, will at leaſt pronounce Anathemas againſt thoſe that do not deſerve it.

As the Bird by wandring, as the Swallow by flying, ſo the Curſe cauſeleſs ſhall not come] The Hebrew Words zippor and deror, here tranſlated Bird and Swallow, Patrick tranſlates a Sparrow and a wild Pigeon (ſee Pſ. lxxxiv. 3.) For deror ſignifying here a particular Bird, and in all Likelihood zippor doth ſo too; and then all agree it ſignifies a Sparrow, and the other (as Bochart has proved) doth (not a Swallow but) a Ringdove, or Turtle, or ſome of that Kind, which are famous for Swiftneſs or Strength of Flight. And the Meaning of this Verſe is, that Curſes, which fly out of Mens Mouth cauſeleſly, ſhall no more alight where they would have them, than a Sparrow which wanders uncertainly, or a Dove which flies away ſwiftly, will ſettle according to their Direction: Or thus, Such Curſes fly as ſwiftly as thoſe Birds (whoſe Propriety it is to wander and fly up and down) over the Head of him againſt whom they are directed, and never touch him.

CHAP. XXVII.

Counſel againſt Self-conceitedneſs. The bad Effects of Envy. The Praiſes of a faithful Friend. The different Fruits of Prudence and Folly. Sundry Rules and Cautions.

Ver. 1. BOaſt not thyſelf of to morrow; for thou knoweſt not what a day may bring forth. 2 Let another man praiſe thee, and not thine own mouth; a ſtranger, and not thine own lips. 3 A ſtone is heavy, and the ſand weighty: but a fools wrath is heavier than them both. 4 Wrath is cruel, and anger is outragious; but who is able to ſtand before envy? 5 Open rebuke is better than ſecret love. 6 Faithful are the wounds of a friend: but the kiſſes of an enemy are deceitful. 7 The full ſoul lotheth an honey-comb; but to the hungry ſoul every bitter thing is ſweet. 8 As a bird that wandreth from her neſt: ſo is a man that wandreth from his place. 9 Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart: ſo doth the ſweetneſs of a mans friend by hearty counſel. 10 Thine own friend and thy fathers friend forſake not; neither go into thy brothers houſe in the day of thy calamity: for better is a neighbour that is near, than a brother far off. 11 My ſon, be wiſe, and make my heart glad, that I may anſwer him that reproacheth me. 12 A prudent man foreſeeth the evil, and hideth himſelf; but the ſimple paſs on, and are puniſhed. 13 Take his garment that is ſurety for a ſtranger, and take a pledge of him for a ſtrange woman. 14 He that bleſſeth his friend with a loud voice, riſing early in the morning: it ſhall be counted a curſe to him. 15 A continual dropping in a very rainy day, and a contentious woman are alike. 16 Whoſoever hideth her, hideth the wind, and the ointment of his right hand which bewrayeth itſelf. 17 Iron ſharpeneth iron, ſo a man ſharpeneth the countenance of his friend. 18 Whoſo keepeth the fig-tree, ſhall eat the fruit thereof: ſo he that waiteth on his maſter ſhall be honoured. 19 As in water face anſwereth to face: ſo the heart of man to man. 20 Hell and deſtruction are never full, ſo the eyes of man are never ſatisfied. 21 As the fining pot for ſilver, and the furnace for gold; ſo is a man to his praiſe. 22 Though thou ſhouldeſt bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a peſtil, yet will not his fooliſhneſs depart from him. 23 Be thou diligent to know the ſtate of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds. 24 For riches are not for ever: and doth the crown endure to every generation? 25 The hay appeareth, and the tender graſs ſheweth itſelf, and herbs of the mountains are gathered. 26 The lambs are for thy cloathing, and the goats are the price of the field. 27 And thou ſhalt have goats milk enough for thy food, for the food of thy houſhold, and for maintenance for thy maidens.

As in Water Face anſwereth to Face; ſo the Heart of Man to Man] This Verſe is underſtood ſo variouſly by Interpreters, that it is a Labour to number their Expoſitions, ſome of which are directly contrary to the other. For according as they take the Face to be repreſented in Water, either perfectly, or ſo lubricouſly and moveably, that it is hard to diſcern what Sort of Face it is; ſo they make it either eaſy, or impoſſible, to underſtand the Hearts of other Men. Melanethon took it in the latter Senſe; but ſome expound it of Mens own Hearts, and ſome, of the Hearts of other Men. Caſtalio applies it to a Man's Self in this Manner: 'As 'a Man may know what Kind of Face he hath, if he 'look into the Water; ſo he may know what Kind 'of Man he is, if he will examine his Conſcience.' And this of Maldonate, who ſeems to be alone in his Expoſition, which is this, as a Man's Face may be ſeen in the Water; ſo his Heart, or his inward Affections may be ſeen in his Countenance. The Lord Bacon takes the End of this Parable to be, to diſtinguiſh between the End of wiſe Men, and of thoſe that are not wiſe; comparing the former to Waters, or Glaſſes, which receive and repreſent the Forms and Images of Things; whereas the other are like to Earth, or rude and unpoliſhed Stone wherein nothing is reflected. And the Mind of a wiſe Man (which is ſo capable, that it obſerves and comprehends an infinite Diverſity of Natures and Cuſtoms) is the more aptly compared to a Glaſs or Mirrour; becauſe in a Glaſs he can ſee his own Image, together with the Images of other Men; which his Eyes cannot do alone without the Help of a Glaſs.

So that this Parable may not be unfitly expounded after this Manner: A Man may ſee himſelf, while he looks upon other Men; as well as know other Men by conſidering his own Inclinations.

CHAP. XXVIII.

A Character of the Righteous and Wicked. The Evil of concealing, and Bleſſedneſs of confeſſing Sin. Of Oppreſſion and Violence, Induſtry and Faithfulneſs, &c.

Ver. 1. THE wicked flee when no man purſueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion. 2 For the tranſgreſſion of a land, many are the princes thereof: but by a man of underſtanding and knowledge the ſtate thereof ſhall be prolonged. 3 A poor man that oppreſſeth the poor, is like a ſweeping rain which leaveth no food. 4 They that forſake the law, praiſe the wicked: but ſuch as keep the law, contend with them. 5 Evil men underſtand not judgment: but they that ſeek the Lord, underſtand all things. 6 Better is the poor that walketh in his uprightneſs, than he that is perverſe in his ways, though he be rich. 7 Whoſo keepeth the law, is a wiſe ſon: but he that is a companion of riotous men ſhameth his father. 8 He that by uſury and unjuſt gain encreaſeth his ſubſtance, he ſhall gather it for him that will pity the poor. 9 He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer ſhall be abomination. 10 Whoſo cauſeth the righteous to go aſtray in an evil way, he ſhall fall himſelf into his own pit: but the upright ſhall have good things in poſſeſſion. 11 The rich man is wiſe in his own conceit: but the poor that hath underſtanding ſearcheth him out. 12 When righteous men do rejoice, there is great glory: but when the wicked riſe, a man is hidden. 13 He that covereth his ſins, ſhall not proſper: but whoſo confeſſeth and forſaketh them ſhall have mercy. 14 Happy is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart ſhall fall into miſchief. 15 As a roaring lion, and a ranging bear: so is a wicked ruler over the poor people. 16 The prince that wanteth understanding, is also a great oppressor: but he that hateth covetousness, shall prolong his days. 17 A man that doth violence to the blood of any person, shall flee to the pit, let no man stay him. 18 Whoso walketh uprightly, shall be saved: but he that is perverse in his ways, shall fall at once. 19 He that tilleth his land, shall have plenty of bread: but he that followeth after vain persons, shall have poverty enough. 20 A faithful man shall abound with blessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent. 21 To have respect of persons, is not good: for, for a piece of bread that man will transgress. 22 He that hasteth to be rich, hath an evil eye, and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him. 23 He that rebuketh a man, afterwards shall find more favour than he that flattereth with the tongue. 24 Whoso robbeth his father or his mother, and saith, It is no transgression; the same is the companion of a destroyer. 25 He that is of a proud heart stirreth up strife: but he that putteth his trust in the Lord, shall be made fat. 26 He that trusteth in his own heart, is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered. 27 He that giveth unto the poor, shall not lack: but he that hideth his eyes, shall have many a curse. 28 When the wicked rise, men hide themselves: but when they perish the righteous increase.

A poor Man that oppresseth the Poor, is like a sweeping Rain which leaveth no Food] There is no greater Mischief can happen, than when Power comes into the Hands of a beggarly Fellow; who is void of all Humanity, and forgets even what he himself was, and all the Miseries of Poverty; which he perpetuates upon them who are poor already. So Maldonate expounds that Phrase, veen lechem, and there is no Food, to signify, before the Corn be grown out of the Earth; and by the sweeping Rain, understands, not such Rain as beats out the Corn when it is in the Ear; but which washes away the Seed before it spring up. Even so, he that spoils the Poor, takes away from them, after a Manner, what they have not; and extirpates the very Seeds of future Riches, which he deprives him of all Means of gathering. Upon which Subject the Lord Bacon discourses very ingeniously in his 8th Book of the Advancement of Learning. This Parable, saith he, was by the Antients expressed and shadowed forth under the Fable of two Horse-leeches; one full, and the other hungry. For Oppression, coming from the poor and necessitous Person, is far more grievous than that of the rich and full; because it seeks out all Tricks for Exactions, and leaves no Corner unsearched where Money may be found. This Kind of Oppression was wont also to be resembled to Spunges; which being very dry, suck in strongly; but not so, being moist. And the Parable comprehends in it a profitable Instruction, both to Princes and People. To Princes, that they commit not the Government of Provinces, or Offices of Charge, to indigent and indebted Persons: And to the People, that they suffer not their Kings to struggle with too much Want.

CHAP. XXIX.

The Excellency of Wisdom, with Rules for Government. Parents Duty to their Children. The Misery of them that know not God's Law. Of Anger, Pride, Thieving, Cowardice, and Corruption. The Godly and Wicked an Abomination to each other.

Ver. 1. HE that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy. 2 When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn. 3 Whoso loveth wisdom, rejoiceth his father: but he that keepeth company with harlots, spendeth his substance. 4 The king by judgment stablisheth the land: but he that receiveth gifts overthroweth it. 5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his feet. 6 In the transgression of an evil man there is a snare: but the righteous doth sing and rejoice. 7 The righteous considereth the cause of the poor: but the wicked regardeth not to know it. 8 Scornful men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turn away wrath. 9 If a wise man contendeth with a foolish man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no rest. 10 The blood-thirsty hate the upright: but the just seek his soul. 11 A fool uttereth all his mind: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterwards. 12 If a ruler hearken to lies, all his servants are wicked. 13 The poor, and the deceitful man meet together: the Lord lighteneth both their eyes. 14 The king that faithfully judgeth the poor, his throne shall be established for ever. 15 The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself, bringeth his mother to shame. 16 When the wicked are multiplied, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall. 17 Correct thy son, and he shall give thee rest: yea, he shall give delight unto thy soul. 18 Where there is no vision, the people perish: but he that keepeth the law happy is he. 19 A servant will not be corrected by words: for though he understand he will not answer. 20 Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words? there is more hope of a fool, than of him. 21 He that delicately bringeth up his servant from a child, shall have him become his son at the length. 22 An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression. 23 A mans pride shall bring him low: but honour shall uphold the humble in spirit. 24 Whoso is partner with a thief, hateth his own soul: he heareth cursing, and bewrayeth it not. 25 The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the Lord, shall be safe. 26 Many seek the rulers favour, but every mans judgment cometh from the Lord. 27 An unjust man is an abomination to the just: and he that is upright in the way, is abomination to the wicked.

Scornful Men bring a City into a Snare; but wise Men turn away Wrath] Upon which Lord Bacon has the following Discourse. 'It may seem strange, saith 'he, that in the Description of Men, made and framed, 'as it were by Nature to the Ruin and Destruction of 'a State, Solomon hath chosen the Character, not of a 'proud and insolent Man, not of a tyrannical and 'cruel, not of a rash and violent, not of an impious 'and lewd, not of an unjust and oppressive, not of a 'seditious and turbulent, not of an incontinent and voluptuous, no, nor of a foolish and unable Person; but 'of a SCORNER. But this is a Judgment most worthy the Wisdom of that great King, who best knew 'the Causes of the Preservation or Subversion of a 'State. For there is not commonly the like Plague 'to Kingdoms and Commonwealths, as when Counsellors, or Senators, and such as sit at the Helm of 'Government, are by Nature Scorners. For, first, such,

'such Persons that they may win the Reputation of 'undaunted Statesmen, do ever extenuate the Great-'ness of Dangers; and insult over those that give them 'their just Weight, as timorous and faint-hearted 'People. Secondly, they scoff at all mature Delays 'and meditated Debatings of Matters by Consultations 'and Deliberation, as a Thing too much tasting of an 'oratory Vein, and full of Tediousness; but nothing 'conducing to the Sum and Issue of Business. As for 'Fame (thirdly) at which a Prince's Counsels should 'especially level, they contemn it as the Spittle of the 'Vulgar, and a Thing that will quickly be blown 'over. The Power and Authority of Laws (fourthly) 'they regard not at all; but look upon them as Cob-'webs, that ought not to stop Matters of Consequence. 'Fifthly, Counsels, and Precautions, foreseeing of 'Events afar off, they reject as mere Dreams and me-'lancholy Apprehensions. Sixthly, Men truly prudent, 'and well seen in Affairs, of great Resolution and Coun-'sel, they defame with Gibes and Jests. In a Word, 'they do at once overturn all the Foundations of Ci-'vil Government; which is the more to be attended, 'because they secretly undermine it, and do not as-'sault it by open Force. And it is a Practice which 'is not yet so suspected among Men as it deserves.'

If a wise Man contendeth with a foolish Man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no Rest] Some, says Patrick, refer the latter End of this Verse to the Fool, others to the wise Man. They that refer it to the Fool, understand it two Ways, much to the same Purpose. Some thus; the Fool will always be angry, or deride, so that the wise Man cannot put in a Word. Others thus; the wise Man shall be either irritated, or derided by the Fool perpetually. As much as to say, he shall get nothing, if he contend with a Fool, but either to be derided, or provoked to anger by him. But the first Sense seems to be principally intended.

CHAP. XXX.

Agur's Prophecy. Divers Observations upon particular Things.

Ver. 1. THE words of Agur the son of Jakeh, even the prophecy: the man spake unto Ithiel, even unto Ithiel and Ucal. 2 Surely I am more brutish than any man, and have not the understanding of a man. 3 I neither learned wisdom, nor have the knowledge of the holy. 4 Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fists? who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath established all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his sons name, if thou canst tell? 5 Every word of God is pure: he is a shield unto them that put their trust in him. 6 Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar. 7 Two things have I required of thee, deny me them not before I die. 8 Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty, nor riches, feed me with food convenient for me: 9 Lest I be full, and deny thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain. 10 Accuse not a servant unto his master, lest he curse thee, and thou be found guilty. 11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doth not bless their mother. 12 There is a generation, that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness. 13 There is a generation, O how lofty are their eyes! and their eyelids are lifted up. 14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swords, and their jaw-teeth as knives, to devour the poor from off the earth, and the needy from among men. 15 The horse-leach hath two daughters, crying, Give, give. There are three things that are never satisfied, yea, four things say not, It is enough. 16 The grave, and the barren womb, the earth that is not filled with water, and the fire that saith not, It is enough. 17 The eye that mocketh at his father, and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it. 18 There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not: 19 The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a serpent upon a rock, the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid. 20 Such is the way of an adulterous woman; she eateth, and wipeth her mouth, and saith, I have done no wickedness. 21 For three things the earth is disquieted, and for four which it cannot bear: 22 For a servant when he reigneth, and a fool when he is filled with meat, 23 For an odious woman when she is married, and an hand-maid that is heir to her mistress. 24 There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wise: 25 The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer; 26 The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the rocks; 27 The locusts have no king, yet go they forth all of them by bands; 28 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings palaces. 29 There be three things which go well, yea, four are comely in going: 30 A lion which is strongest among beast, and turneth not away for any. 31 A grey-hound, and he-goat also, and a king against whom there is no rising up. 32 If thou hast done foolishly in lifting up thyself, or if thou hast thought evil, lay thine hand upon thy mouth. 33 Surely the churning of milk bringeth forth butter, and the wringing of the nose bringeth forth blood: so the forcing of wrath bringeth forth strife.

This Chapter, says Patrick, contains a new Collection of pithy Sayings, which some fancy to be Solomon's; and therefore translate the two first Words, thus, the Words of the Collector, or Gatherer. But why Solomon should call himself by this Name, and also, instead of the Son of David, stile himself the Son of Jakeh, seems to me unaccountable. And therefore it is most reasonable to follow our Translation, as most literal; and to look upon this Chapter as a Fragment of some wise Sentences, delivered by one whose Name was Agur, and his Father's Name Jakeh; unless we will conceive that this Son of Jakeh (whosoever he was) had gotten the Name of Collector; because, tho' he was a very wise Man, yet he composed nothing himself; but only gathered out of other Men's Works, such Instructions as he thought most profitable, and comprized, in a few Words, a great deal of Sense.

Which Conjecture if it be admitted, nothing can better explain his disclaiming the Title of a wise Man, Ver. 2. which he would not assume to himself, because he was only a Collector from other Authors, and did not pretend to have discovered or invented any Thing himself.

But take it how we will, some of his Observations are here annexed to the Proverbs of Solomon, after the Manner of other Writings of this Nature: In which (as Melancthon observes) the greater Part of a Book belonging to one Author, some notable Speeches of others have been inserted; as some of the Sybilline Verses, they say, were in the Poem of Phocyllides.

And these Words of Agur are called Massa, which we translate Prophecy, either to denote the Weightiof the Sentences, or that they were culled and selected out of some Work of his, then remaining in their Records, as fit (in the Judgment of the Men of Hezekiah, who perhaps extracted them) to accompany the Proverbs of Solomon. And they seem to me to be Answers to several Questions propounded to him by his Scholars, Ithiel (who was the principal) and Ucal, who came to him, as if he had been an Oracle, to be resolved in some hard Doubts: Asking him, in the first Place, just as they did Apollo of old (as Aben Ezra conjectures) who was the wisest Man? To which he replies, Ver. 2. He that is sensible of his own Ignorance; much like the Saying of Socrates, This only I know, that I know nothing; and of Pythagoras, who also refused the Name of Wise; which made much for the Reputation of his Wisdom.

CHAP. XXXI.

Ver. 1. THE words of king Lemuel, the prophecy that his mother taught him. 2 What, my son! and what, the son of my womb! and what, the son of my vows! 3 Give not thy strength unto women, nor thy ways to that which destroyeth kings. 4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes, strong drink. 5 Lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted. 6 Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine to those that be of heavy hearts. 7 Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more. 8 Open thy mouth for the dumb in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction. 9 Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy. 10 Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies. 11 The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of spoil. 12 She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life. 13 She seeketh wool, and flax, and worketh willingly with her hands. 14 She is like the merchants ships, she bringeth her food from afar. 15 She riseth also while it is yet night, and giveth meat to her household, and a portion to her maidens. 16 She considereth a field and buyeth it: with the fruit of her hands she planteth a vineyard. 17 She girdeth her loins with strength, and strengtheneth her arms. 18 She perceiveth that her merchandise is good: her candle goeth not out by night. 19 She layeth her hand to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaff. 20 She stretcheth out her hands to the poor; yea, she reacheth forth her hands to the needy. 21 She is not afraid of the snow for her household: for all her household are clothed with scarlet. 22 She maketh herself coverings of tapestry, her clothing is silk and purple. 23 Her husband is known in the gates, when he sitteth among the elders of the land. 24 She maketh fine linen, and selleth it, and delivereth girdles unto the merchant. 25 Strength and honour are her clothing, and she shall rejoice in time to come. 26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness. 27 She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. 28 Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her: 29 Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all. 30 Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. 31 Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates.

The Words of King Lemuel, the Prophecy that his Mother taught him] King Lemuel, says Pool, was Solomon, by the general Consent both of Jewish and Christian Writers, to whom this Name doth very fitly agree; for it signifies one of, or from God, or belonging to God, and such an one was Solomon eminently, being given by God to David and Bathsheba, as a Pledge of his Reconciliation to them, after their Repentance; of whom it is said, that the Lord loved him, 2 Sam. xii. 24. and who was appointed by God himself to succeed David in the Kingdom. Possibly his Mother gave him this Name, to remind him of his great Obligations to God, and of the Justice and Necessity of devoting himself unto God's Service and Glory.

But Patrick says, that all this is mere Conjecture; and that it is more reasonable to conceive, that this Lemuel was a Prince in some other Country, who had gathered some weighty Sentences taught him by his Mother, (whose Name is unknown) which it was thought fit to adjoin to the foregoing; because they are very wise, and of great Moment; as if they proceeded from a prophetical Spirit. And it is only the Vanity of the Jewish Nation, who would inclose Wisdom within the Bounds of their own Country, which hath made them ascribe that which follows in this Chapter to Solomon and Bathsheba; for which there is no Colour: But it appears by the History of the Queen of Sheba, and the Embassies which came from the Kings thereabouts, who sent to hear the Wisdom of Solomon, (1 Kings iv. ult.) that there were even in those Times, great Persons very inquisitive after Knowledge, as there had been, in the Times foregoing, in those Eastern Countries, and in Egypt, which was famous for wise Men, 1 Kings iv. 30. where we read of the Wisdom of the Children of the East (i. e. Arabia, where Job, a considerable Prince, and the rest of his Friends, lived in former Ages) and the Wisdom of Egypt. Of which Country some have thought those famous Men to have been, who are mentioned in the next Words, Ver. 31. where this Demonstration is given, that Solomon's Wisdom excelled the Wisdom of all those Countries; for he was wiser than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, &c.

By the Use of the Word bar three Times for a Son, in the Beginning of this Instruction (which is no where used in this Book before, nor in the whole Bible more than once, Ps. ii. 12.) one would guess this Lemuel to have been some great Person in Chaldea. For in the next Verse also (Ver. 4.) we meet with the Word Melachin Kings, according to the Termination in the Language of that Country.

But this is all uncertain; and therefore I shall only note, that whosoever was the Mother of Lemuel, she was mighty solicitous to have him to do well; as appears by Ver. 2. which some think to be a passionate Expression, when she saw him begin to incline to evil Courses; as if she had said; What dost thou mean my Son, &c. But it is more likely, that it proceeded from a tender Concern for his Well-doing, as soon as ever he grew up, whilst he was yet innocent and untainted. And that he might so continue, she gives him three, or rather four of the most proper Advices that could be thought of for a Prince.

A N

AN EXPOSITION OF The Book of ECCLESIASTES, or the PREACHER.

The ARGUMENT.

Three Things in general are to be noted concerning this Book. 1. The Author of it; who was Solomo as is evident from the common Conſent of Jewiſh and Chriſtian Writers, and from the expreſs Wo of the firſt Verſe. Nor can any Thing be oppoſed to it but bold and groundleſs Conjectures. That wrote it in his old Age, is more than probable from divers Paſſages in it, as, that he did it after Buildings, Ch. ii. 4. which yet took up twenty Years of his Life, 1 Kings ix. 10. and after ſome c ſiderable Enjoyment of them; and planting of Gardens and Orchards, and reaping the Fruit of th Ch. vii. 27. &c. He wrote this Book therefore as a publick Teſtimony of his Repentance, and D teſtation of all thoſe vain and wicked Courſes, to which, in his Youth, he had addicted himſelf; f lowing therein the Example of his Father David, who, after his ſad Fall, penned the 51ſt Pſal And the Truth of this Opinion may be confirmed by that Expreſſion, 2 Chron. xi. 17. They walked the Way of David and Solomon; that is, wherein they walked before their Fall, and after th Repentance.

The 2d Thing to be noted in this Book, is, the Form or Method of it. For, as there are ſome Paſſa in it ſeemingly offenſive and impious, for which its Authority has been ſuſpected by ſome, it muſt be co dered, that it is, in Part, Dramatical; that Solomon ſpeaks ſome, and moſt Things in his own Na but ſome other Things in the Names, and according to the Opinions of thoſe ungodly Men, as is un niably manifeſt both from the Scope and Deſign of the Book, as it is expreſſed both in the Beginning a Concluſion of it, and from his ſerious and large Diſputation againſt thoſe wicked Principles and Cour And this Way of Writing is not unuſual amongſt both ſacred and prophane Writers.

The third Thing obſervable in this Book, is, the Deſign and Buſineſs of it; which is, to deſcribe Ma true Happineſs, and the Way leading to it; by aſſerting and proving, that it is not to be found eit in ſecular Wiſdom, or in ſenſual Pleaſures, in worldly Greatneſs and Glory, in Abundance of Rich or in a vain Profeſſion of Religion; ſhewing alſo that it is only to be had by the Fear of God and O dience to his Laws, which alone can give a Man a contented and chearful Enjoyment of his pre Comforts, and Aſſurance of his future and everlaſting Happineſs.

CHAP. I.

All is Vanity, and our Labour unprofitable. All Things in a continual Fluctuation. Nothing in Nature ſatisfied. Nothing new; old Things are forgot. Wiſdom a vain Labour. All this the Preacher found out by Experience.

Ver. 1. THE words of the preacher, the ſon of David, king of Jeruſalem. 2 Vanity of vanities, ſaith the preacher, vanity of vanities, all is vanity. 3 What profit hath a man of all his labour which he taketh under the ſun? 4 One generation paſſeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever. 5 The ſun alſo ariſeth, and the ſun goeth down, and haſteth to his place where he aroſe 6 The wind goeth toward the ſouth, and turneth about unto the north; it whirleth about continually, and the wind returneth again according to his circuits. 7 All the rivers run into the ſea, yet the ſea is not full: unto the place fr whence the rivers come, thither they return ag 8 All things are full of labour, man cannot ut it: the eye is not ſatisfied with ſeeing, nor ear filled with hearing. 9 The thing that h been, it is that which ſhall be; and that whic done, is that which ſhall be done: and there no new thing under the ſun. 10 Is there thing whereof it may be ſaid, See, this is ne it hath been already of old time, which was fore us. 11 There is no remembrance of for things; neither ſhall there be any remembra of things that are to come, with thoſe that ſ come after. 12 I the preacher was king ove rael in Jeruſalem. 13 And I gave my hear ſeek and ſearch out by wiſdom, concerning things that are done under heaven: this ſore vel hath God given to the ſons of man, to exerciſed therewith. 14 I have ſeen all works that are done under the ſun, and beh all is vanity and vexation of spirit. 15 That which is crooked cannot be made straight: and that which is wanting cannot be numbred. 16 I communed with mine own heart, saying, Lo, I am come to great estate, and have gotten more wisdom than all they that have been before me in Jerusalem: yea, my heart had great experience of wisdom and knowledge. 17 And I gave my heart to know wisdom, and to know madness and folly: I perceived that this also is vexation of spirit. 18 For in much wisdom is much grief: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

treasure of kings and of the provinces: I gat me men-singers and women-singers, and the delights of the sons of men, as musical instruments, and that of all sorts. 9 So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem; also my wisdom remained with me. 10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I kept not from them, I with-held not my heart from any joy: for my heart rejoyced in all my labour, and this was my portion of all my labour. 11 Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun. 12 And I turned myself to behold wisdom, and madness, and folly: for what can the man do, that cometh after the king? even that which hath been already done. 13 Then I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness. 14 The wise mans eyes are in his head, but the fool walketh in darkness: and I myself perceived also, that one event happeneth to them all. 15 Then said I in my heart, As it happeneth to the fool, so it happeneth even to me; and why was I then more wise? Then I said in my heart, that this also is vanity. 16 For there is no remembrance of the wise more than of the fool for ever: seeing that which now is, in the days to come shall all be forgotten: and how dieth the wise man? as the fool. 17 Therefore I hated life, because the work that is wrought under the sun, is grievous unto me: for all is vanity and vexation of spirit. 18 Yea, I hated all my labour which I had taken under the sun: because I should leave it unto the man that shall be after me. 19 And who knoweth whether he shall be a wise man or a fool? yet shall he have rule over all my labour wherein I have laboured, and wherein I have shewed myself wise under the sun. This is also vanity. 20 Therefore I went about to cause my heart to despair of all the labour which I took under the sun. 21 For there is a man whose labour is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and equity: yet to a man that hath not laboured therein, shall he leave it for his portion. This also is vanity, and a great evil. 22 For what hath man of all his labour, and of the vexation of his heart wherein he hath laboured under the sun? 23 For all his days are sorrows, and his travel grief; yea, his heart taketh not rest in the night. This is also vanity. 24 There is nothing better for a man, than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labour. This also I saw, that it was from the hand of God. 25 For who can eat, or who else can hasten hereunto more than I? 26 For God giveth to a man that is good in his sight, wisdom and knowledge, and joy: but to the sinner he giveth travel, to gather and to heap up, that he may give to him that is good before God. That also is vanity and vexation of spirit.

Then said I in my Heart, As it happeneth to the Fool, so it happeneth even to me; and why was I then more wise] Solomon represents here, how all Mankind, Wise and Fools, are alike liable to the same Casualties, and many Inconveniencies, which are common to every one of us in this Life. Which the Lord Bacon extends to such Considerations as these: 'That in all 'Times, Witches, and old Women, and Impostors, Vanity of Vanities, saith the Preacher, Vanity of Vanities, all is Vanity] This is the Subject of this Book, to shew how senseless it is to place our Happiness in these small and inconstant Things that we enjoy upon this Earth; which he not only pronounces, but proves to be mere Emptiness. So Vanity signifies, and that is consequent upon that, Dissatisfaction, Trouble, and Affliction. See Ps. lxxviii. 33. And this, beyond what can be expressed, for our Translators take it to be a Word of the same Import with Tohu; which is used in the Hebrew Language, when they would signify that of which they speak, to be so trivial, that it is below less than nothing, Isa. xl. 17. And yet Solomon is not contented with this single Word, but doubles it, to denote the extreme Dissatisfaction he found in all Things, which made a Shew of affording him Contentment; but performed nothing of that which they seemed to promise. So the Word Vanity is also used for that which is also false, lying and deceitful, Ps. lxii. 9. and other Places, where Idols are called Vanities.

Yea, my Heart had great Experience of Wisdom and Knowledge] The Difference between Wisdom and Knowledge is, That Wisdom directs a Man to the practical Affairs of Life, unto that which is most fit for his purpose, according to the various Circumstances where-in he may be. It consists chiefly in a clear Judgment, to discern our true Interest, and the proper Means to compose it; together with a Presence of Mind, to obviate sudden Accidents. And then Knowledge relates to the Speculation of natural Things; in their Causes and Effects, their Properties and Differences, and such like Things.

CHAP. II.

Pleasure and Mirth are Vanity; so are Wine, Buildings, Gardens, Servants, Silver, Gold, and Musick. The different Properties of Wisdom and Folly. Labouring for others, Vanity. Contentment is true Happiness.

1 I Said in mine heart, Go to now, I will prove thee with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure: and behold, this also is vanity. 2 I said of laughter, It is mad: and of mirth, What doeth it? 3 I sought in my heart to give myself unto wine (yet acquainting mine heart with wisdom) and to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was that good for the sons of men, which they should do under the heaven, all the days of their life. 4 I made me great works, I builded me houses, I planted me vineyards. 5 I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kind of fruits. 6 I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees. 7 I got me servants and maidens, and had servants born in my house; also I had great possessions of great and small cattel, above all that were in Jerusalem before me. 8 I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar Nay, the Impoſtor bears away the Prize, and 'Virtue lies under the Cenſure, ſuch is the Weakneſs 'and Credulity of Men, they prefer a Mountebank, 'or a Witch, before a learned Phyſician; which the 'Poets obſerved when they made Æſculapius and Circe, 'Brother and Siſter; both Children of the Sun. And 'what follows from hence, but that Phyſicians ſay to 'themſelves, as Solomon in another Caſe, It befals to 'me, as it doth to the Fool; why ſhould I labour to 'be more wiſe? It diſcourages them, that is, in their 'Profeſſion.'

CHAP. III.

Every Thing has its Time. God's Decrees eternal and unchangeable. Unjuſt Judgment. God the Judge of all.

Ver. 1. TO every thing there is a ſeaſon, and a time to every purpoſe under the heaven: 2 A time to be born, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted. 3 A time to kill, and a time to heal: a time to break down, and a time to build up: 4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh: a time to mourn, and a time to dance: 5 A time to caſt away ſtones, and a time to gather ſtones together: a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing: 6 A time to get, and a time to loſe: a time to keep, and a time to caſt away: 7 A time to rent, and a time to ſew: a time to keep ſilence, and a time to ſpeak: 8 A time to love, and a time to hate: a time of war, and a time of peace. 9 What profit hath he that worketh, in that wherein he laboureth? 10 I have ſeen the travel which God hath given to the ſons of men, to be exerciſed in it. 11 He hath made every thing beautiful in his time: alſo he hath ſet the world in their heart, ſo that no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end. 12 I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life. 13 And alſo that every man ſhould eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labour, it is the gift of God. 14 I know that whatſoever God doth, it ſhall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doth it; that men ſhould fear before him. 15 That which hath been, is now; and that which is to be, hath already been, and God requireth that which is paſt. 16 And moreover, I ſaw under the ſun the place of judgment, that wickedneſs was there; and the place of righteouſneſs, that iniquity was there. 17 I ſaid in mine heart, God ſhall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there, for every purpoſe, and for every work. 18 I ſaid in my heart concerning the eſtate of the ſons of men, that God might manifeſt them, and that they might ſee that they themſelves were beaſts. 19 For that which befalleth the ſons of men, befalleth beaſts, even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, ſo dieth the other, yea, they have all one breath, ſo that a man hath no pre-eminence above a beaſt: for all is vanity. 20 All go unto one place, all are of the duſt, and all turn to duſt again. 21 Who knoweth the ſpirit of man that goeth upward, and the ſpirit of the beaſt that goeth downward to the earth? 22 Wherefore I perceive that there is nothing better, than that a man ſhould rejoice in his own works; for that is his portion: for who ſhall bring him to ſee what ſhall be after him?

Who knoweth the Spirit of a Man that goeth upward, and the Spirit of the Beaſt that goeth downward to the Earth] Thus paraphraſed by Patrick: As for the Spirit, which makes all the Difference betwixt the Beaſts and us, that is inviſible; and where ſhall we find a Man, eſpecially among thoſe great Perſons (ſpoken of before) who ſeriouſly conſiders it? and believes that the Souls of all Mankind go to God that gave them (Ch. xii. 7.) to be judged by him (Ver. 17. of this Chapter) whereas the Souls of Beaſts periſh with them? No; herein they differ not at all from Beaſts, that having buried their Minds in brutiſh Pleaſures, they have no more Senſe of a future Life than they; but imagine that their Souls die together with their Bodies. So ſenſleſly ſtupid are they, that trample upon the reſt of Mankind; and yet have ſuch ignoble Thoughts of themſelves, that they imagine their very Souls are no longer liv'd than a Beaſt.

CHAP. IV.

The Vanity of Oppreſſion. Of Envy, Sloth, Quarrels, Covetouſneſs, and Selfiſhneſs; Society and Friendſhip. A poor Child better than a fooliſh King. The People always rejoice in Changes.

Ver. 1. SO I returned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions that are done under the ſun: and behold, the tears of ſuch as were oppreſſed, and they had no comforter; and on the ſide of their oppreſſors there was power, but they had no comforter. 2 Wherefore I praiſed the dead which are already dead, more than the living which are yet alive. 3 Yea, better is he than both they, which hath not yet been, who hath not ſeen the evil work that is done under the ſun. 4 Again I conſidered all travel, and every right work, that for this a man is envied of his neighbour. This is alſo vanity, and vexation of ſpirit. 5 The fool foldeth his hands together, and eateth his own fleſh. 6 Better is an handful with quietneſs, than both the hands full, with travel and vexation of ſpirit. 7 Then I returned, and I ſaw vanity under the ſun. 8 There is one alone, and there is not a ſecond; yea, he hath neither child nor brother: yet is there no end of all his labour, neither is his eye ſatisfied with riches, neither ſaith he, For whom do I labour, and bereave my ſoul of good? This is alſo vanity, yea, it is a ſore travel. 9 Two are better than one; becauſe they have a good reward for their labour. 10 For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but wo to him that is alone when he falleth; for he hath not another to help him up. 11 Again, if two lie together, then they have heat: but how can one be warm alone? 12 And if one prevail againſt him, two ſhall withſtand him; and a threefold cord is not quickly broken. 13 Better is a poor and a wiſe child, than an old and fooliſh king, who will no more be admoniſhed. 14 For out of priſon he cometh to reign: whereas alſo he that is born in his kingdom becometh poor. 15 I conſidered all the living which walk under the ſun, with the ſecond child that ſhall ſtand up in his ſtead. 16 There is no end of all the people, even of all that have been before them: they also that come after, shall not rejoice in him. Surely, this also is vanity, and vexation of spirit.

I consider'd all the Living which walk under the Sun, with the second Child that shall stand up in his stead] This Verse sets out the Vanity of the People, who are wont to press and flock about the designed Successors of Princes: 'The Root of which Vanity, saith the 'Lord Bacon, is that Frenzy in the Minds of Men, 'which inclines them, with too extreme an Affection, 'unto their own projected Hopes. For the Man is 'rarely found, that is not more delighted with the 'Contemplation of his future Hopes, than with the 'Fruition of what he possesseth. Another Thing is, 'that Novelty, which is pleasing to Man's Nature, 'and earnestly coveted. Now in the Successor to a 'Prince, (called here his second, he that is next to him) 'these two concur, Hope and Novelty; which make 'more Men (as Pompey said to Sylla, and Tiberius af-'terward, touching Macro) adore the rising than the 'setting Sun. And tho' Princes perhaps, who are in 'present Possession, be not much moved with this fond 'Humour, nor make any great Matter of it, (as nei-'ther Sylla nor Tiberius did) nay, they smile, it is 'possible, at the Levity of Men; and do not stand to 'fight with Dreams (for Hope is but the Dream of a 'Man awake) yet it cannot but inwardly vex them, 'to see themselves slighted, even by those on whom 'they have bestowed many Benefits, merely in Hope 'of receiving more from their next supposed Successor. 'For they cannot reasonably expect more, perhaps, 'from him that now reigns; and therefore they make 'timely Applications to the next Heir. He hath done 'enough for them; and therefore they betake them-'selves to him, who hath yet done nothing. And be-'sides, old Men grow tenacious, morose, and sour; 'whereas Youth is commonly liberal, jocund, without 'Care, and ambitious to do great Things; especially 'at his Entrance upon the Kingdom.'

There is nothing more needful for the Explication of this Verse, but only to observe, that the Child or Youth, who is here called the second, doth not suppose another Child or Youth that is first; but only signifies, that this Youth is second in the Kingdom. Not second, in respect to another Son, but second, in respect to his Father, who reigns before him, and when he dies, the Son succeeds him.

CHAP. V.

Vanities both in divine and moral Concerns. A contented Life is best, and in the Gift of God.

Ver. 1. KEEP thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools: for they consider not that they do evil. 2 Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few. 3 For a dream cometh through a multitude of business, and a fools voice is known by multitude of words. 4 When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed. 5 Better is it that thou shouldest not vow, than that thou shouldest vow and not pay. 6 Suffer not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sin, neither say thou before the angel, that it was an error: wherefore should God be angry at thy voice, and destroy the work of thine hands? 7 For in the multitude of dreams and many words, there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God. 8 If thou seest the oppression of the poor, and violent perverting of judgment and justice in a province, marvel not at the matter: for he that is higher than the highest, regardeth, and there be higher than they. 9 Moreover, the profit of the earth is for all: the king himself is served by the field. 10 He that loveth silver, shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance, with increase; this is also vanity. 11 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, saving the beholding of them with their eyes? 12 The sleep of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much: but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep. 13 There is a sore evil which I have seen under the sun, namely, riches kept for the owners thereof to their hurt. 14 But those riches perish by evil travel: and he begetteth a son, and there is nothing in his hand. 15 As he came forth of his mothers womb, naked shall he return to go as he came, and shall take nothing of his labour, which he may carry away in his hand. 16 And this also is a sore evil, that in all points as he came, so shall he go: and what profit hath he that hath laboured for the wind? 17 All his days also he eateth in darkness, and he hath much sorrow, and wrath with his sickness. 18 Behold that which I have seen: it is good and comely for one to eat and to drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labour that he taketh under the sun, all the days of his life, which God giveth him: for it is his portion. 19 Every man also to whom God hath given riches and wealth, and hath given him power to eat thereof, and to take his portion, and to rejoice in his labour; this is the gift of God. 20 For he shall not much remember the days of his life: because God answereth him in the joy of his heart.

Moreover the Profit of the Earth is for all; the King himself is served by the Field] This, says Patrick, is an obscure Verse, both in its Connection, and some of its Phrases; and therefore is diversly expounded by Interpreters. The last Clause which we render, the King is served by the Field, may more literally be translated, the King is a Servant, (or is addicted) to the Field. For antiently the greatest Persons did not think it below them to follow Husbandry (whose just Praises Cicero hath given in his Offices, but especially in his Book de Senectute) as we are taught by the Examples of Hiero, Philometer, Attalus, Archelaus, Cyrus the younger, in profane Story; and by the Example of King Uzziah in Scripture, 2 Chron. xxii. 10. which did not at all abate their Courage, or dull their Wit; but only made the one more patient of Toil and Labour, and the other more solid and serious. Whence it is, that we find the greatest Captains among the Romans, such as Camillus, Regulus, Fabius, Cato, Cincinnatus, were fetch'd from the Plough: As Gideon among the Israelites was from the Threshing-floor, and Elisha called to the high Office of a Prophet, as he was driving one of the twelve Ploughs his Father had going in the Field.

And therefore Maldonate's Translation is not to be despised, who thinks they are capable of being render'd thus: By following Husbandry diligently, a Man may grow so rich as to become a King. Melancthon alone translates the whole Verse thus: The King in the Earth is above all for the Tillage of the Field. Where Solomon, saith he, distinguishes a King from a Tyrant. A Tyrant depopulates his Country, and lays all waste; a good King cherishes his People, especially honest Husbandmen and Farmers, and loves to see them thrive with all good Arts. The Vulgar Latin, I suppose, aimed at something of this; tho' it be taken otherwise by those that follow it. Agreeable to which is this memorable Paſſage in a Perſian Writer, as related by Mr. Pocock (in his Notes upon Abul Feragii, P. 202, 203.) That in that Country they kept a ſolemn Feaſt every Year; wherein the King deſcended from his Throne, laid aſide his Royal Apparel, threw away the Veil from his Face, and converſed with the moſt ordinary People, even with the Country Swains and Huſbandmen; with whom he eat, ſaying, I am one of you; nor can the World ſubſiſt without Tillage, which is performed by your Pains; and that Tillage ſubſiſts, is owing to the King; ſo that neither of us being able to ſubſiſt without the other, we are, as it were, individual Brethren.

CHAP. VI.

The Vanity of Riches without Uſe; and of Children and old Age without competent Wealth. All Labour is for Neceſſaries of Life. It's good to enjoy what we have, and not deſire what we have not.

Ver. 1. THere is an evil which I have ſeen under the ſun, and it is common among men: 2 A man to whom God hath given riches, wealth, and honour, ſo that he wanteth nothing for his ſoul of all that he deſireth, yet God giveth him not power to eat thereof, but a ſtranger eateth it: this is vanity, and it is an evil diſeaſe. 3 If a man beget an hundred children, and live many years, ſo that the days of his years be many, and his ſoul be not filled with good, and alſo that he have no burial, I ſay, that an untimely birth is better than he. 4 For he cometh in with vanity, and departeth in darkneſs, and his name ſhall be covered with darkneſs. 5 Moreover he hath not ſeen the ſun, nor known any thing: this hath more reſt than the other. 6 Yea, though he live a thouſand years twice told, yet hath he ſeen no good: do not all go to one place? 7 All the labour of man is for his mouth, and yet the appetite is not filled. 8 For what hath the wiſe more than the fool? what hath the poor, that knoweth to walk before the living? 9 Better is the ſight of the eyes, than the wandring of the deſire: this is alſo vanity and vexation of ſpirit. 10 That which hath been, is named already, and it is known that it is man: neither may he contend with him that is mightier than he. 11 Seeing there be many things that increaſe vanity, what is man the better? 12 For who knoweth what is good for man in this life, all the days of his vain life which he ſpendeth as a ſhadow? for who can tell a man what ſhall be after him under the ſun.

That which hath been, is named already, and it is known that it is Man; neither may he contend with him that is mightier than he] The common Interpretation of Commentators is this: That God hath appointed what every Man ſhall do; whether rich or poor, &c. And therefore it is in vain for them to contrive as they do, to be other than what they are. For it is to endeavour to alter that which is immutably ſettled by the Almighty.

Biſhop Patrick paraphraſes the Verſe thus: And what if a Man have already arrived at great Renown (as well as Riches) ſtill it is notorious, that it is but a Man, made out of the Duſt; and therefore weak and frail, and ſubject to many diſaſtrous Events; which it is not poſſible for him, by his moſt anxious Care to prevent, or by his Power and Wealth, to throw off when he pleaſes.

CHAP. VII.

Divers pious and uſeful Obſervations and Inſtructions concerning a good Name; Mourning and Laughter; Patience and Perſeverance; Contentment; Proſperity and Adverſity; Prudence and Wiſdom; an evil Woman. Man was created upright.

Ver. 1. A Good name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of ones birth. 2 It is better to go to the houſe of mourning, than to go to the houſe of feaſting: for that is the end of all men; and the living will lay it to his heart. 3 Sorrow is better than laughter: for by the ſadneſs of the countenance the heart is made better. 4 The heart of the wiſe is in the houſe of mourning; but the heart of fools is in the houſe of mirth. 5 It is better to hear the rebuke of the wiſe, than for a man to hear the ſong of fools. 6 For as the crackling of thorns under a pot, ſo is the laughter of the fool: this alſo is vanity. 7 Surely oppreſſion maketh a wiſe man mad, and a gift deſtroyeth the heart. 8 Better is the end of a thing, than the beginning thereof: and the patient in ſpirit is better than the proud in ſpirit. 9 Be not haſty in thy ſpirit to be angry: for anger reſteth in the boſom of fools. 10 Say not thou, What is the cauſe that the former days were better than theſe? for thou doſt not enquire wiſely concerning this. 11 Wiſdom is good with an inheritance: and by it there is profit to them that ſee the ſun. 12 For wiſdom is a defence, and money is a defence: but the excellency of knowledge is, that wiſdom giveth life to them that have it. 13 Conſider the work of God: for who can make that ſtraight which he hath made crooked? 14 In the day of proſperity be joyful, but in the day of adverſity conſider: God alſo hath ſet the one over againſt the other, to the end that man ſhould find nothing after him. 15 All things have I ſeen in the days of my vanity: there is a juſt man that periſheth in his righteouſneſs, and there is a wicked man that prolongeth his life in his wickedneſs. 16 Be not righteous overmuch, neither make thyſelf overwiſe; why ſhouldeſt thou deſtroy thyſelf? 17 Be not over much wicked, neither be thou fooliſh: why ſhouldeſt thou die before thy time? 18 It is good that thou ſhouldeſt take hold of this, yea alſo from this withdraw not thine hand: for he that feareth God ſhall come forth of them all. 19 Wiſdom ſtrengtheneth the wiſe, more than ten mighty men which are in the city. 20 For there is not a juſt man upon earth that doeth good and ſinneth not. 21 Alſo take no heed unto all words that are ſpoken; leſt thou hear thy ſervant curſe thee. 22 For oftentimes alſo thine own heart knoweth that thou thyſelf likewiſe haſt curſed others. 23 All this have I proved by wiſdom: I ſaid, I will be wiſe, but it was far from me. 24 That which is far off, and exceeding deep, who can find it out? 25 I applied mine heart to know, and to ſearch, and to ſeek out wiſdom, and the reaſon of things, and to know the wickedneſs of folly, even of fooliſhneſs and madneſs: 26 And I find more bitter than death, the woman whoſe heart is ſnares and nets, and her hands as bands: whoſo pleaſeth pleaseth God shall escape from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her. 27 Behold, this have I found (saith the preacher) counting one by one, to find out the account: 28 Which yet my soul seeketh, but I find not: one man among a thousand have I found, but a woman among all those have I not found. 29 Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions.

Better is the End of a Thing than the Beginning thereof; and the patient in Spirit is better than the proud in Spirit] This Verse is thus excellently paraphrased by Corranus: It is no small Part of Wisdom, says he, to judge of Things, and of Business proposed to us, slowly and maturely, &c. for we see frequently that inconsiderable Men finding a Thing very hard and difficult in the Beginning, and never thinking how profitable and pleasant the Issue may prove, immediately despond; and out of an Impatience, shall I say, or Rashness of Mind, desist from the most excellent Enterprizes, and many-times betake themselves to worse. From which Rashness and Inconstancy he will be very far removed, who, endued with divine Wisdom, waits for the happy Conclusion of his Affairs. And unto this nothing contributes more, than a slow, constant, and patient Mind, that can endure Labour and Pains; which, stedfastly and quietly considering how fruitful the End may be which he affects, will not suffer himself by any Difficulty, Trouble or Weariness which he meets withal in the Beginning, to be drawn from his Purpose. Far different from those, who, out of a proud, arrogant Humour, think it Baseness, and unbecoming a gallant Man, to attend upon the slow and leisurely Progresses of Things, and to expect their Events.

Be not righteous over-much, neither make thyself over-wise] Dr. Hammond makes the first Clause, to be the Objection of a Worldling, who takes that for an Excess of Duty, which brings any Damage, or worldly Destruction upon him. Which is answered, Ver. 17. Be not wicked over-much, &c. that is, the Fears, and from thence the prudential (but oftentimes very impious) Practices of the Worldling, are the more probable Path to the most hasty Ruins.

But this, Patrick thinks, is not coherent with the rest of the Chapter; and therefore rather follows the Opinion of Gregory Nazianzen; who interprets it of Heat and Zeal, more than needs, without Reason or Discretion: Which, as it makes all the Schisms in the World, so produces a great many other Evils. And the same Passion, saith he, is both about Righteousness and about Wisdom.

Grotius expounds it of a vain Affectation of Justice and Wisdom. Which Interpretation is, in Part, follow'd by Lord Bacon, who thus discourses upon it. There are Times, saith Tacitus, wherein great Virtues are exposed to certain Ruin. And this Fate befals Men eminent for Courage, or Justice; sometimes suddenly, sometimes foreseen afar off. But if Prudence be also added to their other Accomplishments; that is, if they be wary and watchful over their own Safety; then they gain thus much, that their sudden Destruction proceeds from Counsels altogether hidden and obscure; by which both Envy may be avoided, and their Ruin fall upon them unprovided. As for that nimium (over-much) which is set down in the Parable (since they are not the Words of some Periander, but of Solomon, who now and then notes the Evils in Men's Lives, but never commands them) it is not to be understood of Virtue itself (in which there is no Nimium) but of a vain and invidious Affectation and Ostentation thereof.'

CHAP. VIII.

Of Obedience to a King. Sin unpunished hardens the Sinner. Observations upon the Righteous and Wicked. Mirth recommended. God's Ways unsearchable.

Ver. 1. WHO is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? a mans wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldness of his face shall be changed. 2 I counsel thee to keep the kings commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God. 3 Be not hasty to go out of his sight: stand not in an evil thing, for he doth whatsoever pleaseth him. 4 Where the word of a king is, there is power: and who may say unto him, What doest thou? 5 Whoso keepeth the commandment shall feel no evil thing: and a wise mans heart discerneth both time and judgment. 6 Because to every purpose there is time, and judgment; therefore the misery of man is great upon him. 7 For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be? 8 There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war, neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it. 9 All this have I seen, and applied my heart unto every work that is done under the sun: there is a time wherein one man ruleth over another to his own hurt. 10 And so I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the city where they had so done: this is also vanity. 11 Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily; therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. 12 Though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that fear God, which fear before him: 13 But it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his days which are as a shadow; because he feareth not before God. 14 There is a vanity which is done upon the earth, that there be just men unto whom it happeneth according to the work of the wicked: again, there be wicked men to whom it happeneth according to the work of the righteous: I said, that this also is vanity. 15 Then I commended mirth, because a man hath no better thing under the sun, than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry: for that shall abide with him of his labour, the days of his life, which God giveth him under the sun. 16 When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to see the business that is done upon the earth; (for also there is that neither day nor night seeth sleep with his eyes) 17 Then I beheld all the work of God: that a man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun: because though a man labour to seek it out, yet he shall not find; yea further, though a wise man think to know it, yet shall he not be able to find it.

And so I saw the Wicked buried, who had come and gone from the Place of the Holy, and they were forgotten in the City where they had so done; this is also Vanity] Thus paraphrased by Patrick: And among other Things, I also observed such wicked Men carried to their Graves, who had been honoured as Gods while they lived, because they were God's Ministers, and sat in the Judgment Seat, in that very Place where he himself is present, but were no sooner gone, but they were forgotten in that very City where they had enjoyed such such high Authority; so vain is the Pomp wherein great Men live, and wherein they are buried, which vanishes together with them; and if they were not good in their Place, is no more remembered.

CHAP. IX.

Divers Observations concerning Providence, in the Distribution of its Gifts to the Righteous and the Wicked. An Exhortation to Diligence in our Calling, and to leave the Issue to God. The Praise of God.

Ver. 1. FOR all this I considered in my heart even to declare all this, that the righteous, and the wise, and their works are in the hand of God: no man knoweth either love, or hatred, by all that is before them. 2 All things come alike to all, there is one event to the righteous and to the wicked; to the good and to the clean, and to the unclean; to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner; and he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath. 3 This is an evil among all things that are done under the sun, that there is one event unto all: yea, also the heart of the sons of men is full of evil, and madness is in their heart while they live, and after that they go to the dead. 4 For to him that is joined to all the living, there is hope: for a living dog is better than a dead lion. 5 For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward, for the memory of them is forgotten. 6 Also their love, and their hatred, and their envy is now perished; neither have they any more a portion for ever in any thing that is done under the sun. 7 Go thy way, eat thy bread with joy, and drink thy wine wirh a merry heart; for God now accepteth thy works. 8 Let thy garments be always white; and let thy head lack no ointment. 9 Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest, all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sun. 10 Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave whither thou goest. 11 I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill, but time and chance happeneth to them all. 12 For man also knoweth not his time, as the fishes that are taken in an evil net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare; so are the sons of men that are snared in an evil time, when it falleth suddenly upon them. 13 This wisdom have I seen also under the sun, and it seemed great unto me: 14 There was a little city, and few men within it; and there came a great king against it, and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it: 15 Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembred that same poor man. 16 Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless, the poor mans wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard. 17 The words of wise men are heard in quiet, more than the cry of him that ruleth among fools. 18 Wi dom is better than weapons of war: but one si ner destroyeth much good.

No Man knoweth either Love or Hatred, by all th is before them]: Tho' Solomon had often, and con dered that Question, Why the Good and Bad fare alik without any constant visible Distinction? yet he cou come to no Resolution about it, but this; That ought not to shake our Belief of God's Love to vi tuous Men (which is expressed in that Phrase, in t Hand of God; wherein are included all the Effects his Kindness and Care) and that we must not jud Men to be good or bad, by what befals them in th outward Estates. So those Words are most natural interpreted, A Man knoweth not Love or Hatred, & which some indeed refer unto Men, not unto God, this Sense; No Man knows certainly what is best f him in this World; and consequently cannot tell wh he should desire, and what deprecate, of all the Thin that are before him. For those Things which hates, and is averse unto, may be as good for hi as those which he loves, and wishes to enjoy. thus, No Man knows whether that which he love or that which he hates shall befal him; but all Thin are before them; that is, are appointed how they sh be, antecedent to the Will of Men. Thus Eben Ezr And there are those that interpret that Phrase, bef them, in this Manner: They see the Good and E which befals them, but cannot foresee it till it come up them. And some join both together thus; Neither t Favour nor Dissavour of Men, neither their approvi or opposing what we do, is any certain Mark that we a good or bad.

As for that Doctrine which many great Writers the Roman Church have built upon this Text, that Man can be certain whether he be in the Favour of G or no, while he is in this Life; Melancthon truly ca it Interpretatio Monachorum; the Inpretation of t Monks; who distorted the Words of Solomon, a wreathed them to their own Dotages. For it is Ma ness, saith he, in another Place, to say, that we kno not whether Murderers and Adulterers are worthy God's Hatred.

CHAP. X.

Observations on Wisdom and Folly; of Rulers Talkativeness, Imprudence, and its Mischief Kings hurtful and desirable. Of Sloth; Feasti and cursing the King.

Ver. 1. DEAD flies cause the ointment o the apothecary to send forth a stink ing savour: so doth a little folly him that is in re putation for wisdom and honour. 2 A wise man heart is at his right hand; but a fools heart is a his left. 3 Yea also when he that is a fool walk eth by the way, his wisdom faileth him, and h saith to every one that he is a fool. 4 If the spi rit of the ruler rise up against thee, leave not th place; for yielding pacifieth great offences. There is an evil which I have seen under the sun as an error which proceedeth from the ruler. Folly is set in great dignity, and the rich sit i low place. 7 I have seen servants upon horses, and princes walking as servants upon the earth. 8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it; and whoso breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him. 9 Whoso removeth stones, shall be hurt therewith; and he that cleaveth wood, shall be endangered thereby. 10 If the iron be blunt, and he do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength: but wisdom is profitable to direct. 11 Surely the serpent will bite without enchantenchantment; and a babbler is no better. 12 The words of a wise mans mouth are gracious: but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself. 13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness. 14 A fool also is full of words: a man cannot tell what shall be; and what shall be after him, who can tell him? 15 The labour of the foolish wearieth every one of them, because he knoweth not how to go to the city. 16 Wo to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes eat in the morning. 17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the son of nobles, and thy princes eat in due season, for strength and not for drunkenness. 18 By much slothfulness the building decayeth, and through idleness of the hands the house droppeth through. 19 A feast is made for laughter, and wine maketh merry: but money answereth all things. 20 Curse not the king, no not in thy thought, and curse not the rich in thy bed-chamber: for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter.

Surely the Serpent will bite without Enchantment, and a Babler is no better] Various have been the Expositions of this Verse; according to the Hebrew Phrase, Master of the Tongue, is expounded, either of a mere Babler, and loose Talker; or of a Backbiter and Slanderer. I have taken it in the latter Sense, says Patrick; and the former Part of the Verse may either signify a Serpent that is not inchanted; or that cannot be inchanted, by any Means. For some such Sort of Serpents there were, as Bochart observes, and as appears out of Jer. viii. 17. and other Places of holy Scripture. Unto which, the Backbiter and Detractor may be best compared: For nothing will restrain his virulent Humour, nor defend one from the Mischief which he doth in Secret. This Verse may be connected with the precedent Matter, tho' we should take the Words in the common Sense: Which is this; that as a Serpent will bite if he be not charmed; so will he do Mischief that talks much, if he govern not his Tongue with great Wisdom. Or, as others interpret the latter Part of the Verse, a Man's Words tho' never so eloquent (for so the Word lachasch is used Isa. iii. 3.) will do no good to pacify a Prince's Mind, if he be not charmed at the very first, before he have fixed his Anger.

Others take this Verse separate from the rest, and understand no more by it, than this; that a Calumniator is like a Serpent that bites secretly, without so much as giving Warning by its Hissing. So Melancthon, who truly observes, that Calumny is a most grievous Pestilence, which rages and destroys whole Countries. For it first kindles Dissentions; and thence arise Confusion of Religion, Wars and Desolations. Or, according to our Translation, A Babler can no more refrain from blurting out his own and others Secrets, than a Serpent, if he be not charmed, can do from biting. Which may be referred also to the Matter foregoing, in this Manner: He that gives himself a Liberty of talking every Thing, blurts out even the Secrets, and the Vices of Princes; whereby he not only makes himself odious, but procures his own Destruction.

CHAP. XI.

Several moral Duties recommended to our Practice. Observations concerning the Ways of Providence. In the Midst of Pleasures think of Judgment.

Ver. 1. CAST thy bread upon the waters: for thou shall find it after many days, Give a portion to seven, and also to eight; for thou knowest not what evil shall be upon the earth. 3 If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north; in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be. 4 He that observeth the wind, shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap. 5 As thou knowest not what is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child: even so thou knowest not the works of God who makest all. 6 In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they both shall be a like good. 7 Truly the light is sweet, and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun. 8 But if a man live many years and rejoice in them all; yet let him remember the days of darkness, for they shall be many. All that cometh is vanity. 9 Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thy heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment. 10 Therefore remove sorrow from thine heart, and put away evil from thy flesh; for childhood and youth are vanity.

Cast thy Bread upon the Waters; for thou shalt find it after many Days] Charity being the Subject of his Discourse in the first six Verses of this Chapter, he begins with the proper Object of it; Those who, as our Saviour speaks, Luke xiv. 14. are not likely to recompence us again. Thus this first Verse (about which there are various Conceits) I think, says Patrick, may be most naturally expounded: And it is a very antient Exposition, as appears by the Words of Gregory Thaumaturgus, which are these in English; It is just to communicate unto others, &c. for, tho' for the present it may seem to be lost, (and thrown away, as we speak) like the Bread that is cast upon the Water; yet, in Process of Time, thy Love to Mankind will appear not to be unprofitable and without Fruit. And after the same Manner Gregory Nazianzen, in After-times, speaking of the Liberality of his Father to the Poor, saith, he proceeded upon this Maxim: That it is much better, for the Sake of those who may be worthy, to give to those who are unworthy, than for fear of bestowing our Charity upon the unworthy, let worthy People want it. To which he refers the Words in the Text, Cast thy Bread upon the Water; which is not thrown away and quite lost, in the Account of him who justly estimates Things; but is sent thither where all that we do is laid up, and shall in due Season meet us again, tho' we think not of it.

And to strengthen this, it is observed by some, that Waters in Scripture signify great Affliction and Misery, Ps. xviii. 17. lxvi. 12. And therefore the Sense of the Proverb is not, of sowing in a fertile Ground, by the Rivers, or in a Soil well watered, from whence Men naturally expect a fruitful Crop (as some expound it) but of Sowing (i. e. giving Alms) there, from whence we expect no Fruit; no more than if we threw the Seed in a rapid River, in which it is carried away, no Body knows whither, and seems utterly lost.

Give a Portion to seven, and also to eight] As in the first he has Respect to the Quality of the Persons, unto whom we are to give; so here to the Number of them, and the Quantity of our Alms; which is expected perhaps by great Multitude. Seven is a complete Number; eight added to it denotes something above that which we account Perfection. Greg. Nazianzen, speaking of his Father, says, that he gave not only out of his Superfluity, but out of his Necessaries, according to the Prescription of Solomon, Give a Portion to seven; but if an eighth came, he was not here ſparing; but much more ready to give, than others are to get. In ſhort, he means give moſt liberally, not ſparingly, but profuſely.

CHAP. XII.

Early Piety recommended before old Age come on. A Deſcription of old Age. The Sum of all, is to fear God, and honour the King.

Ver. 1. REmember now thy creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou ſhalt ſay, I have no pleaſure in them. 2 While the ſun, or the light, or the moon, or the ſtars be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain: 3 In the day when the keepers of the houſe ſhall tremble, and the ſtrong men ſhall bow themſelves, and the grinders ceaſe, becauſe they are few, and thoſe that look out of the windows be darkened, 4 And the doors ſhall be ſhut in the ſtreets, when the ſound of the grinding is low, and he ſhall riſe up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of muſick ſhall be brought low; 5 Alſo when they ſhall be afraid, of that which is high, and fear ſhall be in the way, and the almond-tree ſhall flouriſh, and the graſhopper ſhall be a burden, and deſire ſhall fail: becauſe man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the ſtreets: 6 Or ever the ſilver cord be looſed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the ciſtern. 7 Then ſhall the duſt return to the earth as it was: and the ſpirit ſhall return unto God who gave it. 8 Vanity of vanities, ſaith the preacher; all is vanity. 9 And moreover, becauſe the preacher was wiſe, he ſtill taught the people knowledge; yea, he gave good heed, and ſought out, and ſet in order many proverbs. 10 The preacher ſought to find out acceptable words, and that which was written was upright, even words of truth. 11 The words of the wiſe are as goads, and as nails faſtened by the maſters of aſſemblies, which are given from one ſhepherd. 12 And further, by theſe, my ſon, be admoniſhed: of making many books there is no end, and much ſtudy is a wearineſs of the fleſh. 13 Let us hear the concluſion of the whole matter, Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. 14 For God ſhall bring every work into judgment, with every ſecret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

While the Sun, or the Light, or the Moon, or the Stars be not darkened] Theſe Words, ſays Patrick, intimate the univerſal Decay of the whole Frame of Nature, and a failing of the Mind in all its Faculties and Powers. Some will have it, that ſomething particular is ſignified by every Word; that by the Sun may be meant the Soul itſelf; by the Light its Underſtanding; by the Moon his Will; by the Stars, all the Notions in his Mind and Memory, with all the Affections and Paſſions in the Will: Juſt as Sun, Moon, and Stars, in Joſeph's Dream, ſignified his Father, his Mother, and Brethren. And ſo the Senſe of the Verſe is, the Mind of Men grows feeble in all its Powers; the Underſtanding dimſighted; the Memory forgetful; the Reaſon weak and childiſh, (giving ſuch a feeble Light, that it can neither direct ourſelves or others) the Will liſtleſs in all its Deſires, dull about our greateſt Concerns, wavering and inconſtant in all Reſolutions, &c. But the Interpretation firſt mentioned, ſeems moſt reaſonable. — Others ſay, the Meaning is, that there is nothing but Darkneſs; i. e. a moſt uncomfortable Condition; like that when the Heavens are clouded Day and Night.

Nor the Clouds return after the Rain] This refers to the diſmal Condition a Man is in at that Time; when one Trouble treads upon the Heels of another; a Succeſſion of Miſery, Grief, Pain, or Weakneſs, drawing on one another.

When the Keepers of the Houſe ſhall tremble] He reſembles the Shoulders, Arms, and Hands, to the Keepers of the Houſe, that is, the Body; becauſe by them we are defended from Dangers; Food and Phyſick adminiſtered; and Arts and Manufactures exerciſed, as long there is Strength; but in old Age, the Nerves, Tendons, and Ligaments flag, and theſe Keepers ſhake and tremble, and grow ſo uſeleſs, that we can neither help ourſelves or others.

And the ſtrong Men ſhall bow themſelves] That is, the Thighs, Legs, and Feet, which are the Supporters and Pillars, as it were of the whole Fabrick; till old Age quite diſables them for this Office, and makes the Knees bend under the Burden of the Body alone.

And the Grinders ceaſe becauſe they are few] That is, the Teeth, compared to the upper and nether Mill-ſtone, which grind the Corn, and prepare it for Bread; as the Teeth, by chewing the Meat, prepare it for the Stomach.

And thoſe that look out of the Windows be darkened] That is, the Sight of the Eyes is decayed. When Men grow into Years, their Sight grows dull, becauſe, as Ariſtotle obſerves, in the Eyes of old Men, the Skin is both hard, and alſo rugged, ſo that their Sight is obſcured.

And the Doors ſhall be ſhut in the Streets, and the Sound of the Grinding is low] That is, they are ſhut out of all publick Meetings, becauſe of the Lowneſs of their Voice, which formerly was as loud as a Mill. And there is little Reaſon to doubt, but by Doors are meant the Lips, and by the Lowneſs of the Sound of Grinding, the Lowneſs of the Voice, from the Loſs of Teeth, or the Weakneſs of Reſpiration; in ſhort, from the Defect there is in the Organs of Speech.

And he ſhall riſe up at the Voice of the Bird and all the Daughters of Muſick ſhall be brought low] That is, he cannot recruit himſelf as he was wont, by Reſt; ſound Sleep departs from his Eyes; and he awakens as early as the Birds, but is not pleaſed at all with their Songs; his Hearing being ſo dull and flat, that he is not moved by the beſt Muſick in the World, tho' he liſten and incline his Ears to it with never ſo much Diligence.

When they ſhall be afraid of that which is high] The Paſſion of Fear is incident to old Men; and they are afraid of high Things, leſt they ſhould fall upon them; or of high Places, of going up Hills or Stairs, which is irkſome to them, becauſe of their Weakneſs, Giddineſs, or Dread of falling.

Fear ſhall be in the Way] Leſt as they are walking they ſhould ſtumble, fall, or be thruſt down.

The Almond Tree ſhall flouriſh] Their Head ſhall be as full of grey Hairs, as the Almond Tree is of white Flowers.

The Graſhopper ſhall be a Burden] If it accidentally hops or reſts upon them; they cannot endure the leaſt Burden, being a Burden to themſelves.

Or ever the Silver Cord be looſed, or the golden Bowl be broken, or the Pitcher be broken at the Fountain, or the Wheel broken at the Ciſtern] By the Silver Cord is ſignified the Pith, or Marrow of the Back-bone, which riſes in the Brain, and thence deſcends by the Extremity of the Back-bone, together with the Nerves and Sinews, which, as Anatomiſts obſerve, are nothing but the Production and Continuation of the Marrow. The Silver Cord is looſed, broken, relaxed, obſtructed or diſabled for its proper Service.

Anſwerable hereunto, by the Golden Bowl is intimated the Membranes of the Brain, particularly the innermoſt, called the Pia Mater, becauſe with a most therly Care it defends the Brain, and assists and governs its Actions, insinuates itself into all Parts of the Brain, following its various Windings and Turnings, keeping each Parcel of it in its proper Place, and distinguishing and dividing one Part from another, to prevent Disorder and Mischief. This is not unfitly called a Bowl, partly, because it is round, and partly, because it receives, and contains in it all the Substance of the Brain; and a golden Bowl, partly for its Preciousness and Usefulness, partly for its Colour, which is sometimes yellow. This may properly be said to be broken, because, at the Approach of Death, it is often shriveled up or broken.

In the two last Clauses, Solomon describes the chief Organs or Vessels for the Production, Distribution, and Circulation of the Blood in Man's Body. For, tho' the Doctrine of the Circulation of the Blood, lay hid and unknown for many Ages, and the Honour of the Invention of it is justly ascribed to a Physician of our own Country, Dr. Hervey, yet it is not improbable that it was well known to Solomon.

According to this Notion, the Fountain is the Right Ventricle of the Heart, which is now acknowledg'd to be the Spring of Life, and of vital Spirits; and the Pitcher is the Veins which convey the Blood from it to other Parts, and especially the arterial Vein, as Anatomists call it, by which it is transmitted to the Lungs, and thence to the Left Ventricle of the Heart, where it is better elaborated, and then by the Pulse thrown out into the Artery, or Arteria aorta, and by its Branches dispersed into all the Parts of the Body, to give them Life and Vigour; which being done, the Residue of the Blood is carried back by the Veins into the Right Ventricle of the Heart, whence it is disposed, and so runs in a perpetual Round, unless obstructed by some Disorder in the Body.

The Cistern is the Left Ventricle of the Heart, and the Wheel seems to be the great Artery that is joined to it, and fitly so called, because it is the first and great Instrument of this Rotation or Circulation of the Blood, which, by the Pulse, is forcibly thrust out into all Parts of the Body, whence by various Windings and Turnings, it returns thither again, and thus continues its Journey, whilst Life and Health last; and when any of these are disabled for the Discharge of their Functions, then are they properly said to be broken.

The Pitcher is broken at th eFountain, when the Veins do not return the Blood to the Heart, but suffer it to stand still and cool within; whence comes that Coldness of the outward Parts, which is a near Fore-runner of Death.

And the Wheel is broken at the Cistern, when the great Arteries do not perform their Office of conveying the Blood into the Left Ventricle of the Heart, and of thrusting it out thence into the lesser Arteries; whence comes a ceasing of the Pulse, a certain Signal of approaching Death.

AN EXPOSITION OF The SONG of SOLOMON.

The ARGUMENT.

That this Book was composed by Solomon is no more doubted, than that he was the Author of the two foregoing.

And that it was always looked upon as an Holy Book, treating of some spiritual and divine Matter, appears from its being among the rest of that Kind. Nor hath it been doubted of by any considerable Numbers of Men, either among Jews or Christians, but only by a few singular Persons; who ought to have looked upon those blessed Fathers, who placing this Song among the Divine Writings, took it to be for the Uses of the Church, as Men of greater Judgment, and more spiritual than themselves. And they ought likewise to have considered, that we have, in Effect, the Testimony of the Holy Ghost himself, for its Divine Authority: Ezra, a Man excelling in Virtue, and full of the Holy Spirit, having thought this worthy of Room among those Sacred Volumes, which he gathered together after their Return from the Captivity of Babylon.

And accordingly, a great many holy Men have illustrated it with their Commentaries and Interpretations, or have ornamented their Writings with its Sentences; such as Eusebius, Origen, Cyprian, and others more antient than these, and nearer to the Times of the Apostles.

Nor doth it seem hard, either to find out what that spiritual Matter is, of which the Wise-man here treats (especially since all Christian Writers have from the Beginning applied this Song to Christ and the Church) or to give an Account of the Rise and Original of such sublime Contemplations.

The great Prophet David having plainly foretold, that a far more glorious King than his Son Solomon should one Day arise (as we read in the Song he made at his Marriage, Ps. xlv.) and likewise more expressly propheſied of his Divinity, Royal Majesty, Priesthood, &c. (Ps. cx.) and again resumed this Argument just before his Death, when he caused his Son Solomon to be crowned, and to sit upon his Throne, (Ps. lxxii.) it stirred up the longing Desires of Solomon, after the Coming of this most illustrious Prince; and made him study to have, at least, as clear a Sight of Him, as was possible to be attained afar off. And that he might stir up the same Desire in the whole Nation, after his appearing, he cast his Meditations on this Subject into a Song, in the Form of a Pastoral Eclogue: In which several Persons being introduced who speak their Parts, it may be called a Dramatick Poem. And so it is stiled by St. Greg. Nazianzen, in his 31st Oration, where he quotes a Passage (as his Words are) out of this Bridal Interlude and Song. For a Drama, as the Greeks teach us, consists in the Change of Persons, some of whom enter, others come to them, others withdraw, till the whole Work be compleated by this shifting and Alteration of the Persons.

Now the Persons who compose this Song, the Bridegroom, the Bride, the Virgins attending on her, and the Youths attending on him; to whom some add the Sister of the Spouse mentioned Ch. viii. and the Watchmen and Daughters of Jerusalem, who are introduced in their Turns. For Example: first, the Bride and her Companions comes in, and saith, Let him kiss me with the Kisses of his Mouth, &c. Then the Bridegroom appears, and saith, If thou knowest not, O fairest, &c. After which he seems to withdraw himself, leaving the Bride and her Companions alone upon the Stage (while he sits at his Repast, Ver. 12.) who thus speak to her, We will make thee Borders of Gold, &c. And then she speaks again, Ver. 13. and he returns and speaks, Ver. 15.

And none need wonder that he speaks wholly of this great Shepherd of the Sheep, this glorious King; so doth his Father David in the cxth Psalm, which can be applied to no other Person whatsoever; and so doth the Prophet Isaiah in After-times, in his liiid Chapter. Which, tho' some have endeavoured to accommodate first to another Person, yet have failed in their Attempt; and never could find any to whom it was so literally fulfilled, as in our blessed Saviour; who alone was there intended; as he seems to be here also in this present Song of Solomon.

Where it need not seem strange, that he is compared to a Bridegroom, and the Church to a Bride, if we but reflect upon the xlvth Psalm; and observe how Solomon doth only follow the Metaphor wherein his Father David had represented this Mystery; and observe withal, that it is the common Language of the Prophets, who compare Jerusalem and Zion (under which Names is comprehended the whole Church of the Jews) to a Virgin, called frequently the Virgin Daughter of Sion, &c. whom God had espouſed unto himſelf.

As to the preciſe Time when Solomon wrote this Book, it cannot certainly be known: But it is very probable, that it was not long after Solomon was ſeated on his Throne; and had both the Prophecy of his Father David freſh in his Mind, and was alſo ſtrongly affected with the Love of God to himſelf. He being filled then likewiſe with incomparable Wiſdom from above; ſuch Wiſdom that it brought the Queen of Sheba to diſcourſe with him, having heard the Fame of Solomon, becauſe of the Name of the Lord, 1 Kings x. 1. That is, as ſome of the Hebrews expound it, becauſe ſhe underſtood that the Wiſdom which was in him, was not merely natural, like that of the Philoſophers and Eaſtern Sages, but Divine and Heavenly, by a ſpecial Inſpiration from above; whereby he was enabled to anſwer the hardeſt Queſtions.

At that Time, when theſe celeſtial Gifts were newly poured into him, (which the Cabbaliſts call the Unction of the Holy Ghoſt, or the ſacred Name of which Solomon ſpeaks, ſay they, when he ſays, in the Beginning of this Song, Thy Name is as an Ointment poured out) we may well conceive his Mind ſhined in its greateſt Purity and Clearneſs; and enjoying the ſweeteſt and moſt perfect Peace and Tranquillity, was the fitter for ſuch Divine Meditations as theſe, which are the Subject of this Holy Book. The Senſe of which ſeems to be expreſſed in 2 Cor. xi. 2. where St. Paul, who was not rude in Knowledge, Ver. 6. but mightily verſed, as that Word Knowledge ſignifies, in the Myſteries of the Old Teſtament) puts the Church of Corinth in Mind of his ſolicitous Concern for them, in theſe Words, I have eſpouſed you to one Huſband, that I may preſent you as a chaſte Virgin unto Chriſt. For of that one Huſband alone, and of that pure Virgin, and no other, and of their Eſpouſals, Love, and Union, is this incomparable Song of Solomons to be underſtood and expounded.

CHAP. I.

The Deſcription of the earneſt Longings of the Church after Chriſt; his Direction and Command, Commendation and Promiſes. The Church's Commendation of Chriſt.

1 THE ſong of ſongs, which is Solomons. 2 Let him kiſs me with the kiſſes of his mouth: for thy love is better than wine. 3 Becauſe of the ſavour of thy good ointments, thy name is as ointment poured forth, therefore do the virgins love thee. 4 Draw me, we will run after thee: the king hath brought me into his chambers: we will be glad and rejoice in thee, we will remember thy love more than wine: the upright love thee. 5 I am black, but comely, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon. 6 Look not upon me, becauſe I am black, becauſe the ſun hath looked upon me: my mothers children were angry with me, they made me the keeper of the vineyards, but mine own vineyard have I not kept. 7 Tell me, O thou whom my ſoul loveth, where thou feedeſt, where thou makeſt thy flock to reſt at noon: for why ſhould I be as one that turneth aſide by the flocks of thy companions? 8 If thou know not, O thou faireſt among women, go thy way forth by the footſteps of the flock, and feed thy kids beſide the ſhepherds tents. 9 I have compared thee, O my love, to a company of horſes in Pharaohs chariots. 10 Thy cheeks are comely with rows of jewels, thy neck with chains of gold. 11 We will make thee borders of gold with ſtuds of ſilver. 12 While the king ſitteth at his table, my ſpikenard ſendeth forth the ſmell thereof. 13 A bundle of myrrhe is my well-beloved unto me; he ſhall lie all night betwixt my breaſts. 14 My beloved is unto me, as a cluſter of camphire in the vineyard of En-gedi. 15 Behold, thou art fair, my love; behold, thou art fair, thou haſt doves eyes. 16 Behold, thou art fair, my beloved, yea pleaſant: alſo our bed is green. 17 The beams of our houſe are cedar, and our rafters of fir.

It ought to be premiſed, that this Book requires a ſober and pious, not a laſcivious and fooliſh Reader; for which Reaſon ſome of the antient Hebrews adviſed young Men to forbear the reading of it, till they were thirty Years of Age.

The Song of Songs which is Solomon's] That is, the moſt excellent of all the Songs that Solomon (or any other Perſon) ever compoſed; repreſenting the ardent Deſire which was in him, and which he endeavoured to excite in all the People, to enjoy that great Bleſſing of the Meſſiah.

Let him kiſs me with the Kiſſes of his Mouth] Solomon ſpeaks this in the Perſon of the Virgin Daughter of Sion; that is, the Church: Whom he introduces here in the moſt paſſionate Strain, wiſhing for ſome Token of Love, which is expreſſed under the Metaphor of a Kiſs. But there is no Mention at all of the Name, Condition, or Beauty of the Perſon whoſe Love is deſired; nor any Account given of the Beginning or Progreſs of this Deſire: But he makes her burſt out on a ſudden, and abruptly into theſe Words, Let him kiſs me, &c. that he might the more artificially deſcribe the Nature and Force of Divine Love: Which, when it poſſeſſes the Mind, ſnatches it from itſelf, that it is wholly in him that it loves. It thinks of nothing elſe, ſeeks nothing, wiſhes nothing, ſpeaks of nothing but this alone; and imagines that every Body elſe thinks of the ſame, and knows of whom it ſpeaks. It is juſt ſuch a Beginning as that of the lxxxviith Pſalm; where the Pſalmiſt enters upon the Deſcription of the Lovelineſs of Mount Sion and Mount Moriah, in this Manner: His Foundation is in the holy Mountain.

Becauſe of the Savour of thy good Ointments] Ointments in thoſe antient Times, made a Part of their Entertainments; with which ſome were wont to anoint their whole Heads, or at leaſt their Noſtrils; which they looked upon as conducing much to Health, as well as Pleaſure.

Therefore do the Virgins love thee] The attractive Power of Sweet Ointments, (to which Solomon here alludes) is notably declared in that which Baſil relates of the Manner of catching Doves. Which was, by breeding one Tame, and then anointing her Wings with Ointment, they let her fly away, and the ſweet Odour of the Ointment, drew abundance of Pigeons after her; which ſhe brought to the Cote of her Owner.

I am black, but comely, O ye Daughters of Jeruſalem, as the Tents of Kedar, as the Curtains of Solomon] Which Patrick thus paraphraſes: Do not take Offence, O ye Daughters of Jeruſalem, at his kind Reception of all Nations into his Kingdom, but hear their Anſwer to you, when you upbraid them with Idolatry, and all Manner of Impurity; which is the ſame with that of a lovely Shepherdeſs, when tann'd by lying much abroad in the Fields. My Complexion indeed is dark and ſwarthy; but my Features and Proportions are comely and beautiful; tho' I ſeem as ruſtick as the Skins of the Tents wherein the wild Arabs dwell; yet I am as amiable as the fine Linen, which makes the Curtains of the Apartment of King Solomon.

Tell me, O thou whom my Soul loveth, where thou feedeſt, where thou makeſt thy Flock to reſt at Noon] This Verſe ſeems to be the Voice of the whole Church, longing to be acquainted with his Doctrine; which is compared to Food, as his Diſciples are to Sheep; which Shepherds were wont in thoſe hot Countries to lead into cool Shades at Noon, that they might not ſuffer by the Heat. Unto which Solomon here alludes; repreſenting all pious Souls as afraid alſo of wandring from the true Shepherd, and falling like Sheep that go aſtray into the Hands of Strangers. All which Metaphors are largely purſued by our bleſſed Saviour in one of his Parables (John x.) as Compariſons familiarly known to his Diſciples, who found them here firſt uſed in this holy Book.

I have compared thee, O my Love, to a Company of Horſes in Pharaoh's Chariots] This Compariſon may convince us, that Solomon doth not aim at any ſingle Perſon in this Song (either Pharaoh's Daughter, or a beautiful Shunamite, or any other Woman or Virgin, who would very abſurdly be compared to a Troop of Horſes) but at a great many united in a Body; i. e. the whole Company of Believers in the Meſſiah; who may very fitly be reſembled to the Horſes in the Chariots of Pharaoh, whoſe Kingdom in thoſe Days, abounded with the moſt excellent Horſes; which were famous for their Strength, and Fitneſs for Service: As may be ſeen by the Proviſion Solomon made for himſelf from thence, 1 Kings x. 28, 29, and the great Number which came from thence againſt Jeruſalem, in his Son's Days, 2 Chron. xii. 3. Long after which, we read of their great Force, Iſa. xxxi. 1. Jer. xlvi. 4, 9. and conſequently the Body of Chriſtian People, that is, the Church, being compared to a Company of them, is ſet forth thereby as very powerful, and prevailing over all Oppoſers.

My beloved is unto me as a Cluſter of Camphire in the Vineyards of Engedi] Nothing more puzzles Interpreters than thoſe Words, which we tranſlate Cluſter of Camphire. For our Camphire was unknown to the Antients, and doth not grow in Cluſters, but is the reſinous Subſtance of a Tree in Borneo, and in China; and therefore is far better tranſlated in the Margin of our Bibles, Cypreſs. But by Cypreſs is not to be underſtood the Tree that bears that Name among us; but a far more aromatick Plant in the Eaſt, which was a Kind of Liguſtrum or Alcharma, called by Pliny Cyperus, and ſometimes Cyprus; which produced a moſt ſweet Buſh of Flowers, and alſo Berries, not much different from the Fragrancy of Spikenard. Whence, it is likely, the famous Iſland of Cyprus took its Name; becauſe here (as at Aſcalon in Judea, and on the Banks of Nile) the beſt, that is, the moſt odoriferous Cyprus grows.

CHAP. II.

The excellent Majeſty of Chriſt, and of his Church. The Benefits which the Church receives from him; and Chriſt's Love to his Church.

Ver. 1. I Am the roſe of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys. 2 As the lily among thorns, ſo is my love among the daughters. 3 As the apple-tree among the trees of the wood, ſo is my beloved among the ſons. I ſat down under his ſhadow with great delight, and his fruit was ſweet to my taſte. 4 He brought me to the banqueting-houſe, and his banner over me was love. 5 Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples; for I am ſick of love. 6 His left hand is under my head, and his right hand doth embrace me. 7 I charge you, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that ye ſtir not up, nor awake my love, till he pleaſe. 8 The voice of my beloved! behold, he cometh leaping upon the mountains, ſkipping upon the hills. 9 My beloved is like a roe, or a young hart: behold, he ſtandeth behind our wall, he looketh forth at the windows, ſhewing himſelf through the latteſs. 10 My beloved ſpake, and ſaid unto me, Riſe up my love, my fair one, and come away. 11 For lo, the winter is paſt, the rain is over, and gone. 12 The flowers appear on the earth, the time of the ſinging of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land. 13 The fig-tree putteth forth her green figs, and the vines with the tender grape give a good ſmell. Ariſe, my love, my fair one, and come away. 14 O my dove that art in the cleſts of the rock, in the ſecret places of the ſtairs, let me ſee thy countenance, let me hear thy voice; for ſweet is thy voice, and thy countenance is comely. 15 Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that ſpoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes. 16 My beloved is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies. 17 Until the day break, and the ſhadows flee away: turn my beloved, and be thou like a roe, or a young hart upon the mountains of Bether.

It is to be obſerved, that the Meſſiah is here introduced, as owning the Praiſes which the Church had beſtowed upon him in the Concluſion of the foregoing Chapter; and that in ſuch Phraſes as are becoming a Paſtoral, borrowed from Flowers and Trees, (under which Shepherds delight to ſit and eat the Fruit) and from ſuch Creatures as frequent the Fields and Woods, &c.

I am the Roſe of Sharon] That is, the moſt excellent Roſe; for ſuch were the Roſes of Sharon, as may be gathered from hence; that the Roſe, according to Pliny's Obſervation, delights in dry Places, and will not thrive in fat and unctuous Soils, in rich Clays, or Grounds well watered, but in thoſe that are lean, full of Rubbiſh, &c. Now ſuch was the Soil about Sharon, as we learn from the Miſchneh in the Title Sota, Ch. viii. where they that built a brick Houſe in Sharon, are ſaid to have been deprived of the Benefit of that Law Deut. xx. 5. Upon which Paſſage R. Solomon gloſſes, that the Earth thereabouts was unfit for making Bricks, being ſo dry and crumbling, that the Houſes that were made of them, had need to be repaired twice in ſeven Years. Inſomuch, that the Jeruſalem Targum ſaith, The High Prieſt prayed by Name for the Sharonites, upon the Day of Expiation, that their Houſes might not be converted into their Graves.

As the Lily among the Thorns] By this Lily we are not to underſtand ſuch as we call Lilium convallium, or May-Lily; but ſome more noble and fragrant Flower being joined here with Roſes; as it is in ſeveral poetick Fragments (quoted by Athenæus) with Violets, Marjoram, and divers others ſweet Flowers. Inſomuch that he ſaith, that the Corinthians called the Lily by the Name of Ambroſia. And he tells us out of Nicander that it was eſteemed the Joy and Delight of Venus, because of its beautiful Colour, and, it's likely, its Smell too; for he quotes a Paſſage out of Theophraſtus, who, treating of ſweet Ointments made of Flowers, mentions that of Lilies, as well as that of Roſes.

They that believe in Chriſt, partaking of his Excellencies; He here compares the Church to a Lily (i. e. to Himſelf) as much excelling all other People (who were were not Believers) for Daughters ſignify People in the Hebrew Language) as the Lilies do Thorns, which grow in deſolate Places. For the Word we tranſlate Thorns, is wont to be joined together with thoſe which ſignify Nettles and Brambles, Iſa. xxxiv. 13. Hoſ. ix. 6.

CHAP. III.

The Church rejoices on her finding Chriſt. Her Charge to the Daughters of Jeruſalem. The Manner of Chriſt's coming out of the Wilderneſs. His Bed, Guard, and Chariot deſcribed. The Faithful invited into the Kingdom of Glory.

Ver. 1. BY night on my bed I ſought him whom my ſoul loveth: I ſought him, but I found him not. 2 I will riſe now, and go about the city in the ſtreets, and in the broad ways I will ſeek him whom my ſoul loveth: I ſought him, but I found him not. 3 The watchmen that go about the city, found me: to whom I ſaid, Saw ye him whom my ſoul loveth? 4 It was but a little that I paſſed from them, but I found him whom my ſoul loveth: I held him, and would not let him go, until I had brought him into my mothers houſe, and into the chamber of her that conceived me. 5 I charge you, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that ye ſtir not up, nor awake my love, till he pleaſe. 6 Who is this that cometh out of the wilderneſs like pillars of ſmoak, perfumed with myrrhe and frankincenſe, with all powders of the merchant? 7 Behold, his bed which is Solomons, threeſcore valiant men are about it, of the valiant of Iſrael. 8 They all hold ſwords, being expert in war: every man hath his ſword upon his thigh, becauſe of fear in the night. 9 King Solomon made himſelf a chariot of the wood of Lebanon. 10 He made the pillars thereof of ſilver, the bottom thereof of gold, the covering of it of purple; the midſt thereof being paved with love, for the daughters of Jeruſalem. 11 Go forth, O ye daughters of Zion, and behold king Solomon with the crown wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his eſpouſals, and in the day of the gladneſs of his heart.

The Beginning of this Chapter might be connected with the foregoing, and applied to the State of the Church under Affliction; if the following Words will not with that Expoſition, which, in my Opinion, ſays Patrick, they do not: For he had deſired to hear her Voice, Ver. 14. of the ſecond Chapter, and now ſhe cannot find Him. Therefore I incline to think, that the very ſame Thing is again repreſented in other Words after the Manner of the Prophets; particularly of Iſaiah, who over and over again, in ſeveral Schemes of Speech, foretels the Reſtauration from the Captivity of Babylon, and under that Shadow, their greater Salvation by Chriſt) viz. the earneſt Deſire of the Church for the Coming of Chriſt; which Solomon expreſſes by the paſſionate Longings he found in himſelf to ſee that bleſſed Day.

And ſo by Night, Ver. 1. may be underſtood that dark Time which was before his appearing; when good Men ſought for Him, and had many Dreams and Viſions about Him; but could meet only with the Shadows and Images of Him; which ſignified Him to come, but did not exhibit his very Preſence to them. By which neither the Temple, nor the Sacrifices, nor the ſacred Books, could diſcover any Thing clearly: But was repreſented here to Solomon in a Viſion he had of Him, and of the Church which was eſpouſed to Him, after He had ſought a long Time, and groped every where after Him, in that dark Night wherein they lived. So, as I ſaid, the Night may be expounded; for ſuch a diſmal Condition were they in, juſt when he appeared, Matt. iv. 16. Luke i. 79.

Ver. 10. is a Deſcription of the Richneſs of Solomon's Chariot: In which we are not to ſeek for ſomething in the Goſpel anſwering to every Part of it; but only to look upon it as ſetting forth the great Splendor of it, and the Riches of that Grace, which God vouchſafed to Men therein.

Behold King Solomon with the Crown wherewith his Mother crowned him in the Day of his Eſpouſals] The Day when he took Pharaoh's Daughter to Wife; at which Time it was the Manner to crown married Perſons: And his Father being dead, it was done by his Mother. Of this Cuſtom, Mention is made by many Authors; which the learned Reader may find in Bochart, his Geogr. Sacra. P. 2. L. 1. C. 25.

All which, ſays Patrick, is applicable to Chriſt no otherwiſe than thus: The Church indeed herſelf may be ſaid to be his Crown and Joy, in that Senſe wherein St. Paul ſaith the Theſſalonians were his, 1 Theſſ. ii. 19. But this is not to put a Crown upon Him; and the Church can in no Senſe be called his Mother, eſpecially ſince ſhe is his Bride. And therefore Interpreters ſtrain too much; who ought, I think, to have aſcribed that to God the Father in the myſtical Senſe, which is aſcribed unto Bathſheba in the literal.

CHAP. IV.

Chriſt's Commendation of, and Affection for his Church. She prays for the effectual Operation of his Spirit on her, to make her fruitful.

Ver. 1. BEhold, thou art fair, my love, behold, thou art fair, thou haſt doves eyes within thy locks: thy hair is as a flock of goats, that appear from mount Gilead. 2 Thy teeth are like a flock of ſheep that are even ſhorn, which came up from the waſhing: whereof every one bear twins, and none is barren among them. 3 Thy lips are like a thread of ſcarlet, and thy ſpeech is comely: thy temples are like a piece of pomegranate within thy locks. 4 Thy neck is like the tower of David builded for an armoury, whereon there hang a thouſand bucklers, all ſhields of mighty men. 5 Thy two breaſts are like two young roes that are twins, which feed among the lilies. 6 Until the day break, and the ſhadows flee away, I will get me to the mountain of myrrhe, and to the hill of frankincenſe. 7 Thou art all fair, my love, there is no ſpot in thee. 8 Come with me from Lebanon, my ſpouſe, with me from Lebanon: look from the top of Amana, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the lions dens, from the mountains of the leopards. 9 Thou haſt raviſhed my heart, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe; thou haſt raviſhed my heart with one of thine eyes, with one chain of thy neck. 10 How fair is thy love, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe? how much better is thy love than wine? and the ſmell of thine ointments than all ſpices? 11 Thy lips, O my ſpouſe, drop as the honey-comb: honey and milk are under thy tongue, and the ſmell of thy garments is like the ſmell of Lebanon. 12 A garden incloſed is my ſiſter, my ſpouſe: a ſpring ſhut up, a fountain ſealed. 13 Thy plants are an orchard of pomegranates, with pleaſant fruits, camphire, with ſpikenard, 14 Spikenard and ſaffron, calamus and cinnamon, with all trees of frankincenſe, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chief ſpices. 15 A fountain of gardens, a well of living waters, and ſtreams from Lebanon. 16 Awake, O north-north-wind, and come thou ſouth, blow upon my garden, that the ſpices thereof may flow out: let my beloved come into his garden and eat his pleaſant fruits.

Behold thou art fair] The Lord of the Church is here introduced, deſcribing the beautiful State of it, under the Perſon of a lovely Virgin; whoſe elegant Features are particularly repreſented to raiſe Admiration and Love in others, and to give the Church the Comfort of being ſo amiable in his Eyes, whom no Beauty can pleaſe but that which is Divine. And they are repreſented by Compariſons borrowed from the Country: Which was moſt ſuitable to a Bucolick, or Paſtoral Poem.

Thy Temples are like a Piece of a Pomegranate within thy Locks] Here two or three Words puzzle Interpreters. Firſt, that which we tranſlate Temples; which are not reckon'd as a Part of the Beauty of the Face, eſpecially being covered by the Locks: And why they ſhould be liken'd to a Slice of a Pomegranate, is hard to tell. Grotius therefore, by the Temples underſtands the Cheeks (as the Vulgar doth) which in regard of their Redneſs, are like to the Grains, or Kernels within a Pomegranate. So the Chaldee indeed interprets the other Word, a Piece of Pomegranate; when he thus gloſſes, they are repleniſhed (viz. juſt and pious Men, to whom he applies it) with Precepts, as a Pomegranate; i. e. as a Pomegranate is with Kernels or Grains with which it abounds, and to which that Interpreter, no doubt, hath Reſpect.

But the learned Dr. Caſtell has more clearly explained theſe Words, and the laſt alſo; and has made them all eaſy and natural, by ſhewing that the whole Clauſe is thus moſt exactly tranſlated: As the Flower of the Pomegranate, ſo are thy Cheeks without a Veil. So he tranſlates the laſt Words, which we met withal before, Ver. 1. Mibbaath letſammetach, not within thy Locks, but without thy Veil; that is, when thy Veil is laid aſide, thy Cheeks appear of a moſt lovely Colour; for ſuch is that of the Pomegranate Flower; the pureſt White and Red, moſt exactly mixed.

Thou haſt raviſhed mine Heart with one of thine Eyes, with one Chain of thy Neck] All the Difficulty here is, what may be thought to be meant by one of her Eyes, and one Chain of her Neck. Some take Eyes to ſignify Faith and Charity; others the Church of the Jews and Gentiles; and then one Eye muſt ſignify the Glance, one Look of thy Eyes. But Alcuimus, by the Word one, underſtands Oneneſs, or Unity; and by the Eyes (as Ver. 1.) the Paſtors and Guides of the Church; and by the one Wreath of Hair about the Neck, the pious Unity of the People ſubject to them.

It may be interpreted alſo, the leaſt Glance I have of thee and of thy Beauty, mightily engages my Love to thee; for the Eyes are the very Seat of Love, as Abundance of Authors expreſs it.

A Garden encloſed is my Siſter, my Spouſe] Some good Authors think, that Solomon here deſcribes a perfect Virgin; like a Garden newly encloſed, in which no Seed hath been ſown; as the Doctors ſpeak in Perke Eliezer, Cap. 21. which hath made ſome Chriſtian Writers apply this to the Care of the Church, to preſerve herſelf pure and undefiled, &c. But it is more agreeable to what goes before, and follows after, to expound it, as Theodoret does, of the Church bringing forth not only the Fruits of Godlineſs and Virtue, but all Sorts and Variety of Fruit, like an excellent Garden; and therefore guarded by the ſingular Care and Providence of her Lord and Owner, from Tyrants and Hereticks; who, like wild Beaſts or Thieves, would deſtroy or deflower her.

A Fountain ſealed] It's poſſible, ſays Patrick, that theſe Words may be a Deſcription of the Chriſtian Font or Baptiſm; to which none were admitted, but ſuch as ſincerely renounced all Wickedneſs, reſolving and promiſing to lead a holy Life. Which Senſe Theodoret may be thought to have expreſſed, when he ſaith, the Church is compared to a Fountain ſealed, as not lying expoſed to all Comers, but only to thoſe who are worthy. Tho' his next Words ſeem to confine this Paſſage to the Myſteries, in the other Sacrament of Chriſt's Body and Blood; which they only that are already initiated in the Chriſtian Church can partake of; and not all they neither, but ſuch only as do not after their Initiation wallow again in Filthineſs; but live accurately, or purify themſelves by Repentance, if they fall into any Sin.

CHAP. V.

Chriſt anſwers the Church's Invitation. She confeſſes her Negligence. Her Charge to the Daughters of Jeruſalem, and their Anſwer. A Deſcription of Chriſt by his Graces, in whom ſhe boaſts.

Ver. 1. I Am come into my garden, my ſiſter my ſpouſe; I have gathered my myrrh with my ſpice, I have eaten my honey-comb with my honey, I have drunk my wine with my milk: eat, O friends, drink, yea, drink abundantly, O beloved. 2 I ſleep, but my heart waketh: it is the voice of my beloved that knocketh, ſaying, Open to me, my ſiſter, my love, my dove, my undefiled: for my head is filled with dew, and my locks with the drops of the night. 3 I have put off my coat, how ſhall I put it on? I have waſhed my feet, how ſhall I defile them? 4 My beloved put in his hand by the hole of the door, and my bowels were moved for him. 5 I roſe up to open to my beloved, and my hands dropped with myrrhe, and my fingers with ſweet ſmelling myrrhe, upon the handles of the lock. 6 I opened to my beloved, but my beloved had withdrawn himſelf, and was gone: my ſoul failed when he ſpake: I ſought him, but I could not find him; I called him but he gave me no anſwer. 7 The watchmen that went about the city, found me, they ſmote me, they wounded me; the keepers of the walls took away my vail from me. 8 I charge you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, if ye find my beloved, that ye tell him that I am ſick of love. 9 What is thy beloved more than another beloved, O thou fairreſt among women? what is thy beloved more than another beloved, that thou doſt ſo charge us? 10 My beloved is white and ruddy, the chiefeſt among ten thouſand. 11 His head is as the moſt fine gold, his locks are buſhy, and black as a raven. 12 His eyes are as the eyes of doves by the rivers of waters, waſhed with milk, and fitly ſet. 13 His cheeks are as a bed of ſpices, as ſweet flowers: his lips like lilies, dropping ſweet ſmelling myrrhe. 14 His hands are as gold rings ſet with the beryl: his belly is as white ivory overlaid with ſapphires. 15 His legs are as pillars of marble, ſet upon ſockets of fine gold: his countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars. 16 His mouth is moſt ſweet: yea, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jeruſalem.

Unto that Invitation which is made by the Spouſe in the latter End of the foregoing Chapter, the Bridegroom here gives an Anſwer; and teſtifies his Acceptance by coming to taſte the Fruit of his Garden, nay, to make a Feaſt in it; of which He calls his Friends and Companions to be Partakers, after the Manner of thoſe Countries. His receiving Fruit from his Garden is expreſſed in theſe Words, I have gathered my Myrrh, with the reſt of the Spices ment ed in the former Chapter. Then follows the Feaſt (which they always made when they gather'd the Fruits of the Earth) in theſe Words, I have eaten my Honey-comb with my Honey, &c. Which is put inſtead of all other Things, becauſe it was one of the greateſt Entertainments of thoſe Countries: As appears from hence, that it was among the Preſents ſent to Joſeph when Viceroy of Egypt, Gen. xliii. 11. and brought to David by the great Men of the Country, as Part of his Proviſion, while he dwelt among them in his Baniſhment, 2 Sam. xvii. 29. and is mentioned alſo by Homer, at the Entertainment which Hecamede gave Neſtor and Patroclus; before whom ſhe ſet green or freſh Honey.

...nd as that comprehends all Royal Dainties that were to be eaten, ſo Wine and Milk, all the Liquors at this Feaſt: Whereby is repreſented the Joy he took in this Fruit of his Garden. In which Joy he would have all good Men, and Angels themſelves (Luke xv. 7, 10.) to participate in the higheſt Meaſure; that their Joy, as our Lord ſpeaks, may be full: For that's the Meaning of Drink, yea, drink abundantly, O Beloved.

By the Particulars of the Entertainment may be underſtood the Evangelical Doctrine, and the Good Works of Chriſtians: If by Myrrh and Spices any ſpecial Thing be deſigned, I ſhould think, ſays Patrick, it is the Martyrs, who offer'd up themſelves moſt acceptable Sacrifices unto Chriſt, and made greater Joy in Heaven, than the mere Repentance could do. And the Joy that Chriſt took in ſuch victorious Souls, as laid down their Lives for Him, did but heartily entertain his Doctrine, is expreſſed by their Feaſting with him, Rev. iii. 20.

The laſt Words, Eat, O Friends, drink, &c. may ſolemnly be applied to the Euchariſt: Where we feaſt with Chriſt on his Sacrifice, and He feaſts with us, beholding our Love to Him and one to another.

At Ver. 2. begins a new Scene, or Part of this Pastoral Song: Wherein Solomon repreſents himſelf as having loſt that clear Sight of the Meſſiah, which he had in the foregoing Viſion, Ch. iii. 4. (for they could not always keep up their Minds to ſuch a Pitch of Contemplation) but falling into a Trance, thought he heard his Voice (tho' he ſaw not his Perſon) ſpeaking to his Spouſe: Whom Solomon conceives to be in the ſame Condition, wherein he then was himſelf, and to hear thoſe Words ſpoken, Ver. 1. between ſleeping and waking. So the firſt Words of this Verſe ſignify, I ſleep, but my Heart waketh; the ſame with thoſe of Balaam, Numb. xxiv. 4. falling (aſleep) but having my Eyes open. In which Condition the Greeks deſcribe their Saturn; of whom they ſay, ſleeping he ſaw, and waking he ſlept.

She therefore having but an imperfect Senſe of his Kindneſs to her, and Preſence with her, he awakens her to attend more lively to his Love; which He was deſirous more fully to diſcover; and therefore calls upon her by more Names of Endearment than ever: For here are four put together, the following riſing ſtill higher than the foregoing. And he repreſents (after the Manner of Lovers) what he had ſuffered to gain her Affection: Which ſeems to be the Meaning of the laſt Words, My Head is filled with Dew, and my Locks with the Drops of the Night. Wherein he is repreſented as a beautiful Nazarite, having buſhy Hair, and many Locks (as Samſon had) who having travelled all night to viſit her, was thereby very wet. For there were two Sorts of Dew; the Morning Dew, which was ſoon gone, Hoſ. vi. 4. xiii. 3. and that Dew which fell in the Night, and lay long, and wet thoſe who were in it very much; whereby is ſignified in Scripture, hardſhips and great Afflictions, Dan. iv. 25.

Some indeed by Dew, underſtand the Evangelical Doctrine, by which innumerable Souls were begotten to Chriſt, as David propheſied Pſ. cx. 3. But this is not agreeable to what follows; and their Reaſon for this Expoſition is not true, that Dew is always taken in a good Senſe; for I have ſhewn the contrary; and the Dripping of the Prophets (a Metaphor taken from Dew) is their propheſying againſt a Place, and threatening Judgments to come upon it, Ezek. xxi. 2. Amos vi. 16. which inclines me to think, that Solomon here rather alludes to the laſt Verſe of the cxth Pſalm (if he had that Pſalm in his Eye) which predicts the Troubles and Afflictions of the Meſſiah, by drinking of the Brook in the Way.

CHAP. VI.

An Enquiry after Chriſt; the Church's Anſwer, and Confeſſions of her Faith in Chriſt. Chriſt ſhews the Graces of his Church, diſcovers his Affection for her, and invites her to return to him again.

Ver. 1. WHither is thy beloved gone, O thou faireſt among women? whither is thy beloved turned aſide? that we may ſeek him with thee. 2 My beloved is gone down into his garden, to the beds of ſpices, to feed in the gardens, and to gather lilies. 3 I am my beloveds, and my beloved is mine: he feedeth among the lilies. 4 Thou art beautiful, O my love, as Tirzah, comely as Jeruſalem, terrible as an army with banners. 5 Turn away thine eyes from me, for they have overcome me: thy hair is as a flock of goats that appear from Gilead. 6 Thy teeth are as a flock of ſheep which go up from the waſhing, whereof every one beareth twins, and there is not one barren among them. 7 As a piece of a pomegranate are thy temples within thy locks. 8 There are threeſcore queens, and fourſcore concubines, and virgins without number. 9 My dove, my undefiled is but one; ſhe is the only one of her mother, ſhe is the choice one of her that bare her: the daughters ſaw her and bleſſed her; yea, the queens and the concubines, and they praiſed her. 10 Who is ſhe that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the ſun, and terrible as an army with banners? 11 I went down into the garden of nuts to ſee the fruits of the valley, and to ſee whether the vine flouriſhed, and the pomegranates budded. 12 Or ever I was aware, my ſoul made me like the chariots of Amminadib. 13 Return, return, O Shulamite, return, return, that we may look upon thee: what will ye ſee in the Shulamite? as it were the company of two armies.

Thou art beautiful, O my Love, as Tirzah] Tirzah was a beautiful Situation in the Country of Ephraim; and therefore made choice of after theſe Times by Jeroboam for the Seat of the Kingdom; and ſo continued till the Building of Samaria, as we read 1 Kings xiv. 17. xv. 21, 23. and ſeveral other Places; to which add Joſh. xii. 24. The very Original of the Word, ſignifies as much as Urbs amabilis, or a City that pleaſeth one; and therefore choſen by one of the antient Kings of Canaan, for the Place of his Reſidence.

And leſt this ſhould not be nigh enough, he compares her to Jeruſalem, which was the moſt lovely Place in the Territories of Judah, and indeed of the whole Country. For which Cauſe, as it had been the Seat of one of the Kings of Canaan, ſo the Royal Palace of David, nay, the Houſe of God himſelf, was afterward there built; and is called by Jeremiah in his Lamentations, the Perfection of Beauty, the Joy of the whole Earth, Ch. ii. 15. as the moſt famous City in the Eaſt.

And as ſhe had commended Him before, not only for his Beauty but Majeſty; ſo He doth here, in the laſt Place, call her terrible as an Army ſtanding in Battalia; talia; ſtriking an Awe into Beholders. So, ſays Patrick, I think it is to be expounded, as referring ſtill to the Goodlineſs of her Aſpect, and not to her being invincible, inexpugnable, and ſtriking Terror into her Enemies; as ſome interpret the whole Verſe. Every Part of which ſeems to be a new Proof, that Solomon ſpeaks not in this Book of one ſingle Perſon (whom ſome fancy the Shulamite, others Pharaoh's Daughter; whom others take for one and the ſame) under the Name of the Spouſe; but of a Body or Society of Men: For none elſe can be fitly compared to Cities, nay, to great Armies drawn up under their Banners. Which laſt Part of this Verſe may be applied to the comely Order which Chriſt appointed in his Church; which, while it was preſerved, made the Church very venerable in the World. Some refer this Terribleneſs, as we tranſlate it, to the Gravity, or rather Severity of her Countenance, which forbad all wanton Approaches to ſo great a Beauty.

There are threeſcore Wives, and fourſcore Concubines] Here, moſt think, Solomon alludes to the Number of his own Wives; who were fewer, they ſuppoſe, in the Beginning of his Reign (as Bochart himſelf gathers from theſe Words) and that then he compoſed this Song, before he let the Reins of his Luſt ſo prodigiouſly looſe, as afterwards we read he did, 1 Kings xi. 1, &c. But it is not at all likely that he had ſo many as are here mentioned, while his Mind was filled with ſuch divine Raptures as theſe. And therefore, I ſuppoſe, ſays Patrick, he alludes to the Cuſtom of other Princes in the Eaſt; who, beſides their principal Wives, that were ſolemnly eſpouſed and endowed, had alſo another Sort, who were neither; and yet were Wives, called by the Hebrews, Philagſhim, Concubines. And ſuch a Difference the Romans antiently made between her whom they called Matrona, who was only taken in Marriage; and her whom they called Mater-familias, who was taken alſo to order and govern the Family, and whoſe Children inherited.

And then threeſcore and fourſcore are only a certain Number for an uncertain; not the preciſe Number of theſe Wives and Concubines. Theodoret thinks, by theſe are myſtically intended ſeveral Ranks of Chriſtians in the Church; ſome more, ſome leſs perfect. But Patrick thinks it is much better to accommodate theſe to the ſeveral Sorts of Heretical and Schiſmatical Churches. Some of which gloried in the Multitude of their Followers, and in their Wealth and Splendor: But Chriſt hath only one Catholick Church, more glorious than them all put together; as it follows here in the next Verſes.

CHAP. VII.

A farther Deſcription of the Church's Face. Chriſt's Deſign to viſit the Church. She profeſſes her Faith, and invites him to a Communion with her.

Ver. 1. HOW beautiful are thy feet with ſhoes, O princeſs daughter! the joints of thy thighs are like jewels, the work of the hands of a cunning work man. 2 Thy navel is like a round goblet, which wanteth not liquor: thy belly is like an heap of wheat, ſet about with lilies. 3 Thy two breaſts are like two young roes that are twins. 4 Thy neck is as a tower of ivory, thine eyes like the fiſh-pools in Heſhbon, by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy noſe is as the tower of Lebanon, which looketh toward Damaſcus. 5 Thine head upon thee is like Carmel, and the hair of thine head like purple, the king is held in the galleries. 6 How fair and how pleaſant art thou, O love, for delights? 7 This thy ſtature is like to a palm-tree, and thy breaſts to cluſters of grapes. 8 I ſaid I will go up to the palm-tree, I will take hold of the boughs thereof: now alſo thy breaſts ſhall be cluſters of the vine, and the ſmell of thy noſe like apples; 9 And the roof of thy mouth like the beſt wine, for my beloved, that goeth down ſweetly, cauſing the lips of thoſe that are aſleep to ſpeak. 10 I am my beloveds, and his deſire is towards me. 11 Come, my beloved, let us go forth into the field: let us lodge in the village. 12 Let us get up early to the vineyards, let us ſee if the vine flouriſh, whether the tender grape appear, and the pomegranates bud forth: there will I give thee my loves. 13 The mandrakes give a ſmell, and at our gates are all manner of pleaſant fruits, new and old, which I have laid up for thee, O my beloved.

They who earneſtly ſolicited the Return of the Spouſe in the Concluſion of the former Chapter, ſeem now to have a View of her again, and praiſe her Perfection in a new Method; beginning at the Feet and ſo upward (whereas before, Ch. iv. her Deſcription was from the Head and ſo downward) becauſe they ſaw her in Motion; when ſhe went away and now at her Return to them: Whom they call the Princes Daughter, alluding to Pſ. xlv. 13, 14. and conceiving her to be that Royal Bride, whoſe Cloathing is there repreſented as very glorious. And accordingly they admire her very Shoes or Sandals (by whoſe Shape the Beauty of the Feet was diſcerned) which were wont to be ſet with Gems, as we learn from many Authors, ſee Judith 4. xvi. 9.

The Joints of thy Thighs are like Jewels, the Work of the Hands of a cunning Workman] Now the Feet not being conſidered here as naked, in all Reaſon we ought not to expound the next Words of the naked Thighs (the Diſcovery of which had been immodeſt) but of the Cloathing of them round about. For ſo that Word which we tranſlate Joints is expounded by others, the Circuit, or, as the LXX. the whole Preparation or Model; which was as fine as the Ornaments that adorned them. So Chelaim ſignifies; which Solomon here obſerves is an Arabick Word, denoting not Jewels, (as we tranſlate it) but the fine Attire or Trimming, wherewith Women deck themſelves to ſet off their Beauty.

Which agrees with what follows, The Work of the Hands of a cunning Workman. Where Workman alſo ſignifies, not any Artificer, but a Goldſmith, who makes Wires, Laces, Wreaths, Rings, and ſuch like little Ornaments of Gold and Silver, as Women uſed.

Chriſtian Writers apply this to the Apoſtles, going through the World to preach the Goſpel, whoſe Stedfaſtneſs herein, may be alſo here repreſented; tho' it may as well be applied to Chriſtians going chearfully to worſhip God in their publick Aſſemblies.

Thy Navel is like a round Goblet, &c.] The Garments, I doubt not, ſays Patrick, of theſe Parts are ſtill deſcribed in this Verſe. For what Reſemblance hath the Belly itſelf of any Perſon (which, beſides, had not been ſeemly to deſcribe) unto an Heap of Wheat ſet with Lilies? And they ſeem to me to have had in their Eyes, that Apparel of wrought Gold, mentioned Pſ. xlv. 13. aud repreſent that Part of it which covered the Belly, to be of raiſed or embоſſed Work reſembling an Heap of Wheat. By which it is poſſible may be meant, many Sheaves of Wheat embroidered round about (as the King's Daughter's Raiment was Pſ. xlv. 14.) with Flowers, eſpecially with Lilies. And then this was a Figure wherein Harveſt was repreſented. Which is no unlikely Conjecture; for antiently, no thing was more honourable than to follow Tillage or Paſturage. From whence it is, that we find in the latter End of Homer's 18th Iliad; that the Device contrived by Vulcan in Achilles's Shield, was Reapers, cutting down ripe Corn; and the King himſelf ſtanding in a Furrow, and providing a Dinner for them.

Now in the very Midſt of this Work, I conceive there was a Fountain: Which I take to be the Meani of the first Words of the Verse, Thy Navel is a round Goblet, which wanteth not Liquor; that is, a great Bowl or Bason was wrought in the Center of the Embroidery; full of Water, which ran from above continually into it. Or, a Conduit, running with several Sorts of Liquors, into a great Bowl. Unto which the Word hammazog (importing a Mixture) seems to incline the Sense.

What is the mystical Meaning of this Hieroglyphick Vesture (as it may be called) is very hard to say. It may be applied to the Sacraments, which the Church administers to her Children; the Font in Baptism being represented by the former, and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper by the other Part of this Figure.

CHAP. VIII.

The Church expresses her Desires of a nearer Intimacy with Christ. Her Charge to the Daughters of Jerusalem. A Commendation of the Church for her Faith in Christ. She prays for a full Assurance of his Love. The Calling of the Gentiles. The Church prays for Christ's Coming.

Ver. 1. O That thou wert as my brother that sucked the breasts of my mother; when I should find thee without, I would kiss thee, yea I should not be despised. 2 I would lead thee, and bring thee into my mothers house, who would instruct me: I would cause thee to drink of spiced wine of the juice of my pomegranate. 3 His left hand should be under my head, and his right hand should embrace me. 4 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, that ye stir not up, nor awake my love until he please. 5 (Who is this that cometh up from the wilderness, leaning upon her beloved?) I raised thee up under the apple-tree: there thy mother brought thee forth, there she brought thee forth that bare thee. 6 Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death, jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame. 7 Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned. 8 We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we do for our sister, in the day when she shall be spoken for? 9 If she be a wall, we will build upon her a palace of silver: and if she be a door, we will inclose her with boards of cedar. 10 I am a wall, and my breasts like towers: then was I in his eyes, as one that found favour. 11 Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon, he let out the vineyard unto keepers: every one for the fruit thereof was to bring a thousand pieces of silver. 12 My vineyard which is mine is before me: thou, O Solomon, must have a thousand, and those that keep the fruit thereof, two hundred. 13 Thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken to thy voice: cause me to hear it. 14 Make haste, my beloved, and be thou like to a roe, or to a young hart upon the mountains of spices.

We have a little Sister, and she hath no Breasts: What shall we do for our Sister in the Day that she shall be spoken for] These are manifestly the Words of the Bride, says Pool, still continuing her Speech. The present Church, which was that of the Jews, speaks of the other future Church, which was to consist of the Gentiles, which she calls little, because she was the younger Sister, and then scarce had a Being; and she calls her her Sister, partly, because she was so in the Purpose of God, their common Father, tho' then a Stranger to him; and partly, to intimate, that the Gentile Church should be admitted to the Participation of the same Privileges with that of the Jews. — Hath no Breasts. No grown and full Breasts, as Virgins have when they are ripe for Marriage, Ezek. xvi. 7. which signifies the then doleful State of the Gentiles, which were not grown up into a Church Estate, and wanted the Milk or Food of Life, both for itself and for its Members. — What shall we do for our Sister? Teach us to know and perform our Duty to them, which is to embrace them with sincere and fervent Affections, to promote their Coming to Christ, and to rejoice in it, and not to envy or murmur at it, as the Jews did in the Days of Christ, and his Apostles. — When she shall be spoken for. To wit, for bringing her into the State of Matrimony; when Christ and his Apostles, and others the Ministers of the Gospel, who were Members of the Jewish Church, did speak and act for the Conversion of the Gentiles.

If she be a Wall, we will build upon her a Palace of Silver; and if she be a Door, we will inclose her with Boards of Cedar] This seems to be Christ's Answer to the foregoing Question of the Jewish Church, concerning their Sister Church of the Gentiles, for which they were very solicitous. Christ therefore engages himself to take Care of her, and to provide for her, as the Matter may require, and best suit her Condition. If the Gentiles, when they are converted, shall be like a Wall, strong and firm in Faith, stedfast against all Assaults and Temptations; for a Wall, in Scripture Use, signifies Strength, Isa. xxvi. 1. Jer. xv. 20. and elsewhere. — We, my Father, and I, and the Holy Ghost, as the principal Builders, and my Ministers, as Workers with and under us. — Will build upon her a Palace of Silver, will add more Strength and Beauty to her, will enlarge and adorn her, make her more amiable in my Eyes, and more glorious in the Eyes of the World. — And if she be a Door, which is weaker than a Wall, and where the Enemy doth or may break in upon her; if she be weak in Faith, and sometimes overcome by the Tempter, yet we will not therefore reject and forsake her, but we will inclose, or (as many others render the Word) strengthen, or fortify her with Boards of Cedar, which are not only beautiful, but also strong and durable. If she be sincere, and open the Door of her Heart to me, tho' she be weak, I will come in to her, and make her stronger.

Thou, O Solomon, must have a thousand, and those that keep the Fruit thereof, two Hundred] These are the Church's Returns to Christ, who is here called Solomon, as he was Ch. iii. 9, 11. as elsewhere he is called David. Dost thou, O Christ, keep thine own Vineyard, which Solomon did not? Then surely it is meet that thou shouldest receive as large a Revenue from thy Vineyard, as he did from his. — And those that keep the Fruits thereof, two Hundred. Tho' the chief Revenue thereof belongeth, and is justly given to thee, yet thy Ministers, who serve thee in thy Vineyard, shall have, and are allowed by thee to receive, some Encouragement for their Service. See 1 Cor. ix. 7.

By Breasts, Ver. 10. some understand the two Testaments, or the two Sacraments: But these are rather Christ's than the Church's Breasts. Others, the Church's fervent Love to Christ, and to all the Saints, for the Breasts signify Love, Prov. v. 19. Cant. i. 13. Others, her Fruitfulness, both in good Works, and in bringing up Children unto Christ, like a Nurse with her Breasts.

The Reader will observe, that we have not attempted an Explanation of a great Number of the Metaphors made use of in this Book; for the very best Authors know not what to make of, or how to apply many of them; and we thought it better to be quite silent, than to give Conjectures at random. Let it suffice to say, that the Design of the Book in general, is to describe the passionate Loves and happy Marriage of two Persons, their mutual Satisfaction in that happy State, and the bleſſed Fruits and Effects thereof. But then it is not to be underſtood carnally, concerning the Nuptials of Solomon and Pharaoh's Daughter, as ſome have vainly imagined; altho' the Occaſion of this Love and Marriage might poſſibly be taken from that; or rather, he makes an Alluſion to that; but ſpiritually, concerning God, or Chriſt, and his Church and People. This is ſufficiently evident from the Deſcriptions of this Bridegroom and Bride, which are ſuch as could not, with any Decency, be uſed or meant concerning Solomon and Pharaoh's Daughter; as when he is brought in like a Country Shepherd, Ch. i. 7. and is called his Bride's Brother, Ch. v. 2. and when he gives ſuch high and exceſſive Commendations to himſelf, and when ſhe is made the Keeper of Vineyards and of Sheep, Ch. i. 6, 8. and to be like Pharaoh's Horſes, to have an Head like Carmel, a Noſe like a Tower, Eyes like Fiſh-pools, Teeth like a Flock of Sheep, &c. Ch. vii. 4, 5. There are alſo many other ſuch Kind of Expreſſions and Deſcriptions, which being applied literally to Solomon and his Bride, are abſurd and monſtrous.

Hence it follows, that this Book is to be underſtood myſtically, or allegorically, concerning the ſpiritual Love and Marriage which is between God and Chriſt, and his Church, or every believing Soul. And this will appear more than probable from the following Particulars.

1. That the Scriptures both of the Old and New Teſtament, are full of myſtical and allegorical Paſſages, which being known and confeſſed, is needleſs to prove.

2. That the Doctrine of Chriſt, or the Meſſiah, and of his being the Head, Huſband, and Saviour of God's Church or People, was not only well known, at leaſt to the Prophets, and the wiſe and pious Iſraelites, in the Time of the Old Teſtament, but alſo in the Writings of Moſes, in the Books of Pſalms and Proverbs, and in the Prophets, as may be eaſily proved.

3. That God compares himſelf to a Bridegroom, and his Church to a Bride, Iſa. lxii. 5. Hoſ. ii. 16, 19, 20. In which Places, by comparing theſe with many other Texts of Scripture, by God, or the Lord, is meant Chriſt, the ſecond Perſon in the Godhead, who then was to come down, and ſince then did come from Heaven to Earth, for the Conſummation of that eternal Project, the Marriage between God and his People. Which alſo is confirmed by the Writings of the New Teſtament (which were deſigned for the Explication of the Old) in which Chriſt is expreſly declared to be the Bridegroom or Huſband of his Church, Matt. ix. 15. and xxii. 2. John iii. 29. 2 Cor. xi. 2. Epheſ. v. 23. Rev. xix. 7, &c.

The xlvth Pſalm, which is a Kind of Abridgment of this Book, was written concerning the Meſſiah, as Interpreters, both Chriſtian and Jewiſh, agree, and concerning the myſtical Marriage between Chriſt and his Church.

The antient Jews, comparing theſe ſacred Books which go in Solomon's Name, to the three Parts of the Temple that he built, they liken the Proverbs to the Porch, Eccleſiaſtes to the Holy Place, and this Canticle to the moſt Holy; to ſignify that it is the Treaſury of the moſt ſacred and higheſt Myſteries of Holy Scripture. And, indeed, the Subject thereof is not ſo much concerning the ordinary State of the Elect, nor of the common Actions of their Faith and Piety, nor of God's ordinary Benefits beſtowed upon them; as of the fir Fruits of the Virtues of the Age to come, of the in ward Infuſion of Chriſt's Grace into their Hearts, an of the unſpeakable Comforts of his Spirit, with the lift ing up of the Soul and Mind, and of the ſtrong Ef fects of Faith in the greateſt Endeavours, and of th Divine Love, purged from all worldly Thoughts an Affections. All theſe are by Solomon repreſented i this Book, bringing in by a prophetick Spirit, Chri dead, riſen again, and aſcended into Heaven, after h had contracted a ſpiritual Marriage with the Church and every faithful Soul, coming from Time to Tim (while ſhe is reſident in this World, expecting the Ac compliſhment of the Marriage in Heaven) to viſit he with new Aſſurances of Love, and the Enjoyment o his Preſence, with inward Incitements to yield unt him all Duties of Love, Faith, Perſeverance and Invo cation, and eſpecially to follow him with her Heart u to Heaven, where he reſides in Glory, and whither in his appointed Time, he will gather her, where ſhe is ſcattered, up unto him.

Theſe Virtues he deſcribes two Ways; in the on the Church or faithful Soul, prevents him with her D fires and Prayers. In the other, ſhe is prevented b Chriſt, who preſents himſelf unto her unawares: T ſhew, on the one Side, it is proper for her to deſi with Fervency to reliſh theſe firſt Fruits; and on t other, that the Time and Means to obtain them are Chriſt's free Appointment, and when it pleaſeth hi tho' he never quite deprives God's Children in th World, in Caſe they be deſired with a holy Zeal, a the Soul diſpoſed thereunto with a religious Preparatio If the Church receives them readily and fervently, the enſueth all Manner of Joy and Comfort; but if ſhe ſlack and negligent therein, the Occaſion is loſt, a there follow great Troubles and Afflictions. Both W there always appeareth the infinite Love of Chriſt, a the Church's lively Faith and interchangeable Lo Whereupon ſhe burſts forth into divine Praiſes, a Admiration of her Bridegroom's Perfections, which viſh her in Faith, Love, and Joy. And Chriſt alſo his Side, by his Approbation authorizeth and exalt the Gifts and Graces which he hath conferred on Church by the Spirit of Regeneration, and exhorts to a lively and continual aiming at the Mark of heavenly Vocation. Which ſhe alſo proteſts equa to deſire, framing herſelf, notwithſtanding, to the N ceſſity of ſtaying the Time prefixed by the Lord; pr ing him always to ſtrengthen her in her Weakn Chriſt is brought in accompanied by his Friends, the Church by her Companions. His Friends are holy Angels, and glorified Spirits: Her Companions the particular Churches, or the faithful Souls, or th who deſire to join themſelves unto her by Faith. C makes the Angels Partakers of his Rejoicing, becauſe the Work of his Grace. The whole Body of Church communicates her Knowledge, Inſtructi and Light, to the faithful Souls, or to the partic Churches, extending her Care even to the Gentiles, whoſe Calling ſhe hath been informed and inſtruc by the Lord. Now it is to be conſidered, that wha ever is ſpoken in this Book, in poetical and figura Terms, muſt be directly referred to ſpiritual Meanin to which it perfectly and properly belongs; whe ſhould it be taken in any other Senſe, there would nothing but monſtrous Abſurdities.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophecies of Iſaiah may be divided into three Parts. The firſt Part includes ſix Chapters relating to the Reign of Jotham; the ſix following Chapters relate to the Reign of Ahaz, and all the reſt to the Reign of Hezekiah. The great Deſign of what he does, is, to foretel the Captivity of Babylon, the Return of the People from that Captivity, and the flouriſhing Kingdom of the Meſſiah: But the whole Book is highly ſerviceable to the Church of God in all Ages, for the Conviction of Sin, Direction in Duty, and Conſolation in Trouble; and its Author may be juſtly ſtiled a great Prophet, whether we conſider the Extent and Variety of his Predictions, the Sublimity of the Truths which he reveals, the Majeſty and Elegancy of his Stile, the Loftineſs of his Metaphors, or the Livelineſs of his Deſcriptions.

St. Jerom, in his Introduction to Iſaiah's Prophecy tells us, that his Writings are, as it were, an Abridgment of the Holy Scriptures, and a Collection of all the moſt uncommon Knowledge, that the Mind of Man is capable of.

Rotius compares this Prophet with the great Grecian Orator, Demoſthenes; for in him, ſays he, we meet with all the Purity of the Hebrew Tongue, as in the other, there is all the Delicacy of the Attick Taſte. Both are ſublime and magnificent in their Stile, vehement in their Emotions, copious in their Figures, and very impetuous, when they ſet off Things of an enormous Nature, or ſuch as are grievous or odious: But there is one Thing wherein the Prophet was ſuperior to the Orator, and that is, in the Honour of his illuſtrious Birth, and Relation to the Royal Family of Judah; and therefore what Quintilian ſays of Corvinus Meſſala, may be juſtly applied to him, viz. that he ſpeaks in an eaſy and flowing Manner, and in a Stile, which ſhews him to be a Man of Quality.

As touching his Perſon and Time, ſays Pool, he was of the King's Stock (for Amoz his Father, was Brother to Azariah King of Judah, as the beſt Writers agree) and he propheſied more than Sixty four Years, from the Time of Uzziah, to the Reign of Manaſſeh, whoſe Father-in-law he was (as the Hebrews write) and by whom he was put to Death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one Thing is to be obſerved, that they ſpeak of Things to come, as tho' they were now paſt, becauſe of the Certainty thereof, and that they could not but come to paſs, becauſe God had ordained them in his ſecret Counſel, and ſo revealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

Judah's Sins; her Judgments; her Worſhip is rejected. Exhortations to Repentance. Promiſes of Grace and Mercy. Threatnings of ſore Judgments; and Complaints by Reaſon of their Backſlidings.

1 THE viſion of Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, which he ſaw concerning Judah and Jeruſalem, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah. 2 Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth: for the Lord hath ſpoken, I have nouriſhed and brought up children, and they have rebelled againſt me. 3 The ox knoweth his owner, and the aſs his maſter's crib: but Iſrael doth not know, my people doth not conſider. 4 Ah ſinful nation, a people laden with iniquity a ſeed of evil doers, children that are corrupters, they have forſaken the Lord, they have provoked the holy One of Iſrael unto anger, they are gone away backward. 5 Why ſhould ye be ſtricken any more? ye will revolt more and more: the whole head is ſick, and the whole heart faint. 6 From the ſole of the foot even unto the head, there is no ſoundneſs in it; but wounds, and bruiſes, and putrifying ſores: they have not been cloſed, neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment. 7 Your country is deſolate, your cities are burnt with fire: your land, ſtrangers devour it in your preſence, and it is deſolate as overthrown by ſtrangers. 8 And the daughter of Zion is left as a cottage in a vineyard, as a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, as a beſieged city. 9 Except the Lord of hoſts had left unto us a very ſmall remnant, we ſhould have been as Sodom, and we ſhould have been like unto Gomorrah. 10 Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom; give ear unto the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrah. 11 To what purpoſe is the multitude of your ſacrifices unto me? ſaith the Lord: I am full of the burnt-offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beaſts, and I delight delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he-goats. 12 When ye come to appear before me, who hath required this at your hand to tread my courts? 13 Bring no more vain oblations, incenſe is an abomination unto me, the new moons and ſabbaths, the calling of aſſemblies I cannot away with, it is iniquity, even the ſolemn meeting. 14 Your new-moons, and your appointed feaſts my ſoul hateth: they are a trouble unto me, I am weary to bear them. 15 And when ye ſpread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood. 16 Waſh ye, make you clean, put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes, ceaſe to do evil, 17 Learn to do well, ſeek judgment, relieve the oppreſſed, judge the fatherleſs, plead for the widow. 18 Come now let us reaſon together, ſaith the Lord: though your ſins be as ſcarlet, they ſhall be as white as ſnow; though they be red like crimſon, they ſhall be as wool. 19 If ye be willing and obedient, ye ſhall eat the good of the land. 20 But if ye refuſe and rebel, ye ſhall be devoured with the ſword: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it. 21 How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgment, righteouſneſs lodged in it; but now murderers. 22 Thy ſilver is become droſs, thy wine mixt with water. 23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loveth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they judge not the fatherleſs, neither doth the cauſe of the widow come unto them. 24 Therefore ſaith the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, the mighty one of Iſrael, Ah, I will eaſe me of mine adverſaries, and avenge me of mine enemies. 25 And I will turn mine hand upon thee, and purely purge away thy droſs, and take away all thy tin. 26 And I will reſtore thy judges as at the firſt, and thy counſellors as at the beginning: afterward thou ſhalt be called, The city of righteouſneſs, the faithful city. 27 Zion ſhall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteouſneſs. 28 And the deſtruction of the tranſgreſſors, and of the ſinners ſhall be together, and they that forſake the Lord ſhall be conſumed. 29 For they ſhall be aſhamed of the oaks which ye have deſired, and ye ſhall be confounded for the gardens that ye have choſen. 30 For ye ſhall be as an oak whoſe leaf fadeth, and as a garden that hath no water. 31 And the ſtrong ſhall be as tow, and the maker of it as a ſpark, and they ſhall both burn together, and none ſhall quench them.

The Viſion of Iſaiah the Son of Amoz] The Signification of the Name Iſaiah is, Salvation from the Lord. He was of the Stock of David, and Lineage of Chriſt, and is called by Way of Eminence, the Evangelical Prophet. This Book is a Revelation or Prophecy, which was one of the two Means whereby God declared himſelf to his Servants in old Time, as Numb. xii. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1 Sam. ix. 9. Iſaiah was chiefly ſent to Judah and Jeruſalem, but in this Book are Prophecies concerning other Nations.

For they ſhall be aſhamed of the Oaks which ye deſired] That is, the Oaks which after the Manner of the Heathen, you have conſecrated to idolatrous Uſes, that under them you might worſhip your Idols, as they did. Ezek. vi. 13. Hoſ. iv. 3.

CHAP. II.

A Prophecy of Chriſt's Kingdom, the Call of the Gentiles, and Rejection of the Jews. The great Majeſty and Power of God; and his Terrors on the Wicked. An Exhortation to fear God, and not to truſt in Man.

Ver. 1. THE word that Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſaw, concerning Judah and Jeruſalem. 2 And it ſhall come to paſs in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's houſe ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the top of the mountains, and ſhall be exalted above the hills; and all nations ſhall flow unto it. 3 And many people ſhall go and ſay, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the houſe of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths, for out of Zion ſhall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem. 4 And he ſhall judge among the nations, and ſhall rebuke many people: and they ſhall beat their ſwords into plow-ſhares, and their ſpears into pruning-hooks: nation ſhall not lift up ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learn war any more. 5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord. 6 Therefore thou haſt forſaken thy people the houſe of Jacob, becauſe they be repleniſhed from the eaſt, and are ſooth-ſayers like the Philiſtines, and they pleaſe themſelves in the children of ſtrangers. 7 Their land alſo is full of ſilver and gold, neither is there any end of their treaſures; their land is alſo full of horſes, neither is there any end of their chariots. 8 Their land alſo is full of idols: they worſhip the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made. 9 And the mean man boweth down, and the great man humbleth himſelf: therefore forgive them not. 10 Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the duſt, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty. 11 The lofty looks of man ſhall be humbled, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be bowed down, and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day. 12 For the day of the Lord of hoſts ſhall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up, and he ſhall be brought low; 13 And upon all the cedars of Lebanon that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Bathan, 14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up, 15 And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall, 16 And upon all the ſhips of Tarſhiſh, and upon all pleaſant pictures. 17 And the loftineſs of man ſhall be bowed down, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be made low: and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day. 18 And the idols he ſhall utterly abolish. 19 And they ſhall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty, when he ariſeth to ſhake terribly the earth. 20 In that day a man ſhall caſt his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which they made, each one for himſelf to worſhip, to the moles and to the bats: 21 To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majeſty, when he ariſeth to ſhake terribly the earth. 22 Ceaſe ye from man whoſe breath is in his noſtrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?

And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt Days, that the Mountain of the Lord's Houſe ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the Top of the Mountains, and ſhall be exalted above the Hills; and all Nations ſhall flow unto it] And, or now, as this Particle is rendered, 1 Sam. ix. 1. — In the laſt Days. In the Times of the Meſſiah, or the Goſpel, as the Generality of Jewiſh and Chriſtian Writers underſtand it, as appears from the Uſe of this Phraſe, Jer. xlviii. 47, &c. and from the Converſion of the Gentiles here promiſed, which was not to be till that Time; and from the Nature of the Thing, for this was really the laſt Time and State of the Church in the World; the Jewiſh Pædagogy was to be aboliſhed, but Chriſt's Inſtitutions were to continue to the End of the World. — The Mountain of the Lord's Houſe. The Temple of the Lord which was upon Mount Moriah; which yet is not to be underſtood literally of that material Temple, but myſtically of the Church of God, as appears from the next following Words, which will not admit of a literal Interpretation, and from the flowing of all Nations into it, which was not to that Temple, nor indeed was fulfilled till that Temple was deſtroyed; and from the frequent Uſe of this Metaphor, the Temple, or, the Houſe of the Lord, concerning the Chriſtian Church; both in the Old and New Teſtament, ſhall be exalted over the Hills, ſhall be placed and ſetled in a moſt glorious Manner, being advanced above all other Churches and Kingdoms in the World. — All Nations. Thoſe Gentiles whom ye deſpiſe, and hoge to be abhorred and quite forſaken of God. — Shall flow unto it. Shall come in great Abundance, and with great Eagerneſs, like a River, as the Word ſignifies.

Nation ſhall not lift up Sword againſt Nation, neither ſhall they learn War any more] The Meaning of theſe Words is this; He ſhall root thoſe great Animoſities and Hoſtilities which were between Jews and Gentiles, Eph. ii. 13, &c. and between ſeveral Nations, ſubduing Mens Pride, Paſſions, and Luſts, which are the Cauſes of all Wars and Contentions; and working Humility, Meekneſs, and Self-denial, and true and fervent Love to all Men, from whence Peace neceſſarily follows. This was the Deſign of the Goſpel in all, and the Effect of it in thoſe that rightly received it. And that War and Diſſention, which were occaſioned by the Preaching of the Goſpel, as was foretold, Matt. x. 21, 22. it was wholly accidental, by Reaſon of Mens corrupt Intereſt and Luſts, which the Goſpel oppoſed, and it was not among thoſe who received the Goſpel in the Love of it, but between them and thoſe who were either open Enemies or falſe Friends to them and to the Goſpel. But if this Place be underſtood of an external and general Peace, which was to be in the World, in the Days of the Meſſiah, this alſo in due Time may be verified, when all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, and the Fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall be brought in, and both Jews and Gentiles ſhall be united together into one Fold, under Chriſt their great Shepherd; all which are propheſied and promiſed, John x. 16. Rom. xi. and elſewhere; for it is not neceſſary that all the Prophecies concerning the Kingdom of the Meſſiah ſhould be accompliſhed in an Inſtant, or at the Beginning of it; but it's ſufficient if they are fulfilled before the End of it; and ſome of them do manifeſtly belong to the laſt Days of that Kingdom. And therefore there is no Truth nor Weight in that Argument which the Jews bring from this Place, againſt our Meſſiah, becauſe of thoſe Wars which have hitherto been, and ſtill are among Chriſtians; for this doth not prove that theſe Wars ſhall never ceaſe; or that there ſhould not be ſuch a Peace in the World as they underſtand before the End of Chriſt's Kingdom.

CHAP. III.

Great Confuſion on both People and Rulers for their Sins. Peace to the Righteous, and Miſery to the Wicked. The Oppreſſion and Covetouſneſs of the Rulers. The Pride of their Women.

Ver. 1. FOR behold, the Lord, the Lord of hoſts doth take away from Jeruſalem, and from Judah, the ſtay and the ſtaff, the whole ſtay of bread, and the whole ſtay of water, 2 The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient, 3 The captain of fifty, and the honourable man, and the counſellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator. 4 And I will give children to be their princes, and babes ſhall rule over them. 5 And the people ſhall be oppreſſed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbour: the child ſhall behave himſelf proudly againſt the antient, and the baſe againſt the honourable. 6 When a man ſhall take hold of his brother of the houſe of his father, ſaying, Thou haſt cloathing, be thou our ruler, and let this ruin be under thy hand: 7 In that day ſhall he ſwear, ſaying, I will not be an healer; for in my houſe is neither bread nor cloathing; make me not a ruler of the people. 8 For Jeruſalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen: becauſe their tongue and their doings are againſt the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his glory. 9 The ſhew of their countenance doth witneſs againſt them, and they declare their ſin as Sodom, they hide it not: wo unto their ſoul, for they have rewarded evil unto themſelves. 10 Say ye to the righteous, that it ſhall be well with him: for they ſhall eat the fruit of their doings. 11 Wo unto the wicked, it ſhall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands ſhall be given him. 12 As for my people, children are their oppreſſors, and women rule over them: O my people, they which lead thee, cauſe thee to err, and deſtroy the way of thy paths. 13 The Lord ſtandeth up to plead, and ſtandeth to judge the people. 14 The Lord will enter into judgment with the antients of his people, and the princes thereof: for ye have eaten up the vineyard; the ſpoil of the poor is in your houſes. 15 What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor? ſaith the Lord God of hoſts. 16 Moreover, the Lord ſaith, Becauſe the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with ſtretched-forth necks, and wanton eyes, walking, and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet: 17 Therefore the Lord will ſmite with a ſcab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion, and the Lord will diſcover their ſecret parts. 18 In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon, 19 The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers, 20 The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the head-bands, and the tablets, and the ear-rings, 21 The rings, and noſe-jewels, 22 The changeable ſuits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the criſping-pins, 23 The glaſſes, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the vails. 24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that inſtead of ſweet ſmell, there ſhall be ſtink; and inſtead of a girdle, a rent; and inſtead of well ſet hair, baldneſs; and inſtead of a ſtomacher, a girding of ſackcloth; and burning inſtead of beauty. 25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy mighty in the war. 26 And her gates shall lament and mourn, and she being desolate, shall sit upon the ground.

Isaiah here describes the grievous and manifold Judgments that would befal the Jews, as well the common People as the Rulers, because of their many and crying Sins, and that God would take away every Thing that the Jews esteemed, or boasted themselves of: But the Prophet assures the Godly, that the Almighty would defend them in the Midst of Troubles. He threatens the People, because of the Arrogance and Pride of their Women, who gave themselves up to all Wantonness and Dissoluteness, delighting to dress themselves lasciviously, after the Manner of loose and wanton Persons. He declares that God will not only punish their Women, but their Husbands, who suffered this Dissoluteness, and also the Commonwealth, which hath not remedied those Enormities.

CHAP. IV.

Ver. 1. AND in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel: only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach. 2 In that day shall the branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and comely for them that are escaped of Israel. 3 And it shall come to pass, that he that is left in Zion, and he-that remaineth in Jerusalem, shall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jerusalem: 4 When the Lord shall have washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and shall have purged the blood of Jerusalem from the midst thereof, by the spirit of judgment, and by the spirit of burning. 5 And the Lord will create upon every dwelling-place of mount Zion, and upon her assemblies a cloud, and smoak by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory shall be a defence. 6 And there shall be a tabernacle for a shadow in the day time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from storm and from rain.

And in that Day seven Women shall take hold of one Man, saying, we will eat our own Bread and wear our own Apparel; only let us be called by thy Name to take away our Reproach] In that Day, of which he had been speaking, Ch. ii. 3. in that calamitous Time. — Seven. Many; a certain Number for an uncertain. — Shall take hold. Shall sue to him, and even lay Hands upon him, contrary to their Custom, and their natural Modesty. — Of one Man. Because few Men shall survive that dreadful Stroke. They who before were not contented with their own Husbands, are now glad of the seventh Part of an Husband. — Wear our own Apparel. We will ease thee of that Charge, which would otherwise fall upon thee by God's Law, Exod. xxi. 10. — Let us be called by thy Name. Own us for thy Wives. — To take away our Reproach. Virginity was esteemed a Reproach, especially among that People, because it was a Token of Contempt from Men, and a Curse of God; Children, the usual Fruit of Marriage, being both an Honour to their Parents before Men, and a great Blessing of God, especially to that People, from some of whose Loins the Messiah was to spring.

In that Day shall the Branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious] By Branch understand, either, 1. The Church and People of Israel, often called God's Vine, or Vineyard, and the Branch of the Lord's planting, Isa. lx. 21. Or, 2. The Messiah, who in Scripture is commonly defined by this Title, the Branch, Isa. xi. 1. Jer. xxiii. 5. and xxxiii. 15. Zech. iii. 1. Whose Name is expressly said to be the Branch, Zech. vi. 12. of whom not only Christians, but even the Hebrew Doctors understand it. For, after the foregoing Miseries were brought on the Jews, by the Remainders of the Grecian Empire, of which Daniel prophesies exactly and particularly, and afterwards by the Roman Empire, the Messiah was born; and after that at the Destruction brought upon the Jewish City, Temple, and Nation by Titus, the Kingdom of the Messiah, became beautiful and glorious, as it is here described.

CHAP. V.

Israel God's Vineyard; his Mercies and their Unthankfulness. Judgments denounced. The great Misery of the Jews. God's Anger, and the Chaldeans against them.

Ver. 1. NOW will I sing to my well-beloved a song of my beloved touching his vineyard: My well-beloved hath a vineyard in a very fruitful hill. 2 And he fenced it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also made a wine-press therein: and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes. 3 And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, betwixt me and my vineyard. 4 What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? wherefore when I looked that it should bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes? 5 And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard; I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up: and break down the wall thereof, and it shall be troden down. 6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be pruned, nor digged, but there shall come up briers and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it. 7 For the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant: and he looked for judgment, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry. 8 Wo unto them that join house to house, that lay field to field, till there be no place, that they may be placed alone in the midst of the earth. 9 In mine ears, said the Lord of hosts, Of a truth many houses shall be desolate, even great and fair without inhabitant. 10 Yea, ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yield an ephah. 11 Wo unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink, that continue until night, till wine enflame them. 12 And the harp and the viol, the tabret and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts: but they regard not the work of the Lord, neither consider the operation of his hands. 13 Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honourable men are famished, and their multitude dried up with thirst. 14 Therefore hell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure; and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it. 15 And the mean man shall be brought down, and the mighty man shall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled bled. 16 But the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy, shall be sanctified in righteousness. 17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waste places of the fat ones shall strangers eat. 18 Wo unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart-rope. 19 That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the holy One of Israel draw nigh and come, that we may know it. 20 Wo unto them that call evil good, and good evil: that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter. 21 Wo unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight. 22 Wo unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink: 23 Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him. 24 Therefore as the fire devoureth the stubble, and the flame consumeth the chaff, so their root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom shall go up as dust: because they have cast away the law of the Lord of hosts, and despised the word of the holy One of Israel. 25 Therefore is the anger of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched forth his hand against them, and hath smitten them: and the hills did tremble, and their carcases were torn in the midst of the streets: For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. 26 And he will lift up an ensign to the nations from far, and will hiss unto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come with speed swiftly. 27 None shall be weary nor stumble amongst them: none shall slumber nor sleep: neither shall the girdle of their loins be loosed, nor the latchet of their shoes be broken. 28 Whose arrows are sharp, and all their bowes bent, their horses hoofs shall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a whirlwind. 29 Their roaring shall be like a lion, they shall roar like young lions: yea, they shall roar and lay hold of the prey, and shall carry it away safe, and none shall deliver it. 30 And in that day they shall roar against them, like the roaring of the sea: and if one look unto the land, behold darkness and sorrow, and the light is darkned in the heavens thereof.

Now will I sing to my well-beloved, a Song of my beloved, touching his Vineyard] As David inscribes his Psalms to his chief Musician; so the Prophet here, speaking in the Person of God, directs this Hymn or Parable, poetically expressed, to his Well-beloved, i. e. Christ: The Beloved is the Messias, called often by that Title in the Canticles, by his Spouse the Church. The Words translated Well-beloved, and Beloved, Dodi Loveth, are in the Hebrew Jedidi, and Dodi, agreeing both in Sound and Signification; and spoken here of the same Person, the Messias, who is called Well-beloved, in respect of his Father, being the Son of his Love, Matt. iii. 17. Col. i. 13. and Beloved, in respect to his Spouse the Church, and known by that Title in the Canticles, to which Book it is probable the Prophet here alludes.

My Well-beloved hath a Vineyard] The Church is often represented under this Figure, as appears by the Texts quoted here in the Margin of our Bibles.

And now, O Inhabitants of Jerusalem, judge, I pray you, between me and my Vineyard] The Case is so plain, that God might venture to refer it to themselves tho' they were Parties concerned. Here the Stile of the Parable is altered from the third Person (see Ver. 2.) to the first; a Variation common in Scripture; and the Sense is the same, whether the Words are spoken by God, or by Christ, who is One with the Father.

Yea, ten Acres of Vineyard shall yield one Bath, and the Seed of an Homer shall yield an Ephah] A Bath, and an Ephah, are the same Measure, and they contain but the tenth Part of an Homer; see Ezek. xlv. 11. By this Computation, the Harvest should produce but the tenth Part of the Seed: We are to distinguish between an Omer and an Homer; the first Letter of the former Word in the Hebrew is Ajin, the first Letter of the latter is Cheth. An Omer is the tenth Part of an Ephah, Exod. xvi. 36. whereas an Ephah is but the tenth Part of an Homer.

Hell hath enlarged herself] The Word Scheol, signifies the Grave or State of the Dead. See Ch. xiv. 9. Job xxvi. 6. Prov. xv. 11.

Then shall the Lambs feed after their Manner, and the waste Places of the fat ones shall Strangers eat] While Strangers devour the Possessions of those who have grown rich by Oppression; compare Ch. i. 7. the Lambs, i. e. Good Men shall be under the peculiar Care of Providence, and shall want nothing that is necessary for their Support. God is often represented as a Shepherd, and his Care of the Righteous described by their feeding securely in rich Pastures. Ps. xxiii. 1. Isa. lxv. 10.

CHAP. VI.

Isaiah's Call to the prophetick Office, with a Prediction of the Unsuccessfulness of his Ministry, by reason of the Hardness of the People's Hearts.

Ver. 1. IN the year that king Uzziah died, I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple. 2 Above it stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly. 3 And one cried unto another, and said Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts, the whole earth is full of his glory. 4 And the posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoak. 5 Then said I, Wo is me, for I am undone, because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts. 6 Then flew one of the seraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar. 7 And he laid it upon my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity is taken away, and thy sin purged. 8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me. 9 And he said, Go and tell this people, Hear ye indeed, but understand not; and see ye indeed, but perceive not. 10 Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes: lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and convert and be healed. 11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Until the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate, 12 And the Lord have removed men far away, and there be a great forsaking in the midst of the land. 13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and it shall return, and shall be eaten: as a teil-tree, and as an oak whose whoſe ſubſtance is in them, when they caſt their leaves: ſo the holy ſeed ſhall be the ſubſtance thereof.

I ſaw the Lord ſitting upon a Throne] That is, the Divine Shekinah, or the Glory of the Lord, as St. John explains it, John xii. 41. who alſo aſſures us that it was the Logos, or ſecond Perſon of the Bleſſed Trinity who now appeared, this Viſion having a particular Relation to the Times of the Goſpel, ſee Ver. 9, 10. It was the unanimous Senſe of the antient Church, that all the Divine Appearances in the Old Teſtament, were made by the Son of God, by whom all the Affairs of the Church were ordered from the Beginning. See this proved both from the New Teſtament and the Fathers, by Biſhop Bull, Defenſ. Fid. Nicen. Cap. 1. Sect. 1. Dr. Allix hath ſhewed that the antient Jews were of the ſame Opinion, in his Judgment of the Jewiſh Church againſt the Unitarians.

And his Train filled the Temple. Above it ſtood the Seraphims] God is always repreſented as attended with a numerous Train of Angels, ſee Pſ. lxviii. 17. Deut. xxxiii. 2. Dan. vii. 10. For this Reaſon the Cherubims were placed in the Temple, as over-ſhadowing the Mercy-ſeat, to which Poſture the next Words here allude, Above it ſtood the Seraphims, which might better be tranſlated, Above him (i. e. the Lord) ſtood the Seraphims. We read in Ezekiel, Ch. x. 20. xi. 22. that the Cherubims were under the God of Iſrael, and his Glory was over them above; but there God is repreſented, as carried by them in a triumphal Chariot, which the modern Jews call the Mercavah, and the Pſalmiſt expreſſes by God's riding upon the Heavens, Pſ. lxviii. 33. and flying upon the Wings of the Wind, Pſ. xviii. 10. The Seraphims are called ſo from their bright Colour, like that of flaming Fire. See Ezek. i. 3. Pſ. civ. 4. There ſeem to be only two Seraphims repreſented in this Viſion, in Imitation of the two Cherubims over the Ark.

With Twain he covered his Face] Out of Reverence toward God, as being unable to bear the Glory of his Majeſty. See Exod. iii. 6. 1 Kings xix. 13.

With Twain he covered his Feet] Or lower Parts: The Hebrew expreſſes the Nakedneſs, or ſecret Parts, by the Feet. See Gen. xlix. 10. Deut. xxviii. 57. Judg. iii. 24. Iſa. vii. 20. The Expreſſion applied to Angels imports thoſe Imperfections, to which even the Angelical Nature is liable, when compared with the infinite Purity of the Divine Majeſty. See Job iv. 18. The Stars themſelves not being pure in his Sight, as the ſame holy Writer ſpeaks, Ch. xxv. 8.

With Twain he did fly] This denotes his Readineſs to execute God's Commands.

And one cried to another, and ſaid] From hence came the Cuſtom of ſinging Pſalms and Hymns alternately, which was uſed in the Jewiſh Church. See Ezra iii. 11. and from thence derived unto the Chriſtians. Thus many Interpreters underſtand St. Paul's Words, Eph. v. 19. ſpeaking to one another in Pſalms and Hymns. The ſame Cuſtom is mentioned by Pliny, in his famous Epiſtle to Trajan, Lib. x. Ep. 97. where he gives an Account of the Chriſtians, and deſcribing their Manner of Worſhip, ſaith, that they do Carmen Chriſto quaſi Deo dicere ſecum invicem, They ſing by Turns an Hymn to Chriſt as God.

Then flew one of the Seraphims to me, having a live Coal in his Hand] Signifying thereby the Gift of Utterance, repreſented by fiery Tongues, Acts ii. 3. and the Efficacy of God's Word uttered by the Prophets, compared elſewhere to Fire, Jer. v. 14. xxiii. 29. The Uſe of Fire is likewiſe to cleanſe and purify. See the following Verſe.

And he laid it upon my Mouth] To ſignify, that all the Gifts and Graces that purify the Mind, and enable us for the Diſcharge of any particular Function, come from God. Compare Jer. i. 9.

Who will go for us] So God ſpeaks in the plural Number, Gen. i. 26. which is juſtly thought to imply a Plurality of Divine Perſons: For it cannot be ſaid with any Probability, that God is deſcribed in Geneſis, as adviſing with, or communicating his Purpoſes to t Angels, which is the Fancy of the Rabbins; becau the Hiſtory of the Creation takes no Notice of Angel and conſequently there is no Ground for interpretin any Text in the firſt Chapter of Geneſis with relation them.

Go tell ye this People, hear ye indeed, but underſta not] The Imperative is put for the Future; ſee C ii. 9. and ſo the Septuagint here underſtand. Th Threatning is denounced for their former Contempt God's Meſſages. Compare Matt. xiii. 12, &c.

Make the Heart of this People fat, &c.] The Pr phets are ſaid to do Things, when they declare God Purpoſe of doing them. See Jer. i. 10. Ezek. xli 3. So here Iſaiah is ſaid to harden the People's He and to blind their Eyes, i. e. to declare this to be t Event of his Preaching; which Prophecy ſhould more ſignally accompliſhed, when the Jews ſhould r ject the Preaching, both of Chriſt and his Apoſtles.

This St. John expreſſes by hardening their Hear John xii. 40. So that it becomes inſenſible. Com pare Pſ. cxix. 70. God is ſaid to harden Mens Hear by thoſe very Means of Grace, which are in themſelv proper to produce a quite contrary Effect; b withal he foreſees, that meeting with a perverſe a refractory Temper, they will in the Event make the more obdurate, and he is reſolved, for great and wi Reaſons, not to hinder it.

Then ſaid I, Lord, how long? And he anſwered, u til the City be waſted without Inhabitant] The Proph aſks, how long ſhall this Blindneſs or Obſtinacy, a the Puniſhments which it will bring upon this Pe ple continue? To which Queſtion God returns an Anſw to this Effect: There is no Hope of Reformation; t People will be irreclaimable, and God will contin his Judgments, till at laſt they end in a final Deſol tion; their Country will be laid waſte, and the Inh bitants carried away captive to Babylon: And the ſam Incredulity under the Goſpel, will have the ſame, worſe Effects; for the Romans ſhall take away both the Place and Nation.

CHAP. VII.

The Royal Family of Judah being under great A prehenſions from the Invaſion of Rezin and Pe kah, the Prophet aſſures them, that their Fa mily ſhould not be extinct, but the Meſſias, due Time, ſhould riſe out of it; and theſe two Kings and their Kingdoms be deſtroyed; but fir tels other Calamities to Judah.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the days o Ahaz the ſon of Jotham, the ſo of Uzziah king of Judah, that Rezin the kin of Syria, and Pekah the ſon of Remaliah, kin of Iſrael, went up toward Jeruſalem to wa againſt it, but could not prevail againſt it. And it was told the houſe of David, Saying, Sy ria is confederate with Ephraim. And his hear was moved, and the heart of his people, as th trees of the wood are moved with the wind. Then ſaid the Lord unto Iſaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz, thou, and Shear-jaſhub thy ſon at the end of the conduit of the upper pool i the high-way of the fullers field: + And ſa unto him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of theſe ſmoaking fire-brands, for the fierce anger of Re zin with Syria, and of the ſon of Remaliah: Becauſe Syria, Ephraim, and the ſon of Rema liah have taken evil counſel againſt thee, ſaying 6 Let us go up againſt Judah, and vex it, an let us make a breach therein for us, and ſet king in the midſt of it, even the ſon of Tabea 7 Thus ſaith the Lord God, It ſhall not ſtand neithe neither ſhall come to paſs. 8 For the head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus is Rezin; and within threeſcore and five years ſhall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a people. 9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs ſon: If ye will not believe, ſurely ye ſhall not be eſtabliſhed. 10 Moreover the Lord ſpake again unto Ahaz, ſaying, 11 Aſk thee a ſign of the Lord thy God, aſk it either in the depth, or in the height above. 12 But Ahaz ſaid, I will not aſk, neither will I tempt the Lord. 13 And he ſaid, hear ye now, O houſe of David, Is it a ſmall thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God alſo? 14 Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign, Behold, a virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, and ſhall call his name Immanuel. 15 Butter and honey ſhall he eat, that he may know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good. 16 For before the child ſhall know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good, the land that thou abhorreſt ſhall be forſaken of both her kings. 17 The Lord ſhall bring upon thee and upon thy people, and upon thy fathers houſe, days that have not come, from the days that Ephraim departed from Judah; even the king of Aſſyria. 18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall hiſs for the fly, that is in the uttermoſt part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Aſſyria. 19 And they ſhall come, and ſhall reſt all of them in the deſolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all thorns, and upon all buſhes. 20 In the ſame day ſhall the Lord ſhave with a raſor that is hired, namely by them beyond the river, by the king of Aſſyria, the head, and the hair of the feet: and it ſhall alſo conſume the beard. 21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a man ſhall nouriſh a young cow, and two ſheep: 22 And it ſhall come to paſs for the abundance of milk that they ſhall give, he ſhall eat butter: for butter and honey ſhall every one eat that is left in the land. 23 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that every place ſhall be, where there were a thouſand vines, at a thouſand ſilverlings, it ſhall even be for briers and thorns. 24 With arrows and with bows ſhall men come thither; becauſe all the land ſhall become briers and thorns. 25 And on all hills that ſhall be digged with the mattock there ſhall not come thither the fear of briers and thorns: but it ſhall be for the ſending forth of oxen, and for the treading of leſſer cattel.

The Head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the Head of Damaſcus is Rezin] That is, the Kingdom of Syria ſhall not extend itſelf beyond its antient Bounds. Damaſcus ſhall be the Metropolis only of Syria, and Rezin ſhall have no other royal City under his Government beſides Damaſcus.

And within threeſcore and five Years ſhall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a People]: Archbiſhop Uſher hath given the cleareſt Explication of this difficult Verſe, in his Annals of the Old Teſtament, Ad A. M. 3327. where he explains it, not of the firſt Captivity of the Ten Tribes by Salmaneſer, but of their final Deportation by Aſar-haddon, who totally diſpeopled the Land, and brought new Inhabitants from Babylon, Cuthah, and other Cities of the Aſſyrians, to inhabit the Cities of Iſrael: See Ezra iv. 2. compared with 2 Kings xvii. 24. And then Ephraim, or Iſrael, wholly ceaſed from being a People. This laſt Captivity that learned Prelate places in the 22d Year of Manaſſeh's Reign, which is is juſt ſixty five Years from the Beginning of Ahaz's Reign.

Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a Sign] He ſhall give it unaſk'd, and ſuch a Sign as could not enter into your Thoughts to deſire. This ſhews that the promiſed Sign was an extraordinary Miracle, the immediate Work of God, ſuch as a Son of a Virgin is; which therefore muſt be the genuine Senſe of the following Words.

Behold a Virgin ſhall conceive, and have a Son] Chriſt is called the Seed of the Woman, by Way of Diſtinction, Gen. iii. 14. as not to be born in the ordinary Way of Generation. The Hebrew Word Almah moſt properly ſignifies a Virgin, and ſo it is tranſlated here by all the antient Interpreters; and is never once uſed in the Scripture in any other Senſe, as ſeveral learned Men have proved againſt the Pretenſions of the modern Jews. The primary Signification of the Word Almah, is hid, or concealed; from whence it is taken to ſignify a Virgin, becauſe of the Cuſtom in the Eaſtern Countries to keep their Virgins concealed from the View of Men, never ſuffering them to ſtir out of the Womens Apartment.

And ſhall call his Name Immanuel] This is ſpoken of the Mother, who uſually gave the Name to the Child: See Gen. iv. 1. xvi. 11. xxix. 32. xxx. 6, 8. To be called, is the ſame in Scripture Phraſe as to Be; Name being put for Thing in the Hebrew Dialect. To this Senſe the Word Dabar is often uſed in the Old Teſtament; and Luke i. 38. the Original reads, with God no Word ſhall be impoſſible, i. e. no Thing: So it is ſaid of Chriſt, Ch. ix. 6. his Name ſhall be called Wonderful, i. e. he ſhall be a wonderful Perſon; and Ch. i. 26. Jeruſalem ſhall be called a City of Righteouſneſs; i. e. her Manners ſhall anſwer to that Title: Thus are we to underſtand the Meſſiah's being called Immanuel, i. e. being really what that Name imports, i. e. God with us; being both truly and properly God, and ſo called Ch. ix. 6. and alſo living or dwelling with us Men. In the ſame Senſe we are to underſtand that Prophecy of Chriſt, Jer. xxiii. 6. This is his Name whereby he ſhall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. Several other Texts of the Old Teſtament ſpeak of the Meſſias as God: See Ch. xxxv. 4. xlviii. 16. Iſa. xl. 9, 10. Hoſ. i. 7. Zech. ii. 10, 11. Mal. iii. 1.

Butter and Honey ſhall he eat — For before the Child ſhall know to refuſe the Evil and chuſe the Good, the Land that thou abhorreſt ſhall be forſaken of both her Kings] According to the Judgment of ſeveral Interpreters, theſe two Verſes are a plain Proof, that this Prophecy, tho' in its true and natural Senſe it can be fulfilled in none but the Meſſiah, yet had an immediate Aſpect upon ſome particular Event that ſhould quickly happen; viz. That within the Time that one who is now a Virgin could marry, and bring forth a Son, and that Son come to Years of Diſcretion, the two Kings of Samaria and Damaſcus ſhould be deſtroy'd.

But other learned Men, particularly Archbiſhop Uſher in his Annals, ad A. M. 3262. ſuppoſe this Prophecy to be applied to none but Chriſt; accordingly he explains the 15th and 16th Verſes in this Senſe, Butter and Honey ſhall he eat, i. e. Chriſt ſhall take upon him the Infirmities of Childhood, and ſhall be fed with the common Nouriſhment given to Children in thoſe Countries, which was Milk, or Butter and Honey. Then he ſuppoſes the Prophet to point to his Son Shear-jaſhub, whom he took along with him; ſee Ver. 3. and to tell Ahaz for his preſent Comfort, that before that Child ſhould come to diſcern Good from Evil, the Land of Iſrael, and its two confederate Kings, ſhould be deſtroyed by the King of Aſſyria. To confirm this Expoſition, it may be obſerved, that Iſaiah mentions but two of his own Children, Shear-jaſhub, Ver. 3. and Maherſhalalhaſh-baz, Ch. viii. 3. and never calls Immanuel his Son; from whence we may juſtly conclude, that he was a diſtinct Perſon from them both; and, indeed, the eldeſt Son, or Heir of the Houſe of David, and King of Judea: See Ch. viii. 8.

If we ſuppoſe theſe Words applicable to any Perſon that was to be born quickly after the uttering this Prophecy, the Senſe of them will be, that tho' the Invaſion of the Land, and the Siege of Jeruſalem, did threaten them with Famine, and altho' under ſuch publick Calamities, there might be no Encouragement to plow and ſow; yet there ſhould not want Plenty of other Proviſions, particularly of Butter and Honey: See Ver. 22. ſuch as were the common Nouriſhment of Children, by the Cuſtom of thoſe Countries.

For the Fly that is in the uttermoſt Parts of the Rivers of Egypt, and for the Bee that is in the Land of Aſſyria] Armies are often compared to Flies, Bees, and other Inſects: See Deut. i. 44. Judg. vi. 5, &c. both for their Number, and for the Deſtruction which they make: See Exod. viii. 24. Aſſyria and Egypt are often joined together as the two great Oppreſſors of God's People: See Ch. xix. 23. xxvii. 13. Zech. x. 10. Archbiſhop Uſher, ad A. M. 3294. ſuppoſes that the Conqueſt of Egypt by the King of Aſſyria, foretold in the xxth Chapter of this Prophecy, happened before the Siege of Jeruſalem by Sennacherib, and that a great many Egyptians were his Auxiliaries in that Expedition.

The Lord ſhall ſhave with a Raſor that is hired] Becauſe ſhaving the Head was uſed in Mourning, Levit. xxi. 5. from whence it is metaphorically uſed for a great Calamity, Ezek. v. 1. And the Invaſion of an Army is particularly reſembled by it here, becauſe that leaves a Country bare, and ſtript of all its Ornaments, among which the Hair hath a principal Place. The Aſſyrian is called an hired Raſor, becauſe God often rewards thoſe whom he makes Inſtruments of his Vengeance upon Sinners, which is expreſſed by giving them their Hire; Ezek. xxix. 18, 19. 2 Kings x. 30.

In that Day, a Man ſhall nouriſh a Cow and two Sheep. And it ſhall come to paſs, that for the Abundance of Milk that they ſhall give, he ſhall eat Butter] The Enemies ſhould make ſuch a Deſtruction both of Man and Beaſt, that there ſhould want Hands and Cattle to till the Ground, ſo that the whole Land ſhould of itſelf turn to Paſture. And thoſe few Inhabitants that ſhould be left, ſhould neither have Flocks nor Herds to feed in thoſe waſte Places, the utmoſt of their Stock ſhould be a Cow and two Sheep, which ſhould give Abundance of Milk by reaſon of the Plenty of Graſs, and want of Cattle to eat it: Whereupon Milk and Butter ſhould be the chief Part of the People's Suſtenance: See Ch. xxxvii. 30.

CHAP. VIII.

The Prophet renews the Promiſes made to Ahaz in the former Chapter, which are to receive their utmoſt Completion in the Meſſias; and foretels the Rejecting of the Jews for their not believing on him.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the Lord ſaid unto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a mans pen, concerning Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz. 2 And I took unto me faithful witneſſes to record, Uriah the prieſt, and Zechariah the ſon of Jeberechiah. 3 And I went unto the propheteſs, and ſhe conceived and bare a ſon; then ſaid the Lord to me, Call his name Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz. 4 For before the child ſhall have knowledge to cry, My father and my mother, the riches of Damaſcus, and the ſpoil of Samaria ſhall be taken away before the king of Aſſyria. 5 The Lord ſpake alſo unto me again, ſaying, 6 Foraſmuch as this people refuſeth the waters of Shiloah that go ſoftly, and rejoice in Rezin, and Remaliahs ſon: 7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth up upon them the waters of the river, ſtrong and many, even the king of Aſſyria, and all his glory: and he ſhall come up over all his chanels, and go over all his banks. 8 And he ſhall paſs through Judah, he ſhall overflow and go over, he ſhall reach even to the neck, and the ſtretching out of his wings ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel. 9 Aſſociate yourſelves, O ye people, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces; and give ear all ye of far countries: gird yourſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces; gird yourſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces. 10 Take counſel together, and it ſhall come to naught; ſpeak the word, and it ſhall not ſtand: for God is with us. 11 For the Lord ſpake thus to me with a ſtrong hand, and inſtructed me that I ſhould not walk in the way of this people, ſaying, 12 Say ye not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people ſhall ſay, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid. 13 Sanctify the Lord of hoſts himſelf, and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread. 14 And he ſhall be for a ſanctuary; but for a ſtone of ſtumbling and for a rock of offence to both the houſes of Iſrael, for a gin, and for a ſnare to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem. 15 And many among them ſhall ſtumble and fall, and be broken, and be ſnared, and be taken. 16 Bind up the teſtimony, ſeal the law among my diſciples. 17 And I will wait upon the Lord that hideth his face from the houſe of Jacob, and I will look for him. 18 Behold, I and the children whom the Lord hath given me, are for ſigns, and for wonders in Iſrael; from the Lord of hoſts, which dwelleth in mount Zion. 19 And when they ſhall ſay unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar ſpirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter; ſhould not a people ſeek unto their God? for the living, to the dead? 20 To the law and to the teſtimony; if they ſpeak not according to this word, it is becauſe there is no light in them. 21 And they ſhall paſs through it, hardly beſtead and hungry: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when they ſhall be hungry, they ſhall fret themſelves, and curſe their king, and their God, and look upward. 22 And they ſhall look unto the earth: and behold, trouble and darkneſs, dimneſs of anguiſh; and they ſhall be driven to darkneſs.

Concerning Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz] The Word ſignifies to run ſwiftly to the Spoil, and make haſte to the Prey; and denotes the ſpeedy Deſtruction of the Confederate Kings of Samaria and Damaſcus, Ver. 4.

And ſhe conceived and bare a Son] This was Iſaiah's ſecond Son, that was given him for a Sign of the Times; See Ver. 18. The Prophets foretold Things by Actions as well as by Words; for Hoſea was commanded to take a Wife of Whoredoms, and have Children by her, Hoſ. i. 2. to ſignify the Jews going a Whoring after other Gods, and being thereupon rejected by the true God. But whether theſe, and ſuch like figurative Repreſentations, were really performed or not, is a great Diſpute among learned Men. For the Reſolution of this Queſtion, ſee Dr. Pocock's Commentary upon the fore-mentioned Place of Hoſea.

And the ſtretching out of his Wings ſhall fill thy Land, O Immanuel] That is, his Army or his Camp, ſhall fill thy Land, as the Septuagint very well expreſs the Senſe. So the Wing of Abominations, as ſome render the Original, Dan. ix. 27. is by many Tranſlators interpreted the abominable Army; which Tranſlation is confirmed by the Authority of St. Luke, Ch. xxi. 20. compared with Matt. xxiv. 15. It has been before obſerved, that the Prophet never calls Immanuel his Son and here he ſpeaks of him as a diſtinct Perſon from both the Children above-mentioned, and in ſuch a Stile as befits none but him that was to be in an eminent Manner the Son of David, and King of Iſrael.

But for a Stone of Stumbling, and a Rock of Offence, to both the Houſes of Iſrael] God and his Promiſes, which ſhall be Mens Refuge and Security, become the Occaſion of Hurt and Miſchief to Unbelievers. Their Sins are aggravated thereby, and their Puniſhments increaſed: See Matt. xxi. 44. But this Text hath a plain Aſpect upon Chriſt: See Rom. ix. 33. 1 Pet. ii. 8. the Immanuel mentioned Ver. 8. in whom all God's Promiſes are verified, 2 Cor. i. 20. but yet the Prophets have foretold concerning him, that he ſhould be Matter of Offence to the Jews, and this their Incredulity ſhould in the End be the Occaſion of their Ruin, and the taking away both their Place and Nation. The Prophet expreſly mentions both the Houſes of Iſrael, to ſhew the general Rejection of the Jews under the Goſpel. This very Expreſſion is a Demonſtration, that the Prophet here enlarges his Views beyond the Subject of Rezin's and Pekah's Aſſociation, which was the immediate Occaſion of this Prophecy: For under thoſe Circumſtances, Iſrael and Judah were two different Intereſts, and the Prophet exhorts the King and People of Judah to truſt in God, who would be their Defence againſt the Deſigns of the Brethren of the Ten Tribes; whereas this Verſe ſpeaks of them as involved in the ſame Sin and Puniſhment.

Bind up the Teſtimony, ſeal the Law among my Diſciples] To ſeal ſignifies ſometimes to ſecure or keep ſafe; in this Senſe it is joined with ſewing up, John xix. 23. the ſame with binding up here. But when the Word is applied to a Book, it ſignifies to conceal, or hide from common Underſtandings, ſee Iſa. xxix. 11. Dan. xii. 4. God here commands the Prophet to deliver his Promiſes, and the ſeveral Declarations of his Will, eſpecially thoſe concerning the Meſſias, to his faithful Servants, to be kept ſafely by them, and laid up in their Memories; and altho' they were at preſent as a Book ſealed up, and not eaſily underſtood; yet when the Event anſwered the Prediction, they would be a Juſtification of God's Truth, and of thoſe who depended upon his Word; of which Number the Prophet profeſſes himſelf to be one, in the following Verſe. The Law and the Teſtimony may ſignify in general, any Declaration of God's Will, ſo as to comprehend his Promiſes as well as his Precepts.

Behold, I and the Children whom the Lord hath given me are for Signs, and for Wonders] Theſe are the Words of the Prophet, as well as the Verſe foregoing, tho' ſpeaking in the Perſon of Chriſt, whom he here repreſents; ſee Heb. ii. 13. and the Meaning of them is, That he and his Children, mentioned Ch. vii. 3. viii. 3. were remarkable for being viſible Pledges of God's Promiſes, and Remembrancers of his Veracity and the People's Duty. For which Reaſon as they were admired and reſpected by well-diſpoſed Perſons; ſo they were made Objects of Scorn and Deriſion to Hypocrites and Unbelievers. See Pſ. lxxi. 7. Zech. iii. 8.

The Word Mophthim, tranſlated Wonders, ſignifies here properly Types or Figures: Shear-jaſhub being a Sign of a Remnant's returning from Captivity, Ch. vii. 3. and Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz, a Type or Figure of the Deſtruction of the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Syria, Ch. viii. 1, 4.

Wizards that peep and that mutter] To peep ſignifies the ſame with the Latin pipire; ſee Ch. x. 14. i. e. to chirp, or to whiſper, and ſo it is tranſlated, Ch. xxix. 4. By peeping and muttering are meant the Anſwers of thoſe who pretended to Familiar Spirits, muttered or ſpoke imperfectly, as if their Voice proceeded out of the Caverns of the Earth; ſee Ch. xlv. 19. or ſpoke hollowly, ſo that their Words ſeemed to come out of the Belly.

CHAP. IX.

The Birth and Kingdom of the Meſſias. The calamitous State of the Ten Tribes, with the provoking Sins they were guilty of in the Midſt of thoſe Judgments.

Ver. 1. NEvertheleſs, the dimneſs ſhall not be ſuch as was in her vexation, when at the firſt he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun, and the land of Naphtali, and afterward did more grievouſly afflict her by the way of the ſea, beyond Jordan in Galilee of the nations. 2 The people that walked in darkneſs, have ſeen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the ſhadow of death, upon them hath the light ſhined. 3 Thou haſt multiplied the nation, and not increaſed the joy: they joy before thee, according to the joy in harveſt, and as men rejoice when they divide the ſpoil. 4 For thou haſt broken the yoke of his burden, and the ſtaff of his ſhoulder, the rod of his oppreſſor, as in the day of Midian. 5 For every battel of the warrior is with confuſed noiſe, and garments rolled in blood, but this ſhall be with burning and fewel of fire. 6 For unto us a child is born, unto us a ſon is given, and the government ſhall be upon his ſhoulder: and his name ſhall be called, Wonderful, Counſellor, The mighty God, The everlaſting Father, The prince of peace. 7 Of the increaſe of his government and peace there ſhall be no end, upon the throne of David and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to eſtabliſh it with judgment and with juſtice, from henceforth even for ever: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts will perform this. 8 The Lord ſent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Iſrael. 9 And all the people ſhall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that ſay in the pride and ſtoutneſs of heart, 10 The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewen ſtones: the ſycomores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars, 11 Therefore the Lord ſhall ſet up the adverſaries of Rezin againſt him, and join his enemies together. 12 The Syrians before, and the Philiſtines behind, and they ſhall devour Iſrael with open mouth: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill. 13 For the people turneth not unto him that ſmiteth them, neither do they ſeek the Lord of hoſts. 14 Therefore the Lord will cut off from Iſrael head and tail, branch and ruſh in one day. 15 The antient and honourable, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail. 16 For the leaders of the people cauſe them to err, and they that are led of them, are deſtroyed. 17 Therefore the Lord ſhall have no joy in their young men, neither ſhall have mercy on their fatherleſs and widows: for every one is an hypocrite, and an evil doer, and every mouth ſpeaketh folly: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill. 18 For wickedneſs burneth as the fire: it ſhall devour the briers and thorns, and ſhall kindle in the thickets of the foreſt, and they ſhall mount up, like the lifting up of ſmoak. 19 Through the wrath of the Lord of hoſts is the land darkened, and the people ſhall be as the fewel of the fire: no man ſhall ſpare his brother. 20 And he ſhall ſnatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he ſhall eat on the left hand, and they ſhall not be ſatisfied: they ſhall eat every man the fleſh of his own arm. 21 Manaſſeh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manaſſeh: and they together ſhall be againſt againſt Judah: For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

Nevertheleſs, the Dimneſs ſhall not be ſuch as was in her Vexation, &c.] Lowth obſerves, that the Writings of the Prophets are very much obſcured by the unſkilful Diviſion of the Chapters, which very often break off in the Middle of a Subject; as at other Times Diſcourſes are joined together, that have no Affinity with each other. Thus, the firſt ſix Words in the Hebrew Text of this Chapter ought to be joined to the laſt Verſe of the laſt Chapter; which Diviſion of the Words is confirmed by the Chaldee Paraphraſt and the vulgar Latin, and is indeed neceſſary for explaining the Prophecy contained in the two firſt Verſes of this Chapter; which if we begin in the Original with the Words Kaëth Hariſhôn, the Verſe may be thus tranſlated according to Mr. Mede: As the firſt (or former) Time made vile (or debaſed) the Land of Zebulun and the Land of Napthali (when the King of Aſſyria, Tiglathpileſer, carried great Part of that Country captive, 2 Kings v. 29.) ſo the latter Time ſhall make them glorious, The Way of the Sea by Jordan, Galilee of the Nations, The People that walked in Darkneſs, &c. This Tranſlation agrees exactly with the Senſe of the Text, as it is applied by St. Matthew to our Saviour's Preaching in Galilee, by the Borders of Zebulun and Napthali, Matt. iv. 13, 14. So that to make the Hebrew Text correſpond with the Senſe of it given by the Evangeliſt, we muſt underſtand it as containing a comfortable Promiſe to thoſe Parts of Judea: Whereas the contrary is rather ſuggeſted in the uſual Tranſlation of the Words. This Tranſlation is likewiſe agreeable to the Stops or Accents which are placed under the Hebrew Text, where we find a full Stop put at the Word Hicbid, which is not taken Notice of in the common Verſions.

But if we follow that Senſe which the Engliſh and moſt other Tranſlations give of the Place, we muſt underſtand the People ſpoken of in the ſecond Verſe, to be the ſame with thoſe mentioned in the firſt.

By the Way of the Sea, beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Nations] By the Sea, is meant the Sea of Galilee, or the Sea of Tiberias; ſee John vi. 1. Great Lakes being called by the Name of Seas in the Hebrew. This Country of Galilee border'd likewiſe upon the River Jordan; Reneber, Hejarden, it is in the Hebrew, which might better be rendered, By the Sea of Jordan; the Word Reneber indifferently ſignifying the hither or further Side of the River. Galilee was divided into the Upper and Lower: The Lower was called by Way of Diſtinction, Galilee of the Nations, or Gentiles; becauſe it was firſt peopled by a mixt Multitude that came from ſeveral Countries or Nations; and therefore called by the Name of Nations, Gen. xiv. 1. and the Nations of Gilgal, mentioned Joſh. xiii. 23. are ſuppoſed by learned Men to mean the ſame with the Nations of Galilee, Gilgal being ſometimes put for Galilee, as appears by comparing Joſh. xv. 7. with Ch. xviii. 17. See likewiſe 1 Mac. ix. 2. compared with Joſephus Antiq. L. XI. C. 18.

As in the Day of Median] By the immediate Hand of God, without any human Aid, as the Victory of Gideon over the Midianites was obtained. See Judg. vii. 22. Iſa. x. 26.

For every Battle of the Warrior is with confuſed Noiſe, and Garments rolled in Blood, but this ſhall be with burning and Fewel of Fire] This Diſcomfiture of God's Enemies ſhall not be effected by the Noiſe of Fighting and Bloodſhed, but by a ſudden Deſtruction, like that of Fire from Heaven, which conſumes in a Moment. The firſt and ſecond Coming of Chriſt are often joined together in the Prophets, and what is here ſaid will receive its ultimate Completion at the laſt Day, when Chriſt ſhall come in flaming Fire taking Vengeance on his Adverſaries; ſee 2 Theſſ. i. 7. God's Vengeance is often deſcribed by the Metaphor of Fire; ſee Ch. xxx. 33. lxvi. 15. Some render the Verſe thus: For the whole Battle of the Warrior ſhall be with confuſed Noiſe, and with Garments rolled in Blood, which muſt be burned and conſumed by the Fire; i. e. the Spots which cannot be cleanſed with waſhing, and therefore are given up to be burnt, the final Puniſhment of Chriſt's Enemies, after they are overcome in Battle by him: See Rev. xx. 9, 10.

For unto us a Child is born] Part of the Prophecy contained in this and the following Verſe is applied by the Angel to Chriſt, Luke i. 31. ſo that no Chriſtian ought to doubt but that the Words muſt be meant of him, the ſame Son propheſied of before, Ch. vii. 14. and the Titles which are here given to this Child or Son, cannot in any tolerable Senſe be applied to any other Perſon.

CHAP. X.

The Sins of the Tribes reproved. Judgments denounced againſt Sennacherib.

Ver. 1. WO unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievouſneſs which they have preſcribed: 2 To turn aſide the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherleſs. 3 And what will ye do in the day of viſitation, and in the deſolation which ſhall come from far? to whom will ye flee for help? and where will ye leave your glory? 4 Without me they ſhall bowe down under the priſoners, and they ſhall fall under the ſlain: For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill. 5 O Aſſyrian, the rod of mine anger, and the ſtaff in their hand is mine indignation. 6 I will ſend him againſt an hypocritical nation; and againſt the people of my wrath will I give him a charge to take the ſpoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire in the ſtreets. 7 Howbeit, he meaneth not ſo, neither doth his heart think ſo; but it is in his heart to deſtroy, and cut off nations not a few. 8 For he ſaith, Are not my princes altogether kings? 9 Is not Calno, as Carchemiſh? is not Hamath, as Arpad? is not Samaria, as Damaſcus? 10 As my hand hath found the kingdoms of the idols, and whoſe graven images did excel them of Jeruſalem, and of Samaria: 11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, ſo do to Jeruſalem and her idols? 12 Wherefore it ſhall come to paſs, that when the Lord hath performed his whole work upon mount Zion, and on Jeruſalem, I will puniſh the fruit of the ſtout heart of the king of Aſſyria, and the glory of his high looks. 13 For he ſaith, By the ſtrength of my hand I have done it, and by my wiſdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treaſures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man. 14 And my hand hath found as a neſt the riches of the people: and as one gathereth eggs that are left, have I gathered all the earth, and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or peeped. 15 Shall the ax boaſt itſelf againſt him that heweth therewith? or ſhall the ſaw magnify itſelf againſt him that ſhaketh it? as if the rod ſhould ſhake itſelf againſt them that lift it up, or as if the ſtaff ſhould lift up itſelf, as if it were no wood. 16 Therefore ſhall the Lord, the Lord of hoſts, ſend among his fat ones leanneſs, and under his glory he ſhall kindle a burning like the burning of fire. 17 And the light of Israel shall be for a fire, and his holy One for a flame: and it shall burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day; 18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful field, both soul and body: and they shall be as when a standard-bearer fainteth. 19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may write them. 20 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Jacob, shall no more again stay upon him that smote them: but shall stay upon the Lord, the holy One of Israel, in truth. 21 The remnant shall return, even the remnant of Jacob, unto the mighty God. 22 For though thy people Israel be as the sand of the sea, yet a remnant of them shall return: the consumption decreed shall overflow with righteousness. 23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make a consumption, even determined in the midst of all the land. 24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of the Assyrian: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift up his staff against thee, after the manner of Egypt. 25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation shall cease, and mine anger in their destruction. 26 And the Lord of hosts shall stir up a scourge for him, according to the slaughter of Midian at the rock of Oreb: and as his rod was upon the sea, so shall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt. 27 And it shall come to pass in that day, that his burden shall be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing. 28 He is come to Aiath, he is passed to Migron: at Michmash he hath laid up his carriages. 29 They are gone over the passage: they have taken up their lodgings at Gema, Ramah is afraid, Gibeah of Saul is fled. 30 Lift up thy voice, O daughter of Gallim: cause it to be heard unto Laish, O poor Anathoth. 31 Madmenah is removed, the inhabitants of Gebim gather themselves to flee. 32 As yet shall ye remain at Nob that day: he shall shake his hand against the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem. 33 Behold, the Lord, the Lord of hosts shall lop the bough with terror: and the high ones of stature shall be hewn down, and the haughty shall be humbled. 34 And he shall cut down the thickets of the forests with iron, and Lebanon shall fall by a mighty one.

O Assyrian, the Rod of mine Anger] The four first Verses of this Chapter (Lowth observes) should have been joined to the foregoing. Here begins a new Prophecy which reaches to the End of the Chapter, and instructs us in this great and important Truth, That God often prospers wicked and tyrannical Governments, to be his Scourge and the Instruments of Vengeance upon others; and when they have done the Work which God allotted them, he then punishes them for those very Oppressions which they have exercised towards their Neighbours, and to which they were carried on purely by their own Ambition and Covetousness, altho' Providence made them serviceable to better Ends and Purposes. The Prophet directs this Discourse to Sennacherib King of Assyria, see Ver. 10.

Howbeit he meaneth not so, neither doth his Heart think so, but it is in his Heart to destroy, and cut off Nations not a few] The Assyrian's Design was purely to extend his Conquests, and thereby gratify his own Ambition: Altho' God, that can bring Good out of Evil, made him instrumental in carrying on the Designs of his Providence. For which Reason God justly punishes those very Princes for the Cruelties they commit, notwithstanding that they are the Instruments of his Vengeance in committing them; because that is beside their own Intention, the Wickedness of the Facts being altogether their own, and the good Ends served by them wholly ascribed unto God. Thus God punished Jehu for his Cruelty towards the House of Ahab, altho' he himself gave him a Commission (2 Kings ix. 7.) to put those very Judgments denounced against Ahab's Family in Execution. See Hos. i. 4. and Isa. xlvii. 7.

And it shall come to pass in that Day] The Expression, in that Day, is not always confined to the Time last spoken of, but often signifies some Time that shall be very remarkable for God's Mercy towards his People. And here it seems to point at that signal Time, when there shall be a general Conversion of the Jews to God. It is usual with the Prophets, when they foretel some extraordinary Event in, or near their own Times, to carry their Views on further, and point at some greater Deliverance which God shall vouchsafe his People in the latter Ages of the World; see Ch. xxiv. 14. xxx. 19.

For tho' my People Israel be as the Sand of the Sea, yet a Remnant shall return] The Remnant so miraculously preserved in Jerusalem from Sennacherib's Invasion, (see Ch. xxxvii. 31, 32.) were a Type or Figure of the small Number of Converts under the Gospel, stiled such as should be saved, Acts ii. 47. (an equivalent Expression to that which is used Ver. 20. and Ch. xxxvii. 31.) viz. such as should escape the Vengeance which fell upon the main Body of the Jewish Nation, for their Sin in rejecting Christ; see Rom. ix. 27. And there will be another Remnant of them that shall be saved in the latter Times of the World.

And the Yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing] For the Sake of God's chosen People (especially the Remnant mentioned Ver. 20, 21.) and likewise for the Preservation of the Kingdom and Priesthood; both which Offices were conferred by the Ceremony of anointing. But without Question the Messias, the anointed in an eminent Sense, (as the Word signifies) and described as such Ps. xlv. 7. is principally intended here, who was to rise from the Stock of Judah, and whose Coming is directly foretold in the following Chapter. God preserved the Kingdom of Judah from utter Destruction, because the Messias was to come from that Tribe.

CHAP. XI.

A Prophecy of the Coming of Christ, and of the Advancement of his Kingdom in the World; also of the latter Times, when the Fulness of the Jews and Gentiles should come into the Church.

Ver. 1. AND there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a branch shall grow out of his roots. 2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge, and of the fear of the Lord: 3 And shall make him of quick understanding in the fear of the Lord, and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears. 4 But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity, for the meek of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked. 5 And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulness the girdle of his reins. 6 The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid: and the calf, and the young lion, and the fatling together, and a little child ſhall lead them. 7 And the cow and the bear ſhall feed, their young ones ſhall lie down together: and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the ox. 8 And the ſucking child ſhall play on the hole of the aſp, and the weaned child ſhall put his hand on the cockatrice den. 9 They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth ſhall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea. 10 And in that day there ſhall be a root of Jeſſe, which ſhall ſtand for an enſign of the people; to it ſhall the Gentiles ſeek, and his reſt ſhall be glorious. 11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall ſet his hand again the ſecond time, to recover the remnant of his people which ſhall be left, from Aſſyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cuſh, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the iſlands of the ſea. 12 And he ſhall ſet up an enſign for the nations, and ſhall aſſemble the outcaſts of Iſrael, and gather together the diſperſed of Judah, from the four corners of the earth. 13 The envy alſo of Ephraim ſhall depart, and the adverſaries of Judah ſhall be cut off: Ephraim ſhall not envy Judah, and Judah ſhall not vex Ephraim. 14 But they ſhall fly upon the ſhoulders of the Philiſtines toward the weſt, they ſhall ſpoil them of the eaſt together: they ſhall lay their hand upon Edom and Moab, and the children of Ammon ſhall obey them. 15 And the Lord ſhall utterly deſtroy the tongue of the Egyptian ſea, and with his mighty wind ſhall he ſhake his hand over the river, and ſhall ſmite it in the ſeven ſtreams, and make men go over dry-ſhod. 16 And there ſhall be an high-way for the remnant of his people which ſhall be left from Aſſyria, like as it was to Iſrael in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

This Prophecy, Lowth ſays, cannot with any Probability be underſtood of Hezekiah, as ſome would explain it; becauſe Hezekiah was born before Ahaz began his Reign, within which Time 'tis certain this Prophecy was uttered, and he was actually King long before Sennacherib's Invaſion, with reſpect to which Juncture of Time, they are willing to explain the Prophecy: Beſides that, the Character of the Perſon here deſcribed can belong to none but Chriſt.

And there ſhall come forth a Rod out of the Stem of Jeſſe, and a Branch ſhall grow out of his Root] The Prophet perſiſts in the Metaphor which he had uſed in the two laſt Verſes of the foregoing Chapter: He there repreſented the Aſſyrian King and the principal Officers of his Army, by the Reſemblance of the talleſt Trees in the Foreſt; and here he deſcribes the Meſſias as a ſmall Twig or Sucker coming out of the Family of David, as out of a Stock or Stem that hath been ſorely lopped and impaired, and hath but juſt Life enough left to propagate its Kind.

And the Spirit of the Lord ſhall reſt upon him] The Meſſias, being the great Prophet foretold by Moſes, Deut. xviii. 15. is deſcribed as more plentifully endued with the Gifts of God's Spirit than any other Prophet ever was; ſee Pſ. xlv. 7. Iſa. xlii. 1. lxi. 1. John iii. 34. Acts x. 38. The Gift of Sanctification is attributed to the Holy Ghoſt. And ſince the Union of the Logos, or Word, with the human Nature of Chriſt, is aſcribed by the ſacred Writers to the Operation of the Holy Ghoſt, all the extraordinary Graces conſequent to that Union, may, upon that Account, be juſtly attributed to the ſame Principle.

The Wolf ſhall dwell with the Lamb, &c.] Theſe metaphorical Expreſſions note, that every Thing ſhall contribute toward a firm and laſting Peace, both inward and outward Occaſions of Diſturbances being removed: The Great and Powerful, that uſed to oppreſs their Inferiors, being diſpoſed to come to Terms of Accommodation. The Words may alſo imply, that God will protect his People againſt all Perſecutions and outward Violence, which is elſewhere expreſſed by his making a Covenant for them with the Beaſts of the Field, Hoſ. ii. 18. compared with Levit. xxvi. 6. Job v. 23. Ezek. xxxiv. 25.

The Lord ſhall ſet his Hand the ſecond Time to recover the Remnant of his People] This Chapter contains a general Prophecy of the Advancement Chriſt's Kingdom ſhould make in the World. But as this Advancement is made by different Steps and Degrees, ſo the ſeveral Parts of this Prophecy may be ſuppoſed to point at different Ages or Periods of Time. And I take this Part of the Chapter, ſays Lowth, from the 10th Verſe onward, to foretel thoſe glorious Times of the Church which ſhall be uſhered in by the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation; when they ſhall embrace the Goſpel, and be reſtored to their own Country from the ſeveral Diſperſions where they are ſcattered: This remarkable Scene of Providence is plainly foretold by moſt of the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, and by St. Paul in the New.

And from the Iſlands of the Sea] The Jews call thoſe Places Iſlands, that lie upon the Sea-coaſts, eſpecially the Countries upon the Mediterranean Sea, the Coaſt whereof they were beſt acquainted with. Thus the Poſterity of Japhet is ſaid to have peopled the Iſlands of the Gentiles, Gen. x. 5. that is, the Sea-coaſts of Aſia and Greece. So that the Expreſſion of the Text may very well comprehend even the European Nations viz. England, Holland, Germany, &c. where the Number is greateſt. And it is obſervable, that generally where the Prophet Iſaiah foretels the Calling of the Gentiles, he makes particular Mention of the Iſlands. See Ch. xli. 1. xlii. 10, 12. xlix. 1. li. 5. lx. 9. which many Interpreters have looked upon as a plain Intimation, that the Chriſtian Religion ſhould take deep Root in thoſe Parts of the World, which were ſeparated from the Jews by the Sea, and peopled by the Poſterity of Japhet, who ſetled themſelves in the Iſlands of the Gentiles. So that the Iſlands, in the prophetic Stile, ſeem particularly to denote the weſtern Parts of the World, or the European Nations; the Weſt being often called the Sea in the Scripture Language. In like Manner ſome explain the Iſles afar off, mentioned Iſa. lxvi. 19. of the weſtern Parts of the World, and ſuppoſe them, with the other Countries there named, to denote the four Quarters of the Earth.

And the Lord ſhall utterly deſtroy the Tongue of the Egyptian Sea, &c.] The Word Tongue, when applied to the Sea, ſignifies a Bay, and ſo it is tranſlated, Jſa. xv. 2, 5. So that by the Tongue of the Egyptian Sea muſt be meant the Bay of the Mediterranean Sea, where the River Nile empties itſelf into the Mediterranean. By the River here is certainly meant the Nile: Compare Ch. xix. 5. xxiii. 3. famous for its ſeven Mouths. So the Verſe imports the Deliverance of the Jews in the latter Times from their ſeveral Captivities, which ſhall be as miraculous as that vouchſafed to them by Moſes, when by lifting up his Rod the Red Sea was divided, and gave them a Paſſage out of Egypt, Exod. xiv. 16.

CHAP. XII.

A Hymn of Praiſe, proper for the triumphant State of the Church.

Ver. 1. AND in that day thou ſhalt ſay, O Lord, I will praiſe thee: though thou waſt angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortedſt me. 2 Behold, God is my ſalvation: I will truſt, and not be afraid; for the Lord JEHOVAH is my ſtrength and my ſong, he alſo is become my ſalvation. 3 Therefore with joy ſhall ye draw water out the wells of salvation. 4 And in that day shall ye say, Praise the Lord, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted. 5 Sing unto the Lord; for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the earth. 6 Cry out and shout, thou inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy One of Israel in the midst of thee.

Therefore with Joy shall ye draw Water out of the Wells of Salvation] From God's Mercy and Bounty, who is the Fountain of Life, and of all Blessings both spiritual and temporal, Ps. xxxvi. 9. Jer. ii. 13. The Jews did use to repeat this Verse, when with a great deal of Joy and Ceremony they drew Water out of the River of Shiloah, upon the last Day of the Feast of Tabernacles; to which Custom our Saviour is supposed to allude, John vii. 37.

CHAP. XIII.

The Prophet foretels the Destruction of Babylon.

1 THE burden of Babylon, which Isaiah the son of Amoz did see. 2 Lift ye up a banner upon the high mountain, exalt the voice unto them, shake the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles. 3 I have commanded my sanctified ones, I have also called my mighty ones for mine anger, even them that rejoice in my highness. 4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people: a tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together: the Lord of hosts mustereth the host of the battel. 5 They come from a far country, from the end of heaven, even the Lord and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land. 6 Howl ye, for the day of the Lord is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty. 7 Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every mans heart shall melt. 8 And they shall be afraid: pangs and sorrows shall take hold of them, they shall be in pain as a woman that travelleth: they shall be amazed one at another, their faces shall be as flames. 9 Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate; and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it. 10 For the stars of heaven, and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine. 11 And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible. 12 I will make a man more precious than fine gold; even a man than the golden wedge of Ophir. 13 Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger. 14 And it shall be as the chased roe, and as a sheep that no man taketh up: they shall all every man turn to his own people, and flee every one into his own land. 15 Every one that is found, shall be thrust through: and every one that is joined unto them, shall fall by the sword. 16 Their children also shall be dashed to pieces before their eyes, their houses shall be spoiled, and their wives ravished. 17 Behold, I will stir up the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, and as for gold, they shall not delight in it. 18 Their bows also shall dash the young men to pieces, and they shall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eye shall not spare children. 19 And Babylon the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. 20 It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there, neither shall the shepherds make their fold there. 21 But wild beasts of the desart shall lie there, and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures, and owls shall dwell there, and satyrs shall dance there. 22 And the wild beasts of the island shall cry in their desolate houses, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and her time is near to come, and her days shall not be prolonged.

The Burden of Babylon] A Burden, in the Language of the Prophets, is a burthensome Prophecy, threatning Ruin and Destruction. This Word came in After-times to be used by Way of Derision of God's Threatnings among the profane Jews, upon which Account he forbad the Use of it; Jer. xxiii. 33, 34.

Lift up a Banner upon the high Mountain, exalt the Voice unto them, shake the Hand] The Use of setting up a Banner is for assembling Men of Arms together, which was for that Reason set upon an high Hill, that it might be the more taken Notice of; see Ch. xviii. 3. xxx. 17. Shaking, or lifting up the Hand, was a Token that serv'd to the same Purpose; see Ch. xlix. 22.

That they may go in to the Gates of the Nobles] To list themselves under the Service of the several great Officers and Commanders.

I have commanded my sanctified ones] That is, those whom I have appointed and set apart for that Purpose. To sanctify War, in the Hebrew Language, is the same as to prepare War; see Jer. vi. 4. Joel iii. 9. To the same Purpose God calls Nebuchadnezzar his Servant, Jer. xxv. 9. and Cyrus his anointed, Isa. xlv. 1. because they were ordained and set apart by God to be the Executioners of his Judgments upon those Nations whom he had marked out for Destruction.

I shall make a Man more precious than fine Gold] This Expression denotes the Havock that should be made of such Men as were fit to bear Arms, which should make them as scarce as Gold, and as valuable: See the like Calamity described, Ch. iv. 1. Or else the Words may import, that the Medes shall spare no Man's Life, tho' he would purchase it with Gold. Compare Ver. 17.

Behold I will stir up the Medes against them] A Nation of no Account when Isaiah uttered this Prophecy; their Country being a Province under the King of Assyria, 2 Kings xvii. 6. and not erected into a distinct Kingdom till Deioces their first King took the Administration of the Government, about the 17th Year of King Hezekiah. But afterwards they grew to be a very considerable People, and made up the principal Part of the Army which was brought against Babylon by Cyrus (who himself was a Median by the Mother's Side) which Army is, upon that Account, described as coming from the North, Jer. l. 9, 41. for so Media lay with respect to Babylon; see likewise Isa. xli. 25. The Medians afterwards, by Cyrus's Means, came to have the chief Share in that Empire, which he erected upon the Ruins of the Babylonian Monarchy, which is therefore called the Kingdom of the Medes and Persians, Dan. v. 28. vi. 8. tho' afterwards the Persians had the Precedence: See Esth. i. 3, 9.

And Babylon the Glory of Kingdoms, the Beauty of the Chaldee's Excellency] The Heathen Writers give almost an incredible Account of the Greatness of the City. The most moderate Accounts suppose its Walls to have been 45 Miles in Compass. That Passage in Jeremy, Ch. li. 31. shews it to be of a vast Extent,

One

One Hoſt ſhall run to meet another, and one Meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the King of Babylon that his City is taken at one End. But Ariſtotle outdoes even this Account, telling us, that when one Part of the City was taken, it was three Days before the other Part knew of it. The Statelineſs of the City was what Nebuchadnezzar gloried in, as the Height of his Greatneſs, Dan. iv. 30.

Shall be, as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah] See the ſame Threatning denounced againſt Babylon, Jer. l. 40, 51, 64. Babylon never recovered its antient Splendor after it was taken by Cyrus: But upon the Removal of the Seat of the Empire from thence by the Perſians, it by Degrees decayed, till it was at laſt reduced to an utter Solitude. See Strabo L. xvi. and Pliny's Nat. Hiſt. L. vi. C. 26. But this did not come to paſs till a conſiderable Time after the taking the City by Cyrus. From whence we may conclude, that this Prophecy looks further, to another Babylon, mentioned in the Revelations, whoſe Deſtruction is threatened in the fore-cited Words of Jeremy, Rev. xviii. 21. This is a pregnant Inſtance, among many others, that the myſtical Senſe of ſeveral Prophecies, that is, the Senſe which is more remotely intended, comes nearer to the Letter of the Prophecies, than that which ſome call the Literal Senſe, and think to have been immediately deſigned by the Prophet.

But wild Beaſts of the Deſart ſhall lie there, and their Houſe ſhall be full of doleful Creatures, and Owls ſhall dwell there, and Satyrs ſhall dance there] Compare Ch. xxxiv. 11 — 15. Rev. xviii. 2. It is uncertain what Creatures are meant by ſeveral Hebrew Words in this and the following Verſe; particularly what the Word Searim ſignifies, which our Engliſh renders Satyrs. The Word originally ſignifies Goats: And it is ſuppoſed that evil Spirits of old Time appeared in the Shape of Goats, as the learned Bochart hath proved. Upon which Account the Word is ſometimes taken for Devils, and is ſo tranſlated by our Interpreters Levit. xvii. 7. 2 Chron. xi. 15. But here, and Ch. xxiv. 14. it is rendered Satyrs. The Expreſſion is taken from a vulgar Opinion, that deſolate and forlorn Places are inhabited by evil Spirits, who have their Haunts there. See Ch. xxxiv. 13, 14. Baruch iv. 35. Rev. xviii. 1. Accordingly our Saviour, in his Parable of an unclean Spirit, ſaith, That he walks through dry, or uninhabited Places, Matt. xii. 43.

CHAP. XIV.

Ver. 1. FOR the Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet chooſe Iſrael, and ſet them in their own land: and the ſtrangers ſhall be joined with them, and they ſhall cleave to the houſe of Jacob. 2 And the people ſhall take them, and bring them to their place: and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs them in the land of the Lord, for ſervants and hand-maids: and they ſhall take them captives, whoſe captives they were, and they ſhall rule over their oppreſſors. 3 And it ſhall come to paſs in the day that the Lord ſhall give thee reſt from thy ſorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou waſt made to ſerve, 4 That thou ſhalt take up this proverb againſt the king of Babylon, and ſay, How hath the oppreſſor ceaſed? the golden city ceaſed? 5 The Lord hath broken the ſtaff of the wicked, and the ſceptre of the rulers. 6 He who ſmote the people in wrath with a continual ſtroke; he that ruled the nations in anger, is perſecuted, and none hindereth. 7 The whole earth is at reſt and is quiet: they break forth into ſinging. 8 Yea, the fir-trees rejoice at thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, ſaying, Since thou art laid down, no feller is come up againſt us. 9 Hell from beneath is moved for thee to meet thee at thy coming: it ſtirreth up the dead for thee, even all the chief ones of the earth; it hath raiſed up from their thrones all the kings of the nations. 10 All they ſhall ſpeak and ſay unto thee, Art thou alſo become weak as we? art thou become like unto us? 11 Thy pomp is brought down to the grave, and the noiſe of thy viols: the worm is ſpread under thee, and the worms cover thee. 12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, ſon of the morning? how art thou cut down to the ground which didſt weaken the nations? 13 For thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I will aſcend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God: I will ſit alſo upon the mount of the congregation, in the ſides of the north. 14 I will aſcend above the heights of the clouds, I will be like the moſt high. 15 Yet thou ſhalt be brought down to hell, to the ſides of the pit. 16 They that ſee thee ſhall narrowly look upon thee, and conſider thee, ſaying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did ſhake kingdoms. 17 That made the world as a wilderneſs, and deſtroyed the cities thereof, that opened not the houſe of his priſoners? 18 All the kings of the nations, even all of them lie in glory, every one in his own houſe. 19 But thou art caſt out of thy grave, like an abominable branch: and as the raiment of thoſe that are ſlain, thruſt through with a ſword, that go down to the ſtones of the pit, as a carcaſe trodden under feet. 20 Thou ſhalt not be joined with them in burial, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy land, and ſlain thy people: the ſeed of evildoers ſhall never be renowned. 21 Prepare ſlaughter for his children for the iniquity of their fathers; that they do not riſe nor poſſeſs the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities. 22 For I will riſe up againſt them, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and cut off from Babylon the name, and remnant, and ſon, and nephew, ſaith the Lord. 23 I will alſo make it a poſſeſſion for the bittern, and pools of water: and I will ſweep it with the beſom of deſtruction, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 24 The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn, ſaying, Surely as I have thought, ſo ſhall it come to paſs; and as I have purpoſed, ſo ſhall it ſtand: 25 That I will break the Aſſyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot: then ſhall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their ſhoulders. 26 This is the purpoſe that is purpoſed upon the whole earth: and this is the hand that is ſtretched out upon all the nations. 27 For the Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed, and who ſhall diſannul it? and his hand is ſtretched out, and who ſhall turn it back? 28 In the year that king Ahaz died, was this burden. 29 Rejoice not thou whole Paleſtina, becauſe the rod of him that ſmote thee is broken: for out of the ſerpent's root ſhall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit ſhall be a fiery flying ſerpent. 30 And the firſtborn of the poor ſhall feed, and the needy ſhall lie down in ſafety: and I will kill thy root with famine, and he ſhall ſlay thy remnant. 31 Howl, O gate; cry, O city, thou whole Paleſtina, art diſſolved; for there ſhall come from the north a ſmoak, and none ſhall be alone in his appointed times. 32 What ſhall one then anſwer the meſſengers of the nation? That the Lord hath founded Zion, and the poor of his people ſhall truſt in it.

For the Lord will have Mercy upon Jacob, and will yet chuſe Iſrael] This immediately relates to the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Captivity by Cyrus, as appears by comparing Zech. i. 17. ii. 12. Iſrael is ſometimes put for Judah; ſee 2 Chron. xxiii. 2. xxviii. 19. Mal. i. 1. ii. 11. Ezek. xiii. 16. Iſrael being the Name which God gave to Jacob as a Mark of his Favour, Gen. xxxii. 28. it is chiefly made uſe of by the Prophets, when they deliver ſome gracious Promiſes from the Mouth of God, eſpecially ſuch an one as concerns the Twelve Tribes, who were all equally deſcended from Jacob, as no doubt but this Prophecy in its ultimate Senſe does.

Thou ſhalt take up this Proverb againſt the King of Babylon] Compare Habak. ii. 6. The Hebrew Word Maſhal, ſignifies not only a proverbial Speech, ſuch as was in every Body's Mouth, but likewiſe a Parable, or an acute and excellent Saying, drawn up with Art, and adorned with rhetorical Figures; ſee Job xxvii. 1. xxix. 1. ſuch as are the Parables of Jotham, and others in the Old Teſtament, and thoſe of Chriſt in the New. Of the ſame Kind is this which here follows, made up of Sarcaſms and bitter Ironies; together with a poetical Deſcription of the infernal Regions; where all the Ghoſts of the deceaſed Tyrants are repreſented as riſing out of their Places, and coming to meet the King of Babylon, and congratulate his Arrival among them; Ver. 9, &c.

I will ſit alſo upon the Mount of the Congregation, in the Sides of the North] I will ſit in the Temple of God, which was ſituate upon Mount Moriah, and on the North Side of Jeruſalem; ſee Pſ. xlviii. 2. Theſe Expreſſions, as they allude to the Rebellion of Satan, who affected to be equal with God; ſo they contain in them an exact Deſcription of Antichriſt, who is repreſented by St. Paul, as exalting himſelf above all that is called God, or that is worſhipped, as ſitting in the Temple of God, and ſhewing himſelf that he is God, 2 Theſſ. ii. 4. alſo Dan. xi. 36.

Prepare Slaughter for his Children, for the Iniquity of their Fathers] Belſhazzar being ſlain, and the Monarchy tranſlated to the Medes and Perſians, Dan. v. 30, 31. it is not likely, that any, related to the Family of the former Monarchs, were ſuffered to ſurvive.

I—will cut off from Babylon, the Name and Remnant, and Son, and Nephew] Or rather, Son and Grandſon: the Word Neked is tranſlated Son's Son, or Grandſon, Jer. xxi. 23. ſo it ſhould be tranſlated here, as Dr. Prideaux obſerves, ad Ann. A. C. 539. This Prophecy was fulfilled in the Death of Belſhazzar, who was Grandſon to Nebuchadnezzar, and the laſt of that Family. See Jer. xxvii. 7.

CHAP. XV.

God's Judgments againſt Moab predicted.

1 THE burden of Moab. Becauſe in the night Ar of Moab is laid waſte, and brought to ſilence; becauſe in the night Kir of Moab is laid waſte, and brought to ſilence: 2 He is gone up to Bajith, and to Dibon, the high places, to weep: Moab ſhall howl over Nebo, and over Medeba, on all their heads ſhall be baldneſs, and every beard cut off. 3 In their ſtreets they ſhall gird themſelves with ſackcloth: on the tops of their houſes, and in their ſtreets every one ſhall howl, weeping abundantly. 4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voice ſhall be heard even unto Jahaz: therefore the armed ſoldiers of Moab ſhall cry out, his life ſhall be grievous unto him. 5 My heart ſhall cry out for Moab, his fugitives ſhall flee unto Zoar, an heifer of three years old: for by the mounting up of Luhith with weeping ſhall they go it up: for in the way of Horonaim, they ſhall raiſe up a cry of deſtruction. 6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate: for the hay is withered away, the graſs faileth, there is no green thing. 7 Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, ſhall they carry away to the brook to the willows. 8 For the cry is gone round about the borders of Moab: the howling thereof unto Eglaim, and the howling thereof unto Beer-elim. 9 For the waters of Dimon ſhall be full of blood: for I will bring more upon Dimon, lions upon him that eſcapeth of Moab, and upon the remnant of the land.

It is not certain, ſays Lowth, when this Prophecy, contained in this and the following Chapter, was fulfilled; only thus far, that it was brought to paſs three Years after the publiſhing of it; ſee Ch. xvi. 14. Archbiſhop Uſher, in his Annals of the Old Teſtament, ad A. M. 3280. ſuppoſes it fulfilled by Salmaneſer, two Years before the Captivity of the Ten Tribes; but the 4th and 5th Verſes of the xvith Chapter, ſpeak of the People of Judea as lately delivered from ſome grievous Calamity, wherein the Moabites afforded them no Aſſiſtance; which makes it probable, that this Judgment fell upon them after Sennacherib's Invaſion. Without queſtion, this Prophecy relates to a different Time from that of Jeremiah, Ch. xlviii.

His Fugitives ſhall flee unto Zoar, an Heifer of three Years old] The Senſe would run clearer, if, inſtead of adding the Words ſhall flee, as our Tranſlation does, the Text were ſupplied from the former Part of the Verſe thus, His Fugitives ſhall cry out unto Zoar, as an Heifer, &c. Compare Jer. xlviii. 4. An Heifer is obſerved to be more noiſy than a Bullock. The Particle (as) is frequently underſtood.

CHAP. XVI.

A Continuation of the ſame Subject.

Ver. 1. SEND ye the lamb to the ruler of the land from Sela to the wilderneſs, unto the mount of the daughter of Zion. 2 For it ſhall be that as a wandring bird caſt out of the neſt: ſo the daughters of Moab ſhall be at the fords of Arnon. 3 Take counſel, execute judgment, make thy ſhadow as the night in the midſt of the noon-day, hide the out-caſts, bewray not him that wandreth. 4 Let mine out-caſts dwell with thee, Moab, be thou a covert to them from the face of the ſpoiler: for the extortioner is at an end, the ſpoiler ceaſeth, the oppreſſors are conſumed out of the land. 5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be eſtabliſhed, and he ſhall ſit upon it in truth, in the tabernacle of David, judging and ſeeking judgment, and haſting righteouſneſs. 6 We have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) even of his haughtineſs, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies ſhall not be ſo. 7 Therefore ſhall Moab howl for Moab, every one ſhall howl: for the foundations of Kir-hare-ſeth ſhall ye mourn, ſurely they are ſtricken. 8 For the fields of Heſhbon languiſh, and the vine of Sibmah, the lords of the heathen have broken down the principal plants thereof, they are come even unto Jazer, they wandred thro' the wilderneſs, her branches are ſtretched out, they are gone over the ſea. 9 Therefore I will bewail with the weeping of Jazer, the vine of Sibmah: I will water thee with my tears, O

Heſhbon, and Elealeh: for the ſhouting for thy ſummer-fruits, and for thy harveſt, is fallen. 10 And gladneſs is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field, and in the vineyards there ſhall be no ſinging, neither ſhall there be ſhouting: the treaders ſhall tread out no wine in their preſſes; I have made their vintage ſhouting to ceaſe. 11 Wherefore my bowels ſhall ſound like an harp for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſh. 12 And it ſhall come to paſs, when it is ſeen that Moab is weary on the high place, that he ſhall come to his ſanctuary to pray, but he ſhall not prevail. 13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken concerning Moab ſince that time. 14 But now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, Within three years, as the years of an hireling, and the glory of Moab ſhall be contemned, with all that great multitude; and the remnant ſhall be very ſmall and feeble.

Send ye the Lamb to the Ruler of the Land, from Sela to the Wilderneſs] The Moabites were ſubdued by David, and became his Tributaries, 2 Sam. viii. 5. and Part of the Tribute which they paid, was an hundred thouſand Lambs, 2 Kings iii. 5. which 'tis likely had been diſcontinued for ſome Time: This the Prophet exhorts them to renew, as a juſt Acknowledgment to the King of Judah, the Heir of David's Family. The latter Part of the Words might be better tranſlated, from Sela in the Wilderneſs; ſee 2 Kings xiv. 7. the Wilderneſs of Moab is mentioned again at the 8th Verſe of this Chapter.

Take Counſel, execute Judgment] The Prophet ſpeaks by way of Advice, and exhorts the Moabites to ſhew that Kindneſs to their Brethren the Jews in the Time of their Diſtreſs, as in Reaſon and Juſtice they ought to do; but withal does covertly upbraid them with the Neglect of it: Moab and Edom, they were a People nearly related to the Jews, yet laid hold of all Opportunities to aggravate their Miſeries, and rejoiced at their Calamities, for which they are ſeverely threatened with Judgments by the Prophets; ſee Jer. xlviii. 27. Obad. Ver. 10, &c. Amos i. 11. Zeph. ii. 8.

CHAP. XVII.

The Prophet renews his Threatenings againſt Syria and Iſrael. The Overthrow of the Aſſyrians, on their Invaſion of Judea, foretold.

Ver. 1. THE burden of Damaſcus. Behold, Damaſcus is taken away from being a city, and it ſhall be a ruinous heap. 2 The cities of Aroer are forſaken; they ſhall be for flocks which ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make them afraid. 3 The fortreſs alſo ſhall ceaſe from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Syria: they ſhall be as the glory of the children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 4 And in that day it ſhall come to paſs, that the glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean. 5 And it ſhall be as when the harveſt-man gathereth the corn, and reapeth the ears with his arm; and it ſhall be as he that gathereth ears in the valley of Rephaim. 6 (Yet gleaning grapes ſhall be left in it, as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermoſt bough, four or five in the outmoſt fruitful branches thereof, ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael. 7 At that day ſhall a man look to his maker, and his eyes ſhall have reſpect to the holy One of Iſrael. 8 And he ſhall not look to the altars, the work of his hands, neither ſhall reſpect that which his fingers have made, either the groves, or the images) 9 In that day ſhall his ſtrong cities be as a forſaken bough, and an uppermoſt branch, which they left, becauſe of the children of Iſrael: and there ſhall be deſolation. 10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſalvation, and haſt not been mindful of the rock of thy ſtrength, therefore ſhalt thou plant pleaſant plants, and ſhall ſet it with ſtrange ſlips: 11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeed to flouriſh: but the harveſt ſhall be a heap in the day of grief, and of deſperate ſorrow. 12 Wo to the multitude of many people which make a noiſe like the noiſe of the ſeas; and to the ruſhing of nations, that make a ruſhing like the ruſhing of mighty waters! 13 The nations ſhall ruſh like the ruſhing of many waters; but God ſhall rebuke them, and they ſhall flee far off, and ſhall be chaſed as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind. 14 And behold, at evening-tide trouble, and before the morning he is not: this is the portion of them that ſpoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.

The Cities of Aroer are forſaken] Grotius ſuppoſes this Aroer to have been a Tract of Ground in Syria, not that Aroer mentioned Deut. ii. 26. which was in the Confines of Moab and Ammon, and Part of the Poſſeſſion of the Reubenites and Gadites. Others ſuppoſe the very Country to have been taken away from the Tribes by the Syrians, and annexed to their own Dominions.

Yet gleaning Grapes ſhall be left in it, as the ſhaking of an olive Tree, &c.] The former Verſe was an Illuſtration of Iſrael's Deſtruction, from the Ridding of Fields in the Corn-Harveſt; in this the Metaphor is taken from the Vintage, and the gathering in of the Summer-fruits, and implies, that the Deſolation ſhall not be ſo entire, but that a few ſhould be left, like the Gleanings of a Vine or an Olive Tree after the main Crop is gathered: Compare Ch. xxiv. 13. According as we find, that ſome of the antient Inhabitants of the Ten Tribes were left after Salmaneſer's Captivity; 2 Chron. xxx. 10, 11. and even after the ſecond Captivity of that People, in the Time of Eſarhaddon; 2 Chron. xxxv. 18.

Which they left becauſe of the Children of Iſrael] The Senſe is here imperfect: Moſt Expoſitors underſtand the Words of the Aſſyrians, that they left ſome Cities with a few Inhabitants in the Kingdom of Iſrael, that a Remnant of that People might be preſerved; ſee Ver. 6. But the Copy which the Septuagint followed, inſtead of the Hebrew Words, Hachereſh Velaamir, i. Bough an uppermoſt Branch, read Hachivi Ve'aemi, i. e. the Hivites and Amorites: For they tranſlate the Verſe thus, The Cities ſhall be forſaken, as when the Hivites and the Amorites forſook them, becauſe of the Children of Iſrael. Which Reading gives a plain and full Reading to the Text. We juſtly eſteem the preſent Hebrew Text as a very correct Copy; but we muſt not aſcribe ſuch a Degree of Infallibility to it, as to reject a better Reading, when it is ſuggeſted by the antient Verſion. For ſuch a Conceſſion does no more weaken the Authority of the Old Teſtament, than the various Readings of the Greek Copies invalidate that of the New.

In the Day ſhalt thou make thy Plants to grow, and in the Morning ſhalt thou make thy Seed to flouriſh, &c.] The Senſe depends upon the former Verſe, and both together imports thus much: Becauſe thou haſt forſaken the true God, to follow Idols, nothing ſhall thrive with thee: Altho' like an induſtrious Gardener thou procureſt the choiceſt Plants, and takeſt the great Care to make them grow, watering and trimming all Seaſons of the Day, yet when thou expecteſt to reap the Fruit of thy Labours, (ſo our Margin very fitly lates Jam Machalah, the Day of Inheritance, or of enjoying what we have taken Pains for) thou ſhalt find nothing but Loſs and Diſappointment. The Hebrew Language wants the Potential Mood, which is often ſupplied by the future Tenſe, as it ſeems to be here: So the Words might be rendered more plainly thus; Thou may'ſt plant pleaſant Plants, and may'ſt ſet it with foreign Slips, in the Day thou may'ſt make thy Plant to grow, and in the Morning thou may'ſt make thy Seed to flouriſh, but, &c. when the Hebrews would ſignify doing a Thing ſpeedily with Care and Diligence, they often expreſs it by doing it in the Morning; ſee Ch. l. 4. Pſ. xlvi. 5. where our Tranſlation reads, God ſhall help her, and that right early: But it is in the Hebrew, when the Morning appeareth.

CHAP. XVIII.

Judgments denounced againſt Egypt.

Ver. 1. WO to the land ſhadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia: 2 That ſendeth ambaſſadors by the ſea, even in veſſels of bulruſhes upon the waters, ſaying, Go ye ſwift meſſengers, to a nation ſcattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and troden down, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled. 3 All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, ſee ye, when he lifteth up an enſign on the mountains; and when he bloweth a trumpet, hear ye. 4 For ſo the Lord ſaid unto me, I will take my reſt, and I will conſider in my dwelling-place like a clear heat upon herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harveſt. 5 For afore the harveſt when the bud is perfect, and the ſowr grape is ripening in the flower; he ſhall both cut off the ſprigs with pruning hooks, and take away and cut down the branches. 6 They ſhall be left together unto the fowls of the mountains, and to the beaſts of the earth: and the fowls ſhall ſummer upon them, and all the beaſts of the earth ſhall winter upon them. 7 In that time ſhall the preſent be brought unto the Lord of hoſts, of a people ſcattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and trodden under foot, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of hoſts, the mount Zion.

Ethiopia and Egypt were the Jews Confederates when they were invaded by Sennacherib; ſee Ch. xx. 5. 2 Kings xix. 21. compared with 2 Kings xix. 9. But it is a great Queſtion among learned Men, whether by Ethiopia, called Chuſh in the Arabia, be meant Arabia, lying Eaſtward of Egypt, and therefore joined with Seba, Iſa. xliii. 3. or Ethiopia, properly ſo called, being weſtward of it. If we underſtand it of the latter, as Huetius does, Comment. on Origen, P. 43, and 50. we muſt then underſtand the forementioned Text, 2 Kings xix. 9. of Tirhakah King of Ethiopia (called Tarkon in Iſa. xxxvii.) coming to fight againſt Sennacherib, and ſending Forces to aſſiſt the Egyptians and the Jews. And this is the Senſe Archbiſhop Uſher follows in his Annals of the Old Teſtament, ad A. M. 3294. But in which Senſe ſoever we take the Word Chuſh, the Prophecy relates to Egypt, in Conjunction with Ethiopia or Arabia; and the Prophet ſhews, that altho' the Deſigns of the Egyptian Allies in their Favour, ſhould prove abortive, yet God will defend his own Dwelling-place without their aſſiſtance. Ethiopia and Egypt were united into one Kingdom by Sabacon, the King of Ethiopia, called So, 2 Kings xvii. 4. who ſlew Bocchoris, and conquered Egypt in the laſt Year of King Ahaz: See Uſher's Annals, A. M. 3277.

Wo to the Land ſhadowing with Wings] It is generally agreed, that this is a Deſcription of Egypt. Some underſtand the Words of their Ships, with ſpreading Sails like Wings; others of the Protection ſhe boaſted that ſhe ſhould give to her Allies: But the Hebrew, Tſiltſel, which our Engliſh renders ſhadowing, do properly ſignify a Sort of Timbril, called in Latin Siſtrum, which was an Inſtrument of Muſick peculiar to the Egyptians in their Sacrifices to Iſis; and the Words, Tſiltſel Kenaphim, are interpreted a winged Cymbal by Huëtius, Demonſtr. Evang. Prop. iv. Cap. iv. which he tells us is an exact Deſcription of the Siſtum, and ſuppoſes the Expreſſion to be a Periphraſis of Egypt, called here the Land famous for its winged Cymbals. The ingenious Mr. Reeves, in his Notes upon Minutius Felix, Ch. xxi. expounds the Phraſe, ſhadowing with Wings, of a Swallow that uſed to be pictured over the Statue of Iſis with expanded Wings. Le Moyne, in his Varia Sacra, Part II. P. 4. thinks, that by the Word Kenaphim, Wings, the Prophet denotes the Idol which the Egyptians called Kneph, who was repreſented with Wings, and an Egg coming out of his Mouth, to ſignify the Creation of the World, by the Word and Decree of God; the World itſelf being repreſented by Iſis.

That ſendeth Ambaſſadors by Sea, even in Veſſels of Bulruſhes by Water] To encourage their Confederates with Promiſes of Aſſiſtance. But the Hebrew Tſirim, which our Engliſh renders Ambaſſadors, does likewiſe ſignify Idols, and ſo 'tis tranſlated Ch. xlv. 16. Following this Senſe, Bochart and Le Moyne underſtand the Words of the Image Iſis, which the Egyptians uſed to carry from Place to Place by Water, in a Sort of a Paper Veſſel or Ship. Lucan ſpeaking of their little Boats, ſays, — Conferitur bibulâ Memphitis cymba papyro.

Go ye ſwift Meſſengers to a Nation ſcattered and peeled] Theſe Words may be underſtood of the Ambaſſadors, whom the Ethiopians, in Conjunction with the Egyptians, ſent to the Aſſyrians, by way of bidding them Defiance; and then by a Land ſcattered and peeled, muſt be underſtood Aſſyria, which, tho' formerly terrible to all its Neighbours, yet now was diſtracted with foreign Wars, and exhauſted of its Soldiers: If we follow this Senſe, the latter Part of the Verſe may be moſt properly render'd, as our Margin reads it, whoſe Land the Rivers deſpiſe, that is, the Ethiopians, and thoſe that dwell among the Rivers thereabouts, are not afraid of the Aſſyrian Power. This Senſe our Tranſlators prefer, and underſtand Tſirim, Ambaſſadors, and Melachim, Meſſengers, as meant of the ſame Perſons, and likewiſe ſupply the Word, ſaying, to make the following Sentence the Subſtance of what the Ambaſſadors were ſuppoſed to ſpeak.

But others think that the Words are a Meſſage from God, to denounce Judgment againſt the Ethiopians, who are called a People terrible from their Beginning, becauſe they had invaded Judea ſeveral Times with formidable Armies; ſee 2 Chron. xii. 3. xiv. 9. and that the Purport of the Words is to acquaint them, that they ſhould be ſcattered and peeled meted out, and trodden down: That the Forces of the Aſſyrian, compared to an overflowing River (ſee Ch. xvii. 12.) ſhould over-run and deſtroy them; which was fulfilled, as appears from Ch. xx. 4. This Senſe, ſays Lowth, I prefer, becauſe it agrees better with the 7th Verſe, where the ſame Words are repeated; and with Ezek. xxx. 9. where God ſaith, Meſſengers ſhall go from ME in Ships, to make the careleſs Ethiopians afraid; which Place plainly alludes to theſe Words of Iſaiah.

CHAP. XIX.

Several Calamities denounced againſt Egypt.

Ver. 1. THE burden of Egypt, Behold, the Lord rideth upon a ſwift cloud, and ſhall come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt ſhall be moved at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the midſt of it. 2 And I will will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: and they shall fight every one against his brother, and every one against his neighbour; city against city, and kingdom against kingdom. 3 And the spirit of Egypt shall fail in the midst thereof, and I will destroy the counsel thereof: and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar spirits, and to the wizards. 4 And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, saith the Lord, the Lord of hosts. 5 And the waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and dried up. 6 And they shall turn the rivers far away, and the brooks of defence shall be emptied and dried up: the reeds and flags shall wither. 7 The paper-reeds by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing sown by the brooks, shall wither, be driven away, and be no more. 8 The fishers also shall mourn, and all they that cast angle into the brooks shall lament, and they that spread nets upon the waters shall languish. 9 Moreover, they that work in fine flax, and they that weave net-works shall be confounded. 10 And they shall be broken in the purposes thereof, all that make sluces and ponds for fish. 11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fools, the counsel of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become brutish: how say ye unto Pharaoh, I am the son of the wise, the son of antient kings? 12 Where are they? where are thy wise men? and let them tell thee now, and let them know what the Lord of hosts hath purposed upon Egypt. 13 The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Noph are deceived, they have also seduced Egpyt, even they that are the stay of the tribes thereof. 14 The Lord hath mingled a perverse spirit in the midst thereof: and they have caused Egypt to err in every work thereof, as a drunken man staggereth in his vomit. 15 Neither shall there be any work for Egypt, which the head or tail, branch or rush may do. 16 In that day shall Egypt be like unto women: and it shall be afraid and fear, because of the shaking of the hand of the Lord of hosts, which he shaketh over it. 17 And the land of Judah shall be a terror unto Egypt, every one that maketh mention thereof, shall be afraid in himself; because of the counsel of the Lord of hosts, which he hath determined against it. 18 In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speak the language of Canaan, and swear to the Lord of hosts: one shall be called the city of destruction. 19 In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord, in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord. 20 And it shall be for a sign, and for a witness unto the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry unto the Lord because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a saviour and a great one, and he shall deliver them. 21 And the Lord shall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and shall do sacrifice and oblation, yea, they shall vow a vow unto the Lord, and perform it. 22 And the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heal it, and they shall return even to the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heal them. 23 In that day shall there a high-way out of Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptian shall serve with the Assyrians. 24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt, and with Assyria, even a blessing in the midst of the land: 25 Whom the Lord of hosts shall bless, saying, Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

The Egyptians were the Jews principal Confederates at the Time of Sennacherib's Invasion; see 2 Kings xviii. 21, &c. who are often reproved by this Prophet for their vain Confidence in Egypt, as that which would fail and disappoint them: See Ch. xx. 5, 6. xxx. 2, &c. Accordingly, as the Prophet foretels the Conquest of Egypt by Sennacherib, Ch. xx. who over-ran Egypt and Ethiopia, the Jews Confederates before he besieged Jerusalem; so this Chapter seems to be a general Prophecy against Egypt, denouncing the several Calamities it should suffer from the Time of Sennacherib's Invasion, till the entire Change of Affairs it should undergo under the Government of the Twelve Tyrants, which at last ended in the sole Government of Psammitichus. Scaliger understands this Prophecy of Sabacon who slew Bocchoris, and made himself King of Egypt in the last Year of the Reign of King Ahaz. But this Opinion seems not to agree very well with Ver. 17. Some explain the Chapter of Sennacherib's, Tirhakah's, or Tharachus's Conquest of Egypt.

And the Idols of Egypt shall be moved at his Presence] To be moved, either signifies that the evil Spirits, which were worshipped in their Idols should be under a great Consternation, when God should bring his Judgments upon them and their Worshippers: Or else it may be meant of their being removed and carried Captive, as Jeremy afterward foretold, Jer. xliii. 12. When God executes his Judgments upon a Heathen Nation, he is said to punish the Idols of that People: So particularly it is said of Egypt, Exod. xii. 12. and of Babylon, Isa. xxi. 9. xlvi. 1. Jer. l. 2. li. 44.

And the Waters shall fail from the Sea, and the River shall be wasted and dried up] Tremellius shews out of Herodotus, that this was literally fulfilled under the Government of the twelve petty Tyrants, who ruled Egypt after Sethon. But the Expression may the more probably be metaphorical, and denote the Decay of the Egyptians Strength, by Metaphors taken from the Decrease of the River Nile; upon the Over-flowing of which River all the Plenty and Prosperity of Egypt depended. Thus the King of Egypt is described, Ez. xxix. 3. as a Dragon (i. e. a Whale or Crocodile) lying in the midst of many Waters, and boasting of his Strength by saying; My River is my own, &c. Scaliger understands it of a great Drought which occasioned a Dearth by failing of the Inundation of the Nile.

And the Paper-reeds — by the Mouth of the Brooks shall wither] Paper was an Invention of the Egyptians, and was first made of a Reed that grew upon the Banks of the Nile, which is therefore thus described by Ovid in his Metamorphos. —— Papyriferi fumina Nili. Accordingly the Paper-reeds are said here to grow by the Mouth of the Brooks; that is, by the Shore, or Side of the Brooks; expressed elsewhere by the Life of the River, Gen. xli. 3. Exod. ii. 3. spoken of the Nile.

Shall five Cities in the Land of Egypt speak the Language of Canaan] 'Tis a Way of speaking in Scripture to use a definite common Number for an indefinite; see Am. i. 3, 6, 9, &c. so here five Cities denote several Cities; and of these 'tis prophesied that they shall speak the Language of Canaan, that they shall worship God with the true Israelites, and with one Heart, and with one Mouth, glorify the true God together with them. Compare Zeph. iii. 9. or, as some explain it, they shall be of one Mind with the true Servants of God; so the Phrase is used Jer. ix. 2. where 'tis said that the Kings gathered themselves to fight against Joshua with one Consent. It is in the Hebrew, with one Mouth. As the Christians are the true Seed of Abraham, to whom all the Promises belong, so they are the New Teſtament ſometimes ſtiled by the Name of the Jews: See Rom. ii. 29. Gal. vi. 16. Rev. ii. 9. but all along in the Old Teſtament, they are deſcribed by the Titles, the Privileges, and the Rites of Worſhip which belong to the Jews; ſee Ver. 19. Ch. lvi. 7. lxvi. 23.

And a Pillar in the Border thereof to the Lord] Theſe and the following Words at the Beginning of the next Verſe, allude to Jacob's Pillar which he ſet up in Bethel, Gen. xxviii. 18. and to the Altar which the Reubenites and their Brethren built upon the Borders of Jordan, Joſh. xxii. 10. to be a Witneſs between us and you, and the Generations after us, as it there follows.

CHAP. XX.

Ver. 1. IN the year that Tartan came unto Aſhdod (when Sargon the king of Aſſyria ſent him) and fought againſt Aſhdod, and took it: 2 At the ſame time ſpake the Lord by Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, ſaying, Go, and looſe the ſackcloth from off thy loins, and put off thy ſhoe from thy foot: And he did ſo, walking naked and bare-foot. 3 And the Lord ſaid, Like as my ſervant Iſaiah hath walked naked and bare-foot three years for a ſign and wonder upon Egypt, and upon Ethiopia. 4 So ſhall the king of Aſſyria lead away the Egyptians priſoners, and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and bare-foot, even with their buttocks uncovered, to the ſhame of Egypt. 5 And they ſhall be afraid and aſhamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory. 6 And the inhabitant of this iſle ſhall ſay in that day, Behold, ſuch is our expectation whither we flee for help to be delivered from the king of Aſſyria: and how ſhall we eſcape?

In the Year that Tartan came to Aſhdod] It appears from Ver. 5, 6. that this Expedition was made while the Jews were under Sennacherib's Invaſion; and thereupon, to ſtrengthen themſelves, they entered into a Confederacy with Egypt and Ethiopia. Tartan is mentioned, 2 Kings xviii. 17. as one of the Generals of Sennacherib's Army, who is probably meant by Sargon here, and when his Armies invaded Judea for a conſiderable Time, and took all the fenced Cities of it, 2 Kings xviii. 13. he might then ſend a Detachment, and beſiege Aſhdod.

And he did ſo, walking naked and barefoot] Thoſe are ſaid to be naked in the Scripture Phraſe, who go without their Upper Garments; ſee John xxi. 7. Acts xix. 16. or have put off their Habit proper to their Quality; ſee 1 Sam. xix. 24. 2 Sam. vi. 20.

Like as my Servant Iſaiah hath walked naked and bare-foot three Years for a Sign and Wonder] Egypt was ſubdued by Sennacherib before he beſieged Jeruſalem, as before obſerved. To this Senſe Bochart explains that Expreſſion, Ch. xxxvii. 25. With the Sole of my Foot have I dried up all the Rivers of Egypt. The Hebrew reads Metzor, which is often taken for Egypt. Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſes this War againſt Egypt, and the reſt of the Jews Confederates, to have laſted three Years, and to have concluded in the Deſolation of thoſe Countries: See his Annals V. Teſt. ad A. M. 3294. The Prophets foreſhewed Things by Actions as well as by Words, which appeared ſometimes ſtrange and uncouth in the Eyes of the People; ſee Isa. viii. 3, 18. Ezek. xxiv. 18, 19.

CHAP. XXI.

Threatnings denounced againſt Babylon.

Ver. 1. THE burden of the deſart of the ſea. As whirlwinds in the ſouth paſs through; ſo it cometh from the deſart, from a terrible land. 2 A grievous viſion is declared unto me, the treacherous dealer dealeth treacherouſly, and the ſpoiler ſpoileth: go up, O Elam: beſiege, O Media: all the ſighing thereof have I made to ceaſe. 3 Therefore are my loins filled with pain; pangs have taken hold upon me, as the pangs of a woman that travaileth: I was bowed down at the hearing of it, I was diſmayed at the ſeeing of it. 4 My heart panted, fearfulneſs affrighted me: the night of my pleaſure hath he turned into fear unto me. 5 Prepare the table, watch in the watch-tower, eat, drink: ariſe ye princes, and anoint the ſhield. 6 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Go, ſet a watchman, let him declare what he ſeeth. 7 And he ſaw a chariot with a couple of horſe-men, a chariot of aſſes, and a chariot of camels; and he hearkened diligently with much heed. 8 And he cried, A lion: my lord, I ſtand continually upon the watch-tower in the day-time, and I am ſet in my ward whole nights. 9 And behold, here cometh a chariot of men, with a couple of horſemen: and he anſwered and ſaid, Babylon is fallen, is fallen; and all the graven images of her gods he hath broken unto the ground. 10 O my threſhing, and the corn of my floor: that which I have heard of the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, have I declared unto you. 11 The burden of Dumah. He calleth to me out of Seir, Watchman, what of the night? watchman, what of the night? 12 The watchman ſaid, The morning cometh, and alſo the night: if ye will enquire, enquire ye: return, come. 13 The burden upon Arabia. In the foreſt in Arabia ſhall ye lodge, O ye travelling companies of Dedanim. 14 The inhabitants of the land of Tema brought water to him that was thirſty, they prevented with their bread him that fled. 15 For they fled from their ſwords, from the drawn ſwords, and from the bent bow, and from the grievouſneſs of war. 16 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Within a year, according to the years of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar ſhall fail. 17 And the reſidue of the number of archers, the mighty men of the children of Kedar ſhall be diminiſhed: for the Lord God of Iſrael hath ſpoken it.

The Burden of the Deſart of the Sea] The ninth Verſe explains this of Babylon, which is here deſcribed by the Name of the Deſart of the Sea, becauſe altho' it was at preſent very populous, yet it ſhould be made deſolate, and turned into Pools of Water; ſee Ch. xiv. 23. Or the Words may be rendered, The Burden of the Plain of the Sea; for Babylon ſtood in a Plain, Gen. xi. 2. and among many Waters; ſee Jer. li. 13. The Hebrew expreſſes all great Collections of Waters by the Name of Seas.

Prepare a Table, watch in the Watch-tower, &c.] The Verſe may be thus tranſlated, While they prepare a Table, while they watch in the Watch-tower, while they eat and drink, ariſe ye Princes, &c. While the Babylonians make ſome faint Proviſions for War, but are more intent on Feaſting and Luxury, ariſe ye Princes and Leaders of the Perſian Army, and prepare for War in earneſt. It appears by Dan. v. 1. — 30, 31. and Jer. li. 30. that Babylon was ſurprized and taken the Night after a great Feſtival: See likewiſe Herodotus.

And he ſaw a Chariot with a Couple of Horſemen]

The two Horſemen may denote Cyrus and Darius, the principal Leaders of the Army againſt Babylon. As Chariots were much uſed in War among the Antients, ſo we often read in Homer, of two Heroës ſitting in the ſame Chariot. Thus Eneas and Pindarus are deſcribed, Iliad 5. Ver. 220. So Diomedes and Sthenelus, ibid. Ver. 835. one of them to guide the Horſes, the other to fight the Enemy. The ſame Way of Fighting was uſed among the Germans, as Diodorus Siculus teſtifies, L. v.

A Chariot of Aſſes, and a Chariot of Camels] To denote two different Nations, the Medes and Perſians, who were to beſiege Babylon: As Cyrus was called a Mule by the Oracle, becauſe his Father was a Perſian, and his Mother a Mede: See Herodotus. The foregoing Part of the Verſe may be thus rendered, He ſaw a Chariot with a Couple of Horſes, a Chariot of Aſſes, &c. and then the firſt Part of the Verſe will denote the main Body of the Perſian and Median Army, and the following Sentences will ſignify their Baggage and Proviſions.

O my Threſhing, and the Corn of my Floor] The Prophet addreſſes himſelf to the Jews, who were nearly concerned in the Deſtruction of the Babyloniſh Empire; tho' the Admonition extends to remote Ages. Theſe he applies himſelf to, as groaning under the Oppreſſions of the Heathen Government; whereupon he calls upon them God's Threſhing, and the Corn of his Floor, becauſe they had been ſo ſeverely bruiſed by their Oppreſſors, altho' theſe Calamities were intended by God to purge the pure Corn from the Chaff. To be threſhed ſignifies to undergo great Calamitics, or be ſubdued by a potent Enemy.

In the Foreſt of Arabia ſhall ye lodge, O ye travelling Companies of Dedanim] This Prophecy threatens one Clan of the Arabians, thoſe who were the Poſterity of Dedan, the Grandſon of Abraham, Gen. xxv. 3. and tells them they ſhall be driven from their Tents and Habitations, and forced to ſeek for Shelter in the Woods and Thickets. They are called travelling Companies, becauſe moſt of the Arabians lived in moveable Tents, and were therefore called Scenitæ, and removed with their Cattle from Place to Place, for the Convenience of Paſture, like the Nomades in Africa.

The Inhabitants of Tema brought Water to him that was thirſty] The Words deſcribe the Streights the Dedanites were reduced to, being forced to fly from the Enemy, without any Proviſion for their preſent Suſtenance; whereupon their Neighbours the Tenamites (the Poſterity of Tema, Iſhmael's Son, Gen. xx. 15.) took Pity upon their forlorn Condition. To relieve Travellers with Neceſſaries, was an Inſtance of Hoſpitality received among all Nations, Deut. xxiii. 4.

Within a Year, according to the Years of a Hireling] Within that preciſe Time; ſee Ch. xvi. 14. This Deſcription of a Year is uſed to diſtinguiſh it from a prophetical Year, which conſiſts of 365 Years, reckoning every Day for a Year: See Numb. xiv. 34. Ezek. iv. 6. or from ſome remarkable Time in general; in which Senſe we read of the acceptable Year of the Lord, Iſa. lxi. 2. and the Year of Recompence, Ch. xxxiv. 8.

And the Reſidue of the Number of Archers of the mighty Men of Kedar ſhall be diminiſhed] The Prophet extends this Judgment to another Diviſion of the Arabians, which deſcended from Kedar, Iſhmael's Son, Gen. xxv. 13. who were famous for the Uſe of the Bow, at which Weapon their Anceſtor Iſhmael was very expert, Gen. xxi. 20. The ſame People are ſaid to dwell in the Tents of Kedar, Pſ. cxx. 5. Cant. i. 5. and were remarkable for their Swarthineſs, (the Word Kedar ſignifying Black or Tawney) according to that Deſcription the Church gives of herſelf in that Place of the Canticles, I am as black as the Tents of Kedar, but comely as the Curtains of Solomon: For that is the true Order of the Words.

CHAP. XXII.

The Prophet foretels the Invaſion of Jewry by the Aſſyrians. A Denunciation againſt Shebna.

Ver. 1. THE burden of the valley of viſion. What aileth thee now, that thou art wholly gone up to the houſe-tops? 2 Thou that art full of ſtirs, a tumultuous city, a joyous city: thy ſlain men are not ſlain with the ſword, nor dead in battle. 3 All thy rulers are fled together, they are bound by the archers: all that are found in thee are bound together, which have fled from far. 4 Therefore ſaid I, Look away from me, I will weep bitterly, labour not to comfort me; becauſe of the ſpoiling of the daughter of my people. 5 For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down, and of perplexity by the Lord God of hoſts in the valley of viſion breaking down the walls, and of crying to the mountains. 6 And Elam bare the quiver with chariots of men and horſe-men, and Kir uncovered the ſhield. 7 And it ſhall come to paſs that thy choiceſt valleys ſhall be full of chariots, and the horſe-men ſhall ſet themſelves in aray at the gate. 8 And he diſcovered the covering of Judah, and thou didſt look in that day to the armour of the houſe of the foreſt. 9 Ye have ſeen alſo the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool. 10 And ye have numbred the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes have ye broken down to fortify the wall. 11 Ye made alſo a ditch between the two walls, for the water of the old pool: but ye have not looked unto the maker thereof, neither had reſpect unto him that faſhioned it long ago. 12 And in that day did the Lord God of hoſts call to weeping and to mourning and to baldneſs, and to girding with ſackcloth. 13 And behold, joy and gladneſs, ſlaying oxen, killing ſheep, eating fleſh, and drinking wine; let us eat and drink, for to morrow we ſhall die. 14 And it was revealed in mine ears by the Lord of hoſts, Surely this iniquity ſhall not be purged from you, till ye die, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts. 15 Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, Go, get thee unto this treaſurer, even unto Shebna, which is over the houſe, and ſay, 16 What haſt thou here? and whom haſt thou here, that thou haſt hewed thee out a ſepulchre here, as he that heweth him out a ſepulchre on high, and that graveth an habitation for himſelf in a rock? 17 Behold, the Lord will carry thee away with a mighty captivity, and will ſurely cover thee. 18 He will ſurely violently turn and toſs thee, like a ball into a large country: there ſhalt thou die, and there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be the ſhame of thy lords houſe. 19 And I will drive thee from thy ſtation, and from thy ſtate ſhall he pull thee down. 20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will call my ſervant Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah: 21 And I will cloath him with thy robe, and ſtrengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit thy government into his hand, and he ſhall be a father to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah. 22 And the key of the houſe of David will I lay upon his ſhoulder: ſo he ſhall open, and none ſhall ſhut, and he ſhall ſhut and none ſhall open. 23 And I will faſten him as a nail in a ſure place; and he ſhall be for a glorious throne to his fathers houſe. 24 And they ſhall hang upon him all the glory of his fathers houſe, the off-ſpring and the iſſue, all veſſels of ſmall quantity: from the veſſels of cups, even to the veſſels of flagons. 25 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, ſhall the nail that is faſtened in the ſure place, be removed, and be cut down and fall; and the burden that was upon it ſhall be cut off: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

Our Engliſh Interpreters, ſays Lowth, have very much miſtook the Deſign of the following Prophecy, telling us in the Contents, that the former Part of the Chapter relates to the Invaſion of Jewry by the Perſians: An Occurrence mentioned neither in ſacred nor profane Hiſtory, or that the Perſians were at this Time ſubject to the King of Aſſyria, and upon that Account are mentioned, Ver. 6. as Part of Sennacherib's Army with which he invaded Judea, and beſieged Jeruſalem; to which Juncture of Time the former Part of the Chapter relates. The latter Part of it is a Denunciation againſt Shebna, a Man of Authority in Hezekiah's Court.

The Burden of the Valley of Viſion] By the Valley of Viſion is meant Jeruſalem, which was ſurrounded with Hills, Pſ. cxxv. 2. and is called by that Name, becauſe this and many other Prophecies are directed to it.

They are bound by the Archers, all that are found in thee are bound together, which have fled from far] This Part of the Verſe may be rendered more clearly thus, All that are found in thee have conſpired together, for fear of the Archers, they have conſpired together, (and) have fled a great Way off. The Adverb Merachok doth not only ſignify from far, but likewiſe to a Place a great Way off. See Ch. xvii. 13. xxiii. 7. lvii. 9.

And Elam bare the Quiver] The Perſians were famous Archers; ſee Jer. xlix. 35. and were at this Time Subjects to the King of Aſſyria, and made up Part of the Army wherewith Sennacherib beſieged Jeruſalem, that Army conſiſting of ſeveral Sorts of Nations; ſee Ch. xxix. 7.

And Kir uncovered the Shield] This is a City in Media; ſee 2 Kings xvii. 9. Am. i. 5. The Medes were at that Time Subjects to the King of Aſſyria; ſee 2 Kings xvii. 6. There was another City of the ſame Name in Moab; Ch. xv. 1.

And he diſcovered the Covering of Judah, and thou didſt look in that Day to the Armour of the Houſe of the Foreſt] Mr. White has given the beſt Senſe of this Verſe, tranſlating it thus; And he (i. e. the Enemy) all diſmantle the fortified Cities of Judah, and in that Day ſhalt thou look to the Armour of the Houſe of the Foreſt, i. e. When you ſee the Army of the Enemy approach, you will think it high Time to provide for your Defence: Or elſe, retaining the common Tranſlation, we explain the Words to this Senſe: When the Enemy hath diſcovered the Weakneſs of thoſe Fortreſſes in which you placed your Truſt, then you will think of providing Arms for your Defence. The Houſe of the Foreſt was an Armory within the City of Jeruſalem, as appears from hence, becauſe the golden Shields, which were carried before Solomon when he went to the Temple, were laid up in this Place; ſee 1 Kings xiv. 27. compared with 2 Chron. xii. 9, 10, 11. It was called the Houſe of the Foreſt, or the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, 1 Kings viii. 2. as ſome think, becauſe of its ſtately Groves and Walks, which reſembled the Foreſt of Lebanon.

The Key of the Houſe of David will I lay upon his Shoulder] A Key is an Emblem of Truſt; and the Expreſſion alludes to the Faſhion of Keys in old Time, which were long and made like a Hook, and then laid upon the Shoulder, and worn there as the Badge of an Office. Concerning which Cuſtom ſee Huetius Demonſtr. Evang. Prop. ix. Cap. 105.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 THE burden of Tyre. Howl, ye ſhips of Tarſhiſh; for it is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, no entring in: from the land of Chittim it is revealed to them. 2 Be ſtill, ye inhabitants of the iſle; thou whom the merchants of Zidon, that paſs over the ſea, have repleniſhed. 3 And by great waters the ſeed of Sihor, the harveſt of the river is her revenue, and ſhe is a mart of nations. 4 Be thou aſhamed, O Zidon; for the ſea hath ſpoken, even the ſtrength of the ſea, ſaying, I travail not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nouriſh up young men, nor bring up virgins. 5 As at the report concerning Egypt, ſo ſhall they be ſorely pained at the report of Tyre. 6 Paſs ye over to Tarſhiſh, howl ye inhabitants of the iſle. 7 Is this your joyous city, whoſe antiquity is of antient days? her own feet ſhall carry her afar off to ſojourn. 8 Who hath taken this counſel againſt Tyre, the crowning city, whoſe merchants are princes, whoſe traffickers are the honourable of the earth? 9 The Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed it, to ſtain the pride of all glory, and to bring into contempt all the honourable of the earth. 10 Paſs through thy land as a river, O daughter of Tarſhiſh: there is no more ſtrength. 11 He ſtretched out his hand over the ſea, he ſhook the kingdoms: the Lord hath given a commandment againſt the merchant city, to deſtroy the ſtrong holds thereof. 12 And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt no more rejoice, O thou oppreſſed virgin, daughter of Zidon: ariſe, paſs over to Chittim, there alſo ſhalt thou have no reſt. 13 Behold, the land of the Chaldeans; this people was not till the Aſſyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderneſs: they ſet up the towers thereof, they raiſed up the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruin. 14 Howl, ye ſhips of Tarſhiſh: for your ſtrength is laid waſte. 15 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that Tyre ſhall be forgotten ſeventy years, according to the days of one king: after the end of ſeventy years ſhall Tyre ſing as an harlot. 16 Take an harp, go about the city, thou harlot that haſt been forgotten, make ſweet melody, ſing many ſongs that thou mayeſt be remembred. 17 And it ſhall come to paſs after the end of ſeventy years, that the Lord will viſit Tyre, and ſhe ſhall turn to her hire, and ſhall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth. 18 And her merchandiſe, and her hire ſhall be holineſs to the Lord: it ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up: for her merchandiſe ſhall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat ſufficiently, and for durable cloathing.

This Prophecy, ſays Lowth, may beſt be underſtood of Nebuchadnezzar's laying Siege to Tyre, and taking it; which is likewiſe particularly foretold by Ezekiel, Ch. xxvi. 7, &c. with the two following Chapters. This Siege laſted thirteen Years, as Joſephus ſhews out of Philoſtratus, and the Phœnician Annals, Antiq. L. x. C. 11. and L. 1. contra Appion. Upon which Account God promiſes Nebuchadnezzar the Kingdom of Egypt, as a Reward for the great Pains and Services he undertook in the Siege of Tyre, Ezek. xxix. 18.

From the Land of Chittim it is revealed unto them] Chittim in Scripture, ſignifies all the Countries lying upon the Mediterranean Sea, called the Iſles of Chittim, Ezek. xxvii. 6. The Words import, that the News of the Siege of Tyre ſhould be diſperſed into all the trafficking Parts upon the Egean and Ionian Seas, and ſo reach the Ears of thoſe who trade in the moſt weſtern Coaſts. The Senſe which the Septuagint gives of the latter Part of the Verſe, is eaſy, and reconcileable with the Hebrew: Thus they render it, It is laid waſte, ſo that none come (to wit) out of the Land of Chittim, it is carried away captive. Bochart underſtands the Word Chittim here, and at the 12th Verſe, of the Cutheans or Babylonians; and then taking the Verb niglah for being carried captive, as the Septuagint and vulgar Latin explain it, the Senſe runs very eaſy thus, From the Land of the Cutheans doth their Captivity come.

And by great Waters, the Seed of Sihor, the Harveſt of the River is her Revenue] The Engliſh Tranſlation publiſhed under Queen Elizabeth, gives us a clearer Senſe of this Verſe, thus, The Seed of Nilus growing by the Abundance of Waters, and the Harveſt of the River was her Revenues. Tyre made herſelf rich by tranſporting Corn out of Egypt into foreign Countries. The overflowing of the Nile, (called Sihor here, and Jer. ii. 18.) made Egypt ſo fruitful, that it was looked upon as one of the great Granaries of the World, and afterwards ſupplied Rome with a great Part of the Corn which was ſpent in that mighty City, as did Conſtantinople in following Times. Whereupon the Government of Egypt was looked upon as an extraordinary Truſt, and always reſerved to the Diſpoſal of the Emperor. See Tacitus Annal. 2. By the River is meant the Nile, by way of Excellence. See Ch. xi. 15.

Paſs ye over to Tarſhiſh] Leave the Place of your Nativity, and betake yourſelves for Refuge to ſome of the Ports which lie upon the Mediterranean Sea, where the Tyrians uſed to traffick, and where they might hope to ſettle themſelves. The Septuagint underſtand the Place of Carthage, which was a Colony tranſplanted from Tyre.

Paſs through the Land as a River, O Daughter of Tarſhiſh] According to the Tranſlation Tyre is called the Daughter of Tarſhiſh, becauſe it was enriched by the Sea Trade, eſpecially the Traffick which came from the Spaniſh or African Coaſts, as Huëtius interprets the Place. So the Prophet here exhorts her Inhabitants to make all poſſible Speed, and with the Swiftneſs of a River to get out of their own Country, and from the Reach of the Enemy. But others tranſlate the Words, Paſs into thy Land, O Daughter of Tarſhiſh, or the Merchants of that Place, as if it were an Exhortation to them to return home. Their Merchandize had formerly flow'd in like a River into the Ports of Tyre, but now that gainful Traffick, their Strength and Support, would entirely ceaſe.

And her Merchandiſe and her Hire ſhall be Holineſs unto the Lord] The Senſe of this Verſe may be, that ſeveral of the Tyrians in After-times ſhall become Proſelites to the Jewiſh Religion, and ſhall devote Part of their Subſtance to the Service of the Temple at Jeruſalem. But there is no Neceſſity of ſuppoſing that this Part of the Prophecy ſhould be fulfilled juſt upon the Reſtoration of Tyre: For 'tis uſual for the Prophets to join together Things relating to the ſame Place or People, tho' the fulfilling the ſeveral Parts of the Prophecy may belong to ſeveral Ages: See Ch. iv. 2. And this I take to be the Caſe here. The Prophets commonly expreſs Heathens and Idolaters in general by ſome remarkable Name, as that of Egypt, Babylon, and the like. In this Senſe, ſays Lowth, I ſuppoſe the Name of Tyre to be uſed in this Verſe, and in the ſame Senſe the Daughter of Tyre is underſtood by moſt Interpreters upon xlv. 12. not ſo as to exclude that particular City, but withal to ſignify that both that Place and many others which were Strangers to the true Religion, ſhould at length be converted, and convert a great Part of their Wealth and Subſtance to God.

CHAP. XXIV.

The dreadful Judgments of God upon the Land. A Remnant ſhall joyfully praiſe him. God in Judgment ſhall advance his Kingdom.

Ver. 1. BEhold, the Lord maketh the earth empty, and maketh it waſte, and turneth it upſide down, and ſcattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof. 2 And it ſhall be, as with the people, ſo with the prieſt; as with the ſervant, ſo with his maſter; as with the maid, ſo with her miſtreſs; as with the buyer, ſo with the ſeller; as with the lender, ſo with the borrower; as with the taker of uſury, ſo with the giver of uſury to him. 3 The land ſhall be utterly emptied, and utterly ſpoiled: for the Lord hath ſpoken this word. 4 The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languiſheth and fadeth away, the haughty people of the earth do languiſh. 5 The earth alſo is defiled under the inhabitants thereof: becauſe they have tranſgreſſed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlaſting covenant. 6 Therefore hath the curſe devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are deſolate: therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left. 7 The new wine mourneth, the vine languiſheth, all the merry-hearted do ſigh. 8 The mirth of tabrets ceaſeth, the noiſe of them that rejoice endeth, the joy of the harp ceaſeth. 9 They ſhall not drink wine with a ſong, ſtrong drink ſhall be bitter to them that drink it. 10 The city of confuſion is broken down: every houſe is ſhut up, that no man may come in. 11 There is a crying for wine in the ſtreets, all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone. 12 In the city is left deſolation, and the gate is ſmitten with deſtruction. 13 When thus it ſhall be in the midſt of the land among the people, there ſhall be as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, and as the gleaning-grapes when the vintage is done. 14 They ſhall lift up their voice, they ſhall ſing for the majeſty of the Lord, they ſhall cry aloud from the ſea. 15 Wherefore, glorify ye the Lord in the fires, even the name of the Lord God of Iſrael in the iſles of the ſea. 16 From the uttermoſt parts of the earth have we heard ſongs, even glory to the righteous: but I ſaid, My leanneſs, my leanneſs, Wo unto me: the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherouſly, yea, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherouſly. 17 Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare are upon thee, O inhabitant of the earth. 18 And it ſhall come to paſs, that he who fleeth from the noiſe of the fear, ſhall fall into the pit; and he that cometh up out of the midſt of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do ſhake. 19 The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean diſſolved, the earth is moved exceedingly. 20 The earth ſhall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and ſhall be removed like a cottage, and the tranſgreſſion thereof ſhall be heavy upon it, and it ſhall fall, and not riſe again. 21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall puniſh the hoſt of the high ones that are on high, and the kings of the earth upon the earth. 22 And they ſhall be gathered together as priſoners are gathered in the pit, and ſhall be ſhut up in the priſon, and after many days ſhall they be viſited. 23 Then the moon ſhall be confounded, and the ſun aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſts ſhall reign in mount Zion and in Jeruſalem, and before his ancients gloriouſly.

Behold the Lord maketh the Earth empty] The Hebrew Word Haärets is promiſcuouſly render'd in this Chapter by our Interpreters, either Earth or Land. And may be taken in a larger or narrower Senſe, as the Context inclines us to underſtand it.

The City of Confuſion is broken down] The W

CHAP. XXV.

A Hymn of Praiſe to God.

Ver. 1. O Lord, thou art my God, I will exalt thee, I will praiſe thy name; for thou haſt done wonderful things; thy counſels of old are faithfulneſs and truth. 2 For thou haſt made of a city, an heap; of a defenced city, a ruin: a palace of ſtrangers, to be no city, it ſhall never be built. 3 Therefore ſhall the ſtrong people glorify thee, the city of the terrible nations ſhall fear thee. 4 For thou haſt been a ſtrength to the poor; a ſtrength to the needy in his diſtreſs, a refuge from the ſtorm, a ſhadow from the heat, when the blaſt of the terrible ones is as a ſtorm againſt the wall. 5 Thou ſhalt bring down the noiſe of ſtrangers, as the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the ſhadow of a cloud: the branch of the terrible ones ſhall be brought low. 6 And in this mountain ſhall the Lord of hoſts make unto all people a feaſt of fat things, a feaſt of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined. 7 And he will deſtroy in this mountain the face of the covering caſt over all people, and the vail that is ſpread over all nations. 8 He will ſwallow up death in victory, and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces, and the rebuke of his people ſhall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath ſpoken it. 9 And it ſhall be ſaid in that day, Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him, and he will ſave us: this is the Lord, we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his ſalvation. 10 For in this mountain ſhall the hand of the Lord reſt, and Moab ſhall be troden down under him, even as ſtraw is troden down for the dunghil. 11 And he ſhall ſpread forth his hands in the midſt of them, as he that ſwimmeth ſpreadeth forth his hands to ſwim: and he ſhall bring down their pride together with the ſpoils of their hands. 12 And the fortreſs of the high fort of thy walls ſhall he bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the duſt.

Some Parts of the laſt Chapter having a Relation to the End of the World, we may, without breaking in upon the Connexion of the Prophecy, ſuppoſe the triumphant Hymns, in this and the next Chapter, principally to regard the ſame Time, and to be of the ſame Nature with thoſe recorded Rev. xi. 17. xv. 3. xix. 6.

Therefore ſhall the ſtrong People glorify thee, the City of the terrible Nations ſhall fear thee] The Word Naz, which is tranſlated ſtrong, does likewiſe ſignify fierce, and ſo it is render'd by our Interpreters, Ch. xix. 4. and ſo it ſhould be interpreted in Sampſon's Riddle, Judg. xiv. 14. Out of the Fierce came forth Sweetneſs. I take this Verſe, ſays Lowth, to be parallel to that of Pſ. lxxvi. 10. The Fierceneſs of Man ſhall turn to thy Praiſe: The humbling of theſe potent Cities and terrible Nations, or terrible Ones, as they are called, Ver. 4, and 5. will be a Means of bringing them to give Glory to God, and to acknowledge that the moſt High rules over the Children of Men.

Thou ſhalt bring down the Noiſe of Strangers, as the Heat in a dry Place, even the Heat with the Shadow of a Cloud] Lud. de Dieu, hath tranſlated the Words more truely thus, The Noiſe (or Tumult) of Strangers is as the Heat in a dry Place, thou ſhalt bring down (or abate) the Heat with the Shadow of a Cloud. The Prophet compares the Oppreſſion of thoſe Strangers and Infidels Tohu, which our Engliſh renders Confuſion, ſignifies likewiſe Deſolation; ſee Ch. xxxiv. 11. and this Senſe of the Word is moſt proper here: As if it had been ſaid, Every City is the Image of Deſolation. Compare Ver. 12. and Ch. xxv. 2. Some underſtand by the City, Samaria; the Head of the Kingdom of Iſrael.

They ſhall cry aloud from the Sea] Or, from the Iſles of the Sea, as it is expreſſed in the next Verſe; i. e. from the Iſles of the Weſtern or Mediterranean Sea, whither many of the Jews were ſcattered, and from whence they ſhould return into their own Country in the latter Days. The Hebrew Word Ijam, ſignifies the Weſt as well as the Sea, becauſe the Mediterranean Sea lay Weſtward of Judea; ſee Joſh. xxiii. 4. and ſo the Word is render'd by ſome Interpreters here: Compare Hoſ. xi. 10. where the Word is tranſlated the Weſt. This Verſe is to be underſtood of the final Reſtoration of the Jews, as ſome other Parts of the Chapter plainly relate to the Conſummation of all Things; ſee Ver. 19, 20, 23. The Prophets take Hints from the State of Things in or near their own Time, to deſcribe what ſhall come to paſs in the latter Times.

For the Windows from on high are opened, the Foundations of the Earth do ſhake] A plain Alluſion to the Deſcription of the Deluge, Gen. vii. 11. The Prophet deſcribes the Deſtruction of the preſent World at the Laſt Day by Expreſſions taken from the Deſtruction of the old World; for to uſe St. Peter's Words, As the World, which then was, periſhed by Water, ſo the Heavens and the Earth which are now, are reſerved unto Fire, againſt the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men, 2 Pet. iii. 6, 7.

This one Text, ſays Lowth, does ſufficiently confute an extravagant Notion of one of the great Libertines of the preſent Age, who would fain perſuade the World that the Pentateuch was writ a conſiderable Time after the Captivity of the Ten Tribes; a Fancy which hath not one probable Argument to maintain it, and may be confuted almoſt out of every Writer of the Old Teſtament from Moſes downward.

The Earth is utterly broken down, the Earth is clean diſſolved, the Earth is moved exceedingly] A further Alluſion to the Deluge, eſpecially if we admit of a late ingenious Hypotheſis, which maintains, that the Deſtruction of the Earth at the Deluge, was chiefly cauſed by the breaking down of its Arch, and its falling into the Abyſs.

This and the foregoing Verſe may be thought an hyperbolical Deſcription of the Deſolations which Wars and other Plagues made in Judea, and the neighbouring Countries; as if God had rained down Vengeance on Sinners from above, and Heaven and Earth had been inſpired to puniſh the Wicked: And we may obſerve, that the Prophet Jeremy deſcribes the like Calamities in much the ſame Expreſſions, Ch. iv. 23, &c. but the Words in their full Import do evidently point to the Judgment of the laſt Day, as in the following Verſes more plainly appears.

When the Lord ſhall reign in Mount Zion and in Jeruſalem, and before his Antients gloriouſly] We need not underſtand this, and ſuch-like Expreſſions, in a literal Senſe with the Jews, but are ſufficiently warranted by the Authority of the New Teſtament, to explain them of the Triumphant State of the Church when the Saints ſhall reign with GOD and CHRIST in Glory: Gal. iv. 26. Heb. xii. 22. Rev. xxi. 2, 3.

And before his Antients; or in the Preſence of his Antients: An Alluſion to the Elders of Iſrael, and Moſes, and their ſucceeding Kings at the Head of them, who were the Governors and Repreſentatives of the whole Nation: In like Manner Heaven is repreſented as the General Aſſembly of the Saints, with GOD and CHRIST at the Head of them: See Pſ. lxxxix. 7. Heb. xii. 22. Ch. iv. v. and vii. 9, 10, 11. Part of this heavenly Company are called by the Name of Elders or Antients, Rev. iv. 4. and elſewhere, particularly Ch. v. 4, 6. where there is a plain Alluſion to this Place.

fidels to an exceſſive Drought, which parches up every Thing, Ver. 4. and here he ſays, that God will overſhadow his People, and protect them till this Tyranny be overpaſt: Our Engliſh Tranſlation adheres more ſtrictly to that Diſtinction of the Sentences, which the Hebrew Accents point out: But we do not find, that the antient Verſions took any Notice of thoſe Diſtinctions; and our own Tranſlation in ſome Places neglects them, where the Senſe is clearer if we divide the Sentences otherwiſe. Indeed the Rabbins are not agreed what is the Uſe of thoſe Accents, and therefore it ſeems a needleſs Curioſity to lay any Streſs upon them.

And he will deſtroy — the Face of the Covering caſt over all People, and the Veil that is ſpread over all Nations] The Face of the Covering, is put for the Covering of the Face, by an Hypallage uſual in Scripture. The Phraſe may ſignify all Tokens of Mourning and Sorrow, which were expreſſed by covering the Face, or putting a Veil upon it. If we take the Words in this Senſe, they are equivalent to wiping away the Tears from off all Faces, in the following Verſe; or they may denote the taking away all Ignorance and Prejudice from Mens Minds, which St. Paul compares to a Veil, 2 Cor. iii. 13, 14. and the Word Covering is uſed in the ſame Senſe in this Prophecy, Ch. xxix. 10.

Ver. 1. IN that day ſhall this ſong be ſung in the land of Judah, We have a ſtrong city, ſalvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks. 2 Open ye the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth may enter in. 3 Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whoſe mind is ſtayed on thee: becauſe he truſteth in thee. 4 Truſt ye in the Lord for ever: for in the Lord JEHOVAH is everlaſting ſtrength. 5 For he bringeth down them that dwell on high, the lofty city he layeth it low, he layeth it low, even to the ground, he bringeth it even to the duſt. 6 The foot ſhall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the ſteps of the needy. 7 The way of the juſt is uprightneſs: thou moſt upright doſt weigh the path of the juſt. 8 Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the deſire of our ſoul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee. 9 With my ſoul have I deſired thee in the night, yea, with my ſpirit within me will I ſeek thee early: for when thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteouſneſs. 10 Let favour be ſhewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteouſneſs: in the land of uprightneſs will he deal unjuſtly, and will not behold the majeſty of the Lord. 11 Lord, when thy hand is lifted up, they will not ſee: but they ſhall ſee, and be aſhamed for their envy at the people, yea the fire of thine enemies ſhall devour them. 12 Lord, thou wilt ordain peace for us: for thou alſo haſt wrought all our works in us. 13 O Lord our God, other lords beſides thee have had dominion over us: but by thee only will we make mention of thy name. 14 They are dead, they ſhall not live; they are deceaſed, they ſhall not riſe: therefore haſt thou viſited and deſtroyed them, and made all their memory to periſh. 15 Thou haſt increaſed the nation, O Lord, thou haſt increaſed the nation, thou art glorified; thou hadſt removed it far unto all the ends of the earth. 16 Lord, in trouble have they viſited thee, they poured out a prayer when thy chaſtening was upon them. 17 Like as a woman with child that draweth near the time of her delivery, is in pain, and cryeth out in her pangs; ſo have we been in thy ſight, O Lord. 18 We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind; we have not wrought any deliverance in the earth, neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen. 19 Thy dead men ſhall live, together with my dead body ſhall they ariſe: awake and ſing ye that dwell in duſt: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth ſhall caſt out the dead. 20 Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and ſhut thy doors about thee: hide thyſelf as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be over paſt. 21 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place to puniſh the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth alſo ſhall diſcloſe her blood, and ſhall no more cover her ſlain.

In that Day ſhall this Song be ſung in the Land of Judah] In the Church, in which Senſe Mount Zion and Jeruſalem are often uſed.

The lofty City he layeth it low] As the Church is ſtiled the City of God, ſo the Society of Infidels, or Enemies to God's Truth, is repreſented by the like Similitude of a City, and typified under the Figures of Sodom, Babylon, and that Jeruſalem which killed the Prophets; ſee Rev. xi. 8. And this Senſe beſt agrees with the Scope of the Place, and with the parallel Texts, Ch. xxv. 2, 12. in neither of which Places can the Expreſſion be underſtood of any one particular City.

The Foot ſhall tread it down, even the Feet of the Poor, and the Steps of the Needy] The Planting of the Goſpel was a remarkable Triumph over the Power and Wiſdom of Men, when God choſe the fooliſh Things of the World, to confound the Things of the Wiſe; and the weak Things of the World to confound the Things which are mighty. Accordingly under every Advancement of Chriſt's Kingdom, the Poor and Humble, thoſe who have deſpiſed the World, and have been deſpiſed by it, are to have a particular Share in the Glory and Succeſs thereof. See Ch. xi. 4. xxix. 19. lxi. 1. Zeph. iii. 12. If we underſtand the Words of that laſt and great Triumph of the Church over Antichriſt and all its Enemies (to which many of the Expreſſions in this and the former Chapter look that Way) we may fitly explain the Poor and Needy here, to be thoſe who ſhall eſcape out of the great Tribulation which ſhall precede thoſe Times, mentioned Dan. xii. 1. Rev. vii. 14.

Thy dead Men ſhall live] This and the following Verſes contain God's Anſwer to the former Complaints of his People: Wherein he promiſes them a Revival or new Life, after all their Miſeries, which had brought them to Death's Door. The Reſtoration of the Jews, whether after the Babyloniſh Captivity, or after the Diſperſions in following Times, is repreſented as riſing again from the Dead by Ezekiel, Ch. xxxvii. 1, &c. And perhaps this Verſe may in it's primary Senſe, mean no more; eſpecially if the laſt Sentence of it, which our Engliſh renders, and the Earth ſhall caſt out the Dead, be thus tranſlated, but thou wilt caſt down the Land of the Oppreſſors, which Senſe is followed by the Septuagint: The Word Rephaim, which is tranſlated the Dead in our Engliſh Verſion, both here and in the 14th Verſe, ſignifies Giants, and from thence it is applied to wicked Men or Oppreſſors. But I doubt not, ſays Lowth, but this Verſe was one of thoſe Texts upon which the antient Jews grounded their Belief of the Reſurrection, the Hope of which was founded upon the Writings of the Law and the Prophets, as St. Paul tells them Acts xxiv. 14. And the Jews from antient Times have uſed the Words of a Text parallel to this, Ch. lxvi. 14. as a Form over a Perſon interred, at the ſame Time throwing Graſs into the Grave (as in ſo Places with us they do Rosemary) to testify their Belief of a Resurrection: And this is what the true and genuine Sense of the Words imports.

Together with my dead Body shall they arise] The Hebrew runs thus, My dead Body (or Bodies) shall arise: The Noun is in the Singular Number, and the Verb in the Plural, so the Singular is taken distributively for every dead Body, just as it is Ps. xii. 7. Thou shalt keep them, O Lord, thou shalt preserve HIM from this Generation for ever. Where the Word Him is taken for every one of them, as the Sense is explained in the Margin. These two Sentences, thy dead Men shall live, and my dead Bodies shall arise are equivalent; they are called the Church's Dead in the latter Sentence, from the Interest he hath in them, and because he hath promised to raise them up at the last Day, John vi. 39.

Ver. 1. IN that day the Lord with his sore and great and strong sword shall punish leviathan the piercing serpent, even leviathan that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea. 2 In that day sing ye unto her, A vineyard of red wine. 3 I the Lord do keep it, I will water it every moment; lest any hurt it, I will keep it night and day. 4 Fury is not in me: who would set the briers and thorns against me in battel? I would go through them, I would burn them together. 5 Or let him take hold of my strength, that he may make peace with me, and he shall make peace with me. 6 He shall cause them that come of Jacob to take root: Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit. 7 Hath he smitten him, as he smote those that smote him? or is he slain according to the slaughter of them that are slain by him? 8 In measure when it shooteth forth, thou wilt debate with it; he stayeth his rough wind in the day of the east-wind. 9 By this therefore shall the iniquity of Jacob be purged, and this is all the fruit to take away his sin; when he maketh all the stones of the altar as chalk-stones that are beaten in sunder, the groves and images shall not stand up. 10 Yet the defenced city shall be desolate, and the habitation forsaken, and left like a wilderness: there shall the calf feed, and there shall he lie down, and consume the branches thereof. 11 When the boughs thereof are withered, they shall be broken off: the women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of no understanding: therefore he that made them will not have mercy on them, and he that formed them will shew them no favour. 12 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall beat off from the channel of the river unto the stream of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered one by one, O ye children of Israel. 13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the great trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the land of Assyria, and the out-casts in the land of Egypt, and shall worship the Lord in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

In that Day the Lord with his sore and great and strong Sword shall punish Leviathan] Tyrants and Oppressors are often resembled to Whales and other Sea Monsters which devour the lesser Fry: Thus Pharaoh is called Leviathan, or the Dragon, or Whale in the Waters, Ezek. xxxii. 13, 14. Isa. li. 9. Ezek. xxix. 3. and so the Expressions in this Verse denote in general those worldly Potentates, who have been the noted Oppressors of God's People, and are indeed the Instruments and Types of Satan, so often called the Serpent in Scripture, to whom some Interpreters apply the Expressions here. The Word Tannin signifies any great Fish, such as a Whale, and so is plainly taken, Gen. i. 21. and Ps. cxlviii. 7. Praise the Lord ye Whales (not Dragons) and all Deep. Bochart thinks it sometimes signifies a Crocodile, particularly Ezek. xxix. 3. xxxii. 2. The Word is very fitly rendered Sea Monsters, by our Translators, Lament. iv. 3.

In that Day sing ye to her, a Vineyard of red Wine, I the Lord do keep it, &c.] The Church is often compared to a Vineyard; see Ch. v. 1. Jer. ii. 21. Matt. xxi. 33. and Red Wine was esteemed the best and most generous Sort of Wine; see Prov. xxiii. 31. The Import of these two Verses, 2 and 3, is, That when the Enemies of God's People are destroyed, among other Songs and Thanksgivings to God, this Acknowledgment shall be made to the Praise of God, and of the Church which he protects, that as she is fruitful in all good Works, so God continually watches over her and defends her from Danger. Compare Ps. lxxx. 8 — 13.

And fill the Face of the World with Fruit] These and the foregoing Words are a Description of the flourishing State of the Jews after their Conversion, which shall be as new Life from the Dead, as St. Paul expresses it, Rom. xi. 15. and shall occasion the Fulness of the Gentiles coming into the Church.

In Measure when it shooteth forth, thou wilt debate with it] The Execution of God's Judgments is expressed by God's having a Controversy with his People, Hos. iv. 1. Mic. vi. 2. which yet will be in Measure, or Moderation, as the Prophet here speaks. Some Expositors think that the Word Beshallekah, which our English renders, when it shooteth forth, is a Metaphor taken from the Art of Pruning; as if the Prophet had said, God will cut off the superfluous Branches, but spare the main Body of the Tree. Grotius renders the Word, when thou sendest (the People) into Captivity; and explains it, That God would not utterly destroy them in a foreign Land, but preserve a Remnant to return, and repossess their native Country.

When he makes all the Stones of the Altar as chalk Stones that are beaten asunder] The Word Altar in the Singular Number is taken distributively, for any Altar; concerning which Phrase, see the Note on Ch. xxvi. 19. These Altar-stones, the Prophet saith, shall be beaten to Dust like Chalk Stones, in order to the abolishing the very Memory of idolatrous Worship.

From the Channel of the River to the Stream of Egypt] From the River Euphrates, which is upon the Border of Assyria, to the River Nile, which is the Boundary of Egypt. This Expression denotes the several Dispersions of the Jews, these two Countries being the Places into which the greatest Part of them were dispersed.

Note, The River of Egypt is to be distinguished from the Nile; it riseth out of Mount Paran, and takes its Course towards Rhinocorura; so the Septuagint translates it here, and from thence falls into the Mediterranean Sea: See Gen. xv. 18. Josh. xv. 47. 1 Kings viii. 65.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Judgments denounced against the Ten Tribes; and the Two other Tribes severely reproved.

Ver. 1. WO to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty is a fading flower, which are on the head of the fat valleys of them that are overcome with wine. 2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty and strong one, which as a tempest of hail, and a destroying storm, as a flood of mighty waters over-flowing, shall cast down to the earth with the hand. 3 The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim shall be troden under feet.

4 And

4 And the glorious beauty which is on the head of the fat valley, ſhall be a fading flower, and as the haſty fruit before the ſummer: which when he that looketh upon it, ſeeth it, while it is yet in his hand he eateth it up. 5 In that day ſhall the Lord of hoſts be for a crown of glory, and for a diadem of beauty unto the reſidue of his people. 6 And for a ſpirit of judgment to him that ſitteth in judgment, and for ſtrength to them that turn the battel to the gate. 7 But they alſo have erred through wine, and through ſtrong drink are out of the way: the prieſt and the prophet have erred through ſtrong drink, they are ſwallowed up of wine, they are out of the way through ſtrong drink, they err in viſion, they ſtumble in judgment. 8 For all tables are full of vomit and filthineſs, ſo that there is no place clean. 9 Whom ſhall he teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to underſtand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breaſts. 10 For precept muſt be upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little and there a little. 11 For with ſtammering lips and another tongue will he ſpeak to this people. 12 To whom he ſaid, This is the reſt wherewith ye may cauſe the weary to reſt, and this is the refreſhing: yet they would not hear. 13 But the word of the Lord was unto them, precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little and there a little, that they might go and fall backward, and be broken, and ſnared, and taken. 14 Wherefore hear the word of the Lord, ye ſcornful men that rule this people which is in Jeruſalem. 15 Becauſe ye have ſaid, We have made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement; when the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through, it ſhall not come unto us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under falſhood have we hid our ſelves: 16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a ſtone, a tried ſtone, a precious corner-ſtone, a ſure foundation: he that believeth, ſhall not make haſte. 17 Judgment alſo will I lay to the line, and righteouſneſs to the plummet, and the hail ſhall ſweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters ſhall overflow the hiding-place. 18 And your covenant with death ſhall be diſannulled, and your agreement with hell ſhall not ſtand; when the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through, then ye ſhall be troden down by it. 19 From the time that it goeth forth, it ſhall take you: for morning by morning ſhall it paſs over, by day and by night, and it ſhall be a vexation, only to underſtand the report. 20 For the bed is ſhorter, than that a man can ſtretch himſelf on it: and the covering narrower, than that he can wrap himſelf in it. 21 For the Lord ſhall riſe up as in mount Perazim, he ſhall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his work, his ſtrange work; and bring to paſs his act, his ſtrange act. 22 Now therefore be ye not mockers, leaſt your bands be made ſtrong: for I have heard from the Lord God of hoſts a conſumption, even determined upon the whole earth. 23 Give ye ear, and hear my voice, hearken and hear my ſpeech. 24 Doth the plowman plow all day to ſow? doth he open and break the clods of his ground? 25 When he hath made plain the face thereof, doth he not caſt abroad the fitches, and ſcatter the cummin, and caſt in the principal wheat, and the appointed barley, and the rie in their place? 26 For his God doth inſtruct him to diſcretion, and doth teach him. 27 For the fitches are not threſhed with a threſhing-inſtrument, neither is a cart-wheel turned about upon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a ſtaff, and the cummin with a rod. 28 Bread-corn is bruiſed; becauſe he will not ever be threſhing it, nor break it with the wheel of his cart, nor bruiſe it with his horſemen. 29 This alſo cometh forth from the Lord of hoſts, which is wonderful in counſel, and excellent in working.

Here, according to Lowth's Diviſion of this Book, begins the fourth Part or Section of the Prophecy, which chiefly relates to Sennacherib's Invaſion, and is concluded with an Hiſtory of that Affair, in the xxxvith and xxxviith Chapters, which is placed there as a Key to explain ſeveral of the foregoing Prophecies. Theſe Prophecies are not always recorded in that Order of Time in which they were publiſhed; ſo the Beginning of this Chapter denounces God's Judgments againſt the Ten Tribes, who were carried away captive ſome Years before ſeveral of the foregoing Prophecies were delivered. In the ſeven and following Verſes, the Prophet ſeverely reproves the Two other Tribes for their Exceſs, their Ignorance and their Contempt of thoſe Threatnings he had denounced againſt their Sins, and which they fouly preſumed that they could by their cunning Management evade and eſcape: But he tells them they would find themſelves very much miſtaken.

Wo to the Crown of Pride, to the Drunkards of Ephraim] Wo to that proud Kingdom of Iſrael (compare Jer. xiii. 18. Lam. v. 16.) of which Ephraim is the Head; Samaria the Royal Seat of that Kingdom being ſituate in that Tribe.

The Drunkards of Ephraim; from whence Sichem, ſituate in that Tribe, was called by way of Reproach Sychar, i. e. the City of Drunkards. See John iv. 5.

The Lord hath a mighty and a ſtrong one, which is as a Tempeſt of Hail and a deſtroying Storm] Under theſe Reſemblances the Prophet repreſents Salmanaſſer the King of Aſſyria, who ſhould carry the Ten Tribes away captive, and make an utter Deſtruction of the Kingdom. God's ſevere Judgments are often ſet forth under the Emblems of Storms and Tempeſts, which are the Artillery of Heaven. See Ch. xxix. 6. Ezek. xiii. 11. Rev. xvi. 21.

For with ſtammering Lips and another Tongue, will he ſpeak to this People] The firſt Word, or Particle Ki, were better render'd therefore, which Interpretation gives the Words this Turn: God hath dealt with this People as with Children; and as Nurſes teach them to ſpeak by liſping and ſtammering like them, ſo he hath condeſcended to the loweſt Rudiments of Inſtruction, and hath fed them with Milk, and not with ſtrong Meat. But ſince all this is to no Purpoſe, therefore now he will take another Courſe with them; he will ſend them a Sort of Stammerers among them, viz. the Aſſyrians and Chaldeans, whoſe Language they underſtand not, and they ſhall inſtruct them by Blows and Correction. This is a great Aggravation of the Miſeries that attend a foreign Conqueſt, that there is no parlying or treating with ſuch a Conqueror, nor any moving him to Compaſſion, becauſe they underſtand not each other's Language: Accordingly this is threatened as one of the ſoreſt Judgments God can ſend upon a People, Deut. xxviii. 49. Jer. v. 15. That this is the true Meaning of this Verſe, appears by St. Paul's applying of it to the ſpeaking in an unknown Tongue, 1 Cor. xiv. 21. 22. and by the Uſe of the Hebrew Lang, tranſlated Stammering, which is applied to a foreign Language Ch. xxxiii. 19.

Behold I lay in Zion for a Foundation, a Stone, a tried Stone, &c.] This Prophecy cannot belong to any Chriſt, to whom it is often applied in the New Teſta-ment. But it may import thus much, with reſpect to the Time wherein Iſaiah lived, that he ſhould never be diſappointed, who believes in God, whoſe Dwelling is in Zion, and hath made peculiar Promiſes to the Jewiſh Church and Kingdom ſeated there, which ſhall be fulfilled at the Coming of the Meſſias, in whom all God's Promiſes made to his People ſhall receive their final Accompliſhment.

He that believeth ſhall not make haſte] He that believeth God's Promiſes made to his faithful Servants, will patiently depend upon God, and not out of Diſtruſt of his Mercy betake himſelf to any unlawful Means of ſecuring himſelf, as many did, Ver. 15. The Septuagint, inſtead of ſhall not make haſte, read, ſhall not be aſhamed, which makes ſome think that they read Jabiſh in the Hebrew, inſtead of Jackhiſh, which is the Reading of the preſent Hebrew Copies. But our learned Dr. Pocock has ſhewn, that the Verb Chuſh ſignifies to be aſhamed in the Arabick Tongue; which makes it probable, that it was formerly uſed in the ſame Senſe in the Hebrew. In the ſame Senſe the Verb Chuſh is probably taken, Job xx. 2. where our Engliſh renders the Place, For this I made haſte; but the Senſe would run much better if it were tranſlated, For this I am troubled or confounded. Capellus, who would fain ſuſpect the preſent Reading of the Hebrew Copy, did not conſider that the Copies in the Son of Syrach's Time, read as ours do, as appears from thoſe Words of his, Eccluſ. ii. 2. Make not haſte in the Time of Trouble; which Sentence certainly alludes to this Text, taking the Hebrew Chuſh in its uſual Signification.

CHAP. XXIX.

Heavy Judgments denounced againſt Jeruſalem. The Unſettledneſs of her Enemies. The Senſeleſneſs and deep Hypocriſy of the Jews. A Promiſe of Sanctification to the Good.

1 WO to Ariel, to Ariel the city where David dwelt: add ye year to year; let them kill ſacrifices. 2 Yet I will diſtreſs Ariel, and there ſhall be heavineſs and ſorrow: and it ſhall be unto me as Ariel. 3 And I will camp againſt thee round about, and will lay ſiege againſt thee with a mount, and I will raiſe forts againſt thee. 4 And thou ſhalt be brought down, and ſhalt ſpeak out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall be low out of the duſt, and thy voice ſhall be as of one that hath a familiar ſpirit, out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall whiſper out of the duſt. 5 Moreover, the multitude of thy ſtrangers ſhall be like ſmall duſt, and the multitude of the terrible ones ſhall be as chaff that paſſeth away: yea, it ſhall be at an inſtant ſuddenly. 6 Thou ſhalt be viſited of the Lord of hoſts with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noiſe, with ſtorm and tempeſt, and the flame of devouring fire. 7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight againſt Ariel, even all that fight againſt her and her munition, and that diſtreſs her, ſhall be as a dream of a night-viſion. It ſhall even be as when a hungry man dreameth, and behold he eateth; but he awaketh, and his ſoul is empty: or as when a thirſty man dreameth, and behold he drinketh; but he awaketh, and behold he is faint, and his ſoul hath appetite: ſo ſhall the multitude of all the nations be, that fight againſt mount Zion. 9 Stay yourſelves and wonder, cry ye out, and cry: they are drunken, but not with wine; they ſtagger, but not with ſtrong drink. 10 For the Lord hath poured out upon you the ſpirit of deep ſleep, and hath cloſed your eyes: the prophets and your rulers, the ſeers hath he covered. 11 And the viſion of all is become unto you, as the words of a book that is ſealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, ſaying, Read this, I pray thee; and he ſaith, I cannot for it is ſealed: 12 And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, ſaying, Read this, I pray thee; and he ſaith, I am not learned. 13 Wherefore the Lord ſaid, Foraſmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear towards me is taught by the precept of men: 14 Therefore behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work amongſt this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wiſdom of their wiſe men ſhall periſh, and the underſtanding of their prudent men ſhall be hid. 15 Wo unto them that ſeek deep to hide their counſel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they ſay, Who ſeeth us? and who knoweth us? 16 Surely your turning of things upſide down ſhall be eſteemed as the potters clay: for ſhall the work ſay of him that made it, He made me not? or ſhall the thing framed ſay of him that framed it, He had no underſtanding? 17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon ſhall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field ſhall be eſteemed as a foreſt? 18 And in that day ſhall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind ſhall ſee out of obſcurity, and out of darkneſs. 19 The meek alſo ſhall increaſe their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men ſhall rejoice in the holy One of Iſrael. 20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the ſcorner is conſumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off: 21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a ſnare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aſide the juſt for a thing of nought. 22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord who redeemed Abraham, concerning the houſe of Jacob, Jacob ſhall not now be aſhamed, neither ſhall his face now wax pale. 23 But when he ſeeth his children, the work of mine hands in the midſt of him, they ſhall ſanctify my name, and ſanctify the holy One of Jacob, and ſhall fear the God of Iſrael. 24 They alſo that erred in ſpirit ſhall come to underſtanding, and they that murmured, ſhall learn doctrine.

Wo to Ariel, to Ariel, the City where David dwelt] Ariel ſignifies the Lion of God, and was the Name of the Altars, becauſe it devoured the Sacrifices which were offered upon it; ſee Ezek. xliii. 15. Here it is by a Synechdoche put for the City of Jeruſalem, which David made the Seat of the Kingdom, and where God, for David's Sake, promiſed to place his Name; ſee Kings xiv. 4. and yet for the People's Sins, God was now reſolved to expoſe it to the Aſſaults of Sennacherib and his Army. Some render the latter Part of the Sentence thus, The City which David beſieged (in which Senſe of the Verb Chanah is taken, Ver. 3.) implying, that the Enemy ſhould diſtreſs it in the ſame Manner.

Yet I will diſtreſs Ariel — and it ſhall be unto me as Ariel] When the City is cloſely beſieged and diſtreſſed, it ſhall reſemble the Altar of Burnt-Offerings, being every Way ſurrounded with Carcaſſes, not of Beaſts, but of Men. The Slaughter of Men is ſometimes called a Sacrifice, becauſe it makes ſome kind of Satisfaction and Atonement to the Juſtice of God: See Ch. xxxiv. 6. Ezek. xxxix. 17. Zeph. i. 7.

The Multitude of thy Strangers ſhall be like ſmall Duſt, and the Multitude of terrible ones shall be as Chaff, &c.] Strangers and terrible ones are joined together, as they are Ch. xxv. 4. Here they signify the Assyrian Army, which tho' they made such a dreadful Appearance, the Prophet foretels they shall be defeated by a sudden Stroke from Heaven, and vanish in an Instant; 185,000 being destroyed in one Night, Ch. xxxvii. 36. Compare Ch. xvii. 13.

Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of Hosts with Thunder and with Earthquake] The Prophet, applying himself to Jerusalem, calls the Army which besieged it, Thy Army, Ver. 5. and by the same Figure we may understand the Words here, Thou shalt be visited, of the same Army, to which he threatens utter Destruction in this and the following Verses, and that from the immediate Hand of God; see Ch. xxx. 30. Ps. xviii. 14.

Stay yourselves and wonder, cry ye out, and cry, they are drunken, but not with Wine, &c.] The Prophet often upbraids the Jews with their Carelessness and Stupidity, never minding the Indications of Providence, nor laying to Heart the Instructions of the Prophets. In this Verse he applies himself to his Auditors, and bids them reflect a little, and wonders to see how unconcerned the Generality of the People are at what is spoken to them from the Mouth of God. You will, saith he, be forced to cry out, These Men have lost their Sense and Reason, like those who are overcome with intoxicating Liquors. The Words which our English translates, Cry ye out, and cry, may perhaps be better rendered, Consider ye, and cry out; so some Interpreters render that Word in another Form, Ch. xli. 23.

For the Wisdom of their wise Men shall perish, and the Understanding of their prudent Men shall be hid] The most refined Arts of their deep Politicians shall not avail their Authors, nor be able to preserve them from God's Judgments; and their learned'st Men shall lose their Judgment and Discretion. This Threatning was remarkably verified under the Gospel, when their crucifying Christ out of fear of the Roman Power, brought the Romans upon them: And their learned Rabbies ever since have minded little else but fabulous Stories, and their Cabbalists have vented Trifles for profound Mysteries.

CHAP. XXX.

The Prophet threatens the People for their Confidence in Egypt, and Contempt of God's Word. God's Mercies towards his Church; his Wrath, and the People's Joy in the Destruction of Assyria.

Ver. 1. WO to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin: 2 That walk to go down into Egypt, (and have not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt. 3 Therefore shall the strength of Pharaoh be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion. 4 For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came to Hanes. 5 They were all ashamed of a people that could not profit them, nor be an help nor profit, but a shame and also a reproach. 6 The burden of the beasts of the south: into the land of trouble and anguish, from whence come the young and old lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent, they will carry their riches upon the shoulders of young asses, and their treasures upon the bunches of camels, to a people that shall not profit them. 7 For the Egyptians shall help in vain, and to no purpose; therefore have I cried concerning this, Their strength is to sit still. 8 Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever: 9 That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the Lord: 10 Which say to the Seer, See not; and to the prophets, Prophesy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophesy deceits. 11 Get you out of the way, turn aside out of the path, cause the holy One of Israel to cease from before us. 12 Wherefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because ye despise this word, and trust in oppression and perverseness, and stay thereon: 13 Therefore this iniquity shall be to you as a breach ready to fall, swelling out in a high wall, whose breaking cometh suddenly at an instant. 14 And he shall break it as the breaking of the potters vessel, that is broken in pieces, he shall not spare; so that there shall not be found in the bursting of it, a sherd to take fire from the hearth, or to take water withal out of the pit. 15 For thus saith the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength; and ye would not. 16 But ye said, No, for we will flee upon horses; therefore shall ye flee: and we will ride upon the swift; therefore shall they that pursue you, be swift. 17 One thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one; at the rebuke of five shall ye flee, till ye be left as a beacon upon the top of a mountain, and as an ensign on an hill. 18 And therefore will the Lord wait that he may be gracious unto you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may have mercy upon you: for the Lord is a God of judgment; blessed are all they that wait for him. 19 For the people shall dwell in Zion at Jerusalem: thou shalt weep no more: he will be very gracious unto thee, at the voice of thy cry; when he shall hear it, he will answer thee. 20 And though the Lord give you the bread of adversity, and the water of affliction, yet shall not thy teachers be removed into a corner any more, but thine eyes shall see thy teachers: 21 And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left. 22 Ye shall defile also the covering of thy graven images of silver, and the ornament of thy molten images of gold: thou shalt cast them away as menstruous cloth; thou shalt say unto it, Get thee hence. 23 Then shall he give the rain of thy seed that thou shalt sow the ground with, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and plenteous: in that day shall thy cattle feed in large pastures. 24 The oxen likewise and the young asses that ear the ground, shall eat clean provender which hath been winnowed with the shovel and with the fan. 25 And there shall be upon every high mountain, and upon every high hill, rivers and streams of waters in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall. 26 Moreover, the light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be seven-fold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the Lord bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the stroke of their wound. 27 Behold, the name of the Lord cometh from far, burning with his anger, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire.

28 And his breath as an overflowing ſtream, ſhall reach to the midſt of the neck, to ſift the nations with the ſieve of vanity: and there ſhall be a bridle in the jaws of the people, cauſing them to err. 29 Ye ſhall have a ſong as in the night, when a holy ſolemnity is kept, and gladneſs of heart, as when one goeth with a pipe to come into the mountain of the Lord, to the mighty One of Iſrael. 30 And the Lord ſhall cauſe his glorious voice to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the lighting down of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and with the flame of a devouring fire, with ſcattering and tempeſt, and hail-ſtones.
31 For through the voice of the Lord ſhall the Aſſyrian be beaten down which ſmote with a rod.
32 And in every place where the grounded ſtaff ſhall paſs, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps: and in battels of ſhaking will he fight with it. 33 For Tophet is ordained of old: yea, for the king it is prepared, he hath made it deep and large: the pile thereof is fire and much wood, the breath of the Lord, like a ſtream of brimſtone, doth kindle it.

For his Princes were at Zoan, his Ambaſſadors came to Hanes] King Hezekiah's Ambaſſadors came to apply themſelves to the King of Egypt and his great Men, for Succour and Aſſiſtance; to which Purpoſe, they arrived at the two principal Cities of Egypt, Zoan or Tanis, called Tahapanes, Jer. ii. 16. xliii. 7. Ezek. xx. 18.

The Burden of the Beaſts of the South] The Word Burden hath an ambiguous Senſe; for beſides its uſual Signification, it denotes likewiſe a threatning Prophecy: So the Words imply, that the Burdens of Preſents, which the Jews ſent upon the Backs of Aſſes and Camels to make Friends withal in Egypt (a Country lying Southward of Judea) ſhould meet with but ill Succeſs.

From whence come the Viper, and the fiery flying Serpent] The Wilderneſs, that lies between Egypt and Judea, is deſcribed after the ſame Manner by Moſes, Deut. viii. 15. The fiery Serpent is called in the Hebrew Saraph, and hath its Name from its bright and burning Colour: For the ſame Reaſon the Angels are called Seraphims, becauſe, when they attended on the Divine Shekinah, they appeared like Flames of Fire. See Pſ. civ. 4. It is called a flying Serpent, becauſe it ſpringS up like a Dart againſt thoſe it ſtrikes. Some Authors indeed relate, that there are winged Serpents; but that does not ſeem ſo well conſiſtent with the Curſe inflicted upon the Serpent, Gen. iii. 14.

For the People ſhall dwell in Sion at Jeruſalem] The Hebrew runs thus, The People in Sion ſhall dwell at Jeruſalem: The People in Sion is the ſame with the People of Sion, as the Mountains in Gilboa are equivalent to the Mountains of Gilboa, and the Words are ſo tranſlated by Interpreters, 2 Sam. i. 21. Or the Sentence may be tranſlated, The People ſhall dwell in Sion (and) at Jeruſalem; the copulative Particle being often underſtood. Notwithſtanding the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem threatned by Sennacherib, the City ſhall ſtill be viſited as in former Times, and ſhall be comforted after her Sorrow; which is the Import of the following Words, Thou ſhalt weep no more, being ſpoken by way of Apoſtrophe to Jeruſalem.

From this Verſe to the 27th, follow many gracious Promiſes of Mercy, ſome of which cannot with any Propriety be applied to the ſucceeding Times of Hezekiah's Reign. Therefore we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, that the Prophet, taking an Hint from thoſe proſperous Times which ſucceeded this Deliverance, was carried on to a View of better Days, which might be expected under the flouriſhing State of the Goſpel.

And in every Place where the grounded Staff ſhall paſs, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with Tabrets and Harps] This, ſays Lowth, is a very obſcure Tranſlation of the Words; the old Tranſlation publiſhed under K. Henry VIII. renders them much plainer thus; Whitherſoever he goes, the Rod ſhall cleave unto him, Which the Lord ſhall lay upon him. Or the Place may be thus tranſlated more exactly to the Hebrew, And every Place where the terrible Stroke ſhall paſs which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, ſhall be (filled) (or ſhall found) with Tabrets and Harps. The Words in the Original, which the Engliſh renders the grounded Staff, ſignifies ſuch a Rod or Stroke as ſinks deep, and makes laſting Prints or Marks in the Fleſh: And the Expreſſion alludes to the Rod, with which the Aſſyrian ſmote or corrected God's People, Ver. 31. as if the Prophet had ſaid, God hath prepared a Rod to chaſtiſe him, that before was a Scourge to all his Neighbours. The Import of the whole Sentence is this, that in every Place where God ſhall inflict this heavy Judgment upon the Aſſyrian, ſhall be full of Joy and Gladneſs. The Hebrew Tuppim, Tabrets, alludes to Tophet, a Word of the ſame Signification, by which Name the Prophet calls the Syrian Camp. It was uſual likewiſe to celebrate Victories with Tabrets and other Inſtruments of Muſick. See Exod. xv. 20. 1 Sam. xviii. 6.

For Tophet is ordained of old, yea, for the King it is prepared, &c.] Tophet, otherwiſe called the Valley of Hinnom, which was a Place where the Children were ſacrificed to Moloch; Jer. vii. 31. It had its Name from the Tabrets which ſounded there to drown the Cries of the Children thus inhumanly murdered. Being a Place ſet apart for that terrible Execution, it was looked upon as the Picture of Hell itſelf, the Word Gehenna being from thence derived. The Prophet here applies the Name to the Camp where all the Aſſyrian Army were to be deſtroyed. And as in Tophet great Heaps of Wood were piled together to burn the human Sacrifices there offered, ſo God, ſaith the Text, will find ſufficient Materials prepared like Fuel for the Fire, which his Anger like a Train of Brimſtone will kindle.

The only Difficulty is, how Tophet can be ſaid to be prepared for the King of Aſſyria, ſince Sennacherib did not die in the common Deſtruction. To which it may be anſwered, that all his Strength and Glory periſhed there. But this Expreſſion may alſo point at a more hidden Senſe couched under the Deſcription, which is the final Deſtruction of Sinners in that Tophet or Gehenna, of which the Valley of Hinnom was only a faint Reſemblance, together with Satan their Prince at the Head of them.

Ver. 1. WO to them that go down to Egypt for help, and ſtay on horſes, and truſt in chariots, becauſe they are many, and in horſe-men, becauſe they are very ſtrong: but they look not unto the holy One of Iſrael, neither ſeek the Lord. 2 Yet he alſo is wiſe, and will bring evil, and will not call back his words: but will ariſe againſt the houſe of the evil doers, and againſt the help of them that work iniquity. 3 Now the Egyptians are men and not God, and their horſes fleſh and not ſpirit; when the Lord ſhall ſtretch out his hand, both he that helpeth ſhall fall, and he that is holpen ſhall fall down, and they all ſhall fail together. 4 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken unto me, Like as the lion and the young lion roaring on his prey, when a multitude of ſhepherds is called forth againſt him, he will not be afraid of their voice, nor abaſe himſelf for the noiſe of them: ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſts come down to fight for mount Zion, and and for the hill thereof. 5 As birds flying, ſo will the Lord of hoſts defend Jeruſalem, defending alſo he will deliver it, and paſſing over he will preſerve it. 6 Turn ye unto him from whom the children of Iſrael have deeply revolted. 7 For in that day every man ſhall caſt away his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have made unto you for a ſin. 8 Then ſhall the Aſſyrian fall with the ſword, not of a mighty man; and the ſword, not of a mean man ſhall devour him: but he ſhall flee from the ſword, and his young men ſhall be diſcomfited. 9 And he ſhall paſs over to his ſtrong hold for fear, and his princes ſhall be afraid of the enſign, ſaith the Lord, whoſe fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Jeruſalem.

And their Horſes Fleſh, and not Spirit] Spirit is ſometimes equivalent with Angel, and the Angelical Powers are deſcribed as excelling in Strength far beyond any corporeal Being, Pſ. ciii. 20. In other Places, Spirit ſignifies the ſame as the Soul, and is oppoſed to Fleſh, as the more noble Part of human Nature. Taking the Word in either Senſe, the Meaning of the Text is, that nothing extraordinary is to be expected from the Egyptian Auxiliaries.

Like as the Lion and the young Lion roaring on his Prey, when a Multitude is called forth againſt him, he will not be afraid of their Voice, &c.] An elegant Similitude, repreſenting God's Almighty Power, which no human Strength is able to withſtand; and exactly parallel to thoſe Verſes in Homer, where Sarpedon is deſcribed as going againſt the Greeks. The Verſes are thus rendered in the Engliſh Tranſlation copied from the French.

As ſome fierce Lion on the Mountains bred,
Stung with keen Hunger, ſearches for his Prey,
Springs o'er the Fences, and o'er-leaps the Fold:
For tho' the Shepherds and the watchful Dogs
On ev'ry Side defend the woolly Flock;
Yet his undaunted Soul diſdains to fly,
Till he hath ſeiz'd his Prey.

Then ſhall the Aſſyrian fall with the Sword, not of a mighty Man; and the Sword not of a mean Man ſhall devour him, &c.] He ſhall not fall by any mortal Power, but by the Hand of an Angel; ſee Ch. xxxvii. 36. If we follow the common Opinion, that the Aſſyrian Army was deſtroyed by a Peſtilential Diſeaſe, which was the immediate Stroke of Heaven; the Expreſſions here exactly agree with the Deſcription of the Angel, who ſmote the Jews with a Peſtilence, 1 Chron. xxi. who is there repreſented as ſtanding with a Sword drawn in his Hand, Ver. 16.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Bleſſings of Chriſt's Kingdom. The Deſolation of the Country foretold; and Reſtauration is promiſed to ſucceed.

Ver. 1. BEhold, a king ſhall reign in righteouſneſs, and princes ſhall rule in judgment. 2 And a man ſhall be as an hiding-place from the wind, and a covert from the tempeſt: as rivers of water in a dry place, as the ſhadow of a great rock in a weary land. 3 And the eyes of them that ſee, ſhall not be dim; and the ears of them that hear, ſhall hearken. 4 The heart alſo of the raſh ſhall underſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtammerers ſhall be ready to ſpeak plainly. 5 The vile perſon ſhall be no more called liberal, nor the churl ſaid to be bountiful. 6 For the vile perſon will ſpeak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practiſe hypocriſy, and to utter error againſt the Lord, to make empty the ſoul of the hungry, and he will cauſe the drink of the thirſty to fail. 7 The inſtruments alſo of the churl are evil: he deviſeth wicked devices to deſtroy the poor with lying words, even when the needy ſpeaketh right. 8 But the liberal deviſeth liberal things, and by liberal things ſhall he ſtand. 9 Riſe up ye women that are at eaſe, hear my voice ye careleſs daughters, give ear unto my ſpeech. 10 Many days and years ſhall ye be troubled, ye careleſs women: for the vintage ſhall fail, the gathering ſhall not come. 11 Tremble ye women that are at eaſe: be troubled ye careleſs ones: ſtrip ye and make ye bare, and gird ſackcloth upon your loins. 12 They ſhall lament for the teats for the pleaſant fruits, for the fruitful vine. 13 Upon the land of my people ſhall come up thorns and briers, yea, upon all the houſes of joy in the joyous city: 14 Becauſe the palaces ſhall be forſaken, the multitude of the city ſhall be left, the forts and towers ſhall be for dens for ever, a joy of wild aſſes, a paſture of flocks: 15 Until the Spirit be poured upon us from on high, and the wilderneſs be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a foreſt. 16 Then judgment ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs and righteouſneſs remain in the fruitful field. 17 And the work of righteouſneſs ſhall be peace and the effect of righteouſneſs, quietneſs and aſſurance for ever. 18 And my people ſhall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in ſure dwellings, and in quiet reſting-places: 19 When it ſhall hail, coming down on the foreſt; and the city ſhall be low in a low place. 20 Bleſſed are ye that ſow beſide all waters, that ſend forth thither the feet of the ox and the aſs.

Whoſoever carefully conſiders the 9th, 10th, and following Verſes of this Chapter, ſays Lowth, will find that they relate to the Calamities which the Aſſyrian Invaſion brought upon Judea. Under thoſe Afflictions the Wiſdom and Piety of King Hezekiah was one of the chief Supports and Comforts to his Subjects, and conſequently we may ſuppoſe, that the Beginning of this Chapter doth contain a Character of that excellent Prince. But yet there are ſeveral Expreſſions, particularly thoſe in the 3d and 4th Verſes, that relate to happier Times than Hezekiah ever lived to enjoy. And therefore upon the whole Matter we may juſtly ſay, that the Reformation which Hezekiah made, was but a Shadow or Image of thoſe greater Improvements in Grace and Holineſs, which properly belong to the Goſpel Times, under the Government of Chriſt, and the Aſſiſtance of his Spirit. Mr. White objects againſt this Interpretation, that none of the Writers of the New Teſtament, have applied any Part of this Chapter to our Saviour; but we are not to expect a particular Application of all the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament in the Writings of the New. And we may obſerve that many important Prophecies, ſuch as are particularly Daniel's Weeks, are never diſtinctly mentioned there. Jacob's Prophecy concerning Shiloh, Gen. xlix. 10. may be added as another remarkable inſtance of a Prophecy concerning Chriſt, not mentioned in the New Teſtament. It is ſufficient to juſtify ſuch an Interpretation, if the full Import of the Words will bear that Way, and ſuch an Application be agreeable to the Methods of interpreting Prophecies which are obſerved in the New Teſtament; for thoſe are to be looked upon as a publick Rule or Standard for interpreting all Prophecies.

Many Days and Years ſhall ye be troubled, ye careleſs Women] Some render the Words, Days above Years ſhall ye be troubled, &c. and underſtand them nacherib's Invaſion, who came up againſt Judea in the 14th Year of Hezekiah, 2 Kings xviii. 13. and in the Year following, God promiſed the Recovery from his Sickneſs, and that he would deliver him out of the Hand of the King of Aſſyria, and prolong his Life fifteen Years, 2 Kings xx. 6. Now Hezekiah reigned but twenty nine Years in all, ſo this Promiſe of Deliverance muſt have been made in the fifteenth Year of his Reign. But Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſes that there were two Invaſions by Sennacherib, the firſt mentioned 2 Kings xviii. 13. the other ſpoken of in the 17th Verſe of the ſame Chapter, and Ch. xix. 9. and thinks that Hezekiah's Sickneſs happened between theſe two Invaſions, about three Years before the total Defeat of the Aſſyrian Army. See Annal. ad A. M. 3291, and 3294.

They ſhall lament for the Teats, &c.] The Senſe would run eaſier and more agreeable to the Original, if we alter the Stops, and join the firſt Sentence of this Verſe with what goes before, and the latter Part of it with what follows, tranſlating it thus, Gird Sackcloth upon your Loins, and upon your mourning Breaſts. Upon the pleaſant Fields, upon the fruitful Vine, upon the Land of my People ſhall come up Briars and Thorns. The Word Sophedim, which our Engliſh tranſlates, they ſhall lament, is in the Maſculine Gender, and therefore cannot be underſtood of the Women mentioned Ver. 11.

And my People ſhall dwell in a peaceable Habitation — when it ſhall rain, coming down on the Foreſt] God's People ſhall enjoy all Manner of Reſt and Security, at which Time his Judgments ſhall come down in a very ſevere Manner upon their Enemies, expreſſed by the Foreſt, or Wilderneſs, Ver. 15, 16. The Word Foreſt likewiſe taken metaphorically in the prophetical Writings for a City, becauſe its ſtately Buildings, or its great and principal Inhabitants, reſemble tall Cedars ſtanding in their ſeveral Ranks. See Ch. x. 33, 34. xxii. 24. Ezek. xx. 46. Zech. xi. 1.

Bleſſed are ye that ſow beſide all Waters, that ſend forth thither the Feet of the Ox and the Aſs] When the Calamities befal their Enemies, happy will God's People be, who may ſow their Land in Peace, which before was deſolate by reaſon of hoſtile Invaſions; and which formerly over-run with Briars and Thorns (ſee Ver. 13.) yet will now become a fruitful Field, Ver. 15. and yield as plentiful a Crop, as is ſeen in moiſt and well-watered Grounds. It was the Cuſtom of the Jews to plow with Aſſes as well as with Oxen, as appears from Ch. xxx. 24. and Deut. xxii. 10. Spiritual Things may be implied under the Promiſe of Fruitfulneſs and Plenty.

CHAP. XXXIII.

God's Judgments againſt the Enemies of the Church. The Privileges of the Godly.

1 WO to thee that ſpoileſt, and thou waſt not ſpoiled; and dealeſt treacherouſly, and they dealt not treacherouſly with thee: when thou ſhalt ceaſe to ſpoil, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled; and when thou ſhalt make an end to deal treacherouſly, they ſhall deal treacherouſly with thee. 2 O Lord, be gracious unto us, we have waited for thee: be thou their arm every morning, our ſalvation alſo in the time of trouble. 3 At the noiſe of the tumult the people fled: at the lifting up of thyſelf the nations were ſcattered. 4 And your ſpoil ſhall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar: as the running to and fro of locuſts ſhall he run upon them. 5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high, he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteouſneſs. 6 And wiſdom and knowledge ſhall be the ſtability of thy times, and ſtrength of ſalvation: the fear of the Lord is his treaſure. 7 Behold their valiant ones ſhall cry without: the ambaſſadors of peace ſhall weep bitterly. 8 The high-ways lie waſte, the way-faring man ceaſeth, he hath broken the covenant, he hath deſpiſed the cities, he regardeth no man. 9 The earth mourneth and languiſheth: Lebanon is aſhamed and hewn down: Sharon is like a wilderneſs, and Baſhan and Carmel ſhake off their fruits. 10 Now will I riſe, ſaith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift up myſelf. 11 Ye ſhall conceive chaff, ye ſhall bring forth ſtubble: your breath as fire ſhall devour you. 12 And the people ſhall be as the burnings of lime: as thorns cut up ſhall they be burnt in the fire. 13 Hear ye that are far off, what I have done; and ye that are near, acknowledge my might. 14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid, fearfulneſs hath ſurpriſed the hypocrites: who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? who amongſt us ſhall dwell with everlaſting burnings? 15 He that walketh righteouſly, and ſpeaketh uprightly, he that deſpiſeth the gain of oppreſſions, that ſhaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that ſtoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and ſhutteth his eyes from ſeeing evil: 16 He ſhall dwell on high: his place of defence ſhall be the munitions of rocks, bread ſhall be given him, his waters ſhall be ſure. 17 Thine eyes ſhall ſee the king in his beauty: they ſhall behold the land that is very far off. 18 Thine heart ſhall meditate terror: Where is the ſcribe? where is the receiver? where is he that counted the towers? 19 Thou ſhalt not ſee a fierce people, a people of a deeper ſpeech than thou canſt perceive; of a ſtammering tongue, that thou canſt not underſtand. 20 Look upon Zion the city of our ſolemnities: thine eyes ſhall ſee Jeruſalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that ſhall not be taken down, not one of the ſtakes thereof ſhall ever be removed, neither ſhall any of the cords thereof be broken. 21 But there the glorious Lord will be unto us a place of broad rivers and ſtreams; wherein ſhall go no galley with oars, neither ſhall gallant ſhips paſs thereby. 22 For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our law-giver, the Lord is our king, he will ſave us. 23 Thy tacklings are looſed, they could not well ſtrengthen their maſt, they could not ſpread the ſail: then is the prey of a great ſpoil divided, the lame take the prey. 24 And the inhabitant ſhall not ſay, I am ſick; the people that dwell therein ſhall be forgiven their iniquity.

We may call this Chapter, ſays Lowth, an Epinikion, or a triumphant Ode upon the Deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army before Jeruſalem. The Prophet ſets forth the ſeveral Scenes of that Tranſaction with all the Beauties of a poetical Deſcription. At the Beginning of the Chapter he foreſees the Overthrow of the common Enemy and Oppreſſor. At the ſecond Verſe he repreſents the humble Addreſs of God's People for Deliverance; together with his gracious Promiſes of Protection by way of Anſwer to their Prayers, at the 5th and 6th Verſes. Then he deſcribes the Diſappointment of Hezekiah's Ambaſſadors, who humbly ſued for Peace, the Damp that ſtruck upon the Spirits of the whole Nation, Ver. 9. and God's immediate Interpoſition, when Matters ſeemed to be deſperate. Afterward the Prophet ſeverely reproves the Hypocrites, and ſets forth the Security of thoſe that truſt in God, and hold faſt their Integrity, in ſuch Expreſſions as are a juſt Pattern of the true Sublime. From the 17th Verſe he deſcribes how the drooping Spirits of the People revived upon raiſing of the Siege, and congratulates Jeruſalem as being under the immediate Protection of the Almighty, and thereby ſecured from receiving the leaſt Damage in the Midſt of ſo many Dangers. I have given ſo particular an Account of the Contents of this Chapter, becauſe I am perſuaded that if a Tranſlation could be made of it that ſhould come up to the Original, it would appear to be as noble a Piece of Poetry, as is to be found among the moſt admired Writings of the Antients.

CHAP. XXXIV.

The Judgments wherewith God revengeth his Church. The Deſolation of her Enemies.

Ver. 1. COme near ye nations to hear, and hearken ye people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein; the world, and all things that come forth of it. 2 For the indignation of the Lord is upon all nations, and his fury upon all their armies: he hath utterly deſtroyed them, he hath delivered them to the ſlaughter. 3 Their ſlain alſo ſhall be caſt out, and their ſtink ſhall come up out of their carcaſes, and the mountains ſhall be melted with their blood. 4 And all the hoſt of heaven ſhall be diſſolved, and the heavens ſhall be rolled together as a ſcrole: and all their hoſt ſhall fall down as the leaf falleth off from the vine, and as a falling fig from the fig-tree. 5 For my ſword ſhall be bathed in heaven; behold, it ſhall come down upon Idumea, and upon the people of my curſe to judgment. 6 The ſword of the Lord is filled with blood, it is made fat with fatneſs, and with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams: for the Lord hath a ſacrifice in Bozrah, and a great ſlaughter in the land of Idumea. 7 And the unicorns ſhall come down with them, and the bullocks with the bulls, and their land ſhall be ſoaked with blood, and their duſt made fat with fatneſs. 8 For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the year of recompenſe for the controverſy of Zion. 9 And the ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, and the duſt thereof into brimſtone, and the land thereof ſhall become burning pitch. 10 It ſhall not be quenched night nor day, the ſmoak thereof ſhall go up for ever: from generation to generation it ſhall lie waſte, none ſhall paſs through it for ever and ever. 11 But the cormorant and the bittern ſhall poſſeſs it, the owl alſo and the raven ſhall dwell in it, and he ſhall ſtretch out upon it the line of confuſion, and the ſtones of emptineſs. 12 They ſhall call the nobles thereof to the kingdom, but none ſhall be there, and all her princes ſhall be nothing. 13 And thorns ſhall come up in her palaces, nettles and brambles in the fortreſſes thereof, and it ſhall be an habitation of dragons, and a court for owls. 14 The wild beaſts of the deſart ſhall alſo meet with the wild beaſts of the iſland, and the ſatyr ſhall cry to his fellow, the ſhrich-owl alſo ſhall reſt there, and find for herſelf a place of reſt. 15 There ſhall the great owl make her neſt, and lay and hatch, and gather under her ſhadow: there ſhall the vultures alſo be gathered, every one with her mate. 16 Seek ye out of the book of the Lord, and read: no one of theſe ſhall fail, none ſhall want her mate: for my mouth it hath commanded, and his ſpirit it hath gathered them. 17 And he hath caſt the lot for them, and his hand hath divided it unto them by line: they ſhall poſſeſs it for ever, from generation to generation ſhall they dwell therein.

Come near ye Nations to hear, &c.] A Summons to all the World to this Deſcription of the general Judgment which concerns them all. Compare Pſ. l. 1.

And the Mountains ſhall be melted with their Blood] The Effuſion of Blood ſhall be ſo great, that it ſhall run down in Streams from the Sides of the Mountains, as if the Hills themſelves were melted into Blood.

For my Sword ſhall be bathed in Heaven] Princes and Magiſtrates are denoted by the Hoſt of Heaven; and the Words import, That God's Sword ſhall not ſpare the Mighticſt any more than the Meaneſt.

It ſhall come down from Idumea] The Enemies of God's Church are often repreſented by the Name of ſome Country, which was remarkable for its Hatred and ill Uſage of the Jews; ſuch as Babylon, Edom and Moab; and thus Edom, or Idumea may be taken here, that People always bearing a particular Spite and Hatred to the Jews, tho' they were nearly related to them; ſee Pſ. cxxxvi. 7. Obad. Ver. 10, &c. where they are likewiſe threatened with utter Exciſion, which certainly came to paſs; ſee Mal. i. 3. But the Words here ſeem to deſcribe a more general Judgment, of which the Deſtruction of Edom was an imperfect Repreſentation. To confirm which Interpretation, it may be further obſerved, That the Words Edom and Bozrah may be taken figuratively, becauſe in their original Senſe they may be fitly applied to any Place of Slaughter. Edom ſignifies Red, as Blood is; and Bozra Vintage, which in the prophetical Idiom, denotes God's Vengeance upon the Wicked; ſee Joel iii. 13. Rev. xiv. 19. and is otherwiſe expreſſed by the Wine-preſs of God's Wrath, Iſa. lxiii. 3. Rev. xix. 14. To confirm this Expoſition, we may obſerve, that Edom and Bozrah are joined together again, Ch. lxiii. 1. a Place parallel to this, where another Scene of God's Vengeance is repreſented. The Prophets in their Denunciations of God's Judgments, ſometimes allude to the Etymology of the Names by which Places are called; ſee Mic. i. 10, 14. And ſeveral Parts of Jacob's Prophecy allude to the Names of each Tribe; ſee Gen. xlix. 8, 13, 15, 19. The Jewiſh Writers do generally ſuppoſe, that Edom in the Writings of the Prophets, ſtands for Rome: And if we compare this Chapter with Rev. xvii. and the Context before and after (which Place ſeveral Popiſh Commentators, as well as Proteſtant, explain of modern Rome) we ſhall find a great Agreement and Correſpondence between ſeveral Verſes in each Chapter, particularly between Ver. 2, 6 and 7, of this Chapter, and Rev. xvii. 14. between Ver. 8. and Rev. xviii. 5, 8, 20. between Ver. 9 and 10. and Rev. xviii. 9, 10, 17. xix. 3. between Ver. 11, 13, 14, 15. and Rev. xviii. 22, 23.

The Sword of the Lord is filled with the Blood of Lambs and Goats, &c.] Lambs, Goats, and Rams in this Verſe, and Unicorns, Bullocks, and Bulls in the next, mean all Ranks and Sorts of People, the ſtrongeſt as well as the weakeſt, who ſhall be brought down like Beaſts to the Slaughter. Compare Pſ. lxviii. 30. Jer. l. 27. li. 40. Ezek. xxxix. 18.

CHAP. XXXV.

The Prophet praiſes God for his Judgments, for his ſaving Benefits, and for his victorious Redemption.

Ver. 1. THE wilderneſs and the ſolitary place ſhall be glad for them: and the deſart ſhall rejoice, and bloſſom as the roſe. 2 It ſhall bloſſom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and ſinging; the glory of Lebanon ſhall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon: they ſhall ſee the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God. 3 Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. 4 Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be ſtrong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompenſe, he will come and ſave you. 5 Then the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, and the ears of the deaf ſhall be unſtopped. 6 Then ſhall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb ſing: for in the wilderneſs ſhall waters break out, and ſtreams in the deſart. 7 And the parched ground ſhall become a pool, and the thirſty land ſprings of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, ſhall be graſs with reeds and ruſhes. 8 And an high-way ſhall be there, and a way, and it ſhall be called the way of holineſs, the unclean ſhall not paſs over it, but it ſhall be for thoſe: the way-faring men, though fools ſhall not err therein. 9 No lion ſhall be there, nor any ravenous beaſt ſhall go up thereon, it ſhall not be found there: but the redeemed ſhall walk there. 10 And the ranſomed of the Lord ſhall return and come to Zion with ſongs, and everlaſting joy upon their heads: they ſhall obtain joy and gladneſs, and ſorrow and ſighing ſhall flee away.

That there is no Neceſſity, ſays Lowth, of confining the Judgments denounced in the laſt Chapter, to the single Country of Idumea, but they may belong to later Times and Occurrences, hath been ſhewed in the Notes thereupon. And the ſame Reaſon the new Face of Things here deſcribed, may be applied to the flouriſhing State of the Church, or the Golden Age of the Goſpel, to commence from our Saviour's Appearing, and to be more fully compleated, when all his Enemies ſhall be deſtroyed. Indeed Mr. White tells us, That Interpreters would never have dreamed of this Senſe, had they conſulted the Prophet's Words: But I muſt put them in Mind, that both Chriſt and his Apoſtles have applied ſeveral Paſſages in this Chapter to the Goſpel Times; nay, our Saviour appeals to this very Prophecy to prove himſelf the Meſſias deſcribed by the Prophets; Matt. xi. 3, 4, 5. And if Mr. White does not think Chriſt's Arguments to be good, he himſelf ought to be reckoned among the Dreamers of the Circumciſion, whom he ſo much deſpiſeth.

The Wilderneſs and the ſolitary Places ſhall be glad for them] That is, for the Judgments inflicted on God's Enemies. When the Prophets denounce God's Judgments againſt incorrigible Sinners, they often ſpeak of them as Matter of rejoicing to the Righteous, that they take Satisfaction in ſeeing the Divine Juſtice made manifeſt; ſee Pſ. lviii. 9, 10. Jer. li. 10, 48. Rev. xviii. 20. By the Wilderneſs is meant the Church which before was in a deſolate and forlorn Condition, but now ſhall ſpread and flouriſh. So the Church is deſcribed as dwelling in the Wilderneſs; Rev. xii. 14. thereby to denote its obſcure and afflicted State. Both may perhaps allude to the Iſraelites ſojourneying in the Wilderneſs, who are called the Church in the Wilderneſs, Acts vii. 37.

Then the Eyes of the Blind ſhall be opened, &c.] Our Saviour proved himſelf to be the Meſſias to John's Diſciples, by appealing to this Prophecy, as literally fulfilled in the Miracles which he wrought, Matt. xi. 5. So that they certainly relate to the Times of the Meſſiah. But yet this doth not hinder but that the Words may be capable of a farther Accompliſhment, That God will remove all that Blindneſs and Prejudice which hinder'd Men from coming to the Acknowledgment of the Truth. Compare Ch. xxix. 18. xxxv. 5. xlii. 7. Acts xxvi. 18. The Goſpel Promiſes have different Degrees and Seaſons of Completion.

And an Highway ſhall be there] The removing all Obſtacles to the Reſtauration of God's People, is elſewhere expreſſed by preparing the Way of the Lord, and making ſtraight an Highway for our God, Ch. xl. 3. See likewiſe Ch. xlii. 3. This and the foregoing Verſe, the parched Ground ſhall become a Pool, &c. ſeem to be exactly parallel with the 10th and 11th Verſes of the xlixth Chapter. By the Springs of Water ſhall he guide them; and I will make all my Mountains a Way, and my Highways ſhall be exalted: The Prophet in both Places hints the two great Conveniences of Travellers which are good Roads, and Plenty of Waters. This Place probably relates to the Reſtoration of the Jews in the latter Ages, as many Parts of the ſucceeding Chapters do, though they may have an immediate Aſpect upon their Return from Babylon.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Sennacherib invades Judea. Rabſhakeh's blaſphemous Perſuaſions to the People to revolt. His Words are told to Hezekiah.

Ver. 1. NOW it came to paſs in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Aſſyria came up againſt all the defenced cities of Judah, and took them. 2 And the king of Aſſyria ſent Rabſhakeh, from Lachiſh to Jeruſalem, unto king Hezekiah with a great army: and he ſtood by the conduit of the upper pool in the high-way of the fullers field. 3 Then came forth unto him Eliakim Hilkiahs ſon, which was over the houſe, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah Aſaphs ſon the recorder. 4 And Rabſhakeh ſaid unto them, Say ye now to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the great king, the king of Aſſyria, What confidence is this wherein thou truſteſt? 5 I ſay, ſayeſt thou (but they are but vain words) I have counſel and ſtrength for war: now on whom doſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me? 6 Lo, thou truſteſt in the ſtaff of this broken reed, on Egypt; whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand and pierce it: ſo is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that truſt in him. 7 But if thou ſay to me, We truſt in the Lord our God: is it not he whoſe high places, and whoſe altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and ſaid to Judah and to Jeruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar? 8 Now therefore give pledges, I pray thee, to my maſter the king of Aſſyria, and I will give thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders upon them. 9 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the leaſt of my maſters ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen? 10 And am I now come up without the Lord againſt this land to deſtroy it? the Lord ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it. 11 Then ſaid Eliakim and Shebna and Joah unto Rabſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, unto thy ſervants in the Syrian language; for we underſtand it: and ſpeak not to us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall. 12 But Rabſhakeh ſaid, Hath my maſter ſent me to thy maſter and to thee, to ſpeak theſe words? hath he not ſent me to the men that ſit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piſs with you? 13 Then Rabſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſaid, Hear ye the words of the great king, the king of Aſſyria. 14 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you, for he ſhall not be able to deliver you. 15 Neither let Hezekiah make you truſt in the Lord, ſaying, The Lord will will ſurely deliver us, this city ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria. 16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus ſaith the king of Aſſyria, Make an agreement with me by a preſent, and come out to me: and eat ye every one of his vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his own ciſtern: 17 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards. 18 Beware leſt Hezekiah perſwade you, ſaying, The Lord will deliver us, Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria? 19 Where are the gods of Hamath, and Arphad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hand? 20 Who are they amongſt all the gods of theſe lands, that have delivered their land out of my hand, that the Lord ſhould deliver Jeruſalem out of my hand? 21 But they held their peace, and anſwered him not a word: for the kings commandment was, ſaying, Anſwer him not. 22 Then came Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, that was over the houſehold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah the ſon of Aſaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabſhakeh.

This and the three following Chapters, excepting Part of the xxxviiith, are almoſt Word for Word the ſame with the 2d Book of Kings, from the 13th Verſe of the xviith Chapter. From whence we may probably conjecture, that this was part of the Hiſtory of Hezekiah's Reign which Iſaiah wrote, as we read 2 Chron. xxxii. 2. It is inſerted here, becauſe it gives great Light to ſeveral Particulars of the foregoing Prophecies, eſpecially thoſe Paſſages which ſpeak of Sennacherib's Invaſion; and the xxxixth Chapter contains a Prophecy of the Captivity, and is an Introduction to the Remainder of Iſaiah's Prophecies, a great Part of which relate to the Reſtoration of the Jews, and their Return into their own Land. For the ſame Reaſon the Hiſtory of the taking Jeruſalem by the Babylonians is annexed to Jeremiah's Prophecies, becauſe it helps to explain and confirm ſeveral Paſſages in them. See Jer. lii.

And the King of Aſſyria ſent Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh to Jeruſalem with a great Army] Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſes this Attempt upon Jeruſalem to have been three Years after the former Expedition mentioned at the firſt Verſe. See his Annals ad A. M. 2191, and 2194.

Now therefore give Pledges, I pray thee, to my Maſter, the King of Aſſyria] Or, give Hoſtages, ſo a Word from the ſame Original ſignifies, 2 Kings xiv. 14. Rabſhakeh directs his Diſcourſe to King Hezekiah, as if he were preſent, and bids him offer any Pledge, Pawn, or Wager, which he would be willing to forfeit, if he could not provide Riders for two thouſand Horſes, which the King of Aſſyria was to furniſh him with. Horſes were ſcarce in Judea, which was the Cauſe that few of the Natives were trained up to that Sort of military Diſcipline; but they relied upon Egypt for Horſemen, as it follows.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Hezekiah mourning, ſends to Iſaiah to pray for him. Iſaiah comforts them. An Angel ſlays the Aſſyrians. Sennacherib is ſlain by his own Sons.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himſelf with ſackcloth, and went into the houſe of the Lord. 2 And he ſent Eliakim, who was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and the elders of the prieſts covered with ſackcloth, unto Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz. 3 And they ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of blaſphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth. 4 It may be the Lord thy God will hear the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words which the Lord thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is left. 5 So the ſervants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah. 6 And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me. 7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt upon him, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and return to his own land, and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land. 8 So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh. 9 And he heard ſay concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make war with thee: and when he heard it, he ſent meſſengers to Hezekiah, ſaying, 10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God in whom thou truſteſt deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be given into the hand of the king of Aſſyria. 11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands by deſtroying them utterly, and ſhalt thou be delivered? 12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed, as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Telaſſar? 13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Henah and Ivah? 14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up unto the houſe of the Lord, and ſpread it before the Lord. 15 And Hezekiah prayed unto the Lord, ſaying, 16 O Lord of hoſts, God of Iſrael, that dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou haſt made heaven and earth. 17 Incline thine ear, O Lord, and hear; open thine eyes, O Lord, and ſee: and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent to reproach the living God. 18 Of a truth, Lord, the kings of Aſſyria have laid waſte all the nations and their countries. 19 And have caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, wood and ſtone: therefore they have deſtroyed them. 20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, ſave us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know, that thou art the Lord, even thou only. 21 Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent unto Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Whereas thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria: 22 This is the word which the Lord hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin the daughter of Zion hath deſpiſed thee, laugh laughed thee to ſcorn, the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee. 23 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even againſt the holy One of Iſrael. 24 By thy ſervants haſt thou reproached the Lord, and haſt ſaid, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains to the ſides of Lebanon, and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, and the choice firtrees thereof: and I will enter into the height of his border, and the foreſt of his Carmel. 25 I have digged and drunk water, and with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the beſieged places. 26 Haſt thou not heard long ago, how I have done it, and of antient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte defenced cities into ruinous heaps. 27 Therefore their inhabitants were of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded: they were as the graſs of the field, and as the green herb, as the graſs on the houſe-tops, and as corn blaſted before it is grown up. 28 But I know thy abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage againſt me. 29 Becauſe thy rage againſt me, and thy tumult is come up into mine ears: therefore will I put my hook in thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt. 30 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch as groweth of itſelf: and the ſecond year that which ſpringeth of the ſame: and in the third year ſow ye and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof. 31 And the remnant that is eſcaped of the houſe of Judah, ſhall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward. 32 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and they that eſcape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts ſhall do this. 33 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhields, nor caſt a bank againſt it. 34 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return, and ſhall not come into this city, ſaith the Lord. 35 For I will defend this city to ſave it, for mine own ſake, and for my ſervant Davids ſake. 36 Then the angel of the Lord went forth, and ſmote in the camp of the Aſſyrians a hundred and fourſcore and five thouſand: and when they aroſe early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpſes. 37 So Sennacherib king of Aſſyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh. 38 And it came to paſs as he was worſhipping in the houſe of Niſroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his ſons ſmote him with the ſword; and they eſcaped into the land of Armenia: and Eſar-haddon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

And he heard ſay of Tirhaka King of Ethiopia] The Word is Cuſh in the Hebrew, which very often ſignifies Arabia, in which Senſe moſt Commentators underſtand it here, tho' our Tranſlators always render it Ethiopia; and it may probably be underſtood of Ethiopia properly ſo called.

The Children of Eden] The Country of Eden where Paradiſe was ſituate, was in Meſopotamia, as learned Men are generally agreed; and one good Proof of that Opinion is taken from this Text, and from Ezek. xxvii. 23. in both which Places it is joined with Haran, a noted City in Meſopotamia, called Charran by the Septuagint, and Charræ in Latin; a Place famous in Roman Authors for the Defeat of Craſſus and his Army.

O Lord of Hoſts, God of Iſrael, who dwelleſt between the Cherubims] Who haſt declared thyſelf in a peculiar Manner the God of Iſrael, by chuſing the Temple for the Place of thy Reſidence, where thou vouchſafeſt thy Appearance from between the Cherubims, and giveſt favourable Anſwers to us, when we humbly beg thy Aſſiſtance; ſee Numb. vii. 89. The two Titles, the Lord of Hoſts, and he that dwells upon, or inhabits the Cherubims, as ſome render the Phraſe, are uſually joined together; ſee 1 Sam. iv. 2. 2 Sam. vi. 2. becauſe God's ſitting upon the Cherubims in the Temple, did ſignify his being attended with the Hoſt of Heaven, as always in a Readineſs to obey his Commands. See 1 Kings xxii. 9.

And this ſhall be a Sign unto thee: Ye ſhall eat this Year ſuch as groweth of itſelf, &c.] God directs theſe Words to King Hezekiah, and tells him that this ſhall be a Sign of God's Favour and Protection to him and his People, that altho' the Enemy had this Year deſtroyed all the Crop that was ſown; and the next Year being the Sabbatical Year, the Law forbad them either to ſow or reap; yet they ſhould want no Proviſion for theſe two Years: And in the third Year they ſhould ſow in Peace, and reap the Fruits of their Labour.

And Eſar-haddon his Son reigned in his Stead] Called Sarchedon in Tobit, Ch. i. 21. and Aſerdan in the Septuagint, a Word near a kin to Aſſaradinus, by which Name he is called in Ptolomy's Canon. Under his Government the Aſſyrian and Babylonian Kingdoms were joined into one Monarchy: He reigned thirteen Years over the latter, as appears by the fore-mention'd Canon; tho' he reigned in all above forty Years from his Father's Death.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Hezekiah's Sickneſs, and miraculous Recovery.

Ver. 1. IN thoſe days was Hezekiah ſick unto death: and Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz came unto him, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Set thine houſe in order: for thou ſhalt die, and not live. 2 Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed unto the Lord. 3 And ſaid, Remember, now, O Lord, I beſeech thee, how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight: And Hezekiah wept ſore. 4 Then came the word of the Lord to Iſaiah, ſaying, 5 Go and ſay to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will add unto thy days fifteen years. 6 And I will deliver thee, and this city, out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria: and I will defend this city. 7 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee from the Lord, that the Lord will do this thing that he hath ſpoken: 8 Behold, I will bring again the ſhadow of the degrees which is gone down in the ſundial of Ahaz ten degrees backward. So the ſun returned ten degrees, by which degrees it was gone down. 9 The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been ſick, and was recovered of his ſickneſs: 10 I ſaid in the cutting off of my days, I ſhall go to the gates of the grave: I am deprived of the reſidue of my years. 11 I ſaid, I ſhall not ſee the Lord, even the Lord in the land of the living: I ſhall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world. 12

Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a ſhepherds tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining ſickneſs: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me. 13 I reckoned till morning, that as a lion ſo will he break all my bones: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me. 14 Like a crane or a ſwallow, ſo did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove: mines eyes fail with looking upward: O Lord, I am oppreſſed, undertake for me. 15 What ſhall I ſay? he hath both ſpoken unto me, and himſelf hath done it: I ſhall go ſoftly all my years in the bitterneſs of my ſoul. 16 O Lord, by theſe things men live, and in all theſe things is the life of my ſpirit: ſo wilt thou recover me, and make me to live. 17 Behold, for peace I had great bitterneſs; but thou haſt in love to my ſoul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for thou haſt caſt all my ſins behind thy back. 18 For the grave cannot praiſe thee, death cannot celebrate thee: they that go down into the pit cannot hope for thy truth. 19 The living, the living, he ſhall praiſe thee, as I do this day: the father to the children ſhall make known thy truth. 20 The Lord was ready to ſave me: therefore we will ſing my ſongs to the ſtringed inſtruments, all the days of our life, in the houſe of the Lord. 21 For Iſaiah had ſaid, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaiſter upon the boil, and he ſhall recover. 22 Hezekiah alſo had ſaid, What is the ſign, that I ſhall go up to the houſe of the Lord?

So the Sun returned ten Degrees] It is the common Opinion, that the Sun itſelf went back, but the heavenly Bodies were reſtored again to their regular Poſition, as much being deducted from the next Night, as was added to this Day. But ſome think this a particular Miracle wrought by the Shadow's going back upon the Sun-dial of Ahaz, and not taken Notice of in other Countries, which occaſioned an Embaſſage from Babylon, to enquire about the Truth of it, 2 Chron. xxxii. 31.

By which Degrees it was gone down] Theſe ten Degrees are ſuppoſed to be Marks of ſo many Hours by which the Shadow went down, as the Text expreſſes it both here, and 2 Kings xx. 11. But there is no need we ſhould underſtand it of the declining Part of the Day, or the Afternoon, for the Word may be underſtood in general of a progreſſive Motion; and Biſhop Patrick tells us from Dr. Allix, this Miracle was wrought about ten o'Clock in the Morning; nor can we be certain what Portion of Time is meant by theſe Degrees; for the Diviſion of the Day into Hours ſeems not to have been ſo antient an Invention: That is commonly aſcribed to Anaximander, or Anaximines, who flouriſhed about 200 Years after, and probably learned it from the Chaldeans. To this Purpoſe we may obſerve, that Daniel is the only Writer of the Old Teſtament that mentions an Hour as a Diviſion of Time, and there is no Word that ſignifies ſuch a Portion of Time.

I ſaid I ſhall not ſee the Lord, even the Lord, in the Land of the Living] The good Men under the Law had but imperfect Notions of a future State, and thought it a great Unhappineſs to be deprived by Death of the Communion of Saints here upon Earth. Hezekiah might alſo be concerned to think, that the publick Worſhip of God might be leſs frequented, after it had loſt ſo zealous a Patron as himſelf.

Let them take a Lump of Figs, and lay it for a Plaiſter upon the Boil] There might be ſome natural Virtue in ſuch a Plaiſter for ripening the Sore, as Phyſicians have obſerved; but the Speedineſs of the Cure muſt be aſcribed to a ſupernatural Cauſe.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The King of Babylon ſends Ambaſſadors to Hezekiah, who ſhews them all his Treaſure. Iſaiah foretels the Babyloniſh Captivity.

Ver. 1. AT that time Merodach-baladan the ſon of Baladan king of Babylon, ſent letters and a preſent to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had been ſick, and was recovered. 2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and ſhewed them the houſe of his precious things, the ſilver, and the gold, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not. 3 Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country unto me, even from Babylon. 4 Then ſaid he, What have they ſeen in thine houſe? And Hezekiah anſwered, All that is in mine houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſures that I have not ſhewed them. 5 Then ſaid Iſaiah to Hezekiah, Hear the word of the Lord of hoſts. 6 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore until this day, ſhall be carried to Babylon: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the Lord. 7 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away; and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon. 8 Then ſaid Hezekiah to Iſaiah, Good is the word of the Lord which thou haſt ſpoken: he ſaid moreover, For there ſhall be peace and truth in my days.

At that Time Merodach-baladan, the Son of Baladan] Merodach was the Name of an Idol worſhipped by the Babylonians, and Baal or Bel was another. See Jer. l. 2. and theſe two Words, with the Addition of Adar or Adon, which ſignifies Lord, gave a Name to the King of Babylon. It was uſual for the Babylonian Kings to take their Names from the Idols they worſhipped. Thus we find one of their Kings called Evilmerodach, 2 Kings xxv. 27. Nebo was another Idol of the Babylonians; ſee Ch. xlvi. 1. of this Prophecy, from whence Nabonaſſar, Nebuchadnezzar, and ſeveral other Kings of Babylon took their Names. And Daniel had the Name of Belteſhazzar given him, according to the Name of my God, Dan. iv. 8. This King is here called the Son of Baladan; which Baladan Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſes is the ſame who is called in profane Authors Belleſis, or Beleſus, and Nabonaſſarus, from whence the famous Computation of Time called Æra Nabonaſſari took its Name. See Annal. Vet. Teſt. ad A. M. 3257.

CHAP. XL.

Ver. 1. COmfort ye, comfort ye my people, ſaith your God. 2 Speak ye comfortably to Jeruſalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned: for ſhe hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her ſins. 3 The voice of him that crieth in the wilderneſs, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make ſtraight in the deſert high-way for our God. 4 Every valley ſhall be exalted, and every mountain and hill ſhall be made low: and the crooked ſhall be made ſtraight, and the rough places plain. 5 And the glory of the Lord ſhall be revealed, and all fleſh ſhall ſee it together; for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it. 6 The voice ſaid, Cry. And he ſaid, What ſhall I cry? All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodlineſs thereof is as the flower of the field. 7 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth: becauſe the Spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it: ſurely the people is graſs. 8 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth; but the word of our God ſhall ſtand for ever. 9 O Zion, that bringeſt good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain: O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, lift up thy voice with ſtrength: lift it up, be not afraid: ſay unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God. 10 Behold, the Lord God will come with ſtrong hand, and his arm ſhall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. 11 He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd: he ſhall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his boſom, and ſhall gently lead thoſe that are with young. 12 Who hath meaſured the waters in the hollow of his hand? and meted out heaven with the ſpan, and comprehended the duſt of the earth in a meaſure, and weighed the mountains in ſcales, and the hills in a balance? 13 Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counſellor hath taught them? 14 With whom took he counſel? and who inſtructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and ſhewed to him the way of underſtanding? 15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the ſmall duſt of the balance: behold, he taketh up the iſles as a very little thing. 16 And Lebanon is not ſufficient to burn, nor the beaſts thereof ſufficient for a burnt-offering. 17 All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him leſs than nothing, and vanity. 18 To whom then will ye liken God? or what likeneſs will ye compare unto him? 19 The workman melteth a graven image, and the goldſmith ſpreadeth it over with gold, and caſteth ſilver chains. 20 He that is ſo impoveriſhed that he hath no oblation, chooſeth a tree that will not rot; he ſeeketh unto him a cunning workman to prepare a graven image that ſhall not be moved. 21 Have ye not known? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning? have ye not underſtood from the foundations of the earth? 22 It is he that ſitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as graſshoppers; that ſtretcheth out the heavens as a curtain, and ſpreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in: 23 That bringeth the princes to nothing; he maketh the judges of the earth as vanity. 24 Yea they ſhall not be planted, yea they ſhall not be ſown, yea their ſtock ſhall not take root in the earth: and he ſhall alſo blow upon them, and they ſhall wither, and the whirlwind ſhall take them away as ſtubble. 25 To whom then will ye liken me, or ſhall I be equal? ſaith the holy One. 26 Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created theſe things, that bringeth out their hoſt by number: he calleth them all by names, by the greatneſs of his might, for that he is ſtrong in power, not one faileth. 27 Why ſayeſt thou, O Jacob, and ſpeakeſt, O Iſrael, My way is hid from the Lord, and my judgment is paſſed over from my God? 28 Haſt thou not known? haſt thou not heard, that the everlaſting God, the Lord, the creator of the ends of the earth fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no ſearching of his underſtanding. 29 He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might, he increaſeth ſtrength. 30 Even the youths ſhall faint and be weary, and the young men ſhall utterly fall. 31 But they that wait upon the Lord ſhall renew their ſtrength: they ſhall mount up with wings as eagles, they ſhall run and not be weary, and they ſhall walk and not faint.

Here, ſays Lowth, begins a new Section of this Prophecy, wherein the Prophet raiſes his Stile, and deſcribes the future Glories of the Church with a Loftineſs of Expreſſion ſuitable to the Dignity of the Subject. He had plainly foretold the Babyloniſh Captivity in the foregoing Chapter, and in this he revives the Jews with the comfortable Promiſe of their Return from thence. This is the Ground-work of a great Part of the following Prophecy: But the many Predictions we find in the ſucceeding Chapters of this Prophecy, relating to the Life and Death, the Character and Offices of the Meſſias, the flouriſhing State of the Church under him, can never be ſuppoſed to receive their due Accompliſhment, unleſs we aſſert that the Prophet was carried from his firſt Subject, to a farther View of the Enlargement of the Church under the Goſpel, and the bringing the Fulneſs of the Gentiles into it. And theſe Prophecies are ſo worded in many Places, that the literal Senſe of the Text does better agree with the Goſpel-Times, than with thoſe that were nearer the Prophet's View; as may be particularly obſerved in ſome Paſſages of this very Chapter.

Comfort ye my People] Compare Ch. xlix. 13. lii. 9. The Times of the Meſſias are called the Conſolation of Iſrael, Luke ii. 25. And one of the Names of the Meſſias was to be Menahem, i. e. the Comforter, according to the Rabbins, ſee Lightfoot, Vol. 1. p. 209. The Prophet here ſpeaks to thoſe who were to bring glad Tidings to Zion, Ver. 9. as the Words ſhould be there tranſlated.

The Voice of him that crieth in the Wilderneſs] The Prophet calls the Way by which the Jews were to return from their Captivity into their own Country, by the Name of the Wilderneſs, alluding to their paſſing thro' the Wilderneſs in their Way from Egypt to Canaan. In other Places the Prophet compares God's Care in conducting them Home from their Diſperſions, to his miraculous leading them thro' the Wilderneſs. See Ch. xli. 18. xlix. 10.

Prepare ye the Way of the Lord, make ſtreight in the Deſart an Highway for our God. Every Valley ſhall be exalted, &c.] The firſt Intention of the Prophet in theſe two Verſes (3 and 4) is to declare, that God will remove all Impediments which might hinder the Return of his People into their own Country. Compare Ch. lvii. 14. lxii. 10. To the ſame Purpoſe are ſeveral Expreſſions we meet with in the ſame Chapters, of God's opening Rivers in the Wilderneſs, of conducting his People by the Springs of Waters, making his Mountains a Plain, &c. See Ch. xli. 18. xlix. 10, 11. which Expreſſions allude to the Cuſtom of Princes to ſend Harbingers before them, to make the Roads eaſy and commodious for their Paſſage. The ſame Metaphor is uſed by Homer, where Apollo promiſing to aſſiſt Hector, ſaith, I will go before and make ſmooth all the Paſſages.

But to this Expoſition it muſt be added, that the very Letter of the Text does more exactly ſuit to the Office of John Baptiſt, who prepared the Way of the Lord, by preaching in the Wilderneſs.

The Voice ſaid Cry, and he ſaid, What ſhall I cry?

All

All Fleſh is Graſs, &c.] By the Voice is meant the Voice of God, who is introduced as commanding his Meſſenger or Prophet to proclaim this important Truth, That all Men are weak and impotent, and it is God alone and his Promiſes that can be ſafely relied on. The Words in their firſt Intent import, that the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, after a Seventy Years Captivity, was not to be brought to paſs by any human Force or Wiſdom, but merely by the Power and Goodneſs of God. See Zech. iv. 6. Which Obſervation is ſtill more remarkably verified in the Revelation of the Goſpel, the great Deſign of which is to exalt God, and to humble Man; whoſe Promiſes are the Foundation of a laſting Happineſs, and theſe are wholly owing to the Mercy of God, and ſhall be effected without any Means or Aſſiſtance, that no Fleſh may glory in his Preſence. See 1 Cor. i. 29, 30, 31. 1 Pet. i. 25.

He ſhall gather the Lambs with his Arm, and carry them in his Boſom] See John x. 16. xxi. 15,16. Mark iv. 33. Theſe Expreſſions may have ſome Relation to God's Care in conducting his People into their own Country from Babylon, (compare Ch. xlix. 10.) but do more eminently belong to Chriſt, as appears by many Alluſions in the New Teſtament to this and ſuch like Paſſages in the Old. See Heb. xiii. 20. 1 Pet. ii. 25. v. 4. Rev. vii. 17.

Who hath meaſured the Waters in the Hollow of his Hand? &c.] Here begins a lofty Deſcription of God's Almighty Power, ſhewing that he is great above all his Works, and able to do beyond what we can think or conceive; and the Deſign of it is to perſuade the People to place their whole Truſt in him, and to reſt aſſured, that what he hath promiſed, he is able to perform; ſee Ver. 27, 28. and withal to arm them againſt Idolatry; ſee Ver. 18.

Lift up your Eyes on high, and behold who hath created theſe Things, that bringeth our their Hoſt by Number] A Man cannot lift up his Eyes to Heaven, and view the exact Order and regular Motions of the heavenly Bodies, but he muſt be convinced that there is a wiſe Author of Nature, who at firſt created, and ſtill preſerves this Syſtem of Things. Thus Tully expreſſes the natural Senſe Mankind hath of this Matter. Tuſcul. Quæſt. L. 1. Cum videmus ſpeciem, &c. 'When we view firſt the Fabrick and Splendor of the 'Skies, then the Swiftneſs of its Rotation, alſo the 'Viciſſitudes of Days and Nights, and the quarterly 'Changes of the Seaſons, and the Sun the Moderator 'of them all, alſo the Moon, and the Stars conſtantly keeping the ſame Courſes: When we behold 'theſe Things, is it poſſible that we can doubt but 'that ſome Manager preſides over them?' The heavenly Bodies are called God's Hoſt or Army, becauſe he preſides over them, and places them in their proper Rank and Order, and they exactly keep thoſe Stations that he hath appointed them, and fulfil thoſe Commands which he hath given them.

CHAP. XLI.

God expoſtulates with his People about his Mercies to the Church; his Promiſes; and the Vanity of Idols.

Ver. 1. KEEP ſilence before me, O iſlands, and let the people renew their ſtrength: let them come near, then let them ſpeak: let us come near together to judgment. 2 Who raiſed up the righteous man from the eaſt, called him to his foot, gave the nations before him, and made him rule over kings? he gave them as the duſt to his ſword, and as driven ſtubble to his bow. 3 He purſued them and paſſed ſafely: even by the way that he had not gone with his feet. 4 Who hath wrought and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I the Lord the firſt, and with the laſt, I am he. 5 The iſles ſaw it, and feared, the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came. 6 They helped every one his neighbour, and every one ſaid to his brother, Be of good courage. 7 So the carpenter encouraged the goldſmith, and he that ſmooth*eth with* the hammer him that ſmote the anvil, ſaying, It is ready for the ſodering: and he faſtened it with nails that it ſhould not be moved. 8 But thou Iſrael art my ſervant, Jacob whom I have choſen, the ſeed of Abraham my friend. 9 Thou whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, and called thee from the chief men thereof, and ſaid unto thee, Thou art my ſervant, I have choſen thee, and not caſt thee away. 10 Fear thou not, for I am with thee: be not diſmayed, for I am thy God: I will ſtrengthen thee, yea I will help thee, yea I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteouſneſs. 11 Behold, all they that were incenſed againſt thee, ſhall be aſhamed and confounded: they ſhall be as nothing, and they that ſtrive with thee, ſhall periſh. 12 Thou ſhalt ſeek them, and ſhalt not find them, even them that contended with thee: they that war againſt thee ſhall be as nothing, and as a thing of nought. 13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, ſaying unto thee, Fear not, I will help thee. 14 Fear not, thou worm Jacob, and ye men of Iſrael: I will help thee, ſaith the Lord, and thy redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael. 15 Behold, I will make thee a new ſharp threſhing inſtrument having teeth: thou ſhalt threſh the mountains, and beat them ſmall, and ſhalt make the hills as chaff. 16 Thou ſhalt fan them, and the wind ſhall carry them away, and the whirlwind ſhall ſcatter them: and thou ſhalt rejoice in the Lord, and ſhalt glory in the holy One of Iſrael. 17 When the poor and needy ſeek water and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirſt, I the Lord will hear them, I the God of Iſrael will not forſake them. 18 I will open rivers in high places, and fountains in the midſt of the valleys: I will make the wilderneſs a pool of water, and the dry land ſprings of water. 19 I will plant in the wilderneſs the cedar, the ſhittah-tree, and the myrtle, and the oil-tree: I will ſet in the deſart the fir-tree, and the pine, and the box-tree together: 20 That they may ſee, and know, and conſider, and underſtand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Iſrael hath created it. 21 Produce your cauſe, ſaith the Lord; bring forth your ſtrong reaſons, ſaith the King of Jacob. 22 Let them bring them forth, and ſhew us what ſhall happen: let them ſhew the former things what they be, that we may conſider them, and know the latter end of them, or declare us things for to come. 23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, do good, or do evil, that we may be diſmayed, and behold it together. 24 Behold, ye are of nothing, and your work of naught: an abomination is he that chooſeth you. 25 I have raiſed up one from the north, and he ſhall come: from the riſing of the ſun ſhall he call upon my name, and he ſhall come upon princes as upon mortar, and as the potter treadeth clay. 26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? and before-time, that we may ſay, He is righteous? ye yea, there is none that ſheweth, yea, there is none that declareth, yea, there is none that heareth your words. 27 The firſt ſhall ſay to Zion, Behold, behold them, and I will give to Jeruſalem one that bringeth good tidings. 28 For I beheld, and there was no man, even amongſt them, and there was no counſellor, that when I aſked of them, could anſwer a word. 29 Behold, they are all vanity, their works are nothing: their molten images are wind and confuſion.

Keep Silence before me, O Iſlands] God ſummons the Heathen Nations to plead their Cauſe before him, and in Order to it, commands Silence to be kept, according to the Form obſerved in ſolemn Courts of Juſtice. By Iſlands are meant thoſe Heathen Nations that were parted from Judea by the Sea. See Ch. xi. 11. In this Senſe, thoſe that live upon the Mediterranean Sea are called the Iſlands of the Gentiles, Gen. x. 5. Accordingly the Word is render'd Ethnè, Gentiles, by the LXX. in the 5th Verſe of this Chapter, and Ch. xli. 1.

Who hath raiſed up the righteous Man from the Eaſt?] Many Expoſitors underſtand this of Abraham, whom God called from the other Side of the Euphrates, which lay Eaſtward of Judea; but I think, ſays Lowth, it is rather meant of Cyrus, as appears by comparing this Place with the 25th Verſe of the Chapter, and with Ch. xlv. 13. and xlvi. 11. And Cyrus is here deſcribed as typically repreſenting Chriſt, (ſee the Note on Ch. xlv. 1.) being firſt of all ſtiled Righteouſneſs, (the righteous Man our Engliſh renders it) which is one of the Titles of Chriſt, Jer. xxiii. 5, 6. and then is ſaid to come from the Eaſt, by which Name Chriſt is alſo deſcribed, Zech. iii. 8. where the Word Tſemah, which our Interpreters tranſlate BRANCH, does properly ſignify the Eaſt, and is accordingly render'd Ἀνατολὴ by the LXX: Which very Word is applied to Chriſt, in Alluſion to that Prophecy of Zachary, by St. Luke, Ch. i. 78. where our Engliſh tranſlate it the Day-ſpring, but the Margin reads the Sun-riſing.

He purſued them and paſſed ſafely, even by the Way that he had not gone with his Feet] He ſhall be a ſucceſsful Conqueror, even when he purſues his Enemies thro' ſtrange and unknown Countries. The Preterperfect Tenſe is here put for the Future; a Way of ſpeaking common in the Prophets.

The Iſles ſaw it and feared, the Ends of the Earth were afraid, drew near, and came, &c.] Remote Countries were aſtoniſhed at the ſudden Riſe of the Conqueror Cyrus, and joined in Alliance together to check his growing Greatneſs; juſt as ſeveral Artificers that are concern'd in the Trade of Idol-making, aſſiſt one another in carrying on their common Intereſt, and ſtir up the Zeal of others in the Defence of Image-Worſhip: See Acts xix. 25. This Paſſage may be fitly applied to the Heathen Powers combining together to ſupport their Idolatry, and ſuppreſs the Chriſtian Religion.

Shew the Things that are to come, that we may know that ye are Gods] God only can certainly foreknow future Events, eſpecially ſuch as depend upon contingent Cauſes, and the Determinations of Mens Free-will. But this does not hinder, but that ſome of the Predictions of the Heathen Idols or Oracles might be true, or elſe they would hardly have been able to have kept up their Credit. But the Event anſwer'd their Predictions in ſuch Caſes chiefly, where prudent Conjecture might go a great Way; ſuch might be the Prediction of Saul's Death by the evil Spirit at Endor, 1 Sam. xxviii. 19. Evil Spirits being very nimble and active, may likewiſe foretel in one Place what they ſee in another. This Account Athanaſius gives of the Oracle, which foretold the Overflowing of the Nile, which he ſuppoſes the evil Spirit might do, by having ſeen the Rains which fell in Ethiopia ſome Time before, and cauſe that Inundation. But there is no Compariſon between ſuch Predictions, and the Prophecies recorded in Scripture, where there is a Series of remarkable Events foretold, reaching from the Beginning of the World to the End of it; together with a punctual Prediction of Names and other Circumſtances ſeveral Ages before the Event: See Chap. xlvi. 10.

Yea, do Good, or do Evil] The Heathens worſhipp'd ſome of their Gods, in Hopes to receive Good from them; and others for fear they ſhould do them a Miſchief, who were for that Reaſon call'd by the Greeks and Romans, Dii Averrunci, and Ἀποτρόπαιοι. The Prophet alluding to this Opinion, ſaith, That the evil Spirits which the Heathens worſhipped, can neither do Good or Hurt: They cannot do Good, becauſe they are naturally Evil; neither can they do Hurt any further than God is pleaſed to permit them. Beſide that the Images, to whom their exterior Worſhip is paid, are dead inſenſible Things, that cannot help themſelves, much leſs any Body elſe: See Jer. x. 5. And therefore as it is God only, that can make Peace and create Evil, Iſa. xlv. 7. all Worſhip is due to him alone.

I have raiſed up one from the North, and he ſhall come; from the Riſing of the Sun ſhall he call upon my Name] Cyrus is deſcribed as coming from the Eaſt, Ver. 2. and here he is repreſented as coming from the North and the Eaſt too, becauſe his Father was a Perſian, and his Mother a Median. Media lay Northward of Babylon; accordingly the Army which Cyrus led againſt Babylon, is deſcribed as coming out of the North, Jer. l. 9, 41. becauſe it chiefly conſiſted of Medes.

CHAP. XLII.

The Character of Chriſt. An Exhortation to praiſe God.

Ver. 1. BEhold my ſervant whom I uphold, mine elect in whom my ſoul delighteth: I have put my Spirit upon him, he ſhall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles. 2 He ſhall not cry, nor liſt up, nor cauſe his voice to be heard in the ſtreet. 3 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not break: and the ſmoaking flax ſhall he not quench: he ſhall bring forth judgment unto truth. 4 He ſhall not fail, nor be diſcouraged, till he have ſet judgment in the earth: and the iſles ſhall wait for his law. 5 Thus ſaith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and ſtretched them out; he that ſpread forth the earth and that which cometh out of it, he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and ſpirit to them that walk therein: 6 I the Lord have called thee in righteouſneſs, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; 7 To open the blind eyes, to bring out the priſoners from the priſon, and them that ſit in darkneſs out of the priſon-houſe. 8 I am the Lord, that is my name, and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praiſe to graven images. 9 Behold, the former things are come to paſs, and new things do I declare: before they ſpring forth I tell you of them. 10 Sing unto the Lord a new ſong, and his praiſe from the end of the earth: ye that go down to the ſea, and all that is therein; the iſles and the inhabitants thereof. 11 Let the wilderneſs, and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock ſing, let them ſhout from the top of the mountains. 12 Let them give glory unto the Lord, and declare his praiſe in the iſlands.

13 The Lord ſhall go forth as a mighty man, he ſhall ſtir up jealouſy like a man of war: he ſhall cry; yea, roar; he ſhall prevail againſt his enemies. 14 I have long time holden my peace, I have been ſtill and refrained myſelf: now will I cry like a travailing woman, I will deſtroy and devour at once. 15 I will make waſte mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs, and I will make the rivers iſlands, and I will dry up the pools. 16 And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not, I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkneſs light before them, and crooked things ſtraight. Theſe things will I do unto them, and not forſake them. 17 They ſhall be turned back, they ſhall be greatly aſhamed that truſt in graven images, that ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods. 18 Hear ye deaf, and look ye blind, that ye may ſee. 19 Who is blind but my ſervant? or deaf, as my meſſenger that I ſent? who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lords ſervant? 20 Seeing many things, but thou obſerveſt not: opening the ears, but he heareth not. 21 The Lord is well pleaſed for his righteouſneſs ſake, he will magnify the law, and make it honourable. 22 But this is a people robbed and ſpoiled, they are all of them ſnared in holes, and they are hid in priſon houſes: they are for a prey, and none delivereth; for a ſpoil, and none ſaith, Reſtore. 23 Who among you will give ear to this? who will hearken, and hear for the time to come? 24 Who gave Jacob for a ſpoil, and Iſrael to the robbers? did not the Lord, he, againſt whom we have ſinned? for they would not walk in his ways, neither were they obedient unto his law. 25 Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the ſtrength of battel: and it hath ſet him on fire round about, yet he knew not; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

Behold my Servant whom I uphold] The following Prophecy is applied to Chriſt by St. Matthew, Ch. xii. 18. and cannot with any Shew of Probability be expounded of any other Perſon. The Septuagint underſtand it of Iſrael, or the Jewiſh Nation, and read the Text thus: Jacob is my Son or Servant, I will uphold him; Iſrael is mine Elect, my Soul doth chooſe, or accept him. They probably took this Text to be parallel with Ch. xlix. 3. But this Gloſs of theirs is rejected by St. Matthew, though in moſt other Places the Evangeliſt follows that Tranſlation. If we ſhould try to explain this Prophecy of Cyrus, as Grotius doth, and his Eccho Mr. White, allowing him to be a Deliverer of the Jews; yet in what Senſe can he be ſtiled the Light of the Gentiles, Ver. 6? He is taxed with Cruelty by ſeveral Hiſtorians, and it is not likely that the People were much eaſier under his Government, than when they were Subjects to the Babylonian Monarchy. Beſide, that a Light to the Gentiles, ſignifies one that ſhould enlighten their Minds, and inſtruct him in the Truth; and in that Senſe Mr. White himſelf explains the Phraſe in the parallel Text, Ch. xlix. 6. I conclude then, ſays Lowth, that the natural Import of the Words, as well as the Authority of the New Teſtament, do plainly determine this, and many other Texts here, and in the following Chapters, to an Evangelical Senſe: 'The Holy Spirit taking Occaſion, from the Deliverance of the Jews out of Captivity, to give the Prophet a View of a more glorious Redemption, which ſhould be accompliſh'd by the Meſſias.

Chriſt is often called God's Servant by Iſaiah; ſee Ch. xlix. 3, 5. l. 10. lii. 13. liii. 11. as he is alſo by Zechariah, Ch. iii. 8. as being ſanctified and ſent into the World upon a Meſſage of the greateſt Importance that ever any Perſon was employed about; and this Title agrees very well with thoſe many Declarations our Saviour made of his coming into the World to do the Will of him that ſent him: See John iv. 34. vi. 38. xiv. 31. And it is perhaps in this Reſpect that St. Paul ſaith, Chriſt took upon him the Form of a Servant, Phil. ii. 7. God is ſaid to uphold him here, and to hold his Hand, Ver. 6. becauſe his Perſon was under the particular Care and Protection of Providence; ſee John viii. 29. xvi. 32. and as the Evangeliſt obſerves, none of the Deſigns of his Enemies againſt his Life could take Effect, till his Hour was come, John vii. 30. viii. 20.

None of theſe Deſcriptions, from the 1ſt to the 7th Verſe, can, with any Propriety, be applied to any Perſon or Purpoſe, but to Chriſt, and the Propagation of the Goſpel by him and his Apoſtles.

To bring out the Priſoners from Priſon, &c.] To free thoſe from the Chains of their Sins, who were the Captives of Satan: Compare Ch. xli. 1. Rom. viii. 21. 2 Tim. ii. 26. 2 Pet. ii. 19. To the ſame Senſe we may beſt explain that difficult Text in St. Peter, 1 Pet. iii. 19. concerning the Spirits in Priſon, to whom Chriſt is ſaid to have preached by the Miniſtry of Noah; underſtanding it of thoſe wicked People of the old World who were under the Bondage of Sin and Corruption, and whom the Spirit of Chriſt, who was in the Prophets from the Beginning of the World, (ſee 1 Pet. i. 11.) endeavoured to reclaim by the Miniſtry of Noah, who was a Preacher of Righteouſneſs, 2 Pet. ii. 5. and for the Space of an hundred and twenty Years, (ſee Gen. vi. 3.) while the Ark was preparing, exhorted the World to Repentance for fear the Flood ſhould come and ſweep them all away: God's Spirit all that Time ſtriving with Man, and trying to reclaim him.

I will bring the Blind by a Way that they know not, &c.] If we underſtand the Words of the People's Return from Captivity, they import, that God would provide Means for their Reſtoration, which they did not think of, and would remove all Impediments that might lie in the Way of their Return: Compare Ch. xl. 4. Jer. xxxi. 9. In like Manner will God enlighten the World by his Goſpel, and reduce Men into the Ways of Truth, notwithſtanding all the Oppoſition that inveterate Error and Prejudice can make to the contrary.

Or deaf, as my Meſſengers that I ſent] This may be underſtood of ſome of the Prophets (compare Ch. xliv. 26.) ſeveral of whom were unfaithful in their Office, and irregular in their Lives: See Ch. xliii. 27. Jer. v. 31. xxiii. 14. The Expreſſion may comprehend the Prieſts too, who are called likewiſe the Meſſengers of the Lord, Mal. ii. 7.

Who is blind as he that is perfect] That ſhould be ſo by his Profeſſion. The Word is Meſhullam in the Hebrew, from whence the Arabick Muſſulman is derived, a Title the Mahometans give to themſelves.

CHAP. XLIII.

The Lord comforts the Church with his Promiſes of Babylon's Deſtruction foretold, and his People's Deliverance.

Ver. 1. BUT now thus ſaith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Iſrael, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name, thou art mine. 2 When thou paſſeſt through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they ſhall not overflow thee: when thou walkeſt through the fire, thou ſhalt not be burnt; neither ſhall the flame kindle upon thee. 3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy One of Iſrael, thy ſaviour: I gave Egypt for thy ranſom ſom, Ethiopia and Seba for thee. 4 Since thou waſt precious in my ſight, thou haſt been honourable, and I have loved thee: therefore will I give men for thee, and people for thy life. 5 Fear not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt. 6 I will ſay to the north, Give up; and to the ſouth, Keep not back: bring my ſons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth; 7 Even every one that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him, yea I have made him. 8 Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears. 9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be aſſembled: who among them can declare this, and ſhew us former things? let them bring forth their witneſſes, that they may be juſtified: or let them hear and ſay, It is truth. 10 Ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the Lord, and my ſervant whom I have choſen: that ye may know and believe me, and underſtand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither ſhall there be after me. 11 I, even I am the Lord, and beſide me there is no ſaviour. 12 I have declared, and have ſaved, and I have ſhewed, when there was no ſtrange god among you: therefore ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the Lord, that I am God. 13 Yea, before the day was, I am he; and there is none that can deliver out of my hand: I will work and who ſhall let it? 14 Thus ſaith the Lord your redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael. For your ſake I have ſent to Babylon, and have brought down all their nobles, and the Chaldeans, whoſe cry is in the ſhips. 15 I am the Lord, your holy One, the creator of Iſrael, your king. 16 Thus ſaith the Lord, which maketh a way in the ſea, and a path in the mighty waters: 17 Which bringeth forth the chariot and horſe, the army and the power; they ſhall lie down together, they ſhall not riſe; they are extinct, they are quenched as tow. 18 Remember ye not the former things, neither conſider the things of old. 19 Behold, I will do a new thing: now it ſhall ſpring forth, ſhall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſart. 20 The beaſt of the field ſhall honour me, the dragons and the owls: becauſe I give waters in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſart, to give drink to my people, my choſen. 21 This people have I formed for my ſelf, they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe. 22 But thou haſt not called upon me, O Jacob, but thou haſt been weary of me, O Iſrael. 23 Thou haſt not brought me the ſmall cattel of thy burnt-offerings, neither haſt thou honoured me with thy ſacrifices. I have not cauſed thee to ſerve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incenſe. 24 Thou haſt bought me no ſweet cane with money, neither haſt thou filled me with the fat of thy ſacrifices: but thou haſt made me to ſerve with thy ſins, thou haſt wearied me with thine iniquities. 25 I, even I am he that blotteth out thy tranſgreſſions for mine own ſake, and will not remember thy ſins. 26 Put me in remembrance: let us plead together: declare thou, that thou mayeſt be juſtified. 27 Thy firſt father hath ſinned, and thy teachers have tranſgreſſed againſt me. 28 Therefore I have profaned the princes of the ſanctuary, and have given Jacob to the curſe, and Iſrael to reproaches.

I gave Egypt for thy Ranſom, Ethiopia and Seba for thee] This moſt Interpreters underſtand of that Diverſion, which the Egyptians the Jews Allies, in Conjunction with Tirhaka King of Ethiopia, gave to Sennacherib's Forces, when they were juſt ready to fall upon the Jews; ſee Ch. xxxvi. 9. and xviii. 1. If we take the Words in this Senſe, we muſt underſtand the Cuſh, or Ethiopia, mentioned in the xxxviith Chapter, of Arabia, becauſe it is joined here with Seba, which is part of that Country; ſee Ch. xlv. 14. It is certain that Cuſh ſometimes ſignifies Arabia, tho' not always, as Bochart maintains. If we do not approve of this Explication, this Verſe muſt relate to ſome hiſtorical Paſſage, not recorded elſewhere in Scripture. Some indeed would refer the Place to the Deſtruction of the Ethiopians under Aſa, 2 Chron. xiv. 12. But I take thoſe not to have been Arabians (and ſuch probably are meant here) but Ethiopians properly ſo called, becauſe they are joined with Lubims, 2 Chron. xvi. 8. who certainly are Africans.

Every one that is called by my Name, for I have created him for my Glory] Every one that is called by the Name of God's Servant: See Ch. xliii. 19. James ii. 7. The Expreſſions denote the bringing the Gentiles into the Church, and making them Fellow-Heirs, and of the ſame Body with the Jews; for he hath created them too for his Glory, and to ſhew forth the Praiſes of him who hath called them out of Darkneſs into his marvellous Light, 1 Pet. ii. 9. and compare Ch. xlix. 6. Amos ix. 12. John xi. 52. The Converſion of the Jews, and the bringing of the Fulneſs of the Gentiles into the Church, will be coincident in Time, and each of theſe Events will help to advance and carry on the other. See Ch. lxvi. 12, 19.

Thou haſt not brought me the ſmall Cattle of thy Burnt-offerings, neither haſt thou filled me with the Fat of thy Sacrifices] The Meaning of this Complaint is, That altho' the Jews were punctual in offering Sacrifices (for Ch. i. 11. he ſpeaks of the Multitude of their Sacrifices as a Burden to him) yet they did not perform this Service with a devout Mind; juſt as God ſaith, Amos v. 25. Have ye offered to ME Sacrifices for forty Years in the Wilderneſs? That is, did you do it out of a religious Principle, or a ſincere Regard to my Honour? No; becauſe, as it follows, you were fond of the Idolatry you brought with you out of Egypt. To the ſame Senſe are thoſe Words of Zechary, Ch. vii. 5. Did ye at all faſt to ME, even to ME?

Or elſe the Words of the Text may relate to thoſe idolatrous Times in the Reigns of Ahaz and Manaſſeh, when the Temple-Service quite ceaſed, and the Houſe of the Lord was quite ſhut up, (2 Chron. xxviii. 24.) or elſe profaned by having an Idol ſet up in it, and idolatrous Worſhip performed there, 2 Kings xxi. 7.

Thou haſt bought me no ſweet Cane with Money] To make the ſweet Incenſe, which was daily offered upon the Altar, ſet apart for that Purpoſe.

CHAP. XLIV.

God comforts his Church with gracious Promiſes. The Vanity of Idols, and Folly of their Makers. An Exhortation to praiſe God.

Ver. 1. YET now hear, O Jacob my ſervant, and Iſrael whom I have choſen. 2 Thus ſaith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the womb, which will help thee, Fear not, O Jacob, my ſervant, and thou Jeſurun, whom I have choſen. 3 For I will pour water upon him that is thirſty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my Spirit upon thy ſeed, and my bleſſing upon thine off-ſpring: 4 And they ſhall ſpring up as among the graſs, as willows by the water-courſes. 5 One ſhall ſay, I am the the Lords: and another ſhall call himſelf by the name of Jacob: and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his hand unto the Lord, and ſurname himſelf by the name of Iſrael. 6 Thus ſaith the Lord the king of Iſrael, and his redeemer the Lord of hoſts, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt, and beſides me there is no God. 7 And who, as I, ſhall call, and ſhall declare it, and ſet in order for me, ſince I appointed the antient people? and the things that are coming, and ſhall come? let them ſhew unto them. 8 Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witneſſes. Is there a God beſides me? yea, there is no God, I know not any. 9 They that make a graven image are all of them vanity, and their delectable things ſhall not profit, and they are their own witneſſes, they ſee not, nor know; that they may be aſhamed. 10 Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing? 11 Behold, all his fellows ſhall be aſhamed: and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them ſtand up; yet they ſhall fear, and they ſhall be aſhamed together. 12 The ſmith with the tongs both worketh in the coals, and faſhioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his arms: yea, he is hungry, and his ſtrength faileth; he drinketh no water, and is faint. 13 The carpenter ſtretcheth out his rule: he marketh it out with a line: he fitteth it with planes, and he marketh it out with the compaſs, and maketh it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man; that it may remain in the houſe. 14 He heweth him down cedars, and taketh the cypreſs and the oak, which he ſtrengtheneth for himſelf among the trees of the foreſt: he planteth an aſh, and the rain doth nouriſh it. 15 Then ſhall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof and warm himſelf; yea, he kindleth it and baketh bread; yea, he maketh a god, and worſhippeth it: he maketh it a graven image, and falleth down thereto. 16 He burneth part thereof in the fire: with part thereof he eateth fleſh: he roaſteth roaſt, and is ſatisfied: yea, he warmeth himſelf, and ſaith, Aha, I am warm, I have ſeen the fire. 17 And the reſidue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image: he falleth down unto it, and worſhippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and ſaith, Deliver me, for thou art my God. 18 They have not known, nor underſtood: for he hath ſhut their eyes, that they cannot ſee; and their hearts, that they cannot underſtand. 19 And none conſidereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor underſtanding to ſay, I have burnt part of it in the fire, yea, alſo I have baked bread upon the coals thereof: I have roaſted fleſh and eaten it, and ſhall I make the reſidue thereof an abomination? ſhall I fall down to the ſtock of a tree? 20 He feedeth of aſhes: a deceived heart hath turned him aſide, that he cannot deliver his ſoul, nor ſay, Is there not a lie in my right hand? 21 Remember theſe, O Jacob and Iſrael; for thou art my ſervant; I have formed thee, thou art my ſervant: O Iſrael, thou ſhalt not be forgotten of me: 22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud, thy tranſgreſſions, and as a cloud, thy ſins: return unto me, for I have redeemed thee. 23 Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it: ſhout ye lower parts of the earth: break forth into ſinging ye mountains, O foreſt, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himſelf in Iſrael. 24 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb, I am the Lord that maketh all things, that ſtretched forth the heavens alone, that ſpreadeth abroad the earth by myſelf: 25 That fruſtrateth the tokens of liars, and maketh diviners mad, that turneth wiſe men backward, and maketh their knowledge fooliſh: 26 That confirmeth the word of his ſervant, and performeth the counſel of his meſſengers, that ſaith to Jeruſalem, Thou ſhalt be inhabited; and to the cities of Judah, Ye ſhall be built, and I will raiſe up the decayed places thereof: 27 That ſaith to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up thy rivers: 28 That ſaith of Cyrus, He is my ſhepherd, and ſhall perform all my pleaſure, even ſaying to Jeruſalem, Thou ſhalt be built; and to the temple, Thy foundation ſhall be laid.

And thou Jeſurun whom I have choſen] Jeſurun is a Name given to the Jews by Moſes, Deut. xxxii. 15. It ſignifies upright, becauſe they were called to be a holy People to the Lord.

The Carpenter ſtretcheth out his Rule, &c.] In this and the following Verſes the Prophet, with great Smartneſs of Argument, expoſes the Abſurdity of Image-Worſhip: For what an Abſurdity is it for Man to dreſs his Meat and make his God with the ſame Stick of Wood? Or to think that a Piece of Timber hath any more Divinity in it than it had before, becauſe it is faſhioned and carved into the Figure of a Man? This Way of arguing does not ſuppoſe that the Heathens took their Images for Gods, for that is a Contradiction in Terms, and as abſurd as to think that a Man and his Picture are the ſame Thing: But the Deſign of the Prophet's Argument is, to ſhew the Abſurdity of ſetting up Images as the Reſemblance of God, and the repreſentative Objects of Worſhip, or the ſuppoſing them to have ſome divine Power lodged in them; inſomuch that they have no Qualities that anſwer ſuch a Character, being endued neither with Power, Life, or Underſtanding; and are indeed nothing but what they appear to be, bare ſenſeleſs Matter, Wood or Stone. Beſides that, nothing is a greater Diſhonour to God, than to ſuppoſe him like the Image of a corruptible Creature. For the ſame Reaſon the Author of the Book of Wiſdom makes the Worſhip of Images more inexcuſable than the Worſhip of the heavenly Bodies, or of the Elements, becauſe theſe are worſhipped for their own Sakes, that upon the Account of their Repreſentation, Wiſd. xiii. 2, 10.

That ſaith of Cyrus, He is my Shepherd, &c.] I will make him my Inſtrument in gathering my People together, and leading them Home as a Shepherd doth his Flock. Kings and Princes are often ſtiled Shepherds in Scripture. See Jer. vi. 3. xliv. 19. l. 6. Zech. xi. 8, 16. So in Homer Agamemnon is often called Ποιμὴν λαῶν, the Shepherd of the People.

This is one of the moſt remarkable Prophecies in Scripture, where Cyrus is called by his Name, as the Prophet expreſſes it, Ch. xlv. 4. above an hundred Years before he was born. In like Manner Joſiah is propheſied of by Name above three hundred and twenty Years before his Birth. See 1 Kings xiii. 2.

CHAP. XLV.

A Prophecy concerning Cyrus and his Succeſſ

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord to his anoi[nt]ed, to Cyrus, whoſe right hand I have holden, to ſubdue nations before him; and I will looſe the loins of kings to open before him the two leaved gates, and the gates ſhall not be ſhut. 2 I will go before thee, and make the crooked places ſtraight: I will break in pieces the gates of braſs, and cut in ſunder the bars of iron. 3 And I will give thee the treaſures of darkneſs, and hidden riches of ſecret places, that thou mayeſt know, that I the Lord, which call thee by thy name, am the God of Iſrael. 4 For Jacob my ſervants ſake, and Iſrael mine elect, I have even called thee by thy name: I have ſurnamed thee, though thou haſt not known me. 5 I am the Lord, and there is none elſe, there is no God beſides me: I girded thee, though thou haſt not known me: 6 That they may know from the riſing of the ſun, and from the weſt, that there is none beſides me, I am the Lord, and there is none elſe. 7 I form the light, and create darkneſs: I make peace, and create evil: I the Lord do all theſe things. 8 Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the ſkies pour down righteouſneſs: let the earth open, and let them bring forth ſalvation, and let righteouſneſs ſpring up together: I the Lord have created it. 9 Wo unto him that ſtriveth with his maker: let the potſherd ſtrive with the potſherds of the earth: ſhall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy work, He hath no hands? 10 Wo unto him that ſaith unto his father, What begetteſt thou? or to the woman, what haſt thou brought forth? 11 Thus ſaith the Lord, the holy One of Iſrael, and his maker, Aſk me of things to come concerning my ſons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. 12 I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands have ſtretched out the heavens, and all their hoſt have I commanded. 13 I have raiſed him up in righteouſneſs, and I will direct all his ways: he ſhall build my city, and he ſhall let go my captives, not for price nor reward, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 14 Thus ſaith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and merchandiſe of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of ſtature ſhall come over unto thee, and they ſhall be thine, they ſhall come after thee, in chains they ſhall come over: and they ſhall fall down unto thee, they ſhall make ſupplication unto thee, ſaying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none elſe, there is no God. 15 Verily thou art a God that hideſt thyſelf, O God of Iſrael the ſaviour. 16 They ſhall be aſhamed, and alſo confounded all of them: they ſhall go to confuſion together that are makers of idols. 17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaved in the Lord with an everlaſting ſalvation: ye ſhall not be aſhamed nor confounded world without end. 18 For thus ſaith the Lord that created the heavens, God himſelf that formed the earth and made it, he hath eſtabliſhed it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited, I am the Lord, and there is none elſe. 19 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark place of the earth: I ſaid not unto the ſeed of Jacob, Seek ye me in vain: I the Lord ſpeak righteouſneſs, I declare things that are right. 20 Aſſemble yourſelves and come: draw near together ye that are eſcaped of the nations: they have no knowledge that ſet up the wood of their graven image, and pray unto a god that cannot ſave. 21 Tell ye, and bring them near, yea, let them take counſel together: who hath declared this from antient time? who hath told it from that time? have not I the Lord? and there is no God elſe beſide me, a juſt God and a ſaviour, there is none beſide me. 22 Look unto me, and be ye ſaved all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none elſe. 23 I have ſworn by myſelf, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteouſneſs, and ſhall not return, that unto me every knee ſhall bow, every tongue ſhall ſwear. 24 Surely, ſhall one ſay, in the Lord have I righteouſneſs and ſtrength: even to him ſhall men come, and all that are incenſed againſt him ſhall be aſhamed. 25 In the Lord ſhall all the ſeed of Iſrael be juſtified, and ſhall glory.

Thus ſaith the Lord to his Anointed, to Cyrus] God gives the Title of Anointed to Cyrus, the ſame which is uſually given to David and other Kings of the Jews, who were God's immediate Deputies, to ſhew that he was raiſed up to be an immediate Inſtrument of Providence, in reſtoring the Jews Captivity. Many of the antient Fathers underſtand this Verſe of Chriſt; which Opinion was partly occaſioned by ſome of the Copies of the Septuagint, which read Κυρίω for Κύρῳ, which Reading is followed by Barnabas in his Epiſtle, Chap. xii. as alſo by Tertullian, Cyprian, and others. But that the Deliverance here foretold was a Figure of the Redemption to be accompliſh'd by Chriſt, plainly appears from ſeveral Paſſages in this Chapter, and particularly from Ver. 8, 17, 20, &c. And as our learned Mr. Thorndike has obſerved, Cyrus may as well be a Figure of Chriſt, as Nebuchadnezzar, Antiochus Epiphanes, the Prince of Tyre, and other idolatrous and perſecuting Tyrants, are ſpoken of in the Prophets, as Types and Forerunners of Antichriſt. See his Book De ſure ſiniend. contr. C. iv. P. 58.

I will break in Pieces the Gates of Braſs] To every Side of the great Wall which encompaſſed Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar made five and twenty Gates of ſolid Braſs, amounting in all to an hundred. See Dr. Prideaux's Con. ad A. C. 570.

I form the Light, and I create Darkneſs] Dr. Prideaux hath given a clear Account of this Sentence. 'Theſe Words, ſaith he, being directed to Cyrus King 'of Perſia, muſt be underſtood as ſpoken to the Perſian Sect of the Magians, who held Light and Darkneſs, Good and Evil, to be the Supreme Beings, 'without acknowledging the great God who is ſuperior to them both.' In Oppoſition to this Opinion, the Prophet inſtructs King Cyrus, that Light and Darkneſs, Good and Evil, are under the Direction and Diſpoſal of Almighty God.

Thus ſaith the Lord — Aſk of me Things to come concerning my Sons, and concerning the Work of my Hands command me] Theſe Words, ſays Lowth, import, That altho' God be not obliged to render an Account of his Proceedings to his Creatures; yet he is graciouſly pleaſed to comply with their Curioſity, and to reſolve any Queſtions which are propoſed concerning the final Iſſue of his People's Captivity. Nay, he repreſents himſelf as ready to ſerve them, and to do every Thing that can be deſired in Favour of his Elect, thoſe whom he calls here his Sons and the Work of his Hands. Compare Jer. xxxi. 9. Iſa. xxix. 23.

For thus ſaith the Lord, that created the Heavens, God himſelf that formed the Earth, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited] The Words are commonly explained to this Purpoſe, that if God did not create the World to be empty and uninhabited, much leſs will he ſuffer the Lot of his own Inheritance Judea to lie deſolate, but will certainly reſtore its Captivity; the eſtabliſhing a political Government being ſometimes expreſſed by Creation. But, I think, ſays Lowth, this Senſe hardly comes up to the full Import of the Words. Mr. Mede has obſerved, that at the 11th Verſe, God condeſcends to declare to his Servants the Things that are to come. And St. Paul has applied the 23d Verſe to the Day of Judgment, Rom. xiv. 11. So that in that learned Perſon's Judgment, the Scope of the Place directs us to explain it of that new Heaven and new Earth wherein dwells Righteouſneſs, which, St. Peter tells us, we are to expect at the End of the World, according to God's Promiſe, 2 Pet. iii. 13. which Promiſe muſt relate to ſome of the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, which ſpeak of that Matter. This Earth, the Text ſaith, God created not in vain, that is, not to be ſubject to Vanity, as the preſent Earth is, ſee Rom. viii. 20. but to be inhabited by the myſtical Iſrael, who ſhall be ſaved with an everlaſting Salvation, Ver. 17. Theſe are the ſame who are called the eſcaped of the Nations, Ver. 20. and thoſe that are ſaved out of all the Ends of the Earth, Ver. 22.

CHAP. XLVI.

The Babylonian Idols helpleſs. God ſaves his People. No Compariſon betwixt God and Idols.

Ver. 1. BEL boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth, their idols were upon the beaſts, and upon the cattel: your carriages were heavy loaden, they are a burden to the weary beaſt. 2 They ſtoop, they bow down together, they could not deliver the burden, but themſelves are gone into captivity. 3 Hearken unto me, O houſe of Jacob, and all the remnant of the houſe of Iſrael, which are born by me, from the belly, which are carried from the womb. 4 And even to your old age I am he, and even to hoary hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear, even I will carry and will deliver you. 5 To whom will ye liken me and make me equal, and compare me, that we may be like? 6 They laviſh gold out of the bag, and weigh ſilver in the balance, and hire a gold-ſmith, and he maketh it a god: they fall down, yea, they worſhip. 7 They bear him upon the ſhoulder, they carry him, and ſet him in his place, and he ſtandeth; from his place ſhall he not remove, yea, one ſhall cry unto him, yet can he not anſwer, nor ſave him out of his trouble. 8 Remember this, and ſhew yourſelves men: bring it again to mind, O ye tranſgreſſors. 9 Remember the former things of old, for I am God, and there is none elſe, I am God, and there is none like me. 10 Declaring the end from the beginning, and from antient times the things that are not yet done, ſaying, My counſel ſhall ſtand, and I will do all my pleaſure: 11 Calling a ravenous bird from the eaſt, the man that executeth my counſel from a far country: yea, I have ſpoken it, I will alſo bring it to paſs; I have purpoſed it, I will alſo do it. 12 Hearken unto me, ye ſtout-hearted, that are far from righteouſneſs. 13 I bring near my righteouſneſs: it ſhall not be far off, and my ſalvation ſhall not tarry; and I will place ſalvation in Zion for Iſrael my glory.

Bel boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth] Two principal Idols of the Babylonians. Bel is the ſame as Baal, as Selden conjectures, De Diis Syris, Syntag. 1. Cap. 2. Nebo gave Name to ſeveral of their Kings, as Nabonaſſar, Nebuchadnezzar, &c. See Note on Ch. xxix. 1. The Images of theſe Deities are carried in Triumph by the Perſians, as Part of the Spoil, as it was uſual for Conquerors to do, in Token of a complete Victory: See Grotius on the Place. Livy records it as an Inſtance of the Moderation of Fabius Maximus, that when he retook Tarentum, he would not ſuffer the Statues of their Gods to be carried with the reſt of the Plunder, but ſaid, Relinquamus Tarentinis Deos iratos, Lib. xxvii. Cap. 18.

CHAP. XLVII.

God's Judgment upon Babylon and Chaldea.

Ver. 1. COME down and ſit in the duſt, O virgin daughter of Babylon, ſit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called tender and delicate. 2 Take the milſtones and grind meal, uncover thy locks, make bare the leg, uncover the thigh, paſs over the rivers. Thy nakedneſs ſhall be uncovered, yea, thy ſhame ſhall be ſeen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man. 4 As for our redeemer, the Lord of hoſts is his name, the holy One of Iſrael. 5 Sit thou ſilent, and get thee into darkneſs, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called the lady of kingdoms. 6 I was wroth with my people, I have polluted mine inheritance, and given them into thine hand: thou didſt ſhew them no mercy; upon the antient haſt thou very heavily laid thy yoke. 7 And thou ſaidſt, I ſhall be a lady for ever: ſo that thou didſt not lay theſe things to thy heart, neither didſt remember the latter end of it. 8 Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleaſures, that dwelleſt careleſly, that ſayeſt in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſide me, I ſhall not ſit as a widow, neither ſhall I know the loſs of children. 9 But theſe two things ſhall come to thee in a moment in one day; the loſs of children and widowhood; they ſhall come upon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy ſorceries, and for the great abundance of thine inchantments. 10 For thou haſt truſted in thy wickedneſs; thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me: thy wiſdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſides me. 11 Therefore ſhall evil come upon thee, thou ſhalt not know from whence it riſeth: and miſchief ſhall fall upon thee, thou ſhalt not be able to put it off: and deſolation ſhall come upon thee ſuddenly, which thou ſhalt not know. 12 Stand now with thine inchantments, and with the multitude of thy ſorceries, wherein thou haſt labored from thy youth; if ſo be thou ſhalt be able to profit, if ſo be thou mayeſt prevail. 13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counſels: let now the aſtrologers, the ſtar-gazers, the monthly prognoſticators ſtand up, and ſave thee from theſe things that ſhall come upon thee. 14 Behold, they ſhall be as ſtubble: the fire ſhall burn them: they ſhall not deliver themſelves from the power of the flame: there ſhall not be a coal to warm at, nor fire to ſit before it. 15 Thus ſhall they be unto thee with whom thou haſt laboured, even the merchants from thy youth: they ſhall wander every one to his quarter, none ſhall ſave thee.

The Prophet had intimated the Deſtruction of Babyloniſh Monarchy in a few Words, at the Beginning of the laſt Chapter; and here he tells it more plainly and denounces it as a juſt Judgment upon that Government for its Cruelty and Pride: The Unexpectedneſs of ſuch a Calamity adding a great Weight to it, by ſuch a ſurprizing Turn of Affairs, as none of the dain Arts of Divination could foreſee, or be able to prevent.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The People's Obſtinacy. They are exhorted to Obedience. God will powerfully deliver them out of Babylon.

Ver. 1. HEAR ye this, O houſe of Jacob, which are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah; which ſwear by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in truth, nor in righteouſneſs. 2 For they call themſelves of the holy city, and ſtay themſelves upon the God of Iſrael, the Lord of hoſts is his name. 3 I have declared the former things from the beginning: and they went forth out of my mouth, and I ſhewed them, I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſs. 4 Becauſe I knew that thou art obſtinate, and thy neck is an iron ſinew, and thy brow braſs: 5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee; before it came to paſs I ſhewed it thee: leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, and my graven image, and my molten image hath commanded them. 6 Thou haſt heard, ſee all this; and will not ye declare it? I have ſhewed thee new things, from this time, even hidden things, and thou didſt not know them. 7 They are created now, and not from the beginning, even before the day when thou heardeſt them not; leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Behold, I knew them. 8 Yea thou heardeſt not, yea thou knoweſt not, yea from that time that thine ear was not opened: for I knew that thou wouldeſt deal very treacherouſly, and waſt called a tranſgreſſor from the womb. 9 For my names ſake will I defer mine anger, and for my praiſe will I refrain for thee, that I cut thee not off. 10 Behold, I have refined thee, but not with ſilver; I have choſen thee in the furnace of affliction. 11 For mine own ſake, even for mine own ſake will I do it; for how ſhould my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory unto another. 12 Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael, my called, I am he, I am the firſt, I alſo am the laſt. 13 Mine hand alſo hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath ſpanned the heavens: when I call unto them they ſtand up together. 14 All ye aſſemble yourſelves and hear: which among them hath declared theſe things? the Lord hath loved him: he will do his pleaſure on Babylon, and his arm ſhall be on the Chaldeans. 15 I, even I have ſpoken, yea I have called him: I have brought him, and he ſhall make his way proſperous. 16 Come ye near unto me, hear ye this, I have not ſpoken in ſecret from the beginning, from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath ſent me. 17 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael, I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt go. 18 O that thou hadſt hearkened to my commandments: then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteouſneſs as the waves of the ſea; 19 Thy ſeed alſo had been as the ſand, and the off-ſpring of thy bowels like the gravel thereof; his name ſhould not have been cut off, nor deſtroyed from before me. 20 Go ye forth of Babylon, flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ſinging declare ye, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth: ſay ye, The Lord hath redeemed his ſervant Jacob. 21 And they thirſted not when he led them through the deſarts: he cauſed the waters to flow out of the rock for them; he clave the rock alſo and the waters guſhed out. 22 There is no peace, ſaith the Lord, unto the wicked.

And are come forth out of the Waters of Judah] The Derivation of Poſterity from the Head of a Family, is often compared to the Streams that iſſue forth from a Spring or Fountain. See Numb. xxiv. 7. Pſ. lxviii. 26. Prov. v. 16, 18.

Thou haſt heard, ſee all this, and will not ye declare it?] The old Tranſlation publiſhed under Henry VIII. has given the Senſe of the Words very perſpicuouſly, thus, Thou heardeſt it [before] and behold it is come to paſs: And ſhall not ye yourſelves confeſs the ſame? Some render the Words thus, If thou haſt heard, foretel all this: Would you not have declared it? i. e. would not your Idols have given out Prophecies concerning theſe Things, if they had foreknown them?

For I knew that thou wouldeſt deal very treacherouſly] The Senſe ſeems imperfect before theſe Words, which, ſays Lowth, may be thus ſupplied: I did foreſhew thee theſe Things, becauſe I knew thou wouldeſt deal treacherouſly. The Verb Bagad does properly ſignify a Wife being unfaithful to her Huſband: See Jer. iii. 20. and from thence it is applied to the Sin of Idolatry, which is often ſtiled ſpiritual Whoredom, as being a Breach of that Covenant which the Jews made with God, as their King and Huſband. See Jer. iii. 14. Iſa. liv. 5.

And now the Lord God, and his Spirit hath ſent me] The foregoing Part of the Verſe ſhews, that the Words are ſpoken by God; and ſince it is here affirmed, That the Lord God hath ſent him, we can underſtand the Words of no other but the Second Perſon of the Bleſſed Trinity, who was ſent into the World by his Father, and was anointed to his prophetical Office by the Holy Spirit: See Ch. xi. 2. xlii. 1. lxi. 1. Compare Zech. ii. 10, 11. Here, indeed, only the Divine Nature of the Son of God is directly ſpoken of; but it is uſual in Scripture to apply that to one Part of his Nature, which properly belongs to another, becauſe of the Communication of Properties, as the School-men term it. Thus St. Paul ſaith, that the Jews tempted Chriſt in the Wilderneſs, 1 Cor. x. 9. meaning the Logos, who afterward aſſumed Human Nature, and was called the Chriſt. It need not ſeem ſtrange that Chriſt is introduced ſpeaking theſe Words: For we find many other Texts which are ſpoken of God in the Old Teſtament, applied to Chriſt in the New; to ſhew us, that almoſt all the Prophecies in the Old Teſtament, relate to the Times of the Goſpel, and are to receive their utmoſt Completion then. And this will ſtill appear more probable, if we conſider, that ſeveral Paſſages in this Chapter, as well as the general Strain of theſe Prophecies concerning the Reſtoration of Iſrael, have a plain Aſpect upon ſome farther Reſtoration of the Church in the latter Times, and its Deliverance from that myſtical Babylon deſcribed in the Revelations. See Ch. xlv. 20, 22, 23.

CHAP. XLIX.

Chriſt ſent to the Gentiles. God's Love to the Church.

Ver. 1. LIſten, O iſles, unto me, and hearken ye people from far. The Lord hath called me from the womb, from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name. 2 And he hath made my mouth like a ſharp ſword, in the ſhadow of his hand hath he hid me, me, and made me a poliſhed ſhaft, in his quiver hath he hid me, 3 And ſaid unto me, Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified. 4 Then I ſaid, I have laboured in vain, I have ſpent my ſtrength for naught, and in vain, yet ſurely my judgment is with the Lord, and my work with my God. 5 And now, ſaith the Lord that formed me from the womb to be his ſervant, to bring Jacob again to him, Though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God ſhall be my ſtrength. 6 And he ſaid, It is a light thing that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſervant to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and to reſtore the preſerved of Iſrael: I will alſo give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſalvation unto the end of the earth. 7 Thus ſaith the Lord the redeemer of Iſrael, and his holy One, to him whom man deſpiſeth, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to a ſervant of rulers, Kings ſhall ſee and ariſe, princes alſo ſhall worſhip, becauſe of the Lord that is faithful, and the holy One of Iſrael, and he ſhall chooſe thee. 8 Thus ſaith the Lord, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of ſalvation have I helped thee: and I will preſerve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to eſtabliſh the earth, to cauſe to inherit the deſolate heritages, 9 That thou mayeſt ſay to the priſoners, Go forth; to them that are in darkneſs, Shew yourſelves: they ſhall feed in the ways, and their paſtures ſhall be in all high places. 10 They ſhall not hunger nor thirſt, neither ſhall the heat nor ſun ſmite them: for he that hath mercy on them ſhall lead them, even by the ſprings of water ſhall he guide them. 11 And I will make all my mountains a way, and my high-ways ſhall be exalted. 12 Behold, theſe ſhall come from far: and lo, theſe from the north and from the weſt, and theſe from the land of Sinim. 13 Sing, O heavens, and be joyful, O earth, and break forth into ſinging, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted. 14 But Zion ſaid, The Lord hath forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me. 15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child, that ſhe ſhould not have compaſſion on the ſon of her womb? yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee. 16 Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands, thy walls are continually before me. 17 Thy children ſhall make haſte; thy deſtroyers, and they that made thee waſte ſhall go forth of thee. 18 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold, all theſe gather themſelves together and come to thee: as I live, ſaith the Lord, thou ſhalt ſurely clothe thee with them all, as with an ornament, and bind them on thee as a bride doth. 19 For thy waſte and thy deſolate places, and the land of thy deſtruction ſhall even now be too narrow by reaſon of the inhabitants, and they that ſwallowed thee up ſhall be far away. 20 The children which thou ſhalt have, after thou haſt loſt the other, ſhall ſay again in thine ears, The place is too ſtrait for me: give place to me that I may dwell. 21 Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine heart, Who hath begotten me theſe, ſeeing I have loſt my children, and am deſolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who hath brought up theſe? Behold, I was left alone, theſe, where had they been? 22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and ſet up my ſtandard to the people: and they ſhall bring thy ſons in their arms, and thy daughters ſhall be carried upon their ſhoulders. 23 And kings ſhall be thy nurſing fathers, and their queens thy nurſing mothers: they ſhall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and lick up the duſt of thy feet, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord: for they ſhall not be aſhamed that wait for me. 24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered? 25 But thus ſaith the Lord, Even the captives of the mighty ſhall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible ſhall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will ſave thy children. 26 And I will feed them that oppreſs thee with their own fleſh, and they ſhall be drunken with their own blood, as with ſweet wine: and all fleſh ſhall know that I the Lord am thy ſaviour and thy redeemer, the mighty one of Jacob.

The Prophet returns to the ſame Subject he had been diſcourſing upon, from Ch. xli. to the End of the xlvith; and takes Occaſion from the Return of the Jewiſh Captivity, which he had clearly foretold, Ver. 20. of the foregoing Chapter, to foreſhew the great Enlargement of the Church in After-times, and the Coming in of the Fulneſs of the Gentiles.

Though Iſrael be not gathered, yet I ſhall be glorious, &c.] There is a various Reading in the Hebrew to this Verſe, which produces a different Senſe, according as the Particle Lo is read with an Aleph or a Vau. We follow the firſt Reading, which our Tranſlators prefer: the Senſe is, That altho' Chriſt's Miniſtry be unſucceſsful in gathering the Jews into the Church; yet the Preaching of his Apoſtles ſhould meet with better Success among the Gentiles, and ſhould enlighten thoſe who dwell in the remoteſt Parts the World. If we follow the other Reading, the Words will import, That God hath ordained Chriſt to be a Light to the Gentiles, as well as the Glory of his People Iſrael. Theſe Words are applied by St. Paul to the Preaching of Chriſt unto the Gentiles, Acts xiii. 47. xxvi. 23. and cannot with any Shew of Probability be underſtood of Iſaiah, whatever Grotius or others pretend.

Thus ſaith the Lord, the Redeemer of Iſrael, and his holy One, to him whom Man deſpiſeth, &c.] These Words deſcribe the wonderful Progreſs of the Goſpel from ſmall Beginnings; that the Author of it, from being the Contempt of all the Great Men of the World, ſhould come to be the Object of their Adoration. See Ver. 23. This may in a lower Senſe be underſtood of that Regard which Cyrus and other ſucceeding Monarchs had for the Jewiſh Nation and Temple; whereas during their Captivity they had been the Scorn of all their Neighbours. See Pſ. lxxix. 4. Lam. ii. 15. Dan. ix. 16.

The following eight or ten Verſes are generally interpreted to ſignify the Goſpel-Times, and the State of the Church under that Diſpenſation.

For thy waſte and thy deſolate Places, and the Land of thy Deſtruction, ſhall even now be too narrow by reaſon of the Inhabitants] This muſt be underſtood either of the Acceſſion of the Gentiles into the Church; or Ver. 22, 23. typified by Judea, repeopled after it lain deſolate; ſee Ver. 8. or elſe we may ſuppoſe the Words point at ſome future Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation: For we do not find the Catalogues of those that returned, recorded in Ezra and Nehemiah, to anſwer this Prophecy: Nor did the Jews repoſſeſs the whole Extent of Paleſtine after the Captivity, or make that Figure in the World which they had done in former Times, and eſpecially before the Separation of the Ten Tribes.

Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine Heart, who hath begotten me theſe? — Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift up my Hand to the Gentiles, &c.] In the firſt Sentence Jeruſalem is repreſented as in a Surprize, to find herſelf on a ſudden repleniſhed with Inhabitants, after an utter Deſolation: And in the latter, an Account is given of this miraculous Change, viz. that God would put in the Hearts of the Gentiles, whither the Jews were led Captives, to ſend them home again with all neceſſary Proviſions for their Journey; ſee Ezra i. 4. This may yet receive a further Accompliſhment: Compare Ch. xi. 12. lx. 4.

And Kings ſhall be thy Nurſing-Fathers, and their Queens thy Nurſing-Mothers] Cyrus, Artaxerxes, and other Perſian Monarchs, ſhewed ſignal Favour to the Jews; and Eſther, Darius's Queen, one of their own Countrywomen, ſaved the Nation from utter Deſtruction. But this Prophecy was more remarkably fulfilled in the Favours which Conſtantine and his Mother Helen, and other Chriſtian Princes and Princeſſes have ſhewn to the Church, taking it into their Protection, and ſheltering it under their Government: Compare Numb. xi. 12.

CHAP. L.

God encourages his People ſtill to depend upon him. The Prophet's Commiſſion to publiſh the glad Tidings of Redemption.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, Where is the bill of your mothers divorcement whom I have put away? or which of my creditors is it, to whom I have ſold you? Behold, for your iniquities have you ſold yourſelves, and for your tranſgreſſions is your mother put away. 2 Wherefore when I came, was there no man? when I called was there none to anſwer? is my hand ſhortned at all, that it cannot redeem? or have I no power to deliver? behold, at my rebuke I dry up the ſea: I make the rivers a wilderneſs: their fiſh ſtinketh, becauſe there is no water, and dieth for thirſt. 3 I clothe the heavens with blackneſs, and I make ſackcloth their covering. 4 The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I ſhould know how to ſpeak a word in ſeaſon to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning: he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned. 5 The Lord God hath opened mine ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away back. 6 I gave my back to the ſmiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from ſhame and ſpitting. 7 For the Lord God will help me, therefore ſhall I not be confounded: therefore have I ſet my face like a flint, and I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed. 8 He is near that juſtifieth me, who will contend with me? let us ſtand together: who is mine adverſary? let him come near to me. 9 Behold, the Lord God will help me, who is he that ſhall condemn me? lo, they all ſhall wax old as a garment: the moth ſhall eat them up. 10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his ſervant, that walketh in darkneſs, and hath no light? let him truſt in the name of the Lord, and ſtay upon his God. 11 Behold, all ye that kindle a fire, that compaſs yourſelves about with ſparks: walk in the light of your fire, and in the ſparks that ye have kindled. This ſhall ye have of mine hand, ye ſhall lie down in ſorrow.

Where is the Bill of your Mother's Divorcement, whom I put away] The Covenant which God made with his People is commonly repreſented under the Notion of a Marriage-Contract. In Alluſion to this Notion, God demands of the Captives who deſpaired of his Mercy, (ſee Ch. xlix. 14.) to produce the Bill of Divorce which he had given to their Mother: Whereas on the contrary, he was ready to receive her, whenever ſhe ſhould return from her Idolatries, and other Iniquities. See Jer. iii. 1.

Or which of my Creditors is it, to whom I have ſold you] Thoſe that were poor uſed to ſell their Children, and ſometimes themſelves, to their Creditors, for the Diſcharge of their Debts. See Exod. xxi. 7. Nehem. v. 5. Lev. xxv. 39. The ſame Power, Maſters had over their Servants, Matt. xviii. 25. God tells them he had no Occaſion to exerciſe ſuch a Power, but it was owing to their own Sins, that they were made Slaves to foreign Nations: Compare Ch. lii. 3. Pſ. xliv. 12.

Wherefore, when I came, was there no Man?] How comes it to paſs, ſaith God, that when I ſent Meſſages to you by my Servants, there was no Man would take any Notice of them? See Jer. xxx. 15. In the ſame Senſe Chriſt is ſaid to come and preach Peace, that is, by his Apoſtles and Miniſters, Eph. ii. 17.

He wakeneth Morning by Morning, he wakeneth my Ear to hear as the Learned] Every Morning he putteth me in Mind of the Diſcharge of my Office, as Maſters rouze up their Scholars betimes to hear their Leſſons. The Words may be rendered, He wakeneth mine Ear to hear, as Scholars [are awakened]. For the Hebrew Limmudim ſignifies both Teachers and Diſciples; and it is taken in the latter Senſe by our Tranſlators, Ch. viii. 16. If we take the Words in this Senſe, the Phraſe which is tranſlated, The Tongue of the Learned, in the foregoing Sentence, will ſignify a docile or teachable Tongue, which obeys the Dictates of its Inſtructor: See the following Verſe.

I gave my Back to the Smiters] The Prophets generally met with very ill Treatment from Men of their own Times. See Acts vii. 52. And tho' we have no particular Account of Iſaiah's Sufferings, yet it appears from this Verſe, that his Lot was no better than that of his Brethren; and the Jews have a Tradition, that he was at laſt ſawn aſunder by the Command of King Manaſſeh. The Expreſſions of this Verſe were literally fulfilled in Chriſt. See Matt. xxvi. 67. xxvii. 26.

CHAP. LI.

An Exhortation to the pious Perſons in Captivity, ſtill to rely on the Promiſes of God, which ſhall be eminently fulfilled in Chriſt. Proofs of God's Power and Goodneſs. The Miſeries of Jeruſalem bewailed.

Ver. 1. HEarken to me, ye that follow after righteouſneſs, ye that ſeek the Lord: look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged. 2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you; for I called him alone, and bleſſed him, and increaſed him. 3 For the Lord ſhall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waſte places, and he will make her wilderneſs like Eden, and her deſart like the garden of the Lord; joy and gladneſs ſhall be found therein, thankſgiving, and the voice of melody. 4 Hearken unto me my people, and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law ſhall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to reſt for a light of the people. 5 My righteouſneſs is near: my ſalvation is gone forth, and mine arms ſhall judge the people: the iſles ſhall wait upon me, and on mine arms ſhall they truſt. 6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoak, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. 7 Hearken unto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law, fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings. 8 For the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my salvation from generation to generation. 9 Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the Lord; awake, as in the antient days, in the generations of old. Art thou not it that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon? 10 Art thou not it which hath dried the sea, the waters of the great deep, that hath made the depths of the sea a way for the ransomed to pass over? 11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall return, and come with singing unto Zion, and everlasting joy shall be upon their head: they shall obtain gladness and joy, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away. 12 I, even I am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass? 13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath stretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually every day, because of the fury of the oppressor, as if he were ready to destroy? and where is the fury of the oppressor? 14 The captive exile hasteneth that he may be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should fail. 15 But I am the Lord thy God, that divided the sea, whose waves roared: the Lord of hosts is his name. 16 And I have put my words in thy mouth, and have covered thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and say unto Zion, Thou art my people. 17 Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the Lord the cup of his fury; thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out. 18 There is none to guide her among all the sons whom she hath brought forth: neither is there any that taketh her by the hand, of all the sons that she hath brought up. 19 These two things are come unto thee: who shall be sorry for thee? desolation, and destruction, and the famine and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee? 20 Thy sons have fainted, they lie at the head of all their streets as a wild bull in a net: they are full of the fury of the Lord, the rebuke of thy God. 21 Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine. 22 Thus saith thy Lord the Lord, and thy God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I have taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my fury, thou shalt no more drink it again. 23 But I will put it into the hand of them that afflict thee: which have said to thy soul, Bow down, that we may go over: and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as the street to them that went over.

For a Law shall proceed from me, and I will make my Judgment to rest for a Light of the People] The latter Part of the Sentence may more properly be rendered, I will cause my Judgment to break forth for a Light to the People: For the Verb Ragang, as many other Hebrew Words, has two contrary Significations, and signifies both to rest and to break forth. To this Sense it may most conveniently be expounded, Jer. xlix. 19. where our Translation reads, quite contrary to the Design of the Place, I will make him suddenly run away from her. Whereas the Scope of the Text requires the Words to be thus rendered, I will stir him up, and make him run upon (or seize upon) her. But to return to the Text before us: The Prophet speaks of such a Law as should break forth and enlighten the most distant People, expressed by the Isles in the next Verse, which can be no other than the Gospel, as will plainly appear by comparing this Text with Chapter xlii. 4, 6. where it is said that Christ is ordained to be a Light to the Gentiles, to set Judgment in the Earth, and that the Isles should wait for his Law.

These two Things are come upon thee — Desolation and Destruction, and the Famine, and the Sword] Michaelis à Schultens, in his Observations upon Job, remarks that the Hebrew Word Shôd, Desolation, is properly used of Famine: See Job v. 22. So that Desolation and Famine, Destruction and the Sword, are equivalent Terms, and are the two Evils here mentioned. To make the Sense plainer, he thus translates the Word, These two Things are come upon thee — Desolation and Destruction, even the Famine and the Sword: The Copulative Particle being sometimes used by way of Explanation. So 1 Sam. xxviii. 3. They buried him in Ramah, even in his own City: Where it is in the Hebrew, and in his own City: See likewise 1 Sam. xvii. 40.

Thy Sons have fainted, they lie at the Head of all the Streets, like a wild Bull in a Net, &c.] A Description of the miserable Condition of the City when it was just taken by the Enemy, and the choicest Men for Youth and Courage lay weltering in their Blood in every Street, struggling for Life, like a wild Bull taken in a Toil, and sinking under the Weight of God's Wrath. When God delivered up Hezekiah into the Hands of his Enemies, he is said to spread his Net upon him, Ezek. xii. 13. xvii. 20.

Thou shalt no more drink it again] Some render these Words, Thou shalt no longer drink thereof: Compare Ezek. xxxix. 28. If we follow the common Translation, and understand this of Jerusalem, it must mean that such a Judgment shall not come upon it again for several Ages; a long Continuance being often stiled in the Hebrew, for ever. But by comparing this Verse with Ver. 16. and with Ch. liv. 9. we may conclude that this Prophecy hath a further Prospect upon a new State or Restoration of the Jews, which is still to be expected. See Ch. xxxv. 8, 9. lii. 1. lx. 15. and lxii. 8.

CHAP. LII.

The Prophet congratulates Jerusalem upon her Restoration after the Captivity; in which he has an Eye to the Renovation of the Church and the Gospel. Christ's State of Humiliation and Sufferings, his Glory, and the Advantage to Believers from thence.

Ver. 1. AWake, awake, put on thy strength, O Zion, put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem the holy city: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the uncircumcised, and the unclean. 2 Shake thyself from the dust: arise, and sit down, O Jerusalem: loose thyself from the bands of thy neck, O captive daughter of Zion. 3 For thus saith the Lord, Ye have sold yourselves for nought, and ye shall be redeemed without money. 4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went down aforetime into Egypt to ſojourn there, and the Aſſyrian oppreſſed them without cauſe. 5 Now therefore, what have I here, ſaith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought? they that rule over them, make them to howl, ſaith the Lord, and my name continually every day is blaſphemed. 6 Therefore my people ſhall know my name: therefore they ſhall know in that day, that I am he that doth ſpeak, behold, it is I. 7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good, that publiſheth ſalvation, that ſaith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth! 8 Thy watchmen ſhall lift up the voice, with the voice together ſhall they ſing: for they ſhall ſee eye to eye, when the Lord ſhall bring again Zion. 9 Break forth into joy, ſing together ye waſte places of Jeruſalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jeruſalem. 10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſalvation of our God. 11 Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean things, go ye out of the midſt of her; be ye clean, that bear the veſſels of the Lord. 12 For ye ſhall not go out with haſte, nor go by flight: for the Lord will go before you: and the God of Iſrael will be your rereward. 13 Behold, my ſervant ſhall deal prudently, he ſhall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. 14 As many as were aſtonied at thee; (his viſage was ſo marred more than any man, and his form more than the ſons of men) 15 So ſhall he ſprinkle many nations, the kings ſhall ſhut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them ſhall they ſee; and that which they had not heard, ſhall they conſider.

You have ſold yourſelves for nought, and ye ſhall be redeemed without Money] For your Iniquities you ſold yourſelves, Ch. l. 1. So fooliſh a Bargain you made, to venture the parting with your Liberty, only to enjoy your Sins and idolatrous Cuſtoms: You received no valuable Conſideration, when you thus enſlaved yourſelves; and therefore to make the Sale and the Redemption correſpondent to each other, you ſhall be redeemed out of this Oppreſſion gratis, which I will do by Cyrus: See Ch. xlv. 13. The Words, in the myſtical Senſe, may fitly be applied to the miſerable Captivity to which Sinners enſlave themſelves, and the Freedom of that Redemption which Chriſt wrought for them. Compare 1 Pet. i. 18. Rom. iii. 24.

How beautiful upon the Mountains are the Feet of him that bringeth glad Tidings, &c.] A Poetical Deſcription of the Meſſenger who firſt brought the good News of Cyrus's Decree for the People's Return home; whom the Watchmen, mentioned Ver. 8. are ſuppoſed to deſcry afar off upon the Tops of the Mountains, making all haſte to publiſh this happy News; a ſignal Inſtance of God's over-ruling Providence, and of the peculiar Care he hath for his Church. This Text is very fitly applied by St. Paul to the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel, Rom. x. 15. the very Word importing good Tidings of Peace and Salvation, whereby the Kingdom of God is erected among Men. Accordingly we may obſerve, that thoſe Pſalms wherein we find that Expreſſion, The Lord reigneth, are by the Generality of Interpreters, both Jewiſh and Chriſtian, expounded of the Times of the Meſſias. See Pſ. xciii. xcvi. xcvii.

Behold my Servant ſhall deal prudently] Or, ſhall proſper, as the Margin reads, more agreeably to what follows. Here begins a new Section [The Chaldee Paraphraſe underſtands the Perſon ſpoken of here, and to the End of the following Chapter, to be the Meſſias,] which contains ſo clear a Prophecy of the Sufferings of Chriſt, and the Glory that ſhould follow, that all Chriſtians forſake Grotius here, even thoſe that too ſervilely copy after him in other Places, and think that this Prophecy can be applied to none but Chriſt, who is here called God's Servant in an eminent Senſe. See Note on Ch. xlii. 1.

CHAP. LIII.

A Deſcription of our Saviour's Sufferings.

Ver. 1. WHO hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? 2 For he ſhall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comelineſs: and when we ſhall ſee him, there is no beauty that we ſhould deſire him. 3 He is deſpiſed and rejected of men, a man of ſorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was deſpiſed, and we eſteemed him not. 4 Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our ſorrows: yet we did not eſteem him ſtricken, ſmitten of God, and afflicted. 5 But he was wounded for our tranſgreſſions, he was bruiſed for our iniquities: the chaſtiſement of our peace was upon him, and with his ſtripes we are healed. 6 All we like ſheep have gone aſtray: we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all. 7 He was oppreſſed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the ſlaughter, and as a ſheep before her ſhearers is dumb, ſo he openeth not his mouth. 8 He was taken from priſon and from judgment: and who ſhall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the tranſgreſſion of my people was he ſtricken. 9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, becauſe he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth. 10 Yet it pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him, he hath put him to grief: when thou ſhalt make his ſoul an offering for ſin, he ſhall ſee his ſeed, he ſhall prolong his days, and the pleaſure of the Lord ſhall proſper in his hand. 11 He ſhall ſee of the travail of his ſoul, and ſhall be ſatisfied: by his knowledge ſhall my righteous ſervant juſtify many: for he ſhall bear their iniquities. 12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he ſhall divide the ſpoil with the ſtrong: becauſe he hath poured out his ſoul unto death: and he was numbred with the tranſgreſſors, and he bare the ſin of many, and made interceſſion for the tranſgreſſors.

Who hath believed our Report] This is ſpoken in the Perſon of Chriſt and his Apoſtles: Who, ſay they, among our own Countrymen, hath believed our Preaching or Doctrine? So the Word Shemuah ſignifies, Ch. xxviii. 9. And altho' God hath ſhewed ſuch viſible Tokens of his Power, (compare Ch. lii. 10.) in thoſe Miracles by which he hath given Teſtimony to our Miſſion; yet how few of our Nation hath been convinced by them? Compare John xii. 37, 38. Rom. x. 16.

For he ſhall grow up before him as a tender Plant, and as a Root out of a dry Ground] The Prophet aſſigns a Cauſe for the Jews rejecting Chriſt, viz. the Mean-Meanneſs of his outward Appearance. The Meſſias is elſewhere deſcribed under the Reſemblance of a Branch or Cion, growing out of the Stem or Stock of David: See Ch. xi. 1. Jer. xxiii. 5. But here he is reſembled to a little Sucker, the literal Interpretation of the Word Ijonek; and to a Branch growing out of a dry Ground, which looks withered, and does not promiſe either Life or Fruit. The Word Shoreſh, Root, ſhould rather be tranſlated Branch or Shoot. See Ch. xi. 10.

He hath no Form nor Comelineſs, &c.] The Meanneſs of his outward Circumſtances, eſpecially when he came to be condemned as a Malefactor, made his Perſon appear deſpicable. Compare Ch. lii. 14. From this Text Juſtin Martyr, Clemens Alexandrinus, Tertullian, and others of the antient Fathers, conclude our Saviour's Perſon to have been deformed; an Opinion, in my Judgment, ſays Lowth, not at all probable. In the fourth and following Centuries, a quite contrary Notion was advanced by St. Jerom and others, viz. That Chriſt was a Perſon of extraordinary Comelineſs; which they grounded chiefly upon that Place of the xlvth Pſalm, Ver. 3. Thou art fairer than the Children of Men, &c. From theſe two contrary Opinions we may conclude, that the making or ſetting up the Image or the Picture of Chriſt, was no Part of religious Worſhip in the early Ages of Chriſtianity, or elſe there would have remained ſome more certain Tradition concerning his outward Shape or Perſon.

And who ſhall declare his Generation] Who can declare the Wickedneſs of the Men of that Generation, who cut off this innocent Perſon in ſo unjuſt a Manner? The Hebrew Word Dôr often ſignifies the Men of ſuch an Age or Place. See Gen. vii. 1. Deut. xxxii. 5, 20. Pſ. lxxviii. 8. in the ſame Senſe is γενεὰ, Generation, frequently uſed in the New Teſtament, particularly Matt. xii. 45. xxiii. 36. Some Commentators unſtand this Text of Chriſt's eternal Generation; but then I conceive, ſays Lowth, the Word in the Hebrew ſhould have been Toledoth.

CHAP. LIV.

The Increaſe and Glory of the Church foretold.

Ver. 1. SING O barren, thou that didſt not bear; break forth into ſinging, and cry aloud thou that didſt not travail with child: for more are the children of the deſolate, than the children of the married wife, ſaith the Lord. 2 Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them ſtretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: ſpare not, lengthen thy cords, and ſtrengthen thy ſtakes. 3 Thou ſhalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy ſeed ſhall inherit the Gentiles: and make the deſolate cities to be inhabited. 4 Fear not, for thou ſhalt not be aſhamed: neither be thou confounded, for thou ſhalt not be put to ſhame: for thou ſhalt forget the ſhame of thy youth, and ſhalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood any more. 5 For thy maker is thine huſband, (the Lord of hoſts is his name) and thy redeemer the holy One of Iſrael, the God of the whole earth ſhall he be called. 6 For the Lord hath called thee as a woman forſaken and grieved in ſpirit, and a wife of youth, when thou waſt refuſed, ſaith thy God. 7 For a ſmall moment have I forſaken thee, but with great mercies will I gather thee. 8 In a little wrath I hide my face from thee, for a moment; but with everlaſting kindneſs will I have mercy on thee, ſaith the Lord thy redeemer. 9 For this is as the waters of Noah unto me: for as I have ſworn that the waters of Noah ſhould no more go over the earth; ſo have I ſworn that I would not be wroth with thee, nor rebuke thee. 10 For the mountains ſhall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindneſs ſhall not depart from thee, neither ſhall the covenant of my peace be removed, ſaith the Lord, that hath mercy on thee. 11 Oh thou afflicted, toſſed with tempeſt and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy ſtones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with ſaphires. 12 And I will make thy windows of agates, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleaſant ſtones. 13 And all thy children ſhall be taught of the Lord, and great ſhall be the peace of thy children. 14 In righteouſneſs ſhalt thou be eſtabliſhed: thou ſhalt be far from oppreſſion, for thou ſhalt not fear; and from terror, for it ſhall not come near thee. 15 Behold, they ſhall ſurely gather together, but not by me: whoſoever ſhall gather together againſt thee, ſhall fall for thy ſake. 16 Behold, I have created the ſmith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an inſtrument for his work, and I have created the waſter to deſtroy. 17 No weapon that is formed againſt thee, ſhall proſper; and every tongue that ſhall riſe againſt thee in judgment, thou ſhalt condemn. This is the heritage of the ſervants of the Lord, and their righteouſneſs is of me, ſaith the Lord.

Sing, O barren, thou that didſt not bear] Or, Thou haſt not borne Children a great while: The Prophet had deſcribed Jeruſalem during the Captivity, as a deſolate Woman, forſaken of her Huſband, and bereaved of her Children, Ch. xlix. 21. Compare Ch. xlii. 4. Here he bids her rejoice and comfort herſelf after her Affliction, becauſe her Children ſhould be much more numerous than they were in their moſt flouriſhing Condition. This cannot be literally true of the Jewiſh Nation, who never made ſuch a Figure after the Captivity, as they did in the Days of David and Solomon, and conſequently, can only be imperfectly underſtood of Jeruſalem, as ſhe was the Type of the Chriſtian Church, according to St. Paul's Expoſition of the Text, Gal. iv. 27. Expounding the Words to this Senſe, they import, That the Church after her Spouſe, Jeſus Chriſt, was taken from her by Death, and ſhe left in a diſconſolate forlorn Condition, and her Children Orphans; ſee John xiv. 18. deſponding and comfortleſs. Luke xxiv. 21. from ſuch mean and contemptible Beginnings, ſhould ſpread herſelf over the World, and will ſtill receive a further Enlargement, when the Fulneſs of the Jews and Gentiles is come in.

And thy Seed ſhall inherit the Gentiles, and make the deſolate Cities to be inhabited] This may be underſtood in a low Senſe, of the Jews enlarging their Borders by the Conqueſts of Judas Maccabeus, over the neighbouring Countries, 1 Mac. v. and their inhabiting thoſe Cities in Judea which had been left deſolate, as may be, ever ſince the Captivity of the Ten Tribes: but the Words do plainly imply the Enlargement of the Church, by admitting the Gentiles within her Territories, and that the Minds of rude and barbarous Nations ſhould be cultivated with the Knowledge of the true God.

As I have ſworn that the Waters of Noah ſhould no more cover the Earth; ſo have I ſworn that I would not be wroth with thee] God's irrevocable Promiſe is elſewhere called his Oath, tho' the Formality of Swearing was not uſed. See Pſ. cv. 11. lxxxix. 3. This ſolemn Promiſe which God here makes, muſt relate to ſuch a Time when God will not afflict his People any more, and as it would not have been true, if it were applied to the Jews returning from Babylon, for then whole Nation and Government was afterward utterly ruined by the Romans; ſo neither can it be made good, as long as the preſent State of the World continues.

Behold, I will lay thy Stones with fair Colours]

read of Stones of divers Colours, 1 Chron. xxix. 2. where the Word in the Original is the ſame as it is here, and probably means a Stone of a red or ſhining Colour. This and the next Verſe may in a qualified Senſe be applied to the rebuilding the City and Temple after the Captivity; but muſt have ſome further Meaning in it, if we compare it with that old Prophecy mentioned in Tobit, Ch. xiii. 16, 17. which Mr. Mede hath ſhewed muſt relate to the latter Times, and with Rev. xxi. 18, &c. The Church of Chriſt, and the Society of Anti-chriſt, are deſcribed as two Cities, the latter called Myſtical Babylon, Rev. xvii. 5. the former, the New and Heavenly Jeruſalem, Rev. xxi. 2, 10. to diſtinguiſh it from the Earthly City of that Name, and is there deſcribed as coming down from God, and adorned with all thoſe Gifts and Graces which can render it glorious and durable, which are metaphorically repreſented under the Figure of a four-ſquare, ſolid and beautiful Structure, conſiſting all of Gold and precious Stones.

CHAP. LV.

The Prophet publiſhes the free Offers of Grace by the Goſpel.

Ver. 1. HO, every one that thirſteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat, yea, come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price. 2 Wherefore do ye ſpend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which ſatisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your ſoul delight itſelf in fatneſs. 3 Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your ſoul ſhall live, and I will make an everlaſting covenant with you, even the ſure mercies of David. 4 Behold, I have given him for a witneſs to the people, a leader and commander to the people. 5 Behold, thou ſhalt call a nation that thou knowelt not, and nations that knew not thee ſhall run unto thee, becauſe of the Lord thy God, and for the holy One of Iſrael; for he hath glorified thee. 6 Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near. 7 Let the wicked forſake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. 8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, ſaith the Lord. 9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth, ſo are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts. 10 For as the rain cometh down, and the ſnow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give ſeed to the ſower, and bread to the eater: 11 So ſhall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it ſhall not return unto me void, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I pleaſe, and it ſhall proſper in the thing whereto I ſent it. 12 For ye ſhall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills ſhall break forth before you into ſinging, and all the trees of the field ſhall clap their hands. 13 Inſtead of the thorn ſhall come up the fir-tree, and inſtead of the brier ſhall come up the myrtle-tree: and it ſhall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlaſting ſign that ſhall not be cut off.

Ho, every one that thirſteth, come to the Waters] Divine Grace is often repreſented under the Emblem of Springs and Streams of Water; ſee Ch. xxx. 25. xliv. 3. In like Manner Divine Knowledge, the Food and Support of the Soul, is expreſſed by the Metaphors of Meat and Drink: See John vi. 27. and ſo to the End of the Chapter. Under this Metaphor the Prophet here exhorts Men to make uſe of thoſe Means of Inſtruction which the Goſpel ſo freely offers. Chriſt himſelf expounds the Words to this Senſe, John vii. 37.

Come ye, buy and eat, yea, come, buy Wine and Milk without Money and without Price] Buying ſometimes ſignifies in general, gaining or procuring any thing. In this Senſe Solomon uſes the Word, when he bids us buy the Truth, and ſell it not, i. e. ſpare no Pains to learn it, Prov. xxiii. 23. See likewiſe Rev. iii. 18. It is added, without Money and without Price, to ſhew that divine Knowledge is of far greater Value than to be purchaſed with Money, being the Gift of God, and not to be obtained but by earneſt Prayer, and ſincere Endeavours. Compare Eccluſ. li. 25, 26.

And I will make an everlaſting Covenant with you, even the ſure Mercies of David] The Goſpel is often called an Everlaſting Covenant; ſee Ch. xli. 8. Jer. xxxii. 40. l. 5. in Oppoſition to the Law, which was deſigned but for a Time, and was to give Way to a better. And by the Terms of this Covenant, God will fulfil thoſe Promiſes which he made to David of eſtabliſhing his Throne for ever; See 2 Sam. vii. 16. Pſ. lxxxix. 28. which will not be fully verified but in the Meſſias, of whoſe Kingdom there ſhall be no End. See Acts xiii. 34.

CHAP. LVI.

The Prophet exhorts to Sanctification, and inveighs againſt blind Watchmen.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, Keep ye judgment, and do juſtice: for my ſalvation is near to come, and my righteouſneſs to be revealed. 2 Bleſſed is the man that doeth this, and the ſon of man that layeth hold on it: that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing any evil. 3 Neither let the ſon of the ſtranger, that hath joined himſelf to the Lord, ſpeak, ſaying, The Lord hath utterly ſeperated me from his people: neither let the eunuch ſay, Behold, I am a dry tree. 4 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the eunuchs that keep my ſabbaths, and chooſe the things that pleaſe me, and take hold of my covenant: 5 Even unto them will I give in mine houſe, and within my walls, a place and a name better than of ſons and of daughters: I will give them an everlaſting name, that ſhall not be cut off. 6 Alſo the ſons of the ſtranger, that join themſelves to the Lord, to ſerve him, and to love the name of the Lord, to be his ſervants, every one that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, and taketh hold of my covenant: 7 Even them will I bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my houſe of prayer: their burnt-offerings and their ſacrifice, ſhall be accepted upon mine altar; for mine houſe ſhall be called an houſe of prayer for all people. 8 The Lord God, which gathereth the outcaſts of Iſrael, ſaith, Yet will I gather others to him, beſides thoſe that are gathered unto him. 9 All ye beaſts of the field, come to devour, yea, all the beaſts in the foreſt. 10 His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber. 11 Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are ſhepherds that cannot underſtand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter. 12 Come ye, ſay they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill ourſelves with ſtrong drink, and to morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant.

The Exhortations in this Chapter, to the 9th Verſe, are particularly directed to the Jews under Captivity, and to the Proſelites who were joined to them; many Strangers by converſing with the Jews who were diſperſed in foreign Countries, being perſuaded to embrace their Religion. The Prophet encourages the latter to hope, that God will accept them, tho' they cannot lay Claim to the Privileges the natural Jews valued themſelves ſo much upon. God tells them, Ver. 8. that he will in due Time add many other Gentiles to his Church, and make them one Body with the Jews; which Prediction plainly relates to the Times of the Goſpel.

That keepeth the Sabbath from polluting it] The Sabbath was ordained as a Sign or Token of God's Covenant with his People; ſee Exod. xxxi. 13. Ezek. xx. 12. Whereupon the Obſervation of it was the diſtinguiſhing Character of a Jew, by which he declared himſelf a Worſhipper of the True God, who created Heaven and Earth, and inſtituted the Sabbath as a Memorial of that Creation. The keeping the Sabbath, is a Precept here more particularly mentioned, becauſe it might be obſerved under the Captivity, when many other Ceremonial Laws, particularly thoſe concerning Sacrifice, could not.

Even to them will I give in my Houſe — a Place and a Name, better than that of Sons and of Daughters, &c.] Eunuchs, mentioned in the foregoing Verſe, were forbid to enter into the Congregation of the Lord, or join themſelves with the Jews in their publick Aſſemblies, Deut. xxiii. 1. Here God tells them the Time is coming, when theſe Reſtraints ſhall be taken off; the inward Endowments of the Soul ſhall be ſufficient to give pious Perſons a Title to the Communion of Saints, and their Names ſhall be written in the Book of Life, a more laſting Remembrance than Poſterity can entitle them to. See Col. iii. 11.

All ye Beaſts of the Field come to devour, yea, all the Beaſts of the Foreſt] A new Chapter ſhould have begun here; for this is a new Prophecy, ſetting forth, in the Remainder of this, and in the following Chapter, the Sins and Miſeries which uſhered in, and ended in the Captivity: When Pharaoh Necho firſt made the Land tributary, 2 Kings xxxiii. 33. then Bands of the Chaldeans, Syrians, Ammonites, and Moabites invaded it, ibid. Ch. xxiv. 2. and at laſt Nebuchadnezzar completed its Deſtruction: Compare the Expreſſions here with Jer. xii. 9. Habak. ii. 17.

Ver. 1. THE righteous periſheth, and no man layeth it to heart; and merciful men are taken away, not conſidering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come. 2 He ſhall enter into peace: they ſhall reſt in their beds, each one walking in his uprightneſs. 3 But draw near hither, ye ſons of the ſorcereſs, the ſeed of the adulterer, and the whore. 4 Againſt whom do ye ſport yourſelves? againſt whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? are ye not the children of tranſgreſſion, a ſeed of falſhood? 5 Enflaming yourſelves with idols under every green tree, ſlaying the children in the valleys under the clifts of the rocks? 6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream is thy portion; they, they are thy lot: even to them haſt thou poured a drink-offering, thou haſt offered a meat-offering. Should I receive comfort in theſe? 7 Upon a lofty and high mountain haſt thou ſet thy bed: even thither wen eſt thou up to offer ſacrifice. 8 Behind the doo alſo and the poſts haſt thou ſet up thy remen brance: for thou haſt diſcovered thyſelf to anoth than me, and art gone up: thou haſt enlarg thy bed, and made thee a covenant with them thou lovedſt their bed where thou ſaweſt it. And thou wenteſt to the king with ointmen and didſt increaſe thy perfumes, and didſt ſe thy meſſengers afar off, and didſt debaſe thyſ even unto hell. 10 Thou art wearied in t greatneſs of thy way: yet ſaidſt thou not, The is no hope: thou haſt found the life of thi hand: therefore thou waſt not grieved. 11 A of whom haſt thou been afraid or feared, th thou haſt lied, and haſt not remembred me, n laid it to thy heart? have not I held my pea even of old, and thou feareſt not? 12 I will d clare thy righteouſneſs, and thy works, for th ſhall not profit thee. 13 When thou crieſt, thy companies deliver thee, but the wind ſh carry them all away; vanity ſhall take them: b he that putteth his truſt in me, ſhall poſſeſs t land, and ſhall inherit my holy mountain: And ſhall ſay, Caſt ye up, caſt ye up, prepa the way, take up the ſtumbling-block out of t way of my people. 15 For thus ſaith the hig and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, who name is Holy, I dwell in the high and ho place; with him alſo that is of a contrite a humble ſpirit, to revive the ſpirit of the hu ble, and to revive the heart of the contrite on 16 For I will not contend for ever, neither w I be always wroth: for the ſpirit ſhould fail b fore me, and the ſouls which I have made. For the iniquity of his covetouſneſs was I wrot and ſmote him: I hid me, and was wroth, a he went on frowardly in the way of his heart. I have ſeen his ways and will heal him: I w lead him alſo, and reſtore comforts unto hi and to his mourners. 19 I create the fruit the lips; peace, peace to him that is far off, a to him that is near, ſaith the Lord, and I w heal him. 20 But the wicked are like the tro bled ſea, when it cannot reſt, whoſe waters c up mire and dirt. 21 There is no peace, ſai my God, to the wicked.

Among the ſmooth Stones of the Stream is thy Po tion, &c.] The Words may be underſtood of the Alta built there, or Stone Pillars erected for idolatrous Wo ſhip, which they uſed to anoint with Oil, or pour o their Offerings upon them, ſuch as the Text here men tions: From whence came that Proverbial Speech, co cerning a ſuperſtitious Man, A Worſhipper of every ſtone, mentioned by Clem. Alexandrinus; who ſuppoſ theſe to be the moſt antient Monuments of Divin Worſhip, and older than the Uſe of Statues and Image for we find that Jacob, in Compliance with the the received Practice, as it is likely, ſet up a Pillar Bethel, and poured Oil upon it, Gen. xxviii. 18.

Upon a lofty and high Mountain haſt thou ſ Bed; even thither wenteſt thou up to offer S Sacrificing upon the High Places was an idolatro Practice often taken Notice of, and conſequently th Bed here mentioned, may moſt fitly be underſtood ſuch a Bed as was uſed at Feaſts, and was prepare for the Entertainment which was made with Part the Oblation. Compare Ezek. xxiii. 31. Amos ii. 8. was the Cuſtom of the Jews, as well as of the Ro mans, to lie upon Beds or Couches at their Meal ſee 1 Sam. xxviii. 23. Am. vi. 4. The ſame Cuſtom mentioned in Mark vii. 4. and in other Places of t Goſpel, where the Engliſh reads, He ſat down to Meat, it is in the Greek, he lay down.

And ſhall ſay, Caſt ye up, caſt ye up, prepare the Way, &c.] Or, It ſhall be ſaid, or Orders ſhall be given: For the Verb Active is here uſed impersonally, as is frequent in other Places. The Words imply, that God will take Care of facilitating the Return of the Faithful out of Captivity, and will remove all Impediments that may hinder their Paſſage Home, juſt as if Harbingers were to go before them, and plain the Roads for them. See Ch. xl. 3. lxii. 10.

Peace, Peace, to him that is afar off, and to him that is near] As God's Promiſes of Favour upon Repentance, mentioned in the foregoing Verſes, have a great deal of the Goſpel-Spirit in them; ſo the Peace here proclaimed cannot properly be underſtood, but of thoſe Terms of Pardon which Chriſt hath offered both to the Jew and Gentile, as St. Paul expounds the Text, Epheſ. ii. 17.

CHAP. LVIII.

The Prophet inſtructs the People how they ought to perform the Duties of Repentance and Humiliation, upon the ſolemn Times appointed for that Purpoſe.

Ver. 1. CRY aloud, ſpare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their tranſgreſſion, and the houſe of Jacob their ſins. 2 Yet they ſeek me daily, and delight to know my ways, as a nation that did righteouſneſs, and forſook not the ordinance of their God: they aſk of me the ordinances of juſtice; they take delight in approaching to God. 3 Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not? wherefore have we afflicted our ſoul, and thou takeſt no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your faſt you find pleaſure, and exact all your labours. 4 Behold, ye faſt for ſtrife and debate, and to ſmite with the fiſt of wickedneſs; ye ſhall not faſt as ye do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high. 5 Is it ſuch a faſt that I have choſen? a day for a man to afflict his ſoul? is it to bow down his head as a bulruſh, and to ſpread ſackcloth and aſhes under him? wilt thou call this a faſt, and an acceptable day to the Lord? 6 Is not this the faſt that I have choſen? to looſe the bands of wickedneſs, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppreſſed go free, and that ye break every yoke? 7 Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are caſt out, to thy houſe? when thou ſeeſt the naked, that thou cover him, and that thou hide not thyſelf from thine own flesh? 8 Then ſhall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health ſhall ſpring forth ſpeedily: and thy righteouſneſs ſhall go before thee, the glory of the Lord ſhall be thy rere-ward. 9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the Lord ſhall anſwer; thou ſhalt cry, and he ſhall ſay, Here I am: if thou take away from the midſt of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and ſpeaking vanity: 10 And if thou draw out thy ſoul to the hungry, and ſatisfy the afflicted ſoul; then ſhall thy light riſe in obſcurity, and thy darkneſs be as the noon-day. 11 And the Lord ſhall guide thee continually, and ſatisfy thy ſoul in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden, and like a ſpring of water, whoſe waters fail not. 12 And they that ſhall be of thee, ſhall build the old waſte places: thou ſhalt raiſe up the foundations of many generations; and thou ſhalt be called, the repairer of the breach, the reſtorer of paths to dwell in. 13 If thou turn away thy foot from the ſabbath, from doing thy pleaſure on my holy day, and call the ſabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honourable, and ſhalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleaſure, nor ſpeaking thine own words: 14 Then ſhalt thou delight thyſelf in the Lord, and I will cauſe thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father; for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

Behold in the Day of your Faſts you find Pleaſure, and you exact all your Labours] Or, as the Words may more ſignificantly be render'd, Ye find wherewithal to pleaſe yourſelves, and you are rigorous in grieving, or burdening others. You gratify your own Paſſions, eſpecially your Covetouſneſs, and you oppreſs the Poor, and are ſo defective in the Duties both of Juſtice and Charity, as it follows.

Ye ſhall not faſt as you do this Day, to make your Voice to be heard on high] The Prophet ſeems to have made this Diſcourſe upon ſome extraordinary Day of Humiliation, when it was uſual for the Prophets to make publick Exhortations to the People; ſee Jer. xxxvi. 6. And he tells them in this Verſe, that their Faſts ought not to be like this which they now kept, which conſiſted only in being noiſy in the Worſhip of God, as if their outward Vehemency would make their Prayers reach to Heaven; whereas it was ſincere and inward Piety alone which gave Acceſs to the Throne of Grace. Solemn Humiliations are elſewhere expreſſed by Crying unto the Lord, Joel i. 14. and Crying mightily unto God, Jon. iii. 8.

Is not this the Faſt that I have choſen? To looſe the Bands of Wickedneſs, &c.] It is a common Phraſeology of Scripture, to expreſs the Preference of one Thing before another, by Terms which expreſs the rejecting of that which is leſs worthy. So when God ſaith, I will have Mercy and not Sacrifice, Hoſ. vi. 6. the Meaning is, that Mercy is to be preferred before Sacrifice. Juſt thus the Prophet ſpeaks of Faſting here, as a Thing in itſelf of little or no Uſe (tho' elſewhere God expreſly enjoins it both in the Old and New Teſtament; ſee Levit. xxiii. 29. Matt. ix. 15.) to ſhew how much Mercy is to be preferred, without which Faſting will not avail any Thing.

The putting forth of the Finger] The Expreſſion probably alludes to ſome Geſture they uſed in their Converſation, whether of mocking or threatning others. Or it may ſignify any the leaſt Attempt toward invading the Right of others. Compare Chap. lix. 3. Pſ. cxxv. 3. To put forth the Hand unto Iniquity, is to offer at ſomething which is not conſiſtent with Righteouſneſs or Juſtice.

If thou turn away thy Foot from my Sabbath, &c.] If thou abſtain from following thy own Ways and Pleaſure on the Sabbath, the Day dedicated to my Service. From hence it appears, that the Precept of keeping the Sabbath holy, did not enjoin merely a bodily Reſt; but implied likewiſe ſetting the Day apart for the Services of Religion. Why the Prophet lays ſuch Streſs upon keeping the Sabbath-Day, ſee Note on Ch. lvi. 2. Compare likewiſe Jer. xvii. 21, 22, &c.

CHAP. LIX.

God's Power ſtill ſufficient for the Salvation of his People.

Ver. 1. BEhold, the Lords hand is not ſhortened, that it cannot ſave: neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear. 2 But your iniquities have ſeparated between you and your God, and your ſins have hid his face from you, that that he will not hear. 3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity, your lips have ſpoken lies, your tongue hath muttered perverſeneſs. 4 None calleth for juſtice, nor any pleadeth for truth: they truſt in vanity, and ſpeak lies; they conceive miſchief, and bring forth iniquity. 5 They hatch cockatrice-eggs, and weave the ſpiders web: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is cruſhed breaketh out into a viper. 6 Their webs ſhall not become garments, neither ſhall they cover themſelves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands. 7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haſte to ſhed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity, waſting and deſtruction are in their paths. 8 The way of peace they know not, and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whoſoever goeth therein, ſhall not know peace. 9 Therefore is judgment far from us, neither doth juſtice overtake us; we wait for light, but behold obſcurity; for brightneſs, but we walk in darkneſs. 10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we ſtumble at noon-day as in the night; we are in deſolate places as dead men. 11 We roar all like bears, and mourn ſore like doves: we look for judgment, but there is none; for ſalvation, but it is far off from us. 12 For our tranſgreſſions are multiplied before thee, and our ſins teſtify againſt us: for our tranſgreſſions are with us, and as for our iniquities, we know them: 13 In tranſgreſſing and lying againſt the Lord, and departing away from our God, ſpeaking oppreſſion and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falſhood. 14 And judgment is turned away backward, and juſtice ſtandeth afar off: for truth is fallen in the ſtreet, and equity cannot enter. 15 Yea, truth faileth; and he that departeth from evil maketh himſelf a prey: and the Lord ſaw it, and it diſpleaſed him that there was no judgment. 16 And he ſaw that there was no man, and wondred that there was no interceſſor: therefore his arm brought ſalvation unto him, and his righteouſneſs, it ſuſtained him. 17 For he put on righteouſneſs as a breaſt-plate, and an helmet of ſalvation upon his head; and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a cloak. 18 According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adverſaries, recompenſe to his enemies, to the iſlands he will repay recompenſe. 19 So ſhall they fear the name of the Lord from the weſt, and his glory from the riſing of the ſun: when the enemy ſhall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord ſhall lift up a ſtandard againſt him. 20 And the redeemer ſhall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from tranſgreſſion in Jacob, ſaith the Lord. 21 As for me, this is my covenant with them, ſaith the Lord, My Spirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeeds ſeed, ſaith the Lord, from henceforth and for ever.

And he ſaw that there was no Man, and he wondered that there was no Interceſſor, therefore his Arm brought Salvation to him] The Words are parallel with thoſe of Ezekiel, Ch. xxii. 30. I ſought for a Man among them that ſhould make up the Hedge, and ſtand in the Gap before me for the Land — but I find none: To the ſame Purpoſe God ſaith here, That it was juſt Matter of Wonder, that ſcarce a righteous Man could be found that might intercede with him by his Prayers, for averting the Divine Judgments. Compare Ch. lxiv. 7. when Things were come to this paſs, he wrought for his own Name's Sake, and was reſolved to exert his Power for the Delivery of his People, not out of any Regard to their Merits, but purely for his own Honour, and to make good his former Promiſes. Compare Ch. lxiii. 5.

And the Redeemer ſhall come to Zion] This and the following Verſe are expounded by St. Paul of that general Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, which he aſſures us ſhall come to paſs in the latter Times; ſee Rom. xi. 26, 27. Compare Obad. Ver. 17, 21. And the Words of the foregoing Verſe, which ſpeak of God's Name being feared from one End of the World to the other, do plainly look that Way, as alſo the following Chapter.

My Spirit which is upon thee, and my Words which I have put into thy Mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy Mouth, &c.] This muſt be underſtood of Chriſt, the great Prophet and Oracle of the Church, who came from Heaven to declare unto us the whole Counſel of God, and whom we are to hear and obey in all Things. Compare Ch. lxi. 1. li. 16. The Words contain a Promiſe to the Church, his ſpiritual Children (compare Ch. viii.) of being guided by God's Spirit into all Truth, and that this Spirit ſhall continue with them for ever. Which Promiſe ſhall receive its utmoſt Completion when God's People ſhall be all righteous, and ſhall be taught of him. Ch. lx. 22. liv. 13.

CHAP. LX.

The Glory of the Church in the abundant Acceſs of the Gentiles; and the great Bleſſings after a ſhort Affliction.

Ver. 1. ARiſe, ſhine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee. 2 For, behold, the darkneſs ſhall cover the earth, and groſs darkneſs the people: but the Lord ſhall ariſe upon thee, and his glory ſhall be ſeen upon thee. 3 And the Gentiles ſhall come to thy light, and kings to the brightneſs of thy riſing. 4 Lift up thine eyes round about, and ſee; all they gather themſelves together, they come to thee, thy ſons ſhall come from far, and thy daughters ſhall be nurſed at thy ſide. 5 Then thou ſhalt ſee and flow together, and thine heart ſhall fear, and be enlarged; becauſe the abundance of the ſea ſhall be converted unto thee, the forces of the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee. 6 The multitude of camels ſhall cover thee: the dromedaries of Midian and Ephah: all they from Sheba ſhall come: they ſhall bring gold and incenſe, and they ſhall ſhew forth the praiſes of the Lord. 7 All the flocks of Kedar ſhall be gathered together unto thee, the rams of Nebaioth ſhall miniſter unto thee: they ſhall come up with acceptance on mine altar, and I will glorify the houſe of my glory. 8 Who are theſe that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows? 9 Surely the iſles ſhall wait for me, and the ſhips of Tarſhiſh firſt, to bring thy ſons from far, their ſilver and their gold with them, unto the name of the Lord thy God: and to the holy One of Iſrael, becauſe he hath glorified thee. 10 And the ſons of ſtrangers ſhall build up thy walls, and their kings ſhall miniſter unto thee: for in my wrath

I ſmote thee, but in my favour have I had mercy on thee. 11 Therefore thy gates ſhall be open continually, they ſhall not be ſhut day nor night, that men may bring unto thee the forces of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought. 12 For the nation and kingdom that will not ſerve thee, ſhall periſh: yea thoſe nations ſhall be utterly waſted. 13 The glory of Lebanon ſhall come unto thee, the fir-tree, the pine-tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my ſanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious. 14 The ſons alſo of them that afflicted thee, ſhall come bending unto thee; and all they that deſpiſed thee ſhall bow themſelves down at the ſoles of thy feet; and they ſhall call thee, The city of the Lord, the Zion of the holy One of Iſrael. 15 Whereas thou haſt been forſaken and hated, ſo that no man went through thee, I will make thee an eternal excellency, a joy of many generations. 16 Thou ſhalt alſo ſuck the milk of the Gentiles, and ſhalt ſuck the breaſt of kings, and thou ſhalt know that I the Lord am thy ſaviour and thy redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob. 17 For braſs I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring ſilver, and for wood braſs, and for ſtones iron: I will alſo make thy officers peace, and thine exactors righteouſneſs. 18 Violence ſhall no more be heard in thy land, waſting nor deſtruction within thy borders; but thou ſhalt call thy walls ſalvation, and thy gates praiſe. 19 The ſun ſhall be no more thy light by day, neither for brightneſs ſhall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord ſhall be unto thee an everlaſting light, and thy God thy glory. 20 Thy ſun ſhall no more go down, neither ſhall the moon withdraw itſelf: for the Lord ſhall be thine everlaſting light, and the days of thy mourning ſhall be ended. 21 Thy people alſo ſhall be all righteous: they ſhall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified. 22 A little one ſhall become a thouſand, and a ſmall one a ſtrong nation: I the Lord will haſten it in his time.

We may ſuppoſe, ſays Lowth, the Grand Work of the Prophecies, contained in this and the two following Chapters, to be the Jews Reſtoration from Captivity; but any diſcerning Reader may eaſily be ſatisfied, that the Prophet takes Occaſion from thence to deſcribe the Glories of Chriſt's Kingdom, which began upon the firſt Publication of the Goſpel, but will not be compleated till the Fulneſs of the Jews and Gentiles are come into the Church; which is the general Subject of the Prophecies which follow to the End of the Book.

Ariſe, ſhine, for thy Light is come, and the Glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee] It is an uſual Metaphor to deſcribe Happineſs by Light, and Affliction by Darkneſs. So Jeruſalem is bid here to ariſe from the Ground or the Duſt, where her Afflictions had laid her low, and like the Morning Star, or Sun, to give Light to all about her, and communicate to others Part of that Honour and Luſtre which ſhe hath received from God, the true Sun of Righteouſneſs. Compare Mal. iv. 2.

All they gather themſelves unto thee, they come to thee, thy Sons ſhall come from far, and thy Daughters ſhall be nurſed at thy Side] The Prophet deſcribes the Fulneſs of the Church by the Gentiles coming into it, and bringing the diſperſed Remainder of the Jews along with them, whom they are ſaid to take the same Care of in their Journey, as a Nurſe does of a ſucking Child. For to that Senſe, I think, ſays Lowth, the laſt Words of the Verſe ſhould be render'd; And thy Daughters ſhall be nurſed at their Side. Compare Ch. xlix. 22. Deut. i. 31.

Then thou ſhalt ſee, and flow together, and thy Heart ſhall fear, and be enlarged] Thy Joy ſhall break out upon thee like an over-flowing River; and the ſudden Tranſports of it ſhall produce an Aſtoniſhment, like that which ariſeth from the Impreſſions of Fear: For which Reaſon the Effects of one Paſſion are aſcribed to the other. The Prophet Jeremiah uſeth the ſame Metaphor, Ch. xxxiii. 9. They ſhall fear and tremble for all the Goodneſs, and all the Proſperity that I procure unto it.

Becauſe the Abundance of the Sea ſhall be converted unto thee] A Multitude of People is compared to many Waters, Ch. xvii. 12. Rev. xvii. 15. or the Words may be underſtood of the Multitude of thoſe that came from the Sea, as if the Sea had tranſported all its Paſſengers hither; ſee Ver. 9. Others explain it of the Riches which are brought by Sea, and dedicated to God's Service; ſee Ver. 6. in which Senſe the Word Hamon is uſed, Eccluſ. v. 10. and ſo the Septuagint here underſtand it. The following Words explain this of the Fulneſs of the Gentiles coming into the Church.

All the Flocks of Kedar ſhall come unto thee, the Rams of Nebaioth ſhall miniſter unto thee] Kedar and Nebaioth were two Sons of Iſhmael, who ſetled themſelves in Arabia; ſee Gen. xxv. 13. their Subſtance did chiefly conſiſt in their Cattle, with which they travelled from one Place to another, according as they could find Paſture: See Judg. vi. 5.

They ſhall come up with Acceptance to mine Altar] This may in ſome meaſure be underſtood of the Offerings brought out of the neighbouring Countries to the ſecond Temple. But the whole Scope of the Chapter plainly regards the Coming of the Gentiles into the Church, and dedicating Part of their Subſtance to the Service of God: Nor is this Expreſſion a Demonſtration to the contrary, as Mr. White too confidently pronounces, in as much as nothing is more uſual, than for the Prophets to deſcribe the State of the Chriſtian Church, by Repreſentations taken from the Jewiſh Temple and Service.

And the Ships of Tarſhiſh firſt, to bring thy Sons from far, their Silver and their Gold with them] Ships of Tarſhiſh mean any Ships of Trade or Commerce: Theſe the Text ſaith, ſhall be principally ſubſervient to God's Deſign in bringing the Sons of Sion (which taken in a myſtical Senſe, is the Mother of all Believers, Gal. iv. 26.) from diſtant Countries, who will bring their Freewill-Offerings and religious Acknowledgments along with them; ſee Ver. 6. The Words are an Alluſion to the Law, which enjoined, that none ſhould appear empty before the Lord, at the Times of the ſolemn Feſtivals, Deut. xvi. 16. To which Cuſtom of going up to Jeruſalem at thoſe ſolemn Times, the Expreſſions, ſo often found in the Prophets, allude, of the Gentiles ſeeking after the Lord, of their going up to Jeruſalem, and the like.

Whereas thou haſt been forſaken and hated, ſo that no Man went through thee, I will make thee an eternal Excellency, &c.] This may, in the firſt Senſe, be fitly applied to Jeruſalem, which during the Captivity lay deſolate, and was the Subject of Scorn and Reproach to all her Neighbours, Lam. ii. 15. but afterward recovered ſome Degree of her antient Glory. And may be applied to the Church and Nation of the Jews, whenever God ſhall pleaſe to reſtore them, after their having been ſo long rejected by him; compare Ch. lxi. 4, 7. But ſome of the Expreſſions uſed in this Verſe, as well as the Context, do plainly look farther, that tho' the Profeſſors of Chriſtianity, in ſeveral Ages and Places, have been the Subject of Mens Scorn and Contempt (ſee Matt. x. 22. Luke vi. 22.) and the Church itſelf is to continue for ſome Ages in a mournful and ſackcloth Condition; ſee Rev. xi. 3. yet it ſhall at laſt ſurmount all theſe Difficulties, and be placed out of the Reach of the Malice of its Enemies.

A little one ſhall become a thouſand, &c.] This glorious Kingdom of Chriſt ſhall take its Riſe from ſmall Begin-Beginnings: So Daniel describes Christ's Kingdom as a Stone, which in Process of Time became a great Mountain and filled the whole Earth, Dan. ii. 35. which will be verified in God's due Time.

Ver. 1. THE Spirit of the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek, he hath sent me to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound: 2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourn: 3 To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. 4 And they shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations. 5 And strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the alien shall be your plowmen, and your vine-dressers. 6 But ye shall be named the priests of the Lord: men shall call you the ministers of our God: ye shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory shall you boast yourselves. 7 For your shame you shall have double; and for confusion they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be unto them. 8 For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt-offering, and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them. 9 And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their off-spring among the people: all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed. 10 I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God, for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels. 11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth: so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me] Anointing denotes some extraordinary Gift or Grace bestowed upon Men by God, because the three great Offices of King, Priest, and Prophet, were conferred by this Ceremony. The Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the human Nature of our Saviour, supplied this external Unction (see Acts x. 38.) and qualified him for the Office of a Prophet beyond all others that were before him, because he had the Spirit given to him without Measure, John iii. 34. and in this Respect was anointed with the Oil of Gladness above his Fellows. We have Christ's own Authority for applying this Text to himself, Luke iv. 18.

And the Day of Vengeance of our God] Mr. White observes, that our Saviour takes no Notice of this Passage, in his Recital of this Prophecy, Luke iv. 18. from whence he concludes, that he is no way concerned in it. It was not, indeed, says Lowth, the Business of Christ's first Coming, to take Vengeance of his Enemies, and for that Reason he might not mention it at his first Entrance upon his Office; tho' we find in several of his Discourses, he threatened the Jews with Destruction, for their rejecting him; see Matt. xxi. 43, 44. xxii. 7. xxiii. 26. and he calls the Destruction of Jerusalem the Days of Vengeance, Luke xxi. 22. the very Expression of the Text; which does most properly belong to his second Coming, when he will not only reward his Servants, but justify their Innocence, by the terrible Judgments he will inflict on his and their Enemies: Compare Ch. xxxiv. 8. lxiii. 4. lxvi. 14. Deut. xxxii. 36, 43. Jer. li. 9, 10. Mal. iv. 3. Luke xix. 27. 2 Thess. i. 6, 7.

And in their Glory shall ye boast yourselves] All that Cost and Riches, which the Gentile Converts shall dedicate to the Service of God, shall redound to your Honour, and the Glory of that Religion which you teach and profess. Compare Ch. lx. 5, 6, 16. lxvi. 12. Rev. xxi. 24.

But, says Lowth, I must not conceal an ingenious Exposition of these two Verses (5 and 6) communicated to me by a learned Friend, to this Purpose. First of all (so he interprets And in the Beginning of the 5th Verse) the Gentiles shall minister, and feed the Flock, i. e. the Church; whose Office is likewise expressed here, by their being Plow-men and Vine-dressers; as the Church is called God's Vineyard, Ch. v. 7. and Believers, his Husbandry or Tillage, 1 Cor. iii. 9. Afterward (so he explains the Copulative Particle Vau at the Beginning of the 6th Verse; in which Sense it is sometimes taken; see 2 Kings iv. 35. Ps. xci. 16.) you Jews shall be converted, and become Ministers of the Church, and the Gentiles shall make a plentiful Provision for you, as the Priests under the Law were maintained by the Sacrifices and Offerings which were brought to the Temple: And yourselves have been made Partakers of the Grace and Knowledge, for which the Gentiles so much value themselves, you shall become the glorious Instruments of converting the Remainder of them, who as yet continue in Unbelief; see Ch. lxvi. 19, 20.

Therefore in their Lord shall they possess their double] This double Hunour and Reward mentioned in the foregoing Sentence. As the First-born had a double Share in his Father's Estate, Deut. xxi. 17. So the Jews, when converted to the Christian Faith, shall recover their Birthright which they had forfeited by their Infidelity, as Esau did, and be esteemed the First-born or elder Brethren, in the Church of God. Accordingly some learned Men, who expound the Elders in the Revelations of the Jewish Believers, observe, that in those Visions of the Church which relate to the Times antecedent to the general Conversion of the Jews, the Elders are placed after the four living Creatures, as having lost their Dignity and Precedency. See Rev. v. 8, 11. xiv. 3.

CHAP. LXII.

Ver. 1. FOR Zions sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth. 2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. 3 Thou shalt also be a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God. 4 Thou shalt no more be termed, Forsaken; neither shall thy land any more be termed, Desolate: but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land, Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married. 5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sons marry marry thee: and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, ſo ſhall thy God rejoice over thee. 6 I have ſet watchmen upon thy walls, O Jeruſalem, which ſhall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not ſilence; 7 And give him no reſt, till he eſtabliſh, and till he make Jeruſalem a praiſe in the earth. 8 The Lord hath ſworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his ſtrength, Surely, I will no more give thy corn to be meat for thine enemies, and the ſons of the ſtranger ſhall not drink thy wine, for the which thou haſt laboured: 9 But they that have gathered it, ſhall eat it, and praiſe the Lord; and they that have brought it together, ſhall drink it in the courts of my holineſs. 10 Go through, go through the gates; prepare you the way of the people, caſt up, caſt up the high-way, gather up the ſtones, lift up a ſtandard for the people. 11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the world, Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Behold, thy ſalvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. 12 And they ſhall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord: and thou ſhalt be called, Sought out, a city not forſaken.

Thou ſhalt alſo be a Crown of Glory in the Hand of the Lord, &c.] Or rather, By the Hand (or Power) of the Lord. A Crown being the moſt glorious Part of the Royal Attire, whatever is moſt precious, honourable, or ornamental, is ſignified by that Name. See Jer. xxxi. 36. Zech. ix. 16. 1 Theſſ. ii. 19. or the Phraſe may mean, that God will make Jeruſalem his Bride; ſee the following Verſe, and Ch. xli. 10. For it was a Cuſtom to put a Crown upon the Heads of the Bride and Bridegroom at the Time of their Marriage: See Cant. iii. 11. Ezek. xvi. 8 — 12.

Thou ſhalt no more be termed Forſaken, neither ſhall thy Land any more be termed Deſolate: But thou ſhalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy Land Beulah, &c.] The Covenant Relation between God and his People, is repreſented by his being their Huſband: See Ch. liv. 5. Jer. iii. 15. This Title includes both Love and Protection: But when God forſook them, and delivered them up to their Enemies, this was a Sort of divorcing himſelf from them, which is implied in the Word Azubah, Forſaken: See Ch. xlix. 14. liv. 6. And when the Land lay deſolate, it was in a State of Widowhood; ſee Ch. liv. 1. But now God ſaith, he will renew his former Love towards them, and take Delight in them, as a Bridegroom doth in his Bride, Ver. 5. their Land ſhall be married to him again, and no longer be a State of Widowhood and Deſolation, but inhabited and repleniſhed with People; for ſo the Septuagint tranſlate the Word Tibbael: See the following Verſe.

The Lord hath ſworn by his Right-hand — Surely I will no more give thy Corn to be Meat for thine Enemies, &c.] Lifting up the Hand was a Ceremony uſed in ſwearing; ſee Deut. xxxii. 40. Ezek. xx. 5, 15. And here God ſwears by that very Hand which uſes to be lifted up at the taking of an Oath; i. e. by his Power and Might, as it follows, that the Enemies of his People ſhould never interrupt that Peace and Plenty which he gives them, but they ſhould quietly enjoy his Bleſſings with Hearts full of Thankfulneſs for them. This muſt relate to ſome happier Condition of the Jews, enjoyed after their Return from Captivity, when their Enemies frequently invaded them, and at laſt the Romans deſtroyed both their Temple and Nation. And the Oath which uſhers in this Promiſe, proves, that it will be exactly and punctually performed.

Go through the Gates, prepare you the Way of the People, &c.] The Prophet relying upon God's Oath, Ver. 8. ſpeaks of the general Reſtoration of the Jews, as if it were actually a doing; and exhorts thoſe Nations, thro' whoſe Territories they were to paſs in their Return Homeward, to go out of their Cities, and repair the Roads, raiſing Cauſeways in the lower Grounds, and levelling the rough and ſtony Places. Compare Ch. xl. 3. lvii. 14. By this Figure the Prophet ſignifies a Removal of all Obſtacles which might hinder their Return.

CHAP. LXIII.

Chriſt's Victory over his Enemies; his Mercy towards his Church. The Church in her Prayer and Complaint, profeſſes her Faith.

Ver. 1. WHO is this that cometh from Edom, with died garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength? I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave. 2 Wherefore art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine-fat? 3 I have troden the wine-preſs alone, and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury, and their blood ſhall be ſprinkled upon my garments, and I will ſtain all my raiment: 4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the year of my redeemed is come. 5 And I looked, and there was none to help; and I wondred that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought ſalvation unto me, and my fury, it upheld me. 6 And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their ſtrength to the earth. 7 I will mention the loving-kindneſſes of the Lord, and the praiſes of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath beſtowed on us, and the great goodneſs towards the houſe of Iſrael, which he hath beſtowed on them, according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving-kindneſſes. 8 For he ſaid, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: ſo he was their ſaviour. 9 In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his preſence ſaved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them, and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old. 10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought againſt them. 11 Then he remembred the days of old, Moſes and his people, ſaying, Where is he that brought them up out of the ſea: with the ſhepherd of his flock? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him? 12 That led them by the right hand of Moſes, with his glorious arm, dividing the water before them, to make himſelf an everlaſting name? 13 That led them through the deep, as an horſe in the wilderneſs, that they ſhould not ſtumble? 14 As a beaſt goeth down into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord cauſed him to reſt: ſo didſt thou lead thy people, to make thyſelf a glorious name. 15 Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of thy holineſs and of thy glory: where is thy zeal and thy ſtrength, the ſounding of thy bowels, and of thy mercies towards me? are they reſtrained? 16 Doubtleſs thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Iſrael acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer, thy name is from everlaſting.

ing. 17 O Lord, why haſt thou made us to err from thy ways; and hardened our heart from thy fear? Return for thy ſervants ſake, the tribes of thine inheritance. 18 The people of thy holineſs have poſſeſſed it but a little while: our adverſaries have troden down thy ſanctuary. 19 We are thine, thou never bareſt rule over them, they were not called by thy name.

The three laſt Chapters contained a Deſcription of the glorious State of the Church in the latter Days, when it ſhould be enlarged by the Converſion of the Jews, and the Fulneſs of the Gentiles. Now the Prophet comes to deſcribe the Day of Vengeance, mentioned Ch. xli. 2. The Beginning of the Chapter is by way of Dialogue between the Prophet or the Church, and Chriſt, where the Latter is deſcribed as returning in Triumph from the Slaughter of his Enemies; which ſeems to be much the ſame Scene which was repreſented Ch. xxxiv. See likewiſe Joel iii. 12, 13, 14. Then follow, from the 7th Verſe of this Chapter, to the End of the ivth, devout Meditations upon God's former Mercies to his People, mixed with Expoſtulations for his forſaking them, and caſting them off, and humble Acknowledgments of their Sins, which deſerved ſuch Treatment.

Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed Garments from Bozra] The Idumeans joined with the Enemies of the Jews, in bringing on the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem at the Time of the Captivity; for which they are ſeverely reproved by the Prophets, and threatned with utter Exciſion. See Pſ. cxxxvii. 7. Obad. Ver. 10, &c. Ezek. xxv. 12. which accordingly came to paſs; ſee Mal. i. 3. But it's uſual for the Prophets to denote the Enemies of the Church in general, by the Name of ſome Country, remarkable for its Hatred towards the Jewiſh Nation, as the Idumeans were.

And the Prophet ſeems to take a Hint from ſome remarkable Calamity that befel the Edomites, to deſcribe ſome more general Judgment, that ſhould be inflicted on the Enemies of God's Church and Truth. See Note on Ch. xxxiv. 5, 6. where Edom and Bozra may be taken in the appellative Senſe, ſo as to denote in general a Field of Blood, or Place of Slaughter. The Word Edom ſignifies originally red as Blood, and Bozra denotes a Vintage, which in the prophetical Idiom imports God's Vengeance upon the Wicked. See Lam. i. 15. Joel iii. 13. Rev. xiv. 19. xix. 15. The Prophets often apply the Names of Places to the Subject Matter they are treating of: So Joel iii. 15. the Nations are ſummoned to the Valley of Jehoſhaphat, becauſe the Word Jehoſhaphat ſignifies God's Judgment. Again, Hoſ. i. 5, 11. The Valley of Jezreel, and the Day of Jezreel, are an Alluſion to the Etymology of the Word Jezreel, which ſignifies the Arm of God, or the Seed of God. See likewiſe Mic. i. 10, 14. and Ch. lxv. 11, 12. of this Prophecy.

I, that ſpeak in Righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave] This is Chriſt's Anſwer to the foregoing Queſtion: I am now come to fulfil all my Promiſes, and deliver you from your Enemies. Several Parts of the Prophetick Books are written in the Form of a Dramatick Poem, where ſeveral Perſons are introduced ſpeaking by Turns, and anſwering one another: So, for Example, Ch. lxi. Chriſt is introduced at the Beginning of the Chapter making gracious Promiſes to the Church; to which the Church anſwers, with ſuitable Returns of Joy and Thankſulneſs, Ver. 10. So the Song of Solomon is a divine Dialogue between the Bridegroom, the Spouſe, and a Chorus of Virgins; and in the Revelations Chriſt is often introduced as ſpeaking in that ſacred Drama. This Obſervation will ſometimes account for the altering of the Prophet's Style from the firſt, to the ſecond, or third Perſon.

Wherefore art thou red in thine Apparel? &c.] The Dialogue is ſtill continued, and this Queſtion is propoſed by the Church, or the Prophet in her Name. Chriſt, in like Manner, is deſcribed as cloathed in a Garment dipped in Blood, Rev. xix. 13.

In all their Affliction he was afflicted] When th was a Neceſſity of puniſhing them in order to their mendment, he had a compaſſionate Senſe of the E which they ſuffered. See Deut. xxxii. 36. Judg. x. Pſ. cvi. 44, 45. The Hebrew Copies have a differ Reading here; the Text reads Lo, with an Ale which ſignifies not, and the Margin reads Lo wit Vau, which ſignifies Him; our Tranſlation follows marginal Reading, the Septuagint that of the Te and joining the latter Part of the 8th Verſe with 9th, they tranſlate the whole Period very agreeably the preſent Hebrew Text thus, He was their Savi out of all their Trouble: It was not a Meſſenger, an Angel, but himſelf, delivered them: Which Tr ſlation agrees very well with the Senſe of the Origi as will appear by the following Note.

And the Angel of his Preſence ſaved them] T Angel, who conducted them by the Pillar of Cloud of Fire, was no other than the Logos, or Second Pe of the Bleſſed Trinity, according to the Senſe of antient Jews, as Dr. Allix has proved at large. T Divine Perſon is indeed ſometimes called an Angel, Exod. xiv. 19. but at other Times the incommuni ble Name of Jehovah is given to him. So Exod. 21. it is ſaid expreſly, That the Lord went before People in a Pillar of Cloud by Day, and of Fire Night: Compare Exod. xiv. 24. In the ſame B God ſaith of him, That his Name is in him, i. e. Godhead, Ch. xxiii. 21. Again he is called God's P ſence, Exod. xxxiii. 14. an Expreſſion parallel to of the Text. So Deut. iv. 37. we read, God c their Seed after them, and brought them out by PRESENCE; for ſo the Hebrew Bepanau plai ſignifies: But our Tranſlators have made no Senſe all of the Place, by rendering it, And brought thee in his Sight. God, to ſhew his Anger for the Sin the Golden Calf, threatens the People that he wo not lead them himſelf, but only ſend his Angel them, Exod. xxxiii. 2, 3. At this the People w much diſheartened, Ver. 4. and Moſes earneſtly in cedes with God, that the Divine Preſence might accompany them, Ver. 15. i. e. that God would c tinue to go before them in the Pillar of Cloud of Fire. According to this Interpretation, St. Paul ſa that the Jews tempted Chriſt in the Wilderneſs, 1 C x. 9. meaning the Logos, who, after his aſſuming man Nature, was Chriſt. When the Tabernacle ſet up, the Shekinah, or Token of God's Preſen took up his Reſidence over the Ark, Numb. vii. and the Cloud covered the Top of the Taberna Exod. xl. 34, 38. And then the Lord is ſaid to c down in the Pillar of Cloud, Numb. xii. 5. and ſole Adoration is paid to him, when this Symbol of Divine Preſence appeared, Exod. xxxiii. 10. Nu xvi. 19, 22. All theſe Circumſtances laid toget prove that the Perſon, who led the People thro' Wilderneſs, could be no created Being, tho' he ſometimes called an Angel, becauſe he took upon the Office and Miniſtry of Angels, as he after took upon him the Form of a Servant. But in Text, he is ſtiled in a diſtinguiſhing Manner, Angel of God's Preſence; and in Malachi, the Ange the Covenant, Mal. iii. 1. for ſo the Words ſhould tranſlated.

O Lord, why haſt thou made us to err from thy Wa The Words might better have been rendered, Why thou ſuffered us to err from thy Ways? For the He called Hiphil in Hebrew often denotes only Permiſ and is elſewhere rendered to that Senſe by our Tran tors: So Pſ. cxix. 10. O let me not wander [or wrong] from thy Commandments. Where the Ver in Hiphil: And again, Prov. x. 3. The Lord will ſuffer the Soul of the Righteous to famiſh; where Verb is in the ſame Form. Thus we are to underſt the ſame kind of Expreſſion, Pſ. cxli. 4. Incline not Heart to any evil Thing: So our new Tranſlation r ders the Verb; but the old one tranſlates it much b ter, O let not my Heart be inclined to any evil Thing. the ſame Senſe that Expreſſion of Jeremiah is to be ftood, Ch. iv. 10. Thou haſt greatly deceived this ople, i. e. ſuffered them to be deceived by falſe Pro-ets. To the ſame Senſe many Interpreters under-nd thoſe Words of Ezekiel, Ch. xiv. 9. I the Lord ve deceived that Prophet. And in general we may bſerve, the Scripture generally ſpeaks of what is per-itted by Providence, as if it were directed by it. To ve but one Inſtance out of many; God is ſaid to move Davi to number the People, 2 Sam. xxiv. 1. whereas it ppears, by comparing the Text with 1 Chron. xxi. 1. e only permitted Satan to move him to it.

We are thine, thou never bareſt Rule over them, &c.] he Words might better be rendered, We are thine f old, thou haſt not ruled over them, &c. Menolam, ld, is uſed in the ſame Senſe, Ver. 16. where our gliſh reads, Thy Name is from Everlaſting: The enſe is, Thy Name is called upon us, ſo the Septua-int underſtand it; or, Thou art called the God of brabam, or of Iſrael from antient Times; and there-re we humbly beg thee not to caſt us off utterly, hilſt thou makeſt thyſelf known to the Gentiles, ho till of late were never thy People, nor in Cove-nt with thee: See Ch. lxvi. 1. The Word [Thine] ot in the Hebrew; ſo ſome render the Verſe thus, e have been a great while [as] thoſe over whom thou dſt not bear Rule, nor were they called by thy Name. hou haſt rejected us altogether, and doſt degrade us, if we never had any Relation to thee, nor ever were lled thy People: Which Senſe agrees very well with e preſent Condition of the Jewiſh Nation, which th continued for many Ages without King, or Prince, Sacrifice, as the Prophet Hoſea foretold, Hoſ. iii. 4.

CHAP. LXIV.

1 OH that thou wouldeſt rent the hea-vens, that thou wouldeſt come own, that the mountains might flow down at y preſence, 2 As when the melting fire burn-h, the fire cauſeth the waters to boil, to make y name known to thine adverſaries, that the na-ons may tremble at thy preſence. 3 When ou didſt terrible things which we looked not for, ou cameſt down, the mountains flowed down at y preſence. 4 For ſince the beginning of the orld men have not heard, nor perceived by the r, neither hath the eye ſeen, O God, beſides ee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth r him. 5 Thou meeteſt him that rejoiceth, d worketh righteouſneſs, thoſe that remember ee in thy ways: behold, thou art wroth, for e have ſinned: in thoſe is continuance, and we all be ſaved. 6 But we are all as an unclean ing, and all our righteouſneſſes are as filthy gs, and we all do fade as a leaf, and our ini-ities, like the wind, have taken us away. 7 nd there is none that calleth upon thy name, at ſtirreth up himſelf to take hold of thee: for ou haſt hid thy face from us, and haſt con-med us, becauſe of our iniquities. 8 But now, Lord, thou art our father: we are the clay, d thou our potter, and we all are the work of y hand. 9 Be not wroth very ſore, O Lord, ither remember iniquity for ever: behold, ſee beſeech thee, we are all thy people. 10 Thy y cities are a wilderneſs, Zion is a wilderneſs, uſalem a deſolation. 11 Our holy and our autiful houſe, where our fathers praiſed thee, burnt up with fire: and all our pleaſant things laid waſte. 12 Wilt thou refrain thyſelf for ſe things, O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace, d afflict us very ſore?

O that thou wouldeſt rent the Heavens, that thou wouldeſt come down] The Prayer, begun Ch. lxiii. 15. is continued throughout this Chapter, in the Name of the Church and People of the Jews, as languiſhing and diſconſolate under the long Rejection they at preſent ſuffer; and the Chapter begins with an earneſt Wiſh that God would ſhew himſelf as viſibly in Favour of his antient People, as he did when he came down upon Mount Sinai, when Thunder, and Lightning, and Tempeſts, that ſhook Heaven and Earth, did teſtify his Preſence: See Exod. xix. 16, 18.

Behold thou art wroth, for we have ſinned; in thoſe is Continuance, and we ſhall be ſaved] We have been guilty of great Offences, whereby we have provoked thine Anger, but thy Mercies endure for ever, and thy gracious Promiſes are ſtill the ſame; and this encourages us ſtill to truſt in thy Goodneſs. Compare Mal. iii. 6. The Pronoun [thoſe] refers to God's Ways, by which we may underſtand not only his Laws, but likewiſe the Diſpenſations of his Providence. Compare Ch. lv. 9. Exod. xxxiii. 13. Pſ. ciii. 7. But the latter Part of the Verſe may be thus tranſlated, Behold, thou art wroth, becauſe we have ſinned continually againſt thoſe [Ways] and ſhall we be ſaved?

All our Righteouſneſſes are as filthy Rags] The beſt Actions of the beſt Men have a great Alloy of Imperfection. When the Hebrew Language would expreſs the moſt excellent in its Kind, it makes Uſe of the Plural Number: Thus Wiſdoms ſignifies the moſt Excellent, or Divine Wiſdom, Prov. i. 20. ix. 1. So Righteouſneſſes here is the moſt perfect Righteouſneſs Men can attain to.

For thou haſt hid thy Face from us, and haſt conſumed us, becauſe of our Iniquities] The Particle Ki ſhould be tranſlated Therefore, as it is in Pſ. cxi. 10. where the Engliſh Tranſlation rightly renders the Senſe, I believed, and therefore have I ſpoken. And thus the Greek Particle ὅτι may moſt fitly be tranſlated, Luke vii. 47. Her Sins which are many are forgiven, therefore ſhe loved much: Which Senſe agrees beſt with the Deſign of the foregoing Parable.

CHAP. LXV.

God anſwers the Complaints of the Jews concerning their Dereliction; rebukes them for their Incredulity, Idolatry, and Hypocriſy; and promiſes Mercy to thoſe that repent. A Deſcription of the New Jeruſalem State.

Ver. 1. I Am ſought of them that aſked not for me: I am found of them that ſought me not: I ſaid, Behold me, behold me, unto a nation that was not called by my name. 2 I have ſpread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, which walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts: 3 A people that provoketh me to anger continually to my face, that ſacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incenſe upon altars of brick: 4 Which remain among the graves, and lodge in the monuments, which eat ſwines fleſh, and broth of abominable things is in their veſſels: 5 Which ſay, Stand by thyſelf, come not near to me, for I am holier than thou: theſe are a ſmoak in my noſe, a fire that burneth all the day. 6 Behold, it is written before me, I will not keep ſilence, but will recompenſe, even recompenſe into their boſom, 7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together (ſaith the Lord) which have burnt incenſe upon the mountains, and blaſphemed me upon the hills: therefore will I meaſure their former work into their boſom. 8 Thus ſaith the Lord, As the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, Deſtroy it not, for a bleſſing is in it: ſo will I do for my ſervants ſakes, that I may not deſtroy them all. 9 And I will bring forth a ſeed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains: and mine elect ſhall inherit it, and my ſervants ſhall dwell there. 10 And Sharon ſhall be a fold of flocks, and the valley of Achor a place for the herds to lie down in, for my people that have ſought me. 11 But ye are they that forſake the Lord, that forget my holy mountain, that prepare a table for that troop, and that furniſh the drink offering unto that number. 12 Therefore will I number you to the ſword, and ye ſhall all bow down to the ſlaughter: becauſe when I called, ye did not anſwer; when I ſpake, ye did not hear, but did evil before mine eyes, and did chooſe that wherein I delighted not. 13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, my ſervants ſhall eat, but ye ſhall be hungry: behold, my ſervants ſhall drink, but ye ſhall be thirſty: behold, my ſervants ſhall rejoice, but ye ſhall be aſhamed: 14 Behold, my ſervants ſhall ſing for joy of heart, but ye ſhall cry for ſorrow of heart, and ſhall howl for vexation of ſpirit. 15 And ye ſhall leave your name for a curſe unto my choſen: for the Lord God ſhall ſlay thee, and call his ſervants by another name: 16 That he who bleſſeth himſelf in the earth, ſhall bleſs himſelf in the God of truth, and he that ſweareth in the earth, ſhall ſwear by the God of truth; becauſe the former troubles are forgotten, and becauſe they are hid from mine eyes. 17 For behold, I create new heavens, and a new earth: and the former ſhall not be remembred, nor come into mind. 18 But be you glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for behold, I create Jeruſalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy. 19 And I will rejoice in Jeruſalem, and joy in my people, and the voice of weeping ſhall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying. 20 There ſhall be no more thence an infant of days, nor an old man that hath not filled his days: for the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner being an hundred years old ſhall be accurſed. 21 And they ſhall build houſes, and inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them. 22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabit; they ſhall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree, are the days of my people, and mine elect ſhall long enjoy the work of their hands. 23 They ſhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth for trouble: for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their off-ſpring with them. 24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that before they call, I will anſwer, and whiles they are yet ſpeaking, I will hear. 25 The wolf and the lamb ſhall feed together, and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the bullock: and duſt ſhall be the ſerpents meat. They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain, ſaith the Lord.

I am ſought of them that aſked not for me, I am found of them that ſought me not] There is a manifeſt Impropriety in the Expreſſion in the firſt Part of the Sentence; ſo the Words ſhould rather be render'd, I am found of them that aſked not for me; the Verb, which commonly ſignifies to ſeek, being by a Metonymy put for finding. Compare Eccleſ. iii. 6. Or the Words may be tranſlated thus, I am preached to them that aſked not for me; for the Verb Daraſh ſignifies to teach or inſtruct: In which Senſe it is uſed, Pſ. cxi. 2. where our Tranſlation reads, ſought out of all them that have Pleaſure therein. And the Word Midraſh, derived from this Verb, ſignifies a Commentary or Expoſition.

Which remain among the Graves, and lodge in the Monuments] As thoſe did who practiſed Necromancy and conſulted with Infernal Spirits: See Deut. xviii. 11. It was a common Cuſtom too among the Heathens, for Perſons to lodge all Night in the Temples of their Idols, particularly in that of Æſculapius, which were no better than Monuments of the Dead, in order to obtain ſuch Dreams as might be beneficial to them. By the Word Netzarim, which our Tranſlation renders Monuments, Dr. Spencer underſtands ſolitary Places; in which Senſe ſome take the Word, Ch. xlix. 6. ſuch Places being haunted by evil Spirits, according to the Opinion of the Vulgar.

And Broth of abominable Things is in their Veſſels] This denotes the ſuperſtitious Practice of ſeething a Kid in its Mothers Milk, with which they ſprinkled the Trees in their Fields and Gardens (ſee Ver. 3.) to make them more fruitful; upon which Account it is more than once forbidden in the Law: See Exod. xxiii. 19. xxxiv. 26. Deut. xxiv. 21. The Romans learned this Superſtition from the Egyptians probably, and worſhipped Pales, or Ceres, with Milk: So Ovid. Faſt. L. iv.

Sylvicolam tepidò lacte precare Palem.

Mr. White makes an Objection againſt applying the Paſſages to the modern Jews, becauſe ſince Chriſt's Time they have not been guilty of any of theſe Kinds of Idolatry, and conſequently theſe Sins cannot be aſſigned as a Cauſe of their Rejection. To which Lowth anſwers, 1. That the Prophet here objects to them the Sins of their Forefathers, as well as their own: See Ver. 7. and Deut. xxxii. 21. where their Rejection is aſcribed to their Idolatries; according to the Tenor of God's Covenant, whereby he hath threatened to viſit the Iniquities of the Fathers upon the Children: 2. The Prophet indeed mentions only ſuch Idolatries as were practiſed in and about his own Time, but yet may comprehend under thoſe Heads all other Kinds of Sin, juſt as the Idolatries practiſed among ſome Chriſtians are called the Doctrines of Balaam and Jezabel, Rev. ii. 14, 20. and the Church where they were practiſed is deſcribed by the Name of Sodom and Egypt, Ch. xi. 8. And the Jews at this Time acknowledge the Compliances of ſeveral of their Nation in thoſe Popiſh Countries where the Inquiſition is ſet up, as one of their National Sins.

And Sharon ſhall be a Fold for Flocks, and the Valley of Achor a Place for the Herds to lie down in] The Bleſſings of the Goſpel are ſometimes repreſented under the Emblems of temporal Happineſs. But if we take the Words in their literal Senſe, they denote a great Plenty and Security theſe Elect ſhould enjoy; Ch. xxx. 23. Sharon was one of the richeſt Parts of Judea; ſee Ch. xxxiii. 9. xxxv. 2. and ſo was the Valley Achor; which was remarkable for being the firſt Piece of Ground the Iſraelites took Poſſeſſion of, after their Entrance into the promiſed Land: And therefore is called a Door of Hope by Hoſea, Ch. ii. 15. becauſe it gave them firſt Footing in that Country, and encouraged them to hope that they ſhould become Maſters of the Whole.

That prepare a Table for that Troop] It was cuſtomary both among the Jews and Gentiles, after ſome Part of the Sacrifice had been offered upon the Altar, to make a Feaſt of the Remainder: See Ch. lvii. Ezek. xxiii. 41. This is called the Table of Devils, whom the Gentiles ſacrificed, 1 Cor. x. 21. It is a great Diſpute among the Criticks, what Idol Gad was, which ſeveral Interpreters here tranſlate Troop, as if it were ſome heavenly Conſtellation. But the Word likewiſe ſignifies Fortune, or good Luck, and ſo it is tranſlated by the Septuagint, Gen. xxx. 11. and in this Place as appears from St. Jerom's Commentary, and the Greek Copies in his Time.

And that furniſh a Drink-offering, to that Number] Or, to Meni, which is the Word in the Hebrew which ſome underſtand the Sun; others take it to ſignify a Hero worſhipped by the Egyptians; Dr. Pocock underſtands by it an Idol of the Arabians; and others an Idol of the Armenians; Minni being a Province in Armenia. By Gad and Meni, Huëtius underſtands the Moon and the Sun: Fortune being under the Influence of the former, which the Heathens allotted to every Man, under the Direction of the Sun.

For behold I create new Heavens, and a new Earth] The Converſion of the Jews will be in the laſt Times of this World: See Hoſ. iii. 5. and then will follow the new Heavens and new Earth, which are to commence after the Diſſolution of this World: See 2 Pet. iii. 13. Rev. xxi. 1. Such a new State of Things St. Peter tells us we are to expect, according to God's Promiſe; which muſt relate to ſome Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, and particularly to this and the following Chapter, both the Apoſtles uſing the very ſame Expreſſions which are found here.

For the Child ſhall die an hundred Years old, but the Sinner being an hundred Years old ſhall be accurſed] The Senſe would be plainer, if the Words were tranſlated thus, For he that dies an hundred Years old ſhall die a Child; and the Sinner that dies an hundred Years old ſhall be accurſed. The Prophet deſcribes this Renovation of the World as a Paradiſaical State, and ſuch as the Patriarchs enjoyed before the Flood, when Men commonly lived near a thouſand Years. So that he that died at an hundred Years of Age, would have been looked upon as dying in the Age of Childhood, and be judged to have been cut off in the Beginning of his Years, as a Puniſhment for ſome great Sin he had committed. Heſiod deſcribes what he calls the Silver Age of the World, in much the ſame Expreſſions, L. 1. ver. 129. which tranſlated runs thus: A Boy of an hundred Years old, played about with his Mother, an overgrown Child. The Words of the Text ſeem to imply, that the Millennian State, ſhall not be free from all manner of Sin, tho' there ſhall be no Place there for Idolatry or Apoſtaſy. Accordingly ſome learned Men ſuppoſe, that the lukewarm Laodicean State of the Church, which is deſcribed, and reproved, Rev. iii. 14, &c. is to be contemporary with ſome Part of the Millennium.

CHAP. LXVI.

God anſwers the Complaints of the Jews concerning the Deſtruction of the Temple, and inſtructs them in the Evangelical Way of worſhipping God. He aſſigns the Cauſes of his rejecting the Jews, and calling the Gentiles, but promiſes to unite them in one glorious and flouriſhing Church.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footſtool: where is the houſe that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my reſt? 2 For all thoſe things hath mine hand made, and all thoſe things have been, ſaith the Lord: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite ſpirit, and trembleth at my word. 3 He that killeth an ox, is as if he ſlew a man: he that ſacrificeth a lamb, as if he cut off a dogs neck: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwines blood: he that burneth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idol: yea, they have choſen their own ways, and their ſoul delighteth in their abominations. 4 I alſo will chooſe their deluſions, and will bring their fears upon them; becauſe when I called, none did anſwer; when I ſpake, they did not hear: but they did evil before mine eyes, and choſe that in which I delighted not. 5 Hear the word of the Lord, ye that tremble at his word, Your brethren that hated you, that caſt you out for my names ſake, ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified: but he ſhall appear to your joy, and they ſhall be aſhamed. 6 A voice of noiſe from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of the Lord that rendereth recompenſe to his enemies. 7 Before ſhe travelled, ſhe brought forth: before her pain came, ſhe was delivered of a man-child. 8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing? who hath ſeen ſuch things? ſhall the earth be made to bring forth in one day, or ſhall a nation be born at once? for as ſoon as Zion travailed, ſhe brought forth her children. 9 Shall I bring to the birth, and not cauſe to bring forth? ſaith the Lord: ſhall I cauſe to bring forth, and ſhut the womb? ſaith thy God. 10 Rejoice ye with Jeruſalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all ye that mourn for her: 11 That ye may ſuck, and be ſatisfied with the breaſts of her conſolations: that ye may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory. 12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing ſtream: then ſhall ye ſuck, ye ſhall be borne upon her ſides, and be dandled upon her knees. 13 As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you: and ye ſhall be comforted in Jeruſalem. 14 And when ye ſee this, your heart ſhall rejoice, and your bones ſhall flouriſh like an herb: and the hand of the Lord ſhall be known towards his ſervants, and his indignation towards his enemies. 15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire. 16 For by fire, and by his ſword, will the Lord plead with all fleſh: and the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be many. 17 They that ſanctify themſelves, and purify themſelves in the gardens, behind one tree in the midſt, eating ſwines fleſh, and the abomination, and the mouſe; ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the Lord. 18 For I know their works and their thoughts: it ſhall come, that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they ſhall come and ſee my glory. 19 And I will ſet a ſign among them, and I will ſend thoſe that eſcape of them, unto the nations, to Tarſhiſh, Pul and Lud that draw the bow, to Tubal and Javan, to the iſles afar off, that have not heard my fame, neither have ſeen my glory; and they ſhall declare my glory among the Gentiles. 20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord, out of all nations, upon horſes, and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon ſwift beaſts, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the Lord, as the children of Iſrael bring an offering in a clean veſſel, into the houſe of the Lord. 21 And I will alſo take of them for prieſts, and for Levites, ſaith the Lord. 22 For as the new heavens, and the new earth which I will make, ſhall remain before me, ſaith the Lord, ſo ſhall your ſeed and your name remain. 23 And it ſhall come to paſs, that from one new-moon to another, and from one ſabbath to another, ſhall all fleſh come to worſhip before me, ſaith the Lord. 24 And they ſhall go forth, and look upon the carcaſes of the men that have tranſgreſſed againſt me: for their worm ſhall not die, neither ſhall their fire be quenched, and they ſhall be an abhorring unto all fleſh.

The

The Heaven is my Throne, and the Earth is my Foot-ſtool: Where is the Houſe that ye build unto me, and where is the Place of my Reſt?] A Temple in the Jewiſh Notion, was God's Place of Reſidence, or his Habitation, where he reſided as a King in a Palace: Accordingly the Cherubims were his Throne, the Ark was his Foot-ſtool, the Prieſts were his immediate Attendants, and the Shew-bread and Sacrifices were the Proviſion for his Table. Such a Notion of a Temple was common both to Jews and Gentiles; only with this Difference, that the Gentiles thought the ſetting up an Image the neceſſary Part of the Dedication of a Temple, to ſecure, as they imagined, the Preſence of the Deity to whom it was dedicated. Templi nulla ratio quod non coronat ſimulacrum, ſaith Iſidore. Such a Notion confines God's Preſence to a certain Place, and therefore was not ſo ſuitable to the Greatneſs of the Divine Majeſty. It is under this Acceptation of the Word, that God reproves the Jews for laying ſuch Streſs upon their Temple-Worſhip, and comforts them under the Loſs of it, which they ſpeak of with ſo much Concern, Ch. lxiv. 11. And it is under the ſame Notion that the Chriſtian Apologiſts join Temples with Images, and profeſs that their Religion allows of neither.

A Voice from the City, a Voice from the Temple, &c.] The Prophet ſeems to hear the Noiſe of the Ruin of the City and Temple ſounding in his Ears. The Voice from the City may fitly be expounded of that Story which Joſephus relates, concerning one Jeſus the Son of Anani, who for a conſiderable Time before the War began, or the City was beſieged, went about the Streets, crying, Wo, wo unto Jeruſalem, and neither Threatnings nor Stripes could prevail with him to be ſilent. And the Voice from the Temple was verified in that Voice, which Joſephus tells us in the ſame Chapter, was heard in the Temple a little before the final Deſtruction of it, Let us depart hence.

Before ſhe travailed ſhe brought forth] Here begins a new Paragraph, containing a Deſcription of the ſudden Increaſe of the Chriſtian Church, upon God's rejecting the Jews, and deſtroying their Temple and Worſhip. The very Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Polity making Way for the Growth of the Goſpel, inaſmuch as it abated that Oppoſition which the Jewiſh Zealots all along gave to the ſpreading of it; and the aboliſhing the Jewiſh Worſhip contributed very much to the abrogating the Law of Moſes, and burying it with Silence and Decency; ſee Rom. xi. 11. The Church is deſcribed here as a travailing Woman, the Mother of all true Believers; ſee Ch. liv. 1. Gal. iv. 26.

And the Glory of the Gentiles like a flowing Stream] The Riches of the Gentiles ſhall flow in upon you, by their Liberality and Charity: See Ch. lxi. 6. Or, I will impart to her all that Grace and Knowledge, for which the Church of the Gentiles value themſelves: St. Peter ſays, Rom. xi. 11. that the Jews will be provoked to Emulation by the Gentile Believers, by their coming into the Church in great Numbers, and the Jews ſeeing them favoured with all the Privileges of God's People, and themſelves utterly rejected; and that this will be a principal Means of working their Converſion. And when they are converted, they will be extraordinary Inſtruments in God's Hands, for the converting the Remainder of the Heathen World. See Ver. 19. compared with Ch. lx. 4, 5. and Rom. xi. 12, 15, 25, 31.

For by Fire, and by his Sword, will the Lord plead with all Fleſh, &c.] This ſeems to denote the Diſcomfiture of Gog and Magog, who are to be deſtroyed by Fire: See Ezek. xxxix. 6, 9. They are deſcribed in the xxxviiith and xxxixth Chapters of that Prophecy, as coming againſt the Land of Iſrael after the Reſtoration of the Jews, and their Return into their own Land, and their receiving an utter Overthrow. Or, this may be underſtood of the Battle of Armageddon, Rev. xvi. 14. xix. 19. where the Armies of Satan and Antichriſt are to be vanquiſhed by the Lamb, and his Followers. Or of the Diſcomfiture of Satan's Army, mentioned Rev. xx. 8, 9. which ſhall be deſtroyed by Fire from Heaven. The Scriptures do in general declare there ſhall be a great Deſtruction of Chriſt's Enemies here upon Earth, before the general Judgment or Conſummation of all Things: Compare with the Context here Ch. xxxiv. and lxiii. 1 — 6. Pſ. cx. 5, 6. Jer. l. and li. a great Part of which Chapters certainly relate to the latter Times, Ezek. xxxviii. xxxix. Joel iii. 11 — 14. Mic. v. 8, &c. Zech. xii. 2, &c. xiv. 1 — 13. Rev. xiv. 20. xvi. 14. xix. 19. But we muſt not be too poſitive in aſſigning the particular Place, Time or Manner how theſe Prophecies ſhall be fulfilled, becauſe the Events are Secrets, whoſe Cauſes lie hid as yet in the Depth of Providence. And the very great Obſcurity of the Prophecies, which are ſuppoſed to relate to theſe Matters, is to me, ſays Lowth, a convincing Argument that they are not fulfilled.

Pul and Lud that draw the Bow] Some ſuppoſe Pul to be the ſame People who are elſewhere called by the Name Phul, which is uſually joined with Lud; and is rendered Lybia, or the Libyans, by moſt Interpreters: See Jer. xlvi. 9. Ezek. xxvii. 10. xxx. 5. But Bochart thinks Pul to be the ſame with Phil, or Philis, a City upon the River Nile; and then theſe two Names will denote the Egyptians and Ethiopians.

To Tubal and Javan] Tubal is elſewhere joined with Meſhech: See Gen. x. 2. Ezek. xxxviii. 2. and they are generally thought to denote the Tartars, Scythians, and thoſe that live in the moſt northern Parts of the World. By Javan are meant the Ionians, Grecians, and the neighbouring Nations, who live on the North Side the Mediterranean Sea.

And it ſhall come to paſs from one new Moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, all Fleſh ſhall come, and worſhip before me] Theſe Saints ſhall not have ſtated Times for God's Worſhip, but ſhall be perpetually employed in ſerving and praiſing him: See Rev. iv. 8. vii. 15. The Worſhip of the New Jeruſalem, is repreſented by the Practice of the Jewiſh Temple; as the Prophet had ſaid, the State ſhall be one continued Feſtival. It is uſual with the Prophets to deſcribe the Goſpel Diſpenſations by the Uſages of their own Time. See Ch. xix. 19. and compare Zech. xiv. 16. These Metaphors are continued even in the Writings of the New Teſtament, where the Church is repreſented by the Twelve Tribes of Iſrael, Luke xxii. 30. Rev. vii. The Chriſtians are called Jews, Rom. ii. 28, 29. Rev. ii. 9. and the heavenly Sanctuary is deſcribed by the Model of the Jewiſh Tabernacle, Rev. iv. 5, 6. viii. 2, 19. xv. 5, 6.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Jeremy is called the Son of Hilkiah, Ch. i. 1. whom Clemens Alexandrinus ſuppoſes to be the ſame Hilkiah, who was High Prieſt in the Reign of Joſiah: See 2 Kings xxii. 4, 8.

But this Opinion ſeems not ſo probable, becauſe then the Prophet would not have been deſcribed, as living with the Inferior Prieſts at Anathoth, inaſmuch as the High Prieſt and his Family always kept their Reſidence at Jeruſalem. He was very young when he was called by God to the prophetical Office, Ch. i. 6. in the Exerciſe of which he continued above forty Years, and is ſaid by St. Jerom, in his Argument of this Prophecy, to have been ſtoned to Death at Tahpanhes in Egypt, whither he and the Remains of the Jews, after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, were carried by Johanan and the reſt of their Leaders, Ch. xliii. 7.

There were ſeveral Collections of Jeremy's Prophecies: One made by God's Command in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, Ch. xxxvi. 2. This contained all the Prophecies he had publiſhed to that Time, as well againſt other Nations, as againſt the Jews. The former of theſe in our preſent Collection, are put by themſelves at the End of the Book, from Ch. xlvi. to the End of the Liſt. But in the preſent Copies of the Septuagint, they follow immediately after the 13*th Verſe of the* xxv*th Chapter.*

Another Collection of theſe Prophecies is mentioned Ch. i. 3. comprehending all that Jeremy had uttered to the Time of the Captivity. Theſe may probably be ſuppoſed to have been collected by Baruch, his Amanuenſis; and were put together without any Regard to the Order of Time, juſt as we find the Collection of Pſalms was made.

To this was added another Collection of Jeremy's Prophecies, publiſhed about the Time of his going down into Egypt, contained in Ch. xlii. xliii. xliv. at the End of which, either Eſdras, or ſome others, after the Captivity, who undertook the compleating the Scripture Canon, added thoſe Prophecies which Jeremy had ſpoken againſt the Gentiles, thinking it moſt proper to put them by themſelves, becauſe they treat of a different Subject from the reſt of the Book: And one of them, that againſt Edom, Ch. xlix. 34. bears Date after the firſt Collection made by Jeremy himſelf, in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim's Reign.

CHAP. I.

God's Commiſſion to Jeremiah to execute the Prophetical Office, as well to the Jews as to the Heathens; with a Promiſe of the Divine Aſſiſtance.

Ver. 1. THE words of Jeremiah the ſon of Hilkiah, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin: 2 To whom the word of the Lord came in the days of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. 3 It came alſo in the days of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive in the fifth month. 4 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee; and before thou cameſt forth out of the womb, I ſanctified thee, and I ordained thee a prophet unto the nations. 6 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God, behold, I cannot ſpeak, for I am a child. 7 But the Lord ſaid unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhall ſend thee, and whatſoever I command thee thou ſhalt ſpeak. 8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord. 9 Then the Lord put forth his hand, and touched my mouth, and the Lord ſaid unto me, Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth. 10 See, I have this day ſet thee over the nations, and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to deſtroy, and to throw down, to build and to plant. 11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, Jeremiah, what ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a rod of an almond-tree. 12 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, Thou haſt well ſeen: for I will haſten my word to perform it. 13 And the word of the Lord came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying, What ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a ſeething pot, and the face thereof was towards the north. 14 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, Out of the north an evil ſhall break forth upon all the inhabitants of the land. 15 For lo, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come, and they ſhall ſet every one his throne at the entring of the gates of Jeruſalem, and againſt all the walls thereof round about, and againſt all the cities of Judah. 16 And I will utter my judgments againſt them touching all their wickedneſs, who have forſaken me, and have burnt incenſe unto other gods, and worſhipped the works of their own hands. 17 Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and ariſe, and ſpeak unto them all that I command thee: be not diſmayed at their faces, leſt I confound thee before them. 18 For behold, I have made thee this day a defenced city, and an iron pillar, and braſen walls againſt the whole land, againſt the kings of Judah, againſt the princes thereof, againſt the prieſts thereof, and againſt the people of the land. 19 And they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee: for I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to deliver thee.

Anathoth, mentioned in the firſt Verſe, was one of the Cities allotted to the Prieſts; ſee Joſh. xxi. 13, 18. that Town was but three Miles from Jeruſalem, as St. Jerom tells us in his Preface to this Prophecy, but yet was in the Land of Benjamin, as indeed was Part of Jeruſalem itſelf: See Joſh. xviii. 28. Judah and Benjamin lying ſo near together, makes them ſometimes reckoned but as one Tribe. See 1 Kings xi. 32.

To whom the Word of the Lord came in the Days of Joſiah — unto the End of the eleventh Year of Zedekiah] Jeremiah propheſied by the Space of 41 Years and upwards, if we take in the Prophecies he uttered in Egypt after the Captivity, Ch. xliii, xliv. which are not included within this Period. We may obſerve from the 6th Verſe of this Chapter, that Jeremy was very young when he was called to the Prophetick Office.

Unto the carrying away Jeruſalem captive in the fifth Month] The Jews underwent ſeveral Captivities before their final Deſolation. The firſt was, when Jehoiachim was carried away captive in the 8th Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign: See 2 Kings xxiv. 12. There was another Captivity in the 18th Year of his Reign: See Ch. lii. 29. Then followed in the next Year that Captivity which accompanied the Deſtruction of the Temple and City of Jeruſalem, in the fifth Month: See ibid. Ver. 21. In Memory of which Calamity, the Faſt of the Fifth Month was obſerved during the Seventy Years of the Captivity; and continued down to After-times: See Zech. vii. 5. viii. 19.

Jeremiah, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſee a Rod of an Almond-tree. — Thou haſt well ſeen; for I will haſten my Word to perform it] The Almond is one of the firſt Trees that buds and bloſſoms in the Spring; ſo a Branch of that which buds and bloſſoms upon it, is a proper Emblem to denote God's haſtening the Execution of the Predictions he made by his Prophet, who lived to ſee moſt of his Prophecies fulfilled. The Hebrew Word Shaked, an Almond-tree, and Shoked, Haſtening, have an Affinity in their Sound (ſuch Paranomaſias being frequent in Scripture. See Iſa. xxiv. 17.) So that not only the Nature of the Almond-tree, but the very Sound of the Hebrew Word that ſignifies it, denotes God's haſtening to fulfil the Prophecies which Jeremiah uttered by his Directions.

What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſee a Seething-pot, and the Face thereof was towards the North] The Steam of a Seething-pot doth fitly repreſent God's Judgments, which are often compared to Fire, as the Afflictions of the Iſraelites are to a ſmoaking Furnace, Gen. xv. 17. This Steam was repreſented to the Prophet as raiſed by a Fire, or driven by a Wind coming from the North, for the latter Part of the Verſe may be better render'd thus: And the Appearance of it was as coming from the North. So that the Pot or Cauldron itſelf may denote Judea or Jeruſalem in particular (expreſſed by the ſame Figure, Ezek. xi. 3, 7. xxiv. 3.) ſet on Fire, and conſumed by an Army of Chaldeans, who lay Northward of Judea: See Chap. iv. 6. vi. 6.

CHAP. II.

God expoſtulates with his People for their ungrateful Returns to his former Benefits, and upbraids them with their Fondneſs for Idolatry.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying, 2 Go, and cry in the ears of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, I remember thee, the kindneſs of thy youth, the love of thine eſpouſals, when thou wenteſt after me in the wilderneſs, in a land that was not ſown. 3 Iſrael was holineſs unto the Lord, and the firſt-fruits of his increaſe: all that devour him, ſhall offend; evil ſhall come upon them, ſaith the Lord. 4 Hear ye the word of the Lord O houſe of Jacob, and all the families of the houſe of Iſrael. 5 Thus ſaith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain? 6 Neither ſaid they, Where is the Lord that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderneſs, through a land of deſarts, and of pits, through a land of drought, and of the ſhadow of death, through a land that no man paſſed through, and where no man dwelt? 7 And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof, and the goodneſs thereof; but when ye entred, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination. 8 The prieſts ſaid not, Where is the Lord? and they that handle the law, knew me not: the paſtors alſo tranſgreſſed againſt me, and the prophets propheſied by Baal, and walked after things that do not profit. 9 Wherefore I will yet plead with you, ſaith the Lord, and with your children's children will I plead. 10 For paſs over the iſles of Chittim, and ſee; and ſend unto Kedar, and conſider diligently, and ſee if there be ſuch a thing. 11 Hath a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory, for that which doth not profit. 12 Be aſtoniſhed, O ye heavens, at this, and be horribly afraid, be ye very deſolate, ſaith the Lord. 13 For my people have committed two evils: they have forſaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out ciſterns, broken ciſterns that can hold no water. 14 Is Iſrael a ſervant? is he a home-born ſlave? why is he ſpoiled? 15 The young lions roared upon him, and yelled, and they made his land waſte: his cities are burnt without inhabitant. 16 Alſo the children of Noph and Tahapanes have broken the crown of thy head. 17 Haſt thou not procured this unto thyſelf, in that thou haſt forſaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way? 18 And now what haſt thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor? or what haſt thou to do in the way of Aſſyria, to drink the waters of the river? 19 Thine own wickedneſs ſhall correct thee, and thy backſidings ſhall reprove thee: know therefore and ſee that it is an evil thing and bitter, that thou haſt forſaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts. 20 For of old time I have broken thy yoke, and burſt thy bands, and thou ſaidſt, I will not tranſgreſs: when upon every high hill, and under every green tree thou wandreſt, playing the harlot. 21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine wholly a right ſeed: how then art thou turned into the degenerate plant of a ſtrange vine unto me? 22 For though thou waſh thee with nitre, and take thee much ſoap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, ſaith the Lord God. 23 How canſt thou ſay, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim? ſee thy way in the valley, know what thou haſt done: thou art a ſwift dromedary traverſing her ways. 24 A wild aſs uſed to the wilderneſs, that ſnuffeth up the wind at her pleaſure, in her occaſion who can turn her away? all they that ſeek her, will not weary themſelves, in her month they ſhall find her. 25 Withhold thy foot from being unſhod, and thy throat from thirſt: but thou ſaidſt, There is no hope. No, for I have loved ſtrangers, and after them will I go. 26 As the thief is aſhamed when he is found: ſo is the houſe of Iſrael aſhamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their prieſts, and their prophets, 27 Saying to a ſtock, Thou art my father; and to a ſtone, Thou haſt brought me forth: for they have turned their back unto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will ſay, Ariſe, and ſave us. 28 But where are thy gods that thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe if they can ſave thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Judah. 29 Wherefore will ye plead with me? ye all have tranſgreſſed againſt me, ſaith the Lord. 30 In vain have I ſmitten your children, they received no correction: your own ſword hath devoured your prophets, like a deſtroying lion. 31 O generation, ſee ye the word of the Lord: have I been a wilderneſs unto Iſrael? a land of darkneſs? wherefore ſay my people, We are lords, we will come no more unto thee? 32 Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number. 33 Why trimmeſt thou thy way to ſeek love? therefore haſt thou alſo taught the wicked ones thy ways. 34 Alſo in thy ſkirts is found the blood of the ſouls of the poor innocents: I have not found it by ſecret ſearch, but upon all theſe. 35 Yet thou ſayeſt, Becauſe I am innocent, ſurely his anger ſhall turn from me: behold, I will plead with thee, becauſe thou ſayeſt, I have not ſinned. 36 Why gaddeſt thou about ſo much to change thy way? thou alſo ſhalt be aſhamed of Egypt, as thou waſt aſhamed of Aſſyria. 37 Yea, thou ſhalt go forth from him, and thine hands upon thine head: for the Lord hath rejected thy confidences, and thou ſhalt not proſper in them.

remember thee, the Kindneſs of thy Youth, the Love of thine Eſpouſals] I remember my firſt Kindneſs to thee, when I deliver'd thee out of Egypt. Compare Hoſ. ii. 15. and eſpouſed thee to myſelf, to be my peculiar People. The Covenant which God made with the Jews at Mount Sinai, is commonly repreſented under the Metaphor of a Marriage Contract: See Ch. iii. 15. Ezek. xvi. 8, 60. Upon this Account Idolatry is call'd Going a Whoring after other Gods: becauſe it is the ſame Degree of Unfaithfulneſs to God, which an Adultereſs is guilty of in Reſpect to her Huſband.

For paſs over the Iſles of Chittim, and ſee; and ſend unto Kedar, and conſider diligently, and ſee if there be any ſuch Thing] The Iſles of Chittim are the Countries lying upon the Mediterranean Sea; ſee Iſa. xxiii. 1. which lay Weſt of Judea. Kedar being Part of Arabia, was Eaſtward from thence. For Arabia is commonly called the Eaſt Country in Scripture: See Gen. x. 30. xxv. 6. Job i. 3. and particularly the Inhabitants of Kedar are called the Men of the Eaſt, Ch. xlix. 28. of this Prophecy. So the Senſe of the Verſe is, If you ſearch from Eaſt to Weſt, from one End of the World to the other, you will find no Inſtance like this of the Jews Apoſtaſy, mentioned in the following Verſe.

And now what haſt thou to do in the Way of Egypt, to drink the Waters of Sihor? Or what haſt thou to do in the Way of Aſſyria, to drink the Waters of the River] The Kings of Egypt and Aſſyria, were the two moſt potent Monarchs in the Neighbourhood of Judea; and according as either of thoſe prevailed over the other, the Jews made their court to him who was ſtrongeſt, and deſired his Aſſiſtance. This is expreſſed by drinking the Water of Sihor, or Nile, called ſo for its Blackneſs or Muddineſs: See Iſa. xxxiii. 3. and of Euphrates, called here the River by Way of Eminence. Compare Iſa. xxvii. 12. The Expreſſions allude to Ver. 13. where human Aſſiſtances are called broken Ciſterns, and oppoſed to God, who by reaſon of his Allſufficiency, is ſtiled the Fountain of living Waters. The Septuagint render Sihor Νεῶν, as if it were the ſame with the River Gihon, mentioned Gen. ii. 13. 'Tis certain, many of the Antients underſtood Gihon to be the Nile, particularly the Author of Eccluſ. Ch. xxiv. 27. and Ludolphus obſerves, that the Nile is now called by that Name in the Æthiopick Language.

How canſt thou ſay, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim?] The Jews, it ſeems, had found out Diſtinctions, whereby to reconcile the Worſhip of the true God, with thoſe religious Rites which they paid to the Deities of the Heathen, called here Baalim. Theſe they pretended were only inferior Dæmons or Spirits, or the Souls of Men departed, and might be worſhipped in Subordination to the Supreme Being. The Word Baalim anſwers in the Hebrew to Κύριοι πολλοὶ, 1 Cor. viii. 5. whom St. Paul mentions as the Inferior Deities of the Heathen.

All they that ſeek her, will not weary themſelves; in her Month they ſhall find her] The Hunters know the Seaſons of catching theſe Creatures (the Dromedary and the wild Aſs) and never try to take them but in a proper Time. And it is as much in vain to offer any Arguments to this People, to reclaim them from their eager Purſuit after Idolatry. The Time of Affliction is the only Seaſon when they will hearken to God's Voice; ſee Ver. 27. and Hoſ. v. 15.

With-hold thy Foot from being unſhod, and thy Throat from Thirſt] Do not wear out thy Shoes, or Sandals, and expoſe thyſelf to Thirſt and Wearineſs, in undertaking long Journeys, to make new Alliances with Idolaters. Some think in theſe Expreſſions, their perſiſting in Idolatry is compared to the Lewdneſs of common Harlots, and the Sottiſhneſs of an habitual Drunkard. Compare Ezek. xvi. 25. Deut. xxix. 19.

CHAP. III.

Under the Metaphor of a Woman's being falſe to her Huſband, God ſets forth the Idolatry of Iſrael and Judah; earneſtly exhorts them to Repentance, and promiſes thereupon to receive them into Favour.

Ver. 1. THEY ſay, If a man put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and become another mans, ſhall he return unto her again? ſhall not that land be greatly polluted; but thou haſt played the harlot with many lovers; lovers; yet return again to me, ſaith the Lord.

2 Lift up thine eyes unto the high places, and ſee where thou haſt not been lien with: in the ways haſt thou ſat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderneſs, and thou haſt polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy wickedneſs.
3 Therefore the ſhowers have been with-holden; and there hath been no latter rain, and thou hadſt a whores forehead, thou refuſedſt to be aſhamed. 4 Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth? 5 Will he reſerve his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end? Behold thou haſt ſpoken and done evil things as thou couldeſt.
6 The Lord ſaid alſo unto me in the days of Joſiah the king, Haſt thou ſeen that which backſliding Iſrael hath done? ſhe is gone up upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and there hath played the harlot. 7 And I ſaid after ſhe had done all theſe things, Turn thou unto me; but ſhe returned not; and her treacherous ſiſter Judah ſaw it. 8 And I ſaw, when for all the cauſes whereby back-ſliding Iſrael committed adultery, I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce: yet her treacherous ſiſter Judah feared not, but went and played the harlot alſo. 9 And it came to paſs through the lightneſs of her whoredom, that ſhe defiled the land, and committed adultery with ſtones and with ſtocks. 10 And yet for all this her treacherous ſiſter Judah hath not turned unto me with her whole heart, but feignedly, ſaith the Lord. 11 And the Lord ſaid unto me, The back-ſliding Iſrael hath juſtified herſelf more than treacherous Judah. 12 Go, and proclaim theſe words toward the north, and ſay, Return thou back-ſliding Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, and I will not cauſe mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, ſaith the Lord, and I will not keep anger for ever. 13 Only acknowledge thine iniquity that thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord thy God, and haſt ſcattered thy ways to the ſtrangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, ſaith the Lord. 14 Turn, O backſliding children, ſaith the Lord, for I am married unto you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion, 15 And I will give you paſtors according to mine heart, which ſhall feed you with knowledge and underſtanding. 16 And it ſhall come to paſs when ye be multiplied and increaſed in the land; in thoſe days ſaith the Lord, they ſhall ſay no more, The ark of the covenant of the Lord: neither ſhall it come to mind, neither ſhall they remember it, neither ſhall they viſit it, neither ſhall that be done any more. 17 At that time they ſhall call Jeruſalem the throne of the Lord, and all the nations ſhall be gathered unto it, to the name of the Lord, to Jeruſalem: neither ſhall they walk any more after the imagination of their evil heart. 18 In thoſe days the houſe of Judah ſhall walk with the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhall come together out of the land of the north, to the land that I have given for an inheritance unto your fathers. 19 But I ſaid, How ſhall I put thee among the children, and give thee a pleaſant land, a goodly heritage of the hoſts of nations? and I ſaid, Thou ſhalt call me, My father, and ſhalt not turn away from me. 20 Surely as a wife treacherouſly departeth from her huſband, ſo have you dealt treacherouſly with me, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord. 21 A voice was heard upon the high places, weeping and ſupplications of the children of Iſrael: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the Lord their God. 22 Return ye backſliding children, and I will heal your backſlidings: behold, we come unto thee, for thou art the Lord our God. 23 Truly in vain is ſalvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly the Lord our God is the ſalvation of Iſrael. 24 For ſhame hath devoured the labour of our fathers from our youth; their flocks and their herds, their ſons and their daughters. 25 We lie down in our ſhame, and our confuſion covereth us: for we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth even unto this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God.

Shall not the Land be greatly polluted] The Words allude to Deut. xxiv. 4. where it is ſaid, That if a Man take her to Wife again, who had been divorced from him, it is ſuch an Abomination as cauſeth the Land to ſin. Such a Practice would give Encouragement to the Community of Wives, which muſt produce all manner of Uncleanneſs and Confuſion.

There hath been no latter Rain] The Climate of Judea wanted Rain at two Seaſons; the firſt was juſt after Seed-time; ſee Iſa. xxx. 23. called the former Rain; the other not long before Harveſt, called the latter Rain, Joel ii. 23. compared with Amos iv. 7.

Go, proclaim theſe Words towards the North, and ſay, Return thou backſliding Iſrael] The Sins of the Ten Tribes being attended with more favourable Circumſtances than that of Judah, the Prophet is commanded to call them to Repentance, with Promiſes of Pardon. In order to this End, he is bid to direct his Speech northwards, i. e. towards Aſſyria and Media, whither the Ten Tribes were carried away captive, which Countries lay North of Judea; ſee Ver. 18. and Ch. iii. 9, 41. compared with Ch. li. 11, 27. The Reſtoration of Iſrael, as diſtinct from Judah, is the Subject of ſeveral other Prophecies.

And I will take you one of a City, and two of a Family, and bring you to Zion] The Word Family here is equivalent to a Country or Kingdom: Compare Ch. iii. 14. i. 15. Zech. xiv. 17, 18. Some expound the Words in this Senſe; Altho' there be but one of you in a City, or two in a Country, I will not leave thoſe behind, but will give them a Share in the great Reſtoration of their Brethren: Compare Iſa. xxvii. 11. Others ſuppoſe, that the Words relate to their Return from Babylon, when the whole Congregation was but Forty-two thouſand three hundred and ſixty, beſide their Servants, Ezra ii. 64. a ſmall Number in Compariſon of thoſe that ſtaid behind. But I conceive, ſays Lowth, that this Verſe, as well as the Context, relates to the general Reſtoration of the Jews, yet to come; and the import, that there ſhall be but a few of the Jews in Compariſon, to whom this Promiſe ſhall belong, viz. thoſe who are elſewhere called the Remnant. See Iſa. iv. 2. x. 22. and compare Ezek. xx. 38. Zech. viii. 8, 9.

A goodly Heritage of the Hoſts of Nations] The Words may be rendered a goodly Heritage of the Hoſts of Nations, taking Tſebaoth [Hoſt] as the ſame in Senſe with Tſebi, the foregoing Word, and as a Derivative from the Chaldee Word Tſeba, which ſignifies to delight, Dan. v. 19. vii. 19. This Senſe the Chaldee Paraphraſt follows. If we take Tſebaoth in the uſual Senſe which our Tranſlators follow, the Phraſe will import the Land which the Armies of the Gentiles are to poſſeſs in the latter Times, to which this Prophecy relates: See Iſa. who are elſewhere called the Remnant. Ezek. xxxviii. 8. when, according to our Saviour's Prediction, Jeruſalem ſhall be troden down of the Gentiles

Luke xxi. 24. But after all, I am apt to think, says Lowth, that the Septuagint have hit upon the true Senſe of this Place, who render it, The Inheritance of the Almighty God of the Nations; taking the Word Tſebi, for a Title belonging to God, denoting his ſuperlative Excellence. The Word is us'd in a Senſe near a-kin to this, 2 Sam. i. 19. where it denotes the Royal Dignity of Saul. A great Regard is to be paid to the Authority of that Verſion, becauſe the Compilers of it had better Opportunities of knowing the Extent of the Hebrew Language, than we can have at this Diſtance, and might have very good Reaſons for rendering ſome Words in a ſingular and unuſual Signification, and ſuch a one as the latter Rabbins and Lexicographers have not obſerved. Upon theſe Grounds, Biſhop Pearſon, Dr. Pocock, and other learned Men, juſtify ſeveral Paſſages in that Tranſlation, which are cited in the New Teſtament, and ſhew, that the Senſe of the Original is truly expreſſed by it.

From the 21ſt and following Verſes, the Diſperſion of the Jews is charged upon their Idolatry, and their Converſion expreſſed by their deſerting and renouncing that Sin. From whence, and the like Paſſages, they conclude, that their preſent forlorn Condition is not to be aſcribed to their rejecting the true Meſſias, as we Chriſtians believe. This Objection Lowth thus anſwers.

1. That the Prophecies belonging to this Matter, which were uttered near the Times of the Babyloniſh Captivity, or before the People's Return from it, do to intermix the Promiſes relating to their firſt or ſecond Reſtoration, that it is no eaſy Matter to diſcern the Tranſition from one to the other. The like Ambiguity may be obſerved in many Prophecies, relating to the Firſt and Second Coming of the Meſſias. And we may aſſign a ſufficient Reaſon, why the Prophecies that treat of the firſt and ſecond Diſperſion of the Jews ſhould be deliver'd in ſuch doubtful Expreſſions, viz. Becauſe it would have diſcouraged the Jews from returning out of Babylon into their own Country, if any antienter Prophecies had given them a diſtinct Account of a ſecond Diſperſion of their Nation, and of the Cauſe of ſo dreadful a Calamity.

But, Secondly, We may obſerve that ſome Prophecies in the Old Teſtament, do plainly aſcribe the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Church and Nation to their rejecting and putting to Death the Meſſias: To this Purpoſe thoſe Words of Moſes are remarkable, Deut. xviii. 19. It ſhall come to paſs, that every Soul that will not hear that Prophet, ſhall be deſtroyed from among the People, St. Peter explains the Senſe of that Prophecy, Acts iii. 23. Daniel expreſly aſſigns their Sin of cutting off the Meſſias, as the Cauſe of the Deſtruction of their City and Temple, Deut. ix. 26. And Zechary, who lived after the People's Return from their firſt Captivity, deſcribes the Mourning of the whole Nation for their Sin of piercing or crucifying, as a Preparative to their general Reſtoration, Zech. xii. 10. xiii. 1. which Repentance of theirs is only expreſſed in general Terms by our Prophet at the 21ſt Verſe of this Chapter, and Ch. xxxi. 9.

CHAP. IV.

Exhortation to Repentance. A Deſcription of the Miſeries of Judea, when it ſhould be made the Seat of War.

V. 1. IF thou wilt return, O Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, return unto me: and if thou wilt put away thine abominations out of my ſight, then ſhalt thou not remove. 2 And thou ſhalt ſwear, The Lord liveth, in truth, in judgment, and in righteouſneſs; and the nations ſhall bleſs themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they glory. 3 For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Judah and Jeruſalem, Break up your fallow-ground, and ſow not among thorns. 4 Circumciſe yourſelves to the Lord, and take away the foreſkins of your heart, ye men of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem: leſt my fury come forth like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings. 5 Declare ye in Judah, and publiſh in Jeruſalem, and ſay, Blow ye the trumpet in the land: cry, gather together, and ſay, Aſſemble yourſelves, and let us go into the defenced cities. 6 Set up the ſtandard towards Zion: retire, ſtay not; for I will bring evil from the north, and a great deſtruction. 7 The lion is come up from his thicket, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is on his way; he is gone forth from his place to make thy land deſolate, and thy cities ſhall be laid waſte, without an inhabitant. 8 For this gird you with ſackcloth, lament and howl: for the fierce anger of the Lord is not turned back from us. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs at that day, ſaith the Lord, that the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the princes: and the prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and the prophets ſhall wonder. 10 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, ſurely thou haſt greatly deceived this people, and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall have peace; whereas the ſword reacheth unto the ſoul. 11 At that time ſhall it be ſaid to this people, and to Jeruſalem, A dry wind of the high places in the wilderneſs toward the daughter of my people, not to fan, nor to cleanſe, 12 Even a full wind from thoſe places ſhall come unto me: now alſo will I give ſentence againſt them. 13 Behold, he ſhall come up as clouds, and his chariots ſhall be as a whirlwind: his horſes are ſwifter than eagles: wo unto us, for we are ſpoiled. 14 O Jeruſalem, waſh thine heart from wickedneſs, that thou mayeſt be ſaved: how long ſhall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee? 15 For a voice declareth from Dan, and publiſheth affliction from mount Ephraim. 16 Make ye mention to the nations, behold, publiſh againſt Jeruſalem, that watchers come from a far country, and give out their voice againſt the cities of Judah. 17 As keepers of a field are they againſt her round about; becauſe ſhe hath been rebellious againſt me, ſaith the Lord. 18 Thy way and thy doings have procured theſe things unto thee, this is thy wickedneſs, becauſe it is bitter, becauſe it reacheth unto thine heart. 19 My bowels, my bowels, I am pained at my very heart, my heart maketh a noiſe in me, I cannot hold my peace, becauſe thou haſt heard, O my ſoul, the ſound of the trumpet, the alarm of war. 20 Deſtruction upon deſtruction is cried, for the whole land is ſpoiled: ſuddenly are my tents ſpoiled, and my curtains in a moment. 21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and hear the ſound of the trumpet? 22 For my people is fooliſh, they have not known me, they are ſottiſh children, and they have none underſtanding: they are wiſe to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge. 23 I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void: and the heavens, and they had no light. 24 I beheld the mountains, and lo, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly. 25 I beheld, and lo, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were fled. 26 I beheld, and lo, the fruitful place was a wilderneſs, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the preſence of the Lord, and by his fierce anger. 27 For thus hath hath the Lord said, The whole land shall be desolate; yet will I not make a full end. 28 For this shall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black: because I have spoken it, I have purposed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it. 29 The whole city shall flee, for the noise of the horsmen and bowmen, they shall go into thickets, and climb up upon the rocks: every city shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein. 30 And when thou art spoiled, what wilt thou do? Though thou clothest thy self with crimson, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, though thou rentest thy face with painting, in vain shalt thou make thyself fair, thy lovers will despise thee, they will seek thy life. 31 For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, and the anguish as of her that bringeth forth her first child, the voice of the daughter of Zion: that bewaileth herself, that spreadeth her hands, saying, Wo is me now, for my soul is wearied because of murderers.

The four first Verses should have been joined to the former Chapter, as being a Continuation of the same Subject.

Blow ye the Trumpet in the Land, &c] The Prophet here begins a new Discourse, and describes the dreadful Preparations for War, such as blowing a Trumpet, and setting up a Standard, for the assembling Men together, in order to their leaving the open Country, and retiring with their Families and Goods into the defended Cities, both for their own Safety, and that they might maintain those Garrisons against the Power of the Enemy.

A Lion is come up from his Thicket, and the Destroyer of the Gentiles is on his Way] Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon, compare Ch. v. 6. whose Monarchy is represented by a Lion, Dan. vii. 4. He is called here the Destroyer of the Gentiles, or rather Nations. Judea, and all the neighbouring Countries being given up into his Hands by God's Decree; see Ch. xxv. 9. xxvii. 6.

A dry Wind] The same with a destroying Wind, Ch. li. 1. an hot pestilential Wind, as the Arabick translates it in that Place, which destroys great Multitudes in a Moment, as Travellers relate. The Prophet describes the Chaldean Armies invading Judea, under the Metaphor of a dry parching Wind, which blasts the Fruits of the Earth, withers the Leaves upon the Trees, and makes every Thing look naked and bare.

For a Voice declareth from Dan, and publisheth Affliction from Mount Ephraim] The Rumour of the Enemies Approach is heard first from Dan, which being the most northern Part of Judea, was first of all invaded; see Ch. viii. 16. And the evil Tidings still increase, as the Army marcheth forward toward Jerusalem, by the Way of Mount Ephraim.

That Watchers came from a far Country, and give out their Voice against the Cities of Judah] The Use of Scouts or Watchers, is to warn Men of the Approach of the Enemy: See Ch. vi. 17. But here the Prophet, by way of Irony, calls the Chaldean Army by that Name, whose Business it would be to beleaguer the Cities of Judah, and take Care that no Body should escape out of their Hands. And as the Watchmen use to lift up their Voice, to give Notice of approaching Danger; so these should make a great Noise, but it should be to encourage one another to fall on their Adversaries, and subdue whatever opposes them.

I beheld the Earth, and lo, it was without Form, and void, &c.] The whole Face of Nature looks dismal, the Inhabitants of the Land and their Houses, together with the Fruits of the Earth, are destroyed by the War; the Birds of the Air, and the Beasts of the Field, are consumed by the Famine: Compare C vii. 20. ix. 10. xii. 4. xiv. 2, &c. Hos. iv. 3. So th the Country looks as if it were reduced to its prim tive Chaos. Compare Gen. i. 2. The Heavens are c vered with Darkness, and the Mountains tremble the Wrath of the Almighty. The Prophet often d scribes God's Judgments upon a Land or Nation, if the whole Frame of Nature were in a State of D solution, because these particular Judgments are as Earnest of the General Judgment. See Isa. v. 25, 3 xiii. 10.

CHAP. V.

A vehement Expostulation with the Jews, for t manifold Corruption of their Manners, and t Disorders both of their Civil and Ecclesiastic Government; for which they are threatened wi the Invasion of the Chaldeans.

Ver. 1. RUN ye to and fro through t streets of Jerusalem, and see no and know, and seek in the broad places there if ye can find a man, if there be any that exec teth judgment, that seeketh the truth, and will pardon it. 2 And though they say, T Lord liveth, surely they swear falsly. 3 Lord, are not thine eyes upon the truth? th hast stricken them, but they have not grieved thou hast consumed them, but they have refus to receive correction: they have made their fac harder than a rock, they have refused to retur 4 Therefore I said, Surely these are poor, th are foolish: for they know not the way of t Lord, nor the judgment of their God. 5 I w get me unto the great men, and will speak un them; for they have known the way of the Lor and the judgment of their God: but these ha altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bond 6 Wherefore a lion out of the forest shall sl them, and a wolf of the evenings shall spo them, a leopard shall watch over their cities every one that goeth out thence shall be torn pieces: because their transgressions are man and their backslidings are increased. 7 How sh I pardon thee for this? thy children have for ken me, and sworn by them that are no god when I had fed them to the full, they then com mitted adultery, and assembled themselves troops in the harlots houses. 8 They were fed horses in the morning: every one neighed ter his neighbours wife. 9 Shall I not visit f these things! saith the Lord: and shall not m soul be avenged on such a nation as this? Go ye up upon her walls, and destroy, but mak not a full end: take away her battlements, f they are not the Lords. 11 For the house Israel, and the house of Judah have dealt ver treacherously against me, saith the Lord. 12 Th have belied the Lord, and said, It is not he, ne ther shall evil come upon us, neither shall see sword nor famine: 13 And the prophe shall become wind, and the word is not in them thus shall it be done unto them. 14 Wherefo thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Because speak this word, behold, I will make my wor in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and shall devour them. 15 Lo, I will bring a n tion upon you from far, O house of Israel, sa the Lord: it is a mighty nation, it is an anci nation, a nation whose language thou know not, neither understandest what they say. Th

Their quiver is as an open ſepulchre, they are all mighty men. 17 And they ſhall eat up thine harveſt, and thy bread, which thy ſons and thy daughters ſhould eat: they ſhall eat up thy flocks and thine herds; they ſhall eat up thy vines and thy fig-trees: they ſhall impoveriſh thy fenced cities wherein thou truſtedſt, with the ſword. 18 Nevertheleſs in thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will not make a full end with you. 19 And it ſhall come to paſs when ye ſhall ſay, Wherefore doth the Lord our God all theſe things unto us? then ſhalt thou anſwer them, Like as ye have forſaken me, and ſerved ſtrange gods in your land; ſo ſhall ye ſerve ſtrangers in a land that is not yours. 20 Declare this in the houſe of Jacob, and publiſh it in Judah, ſaying, 21 Hear now this, O fooliſh people, and without underſtanding, which have eyes and ſee not, which have ears and hear not: 22 Fear ye not me? ſaith the Lord: will ye not tremble at my preſence, which have placed the ſand for the bound of the ſea, by a perpetual decree that it cannot paſs it; and though the waves thereof toſs themſelves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not paſs over it? 23 But this people hath a revolting and a rebellious heart: they are revolted and gone. 24 Neither ſay they in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord our God that giveth rain, both the former and the latter in his ſeaſon: he reſerveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harveſt. 25 Your iniquities have turned away theſe things, and your ſins have withholden good things from you. 26 For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait as he that ſetteth ſnares, they ſet a trap, they catch men. 27 As a cage is full of birds, ſo are their houſes full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich. 28 They are waxen fat, they ſhine: yea, they overpaſs the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cauſe, the cauſe of the fatherleſs, yet they proſper: and the right of the needy do they not judge. 29 Shall I not viſit for theſe things? ſaith the Lord: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this? 30 A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land. 31 The prophets prophеſy falſly, and the prieſts bear rule by their means, and my people love to have it ſo: and what will ye do in the end thereof?

Go ye up upon her Walls, &c.] God gives a Commiſſion to the Chaldeans to beſiege and take Jeruſalem. The Sins it hath been guilty of make him diſown the Relation he formerly did bear to it; and he now declares, that he hath now put it out of his Protection, and deliver'd it up to the Will of his Enemies.

And the Prophets ſhall become Wind, &c.] They encourage the People to deſpiſe God's Meſſages by his Prophets, telling them that the Prophets and their Words are no better than Wind and Vanity, and that their Prophecies, being nothing but their own Imaginations, ſhall return upon their own Heads, and they ſhall feel the Judgments themſelves which they threaten others.

It is an antient Nation] Babylon was built about an hundred Years after the Flood; and in a little Time after Nimrod erected a Kingdom there; whereupon that Country is called the Land of Nimrod, Mic. v. 6.

Their Quiver is an open Sepulchre] All their Arrows ſhall do Execution; ſo that their Quiver may be look'd upon as a common Grave to their Enemies.

Which have Eyes and ſee not, which have Ears and hear not] Who make no Uſe of the Senſes and Underſtanding which God hath given them. See Iſa. vi. 9.

Which have placed Sand for a Bound to the Sea, by a perpetual Decree, &c.] The keeping the Waters within Bounds, ſo that they cannot overflow the Earth, is often mentioned in Scripture, as an immediate Effect of God's over-ruling Power and Providence: See Job xxxviii. 10, 11. Pſ. xxxiii. 7. civ. 9. Prov. viii. 29. For Water being ſpecifically lighter than the Earth, by the common Laws of Gravitation, it ſhould riſe above it and overflow it. And then the adjuſting the Proportion of the Tides, that they riſe no higher to the Prejudice of the lower Grounds, is another remarkable Inſtance of God's ſpecial Providence.

CHAP. VI.

The Prophet encourages the Chaldeans to come up and beſiege Jeruſalem, as a Place abandoned by God for its Incorrigibleneſs, and given up to the Will of its Enemies.

Ver. 1. O Ye children of Benjamin, gather yourſelves to flee out of the midſt of Jeruſalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa: and ſet up a ſign of fire in Beth-haccerem: for evil appeareth out of the north, and great deſtruction. 2 I have likened the daughter of Zion, to a comely and delicate woman. 3 The ſhepherds with their flocks ſhall come unto her: they ſhall pitch their tents againſt her round about: they ſhall feed every one in his place. 4 Prepare ye war againſt her: ariſe and let us go up at noon: wo unto us, for the day goeth away, for the ſhadows of the evening are ſtretched out. 5 Ariſe, and let us go by night, and let us deſtroy her palaces. 6 For thus hath the Lord of hoſts ſaid, Hew ye down trees, and caſt a mount againſt Jeruſalem: this is the city to be viſited, ſhe is wholly oppreſſion in the midſt of her. 7 As a fountain caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her wickedneſs: violence and ſpoil is heard in her, before me continually is grief and wounds. 8 Be thou inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my ſoul depart from thee: leſt I make thee deſolate, a land not inhabited. 9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, They ſhall throughly glean the remnant of Iſrael as a vine: turn back thine hand as a grape-gatherer into the baſkets. 10 To whom ſhall I ſpeak and give warning, that they may hear? behold their ear is uncircumciſed, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is unto them a reproach: they have no delight in it. 11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the Lord: I am weary with holding in: I will pour it out upon the children abroad, and upon the aſſembly of young men together: for even the huſband with the wife ſhall be taken, the aged with him that is full of days. 12 And their houſes ſhall be turned unto others, with their fields and wives together: for I will ſtretch out my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the Lord. 13 For from the leaſt of them even unto the greateſt of them, every one is given to covetouſneſs; and from the prophet even unto the prieſt, every one dealeth falſly. 14 They have healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. 15 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore they ſhall fall among among them that fall: at the time that I visit them, they shall be cast down, saith the Lord. 16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls: but they said, we will not walk therein. 17 Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not hearken. 18 Therefore hear, ye nations and know, O congregation, what is among them. 19 Hear, O earth, behold, I will bring evil upon this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, because they have not hearkened unto my words, nor to my law, but rejected it. 20 To what purpose cometh there to me incense from Sheba? and the sweet cane from a far country? your burnt-offerings are not acceptable, nor your sacrifices sweet unto me. 21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling-blocks before this people, and the fathers and the sons together shall fall upon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish. 22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the north-country, and a great nation shall be raised from the sides of the earth. 23 They shall lay hold on bow and spear: they are cruel, and have no mercy: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride upon horses, set in aray as men for war against thee, O daughter of Zion. 24 We have heard the fame thereof: our hands wax feeble: anguish hath taken hold of us, and pain, as of a woman in travail. 25 Go not forth into the field, nor walk by the way; for the sword of the enemy and fear is on every side. 26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thyself in ashes: make thee mourning, as for an holy son, most bitter lamentation: for the spoiler shall suddenly come upon us. 27 I have set thee for a tower, and a fortress among my people, that thou mayest know and try their way. 28 They are all grievous revolters, walking with slanders: they are brass and iron, they are all corrupters. 29 The bellows are burnt, the lead is consumed of the fire, the founder melteth in vain; for the wicked are not plucked away. 30 Reprobate silver shall men call them, because the Lord hath rejected them.

Blow the Trumpet in Tekoa, and set up a Sign of Fire in Beth-haccerem] The Design of those Signals of War is to assemble Men together, in order to their mutual Defence; but it is in vain to attempt any such Matter, and therefore the only Use that can be made of them, is to give Notice to the People, that they should disperse themselves, and fly from the approaching Enemy. Beth-haccerem was a Village between Jerusalem and Tekoa, as Jerom informs us in his Commentary upon this Place. The Name of this Village is mentioned Nehem. iii. 14.

They have healed also the Hurt of the Daughter of my People slightly, &c.] Instead of making a deep Search into the Corruptions of the People, the true Cause of all their Maladies [compare Isa. i. 6.] and applying corrosive Medicines, i. e. sharp Reproofs, which might give them a true Sense of the Danger of their Condition, they have used only Lenitives; as if a Surgeon should slightly skin over a Sore that festers underneath, by preaching such Doctrines as might sooth them up in their Sins, and their carnal Security. See Ch. iv. 10. v. 11, 31. xiv. 13. xxiii. 14, 17. xxviii. 2, 3. Lam. ii. 14.

To what Purpose cometh there Incense to me from Sheba?] Sheba was a Part of Arabia Felix, and famous for its Spices and Perfumes: See Isa. lx. 6. The Prophet reproves the Hypocrisy of the Jews, whereby they sought to cover their inward Corruption by the external Shews of Religion; which the Prophets often declare to be of no Value, when they do not proceed from a devout Mind: See Ch. vii. 21, 22. Isa. i. 11.

We may apply to the same Purpose a Story, which Plato relates in his Second Alcibiades, where he treats of Prayer, or the Worship of God: 'The Athenians, 'he tells us, in their Wars with the Lacedemonians, 'having received many Defeats, sent a Messenger to 'the Oracle of Jupiter Hammon, to ask the Reason 'why they who had erected so many Temples to the 'Gods, and honoured them with so many Oblations 'and Sacrifices, should be less successful than the Lacedemonians, who fell much short of them in the 'Particulars? The Oracle returned this Answer: 'I am better pleased with the Prayers of the Lacedemo-'nians, than with all the Oblations of the Greeks. 'Now the Prayer they made use of, was a short Pe-'tition, in which they begged the Gods to give them 'all good Things so long as they continued virtuous.

I have set thee for a Tower and a Fortress among my People] The Sense would be plainer, if the Words were translated thus, I have set thee (in) a Watch-Tower, and (in) a Fortress, &c. See Noldius's Concordance, P. 171. God tells the Prophet, that he has placed him in an high Tower or Fortress: See Ver. 1. to take an Account of the People's Behaviour, and warn them accordingly.

The Bellows are burnt, &c.] All the Means that can be used to purge this People of their Dross, prove ineffectual; the Wicked are not separated from the Righteous. 'Therefore your City shall be as one common Furnace, wherein you shall be melted down together: See Ezek. xxii. 19, &c.

The Lead is consumed in the Fire] Before the Use of Quicksilver was known, they made Use of Lead for the refining their Metals.

Reprobate Silver shall Men call them, because the Lord hath rejected them] As base Money is refused by every one, because it cannot bear the Touchstone, so shall these Hypocrites and Evil-doers be rejected both by God and Man; for none of their Actions will bear the Test of God's Laws, or abide his severe Trial. The Word Ἀδόκιμος, signifies a Reprobate in the New Testament, in Allusion to this Place; and in pursuance of the same Metaphor, God's Laws and Judgments are often compared to a Refiner's Fire: See Prov. xvii. 3. Isa. i. 25. Zech. xiii. 9. Mal. iii. 2, 3. 1 Pet. i. 7.

CHAP. VII.

The Prophet reproves the Jews vain Confidence in the Temple, and the external Observances of Religion, when at the same Time they rejected God's Messages by the Prophets, and defiled themselves with the worst Sorts of Idolatry.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, 2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of the Lord, all ye of Judah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord. 3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place. 4 Trust ye not in lying words, saying, The temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord are these. 5 For if ye throughly amend your ways and your doings; if you throughly execute judgment between a man and his neighbour; 6 If ye oppress not the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and shed not innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods, to your own

Then will I cauſe you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, for ever and ever. 8 Behold, ye truſt in lying words, that cannot profit. 9 Will ye ſteal, murder, and commit adultery, and ſwear falſly, and burn incenſe unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not; 10 And come and ſtand before me in this houſe, which is called by my name, and ſay, We are delivered to do all theſe abominations? 11 Is this houſe, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? behold, even I have ſeen it, ſaith the Lord. 12 But go ye now unto my place which was in Shiloh, where I ſet my name at the firſt, and ſee what I did to it, for the wickedneſs of my people Iſrael. 13 And now becauſe ye have done all theſe works, ſaith the Lord, and I ſpeak unto you, riſing up early, and ſpeaking, but ye heard not; and I called you, but ye anſwered not: 14 Therefore will I do unto this houſe which is called by my name, wherein ye truſt, and unto the place which I gave to you, and to your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh. 15 And I will caſt you out of my ſight, as I have caſt out all your brethren, even the whole ſeed of Ephraim. 16 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercеſſion to me; for I will not hear thee. 17 Seeſt thou not what they do in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem? 18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to anger. 19 Do they provoke me to anger? ſaith the Lord: do they not provoke themſelves to the confuſion of their own faces? 20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my fury ſhall be poured out upon this place, upon man and upon beaſt, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground; and it ſhall burn, and ſhall not be quenched. 21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Put your burnt-offerings unto your ſacrifices, and eat fleſh. 22 For I ſpake not unto your fathers, nor commanded them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt-offerings or ſacrifices. 23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye ſhall be my people: and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you. 24 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear, but walked in the counſels and in the imagination of their evil heart, and went backward and not forward. 25 Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt unto this day, I have even ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, daily riſing up early, and ſending them. 26 Yet they hearkened not unto me, nor inclined their ear, but hardened their neck, they did worſe than their fathers. 27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak all theſe words unto them, but they will not hearken to thee: thou ſhalt alſo call unto them, but they will not anſwer thee. 28 But thou ſhalt ſay unto them, This is a nation, that obeyeth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth correction: truth is periſhed, and is cut off from their mouth. 29 Cut off thine hair, O Jeruſalem, and caſt it away, and take up a lamentation on high places; for the Lord hath rejected and forſaken the generation of his wrath. 30 For the children of Judah have done evil in my ſight, ſaith the Lord: they have ſet their abominations in the houſe which is called by my name to pollute it. 31 And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to burn their ſons and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my heart. 32 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter: for they ſhall bury in Tophet, till there be no place. 33 And the carcaſes of this people ſhall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth, and none ſhall fray them away. 34 Then will I cauſe to ceaſe from the cities of Judah, and from the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land ſhall be deſolate.

To make Cakes to the Queen of Heaven] As the Gentiles offer'd to the Moon, at the firſt Appearance of the New Moon, which Cuſtom Dr. Spencer proves out of Herodotus and Lucian: The Word Melecheth may ſignify all the Hoſt of Heaven, compare Ch. xix. 13.

Put your Burnt-offerings to your Sacrifices, and eat Fleſh] The Burnt-offerings, after they were flayed, were to be conſumed wholly upon the Altar, Lev. i. 9. whereas in the Sacrifices of the Peace-Offerings, only the Fat was burnt upon the Altar, the Remainder belonged partly to the Prieſt, and the reſt was ſpent in a religious Entertainment. See Lev. vii. 29—34. Deut. xii. 11, 12. Here the Prophet tells the Jews, they may if they pleaſe, eat the Fleſh of their Burnt-offerings, as well as of their Peace-offerings, for God will accept neither of them from their Hands: See Ch. vi. 20. and look upon them only as common Meats; compare Hoſ. viii. 13.

For I ſpake not to your Fathers — Burnt-offerings or Sacrifices: But this Thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my Voice, &c.] It is a Way of ſpeaking uſual in Scripture, to expreſs the Preference which is due to one Thing above another, in Terms which expreſs the rejecting of that which is leſs worthy; and thus, ſays Lowth, I conceive we are to underſtand the Text here, in Correſpondence with the parallel Place of Hoſea, Ch. vi. 6. I will have Mercy and not Sacrifice. The Words in both Places implying, That God always laid a greater Streſs upon ſincere Obedience, than on external Obſervances, and deſigned the latter as ſo many Mounds and Fences to guard and preſerve the former. And thus much Maimonides himſelf grants. But ſeveral of the Fathers infer from this Text, That God never gave any Command to the Jews about Sacrifices, till after they had defiled themſelves with Idolatry, by offering Sacrifices to the Golden Calf. See Juſtin Martyr and Irenæus.

Cut off thy Hair, O Jeruſalem] This was commonly practiſed in Times of great Sorrow and Mourning: See Ch. xlvii. 5. xlviii. 7.

Which I commanded them not, neither came it into my Heart] On the contrary, I expreſſed the greateſt Deteſtation againſt this Practice, and forbad it under the ſevereſt Penalties: Compare Ch. xxxii. 35. and Levit. xx. 1—5. The Words are ſpoken by the Figure called Meiôſis, by which a great deal more is implied than is expreſſed; a Way of ſpeaking frequent in Scripture: See Deut. xvii. 3. where the Text, ſpeaking of the Worſhip of Heaven, adds, which I have not commanded; the Meaning is, I expreſly forbad it. So God, reproving the Idolatry of the Jews, ſaith, They chooſe Things wherein I delighted not; that is, which I utterly abhorred, Iſa. lxv. 12. and Jer. ii. 8. calls Idols, Things that do not profit; that is, whose Worſhip is not only inſignificant, but likewiſe extremely hurtful and dangerous. By the ſame Figure we are to expound theſe Expreſſions, a falſe Ballance is not good, Prov. xx. 23. and To have Reſpect of Perſons is not good, Ch. xxviii. 21. that is, is very wicked. St. Paul expreſſes the vileſt Sins, by calling them Things which are not convenient, Rom. i. 28. Therefore they put a very falſe Gloſs upon this Text, that would infer from it, that nothing is to be uſed in God's Worſhip, but what is expreſly commanded in his Word.

It ſhall no more be called Tophet —— but the Valley of Slaughter: For they ſhall bury in Tophet, 'till there be no Place] King Joſiah firſt of all defiled this Place, as the Text ſpeaks, 2 Kings xxiii. 10. that is, polluted, or unconſecrated it, by burying dead Bodies in it; compare Ver. 15. of that Chapter. And afterwards when great Numbers died in the Siege of Jeruſalem, and the Famine that follow'd upon it, it became a common Burying-place of the Jews: See Ch. xix. 6. whereby was fulfilled that Prophecy of Ezekiel, Ch. vi. 5. I will lay the dead Carcaſſes of the Children of Iſrael before their Idols. Compare Levit. xxvi. 30. Ezek. vi. 4, 5, 13.

CHAP. VIII.

The Prophet upbraids the Obſtinacy and Incorrigibleneſs of the People, and bewails the grievous Judgments which God had pronounced againſt them in general.

Ver. 1. AT that time, ſaith the Lord, they ſhall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the prieſts, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem out of their graves. 2 And they ſhall ſpread them before the ſun, and the moon, and all the hoſt of heaven whom they have loved, and whom they have ſerved, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have ſought, and whom they have worſhipped: they ſhall not be gathered, nor be buried, they ſhall be for dung upon the face of the earth. 3 And death ſhall be choſen rather than life, by all the reſidue of them that remain of this evil family, which remain in all the places whither I have driven them, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 4 Moreover, thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Shall they fall, and not ariſe? ſhall he turn away, and not return? 5 Why then is this people of Jeruſalem ſlidden back, by a perpetual backſliding? they hold faſt deceit, they refuſe to return. 6 I hearkened and heard, but they ſpake not aright: no man repented him of his wickedneſs, ſaying, What have I done? every one turned to his courſe, as the horſe ruſheth into the battle. 7 Yea, the ſtork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the ſwallow obſerve the time of their coming, but my people know not the judgment of the Lord. 8 How do ye ſay, We are wiſe, and the law of the Lord is with us? Lo, certainly in vain made he it, the pen of the ſcribes is in vain. 9 The wiſe men are aſhamed, they are diſmayed and taken; lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord, and what wiſdom is in them; 10 Therefore will I give their wives unto others, and their fields to them that ſhall inherit them: for every one from the leaſt even unto the greateſt is given to covetouſneſs, from the prophet even unto the prieſt, every one dealeth falſly. 11 For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. 12 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore ſhall they fall among them that fall: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the Lord. 13 I will ſurely conſume them, ſaith the Lord; there ſhall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig-tree, and the leaf ſhall fade, and the things that I have given them, ſhall paſs away from them. 14 Why do we ſit ſtill? aſſemble yourſelves, and let us enter into the defenced cities, and let us be ſilent there: for the Lord our God hath put us to ſilence, and given us water of gall to drink, becauſe we have ſinned againſt the Lord. 15 We looked for peace, but no good came: and for a time of health, and behold trouble. 16 The ſnorting of his horſes was heard from Dan: the whole land trembled at the ſound of the neighing of his ſtrong ones, for they are come and have devoured the land, and all that is in it, the city and thoſe that dwell therein. 17 For behold, I will ſend ſerpents, cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they ſhall bite you, ſaith the Lord. 18 When I would comfort myſelf againſt ſorrow, my heart is faint in me. 19 Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people, because of them that dwell in a far country: Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images, and with ſtrange vanities? 20 The harveſt is paſt, the ſummer is ended, and we are not ſaved. 21 For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt, I am black; aſtoniſhment hath taken hold on me. 22 Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no phyſician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

At that Time they ſhall bring out the Bones of the Kings of Judah, &c.] When the City ſhall be taken and expos'd to the Rage of the Chaldean Army, they ſhall break open the Monuments of Kings, Princes and Great Men, hoping to find ſome Treaſure there; as Joſephus tells us, immenſe Riches were depoſited in David's Sepulchre by his Son Solomon, which were never taken away till Hircanus's Time.

The Pen of the Scribe is in vain] The Title Scribe, as applied to the Skill of Tranſcribing or Interpreting the Law, is firſt given to Ezra, Ez. vi. who was not merely a Copier of the Law, but likewiſe an Explainer of the Difficulties of it: See Nehem. viii. 9, 13. And 'tis likely none made it their Buſineſs to write Copies of the Law, but thoſe who were well verſed in the Study of it, which would beſt ſecure them from committing Miſtakes in their Copies; from hence the Word ſignifies in the New Teſtament, thoſe who were learned in explaining the Law, and anſwering the Difficulties ariſing, concerning the Senſe of it. The Greek Word γραμματεὺς ſignifies a learned Man, Ecclus. x. 5. xxxviii. 24. and is ſo tranſlated by our Interpreters in the latter of the two Places. And the Chaldee Paraphraſt often interprets the Hebrew Word Nabi, Prophet, by the Chaldee Saphar, a Scribe.

The Expreſſion in the Text may relate to the Answers which thoſe who were ſkilful in expounding the Law, gave in Writing, when they were conſulted in any difficult Caſe. Compare Chap. xviii. 18.

Let us enter into the defenced Cities, and let us be ſilent there, &c.] This ſeems to be ſpoken in the Perſon of the People, who lived in open Towns and Villages, exhorting one another to repair to Jeruſalem, and other fortified Places, to ſeek for Quiet and Refuge there. Where the Prophet had before, Ch. vi. 1. exhorted the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem to flee even from thence. To this the Prophet replies in the following Part of the Verſe. That God had indeed put them to Silence in another Senſe than they meant; that is, he had taken away all their Strength, and left them to be deſtroyed by their Enemies; for ſo to put to Silence often ſignifies: See Ch. xlvii. 5. li. 6. Iſa. xv. 1. Hoſ. x. 7. Obad. Ver. 5. where the Word is render'd cut off, in our Bibles.

For, behold, I will ſend Serpents, Cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed] Such Enemies as you ſhall not be able to ſoften by any Entreaties you can uſe. It is a received Opinion, and that atteſted by many Travellers, and other Writers, that there are Methods of charming venemous Creatures, that they ſhall not bite or hurt thoſe that come near them. The Expreſſion here alludes to that Tradition as the Words of the Pſalmiſt do, Pſ. lviii. 5.

Is there no Balm in Gilead, &c.] Gilead was famous for Balm or Turpentine (for that is the proper Meaning of the Word Tſori) and ſuch like healing Gums. See Ch. xlvi. 11. Gen. xxxvii. 25. This made a great many Phyſicians and Surgeons to reſort thither. The Prophet applies this metaphorically to the State of the Jews, which was all over corrupted: Compare Iſa. i. 6. and aſks, whether there have been no Methods uſed, to heal theſe mortal Wounds and Diſtempers; or if there have, how comes it to paſs they ſhould have ſo little Succeſs? Implying, that God had ſent his Prophets, as ſo many ſpiritual Phyſicians, and they had given the beſt Advice: But the Fault lay wholly in the Patients themſelves, who refuſed to ſubmit to their Preſcriptions; ſo we may apply the Words ſpoken concerning Babylon, Ch. li. 9. to the preſent Caſe. We would have healed Babylon, but ſhe is not, or rather, ſhe would not be healed. The Words may likewiſe be underſtood of temporal Deliverance to this Purpoſe. Is this People forſaken both of God and Men, that there is no Remedy left for their Deliverance? Ch. xxx. 12, 13, 14.

CHAP. IX.

The Prophet bewails the manifold Sins of the Jews, and threatens God's Judgments, both againſt them, and their neighbouring Countries. He exhorts them to glory in God alone, and not in any worldly Acquiſitions, which are vain and unprofitable.

1 OH that my head were waters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the ſlain of the daughter of my people. 2 Oh that I had in the wilderneſs a lodging place of way-faring men, that I might leave my people, and go from them: for they be all adulterers, an aſſembly of treacherous men. 3 And they bend their tongues like their bow for lies: but they are not valiant for the truth upon the earth; for they proceed from evil to evil, and they know not me, ſaith the Lord. 4 Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and truſt ye not in any brother: for every brother will utterly ſupplant, and every neighbour will walk with ſlanders. 5 And they will deceive every one his neighbour, and will not ſpeak the truth: they have taught their tongue to ſpeak lies, and weary themſelves to commit iniquity. 6 Thine habitation is in the midſt of deceit, through deceit they refuſe to know me, ſaith the Lord. 7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will melt them, and try them; for how ſhall I do for the daughter of my people? 8 Their tongue is as an arrow ſhot out, it ſpeaketh deceit: one ſpeaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in heart he layeth his wait. 9 Shall I not viſit them for theſe things? ſaith the Lord: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged of ſuch a nation as this? 10 For the mountains will I take up a weeping and wailing, and for the habitations of the wilderneſs a lamentation, becauſe they are burnt up, ſo that none can paſs through them, neither can men hear the voice of the cattel, both the fowl of the heavens and the beaſts are fled, they are gone. 11 And I will make Jeruſalem heaps, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Judah deſolate, without an inhabitant. 12 Who is the wiſe man that may underſtand this, and who is he to whom the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken, that he may declare it, for what the land periſheth, and is burnt up like a wilderneſs that none paſſeth through? 13 And the Lord ſaith, Becauſe they have forſaken my law which I ſet before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein; 14 But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them. 15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink. 16 I will ſcatter them alſo among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have known; and I will ſend a ſword after them, till I have conſumed them. 17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider ye, and call for the mourning-women, that they may come, and ſend for cunning women, that they may come. 18 And let them make haſte and take up a wailing for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eyelids guſh out with waters. 19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of Zion, How are we ſpoiled! we are greatly confounded, becauſe we have forſaken the land, becauſe our dwellings have caſt us out. 20 Yet hear the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her neighbour lamentation. 21 For death is come up into our windows, and is entred into our palaces, to cut off the children from without, and the young men from the ſtreets. 22 Speak, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even the carcaſes of men ſhall fall as dung upon the open field, and as the handful after the harveſtman, and none ſhall gather them. 23 Thus ſaith the Lord, Let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches. 24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he underſtandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exerciſe, loving-kindneſs, judgment, and righteouſneſs in the earth: for in theſe things I delight, ſaith the Lord. 25 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will puniſh all them which are circumciſed with the uncircumciſed. 26 Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all that are in the utmoſt corners, that dwell in the wilderneſs: for all theſe nations are uncircumciſed, ciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are uncircumciſed in the heart.

For the Mountains I will take up a weeping and wailing, and for the Habitations of the Wilderneſs a Lamentation, &c.] The Prophet laments that general Deſolation which he ſees coming upon the whole Land, which will involve all the Parts of it, both high and low, in one common Deſtruction: Compare Ch. iv. 24, 25, 26. The Words which are tranſlated, The Habitations of the Wilderneſs, the Margin more properly renders, The Paſtures of the Wilderneſs: Compare Joel i. 19. ii. 22. By the Wilderneſs ſometimes is meant the plain or champain Country, and is oppoſed to the Mountains. See Iſa. lxiii. 13. Lam. iv. 19. Joel i. 19.

I will feed them, even this People, with Wormwood, and give them Water of Gall to drink] I will turn their Plenty into Scarcity of all Things. Compare this Expreſſion with that of Pſ. lxxx. 5. Thou feedeſt them with the Bread of Tears, and giveſt them Plenteouſneſs of Tears to drink: And 1 Kings xxii. 27. Feed him with the Bread of Affliction, and Water of Affliction; that is, uſe him with the moſt ſevere and rigorous Treatment. The Hebrew Word which we here tranſlate Gall, properly ſignifies an Herb growing among Corn, which is as bitter as Gall. 'Tis tranſlated Hemlock, Hoſ. x. 4. and both here and elſewhere joined with Wormwood: See Lam. iii. 19. Deut. xxix. 18. Amos vi. 12. In this laſt Text, the Word Laanah, commonly render'd Wormwood, is tranſlated Hemlock.

Conſider ye, and call for the mourning Women, &c.] Conſider the evil Circumſtances you are in, which call for Mourning and Lamentation: And ſince you yourſelves are not ſufficiently affected with your Dangers that threaten you, ſend for thoſe Women whoſe Buſineſs it is to make publick Lamentations at Funerals, and upon other ſorrowful Occaſions, and let their mournful Ditties excite and ſtir up true Sorrow in you. The Prophets elſewhere allude to this Practice: See Ch. xlviii. 17. Ezek. xxviii. 31. Particularly the Cuſtom of hiring publick Mourners to attend the Funerals of their Friends is mentioned Ch. xxii. 18. 2 Sam. i. 24. 2 Chron. xxxv. 25. Eccleſ. xii. 5. Matt. ix. 23. compared with Mark v. 28. Such were the Preficæ among the Romans.

As the Handful after the Harveſt-man, and none ſhall gather them] We read Deut. xxiv. 19. that if a Sheaf was forgot and left behind in the Field, the Owner ſhould not go back to fetch it, but leave it to be taken up by the Poor. This Law made the Harveſtman not ſo exact in gathering up the Sheaves which they happened to drop, that they might give Occaſion for this Sort of Charity. The Prophet makes Uſe of this Compariſon to illuſtrate the Number of Slain that ſhould lie about the Fields, only with this Difference, that whereas the Poor uſed to gather up the Sheaves left behind in the Fields; theſe human Bodies ſhould rot upon the Ground, without any one to take Care of their Burial. See Ch. viii. 2.

CHAP. X.

The Prophet arms the Jews againſt the Idolatry of the Chaldeans, among whom they were to live during the Captivity; bewails the Calamities which were coming upon them, and beſeeches God not to deal with them according to the utmoſt Rigour of his Juſtice.

Ver. 1. HEAR ye the word which the Lord ſpeaketh unto you, O houſe of Iſrael. 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not diſmayed at the ſigns of heaven, for the heathen are diſmayed at them. 3 For the cuſtoms of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the foreſt (the work of the hands of the workmen) with the ax. 4 They deck it with ſilver and with gold, they faſten it with nails and with hammers that it move not. 5 They are upright as the palm-tree, but ſpeak not: they muſt needs be borne, becauſe they cannot go: be not afraid of them, for they cannot do evil, neither alſo is it in them to do good. 6 Foraſmuch as there is none like unto thee, O Lord, thou art great, and thy name is great in might. 7 Who would not fear thee, O king of nations? for to thee doth it appertain: foraſmuch as among all the wiſe men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms there is none like unto thee, 8 But they are altogether brutiſh and fooliſh: the ſtock is a doctrine of vanities. 9 Silver ſpread into plates is brought from Tarſhiſh, and gold from Uphaz, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the founder: blue and purple is their clothing: they are all the work of cunning men. 10 But the Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlaſting king: at his wrath the earth ſhall tremble, and the nations ſhall not be able to abide his indignation. 11 Thus ſhall ye ſay unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they ſhall periſh from the earth, and from under theſe heavens. 12 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath ſtretched out the heavens by his diſcretion. 13 When he uttereth his voice there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures. 14 Every man is brutiſh in his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them. 15 They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh. 16 The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance; the Lord of hoſts is his name. 17 Gather up thy wares out of the land, O inhabitant of the fortreſs. 18 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will ſling out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will diſtreſs them, that they may find it ſo. 19 Wo is me for my hurt, my wound is grievous: but I ſaid, Truly this is a grief, and I muſt bear it. 20 My tabernacle is ſpoiled, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone forth of me, and they are not: there is none to ſtretch forth my tent any more, and to ſet up my curtains. 21 For the paſtors are become brutiſh, and have not ſought the Lord: therefore they ſhall not proſper, and all their flocks ſhall be ſcattered. 22 Behold, the noiſe of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the north country, to make the cities of Judah deſolate, and a den of dragons. 23 O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himſelf: it is not in man that walketh to direct his ſteps. 24 O Lord correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, leſt thou bring me to nothing. 25 Pour out thy fury upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy name: for they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and conſumed him, and have made his habitation deſolate.

Learn not the Way of the Heathen, and be not afraid at the Signs of Heaven] Do not follow the fond Opinions of the Heathen, amongſt whom ye are to journ during the Time of your Captivity. Both the Chaldeans and Egyptians were famous for their Skill in Astrology. The Prophet therefore warns the Jews, that when they were to live among those People, they should not regard the Predictions which they made from the Appearances of the heavenly Bodies, from whose different Aspects they pretend to foretel Wars, the Death of great Men, and other Calamities; whereby they terrified the People with the Apprehension of impending Evils.

When he uttereth his Voice, there is a Multitude of Waters in the Heavens, &c.] When God giveth the Word of Command, and signifies his Will and Pleasure. Compare Job xxxviii. 34. or when he sends his Thunder, called in Scripture the Voice of God, the Clouds immediately fall down in Abundance of Rain, and that Moisture coming upon the Ground that was scorched with Heat before, does not only cool and refresh it, but makes all Vegetables grow and flourish in it: And as God causes the Vapours to ascend up in Clouds from every Quarter of the Earth; so he joins two contrary Things together, ordaining great Flashes of Lightning to break forth with the Rain: The Moisture of the Rain preventing the ill Effects that might proceed from the scorching Heat of the Lightning.

CHAP. XI.

The Prophet proclaims the Tenour of God's Covenant with the Jews, and denounces a Curse against those who break it; and threatens Evil to his Neighbours at Anathoth, who had conspired his Destruction.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, 2 Hear ye the words of this covenant, and speak unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, 3 And say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant, 4 Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God: 5 That I may perform the oath which I have sworn unto your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord. 6 Then the Lord said unto me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying, Hear ye the words of this covenant, and do them. 7 For I earnestly protested unto your fathers, in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even unto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice. 8 Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not. 9 And the Lord said unto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 10 They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to hear my words; and they went after other gods to serve them: the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers. 11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon them which they shall not be able to escape; and though they shall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them. 12 Then shall the cities of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incense; but they shall not save them at all in the time of their trouble. 13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem, have ye set up altars to that shameful thing, even altars to burn incense unto Baal. 14 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time that they cry unto me for their trouble. 15 What hath my beloved to do in mine house, seeing she hath wrought lewdness with many? and the holy flesh is passed from thee: when thou doest evil, then thou rejoicest. 16 The Lord called thy name, A green olive-tree, fair and of goodly fruit: with the noise of a great tumult he hath kindled fire upon it, and the branches of it are broken. 17 For the Lord of hosts that planted thee, hath pronounced evil against thee, for the evil of the house of Israel, and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke me to anger, in offering incense unto Baal. 18 And the Lord hath given me knowledge of it, and I know it, then thou shewedst me their doings. 19 But I was like a lamb or an ox that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had devised devices against me, saying, Let us destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembred. 20 But, O Lord of hosts, that judgest righteously, that triest the reins and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them; for unto thee have I revealed my cause. 21 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the men of Anathoth, that seek thy life, saying, Prophesy not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hand: 22 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will punish them; the young men shall die by the sword, their sons and their daughters shall die by famine. 23 And there shall be no remnant of them, for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, even the year of their visitation.

Hear ye the Words of this Covenant, and speak unto the Men of Judah, &c.] That is, Hear, ye Men of Judah, and Inhabitants of Jerusalem, the Words of the Covenant I made with your Fathers: And do thou, Jeremiah, lay the Tenour of it before them. Compare Ver. 6. Dr. Lightfoot is of Opinion, That the Prophet puts the People in Mind of the Renewal of this Covenant lately made in the Time of Josiah, 2 Kings xxiii. 3.

The holy Flesh is passed from thee; when thou dost evil, then thou rejoicest] The Flesh of thy Sacrifices which thou offerest up to me, as an Atonement for thy Sins, doth not at all profit thee, being polluted and render'd unacceptable to thee, thro' those many and great Sins, in which thou continuest without Remorse, and even takest a Pride in committing them.

The LXX and vulgar Latin give a more easy Sense of this Verse; Why hath my beloved committed Lewdness in my House? Can Vows or the holy Flesh take away thine Iniquities from thee? It is probable that the Hebrew Copy they made Use of, instead of Harabbim [with many] read Hanedabim, or Haneddarim, Free-will Offerings or Vows.

The Lord hath called thy Name a green Olive-tree, fair and of goodly Fruit] St. Paul plainly alludes to this this Verſe, Rom. xi. 17. where, ſpeaking of the Gentiles being made Members of the Church, in the Room of the Jews who were rejected, he ſaith, If ſome of the Branches are broken off, and thou [Gentile] being a wild Olive-tree, wert grafted in among them, and with them partakeſt of the Root and Fatneſs of the Olive-tree. The Jewiſh Nation in its flouriſhing State, is ſometimes compared to a Vine, ſometimes to an Olive-tree, chiefly becauſe of the Fruits of good Works which God might juſtly expect from them, after all the Care and Pains he had beſtowed upon them, to make them thrive and fructify: See Pſal. lii. 8.

But I was like a Lamb or an Ox that is brought to the Slaughter] A proverbial Speech expreſſing a falſe Security or Inſenſibility of Danger: See Prov. vii. 22. So Agamemnon's Ghoſt deſcribes his own Death, treacherouſly contriv'd by Egiſthenes at a Feaſt — He died as an Ox at the Stall. That Phraſe, He is brought as a Lamb to the Slaughter, Iſa. liii. 7. is of a different Importance, and ſignifies, Meekly ſubmitting to the Violence of his Perſecutors, and not offering to make the leaſt Reſiſtance. Bochart ſuppoſes the Word Alluph to be an Adjective, and renders the former Part of the Sentence thus, I was brought as a tame Sheep to the Slaughter. But we may very well admit of the common Tranſlation; the disjunctive Particle being elſewhere underſtood, as Pſ. lxix. 31. Better than an Ox [or] Bullock. Iſa. xxxviii. 14. Like a Crane [or] Swallow.

But, O Lord, — let me ſee thy Vengeance on them] I have laid my Cauſe before thee, and recommend myſelf to thy Protection, who knoweſt the Sincerity and Intentions of my Thoughts: See Ch. xii. 2, 3. When Men continue implacable in their Malice, we may lawfully expect and deſire that God will plead our Cauſe, and judge us according to our Righteouſneſs. For the bringing wicked Men to condign Puniſhment, tends both to the Manifeſtation of God's Glory, and the good Government of the World. To pray againſt our Enemies in this Senſe, viz. Not for the ſatisfying our private Reſentments, but for the ſetting forth of God's Juſtice, is not diſagreeable to the Spirit of Chriſtianity. So St. Paul prays againſt Alexander, The Lord reward him according to his Works, 2 Tim. iv. 14.

CHAP. XII.

God declares, That altho' he had forſaken his People for a Seaſon, and given them up into the Hands of their Enemies, yet he would remember them, and execute Judgments on their Oppreſſors.

Ver. 1. RIghteous art thou, O Lord, when I plead with thee: yet let me talk with thee of thy judgments: Wherefore doth the way of the wicked proſper? wherefore are all they happy that deal very treacherouſly? 2 Thou haſt planted them, yea, they have taken root: they grow, yea, they bring forth fruit; thou art near in their mouth, and far from their reins. 3 But thou, O Lord, knoweſt me; thou haſt ſeen me, and tried mine heart towards thee: pull them out like ſheep for the ſlaughter, and prepare them for the day of ſlaughter. 4 How long ſhall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein? the beaſts are conſumed, and the birds, becauſe they ſaid, He ſhall not ſee our laſt end. 5 If thou haſt run with the footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canſt thou contend with horſes? and if in the land of peace wherein thou truſtedſt, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the ſwelling of Jordan? 6 For even thy brethren, and the houſe of thy father, even they have dealt treacherouſly with thee, yea they have called a multitude after thee; believe them not, though they ſpeak fair words unto thee. 7 I have forſaken mine houſe, I have left mine heritage, I have given the dearly beloved of my ſoul into the hands of her enemies. 8 Mine heritage is unto me as a lion in the foreſt, it crieth out againſt me: therefore have I hated it. 9 Mine heritage is unto me as a ſpeckled bird, the birds round about are against her; come ye, aſſemble all the beaſts of the field, come to devour. 10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard, they have troden my portion under foot, they have made my pleaſant portion a deſolate wilderneſs. 11 They have made it deſolate, and being deſolate mourneth unto me; the whole land is made deſolate, becauſe no man layeth it to heart. 12 The ſpoilers are come upon all high places through the wilderneſs: for the ſword of the Lord ſhall devour from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no fleſh ſhall have peace. 13 They have ſown wheat, but ſhall reap thorns: they have put themſelves to pain, but ſhall not profit: and they ſhall be aſhamed of your revenues, becauſe of the fierce anger of the Lord. 14 Thus ſaith the Lord againſt all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have cauſed my people Iſrael to inherit, Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the houſe of Judah from among them. 15 And it ſhall come to paſs after that I have plucked them out, I will return, and have compaſſion on them, and will bring them again every man to his heritage, and every man to his land. 16 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to ſwear by my name, The Lord liveth, (as they taught my people to ſwear by Baal) then ſhall they be built in the midſt of my people. 17 But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up, and deſtroy that nation, ſaith the Lord.

Righteous art thou, O Lord, when I plead with thee, yet let me talk with thee of thy Judgments] Tho' I doubt not of thy Juſtice and Holineſs, yet ſuffer me to argue with thee concerning the Proſperity of the Wicked, and the Afflictions of the Righteous: A Diſpenſation which hath in all Ages been made an Objection againſt Providence, and upon that Account been a Stumbling-block even to good Men: See Job xii. 6. xxi. 7, &c. Pſ. xxxvii. and lxxiii.

Becauſe they ſaid, He ſhall not ſee our laſt End] The Words of thoſe who made a Mock of Jeremiah and his Prophecies, as if he ſhould never ſee the Evils come to paſs which he had threatned against them, Ch. xi. 23. Some underſtand the Words in this Senſe, God will never bring that Deſtruction upon us, with which Jeremiah threatens us.

If thou haſt run with Footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canſt thou contend with Horſes? Here God anſwers the Complaints of the Prophet, and applies a proverbial Expreſſion to his Caſe; the Import of which is, That if Men find themſelves unable to contend with a leſs Power, it is in vain for them to ſtrive with a greater. This Sentence being applied to the Prophet's Caſe, implies, that if he could not bear with the ill Uſage of his Acquaintance and Neighbours at Anathoth, how would he be able to undergo the Hardſhips he muſt expect to meet with from the great Men at Jeruſalem, who would unanimouſly ſet themſelves againſt him? See Ch. xxvi. &c. xxxvi. 26.

Many Paſtors have deſtroyed my Vineyard] By many Paſtors are meant the Generals of the Chaldean Army; ſo the Chaldee Paraphraſe rightly explains it; ſee Ver. 12. and compare Ch. vi. 3. God calls Judea his Vineyard and pleaſant Portion, becauſe of the Care he took to cultivate and improve it, and the Fruit he juſtly might have expected from it. See the Note on Chap. xi. 16.

And they ſhall be aſhamed of your Revenues, becauſe of the fierce Anger of the Lord] Or, Be ye aſhamed of your Increaſe, &c. God's Diſpleaſure ſhall make all your Deſigns abortive, they ſhall not bring forth their expected Fruit, and you ſhall be ſeized with Shame and Confuſion to ſee yourſelves diſappointed: Compare Ch. ii. 36, 37. The Word Revenues, or Increaſe, alludes, to the reaping of Thorns, mentioned in the foregoing Part of the Verſe.

Thus ſaith the Lord, againſt all mine evil Neighbours — Behold I will pluck them out of their Land] This Prophecy threatens chiefly the Idumeans, Moabites, Amorites and Philiſtines, againſt whom Jeremiah propheſies, Ch. xlvii, xlviii, xlix, and Ezekiel, Chap. xxv. Theſe the Text calls evil Neighbours, becauſe of the Spite and Ill-will which they ſhewed to the Jews upon all Occaſions, at this Time eſpecially, when moſt of them joined with the Chaldeans and Syrians in oppreſſing them: See 2 Kings xxiv. 2. This Sin is particularly laid to their Charge by the Prophets, and they are threaten'd with Captivity chiefly upon that Account. See Ch. xlix. 1, 2. Ezek. xxv. 3, 6, 8, 12, 15. Amos i. 11. Obad. ver. 10. Zeph. ii. 8.

CHAP. XIII.

Under the Figures of a Linen Girdle, and Bottles with Wine, is ſet forth God's Rejection of the Jews, and the ſevere Judgments he would execute upon them for their manifold Sins.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord unto me, Go and get thee a linen girdle, and put it upon thy loins, and put it not in water. 2 So I got a girdle, according to the word of the Lord, and put it on my loins. 3 And the word of the Lord came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying, 4 Take the girdle that thou haſt got, which is upon thy loins, and ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock. 5 So I went and hid it by Euphrates, as the Lord commanded me. 6 And it came to paſs after many days, that the Lord ſaid unto me, Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there. 7 Then I went to Euphrates and digged, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it; and behold, the girdle was marred, it was profitable for nothing. 8 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 9 Thus ſaith the Lord, After this manner will I mar the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jeruſalem. 10 This evil people which refuſe to hear my words, which walk in the imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods to ſerve them, and to worſhip them, ſhall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing. 11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man; ſo have I cauſed to cleave unto me the whole houſe of Iſrael, and the whole houſe of Judah, ſaith the Lord; that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praiſe, and for a glory: but they would not hear. 12 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak unto them this word, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Every bottle ſhall be filled with wine: and they ſhall ſay unto thee, Do we not certainly know, that every bottle ſhall be filled with wine? 13 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that ſit upon Davids throne, and the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem with drunkenneſs. 14 And I will daſh them one againſt another, even the fathers and the ſons together, ſaith the Lord: I will not pity, nor ſpare, nor have mercy, but deſtroy them. 15 Hear ye, and give ear, be not proud: for the Lord hath ſpoken. 16 Give glory to the Lord your God before he cauſe darkneſs, and before your feet ſtumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye look for light, he turn it into the ſhadow of death, and make it groſs darkneſs. 17 But if ye will not hear it, my ſoul ſhall weep in ſecret places for your pride, and mine eye ſhall weep ſore, and run down with tears, becauſe the Lords flock is carried away captive. 18 Say unto the king, and to the queen, Humble yourſelves, ſit down; for your principalities ſhall come down, even the crown of your glory. 19 The cities of the ſouth ſhall be ſhut up, and none ſhall open them; Judah ſhall be carried away captive all of it, it ſhall be wholly carried away captive. 20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the north: where is the flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock? 21 What wilt thou ſay when he ſhall puniſh thee? (for thou haſt taught them to be captains, and as chief over thee) ſhall not ſorrows take thee as a woman in travail? 22 And if thou ſay in thine heart, Wherefore come theſe things upon me? for the greatneſs of thine iniquity are thy ſkirts diſcovered, and thy heels made bare. 23 Can the Ethiopian change his ſkin, or the leopard his ſpots? then may ye alſo do good, that are accuſtomed to do evil. 24 Therefore will I ſcatter them as the ſtubble that paſſeth away by the wind of the wilderneſs. 25 This is thy lot, the portion of thy meaſures from me, ſaith the Lord; becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and truſted in falſhood. 26 Therefore will I diſcover thy ſkirts upon thy face, that thy ſhame may appear. 27 I have ſeen thine adulteries, and thy neighings, the lewdneſs of thy whoredom, and thine abominations on the hills in the fields: wo unto thee, O Jeruſalem, wilt thou not be made clean? when ſhall it once be?

And put it not in Water] To repreſent the Jews in their corrupt State of Nature, when they had nothing to recommend them to God's Grace and Favour. Compare Ezek. xvi. 4.

Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in the Hole of a Rock] God commanded the Prophet to hide the Girdle by the Bank of Euphrates, to ſignify the Jews being carried Captive over that River, called the Water of Babylon, Pſ. cxxxvii. 1. Moſt Commentators are of Opinion, That this was performed by the Prophet only in a Viſion. It not being probable that God ſhould ſend him two ſuch long Journeys as are mention'd here, and Ver. 6. merely upon this Errand. See a like Inſtance, Ch. xxv. 17. Several Things are related in Scripture as actually done, which yet were only tranſacted in a Viſion; a remarkable Inſtance of which we read, Gen. xv. 25. where the Text ſaith, that God brought Abraham forth abroad, and bid him tell the Stars; and yet it appears by the 12th Verſe, that the Sun

Sun was not gone down: See this Queſtion at large diſcuſſed by the learned Dr. Pocock, in his Commentary upon the Beginning of Hoſea.

Every Bottle ſhall be filled with Wine] God's Judgments are often repreſented under the Figure of a Cup full of intoxicating Liquor: See this Metaphor at large purſued, Ch. xxv. 15, &c. To the ſame Purpoſe God tells them here, that as they have all ſinned, ſo ſhall every one have his Share in the Puniſhment.

And they ſhall ſay unto thee, Do we not certainly know that every Bottle ſhall be filled with Wine?] God, that knew the Profaneneſs of their Hearts, foretels the Reply they will make to this Threatning, that, taking it in a literal Senſe, they will make a Jeſt of it, as if the Words were intended to encourage Intemperance; either they did not, or would not underſtand the Drift of them. See Ch. vi. 10.

Say unto the King and to the Queen, Humble yourſelves, and ſit down, &c.] By the King and Queen may probably be meant Jehoiakim and his Mother, who was carried Captive with him: See Ch. xx. 26. 2 Kings xxiv. 12. The Prophet tells them, they muſt both come down from their high Eſtate, and ſit down upon the Ground, or in the Duſt, i. e. in a Poſture of Mourning or Lamentation. See Lam. ii. 20. Iſa. iii. 26. xlvii. 1.

The Cities of the South ſhall be ſhut, and none ſhall open them] Shutting up ſignifies a State of Bondage, and opening a State of Liberty. See Pſ. xxxi. 8. Job xii. 14. The Verb Sagar, here render'd ſhut up, is ſometimes taken for delivering or giving up into the Power of another; and is render'd in the Septuagint by Παραδίδωμι: See Deut. xxiii. 15. xxxii. 30. 1 Sam. xxiii. 12. Job xvi. 11. Pſ. lxxviii. 48. Taking the Words in either Senſe, they denote that the Cities of Judah ſhall be given up into the Enemies Hands, and none ſhall be able to reſcue them. Judah is called the South, in Oppoſition to Chaldea, expreſſed by the North in the next Verſe. See Ch. i. 14.

Can the Ethiopian change his Skin?] The Hebrew Word Cuſh, which our Tranſlators render by the Word Ethiopia, does often ſignify Arabia in Scripture: Ethiopia being by the antient Writers diſtinguiſh'd into the Eaſtern, the ſame with Arabia, and Weſtern Ethiopia, as Ludolphus obſerves. Bochart indeed maintains, That the Word is never uſed for Ethiopia, properly ſo called. But this Text, ſays Lowth, is a good Proof to the contrary, which may moſt probably be underſtood of the Africans, or Blackmores, as they are commonly called. The Word is likewiſe joined with the Lubims, or Lybians, in other Places, as 2 Chron. xii. 3. xvi. 8. Dan. xi. 43. and with Phut, another People of Africa: See Jer. xlvi. 9. Ezek. xxx. 5. xxxviii. 5. Nah. iii. 9. In the ſame Senſe Cuſh muſt be underſtood, Eſth. i. 1. where Ahaſuerus is ſaid to reign from India to Cuſh, or Ethiopia; becauſe the Words relate to the Conqueſts of Egypt and Ethiopia by Cambyſes; by whoſe Victories, and the ſucceſsful Arms of Darius Hyſtaſpes, the Perſian Empire was enlarged from 120 to 127 Provinces. Compare the Text with Dan. vi. 1.

CHAP. XIV.

God viſits Judea with a terrible Famine, which the Prophet earneſtly prays God to avert; and ſhews how the falſe Prophets had deceived the People, by foretelling nothing but Peace and Proſperity.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah concerning the dearth. 2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh, they are black unto the ground, and the cry of Jeruſalem is gone up. 3 And the nobles have ſent their little ones to the waters, they came to the pits, and found no water, they returned with their veſſels empty: they were aſhamed and confounded, and covered their heads. 4 Becauſe the ground is chapt, for there was no rain in the earth, the plow-men were aſhamed, they covered the heads. 5 Yea, the hind alſo calved in the field, and forſook it, becauſe there was no graſs. 6 And the wild aſſes did ſtand in the high places, they ſnuffed up the wind like dragons: their eyes did fail, becauſe there was no graſs. 7 O Lord, though our iniquities teſtify againſt us, do thou it for thy names ſake: for our backſlidings are many, we have ſinned againſt thee. 8 O the hope of Iſrael, the ſaviour thereof in time of trouble, why ſhouldeſt thou be as a ſtranger in the land, and as a way-faring man, that turneth aſide to tarry for a night? 9 Why ſhouldeſt thou be as a man aſtonied, as a mighty man that can not ſave? yet thou, O Lord, art in the midſt of us, and we are called by thy name, leave us not. 10 Thus ſaith the Lord unto this people, Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord doth not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins. 11 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, Pray not for this people for their good. 12 When they faſt I will not hear their cry, and when they offer burnt-offering and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will conſume them by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence. 13 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, behold, the prophets ſay unto them, Ye ſhall not ſee the ſword, neither ſhall ye have famine, but I will give you aſſured peace in this place. 14 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, The prophets propheſy lies in my name, I ſent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither ſpake unto them: they propheſy unto you a falſe viſion and divination and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart. 15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the prophets that propheſy in my name and I ſent them not, yet they ſay, Sword and famine ſhall not be in this land, by ſword and famine ſhall thoſe prophets be conſumed. 16 And the people to whom they propheſy, ſhall be caſt out in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, becauſe of the famine, and the ſword, and they ſhall have none to bury them, them, their wives, nor their ſons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedneſs upon them. 17 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay this word unto them, Let mine eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not ceaſe: for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous blow. 18 If I go forth into the field, then behold the ſlain with the ſword; and if I enter into the city, then behold them that are ſick with famine; yea, both the prophet and the prieſt go about into a land that they know not. 19 Haſt thou utterly rejected Judah? hath thy ſoul lothed Zion? why haſt thou ſmitten us, and there is no healing for us? we looked for peace, and there is no good; and for the time of healing, and behold trouble. 20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickedneſs, and the iniquity of our fathers: for we have ſinned againſt thee. 21 Do not abhor us, for thy names ſake, do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory: remember, break not thy covenant with us. 22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cauſe rain? or can the heavens give ſhowers? art not thou he, O Lord our God? therefore we will wait upon thee thee: for thou haſt made all theſe things.

The wild Aſſes did ſtand in the high Places; they ſnuffed up the Wind as Dragons] They gaped after the cool Air upon the Tops of the Mountains, and drew it in greedily with their Mouths, as Naturaliſts obſerve of Dragons and great Serpents in hot and dry Seaſons. But the Word Tannim likewiſe ſignifies any great Fiſh; particularly a Crocodile, as it is plainly taken, Ezek. xxix. 3. xxxii. 2. In which Ludolphus underſtands the Word here, and tells us, that the Crocodiles put their Heads above Water, to refreſh themſelves by breathing in the cool Air.

And when they offer Burnt-offerings and an Oblation, I will not accept them] See Ch. vii. 20. The Word Mincah, render'd Oblation, was the Offering of fine Flour, mentioned Lev. ii. 1, &c. which always accompanied their Sacrifices; and is not ſo properly tranſlated Meat-offering by our Interpreters; whereas it ſhould rather be render'd, a Bread-offering, for it anſwers to the ἐκχύτης, and the Mola or Fartum of the Greeks and Romans.

For the Virgin Daughter of my People is broken with a great Breach] Thoſe Cities are called Virgins, which never came into a Conqueror's Hand; ſee Iſa. xxiii. 12. In the ſame Senſe the Prophet here calls Jeruſalem a Virgin, becauſe ſhe had been hitherto under God's immediate Protection, and preſerved by him from all the Attempts of his Enemies. Compare Amos v. 2. The Diſſolution of a Government or Body Politick, is called a Breach, by way of Alluſion to the breaking or disjointing of the Limbs of the Human Body: See Ch. viii. 21. Lam. ii. 13.

Do not diſgrace the Throne of thy Glory] Jeruſalem is called the City of God, Pſ. xlviii. 1. lxxxvii. 3. as he was in a peculiar Manner King of the Jews, and this was his Royal City, or chief Seat of his Kingdom. But the Words are chiefly to be underſtood of the Temple, and the Prophet beſeeches God not to give that up to be prophaned by Infidels, the Place which he had choſen for his peculiar Reſidence, where he ſat between the Cherubims as upon a Throne.

CHAP. XV.

God declares his irrevocable Purpoſe of bringing Deſolation and Captivity upon the Jewiſh Nation; and comforts Jeremiah under the Diſcouragements he met with in the Diſcharge of his Prophetical Office.

Ver. 1. THEN ſaid the Lord unto me, Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people; caſt them out of my ſight, and let them go forth. 2 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they ſay unto thee, Whither ſhall we go forth? then thou ſhalt tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Such as are for death, to death: and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword; and ſuch as are for the famine, to the famine; and ſuch as are for the captivity, to the captivity. 3 And I will appoint over them four kinds, ſaith the Lord: the ſword to ſlay, and the dogs to tear, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beaſts of the earth, to devour and deſtroy. 4 And I will cauſe them to be removed into all kingdoms of the earth, becauſe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Hezekiah king of Judah, for that which he did in Jeruſalem. 5 For who ſhall have pity upon thee, O Jeruſalem? or who ſhall bemoan thee? or who ſhall go aſide to aſk how thou doeſt? 6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, thou art gone backward: therefore will I ſtretch out my hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee; I am weary with repenting. 7 And I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land: I will bereave them of children, I will deſtroy my people, ſith they return not from their ways. 8 Their widows are increaſed to me above the ſand of the ſeas: I have brought upon them againſt the mother of the young men, a ſpoiler at noon-day: I have cauſed him to fall upon it ſuddenly, and terrors upon the city. 9 She that hath borne ſeven, languiſheth: ſhe hath given up the ghoſt, her ſun is gone down while it was yet day: ſhe hath been aſhamed and confounded, and the reſidue of them will I deliver to the ſword, before their enemies ſaith the Lord. 10 Wo is me, my mother, that thou haſt borne me a man of ſtrife, and a man of contention to the whole earth: I have neither lent on uſury, nor men have lent to me on uſury: yet every one of them doth curſe me. 11 The Lord ſaid, Verily it ſhall be well with thy remnant, verily I will cauſe the enemy to intreat thee well in the time of evil, and in the time of affliction. 12 Shall iron break the northern iron, and the ſteel? 13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſures will I give to the ſpoil without price, and that for all thy ſins, even in all thy borders. 14 And I will make thee to paſs with thine enemies into a land which thou knoweſt not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burn upon you. 15 O Lord, thou knoweſt, remember me, and viſit me, and revenge me of my perſecutors, take me not away in thy long ſuffering: know that for thy ſake I have ſuffered rebuke. 16 Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart, for I am called by thy name, O Lord God of hoſts. 17 I ſat not in the aſſembly of the mockers, nor rejoiced: I ſat alone becauſe of thy hand: for thou haſt filled me with indignation. 18 Why is my pain perpetual? and my wound incurable, which refuſeth to be healed? wilt thou be altogether unto me as a liar, and as waters that fail. 19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, If thou return, then will I bring thee again, and thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be as my mouth: let them return unto thee, but return not thou unto them. 20 And I will make thee unto this people a fenced braſen wall, and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſave thee, and to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord. 21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible.

Tho' Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my Mind could not be toward this People] As God had forbid Jeremiah before to intercede for them, becauſe it would be to no Purpoſe; ſo here he declares, that he would not admit the Prayers of any others, tho' eminent Favourites of God, in their Behalf. Moſes obtained Pardon for the People after their Sin of making the Golden Calf, Exod. xxxii. 34. and again, after their deſpiſing the promiſed Land, Numb. ix. 20. Samuel's Interceſſion prevailed for their Deliverance out of the Hands of the Philiſtines, 1 Sam. vii. 8. And theſe two Perſons are mentioned together as remarkably prevalent by their Prayers, Pſ. xcix. 6, 8. Thou anſwereſt them, O Lord our God, thou waſt a God that forgaveſt them, even when thou waſt juſt taking Vengeance upon their Inventions: For ſo the Words ſhould be tranſlated. But here God ſaith, that if theſe very Perſons were alive, live, and in that near Attendance to him, which they formerly enjoyed (for that is the Import of the Phraſe, To ſtand before him: See Ver. 19. Ch. xviii. 20. Deut. x. 8. 1 Kings xvii. 1.) yet even their Prayers ſhould not avert his Judgments from this People. Compare Ezek. xiv. 14.

I am weary with repenting] When God ſuſpends the Execution of his Judgments, he is ſaid to repent of the Evil he had threatened: See Ch. xviii. 8. This he had done ſo often, that he is repreſented like a Man whoſe Patience is at laſt quite tired out, it being to no Purpoſe to with-hold his Hand any longer from ſtriking. Compare Iſa. xliii. 24. Hos. xiii. 14. Mal. ii. 17.

Shall Iron break the Northern Iron, and the Steel?] The Northern Iron was the hardeſt in its Kind of any, viz. ſuch as the People called Chalybes, living near the Euxine Sea, prepared. The Words, if they are applied to Jeremy, import thus much, that as common Iron cannot contend with the Northern Iron, or with Steel; ſo the Oppoſition which the Jews make againſt thee ſhall be eaſily vanquiſhed and diſappointed, becauſe I am with thee to ſave thee, Ver. 20. If the Words relate to the Jews, as the following Verſes plainly do; the Senſe is, that the Chaldeans coming from the North, Ch. i. 15. will be as much too hard for the Jews to engage with, as the Northern Iron is ſuperior in Strength to the common Metal of that Kind.

Thy Words were found, and I did eat them, and thy Word was unto me Joy and rejoicing of Heart, &c.] As ſoon as I received, or underſtood thy Word, and the Meſſages thou didſt deliver to me, I treaſured them up in my Memory; I meditated upon them, and did inwardly digeſt them. It was a Pleaſure to me to think, I ſhould be an Inſtrument of conveying thy Commands to my Brethren, and that I ſhould have the Honour of being called thy Prophet or Meſſenger. The receiving God's Word, by which the Soul is nouriſhed, is elſewhere compared to corporal Food: See Ezek. iii. 1, 3. Rev. x. 9. Iſa. lv. 1, 2. Am. viii. 11. John vi. 27.

I ſat not in the Aſſembly of Mockers, nor rejoiced; I ſat alone] The Word Meſhahakim, here tranſlated Mockers, is elſewhere render'd, Thoſe that make merry: See Ch. xxx, 19. xxxi. 4. which Signification the Chaldee Paraphraſe follows, and, as I conceive, ſays Lowth, better ſuits this Place; the Senſe of which is, that Jeremy quickly found the Joy which he had conceived from the Honour of being a Prophet, was turned into Heavineſs; all his Prophecies containing nothing but terrible Denunciations of God's Indignation againſt a ſinful People. This makes me, ſaith he, ſit alone, renounce all chearful Converſation, and give myſelf to Solitarineſs and penſive Thoughts: Compare Lam. iii. 28. God's Judgments as they were repreſented to the Prophets, often raiſed ſuch dreadful Ideas in their Minds, as to affect them in an extraordinary Manner, eſpecially if their Threatenings concern'd their own Country, or the Church of God: See Ch. xxiii. 9. Ezek. iii. 4. Dan. vii. 28. Habak. iii. 2, 16.

CHAP. XVI.

God forbids the Prophet the Uſe of ſuch Rejoicings as were cuſtomary at Marriage-Feſtivals, and likewiſe the Solemnities practiſed at Funerals: Intimating, that in the Times of the utmoſt Diſtraction, ſuch as were coming upon the Jews, all the ſolemn Rites both of Joy and Mourning ſhould ceaſe. Yet withal, he adds a Promiſe to them of ſuch a Reſtoration, as ſhall be more wonderful than their Deliverance out of Egypt.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came alſo unto me, ſaying, 2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons nor daughter in this place. 3 For thus ſaith the Lord concerning the ſons, and concerning the daughters that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bare them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land; 4 They ſhall die of grievous deaths, they ſhall not be lamented, neither ſhall they be buried; but they ſhall be as dung upon the face of the earth, and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword and by famine, and their carcaſes ſhall be meat for the fowls of heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth. 5 For thus ſaith the Lord, Enter not into the houſe of mourning, neither go to lament, nor bemoan them: for I have taken away my peace from this people, ſaith the Lord, even loving-kindneſs and mercies. 6 Both the great and the ſmall ſhall die in this land: they ſhall not be buried, neither ſhall men lament for them, nor cut themſelves, nor make themſelves bald for them. 7 Neither ſhall men tear themſelves for them in mourning, to comfort them for the dead, neither ſhall men give them the cup of conſolation to drink for their father, or for their mother. 8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting, to ſit with them to eat and to drink. 9 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride. 10 And it ſhall come to paſs, when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe words, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great evil againſt us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our ſin that we have committed againſt the Lord our God? 11 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Becauſe your fathers have forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and have walked after other gods, and have ſerved them, and have worſhipped them, and have forſaken me, and have not kept my law; 12 And ye have done worſe than your fathers; (for behold, ye walk every one after the imagination of his evil heart, that they may not hearken unto me) 13 Therefore will I caſt you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither ye nor your fathers, and there ſhall ye ſerve other gods day and night, where I will not ſhew you favour. 14 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhall no more be ſaid, The Lord liveth, that brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt. 15 But, the Lord liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them: and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers. 16 Behold, I will ſend for many fiſhers, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall fiſh them; and after will I ſend for many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks. 17 For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes. 18 And firſt I will recompenſe their iniquity, and their ſin double; becauſe they have defiled my land, they have filled mine inheritance with the carcaſes of their deteſtable and abominable things. 19 O Lord, my ſtrength and my fortreſs, my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and shall say, Surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit. 20 Shall a man make gods unto himself, and they are no gods? 21 Therefore, behold, I will this once cause them to know, I will cause them to know mine hand and my might, and they shall know that my name is the Lord.

Neither shall Men tear themselves for them in Mourning, &c.] According to this Translation, the Phrase alludes to another Expression of immoderate Grief, which consisted in taring their Flesh with their Nails. —Unguibus ora soror fœdans; her Sister mangling her Face with her Nails, as Virgil describes it. But according the Marginal Reading, the Sense is, Neither shall Men break [Bread] for them; alluding to the Mourning Feast, mentioned Ver. 5. See likewise Ezek. xxiv. 17. Hos. ix. 4. Tobit iv. 17.

And there shall ye serve other Gods Day and Night] The Opportunities of frequenting the publick Worship of the true God shall be taken from you, as a just Judgment upon you for the Neglect of his Service in your own Country; and you shall be exposed to the Peril of committing Idolatry; and being seduced by the Chaldeans to the Worship of their Idols: Compare Deut. iv. 28. xxviii. 36. 1 Sam. xxvi. 19.

Mr. Mede expounds the Words of their serving other Gods, in a political Sense, i. e. serving those Nations who worshipped other Gods. The Chaldee Paraphrase explains the Phrase to the same Purpose, ye shall serve those People that worship Idols Day and Night.

Therefore behold the Days come, saith the Lord] The Particle laken, translated therefore, sometimes signifies nevertheless, or yet surely; and so it is translated Ch. v. 2. of this Prophecy; which Sense agrees best with the Scope of this Place, and connects this Verse with the Words foregoing. So it should be render'd likewise Ch. xxx. 16. xxxii. 36.

Behold I will send for many Fishers, and they shall fish for them; and afterward I will send for many Hunters, and they shall hunt them] Enemies and Oppressors are elsewhere represented under the Metaphors of Fishers and Hunters: See Gen. x. 9. Am. iv. 2. Habak. i. 14, 15. because they use all the Methods of open Force and secret Wiles (frequently compared to Nets) in order to make Men their Prey: See Ezek. xii. 13. Hos. v. 1. These two Similitudes imply, that the Chaldeans shall make an entire Conquest and Booty of the whole Land, of its Inhabitants and their Riches; and what shall escape one Party, shall fall into the Hands of another.

O Lord my Strength and my Fortress — the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the Ends of the Earth] The more emphatically to demonstrate the Absurdity of forsaking the True God, and apostatizing to Idolatry; the Prophet foretels, that the Time will come when the Gentiles shall be ashamed of the Idolatry they and their Fore-fathers have been so long guilty of; shall humbly confess this their Sin, and address themselves to the true God in all their Wants, as their only Refuge and Protection.

Therefore behold, I will this once cause them to know — my Hand and my Might] The Phrase which our English renders this once, may be translated at this Time, as it is 2 Sam. xvii. 7. If we understand the Verse of the Gentiles, mentioned in the foregoing Verse, the Sense is, That God will at the Time foretold, Ver. 19. exert his Power in an extraordinary Manner for their Conversion. Compare Isa. lii. 10. If we apply the Words to the Jews, they import, That he will manifest his Power, in bringing upon them all the Evils already threatened against them, and they should know that he is the Lord, a Fulfiller of his Threatenings, as well as a Performer of his Promises. Compare Ezek. vi. 7. xii. 10. xxiv. 24, 27. This Sense the Chaldee Paraphrase expresses.

CHAP. XVII.

After having renewed his Threatenings against the Jews for their Sins; the Prophet encourages himself, and other well-disposed Persons, to trust in God alone. A Charge to the King and People for strictly observing the Sabbath.

Ver. 1. THE sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond; it is graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars: 2 Whilst their children remember their altars and their groves by the green trees upon the high hills. 3 O my mountain in the field, I will give thy substance, and all thy treasures to the spoil, and thy high places for sin, throughout all thy borders. 4 And thou, even thyself shalt discontinue from thine heritage that I gave thee, and I will cause thee to serve thine enemies in the land which thou knowest not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burn for ever. 5 Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord. 6 For he shall be like the heath in the desart, and shall not see when good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land and not inhabited. 7 Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. 8 For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green, and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit. 9 The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked, who can know it? 10 I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings. 11 As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not: so he that getteth riches and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool. 12 A glorious high throne from the beginning, is the place of our sanctuary. 13 O Lord the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountain of living waters. 14 Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise. 15 Behold, they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now. 16 As for me, I have not hastned from being a pastor to follow thee, neither have I desired the woful day, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee. 17 Be not a terror unto me, thou art my hope in the day of evil. 18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be dismayed, but let not me be dismayed: bring upon them the day of evil, and destroy them with double destruction. 19 Thus said the Lord unto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem: 20 And say unto them, Hear ye the word of the

the Lord, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, that enter in by theſe gates. 21 Thus ſaith the Lord, Take heed to yourſelves, and bear no burden on the ſabbath-day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jeruſalem. 22 Neither carry forth a burden out of your houſes on the ſabbath-day, neither do ye any work, but hallow the ſabbath-day, as I commanded your fathers. 23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck ſtiff, that they might not hear nor receive inſtruction. 24 And it ſhall come to paſs, if ye diligently hearken unto me, ſaith the Lord, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the ſabbath-day, but hallow the ſabbath-day, to do no work therein: 25 Then ſhall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horſes, they and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and this city ſhall remain for ever. 26 And they ſhall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jeruſalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the ſouth, bringing burnt-offerings and ſacrifices, and meat-offerings, and incenſe, and bringing ſacrifices of praiſe unto the houſe of the Lord. 27 But if you will not hearken unto me to hallow the ſabbath day, and not to bear a burden even entring in at the gates of the city of Jeruſalem on the ſabbath-day: then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it ſhall devour the palaces of Jeruſalem, and it ſhall not be quenched.

And thou even thyſelf ſhalt diſcontinue me from thine Heritage] The Hebrew Word Shamattah, diſcontinue, alludes to the ſeventh Year of Releaſe enjoined by Moſes, Deut. xv. 1. which Laws the Jews had a long Time neglected out of Covetouſneſs; and refuſed to obſerve, even after a ſolemn Engagement to the contrary; See Ch. xxxiv. 8, &c. So here the Words imply, that ſince they would not releaſe their Land, nor their Servants in the Sabbatical Years, as God had enjoined them, he would releaſe them from the Poſſeſſions he had given them; and then the Land ſhould enjoy her Sabbaths, according to the Preſcription of the Law. Levit. xxvi. 34.

As the Partridge ſitteth on Eggs, and hatcheth them not: So he that getteth Riches but not by Right, ſhall leave them in the Midſt of his Days] It is very uncertain what kind of Bird the Hebrew Word Kore denotes. Bochart thinks the Deſcription of it in the Arabick Writers, doth by no Means agree to a Partridge: So that it is needleſs to enquire whether the Quality here mentioned belong to that Bird. The Sentence may be beſt render'd thus; As the Bird Kore hatcheth Eggs which ſhe did not lay: So he that getteth Riches, &c. As when Eggs are hatched by a Bird of a different Species, when once the young ones are fledged they never ſtay with their Dam that hatched and nouriſhed them: So he that increaſes an Eſtate which he did not come honeſtly by at firſt, ſhall never proſper long with it. Criticks obſerve, that the Hebrew Verb Yalad, tranſlated here hatcheth, properly ſignifies laying the Eggs; the Hatching them being expreſſed by the Verbs Bakang and Dagar, the Word uſed in the Text, which our Tranſlators render ſetteth on Eggs, but doth not properly ſignify hatching them.

And they that depart from me ſhall be written on the Earth] They that forſake my Law, ſaith God, and their Reliance on me, ſhall not be regiſter'd among my People, nor ſhall their Names be written in Heaven, or in the Book of Life. Compare Ezek. xiii. 9. Pſ. lxix. 28. Luke x. 20. Phil. iv. 3. The Expreſſion alludes to the Regiſters that are kept of ev ry City and Corporation, the Privileges of whi Society none can pretend to, but they that have th Names enter'd in ſuch Regiſters. See Ezra ii. 9.

Then ſhall there enter into the Gate of this City Ki and Princes ſitting upon the Throne of David] Co pare Ch. xxii. 4. From hence it appears, that t Judgments denounced againſt Jeruſalem at leaſt as f as they threatened the City with utter Deſtructio were not irreverſible. And from Jeremy's Advice Zedekiah, Ch. xxxviii. 17. it may be concluded, th if the King had hearkened to that Counſel, the C would not have been deſtroyed, and he himſelf mi have continued a Tributary under Nebuchadrezz 'Tis true, that in ſeveral other Chapters of this P phecy, God, upon Foreſight of the Jews Impeniten pronounces a peremptory Sentence upon them. S Ch. iv. 28.

CHAP. XVIII.

Under the Figure of a Potter, the Prophet ſhe God's abſolute Power in diſpoſing of Kingdo and thereupon exhorts the Jews to Repentan He bewails their Obſtinacy, and threatens D ſtruction to thoſe that deviſed Evil againſt h

Ver. 1. THE word which came to Jerem from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Ar and go down to the potters houſe, and ther will cauſe thee to hear my words. 3 Then went down to the potters houſe, and beho he wrought a work on the wheels. 4 And veſſel that he made of clay, was marred in hand of the potter, ſo he made it again anot veſſel, as ſeemed good to the potter to m it. 5 Then the word of the Lord came to faying, 6 O houſe of Iſrael, cannot I do you as this potter? ſaith the Lord, Behold the clay is in the potters hand, ſo are ye mine hand, O houſe of Iſrael. 7 At what ſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation, concerning a kingdom to pluck up, and pull down, and to deſtroy it. 8 If that na againſt whom I have pronounced, turn fr their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thou to do unto them. 9 And at what inſta ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation, and concer a kingdom to build and to plant it: 10 I do evil in my ſight, that it obey not my v then I will repent of the good wherewi ſaid, I would benefit them. 11 Now there go to, ſpeak to the men of Judah, and to inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith Lord, behold, I frame evil againſt you, and viſe a device againſt you: return ye now e one from his evil way, and make your ways your doings good. 12 And they ſaid, T is no hope, but we will walk after our devices, and we will every one do the imag tion of his evil heart. 13 Therefore thus the Lord, Aſk ye now among the hea who hath heard ſuch things? the virgin o rael hath done a very horrible thing. 14 a man leave the ſnow of Lebanon which co from the rock of the field? or ſhall the flowing waters that come from another p be forſaken? 15 Becauſe my people hath for ten me, they have burnt incenſe to vanity, they have cauſed them to ſtumble in their from the antient paths, to walk in paths, in a not caſt up: 16 To make their land deſo and a perpetual hiſſing: every one that pa the thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and wag his head. 17 I will ſcatter them as with an eaſt wind before the enemy: I will ſhew them the back and not the face, in the day of their calamity. 18 Then ſaid they, Come, and let us deviſe devices againſt Jeremiah: for the law ſhall not periſh from the prieſt, nor counſel from the wiſe, nor the word from the prophet: come, and let us ſmite him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words. 19 Give heed to me, O Lord, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me. 20 Shall evil be recompenſed for good? for they have digged a pit for my ſoul: remember that I ſtood before thee to ſpeak good for them, and to turn away thy wrath from them. 21 Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and pour out their blood by the force of the ſword, and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows, and let their men be put to death, let their young men be ſlain by the ſword in battel. 22 Let a cry be heard from their houſes, when thou ſhalt bring a troop ſuddenly upon them, for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid ſnares for my feet. 23 Yet Lord, thou knoweſt all their counſel againſt me to ſlay me: forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their ſin from thy ſight, but let them be overthrown before thee; deal thus with them in the time of thine anger.

I will repent of the Evil I thought to do unto them] we take Repentance in a ſtrict and proper Senſe, for Change of the inward Purpoſes and Reſolutions, it cannot be applied to God, according to that ſaying of Balaam; God is not a Man that he ſhould repent, Numb. xxiii. 19. Therefore whenever Repentance is aſcribed to God, it muſt be meant only of a Change with reſpect to the outward Adminiſtrations of his Providence, and his Dealing with Men otherwiſe than he did before. And this doth not imply a Change in God but only in ourſelves: He ſtill acts by the ſame Rules; but we, according to our different Behaviour, become the Objects either of his Favour or Diſpleaſure.

I will repent of the Good, wherewith I ſaid I will bleſs them] From this and the foregoing Verſe we may infer, That Gods Promiſes in Scripture, however uttered in general Terms, are yet for the moſt part to be underſtood only conditionally, according as Men behave themſelves, eſpecially when applied to particular Perſons: See Numb. xiv. 34. And as God did juſtly reject thoſe Jews, who refuſed to embrace the Goſpel, notwithſtanding the general Promiſes he had made to that People; ſo neither can particular Chriſtians nor Churches lay any Claim to God's general Promiſe of preſerving his Church, any further than they keep cloſe to that Rule of Faith and Manners which he hath preſcribed to them in the New Teſtament.

Return ye now every one from his evil Ways, &c.] This and the parallel Texts ſhew, that God's Threatnings are not to be underſtood as abſolute Predictions, but ſuch as may be reverſed upon Mens Repentance, as appears in the famous Inſtance of Nineveh.

Will a Man leave the Snow of Lebanon, which comes from the Rock of the Field?] Lebanon derives its Name from the Whiteneſs of the Snow that covers the Top of it, even in Summer-time, as Travellers aſſure us. If we follow the Tranſlation in the Text, the Senſe is, It is as ſtrange and incredible for Men to forſake the true God for Idols, as it would be for a thirſty Traveller to forego the cold refreſhing Streams that meet him in his Way: See Prov. xxv. 25. But the Word Sela, which our Engliſh renders from the Rock, may alſo ſignify Dew or Moiſture; from whence Mat-ſor or Mitſraim, the Name of Egypt, is derived, becauſe of its being watered by the River Nile. And then the Words may be tranſlated thus: Shall one have the Moiſture of the Field [for] the Snow-Water of Lebanon; or ſhall the running Waters be forſaken for the muddy Waters?

Let us deviſe Devices againſt Jeremiah, for the Law ſhall not periſh from the Prieſt, nor Counſel from the Wiſe, nor the Word from the Prophet] Let us accuſe him for a falſe Prophet; for his Threatnings plainly contradict God's Promiſes to his People, whereby we are aſſured, that there will always be a Succeſſion of Prieſts to explain the Laws; of Scribes or learned Men, to unfold the Difficulties that may ariſe concerning the more obſcure Parts of it; and of Prophets to inſtruct the People in the Knowledge of that which is to come: Compare Ch. viii. 8. Mat. xxiii. 34.

They probably grounded their Confidence of a Succeſſion of Prieſts, to explain the Law, and guide Mens Conſciences, upon that Paſſage of Moſes, Deut. xvii. 9. where they are commanded to conſult the Prieſts upon any emergent Difficulty, and follow their Determination; compare Ch. vii. 4. Baſnage in his Hiſtory of the Jews, by Wiſe Men underſtands thoſe who were Judges of Controverſies in their Synagogues, whoſe Buſineſs it was to give Counſel or Determination in ſuch Caſes as wereb rought before them; in which Senſe he underſtands the Wiſe Men mentioned by St. Paul, 1 Cor. vi. 5.

CHAP. XIX.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, Go and get a potters earthen bottle, and take of the antients of the people, and of the antients of the prieſts. 2 And go forth unto the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the eaſt-gate, and proclaim there the words that I ſhall tell thee: 3 And ſay, Hear ye the word of the Lord, O kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, the which whoſoever heareth, his ears ſhall tingle. 4 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and have eſtranged this place, and have burnt incenſe in it unto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents: 5 They have built alſo the high places of Baal, to burn their ſons with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my mind: 6 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter. 7 And I will make void the counſel of Judah and Jeruſalem in this place, and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword, before their enemies, and by the hands of them that ſeek their lives: and their carcaſes will I give to be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth. 8 And I will make this city deſolate, and an hiſſing: every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed and hiſs, becauſe of all the plagues thereof. 9 And I will cauſe them to eat the fleſh of their ſons, and the fleſh of their daughters, and they ſhall eat every one the fleſh of his friend, in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs, wherewith their enemies, and they that ſeek their lives, ſhall ſtraiten them. 10 Then ſhalt thou break the bottle in the ſight of the men that go with thee. 11 And ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Even ſo will I break this people, and this city, as one breaketh a potters veſſel that cannot be made whole again, and they ſhall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury. 12 Thus will I do unto this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet. 13 And the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes of the kings of Judah ſhall be defiled as the place of Tophet, becauſe of all the houſes, upon whoſe roofs they have burnt incenſe unto all the hoſt of heaven, and have poured out drink-offerings unto other gods. 14 Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, whither the Lord had ſent him to propheſie, and he ſtood in the court of the Lords houſe, and ſaid to all the people, 15 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring upon this city and upon all her towns all the evil that I have pronounced againſt it; becauſe they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

Go, get thee a Potter's earthen Bottle] An earthen Pitcher with a narrow Neck made to drink out of; in the Hebrew Bakbuk, called ſo from the Noiſe that the Draught of Liquor made; ſo the Greek Word Βομβύλιον, and the old Latin Verb Bilbire, are derived from the like Sound. By this Emblem the Prophet ſignified, that the City and People might be as eaſily deſtroyed, if God ſo pleaſed, as an earthen Veſſel could be broken; ſee Ch. xviii. 5.

Which is by the Entry of the Eaſt-gate] By which Men entered into the Temple, from whence they have a Proſpect of the Valley of Hinnom, which lay South Eaſt of the Temple: See Joſh. xv. 8. and Dr. Lightfoot's Deſcription of the Temple. The Hebrew reads, The Gate Harſith, which ſome interpret the Dung-gate, mentioned Nehem. ii. 13. Others the Potter's-gate; the Potter's Field being near the Temple. See Zech. xi. 13. Matt. xxvii. 10.

To burn their Sons with Fire for Burnt-offerings to Baal] The Idol to whom theſe inhuman Sacrifices were offered, is elſewhere called Molech; See Levit. xviii. 21. 2 Kings xxiii. 10. Baal and Molech were two Names promiſcuouſly given to one and the ſame Idol, as appears from Chap. xxxii. 35. of this Propheſy: They have built the high Places of Baal, which are in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to cauſe their Sons and their Daughters to paſs thro' the Fire unto Molech.

Baal and Molech are equivalent Words, both ſignifying Lord or King; and ſeem to have been promiſcuouſly given by each Idolatrous Nation, to that Idol they chiefly worſhipped. And as the Worſhip of Baal or Belus, prevailed in ſeveral Countries; ſo Molech was eſteemed a principal Idol in other Nations, as appears by the Names of Malcam, Melicerta, Adrammelech, Anammelech, and the like, all derived from the Word Molech: See Dr. Spencer, de Leg. Hebr. L. ii. C. 10.

Then thou ſhalt break the Bottle in the Sight of the Men] To give them a ſenſible Repreſentation of the Ruin threatened againſt them. See Ch. li. 63, 64.

Even ſo will I break this People, and this City] The breaking of an earthen Veſſel, is a proper Emblem of utter Ruin; for ſuch a one, when it is broken, can never be mended, or put to any further Uſe. See Iſa. xxx. 14.

CHAP. XX.

Upon Paſhur's ill Treatment of Jeremiah, he falls into a grievous Complaint of the Hardſhips that attended the Diſcharge of his Prophetical Office, which made him weary of his Life.

Ver. 1. NOW Paſhur the ſon of Immer the prieſt, who was alſo chief governor in the houſe of the Lord, heard that Jeremiah propheſied theſe things. 2 Then Paſhur ſmote Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the ſtocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the houſe of the Lord. 3 And it came to paſs on the morrow that Paſhur brought forth Jeremiah out of the ſtocks. Then ſaid Jeremiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Paſhur, but Magor-miſſabib. 4 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee a terror to thyſelf, and to all thy friends, and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eyes ſhall behold it, and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall carry them captive into Babylon, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword. 5 Moreover I will deliver all the ſtrength of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hand of their enemies which ſhall ſpoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon. 6 And thou, Paſhur, and all that dwell in thine houſe ſhall go into captivity, and thou ſhalt come to Babylon, and there thou ſhalt die, and ſhalt be buried there, thou, and all thy friends, to whom thou haſt propheſied lies. 7 O Lord, thou haſt deceived me, and I was deceived: thou art ſtronger than I, and haſt prevailed: I am in deriſion daily, every one mocketh me. 8 For ſince I ſpake, I cried out, I cried violence and ſpoil; becauſe the word of the Lord was made a reproach unto me, and a deriſion daily. 9 Then I ſaid, I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeak any more in his name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire ſhut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not ſtay. 10 For I heard the defaming of many, fear on every ſide: Report, ſay they, and we will report it: all my familiars watched for my halting, ſaying, Peradventure he will be enticed, and we ſhall prevail againſt him, and we ſhall take our revenge on him. 11 But the Lord is with me as a mighty terrible one: therefore my perſecutors ſhall ſtumble, and they ſhall not prevail: they ſhall be greatly aſhamed; for they ſhall not proſper, their everlaſting confuſion ſhall never be forgotten. 12 But, O Lord of hoſts, that triedſt the righteous, and ſeeſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cauſe. 13 Sing unto the Lord, praiſe ye the Lord; for he hath delivered the ſoul of the poor from the hand of evil doers. 14 Curſed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bare me be bleſſed. 15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, ſaying, A man child is born unto thee, making him very glad. 16 And let that man be as the cities which the Lord overthrew and repented not: and let him hear the cry in the morning, and the ſhouting at noon-tide: 17 Becauſe he ſlew me not from the womb; or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb to be always great with me. 18 Wherefore came I forth out of the womb to ſee labour and ſorrow, that my days ſhould be conſumed with ſhame.

Now Paſhur the Son of Immer the Prieſt, alſo chief Governor in the Houſe of the Lord] The mily of Immer was the ſixteenth in Order of the four and twenty Courſes of the Prieſts: See 1 Chron. xxiv. 14. And this Paſhur, by being Head of his Family, had a principal Authority in ordering Matters relating to the Temple, and keeping good Orders there: And therefore is called Chief Governor, or a Chief Governor in the Houſe of the Lord; ſee there Ver. 5. So Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, are called Chief Rulers of the Houſe of God, 2 Chron. xxxv. 8. becauſe the firſt of them was Chief Prieſt, and the other two probably the Head of their Courſes. To the ſame Senſe we may underſtand the Prieſts of the ſecond Order, mentioned 2 Kings xxxiii. 4. If we ſuppoſe Paſhur to have been in a ſtrict Senſe, Chief, or ſupreme Governor in the Houſe of God; he ſeems to have been the ſame Officer that is called Captain of the Temple, Acts iv. 1. He that was ſet over the ſeveral Watches or Guards of the Prieſts and Levites: For they kept Watch and Ward in the Temple, both Day and Night: See Pſal. cxxxiv. 2. and Lightfoot upon Luke xxii. 4.

And put him in the Stocks that was in the High Gate of Benjamin] The Septuagint underſtand the Word tranſlated the Stocks, of a Dungeon, or Houſe of Correction, which was in one of the outer Courts of the Temple. This the Text ſays was placed in the high Gate of Benjamin, which Dr. Lightfoot explains of the upper Gate in the Tribe of Benjamin that led to the Temple; the Mountain upon which the Temple ſtood, being partly in the Tribe of Benjamin, and partly in that of Judah.

The Lord hath not called thy Name Paſhur, but Magormiſſabib] The Name which I give thee, ſignifies Fear, or Terror round about; and thou thyſelf ſhalt be a dreadful Example of thoſe Calamities which are coming upon thy Friends, and all the Inhabitants of this City: Compare Ch. vi. 25. xlvi. 5. xlix. 29. Lam. ii. 22.

O Lord, thou haſt deceived me, &c.] The following Verſes are Jeremy's doleful Reflections upon the ill Succeſs of his Prophecies, which had little good Effect upon others, and brought a good deal of Harm to himſelf. The Senſe is, Thou haſt promiſed to be my Safeguard againſt mine Enemies; but yet I find myſelf diſappointed, and left expoſed to their Malice: Compare Ch. xv. 18. Some render the Words, Thou haſt perſuaded me, and I was perſuaded; that is, I was over-perſuaded to undertake the Office of a Prophet. The following Words favour this Senſe.

Curſed be the Man who brought Tidings to my Father, &c.] This Lamentation is written in poetical Figures, like the antient Næniæ, or Funeral Songs, wherein all the Circumſtances are brought in, that are proper to raiſe the Paſſions, and therefore are not to be looked upon as ſo many Expreſſions of Indignation or Malice, but rather of Mourning and Sorrow. Juſt ſuch are thoſe Figures we read in David's Funeral Song upon Saul and Jonathan. Ye Mountains of Gilboa, let there be no Dew, neither let there be Rain upon you, &c. 1 Sam. i. 21. And as in the Forms of Rejoicing upon a Birth-Day; they bleſſed every one concerned in the Birth, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the Womb that bare thee, and the like: And he that brought the joyful News was always rewarded; ſo in the Forms of Sorrow for the Miſerable, they uſed the quite contrary Expreſſions. Lowth acknowledges himſelf indebted to Biſhop Chandler for this Explanation.

And the ſhouting at Noon-tide] The Alarm of War, as the Word is render'd, Ch. iv. 19. or ſuch a Rejoicing as the Enemies make over the Vanquiſhed. To hear the Cry in the Morning, and ſhouting at Noon-day, ſignifies being perpetually alarmed with the Terrors of an hoſtile Invaſion: Compare Ch. vi. 4. The ſame Learned Perſon underſtands this Verſe of the Lamentations made at Funerals, which were performed, not only with mournful Voices, but likewiſe with Inſtruments of Muſick, implied in the Word Teruah, Shouting: See Matt. ix. 23. It was the Cuſtom of the Jews upon a Funeral-day, to begin their Lamentations early in the Morning, and continue them till the Afternoon, when the Body was carried out to be buried. So the Senſe of the Verſe will be, Let this Man have every Day an Occaſion of Lamentation.

CHAP. XXI.

Zedekiah ſends to Jeremiah to enquire the Event of Nebuchadnezzar's War. Jeremiah foretels a hard Siege and miſerable Captivity. He counſels the People to fall to the Chaldeans, and upbraids the King's Houſe.

Ver. 1. THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah ſent unto him Paſhur the ſon of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, ſaying, 2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for us (for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon maketh war againſt us) if ſo be that the Lord will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us. 3 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to Zedekiah, 4 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight againſt the king of Babylon, and againſt the Chaldeans, which beſiege you without the walls, and I will aſſemble them into the midſt of this city. 5 And I myſelf will fight againſt you with an out-ſtretched hand and with a ſtrong arm, even in anger, and in fury, and in great wrath. 6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence. 7 And afterwards, ſaith the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his ſervants, and the people, and ſuch as are left in this city from the peſtilence, from the ſword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their life, and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword: he ſhall not ſpare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy. 8 And unto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I ſet before you the way of life, and the way of death. 9 He that abideth in this city, ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out and falleth to the Chaldeans that beſiege you, he ſhall live, and his life ſhall be unto him for a prey. 10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city for evil, and not for good, ſaith the Lord; it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire. 11 And touching the houſe of the king of Judah, ſay, Hear ye the word of the Lord. 12 O houſe of David, thus ſaith the Lord, Execute judgment in the morning, and deliver him that is ſpoiled, out of the hand of the oppreſſor, leſt my fury go out like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings. 13 Behold, I am againſt thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, ſaith the Lord, which ſay, Who ſhall come down againſt us? or who ſhall enter into our habitations? 14 But I will puniſh you according to the fruit of your doings, ſaith the Lord: and I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof, and it ſhall devour all things round about it.

When King Zedekiah ſent Paſhur the Son of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the Son of Maaſeiah the Prieſt] This Paſhur was a different Perſon from him mentioned Ch. xx. 1. See Ch. xxxviii. 1. Zephaniah is called the ſecond Prieſt, Ch. lii. 24. and 2 Kings xxv. 18.

that is, he was the High Prieſt's Sagan, or Deputy. Compare Jer. xxix. 25.

The Occaſion of Zedekiah's Meſſage, mentioned at the Beginning of this Chapter, ſeems to be the Chaldeans raiſing the Siege of Jeruſalem, in order to meet the Egyptian Army that was come to its Relief: See Ch. xxxviii. 5. which gave Zedekiah Hopes of Deliverance from the Chaldeans, which were very much quaſh'd by the Return of that Army, and renewing of the Siege. Hereupon Zedekiah enquires by Meſſengers concerning the Event of the War: Compare Ver. 9. of this Chapter, with Ch. xxxviii. 2. The latter Part of the Chapter from Ver. 11. belongs to the ſame Subject with the xxth Chapter, and relates to the Time of Jehoiakim.

Behold, I will turn back the Weapons of War that are in your Hands] Compare Ch. xxxvii. 10. Inſtead of doing Execution upon your Enemies, they ſhall hurt yourſelves and be the Occaſion of your own Deſtruction. God will as viſibly appear againſt you, as if a miraculous Wind were to drive back your own Artillery, and turn it upon yourſelves; as the Story is told of the Diſcomfiture of the Tyrant Eugenius's Army, that came againſt the Forces of the Emperor Theodoſius. See Socrat. Hiſt. Eccleſ. L. v. C. 25.

Execute Judgment in the Morning] The King was ſupreme Judge in all Cauſes and Controverſies: See 2 Sam. viii. 15. what ſome Rabbins affirm, as if the King were ſubject to the Judgment of the Sanhedrim, and might be puniſhed by them, is ſaid without any Precedent in Holy Scripture. The Courts of Judicature uſually ſet in the Morning: See Pſ. ci. 8. where the Hebrew reads, In the Morning, or, every Morning, I will deſtroy the Wicked of the Land: Compare Job xxxviii. 13, 14.

Behold, I am againſt thee, O Inhabitant of the Valley, and Rock of the Plain] A Deſcription of Jeruſalem: The former Expreſſion denoting the lower Part of the City, which was ſurrounded with Hills; ſee Pſ. cxxv. 2. the latter deſcribing Mount Zion: Compare Ch. xvii. 3.

I will kindle a Fire in the Foreſt thereof] The Word Foreſt is often metaphorically put for a City in the Prophetical Writings; becauſe its ſtately Buildings, or its principal Inhabitants reſemble tall Cedars ſtanding in their Ranks. See Ch. xxii. 7. Iſa. xxvii. 24. Ezek. xx. 46. Zech. xi. 1.

CHAP. XXII.

The Prophet's Counſel to the King of Judah and his People; and Judgments denounced againſt them in Caſe of Refuſal.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, Go down to the houſe of the king of Judah, and ſpeak there this word, 2 And ſay, Hear the word of the Lord, O king of Judah, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David, thou, and thy ſervants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates; 3 Thus ſaith the Lord, Execute ye judgment and righteouſneſs, and deliver the ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, nor the widow, neither ſhed innocent blood in this place. 4 For if ye do this thing indeed, then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this houſe, kings ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horſes, he, and his ſervants, and his people. 5 But if ye will not hear theſe words, I ſware by myſelf, ſaith the Lord, that this houſe ſhall become a deſolation. 6 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the kings houſe of Judah, Thou art Gilead unto me, and the head of Lebanon: yet ſurely I will make thee a wilderneſs, and cities which are not inhabited. 7 And I will prepare deſtroyers againſt thee every one with his weapons, and they ſhall cut down thy choice cedars, and caſt them into the fire. 8 And many nations ſhall paſs by this city, and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this great city? 9 Then they ſhall anſwer, Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worſhipped other gods and ſerved them. 10 Weep ye not for the dead, neither bemoan him, but weep ſore for him that goeth away: for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native countrey. 11 For thus ſaith the Lord touching Shallum, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, which reigned in ſtead of Joſiah his father, which went forth out of this place, He ſhall not return thither any more: 12 But he ſhall die in the place whither they have led him captive, and ſhall ſee this land no more. 13 Wo unto him that buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, and his chambers by wrong; that uſeth his neighbours ſervice without wages, and giveth him not for his work: 14 That ſaith, I will build me a wide houſe, and large chambers, and cutteth him out windows, and it is ceiled with cedar, and painted with vermilion. 15 Shalt thou reign becauſe thou cloſeſt thyſelf in cedar? did not thy father eat and drink, and do judgment and juſtice, and then it was well with him? 16 He judged the cauſe of the poor and needy, then it was well with him: was not this to know me? ſaith the Lord. 17 But thine eyes and thine heart are not but for thy covetouſneſs, and for to ſhed innocent blood, and for oppreſſion, and for violence to do it. 18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah my brother, or ah ſiſter: they ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah Lord, or ah his glory. 19 He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs, drawn and caſt forth beyond the gates of Jeruſalem. 20 Go up to Lebanon and cry, and lift up thy voice in Bashan, and cry from the paſſages: for all thy lovers are deſtroyed. 21 I ſpake unto thee in thy proſperity, but thou ſaidſt I will not hear. this hath been thy manner from thy youth, that thou obeyedſt not my voice. 22 The wind ſhall eat up all thy paſtors, and thy lovers ſhall go into captivity, ſurely then ſhalt thou be aſhamed and confounded for all thy wickedneſs. 23 O inhabitant of Lebanon, that makeſt thy neſt in the cedars, how gracious ſhalt thou be when pangs come upon thee, the pain as of a woman in travail? 24 As I live, ſaith the Lord, though Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the ſignet upon my right hand, yet would I pluck thee thence. 25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that ſeek thy life, and into the hand of them whoſe face thou feareſt, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans. 26 And I will caſt thee out, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country, where ye were not born, and there ſhall ye die. 27 But to the land whereunto they deſire to return, thither ſhall they not return. 28 Is this man Coniah a deſpiſed broken idol? is he a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure? wherefore are they caſt out, he and his ſeed, and are caſt into a land which they know not? 29 O earth, earth, earth, the word of the Lord. 30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Write ye this man childleſs, a man that ſhall not proſper in his days: for no man of his ſeed ſhall proſper, ſitting upon the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

For thus ſaith the Lord unto the King's Houſe of Judah, Thou art Gilead unto me, and the Head of Lebanon] Though thou wert never ſo precious in my Sight, wert as valuable for Riches and Plenty as the fat Paſtures of Gilead, and thy Buildings as beautiful for Statelineſs, as the tall Cedars of Lebanon, yet unleſs thy Princes and People reform, thou ſhalt become nothing but Ruin and Deſtruction.

For thus ſaith the Lord touching Shallum the Son of Joſiah King of Judah, who reigned inſtead of Joſiah his Father, &c.] It is a great Diſpute among Commentators and Chronologers, who this Shallum was, there being no Perſon of that Name mentioned in the Succeſſion of the Jewiſh Kings in ſacred Hiſtory; and the Shallum mentioned as Joſiah's Son, 1 Chron. iii. 15. is expreſly called his Fourth Son, who could not probably ſucceed his Father immediately, as it is ſaid here expreſly of Shallum in the Text. Without entering far into the Diſpute, I ſhall, ſays Lowth, lay this down as moſt probable, that the Shallum mentioned in the Text, is the ſame with Jehoahaz: For the Characters here ſet down agree to none elſe. It was he that reigned in the Room of his Father Joſiah; he likewiſe went out of Jeruſalem, or was carried away Captive, and never returned more: See Ver. 11. The ſame may be proved from the Order of the Prophecies ſet down in this Chapter. The 11th and 12th Verſes are concerning Jehoahaz. From the 13th to the 20th, relate to Jehoiakim, and the remaining Part of the Chapter regards the Reign of Jeconiah. Why he is called Shallum, is not eaſy at this Diſtance to conjecture; ſome ſuppoſe that Name was given him by Way of Reproach becauſe of the Shortneſs of his Reign, in which he reſembled that King Shallum mentioned 2 Kings xv. 13. So Jeconiah is called Conrah by Way of Contempt, Ver 24. It is farther certain, that this Shallum cannot be the ſame with him mentioned 1 Chron. iii. 15. (as Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſed: See his Annals ad A. M. 3371.) becauſe that Perſon is ſpoken of as younger than Zedekiah; whereas this Shallum being the ſame with Jehoahaz, was without queſtion older: Compare 2 Kings xxiii. 13. with Ch. xxiv. 18.

And cutteth him out Windows] The Word Hallonai ſignifies literally my Windows; and ſo our Margin reads, but the Affix is elſewhere redundant: See Zech. xiv. 5. Mr. Gregory in his Obſervations upon the Scripture, Ch. 13. allows the Marginal Reading, and underſtands the Word of a private Oratory or Chapel, which Jehoiakim order'd to be made in his Palace; and that God reproves him for a vain Oſtentation of Piety, when at the ſame Time he had no Regard to common Juſtice, in making an Offering to God out of other Mens Labours.

He ſhall be buried with the Burial of an Aſs] Compare Ch. xxxvi. 30. Jehoiakim was advanced to the Kingdom by Pharaoh-Necho, King of Egypt, 2 Kings xxiii. 34. He followed the Fortune of the King that ſet him up, and upon the Conqueſt of Egypt by the Chaldeans (ſee Jer. xlvi. 2.) after three Years Reign, he was taken Priſoner by Nebuchadnezzar, and put into Irons: See Dan. i. 2. 2 Kings xxiv. 1. 2 Chron. xxxvi. 6. But afterward he releaſed him, and made him a Tributary King. After three Years Obedience, Jehoiakim rebelled, in Confidence of Aſſiſtance from Egypt. In the Tenth Year of his Reign, Nebuchadnezzar's Army over-ran Judea: See 2 Kings xxiv. 2. and in the following Year they beſieged Jeruſalem, and probably took Jehoiakim Priſoner in ſome Sally that he made upon them; whereupon they killed him, and then caſt out his dead Body into the Highway, like the Carcaſe of an Aſs, denying him the common Rites of Burial; See Joſephus Antiq. Accordingly he is ſaid to have ſlept with his Fathers, 1 Kings xxiv. 6. but not to have been buried with his Fathers.

Write ye this Man childleſs] Or, Let this Man be written childleſs: The Perſonal being uſed for the Impersonal; ſee Ch. xx. 17. When God commands a Thing to be written, it ſignifies that ſuch a Truth is of great Importance, and deſerves to be recorded. Quæ ſcribuntur, certa ſunt; The committing Things to Writing, denotes their Certainty; as Caſtellio obſerves upon the Place. So God would have it taken Notice of as a remarkable Judgment upon Jeconiah, that in him the direct Line of the Jewiſh Kings from Solomon downward ſhould fail; and the next Heir to the Crown ſhould be of a collateral Branch, viz. Salathiel who was the Son of Neri, and derived his Pedigree from Nathan the Son of David, Luke ii. 27, 31. Salathiel is indeed the Son of Jeconiah, 1 Chron. iii. 17. and Matt. i. 12. but in both theſe Places he is called ſo, not with reſpect to his natural Extraction, but to his political Succeſſion, as being next Heir to the Crown; juſt as at the 16th Verſe of the ſame Chapter of the Chronicles, Zedekiah is called the Son of Jeconiah, tho' he was really his Uncle, becauſe he ſucceeded him in the Kingdom. And it is plain that St. Matthew did not intend to ſet down an exact Genealogy from Father to Son, but only to prove in general, that Chriſt was the Son both of David and Abraham, as he tells us, Ver. 1. In order to which End, he divides the whole Series of Time from Abraham to David, into three Parts, and then ſubdivides each Portion of Time into fourteen Generations; to comply with which Method he omits three Kings, Ahaziah, Joaſh, and Amaziah, Ver. 8.

CHAP. XXIII.

The Prophet foretels the Reſtauration of the Jewiſh Kingdom and Government under the Meſſias; and he proceeds to prove the evil Arts of the falſe Prophets, and other Pretenders to Inſpiration.

Ver. 1. WO be unto the paſtors that deſtroy and ſcatter the ſheep of my paſture, ſaith the Lord. 2 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael againſt the paſtors that feed my people, Ye have ſcattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not viſited them; behold, I will viſit upon you the evil of your doings, ſaith the Lord. 3 And I will gather the remnant of my flock, out of all countreys whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds, and they ſhall be fruitful and increaſe. 4 And I will ſet up ſhepherds over them which ſhall feed them, and they ſhall fear no more, nor be diſmayed, neither ſhall they be lacking, ſaith the Lord. 5 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will raiſe unto David a righteous branch, and a king ſhall reign and proſper, and ſhall execute judgment and juſtice in the earth. 6 In his days Judah ſhall be ſaved, and Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely: and this is his name whereby he ſhall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. 7 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that they ſhall no more ſay, The Lord liveth, which brought up the children of Iſrael out of the Land of Egypt: 8 But the Lord liveth, which brought up, and which led the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael out of the north-country, and from all countries whither I had driven them, and they ſhall dwell in their own land. 9 Mine heart within me is broken, becauſe of the prophets, all my bones ſhake: I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome; becauſe of the Lord, and becauſe of the words of his holineſs. 10 For the land is full of adulterers, for because of swearing the land mourneth: the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried up, and their course is evil, and their force is not right. 11 For both prophet and priest are profane, yea, in my house have I found their wickedness, saith the Lord. 12 Wherefore their way shall be unto them as slippery ways in the darkness: they shall be driven on and fall therein: for I will bring evil upon them, even the year of their visitation, saith the Lord. 13 And I have seen folly in the prophets of Samaria; they prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to err. 14 I have seen also in the prophets of Jerusalem an horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lies: they strengthen also the hands of evil doers, that none doth return from his wickedness: they are all of them unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah. 15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jerusalem is profaneness gone forth into all the land. 16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you; they make you vain: they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. 17 They say still unto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall have peace, and they say unto every one that walketh after the imagination of his own heart, No evil shall come upon you. 18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, and hath perceived and heard his word? who hath marked his word, and heard it? 19 Behold, a whirl-wind of the Lord is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirl-wind, it shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked. 20 The anger of the Lord shall not return, until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter days ye shall consider it perfectly. 21 I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran: I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied. 22 But if they had stood in my counsel, and had caused my people to hear my words, then they should have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings. 23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God afar off? 24 Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? saith the Lord: do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord. 25 I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed. 26 How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? yea, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart; 27 Which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have forgotten my name, for Baal. 28 The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully: what is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord. 29 Is not my word like as a fire? saith the Lord: and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces? 30 Therefore behold, I am against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steal my words every one from his neighbour. 31 Behold, I am against the prophets, saith the Lord, that use their tongues, and say, He saith. 32 Behold, I am against them that prophesy false dreams, saith the Lord, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies and by their lightness, yet I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they shall not profit this people at all, saith the Lord. 33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shall ask thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say unto them, What burden? I will even forsake you, saith the Lord. 34 And as for the prophet, and the priest, and the people that shall say, the burden of the Lord, I will even punish that man and his house. 35 Thus shall ye say every one to his neighbour, and every one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and, What hath the Lord spoken? 36 And the burden of the Lord shall ye mention no more: for every mans word shall be his burden; for ye have perverted the words of the living God, of the Lord of hosts our God. 37 Thus shalt thou say to the prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken? 38 But sith ye say, The burden of the Lord; therefore thus saith the Lord, Because you say this word, The burden of the Lord, and I have sent unto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord: 39 Therefore behold, I, even I will utterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence: 40 And I will bring an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten.

Behold, the Days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch] The Messias is often called the Branch, to denote his Descent from the Stock of David. See Isa. iv. 2. Zech. iii. 8. vi. 12. Compare likewise Isa. xi. 1.

In his Days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely] This Prophecy is in part fulfilled in all true Believers, the Mystical Israel, but will receive its utmost Completion when the Jewish shall be restored to a Blessing foretold by most of the antient Prophets, who generally join Judah and Israel together, as equally Sharers in the Blessing, and no more two but one Kingdom.

And this is the Name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS] He shall really be what the Title imports. He shall be JEHOVAH, or the True God, and our Righteousness, or the Means of our Justification: Compare Isa. xlv. 24, 25. 1 Cor. i. 30. The Title of JEHOVAH elsewhere given to the Messias by the Prophets. See Isa. xl. 10. xlviii. 17. Hos. i. 7. Zach. ii. 10. 11. Mal. iii. 1.

For the Land is full of Adulterers, and because of Swearing the Land mourneth] By Swearing is here chiefly meant Perjury: Compare this Verse with Hos. iv. 2. The Hebrew Word signifies indifferently Swearing or Cursing. The Jewish Forms of Adjuration used in their Courts of Justice for the Discovery of the Truth, had usually an Imprecation joined to them. So the Words import, that Men ventured to forswear themselves, and incur the Imprecation implied in the Oath, rather than discover the Truth in Case of Theft, and such like Crimes, wherein they were called upon to be Witnesses. Compare Prov. xxix. 24. The Prophet saith is one of the Crying Sins for which God hath visited the Nation with severe Judgments. And the Sins here mentioned, which did abound much among the People, were in a great Measure owing to the ill Example of the Priests and Prophets. See Ver. 11 — 14, 15.

They make you vain] Or rather, They deceive you, as Pſ. lxii. 10. Our Tranſlation renders the Word, Become not vain in Robbery or Oppreſſion; but the Senſe is, Deceive not yourſelves in Robbery, or Oppreſſion, as if that would be any real Advantage to you.

Who hath ſtood in the Counſel of the Lord?] The Word Sôd ſignifies both a Secret, and the Aſſembly in which the Secret is committed, or where it is debated. The Expreſſion here alludes to the Privy Counſellors of Princes; as if the Prophet had ſaid, Who among theſe falſe Prophets can pretend to have the ſecret Counſels of the Almighty communicated to him? So when the Apoſtle alluding to Iſa. xl. 13. ſaith, Who hath known the Mind of the Lord? 1 Cor. ii. 16. The Context ſhews, that he deſigns by that Queſtion to exclude only the Carnal or Natural Man from being enlightened from above; or being a competent Judge of Divine Truths.

The Prophet that hath a Dream, let him tell a Dream —What is the Chaff to the Wheat?] Let not theſe falſe Pretences to Dreams or Viſions diſcourage the true Prophets from the faithful Diſcharge of their Office; for the Difference between true Prophets and Counterfeits, is as evident as that between the Chaff and the Wheat.

Behold I am againſt the Prophets — that ſteal my Words, every Man from his Neighbour] That imitate, or rather mimick the true Prophets, ſpeaking in my Name as they do, and ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Ver. 31. and uſing their Words, but applying them to their own Purpoſe, or, it may be, adding their own Inventions to them.

I am againſt the Prophets — that uſe their Tongues] Like thoſe that ſaid Our Lips are our own, Pſ. xii. 4. and we may uſe them as we pleaſe. Some ſuppoſe the Hebrew Lokechim, to ſignify the ſame as Cholekim, the Letters being only tranſpoſed; and then the Phraſe denotes ſpeaking ſmooth Things. See Iſa. xxx. 10.

What is the Burden of the Lord?] The Word Maſſa, or Burden, ſignifies a burdenſome Prophecy, big with Ruin and Deſtruction. See Iſa. xiii. 1. xvi. 1. and elſewhere. The falſe Prophets ſaid, Peace, Peace, (Ver. 17.) derided the true ones, whoſe Predictions were full of Threatenings, as if God's Meſſages were a Burden they were weary of bearing; and made a Jeſt of theſe Words, The Burden of the Lord, with which they prefaced their Prophecies. Upon this Account God forbad the Uſe of that Expreſſion: See the following Verſes.

CHAP. XXIV.

Under the Emblem of two Baſkets of Figs, the Prophet ſhews the different Fates of thoſe Jews who were carried Captive with Jechoniah, and thoſe that remained ſtill in their own Country with Zedekiah.

Ver. 1. THE Lord ſhewed me, and behold, two baſkets of figs were ſet before the temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jechoniah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and ſmiths from Jeruſalem, and had brought them to Babylon. 2 One baſket had very good figs, even like the figs that are firſt ripe: and the other baſket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were ſo bad. 3 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, What ſeeſt thou, Jeremiah? And I ſaid, Figs: the good figs, very good; and the evil, very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil. 4 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 5 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, Like theſe good figs, ſo will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have ſent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good. 6 For I will ſet mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land, and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up. 7 And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God: for they ſhall return unto me with their whole heart. 8 And as the evil figs, which cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil: (ſurely thus ſaith the Lord) ſo will I give Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes, and the reſidue of Jeruſalem, that remain in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt. 9 And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curſe in all places whither I ſhall drive them. 10 And I will ſend the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence among them, till they be conſumed from off the land that I gave unto them and to their fathers.

Like theſe good Figs, ſo will I acknowledge them that are carried away Captive of Judah] The Jews who were left in their own Country, thought themſelves better beloved of God, than their Brethren who were carried away Captive: To check this vain Confidence, God promiſes to ſhew the Latter particular Signs of his Favour in a ſtrange Land, and to ſhew diſtinguiſhing Marks of his Diſpleaſure upon the former.

And I will give them a Heart to know me, that I am the Lord, &c.] To theſe firſt Captives chiefly thoſe Bleſſings belong, which are promiſed to the Jews upon their Return from their Captivity; ſuch as were the Knowledge and Fear of God, and Grace to live in Obedience to his Commandments. Compare Ch. xxx. 22. xxxi. 33. xxxii. 38, 39. Theſe were in ſome Degree accompliſhed in the Times after the Captivity, when the Jews adhered conſtantly to their Religion, and were very careful of falling into Idolatry. But I conceive, ſays Lowth, the eminent Completion of this Prophecy, will be at the general Reſtoration of that Nation, ſo often mentioned in the Prophets.

And a Curſe] Men ſhall uſe this Phraſe as a Form of Execration, God make thee like Zedekiah. Compare Ch. xxix. 22. On the contrary, to make a Man a Bleſſing implies, that his Name ſhall be mentioned as a ſignal Inſtance of God's Favour. See Gen. xlviii. 20. Zech. viii. 13.

CHAP. XXV.

A Summary of Jeremiah's Commiſſion to prophecy the Deſtruction of Judea, and all the neighbouring Countries, which ſhould be reduced under the Power of the Kings of Babylon for ſeventy Years; and then an End ſhould be put to that Monarchy by Cyrus, who ſet up the Perſian Monarchy.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that was the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon: 2 The which Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, 3 From the thirteenth year of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, even unto this day (that is the three and twentieth year) the word of the Lord hath come unto me, and I have ſpoken unto you, riſing early and ſpeaking, but ye have not hearkened. 4 And the Lord hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, prophets, riſing early and ſending them, but ye have not hearkened, nor inclined your ear to hear. 5 They ſaid, Turn ye again now every one from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land, that the Lord hath given unto you and to your fathers, for ever and ever: 6 And go not after other gods to ſerve them, and to worſhip them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will do you no hurt. 7 Yet ye have not hearkened unto me, ſaith the Lord; that ye might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands, to your own hurt. 8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Becauſe ye have not heard my words. 9 Behold, I will ſend and take all the families of the north, ſaith the Lord, and Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and will bring them againſt this land, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, and againſt all theſe nations round about, and will utterly deſtroy them, and make them an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and perpetual deſolations. 10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the ſound of the milſtones, and the light of the candle. 11 And this whole land ſhall be a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment: and theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon, ſeventy years. 12 And it ſhall come to paſs when ſeventy years are accompliſhed, that I will puniſh the king of Babylon, and that nation, ſaith the Lord, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans, and will make it perpetual deſolations. 13 And I will bring upon that land all my words which I have pronounced againſt it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath propheſied againſt all the nations. 14 For many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of them alſo: and I will recompenſe them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands. 15 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael unto me, Take the wine-cup of this fury at my hand, and cauſe all the nations, to whom I ſend thee, to drink it. 16 And they ſhall drink, and be moved, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword that I will ſend among them. 17 Then took I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all the nations to drink, unto whom the Lord had ſent me: 18 To wit, Jeruſalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them a deſolation, an aſtoniſhment and hiſſing, and a curſe, (as it is this day) 19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his ſervants, and his princes, and all his people, 20 And all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philiſtines, and Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod. 21 Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon, 22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the iſles which are beyond the ſea, 23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that are in the utmoſt corners, 24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mingled people that dwell in the deſart, 25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are upon the face of the earth; and the king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them. 27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Drink ye and be drunken, and ſpue and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword which I will ſend among you. 28 And it ſhall be, if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drink, then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Ye ſhall certainly drink. 29 For lo, I begin to bring evil on the city which is called by my name, and ſhould ye be utterly unpuniſhed? Ye ſhall not be unpuniſhed: for I will call for a ſword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 30 Therefore propheſy thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay unto them, the Lord ſhall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation, he ſhall mightily roar upon his habitation, he ſhall give a ſhout, as they that tread the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth. 31 A noiſe ſhall come even to the ends of the earth; for the Lord hath a controverſy with the nations: he will plead with all fleſh, he will give them that are wicked to the ſword, ſaith the Lord. 32 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, evil ſhall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth. 33 And the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they ſhall not be lamented, neither gathered nor buried, they ſhall be dung upon the ground. 34 Howl ye ſhepherds and cry, and wallow yourſelves in the aſhes, ye principal of the flock: for the days of your ſlaughter, and of your diſperſions are accompliſhed, and ye ſhall fall like a pleaſant veſſel. 35 And the ſhepherds ſhall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to eſcape. 36 A voice of the cry of the ſhepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock, ſhall be heard: for the Lord hath ſpoiled their paſture. 37 And the peaceable habitations are cut down; becauſe of the fierce anger of the Lord. 38 He hath forſaken his covert, as the lion: for their land is deſolate, becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor, and becauſe of his fierce anger.

The Word that came to Jeremiah — in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim — that is the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar] The firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign, according to the Scripture Account, is coincident with the and the Beginning of the 4th Year of Jehoiakim: Compare Dan. i. 1. This Reckoning anticipates the Computation of Ptolemy's Canon by two Years, which Years Nebuchadnezzar reigned with his Father. cording to this Account, the Scripture reckons Reign to continue Five and Forty Years. Which cording to the common Computation, laſted but But Daniel, Ch. ii. 2. writing in Chaldee, follows Computation in uſe among the Chaldeans.

Perpetual Deſolation] It is a common Obſervation that the Hebrew Word Olam, doth not always ſignify Eternity, or Perpetuity in a ſtrict Senſe, but is ſometimes taken for ſuch a Duration, as had a remarkable Period to conclude it. So it is ſaid of a Servant, that he ſhall ſerve his Maſter for ever, Exod. xxi. 6. which the Jews expound to the next Jubilee. So here the Senſe of the Word is to be reſtrained to the Period of Seventy Years, mentioned Ver. 11.

The Sound of the Milſtones, and the Light of a Candle] There ſhall be no Marks of Trade for carrying on the Neceſſaries of Life; ſuch as is the grinding of Bread-Corn. There will be no Uſe of Candle, where the Inhabitants are diſperſed and deſtroyed, nor will there be Occaſion for ſuch Illuminations as are uſual upon Feſtival Solemnities, in the Time of general Deſolation, Ver. 11. Compare Rev. xviii. 22, 23. where we may obſerve that St. John exactly follows the Hebrew Text, whereas the LXX in this Place, inſtead of the Sound of Milſtones, read ὀσμὴν, the Smell of Ointment. From which, and ſeveral other Places of the New Teſtament, it appears that the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts did not implicitly follow the Greek Tranſlation, but only when they thought it agreeable to the Original Text. See St. Jerom's Preface to the 15th Book of his Commentaries upon Iſaiah, and his Commentary upon Jer. xxxi. 31. and Zech. xii. 10.

And theſe Nations ſhall ſerve the King of Babylon ſeventy Years] This Computation of ſeventy Years Captivity, is to be reckoned from the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar, which is co-incident with the 3d Ending, and the 4th Beginning of Jehoiakim: See Ver. 1. when the King of Babylon made his firſt Attempt upon Judea: See Dan. i. 1—3. from which Time to the firſt Year of Cyrus's Reign over the Aſſyrian Monarchy, juſt ſeventy Years. Whereas the Prophet Zechary, who reckons the ſeventy Years Captivity compleated in the ſecond Year of Darius (ſee Zech. i. 12.) commences his Computation from the beſieging the City; and when he prolongs his Computetion to the 4th Year of Darius, Ch. vii. 1—5. he dates it from the Deſtruction of the City and Temple.

Even all that is written in this Book, which Jeremiah hath propheſied againſt all Nations] Particularly the 50th and 51ſt Chapters. The Book here mentioned is that Collection of Prophecies againſt the Countries round about Judea, which in the Greek Copies follows immediately after this Verſe; but in the Hebrew Copies are placed by themſelves at the latter End of the Book, from the 46th Chapter to the End of the 51ſt. This Verſe ſeems to juſtify the Order in which the Septuagint have placed theſe Prophecies.

And all the mingled People] The Word is Ereb in the Hebrew, which occurs again in the 24th Verſe. Some underſtand it of the Arabians, the Name of that People being written Ereb as well as Arab. See 2 Kings x. 15. but Arabia being mentioned Ver. 24. as diſtinct from theſe People, that Senſe of the Word doth not ſeem probable. So, ſays Lowth, I rather take the Word in the Senſe our Tranſlators underſtood it, for a Mixture of ſeveral Nations, who dwelt upon the Coaſts either of the Mediterranean, or elſe the Red Sea.

And all the Kings of the Land of Uz] There are three Perſons called by the Name of Uz in Scripture, who gave Appellation to three ſeveral Countries, as Bochart obſerves. 1. The Son of Aram, Gen. x. 23. from whom he ſuppoſes to have ſetled in Syria near Damaſcus. 2d. The Son of Nahor, Gen. xxii. 21. who ſettled in Arabia Deſerta; from whom Job deſcended. 3. The Son of Eſau, Gen. xxxvi. 28. from whom Idumea was ſo called, which is here meant; and mentioned again by our Prophet, and its Deſtruction foretold, Lam. iv. 21.

The Kings mentioned here, and in the following Verſes, were petty Princes of ſeveral Clans or Colonies. The Title of King is given in Scripture to any Ruler or Governor. See Ch. l. xli. li. 28. Judg. xvii. 6. Deut. xxxiii. 5. Dan. vii. 17.

And all the Kings of the mingled People that dwell in the Deſart] A Mixture of People in that Part of Arabia properly called the Deſart, conſiſting of the Nabathæans, Amalekites, Midianites, and other Nations, called in Scripture by the general Name of the Children of the Eaſt: See Judg. vi. 3, vii. 12. viii. 10. So Diodorus Siculus; That Part of Arabia is divided among ſeveral Nations. The learned Dr. Pocock is of Opinion, that the Word Arabia, is derived from the Hebrew Arab, ſignifying Mixture; becauſe the Country is inhabited by a Medley of ſeveral Nations.

And the King of Sheſhak ſhall drink after them] By Sheſhak is meant Babylon, as appears by comparing Ch. li. 41. Some think Sac was the Name of an Idol worſhipped there, from whence the Hebrew Name Miſael, was changed by the Chaldeans into Meſhack. This Idol gave the Name of Sacchæa to a publick Feſtival celebrated at Babylon, and mentioned by Athenæus. St. Jerom mentions upon the Place a Sort of Cypher commonly uſed, which conſiſted in putting the laſt Letter of the Alphabet firſt, and ſo writing on; by which inverted Order of the Hebrew Letters, Sheſhak is equivalent to Babel. The Prophets ſometimes expreſs the Places they propheſy againſt by dark Circumlocutions: So Babylon is called the Deſart of the Sea, Iſa. xxi. 1. Jeruſalem, the Valley of Viſion, Iſa. xxi. 1. The Roman Empire is expreſſed by that which withholdeth, 2 Theſſ. ii. 6. And ſome Commentators ſuppoſe the Names mentioned Mic. i. 10, &c. to be Names of noted Places in Judea, diſguiſed and altered from their true Sound. Baſnage thinks that Sheſhak, the victorious King of Egypt (the ſame who is called Seſoſtris by Herodotus) was afterwards worſhipped over all the Eaſtern Countries which he ſubdued; and that Babylon is here repreſented by the Name of this Idol that was worſhippped there. But it is not at all probable, that the Chaldeans ſhould call their City or Country, by the Name of a foreign Conqueror, whoſe Yoke they had long ago ſhook off.

CHAP. XXVI.

Jeremiah, denouncing Deſtruction to the City and Temple, is apprehended and arraigned; he makes his Apology, and is acquitted.

Ver. 1. IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, ſtand in the court of the Lords houſe, and ſpeak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worſhip in the Lords houſe, all the words that I command thee to ſpeak unto them; diminiſh not a word: 3 If ſo be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them, becauſe of the evil of their doings. 4 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye will not hearken to me to walk in my law, which I have ſet before you; 5 To hearken to the words of my ſervants the prophets, whom I ſent unto you, both riſing up early and ſending them (but ye have not hearkened) 6 Then will I make this houſe like Shiloh, and will make this city a curſe to all the nations of the earth. 7 So the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah ſpeaking theſe words in the houſe of the Lord. 8 Now it came to paſs, when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking all that the Lord had commanded him to ſpeak unto all the people, that the prieſts and the prophets, and all the people took him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſurely die. 9 Why haſt thou propheſied in the name of the Lord, ſaying, This houſe ſhall be like Shiloh, and this city ſhall be deſolate without an inhabitant? And all the people were gathered againſt Jeremiah in the houſe of the Lord. 10 When the princes of Judah heard theſe things, then they came up from the kings houſe unto the houſe of the Lord, and ſat down in the entry of the new gate of the Lords houſe. 11 Then ſpake the prieſts and the prophets unto the princes, and to all the people, ſaying, This man is worthy to die, for he hath propheſied againſt this city, as ye have heard heard with your ears. 12 Then ſpake Jeremiah unto all the princes, and to all the people, ſaying, The Lord ſent me to propheſie againſt this houſe, and againſt this city, all the words* that ye have heard. 13 Therefore now amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the Lord your God, and the Lord will repent him of the evil that he hath pronounced againſt you. 14 As for me, Behold, I am in your hand, do with me as ſeemeth good and meet unto you. 15 But know ye for certain, that if ye put me to death, ye ſhall ſurely bring innocent blood upon yourſelves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the Lord hath ſent me unto you, to ſpeak all theſe words in your ears. 16 Then ſaid the princes, and all the people unto the prieſts, and to the prophets, This man is not worthy to die, for he hath ſpoken to us in the name of the Lord our God. 17 Then roſe up certain of the elders of the land, and ſpake to all the aſſembly of the people, ſaying, 18 Micah the Moraſthite propheſied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and ſpake to all the people of Judah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become heaps, and the mountain of the houſe, as the high places of the foreſt. 19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death? did he not fear the Lord, and beſought the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the evil which he had pronounced againſt them? Thus might we procure great evil againſt our ſouls. 20 And there was alſo a man that propheſied in the name of the Lord, Urijah the ſon of Shemaiah of Kirjath-jearim, who propheſied againſt this city, and againſt this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah. 21 And when Jehoiakim the king with all his mighty men, and all the princes heard his words, the king ſought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt. 22 And Jehoiakim the king ſent men into Egypt, namely, Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and certain men with him into Egypt. 23 And they fetcht forth Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Jehoiakim the king, who ſlew him with the ſword, and caſt his dead body into the graves of the common people. 24 Nevertheleſs, the hand of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, was with Jeremiah, that they ſhould not give him into the hand of the people, to put him to death.

Stand in the Court of the Lord's Houſe] The great Court was the Place where both Men and Women did ordinarily worſhip when they brought no Sacrifice, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, in his Deſcription of the Temple; for when they offered a Sacrifice, they were to bring it into the inner Court, otherwiſe called the Court of Iſrael, or of the Prieſts, as the ſame learned Author hath obſerved in his Treatiſe concerning the Temple Service.

In the Houſe of the Lord] That is, in the Court before the Houſe of the Lord, Ver. 2. Compare Ch. vii. 10. The outer Courts being Holy Ground, and dedicated to God's Worſhip, are called by the Name of the Temple. So the Treaſury where Chriſt preached, is called the Temple, John viii. 20. tho' it ſtood in the outer Court of it. St. Paul is ſaid to have entered into the Temple, that is, into the Court before the Temple, and the Jews to have laid hold on him there, Acts xxi. 26, 27.

When the Princes of Judah heard theſe Things] Theſe are the ſame who are called the Princes of the Land, Ver. 17. The King's Counſellors, or chief Officers of State, who were likewiſe Members of the great Sanhedrim. It is uncertain when the great Council, called the Sanhedrim, was inſtituted. Selden, and moſt other Writers from the Jewiſh Authors, date the Riſe of it from Moſes's appointing the ſeventy Elders, Numb. xi. 16. After ſeveral Intermiſſions of this Authority, which was ſometimes laid aſide by the Calamities or Corruptions of the Times, or elſe ſuperſeded by the ſovereign Power, which was inveſted in the Judges and Kings, Jehoſhaphat when he ſet about a general Reformation, reſtored this antient Tribunal: See 2 Chron. xix. 8. This being the Supreme Court of the Nation, the Princes that ſat in it are here called the Princes of Judah; compare Ch. xxix. 2. xxxiv. 19. and the Elders of the Land, Ver. 17. of this Chapter; and the Elders of the People, Ch. xix. 1. and in the Evangeliſts; ſee Matt. xxvii. 1. Luke xxii. 66. and the Senate of the Children of Iſrael, Acts v. 21. Compare 1 Macc. xii. 6. Judith xi. 14. The ſame are probably meant by the Seventy Men of the Antients of the House of Iſrael, mentioned Ezek. viii. 11. The Word Sanhedrim is without doubt of Greek Original, derived from Συνέδριον, which often ſignifies the great Council in the New Teſtament; and from thence is adopted into the Jewiſh Language, by the Rabbinical Writers, as many other Greek Words are; but the Council may ſtill have been of much ancienter Date, and expreſſed in the Old Teſtament by Rulers, Princes, or Elders, or Senate of the People.

Zion ſhall be plowed like a Field] The Jews ſuppoſe this Prophecy to be fulfilled in the utter Deſtruction of the ſecond Temple by Titus; when Terentius, or as ſome of the modern Jews call him, Turnus Rufus razed the very Foundations of the City and Temple, and ſo fulfilled the Prediction of our Saviour, That there ſhould not be left one Stone upon another. Which Conquerors would ſignify their Purpoſe, that a City ſhou'd never be rebuilt, they uſed to break up the Ground where it ſtood: See Judg. ix. 45.

CHAP. XXVII.

This Prophecy foreſhews the Conqueſt of Judea and the neighbouring Countries by the King of Babylon.

Ver. 1. IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord to me; Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them upon thy neck. 3 And ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the meſſengers which come to Jeruſalem unto Zedekiah king of Judah; 4 And command them to ſay unto their maſters, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſters, 5 I have made the earth, the man and the beaſt that are upon the ground, by my great power, and by my outſtretched arm, and have given it unto whom it ſeemed meet unto me. 6 And now have I given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and the beaſts of the field have I given him alſo to ſerve him. 7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him, and his ſon, and his ſons ſon, until the very time of his land come; and then many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of him. 8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the nation and kingdom which will not ſerve the ſame Nebuchadnezzar the king king of Babylon, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I punish, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand. 9 Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your diviners, nor to your dreamers, nor to your enchanters, nor to your sorcerers, which speak unto you, saying, Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon: 10 For they prophesy a lie unto you, to remove you far from your land, and that I should drive you out and ye should perish. 11 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him, those will I let remain still in their own land, saith the Lord, and they shall till it, and dwell therein. 12 I spake also to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and live. 13 Why will ye die, thou and thy people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? 14 Therefore hearken not unto the words of the prophets that speak unto you, saying, Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon: for they prophesy a lie unto you. 15 For I have not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesy a lie in my name, that I might drive you out, and that ye might perish, ye, and the prophets that prophesy unto you. 16 Also I spake to the priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Hearken not to the words of your prophets, that prophesy unto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the Lords house shall now shortly be brought again from Babylon; for they prophesy a lie unto you. 17 Hearken not unto them, serve the king of Babylon and live: wherefore should this city be laid waste? 18 But if they be prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them now make intercession to the Lord of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, go not to Babylon. 19 For thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remain in this city, 20 Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem: 21 Yea, thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remain in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Judah, and of Jerusalem, 22 They shall be carried to Babylon, and there shall they be until the day that I visit them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them up, and restore them to this place.

In the Beginning of the Reign of Jehoiakim] There is a Difficulty in the Date of this Prophecy, because it plainly relates to the Times of Zedekiah; See Ver. 3, 12, 16. Some suppose that Jeremiah might have it in Charge to declare this Decree of God's in the Reign of Jehoiakim, which yet he was not to execute till the Time of Zedekiah. Others think that the Prophet did presently execute some Part of his Orders, viz. that of putting on Bonds and Yokes upon his Neck, which he wore during the Reigns of Jehoiakim and Jechoniah, till the 4th Year of Zedekiah. There are other Ways of solving this Difficulty, which are less probable: But the Answer which seems to me, says Lowth, the least forced, is to say, that Jehoiakim is crept into the Text, by the Negligence of the Scribes (who might have their Eyes upon the Beginning of the last Chapter or Section) instead of Zedekiah. This Emendation is confirmed, by comparing this Verse with the 3d, 12th, and 20th Verses of this Chapter, and with the Beginning of the next. Such little verbal Mistakes must be allowed by all impartial Readers, to have sometimes happened in transcribing the holy Scriptures, as well as in other Books, and may easily be corrected, by comparing the suspected Reading with other Parts of the Sacred Text, which admit of no Difficulty or Uncertainty.

And all Nations shall serve him, and his Son, and his Son's Son] Belshazzar the last King of the Babylonian Monarchy, Dan. v. 30, 31. was Grand-child to Nebuchadnezzar, who is called his Father, Dan. v. 2. that is, his Grandfather, by an usual Hebraism: See 1 Kings xv. 3. compared with Ver. 10. and 2 Kings viii. 26. compared with Ver. 18. For the two Kings mentioned in Ptolemy's Canon, between Evilmerodach and Belshazzar (called there Nabonedus) viz. Neriglissarus and Laborosoarchodus, had no Right by lineal Descent. For Neriglissarus was only Husband to Evilmerodach's Daughter, and Laborosoarchodus was Son to Neriglissarus. Compare Isa. xiv. 22. where God saith, I will cut from Babylon the Name and Remnant, Son and Nephew, or rather Son and Grandson; that is, all that should lineally succeed Nebuchadnezzar: Compare Job xviii. 19.

Until the very Time of his Land come] The Vulgar Latin translates the Words thus, Until the Time of his Land, and of himself come, i. e. The Time of their Punishment or Visitation, as it is elsewhere expressed, that is, at the End of 70 Years: See Ch. xxv. 11. The Word is Time, and is used in the same Sense, Ezek. vii. 7. xxx. 3.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Hananiah's false Prophecy, and the Judgment Jeremiah denounced against him upon it.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass the same year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the son of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake unto me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, saying, 2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon. 3 Within two full years will I bring again into this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon. 4 And I will bring again to this place, Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah, that went into Babylon, saith the Lord; for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon. 5 Then the prophet Jeremiah said unto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord. 6 Even the prophet Jeremiah said, Amen: the Lord do so, the Lord perform thy words which thou hast prophesied, to bring again the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is carried away captive, from Babylon into this place. 7 Nevertheless, hear thou now this word that I speak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people. 8 The prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, prophefied both againſt many countries, and againſt great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of peſtilence. 9 The prophet which prophefieth of peace, when the word of the prophet ſhall come to paſs, then ſhall the prophet be known, that the Lord hath truly ſent him. 10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from off the prophet Jeremiahs neck, and brake it. 11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even ſo will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations within the ſpace of two full years. And the prophet Jeremiah went his way. 12 Then the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the prophet (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah) ſaying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood, but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of iron. 14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all theſe nations, that they may ſerve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they ſhall ſerve him; and I have given him the beaſts of the field alſo. 15 Then ſaid the prophet Jeremiah unto Hananiah the prophet, Hear now, Hananiah, The Lord hath not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lie. 16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will caſt thee from off the face of the earth: this year thou ſhalt die, becauſe thou haſt taught rebellion againſt the Lord. 17 So Hananiah the prophet died the ſame year, in the ſeventh month.

And it came to paſs in the ſame Year, in the Beginning of the Reign of Zedekiah King of Judah] This plainly refers to the Time ſpecified, at the Beginning of the laſt Chapter, and confirms the Conjecture there made, that Jehoiakim is put there by Miſtake of the Copies for Zedekiah.

In the fourth Year] There is a Difficulty in the Expreſſion, how the Prophet ſhould call that the Beginning of Zedekiah's Reign, which was really in the fourth Year of it. Therefore Scaliger underſtands it of the fourth Year in Courſe, reckoning from the laſt Sabbatical Year, which we know was to be every ſeventh Year, from Lev. xxv. 3, 4. and Kimchi ſpeaks of it as a Tradition received among the Rabbins, that the Temple was deſtroyed in a Sabbatical Year; which falling in with the eleventh Year of Zedekiah, the firſt Year of his Reign muſt be the fourth in Courſe from the laſt Sabbatical.

It is probable, that the Obſervation of theſe Sabbatical Years had been intermitted for a great while before the Captivity, but the King and People, warned by the Prophet Jeremiah of their great Neglect in this Matter, had entered into a ſolemn Covenant, for the obſerving this Part of the Law: See Ch. xxxiv. 8, &c.

But after all, there is no Ground for this Solution of Scaliger's; for it is plain, that if they had any Regard for this Computation of Time, the 9th Year of Zedekiah was the Sabbatical Year.

To avoid this Difficulty, Noldus tranſlates the Words in this Senſe, When it had been ſo (that is, when I had continued propheſying with a Yoke about my Neck for that Year) in the Beginning of the Reign of Zedekiah, until the fourth Year.

The LXX read this Part of the Verſe thus, In the fourth Year of the Reign of Zedekiah, King of Judah, in the fifth Month.

The Prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, propheſied both againſt many Countries, &c.] Jeremiah offers two Reaſons in Defence of his own Prophecies, and againſt the Truth of Hananiah's. Firſt, That many other Prophets agreed with himſelf in propheſying Evil againſt the Jews, and other neighbouring Countries, ſuch as Hoſea, Joel, Amos, Iſaiah, Micah, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, &c. Whereas Hananiah being ſingle in his Prophecy, nothing but the punctual anſwering the Event, could give him the Authority of a true Prophet. Secondly, That conſidering the general Corruption of the People's Manners, it was ſo much the more likely God ſhould inflict ſevere Puniſhments upon them, their Iniquities being now ripe for Judgment. To this the Jews add a third Explication of the Words, viz. That when a true Prophet foretels Peace, his Prophecy muſt certainly be fulfilled, and the Event would prove him to be a true Prophet; whereas when a Prophet foretold Evil, which was Jeremiah's Caſe, the Event might be ſuſpended by the Repentance of the Perſons concerned.

But thou ſhalt make for them Yokes of Iron] Such as no human Strength can break: To ſignify that no human Force ſhall be able to cope with the King of Babylon.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jeremiah's Meſſage to the Captives in Babylon exhorting them to live quietly, and not hearken to the Prophets who deluded them with Hopes of a ſpeedy Return Home: Againſt two of which Prophecies he denounces God's Judgments; as he did afterwards againſt Shemaiah, who ſent a threatening Letter againſt Jeremiah.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the words of the letter, that Jeremiah the prophet ſent from Jeruſalem unto the reſidue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the prieſts, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jeruſalem to Babylon. 2 (After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jeruſalem, and the carpenters, and the ſmiths were departed from Jeruſalem) 3 By the hand of Elaſah the ſon of Shaphan, and Gemariah the ſon of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah ſent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) ſaying, 4 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have cauſed to be carried away from Jeruſalem unto Babylon, 5 Build ye houſes, and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them. 6 Take ye wives, and beget ſons and daughters, and take wives for your ſons, and give your daughters to huſbands, that they may bear ſons and daughters, that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed. 7 And ſeek the peace of the city whither I have cauſed you to be carried away captives, and pray unto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof ſhall ye have peace. 8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Let not your prophets and your diviners that be in the midſt of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cauſe to be dreamed. 9 For they prophecy falſly unto you in my name; I have not ſent them, ſaith the Lord. 10 For thus ſaith the Lord, that after ſeventy years be accompliſhed at Babylon, I will viſit you, and perform my good word towards you, in cauſing you to return to this place. 11 For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, ſaith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end. 12 Then ſhall ye call upon me, nd ye ſhall go and pray unto me, and I will earken unto you. 13 And ye ſhall ſeek me, nd find me, when ye ſhall ſearch for me with ll your heart. 14 And I will be found of you, aith the Lord, and I will turn away your capti- ity, and I will gather you from all the nations, nd from all the places whither I have driven you, ſaith the Lord, and I will bring you again nto the place whence I cauſed you to be car- ried away captive. 15 Becauſe ye have ſaid, The Lord hath raiſed us up prophets in Baby- lon: 16 Know that thus ſaith the Lord of the king that ſitteth upon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwelleth in this city, and of your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivity: 17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will ſend upon them the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil. 18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, with the famine, and with the peſtilence, and will deliver them to be re- moved to all the kingdoms of the earth, to be a curſe, and an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and a reproach among all the nations whither I have driven them: 19 Becauſe they have not hearkened to my words, ſaith the Lord, which I ſent unto them by my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early, and ſending them, but ye would not hear, ſaith the Lord. 20 Hear ye therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captivity, whom I have ſent from Jeruſalem to Babylon: 21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſ- rael, of Ahab the ſon of Kolaiah, and of Zede- kiah the ſon of Maaſeiah, which propheſie a lie unto you in my name, Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſlay them before your eyes. 22 And of them ſhall be taken up a curſe by all the captivity of Judah, which are in Babylon, ſaying, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roaſted in the fire. 23 Becauſe they have committed villainy in Iſrael, and have committed adul- tery with their neighbours wives, and have ſpoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them, even I know, and am a witneſs, ſaith the Lord. 24 Thus ſhalt thou alſo ſpeak to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, ſaying, 25 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name unto all the people that are at Jeruſalem, and to Zephaniah the ſon of Maa- ſeiah the prieſt, and to all the prieſts, ſaying. 26 The Lord hath made thee prieſt in the ſtead of Jehoiada the prieſt, that ye ſhould be officers in the houſe of the Lord, for every man that is mad, and maketh himſelf a prophet, that thou ſhouldeſt put him in priſon, and in the ſtocks: 27 Now therefore, why haſt thou not reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which maketh himſelf a prophet to you? 28 For therefore he ſent unto us in Babylon, ſaying, This captivity is long, build ye houſes and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them. 29 And Zephaniah the prieſt read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet. 30 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, ſaying, 31 Send to all them of the captivity, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord concerning Shemaiah the Nehe- lamite, Becauſe that Shemaiah hath propheſied unto you, and I ſent him not, and he cauſed you to truſt in a lie: 32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will puniſh Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his ſeed: he ſhall not have a man to dwell among this people, neither ſhall he behold the good that I will do for my people, ſaith the Lord, becauſe he hath taught rebellion againſt the Lord.

And to the Prophets] We do not read of any true Prophet that was carried away Captive with Jeconiah, beſide Ezekiel. So the Septuagint rightly underſtand the Word here of falſe Prophets, who flattered the People with Hopes of a ſpeedy Reſtoration. See Ch. xxvi. 7. xxxviii. 19. So Hananiah is often called the Prophet in the foregoing Chapter; and compare Ver. 8. of this Chapter.

After that Jeconiah the King, and the Queen, &c.] By the Queen is meant Jeconiah's Mother: See 2 Kings xxiv. 12, 14, 15. wherein an Account is given of this Captivity.

The Princes of Judah and Jeruſalem] If theſe be Perſons of a diſtinct Rank, we may underſtand the Princes of Judah to be the ſame with the Elders, or Sanhedrim, Ver. 1. Compare Ch. xxvi. 10, 16, 17. xxxiv. 19. By the Princes of Judah are meant the Rulers of that City, called the Leſſer Sanhedrim, conſiſting of twenty-three.

And ſeek the Peace of the City, whither I have cauſed you to be carried away Captives; and pray unto the Lord for it] It is the Duty of all private Perſons to ſubmit to the Government that protects them, and to pray for the Proſperity of it: See Ezra vi. 10. 1 Tim. ii. 1, 2. Or if they are Perſecutors or Enemies to the Truth, they are to leave it to God to execute upon them the Judgments he has denounced againſt Tyrants and Oppreſſors: Which Judgments the Jews expected God would execute upon Babylon in due Time: See Pſ. cxxxvii. 8, 9.

Whom the King of Babylon roaſted in the Fire] Caſting into the Fire was a Puniſhment uſed in that Country, as appears from the Hiſtory of the Three Children, Dan. iii. There was likewiſe a Way of Roaſting by a gentle Fire, to make Men die by a more lingering Death, ſuch as Antiochus practiſed upon the Seven Brethren, 2 Macc. vii. 5. and was often uſed in the Dioclefian Perſecution, as Lactantius deſcribes it. The Word here properly denotes this Sort of Puniſhment.

Thou ſhalt alſo ſpeak unto Shemaiah the Nehelamite] Or, the Dreamer, as the Word is rendered in the Margin; ſee Ver. 8. This was done after the Meſſengers, who delivered the former Meſſage to the Captives at Babylon, were returned Home, who brought along with them the Letter of Shemaiah, mentioned in the following Verſe: See Ver. 27.

The Lord hath made thee Prieſt inſtead of Jehoiada the Prieſt] Shemaiah directs the Words of his Letter to Zephaniah in the firſt Place, as being next in order to the High Prieſt, and therefore called the Second Prieſt, Ch. lii. 24. and tells him, that God has appointed him to ſupply the Place of the High Prieſt, being probably abſent at that Time, who was either Azariah, or Seraiah his Son; but might be called by the Name of Jehoiada, a Perſon ſo remarkable for his Zeal and Courage, 2 Chron. xxxiii, xxxiv.

It is certain ſome of the High Prieſts had ſeveral Names, as is taken for granted frequently by Selden, Lightfoot, and other learned Men, who have endeadeavoured to give us an Account of their Succeſſion, out of the Hiſtories of the Kings and Chronicles.

CHAP. XXX.

This and the following Chapter contain general Promiſes of God's Mercy to the Jews, and Aſſurances that he will never forget the Covenant that he made with their Fathers: Theſe were partly fulfilled in their Reſtoration under Cyrus, but more fully to be accomplished in the Times of the Messias.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, 2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I have spoken unto thee in a book. 3 For lo, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will bring again the captivity of my people Israel and Judah, saith the Lord, and I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it. 4 And these are the words that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Judah. 5 For thus saith the Lord, We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace. 6 Ask ye now, and see whether a man doth travail with child? wherefore do I see every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in travail, and all faces are turned into paleness? 7 Alas, for that day is great, so that none is like it: it is even the time of Jacobs trouble, but he shall be saved out of it. 8 For it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, that I will break his yoke from off thy neck, and will burst thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serve themselves of him. 9 But they shall serve the Lord their God, and David their king, whom I will raise up unto them. 10 Therefore fear thou not, O my servant Jacob, saith the Lord, neither be dismayed, O Israel: for lo, I will save thee from afar, and thy seed from the land of their captivity, and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest and quiet, and none shall make him afraid. 11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee: but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished. 12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruise is incurable, and thy wound is grievous. 13 There is none to plead thy cause, that thou mayest be bound up: thou hast no healing medicines. 14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee: they seek thee not, for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the multitude of thine iniquity: because thy sins were increased. 15 Why criest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquity: because thy sins were increased, I have done these things unto thee. 16 Therefore all they that devour thee shall be devoured, and all thine adversaries every one of them shall go into captivity: and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey. 17 For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee an outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after. 18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacobs tents, and have mercy on his dwelling-places: and the city shall be builded upon her own heap, and the palace shall remain after the manner thereof. 19 And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving, and the voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be small. 20 Their children also shall be as afore-time, and their congregation shall be establishe before me, and I will punish all that oppre them. 21 And their nobles shall be of them selves, and their governors shall proceed fro the midst of them, and I will cause him to dra near, and he shall approach unto me; for wh is this that engaged his heart to approach unt me? saith the Lord. 22 And ye shall be m people, and I will be your God. 23 Behol the whirlwind of the Lord goeth forth with fur a continuing whirlwind, it shall fall with pa upon the head of the wicked. 24 The fier anger of the Lord shall not return, until he ha done it, and until he have performed the inten of his heart: in the latter days ye shall consid it.

Write thee all the Words that I have spoken to t in a Book] The Words that follow contain a Prom of the Jews Restoration from their Captivity; compa Ver. 4. These God commands should be commit to Writing for the Use of Posterity, to be a Supp to the Jews, and an Encouragement for them to tr in God, and a Proof of God's Prescience, and ov ruling Providence, when the Event shall be brou to pass.

I will bring again the Captivity of my People Isr and Judah] Israel and Judah having been carried way by two distinct Captivities, into different Parts the World, several Prophecies of the Old Testam not only foretel the Restoration of each of them, likewise their Re-union after their Restoration. Ch. iii. 18. Ezek. xxxvii. 6—21, 22. Hos. i. Now though it be granted, that some of every Tr did return to their own Country under Cyrus and taxerxes, and are therefore called by the Name of Israel, Ezra ii. 73. vi. 17. vii. 13. x. 5. Neh xii. 47. yet the far greatest Part of these were of Ju and Benjamin, together with the Levites: See E i. 5. So that 'tis a great Question, what is become the main Body of the Ten Tribes, which Salmanez carried away into Assyria, and the neighbouring Co tries: From all which we may infer, that this and like Prophecies of the Old Testament, refer to a furt Restoration of the Jews that is yet to come.

Alas for that Day! for it is great, so that ther none like it, &c.] The Word Day often compreh a Succession of Time, in which a whole Series of Ev is transacted: So it here contains the whole Time the Siege and Taking of Jerusalem, the Destruction the City and Temple, and the carrying away of People Captive. This is described as the Time of g Tribulation, in which it was an Earnest of the Da Judgment, called the Great and Terrible Day of Lord, Joel ii. 31.

And their Nobles shall be of themselves, and t Governors shall proceed from the Midst of them] Hebrew Word Addiro is in the Singular Number, literally signifies their Mighty One, a Title given God himself, Ps. xciii. 4. and to a mighty Angel, x. 34. probably the Logos, or Son of God. The Se is, they shall no more be governed by Strangers, shall have a Ruler of their own Nation, such as Zorobabel, a Figure of Christ.

For who is this that engaged his Heart to appr unto me, saith the Lord?] For who is there but Messias, that is so entirely devoted to my Servi See Ps. xl. 8. John iv. 34. xiv. 31. The W Mihû zé, Who is this? have an Emphasis in the ginal, that cannot be expressed in another Langua and are spoken by way of Admiration: The very Phrase is used, Ps. xxiv. 10. where the altering Phrase from that which was used in the 8th Vers designed to denote some extraordinary Person, an generally expounded of the Messias.

In the latter Days ye shall consider it] Or u stand it. The latter Days, or last Days, as the Ph is sometimes translated, may signify in gener

Time to come; and so perhaps it is to be understood, Isa. xlix. 1. Deut. iv. 30. xxxi. 29. but it commonly signifies the Times under the Gospel, as being the last Dispensation, and such as should continue to the End of the World. And taking the Phrase in this Sense, the Words import, that when all these Evils are come upon you, which God hath threatened against your Disobedience, and particularly for that heinous Sin of yours in rejecting the Messias: And you have found the Denunciations of the Prophets verified in the several Captivities you have undergone; then you will understand the Import of this and several other Prophecies, and the Event will perfectly instruct you in the Meaning. See Ch. xxiii. 20.

CHAP. XXXI.

The Argument of the foregoing Chapter continued; with a more explicit Declaration of the Nature and Terms of that New Covenant which God will reveal by Christ.

Ver. 1. AT the same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people. 2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which were left of the sword, found grace in the wilderness; even Israel, when I went to cause him to rest. 3 The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee. 4 Again, I will build thee, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel, thou shalt again be adorned with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry. 5 Thou shalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria, the planters shall plant, and shall eat them as common things. 6 For there shall be a day, that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the Lord our God. 7 For thus saith the Lord, Sing with gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the nations: publish ye, praise ye, and say, O Lord, save thy people the remnant of Israel. 8 Behold, I will bring them from the north-country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth, and with them the blind, and the lame, the woman with child, and her that travaileth with child together: a great company shall return thither. 9 They shall come with weeping, and with supplications will I lead them: I will cause them to walk by the rivers of waters, in a straight way wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first-born. 10 Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock. 11 For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he. 12 Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oyl, and for the young of the flock and of the herd: and their soul shall be as a watered garden, and they shall not sorrow any more at all. 13 Then shall the virgin rejoyce in the dance, both young men and old together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoyce from their sorrow. 14 And I will satiate the soul of the priests with fatness, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, saith the Lord. 15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation and bitter weeping: Rachel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not. 16 Thus saith the Lord, refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy work shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come again from the land of the enemy. 17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come again to their own border. 18 I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus, Thou hast chastised me, and I was chastised, as a bullock unaccustomed to the yoke: turn thou me, and I shall be turned; for thou art the Lord my God. 19 Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was instructed, I smote upon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, even confounded, because I did bear the reproach of my youth. 20 Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a pleasant child? for since I spake against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord. 21 Set thee up waymarks, make thee high heaps: set thine heart toward the high-way, even the way which thou wentest: turn again, O virgin of Israel, turn again to these thy cities. 22 How long wilt thou go about, O thou backsliding daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth, A woman shall compass a man. 23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, As yet they shall use this speech in the land of Judah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring again their captivity, The Lord bless thee, O habitation of justice, and mountain of holiness. 24 And there shall dwell in Judah itself, and in all the cities thereof together, husbandmen, and they that go forth with flocks. 25 For I have satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul. 26 Upon this I awaked and beheld; and my sleep was sweet unto me. 27 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Judah with the seed of man, and with the seed of beast. 28 And it shall come to pass, that like as I have watched over them, to pluck up, and to break down, and to throw down, and to destroy, and to afflict; so will I watch over them, to build, and to plant, saith the Lord. 29 In those days they shall say no more, The fathers have eaten a sowre grape and the childrens teeth are set on edge. 30 But every one shall die for his own iniquity, every man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shall be set on edge. 31 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: 32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand, to bring them out of the land of Egypt, (which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the Lord:) 33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people. 34 And they shall teach no more every man his his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more. 35 Thus saith the Lord, which giveth the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the stars for a light by night, which divideth the sea when the waves thereof roar; the Lord of hosts is his name. 36 If those ordinances depart from before me, saith the Lord, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever. 37 Thus saith the Lord, If heaven above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth searched out beneath, I will also cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they have done, saith the Lord. 38 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that the city shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel unto the gate of the corner. 39 And the measuring-line shall yet go forth over against it, upon the hill Gareb, and shall compass about to Goath. 40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron, unto the corner of the horse-gate towards the east, shall be holy unto the Lord, it shall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more for ever.

For there shall be a Day, that the Watchmen upon Mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise ye, &c.] They that were to publish any Proclamation, used to get to the Top of some high Hill, from whence their Voice might be heard a great Way off. See Judg. ix. 7. 2 Chron. xiii. 4. Isa. xl. 9. Watchmen gave the same Kind of Warning if they saw an Enemy approach, which is now done more commonly by Beacons. The Jews took much the same Methods in proclaiming their Festivals. See Dr. Lightfoot's Temple Service. In Allusion to which Customs, the Prophet here saith, that the Time shall come, when there shall be a general Summons throughout all the Ten Tribes (Ephraim being put for the whole Kingdom of Israel) to repair to the Temple at Jerusalem, and join themselves to the true Church, from which they had made so long a Separation.

When the Prophets foretel the general Destruction of the Jews, they often speak of Judah and Israel, as no longer in a State of Separation, but united together under one King, the Messias: See Ch. iii. 18. xxx. 3. Isa. xi. 13. Ezek. xxxvi. 6—22. Hos. ii. 11. The Expressions arise ye, &c. allude to the Jews going in Companies to Jerusalem, at the three solemn Feasts of the Year; see Isa. ii. 3. The Prophets being stiled Watchmen, the Word may be applied to those Evangelical Preachers, who should be Instruments in converting the Jews, and bringing them into the Church. And the Word Notzerim may allude, as Grotius observes, to the Title of Nazarene, given to Christ and his Disciples, at the first Preaching of Christianity. See Matt. ii. 23. Acts xxiv. 5. We find that Names often carry some mystical Allusion in them, by several Instances of Scripture, and particularly Jacob's Blessings to his Sons, do for the most Part allude to their proper Names, Gen. xlix. 7.

A Voice was heard in Ramah — Rachel weeping for her Children] The Prophet describes the Lamentations in and about Jerusalem, at the Time of the several Captivities, mentioned Ch. lii. 15, 28, 29, 30. under the Resemblance of a Mother lamenting over her dead Children. The mournful Scene is laid in Ramah, in the Land of Benjamin, not far from Jerusalem. See Judg. xix. 10—13. Part of that City itself being in the Tribe of Benjamin; see Ch. vi. 1. And Rachel the Mother of Benjamin is introduced as chief Mourner upo so sad an Occasion.

This figurative Representation was in a great Me sure literally true, when Herod slew the Infants Bethlehem, not far from Ramah, and therefore S Matthew tells us, That this Prophecy was fulfilled that Event, Ch. ii. 17, 18. Several other Instances ma be alledged, where the mystical Sense of the Proph cies, or that which relates to the Times of the Gospe is the Interpretation that most exactly answers the n tural and genuine Import of the Words. This part cularly appears in those Prophecies concerning Christ Sufferings, contained in the xxii, and lxix Psalms. David's Afflictions were the Occasion of penning tho Psalms, yet it is plain, that the literal Sense of veral Passages of those Psalms was never fulfilled him.

Because they were not] An Expression denoting th who were dead, as being cut off from the Land of t Living, and excluded from any further Concern w the Things of this World. See Gen. xlii. 13. Lam. v. This was literally true, according to St. Matthew's terpretation of the Text, but only metaphorically so the Sense that was first intended; being spoken of th removed into a foreign Country, and for ever depri of the Conversation of their Relations, as if they been naturally dead.

Is Ephraim my dear Son? Is he a pleasant Child The interrogative Particle He, is in the same Se with Halo: And so it is plainly taken, 1 Sam. ii. which Place should be translated, Did not I plainly pear to thy Father's House, &c. and 2 Sam. xxiii. where our English Translators render it in the sa Sense, Is not this the Blood of the Men that went jeopardy of their Lives? Taking that Particle in Sense, the Text here should be render'd, Is not Ephr my dear Son? Is he not a pleasant Child? That is he not one that I have set my Affections upon, Parent does upon a Child in whom he delights?

Set thee up Way-marks, make thee high Heaps, & He bids them think of preparing for their Ret into their own Country; and in Order to that E to set up Way-marks to direct Travellers in the r Road. See Isa. lvii. 14. lxii. 10. The Word Tamzun high Heaps, is used here in a different Sense fr that from which it is taken Ver. 15. and signifies s Pillars or Obelisks as are used to be set up on the Ro Side, for the Direction of Travellers: In which Se Schindler understands it, Hos. xii. 14. and renders Place thus, Israel provoked him to Anger by his Hea that is, his Altars, which stood as Heaps in the Fi as it is said there, Ver. 11.

For the Lord hath created a new Thing in the Ear a Woman shall compass a Man] Or doth create. A is a new Thing, and unheard of, that a Woman sho court a Man, so God will bring as strange a Thing pass, that the Jewish Nation shall return to God Husband; see Ch. iii. 14. So most of the modern J and Christian Expositors understand the Words; several antient Jews expound the Text of the Messi and most Christian Interpreters understand it of the raculous Conception of the Virgin Mary, without Operation of Man. The Hebrew Sabah is used in Sense near a-kin to this, Deut. xxxii. 10. where it nifies carrying in the Arms, and cherishing, as a N ther does a Child: To the same Sense it is said, T shalt embrace a Son, 2 Kings iv. 16. Habebis in ut as the Vulgar Latin renders it; tho' the Word in Original is not the same as it is here. Taking Words in this Sense, they properly import a Creation, and such as is the immediate Work of G That such a Prophecy concerning the Conception Christ may not be thought to come in here, brup it is to be here observed, that as the Coming of Messias is the Foundation of all the Promises, bot the First and Second Covenant; see 2 Cor. i. 20. contains the most powerful Arguments to persuade to Obedience. And that Covenant, of which C was to be the Mediator, is plainly foretold and scribed at the 31st, and following Verses of this C

ter. A learned Friend, says Lowth, A Woman shall compass a Man, says, is a Proverbial Speech; as much as to say, A Woman; i. e. the most feeble, despicable Persons, compared elsewhere to Women: See Isa. iii. 12. xix. 6. xxvii. 11. Jer. l. 37. Nah. iii. 11. even such a one shall turn back, or discomfit a mighty Warrior, as the Word Geber properly signifies. He supposes the Expression to be equivalent to those Promises, That One should chase a Thousand, and the like; which Promises should again be fulfilled at the general Restoration of the Jewish Nation: See Ver. 8. of this Chapter, Joel iii. 10. Zech. xii. 8. He farther supposes that the Word Woman alludes to the Virgin of Israel, Ver. 21. called also a backsliding Daughter, Ver. 22. and compared to Rachel, Ver. 15.

And the whole Valley of the dead Bodies, and of the Ashes, and of the Fields, unto the Brook Kidron, &c.] The Valley of Tophet, which was made a common Burying-place; see Ch. vii. 32. and the Receptacle of the Filth of the City, even this Place shall be cleansed, and set apart as holy unto the Lord. This may be mystically understood of the Holiness of the New Jerusalem, when the Church shall be throughly purged from all Corruption: Compare Zech. xiv. 20, 21. Joel iii. 17. Isa. lii. 1. lx. 21. Rev. xxi. 27.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiah being put in Prison, for foretelling the taking of Jerusalem by the Chaldeans, purchases a Field from his Uncle's Son, to foreshew that God would restore the Jews to their Country where they should again enjoy their former Possessions.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar. 2 For then the king of Babylons army besieged Jerusalem: and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Judahs house. 3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had shut him up, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it, 4 And Zedekiah king of Judah shall not escape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his eyes, 5 And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there shall he be until I visit him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Chaldeans, ye shall not prosper. 6 And Jeremiah said, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 7 Behold, Hanameel the son of Shallum thine uncle, shall come unto thee, saying, Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth: for the right of redemption is thine to buy it. 8 So Hanameel my uncles son came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said unto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of inheritance is thine, and the redemption is thine, buy it for thyself: then I knew that this was the word of the Lord. 9 And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncles son, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the money, even seventeen shekels of silver. 10 And I subscribed the evidence, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances. 11 So I took the evidence of the purchase, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open. 12 And I gave the evidence of the purchase unto Baruch the son of Neriah, the son of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine uncles son, and in the presence of the witnesses that subscribed the book of the purchase, before all the Jews that sat in the court of the prison. 13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying, 14 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Take these evidences, this evidence of the purchase, both which is sealed, and this evidence which is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue many days. 15 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed again in this land. 16 Now when I had delivered the evidence of the purchase unto Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed unto the Lord, saying, 17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee. 18 Thou shewest loving-kindness unto thousands, and recompensest the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them: the great, the mighty God, the Lord of hosts is his name, 19 Great in counsel, and mighty in work, (for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the sons of men, to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings) 20 Which hast set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, even unto this day, and in Israel, and amongst other men, and hast made thee a name, as at this day, 21 And hast brought forth thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt, with signs and with wonders, and with a strong hand and with a stretched out arm, and with great terror, 22 And hath given them this land which thou didst swear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey. 23 And they came in and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law, they have done nothing of all that thou commandedst them to do: therefore thou hast caused all this evil to come upon them. 24 Behold the mounts, they are come unto the city to take it, and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans that fight against it, because of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence; and what thou hast spoken is come to pass, and behold, thou seest it. 25 And thou hast said unto me, O Lord God, Buy thee the field for money, and take witnesses: for the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans. 26 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying, 27 Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: Is there any thing too hard for me? 28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it. 29 And the Chaldeans that fight against this city, shall come and set fire on this city, and burn it with the houses, upon whose roofs they have offered incense unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other gods, to provoke me to anger. 30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Judah, have only done evil before me from their youth: for the children of Israel have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, saith the Lord. 31 For this city hath been to me, as a provocation of mine anger and of my fury, from the day that they built it, even unto this day; that I ſhould remove it from before my face: 32 Becauſe of all the evil of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their prieſts, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem. 33 And they have turned unto me the back, and not the face; though I taught them riſing up early, and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive inſtruction. 34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (which is called by my name) to defile it. 35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to cauſe their ſons and their daughters to paſs through the fire unto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they ſhould do this abomination to cauſe Judah to ſin. 36 And now therefore thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael concerning this city, whereof ye ſay, It ſhall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence; 37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countries, whither I have driven them in mine anger and in my fury and in great wrath; and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely. 38 And they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God. 39 And I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me for ever, for the good of them, and of their children after them. 40 And I will make an everlaſting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me. 41 Yea, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land aſſuredly, with my whole heart, and with my whole ſoul. 42 For thus ſaith the Lord, Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, ſo will I bring upon them all the good that I have promiſed them. 43 And fields ſhall be bought in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt, it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans. 44 Men ſhall buy fields for money, and ſubſcribe evidences, and ſeal them, and take witneſſes in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the ſouth: for I will cauſe their captivity to return, ſaith the Lord.

For Zedekiah — had ſhut him up, ſaying, Wherefore doſt thou prophecy, and ſay, &c.] This refers to the Prophecy ſet down Ch. xxxiv. 2, &c. The Particulars there mentioned being in Order of Time, before the Paſſages related in this Chapter. Jeremiah's Prophecies are put together without any regard to the Order of Time, as hath been before obſerved.

For the Right of Inheritance is thine, and the Poſſeſſion is thine] As being next of Kin: See Levit. xxv. 25. the Fields in the Suburbs of the Levites being unalienable: See Ver. 34. of that Chapter. This ſeems to have been a Field that came into the Family, either by Purchaſe, ſee Deut. xviii. 8. or by their marrying a Wife of another Tribe: For their Rabbins agree, that the Ordinance, mentioned Numb. xxxvi. 7. which forbids the Poſſeſſion of Lands being removed from one Tribe to another, did only take Place at their firſt Settlement in the Land of Canaan.

On the other Side, ſeveral good Reaſons may be alledged to prove thoſe Obligations perpetual. For this was the chief Deſign of inſtituting the Year of Jubilee, viz. to reſtore the Lands to their antient Owners. Out of regard to this Law, Naboth refuſed to alienate his Field to Ahab at the Peril of his Life; 1 Kings xxi. 3. The ſame Law is renewed Ezek. xlvi. 17.

And I weighed him the Money, even ſeventeen Shekels of Silver] Which in our Money is not much above forty Shillings; a ſmall Price for a Field or Piece of Ground. The Reaſon of the Lowneſs of the Price might be, becauſe it was only buying the Reverſion of the Ground, the Purchaſer or his Heirs not coming into Poſſeſſion till the ſeventy Years Captivity was expired. And the Purchaſe itſelf, like other Prophetical Signs, was rather a Declaration of what ſhould come to paſs, than the Conveyance of a preſent Benefit. But our Margin reads, ſeven Shekels, and ten Pieces of Silver: And the ten Pieces may ſtand for a larger Sum than a Shekel, as the ſeventy Pieces mentioned Judg. ix. 4. certainly do. The Chaldee Paraphraſe renders it ſeven Mina's, and ten Shekels of Silver: Each Mina according to Ezekiel's Computation, Ch. xlv. 12. amounting to ſixty common Shekels, which is nine Pounds Stirling, according to Dr. Prideaux's Computation; by which Reckoning the whole Sum amounts to 64*l.* of our Money.

To cauſe their Sons and their Daughters to paſs through the Fire] The Words through the Fire are not in the Hebrew; but in other Places which ſpeak of the ſame Thing, the Words are expreſſed at full Length: See Deut. xviii. 10. 2 Kings xxiii. 10. Elſewhere the ſame Thing is expreſſed by Burning their Sons and their Daughters in the Fire, and offering them for Burnt-offerings. See Ch. vii. 31. xix. 5. of this Prophecy. Dan. xii. 38. the idolatrous Jews are often upbraided with the Practice of this inhuman Rite: See Pſ. cvi. 37. Iſa. lvii. 5. and the Phraſe of making Children paſs through the Fire, is ordinarily taken in this Senſe, Ezek. xvi. 20, 21. and Ch. xxiii. 37. where it is explained by ſlaying them, ſacrificing them, and giving them to be devoured.

But ſome Criticks are of Opinion, that the Expoſition is taken in a milder Senſe, in other Texts, particularly 2 Kings xvi. 3. and denotes only holding Children over the Fire, or making them paſs through the Flame, by way of Luſtration or Dedication to ſome Idol. To confirm this Interpretation, they obſerve that the Verb Heneker uſed in the Text, ſignifies to dedicate or conſecrate: See Exod. xiii. 12.

CHAP. XXXIII.

God renews his Promiſe of reſtoring the Jewiſh Nation; the Completion of which is to be expected under the Kingdom of the Meſſias.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the ſecond time (while he was yet ſhut up in the court of the priſon) ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, to eſtabliſh it, the Lord is his name, 3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, and ſhew thee great and mighty things, which thou knoweſt not. For thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this city, and concerning the houſes of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the ſword, 5 They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlain in mine anger, and in my fury, and for all whoſe wickedneſs I have hid my face from this city. 6 Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth. 7 And I will cauſe the captivity of Judah, and the captivity of Iſrael to return, and will build them as at the firſt. 8 And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, whereby they have ſinned againſt me, and I will pardon all their iniquities whereby they have ſinned, and whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me. 9 And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they ſhall fear and tremble for all the goodneſs, and for all the proſperity that I procure unto it. 10 Thus ſaith the Lord, Again there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate without man and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem that are deſolate without man and without inhabitant, and without beaſt) 11 The voice of joy and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay, Praiſe the Lord of hoſts, for the Lord is good, for his mercy endureth for ever, and of them that ſhall bring the ſacrifice of praiſe into the houſe of the Lord; for I will cauſe to return the captivity of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord. 12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Again in this place which is deſolate without man and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof, ſhall be an habitation of ſhepherds cauſing their flocks to lie down. 13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the ſouth, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hands of him that telleth them, ſaith the Lord. 14 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Judah. 15 In thoſe days, and at that time will I cauſe the Branch of righteouſneſs to grow up unto David, and he ſhall execute judgment and righteouſneſs in the land. 16 In thoſe days ſhall Judah be ſaved, and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely: and this is the name whereby ſhe ſhall be called, The Lord our righteouſneſs. 17 For thus ſaith the Lord, David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael. 18 Neither ſhall the prieſts the Levites, want a man before me to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do ſacrifice continually. 19 And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, ſaying, 20 Thus ſaith the Lord, If you can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon: 21 Then may alſo my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his throne, and with the Levites the prieſts, my miniſters. 22 As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites that miniſter unto me. 23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, ſaying, 24 Conſidereſt thou not what this people have ſpoken, ſaying, The two families which the Lord hath choſen, he hath even caſt them off: thus they have deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them. 25 Thus ſaith the Lord, If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth: 26 Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Jacob, and David my ſervant, ſo that I will not take any of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: for I will cauſe their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead Bodies, &c.] To fill them, i. e. the Houſes mentioned Ver. 4. This Verſe comes in by Way of Parentheſis, between the 4th and 6th to ſhew, that at preſent God will not proſper any Efforts which are made for the Defence of the City, tho' he will reſtore it hereafter to its former Splendor. Lud. de Dieu renders the Words thus, The Chaldeans come to fight and to fill, &c. and he proves by ſeveral Inſtances, that the Hebrew Particle Eth, ſometimes goes before a Nominative Caſe: A plain Inſtance of which Syntax is to be ſeen, Ch. xxxvi. 22.

And this is the Name by which ſhe ſhall be called, The Lord our Righteouſneſs] The Name which properly belongs to the Meſſias (ſee Ch. xxiii. 6.) ſhall be given to Jeruſalem, that is, to the Church; to betoken, that it is in a peculiar Manner dedicated to him, he having choſen it for the Place of his Reſidence: Compare Ezek. xlviii. 35. and that all the Righteouſneſs of the Faithful, both their Juſtification and Sanctification, is derived from him. This ſeems to be the genuine Senſe of the Words, as will appear to any who will compare the original Phraſe here, Yikkare lah, with Iſa. xlii. 4, 12. where it is ſaid of Zion, the Perſon only being changed, Thou ſhalt be called Hephzibah, and ſought out. Nor is there any greater Impropriety in giving the Name JEHOVAH to a City, than in calling an Altar Jehovah-niſſi, Exod. xvii. 15. and Jehovah-ſhalom, Judg. vi. 24. in token that the Lord was Author of thoſe Mercies, of which the ſaid Altars were deſigned to be Monuments. So the Servants of God are deſcribed in the Revelations, as having their Name written upon their Forehead, Rev. iii. 12. xiv. 1. But ſeveral Interpreters, particularly Huetius, and our learned Biſhop Pearſon, in the Notes upon his Expoſition of the Creed, render the Words thus, He that ſhall call her (to be his peculiar People) is the Lord our Righteouſneſs.

Neither ſhall the Prieſts, the Levites, want a Man to ſtand before me, to offer Burnt-offerings, &c.] This as it may be applied to the Chriſtian Church, imports that there never ſhall want a Succeſſion of Men ſet apart for God's Service, to perform the publick Offices of Religion. As the Prophets often deſcribe the Chriſtian Worſhip, by Repreſentations taken from the Temple-Service, and ſpeak of the one as ſucceeding the other, ſo the Apoſtles prove the Rights and Privileges belonging to the Miniſters of the Goſpel, from the Prerogatives given to the Jewiſh Prieſthood. See Rom. xv. 16. 1 Cor. ix. 13, 14. The Phraſe to ſtand before me, is explained in the Note upon Ch. xv. 1.

As the Hoſt of Heaven cannot be numbered, neither the Sand of the Sea meaſured, ſo will I multiply the Seed of David, &c.] This relates to the Promiſe made to Abraham, as multiplying his Seed as the Stars of Heaven, and as the Sand which is upon the Sea-ſhore, Gen. xxii. 17. which Promiſe was fulfilled in his Poſterity, Deut. x. 22. 1 Kings iv. 20. And the Text here affirms, that the ſame Promiſe ſhall again be made good in After-times, and eſpecially in the True Iſraelites, the ſpiritual Seed of Abraham. See Rom. iv. 16, 17.

If we conſider the literal Senſe of this Promiſe as it was fulfilled, when the Jews firſt peopled the Land of Canaan; it is Matter of Wonder to reflect on the vaſt Number of Inhabitants who dwelt in Judea, a Country not above 160 Miles in Length, and about 120 in Breadth, if we take in all the Country on the other Side of Jordan, to the Borders of Arabia; and yet in David's Time there were reckoned above 500,000 fighting Men, 1 Chron. xxi. 3. And afterward in Jehoſhaphat's ſhaphat's Time, it appears from the Muſter-Roll, that the Soldiers in the Kingdom of Judah only amounted to 1,100,000. See 2 Chron. xvi. 14, &c.

CHAP. XXXIV.

The Jews being terrified at the Apprehenſion of the King of Babylon*'s beſieging the City, entered into a ſolemn Covenant of ſerving God, and obeying his Laws; particularly that which enjoined them to let their Servants go free after ſix Years Service. But the King of* Egypt coming to the Relief of Zedekiah, and Nebuchadnezzar thereupon raiſing the City of Jeruſalem to march againſt him; the People repented of their Reformation: For Jeremiah proclaims Liberty to the Sword, Famine and Peſtilence, to execute God's Vengeance.

Ver. 1. THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, (when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth of his dominion, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, Go, and ſpeak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire. 3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes ſhall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon. 4 Yet hear the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah, Thus ſaith the Lord of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword; 5 But thou ſhalt die in peace: and with the burnings of thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burn odours for thee, and they will lament thee, ſaying, Ah lord: for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord. 6 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jeſalem, 7 When the king of Babylons army fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Judah that were left, againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe defenced cities remained of the cities of Judah. 8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jeruſalem, to proclaim liberty unto them; 9 That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant, being an Hebrew or an Hebrewes, go free, that none ſhould ſerve himſelf of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother. 10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had entred into the covenant, heard that every one ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every one his maid-ſervant go free, that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, then they obeyed and let them go. 11 But afterwards they turned and cauſed the ſervants and the hand maids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into ſubjection for ſervants and for hand-maids. 12 Therefore the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bond-men, ſaying, 14 At the end of ſeven years, let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been ſold unto thee: and when he hath ſerved thee ſix years, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers hearkened not unto me: neither inclined their ear. 15 And ye were now turned and had done right in my ſight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the houſe which is called by my name. 16 But turned and polluted my name, and cauſed every man his ſervant, and every man his hand-maid, whom he had ſet at liberty at their pleaſure, to return, and brought them into ſubjection, to be unto you for ſervants and for hand-maids. 17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, ſaith the Lord, to the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, and I will make you to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth. 18 And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof. 19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the eunuchs, and the prieſts, and all the people of the land which paſſed between the parts of the calf; 20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life; and their dead bodies ſhall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beaſts of the earth. 21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylons army which are gone up from you. 22 Behold, I will command, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to return to this city, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire, and I will make the cities of Judah a deſolation without an inhabitant.

When Nebuchadnezzar — fought againſt Jeruſalem] The Siege which was begun in the ninth Year of Zedekiah, and the tenth Month, and 10th Day of the Month, which anſwers to the latter End of our December; ſee Ch. lii. 4. A learned Friend, ſays Lowth, ſuppoſes that what is here recorded, did not happen till ſome Time after the Siege was begun; and concludes from Ch. xxviii. 1. and the 17th Verſe of this Chapter that the Sabbatical Year was co-incident with the last Year of the Siege, which was the eleventh Year of Zedekiah.

And with the Burnings of thy Fathers, the former Kings — ſo ſhall they burn Odours for thee] It was cuſtomary among the Jews, at the Funeral of their Kings eſpecially of thoſe whoſe Memory they honoured, to prepare a Bed of Spices, as it is called 2 Chron. xvi. 14. which they made a Perfume of by burning them, and therein to depoſit the Body of the deceaſed Prince. Compare the fore-mentioned Place with 2 Chron. xxi. 19.

After that Zedekiah had made a Covenant with all the People which were at Jeruſalem] Archbiſhop Uſher ſuppoſes, that this Covenant was entered into at the Beginning of the Year, which he computes to be a Sabbatical Year, upon the firſt News of the King of Babylon's intended Invaſion: Whereas the Chaldean Army did not actually beſiege Jeruſalem, till the laſt End of the Year; see Ver. 1.

To proclaim Liberty unto them] The Law for the Release of Servants every seventh Year, we read Deut. xv. 12, &c. For the better understanding of which, we must observe, that there were two Periods of Time, wherein the Release of Jewish Bond-slaves was enjoined, the Year of Jubilee, which was every fiftieth, and the Sabbatical Year, which was every seventh Year. The Sabbatical Year is what is here intended: It now happened in the eighth Year of Zedekiah's Reign: But (as Prideaux in his Preface remarks) had not been observed for above 360 Years before; for which Reason the Jews, being now in a State of Compunction, were for restoring it to its primitive Institution; but upon the Removal of their Fears, by the withdrawing of Nebuchadnezzar's Forces, they repented of their good Intentions, and recalled their Servants to their Slavery again. Why the Observation of such a Year in seven was enjoined, the Reasons are pretty obvious: For, besides the Commemoration of the Israelites Release from the Egyptian Bondage, which the Text specifies, the general Release of Servants, and the Restoration of Lands and Tenements to their first Owners, which were to be then transacted, were to hinder the Rich from oppressing the Needy, and reducing them to perpetual Slavery; that Debts should not be too much multiplied, nor the Poor, consequently, entirely ruined; but that a Liberty of People's Persons, an Equality of their Fortunes, and the Order and Distinction of their Tribes and Families (as far as it was possible) might be preserved: And it was something like this that Lycurgus established among the Lacedemonians, in his instituting an Equality among Persons, annihilating Slavery, and preventing (as far as he could) any one's becoming too powerful, or too rich. See Sandford's Scripture Chron. and Calmet's Dict. under the Word Sabbath.

When they cut the Calf in twain, and passed between the Parts thereof] Implying by that Ceremony, that they wished themselves might be cut in sunder in like manner, if they broke their solemn Vow and Promise. The same Rite was used in antient Times, as appears from Gen. xv. 10. and conveyed down to Afterages, as may be seen in those Forms recorded by Livy: Ita Jupiter populum Romanum, sic ferito, ut ego hunc porcum; Do thou, O Jupiter, so strike the Roman People, as I do this Lamb. Si fallerat, Jovem cæteroſque Deos precatus, ita se mactarunt quemadmodum ipse agnum mactâſſet: Beseeching the Gods, if he proved false, that they would slay him in the same Manner he should kill the Lamb. So the Greeks in Homer, when they had entered into a solemn League or Agreement with the Trojans, to put an End to the War, by the single Combat of Paris and Menelaus, at the pouring out the Wine upon their Sacrifice, make the like Imprecation upon those who did not observe their Part of the Treaty, in that remarkable Passage in the Iliads; which is thus translated:

Almighty Jove, and all ye other Powers,
Whoever first shall dare to break this Treaty,
May their warm Blood be pour'd upon the Earth,
As is this Wine. ——

CHAP. XXXV.

The Obedience of the Rechabites to their Father's Injunctions, the Jews Disobedience to God's Commands is condemned.

1 THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, 2 Go unto the house of the Rechabites, and speak unto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink. 3 Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites. 4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, the keeper of the door. 5 And I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I said unto them, Drink ye wine. 6 But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever. 7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may live many days in the land where ye be strangers. 8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons nor our daughters. 9 Nor to build houses for us to dwell in: neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor seed. 10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us. 11 But it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, Come, and let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians: so we dwell at Jerusalem. 12 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying, 13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Go and tell the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, will ye not receive instruction to hearken to my words? saith the Lord. 14 The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, that he commanded his sons not to drink wine, are performed; for unto this day they drink none, but obey their fathers commandment: notwithstanding I have spoken unto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye hearkened not unto me. 15 I have sent also unto you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them, and ye shall dwell in the land, which I have given to you, and to your fathers: but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened unto me. 16 Because the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab, have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them; but this people hath not hearkened unto me: 17 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the evil that I have pronounced against them: because I have spoken unto them, but they have not heard, and I have called unto them, but they have not answered. 18 And Jeremiah said unto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Because ye have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he hath commanded you: 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for ever.

Go unto the House of the Rechabites] The Rechabites were were deſcended from the Kenites, 1 Chron. ii. 55. They never were incorporated with the Jewiſh Nation; ſee Ver. 7. but yet were looked upon as their Friends and Allies: See 1 Sam. xv. 6. and a Reſpect was paid to them for the Sake of Hobab, Moſes's Father-in-law, who was of that Nation, Judg. iv. 10. They were Worſhippers of the true God, tho' they were not circumciſed: See the following Verſe, and 2 Kings x. 15, 16.

Which was by the Chamber of Princes] Where the Sanhedrim, or Great Council, uſed to aſſemble: See Ch. xxvi. 10. The Sanhedrim always ſat in ſome great Room adjoining to the Temple, as Dr. Lightfoot obſerves in his Deſcription of the Temple.

Above the Chamber of Maaſeiah — Keeper of the Door] That is, one of the Keepers: For there were ſeveral Levites appointed for that Office, both to open and ſhut the Gates of the Temple in due Time, and likewiſe to attend at them all Day, for preventing any Thing that might happen to the Prejudice of the Purity, or Safety of that holy Place: See 1 Chron. ix. 18, 19. xxvi. 12, 13, &c. 2 Chron. viii. 14. 2 Kings xii. 9. xxv. 18. Some of theſe Officers had likewiſe the Cuſtody of the holy Veſſels: See Ch. lii. 24. 1 Chron. ix. 26.

For Jonadab the Son of Rechab our Father, commanded us, ſaying, Ye ſhall drink no Wine, &c.] Jonadab was a conſiderable Man of this Family: See 2 Kings x. 15. his Deſign was to reduce his Family to the primitive Manner of Life, which was that of Shepherds, living in Tents, having no certain Habitation, and taking Care only for a Supply of what was barely neceſſary to ſupport Nature. Theſe Rules he might probably give them, to put them in mind, that they were Strangers in Judea, and had no original Right of Inheritance there; ſee the following Verſe. Such voluntary Auſterities, in After-times, came into great Repute among ſeveral Sects of the Jews, particularly the Phariſees and Eſſenes.

Thus have we obeyed the Voice of Jonadab the Son of Rechab our Father] We have conformed ourſelves to his Injunctions, and governed our Lives by them, during the Space of near three Hundred Years.

For fear of the Army of the Syrians] Beroſus mentions Nebuchadnezzar's Conqueſts over Syria and Phœnice, as he is quoted by Joſephus. Out of theſe Conqueſts he probably recruited his Army.

So we dwell at Jeruſalem] Upon the Chaldean Invaſion, we retired to Jeruſalem, where during the Siege of the Place, we are forced to continue. In ſuch a Caſe they did not think themſelves obliged to a ſtrict Obſervation of the Injunctions of Jonadab; becauſe all human Laws admit of an equitable Conſtruction, and may be ſuperſeded in Caſes of Neceſſity; or when the Obſervance of them is attended with ſuch great Inconveniencies, as the Law-maker himſelf, if he could have foreſeen, would probably have excepted.

Jonadab the Son of Rechab ſhall not want a Man to ſtand before me] When the main Body of the Jewiſh Nation are diſperſed in their ſeveral Captivities, ſome of that Family ſhall remain to attend upon my Service, and enjoy the Privileges of worſhipping in my Temple at Jeruſalem: Compare Ch. vii. 10. Some Branches of this Family returned from the Captivity, as appears from 1 Chron. ii. 55.

CHAP. XXXVI.

The Prophet orders Baruch to write all his Prophecies againſt Iſrael and Judah in one Volume: Which Baruch firſt read to the People on two ſolemn Faſt Days, and afterward to the chief Miniſters of State. They inform the King of the Matter, who orders Jehudi to read it before him; but before he had read far, he commands it to be cut to Pieces and burnt. God orders Jeremiah to write it over again.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Take thee a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, and againſt all the nations, from the day I ſpake unto thee, from the days of Joſiah, even unto this day. 3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them; that they may return every man from his evil way, that I may forgive their iniquity and their ſin. 4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the ſon of Neriah; and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had ſpoken unto him, upon a roll of a book. 5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am ſhut up, I cannot go into the houſe of the Lord: 6 Therefore go thou and read in the roll, which thou haſt written from my mouth, the words of the Lord in the ears of the people in the Lords houſe upon the faſting day: and alſo thou ſhalt read them in the ears of all Judah, that come out of their cities. 7 It may be they will preſent their ſupplication before the Lord, and will return every one from his evil way; for great is the anger and fury that the Lord hath pronounced against this people. 8 And Baruch the ſon of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the Lord in the Lords houſe. 9 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Jeruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jeruſalem. 10 Then read Baruch in the book, the words of Jeremiah in the houſe of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah, the ſon of Shaphan the ſcribe, in the higher court, at the entry of the new gate of the Lords houſe in the ears of all the people. 11 When Michaiah the ſon of Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, had heard out of the book all the words of the Lord, 12 Then he went down into the kings houſe into the ſcribes chamber and lo, all the princes ſat there, even Eliſhama the ſcribe, and Delaiah the ſon of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſon of Hananiah, and all the princes. 13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people. 14 Therefore all the princes ſent Jehudi the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Cuſhi, unto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roll wherein thou haſt read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſon of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came unto them. 15 And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Baruch read it in their ears. 16 Now it came to paſs when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and ſaid unto Baruch, We will ſurely tell the king of all theſe words. 17 And they aſked Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now, How didſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth? 18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe words unto me with his mouth,

I wrote them with ink in the book. 19 Then aid the princes unto Baruch, Go hide thee, thou nd Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye
e. 20 And they went in to the king into the ourt, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the ars of the king. 21 So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll, and he took it out of Elishama the cribes chamber, and Jehudi read it in the ears
f the king, and in the ears of all the princes which stood before the king. 22 Now the ing sat in the winter-house, in the ninth month;
nd there was a fire on the hearth burning before
im. 23 And it came to pass that when Jehudi ad read three or four leaves, he cut it with the en-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on he hearth until all the roll was consumed in the re that was on the hearth. 24 Yet they were ot afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the ing, nor any of his servants that heard all these words. 25 Nevertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, nd Gemariah had made intercession to the king, hat he would not burn the roll, but he would ot hear them. 26 But the king commanded erahmeel the son of Hammelech, and Seraiah he son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abeel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah he prophet; but the Lord hid them. 27 Then he word of the Lord came to Jeremiah (after hat the king had burnt the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) aying, 28 Take thee again another roll, and rite in it all the former words that were in the rst roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah ath burnt. 29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiaim king of Judah, Thus saith the Lord, thou ast burnt this roll, saying, Why hast thou ritten therein, saying, The king of Babylon hall certainly come and destroy this land, and hall cause to cease from thence man and beast?
0 Therefore thus saith the Lord, of Jehoiakim ing of Judah, He shall have none to sit upon he throne of David, and his dead body shall be ast out in the day to the heat, and in the night o the frost. 31 And I will punish him and his ed, and his servants, for their iniquity, and I ill bring upon them, and upon the inhabints of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Judah l the evil that I have pronounced against them, ut they hearkened not. 32 Then took Jere-iah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the cribe the son of Neriah, who wrote therein from he mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the ook which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burnt n the fire, and there were added besides unto hem many like words.

And write therein all the Words that I have spoken to thee against Israel, and against Judah] How Jeremiah could remember all the Prophecies that he had uttered for the Space of two and twenty Years together, we can hardly conceive, unless we allow, that he had the particular Inspiration of God to bring all Things to his Remembrance, that he might neither forget, nor misrepresent them in his Recital to Baruch: For, without supposing supernatural Assistance, what Security have we that this Part of the Scriptures is the Work of the Holy Ghost? See Calmet's Com.

Therefore go thou and read — in the House of the Lord on the fasting Day] Some are of Opinion, that this was done on the great Day of Fasting, or solemn Expiation, which was observed at the Beginning of the Civil Year, on the 10th Day of the Month Tizri, which answers to the latter End of our September, and the Beginning of October; but the Context seems to denote, that it was on the Fast-Day, mentioned in the 9th Verse, to have been proclaimed in the fifth Year of Jehoiakim, which must have been a Fast extraordinary, and appointed upon some particular Occasion of the State, because the Law had ordained no such Observation on the ninth Month: But what that particular Occasion was, it is not so well known; tho' some have imagin'd, that it was in Commemoration of the Calamity which had befallen Jerusalem the Year before, when Nebuchadnezzar had sent to Babylon Part of the Vessels of the House of the Lord, and was upon the Point of sending away captive the King, and all his Princes: See Calmet's Com.

In the fifth Year of Jehoiakim, in the ninth Month, they proclaimed a Fast] It was customary among the Jews, to proclaim Anniversary Fasts upon certain Days, in Memory of some great Calamities which had befallen them at that Time. Of this Kind were the Fasts of the fourth, fifth, seventh, and tenth Months, mentioned Zech. vii. 5. and Ch. viii. 19. The first instituted in Remembrance of the City's being taken by Nebuchadnezzar: The second in Memory of the Temple's being burnt in that Month: The third for the Murder of Gedaliah: The fourth in Memory of the Siege then begun. The first mentioned in the Text, was occasioned by the taking of the City by Nebuchadnezzar at that Time, in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, as Archbishop Usher conjectures, ad A. M. 3398, 3399.

In the House of the Lord, in the Chamber of Gemariah the Scribe] Compare Ch. xxxv. 4. That Chamber opened into the higher Court, so that Baruch might read there in the Audience of all the People, Ver. 13. The Scribe is the same with the Secretary of State. See 2 Kings xviii. 37. Some understand the Scribe to be the same that is called the principal Scribe of the Host, Ch. lii. 25. or in the modern Language, the Secretary of War.

This Gemariah, says Calmet, was one of the Captains of the Temple, whose Apartment was near the New Gate, whereof he kept Guard, and had a certain Number of Levites under him, who constantly stood Centinel. For the Temple, we must know, was guarded like a King's Palace, and, as the upper Court, which is mentioned in the Text, was, in all Probability, the Priests Court; so the Gate, whereof Gemariah had Charge, must have been the East Gate of that Court, which, in the Reign of Jehoshaphat, 2 Chron. xx. 5. is called the New Court.

Then said the Princes to Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou and Jeremiah] The Advice, which the Princes of Judah give upon this Occasion, is very remarkable, because it reconciles their Duty to God, to Justice, and to Charity, with what they were obliged to from their Prince. Their Prince, they knew, was of an hasty, violent Temper; and yet the Contents of the Book were such, that it would not be safe for him to be ignorant of it; and therefore, being in Duty bound to acquaint him with it, they advised Baruch and his Master to provide for their own Security, until they should see what Effect it would have upon the King, whereof they promised, no doubt, to give them Intelligence. See Calmet's Com.

Jeremiah was a Prisoner when he commanded Baruch to read this Roll to the People, Ver. 5. but what is there said, relates to the Year following. Compare Ver. 1. with Ver. 9.

Now the King sat in the upper House, in the ninth Month, and there was a Fire on the Hearth] The ninth Month answers in part to our November. After that the Rain began to fall in the Month of September, the Weather generally grew raw and cold, so that a Fire, at this Time, was not unseasonable. The Custom, however, in this Country, was not to have Chimnies, as among us. The Fire was made in the Middle of the Room, upon an Hearth, or in a Stove, and the Smoke went out, either at the Door, or Window, dow, or ſome Opening made on Purpoſe in the Roof of the Houſe, as we ſee in ſome of our College-halls, and ſome Kitchens of antient Monaſteries, where the Chimney is in the Midſt of the Roof, in the Form of a Cupola, with ſeveral Openings, for the Smoke to fly out at. For, that there were formerly no Chimnies, in the Manner we make them now, is plain from the Obſervation which his Annotator makes upon Vitruvius, viz. that, in all his Book of Architecture, he makes no Mention of Chimnies, which he queſtionleſs would have done, had they been in Uſe in his Time. See Calmet's Com. and M. Perault ſur Vitriv.

And it came to paſs, that when Jehudi had read three or four Leaves] Their Books were made in Form of a Roll; ſee Ver. 2. and therefore were not divided into Leaves or Pages, as ours are: So that by Leaves we are to underſtand the Columns, or ſeveral Partitions into which the Breadth of the Parchment was divided. This Senſe the Septuagint have expreſſed by the Word Σελίδες, which is uſed for the Columns in Origen's Edition of the Hexapla, by Epiphanius.

There were added beſides unto them many like Words] From hence we may infer, that God's Spirit did not always indite the very Form of Words which the holy Writers have ſet down, but directing them in general to expreſs his Senſe in proper Words, left the Manner of Expreſſion to themſelves: From whence proceeds that Variety of Stile, which we may obſerve in the Scriptures, ſuitable to the different Genius and Education of the Writers.

But the Prophet foretelling that they would certainly return, and take the City, he is impriſoned, but afterwards releaſed by* Zedekiah.

Ver. 1. AND king Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah reigned in ſtead of Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah. 2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land, did hearken unto the words of the Lord which he ſpake by the prophet Jeremiah, 3 And Zedekiah the king ſent Jehucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, to the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for us. 4 Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people: for they had not put him into priſon. 5 Then Pharaohs army was come forth out of Egypt: and when the Chaldeans that beſieged Jeruſalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Jeruſalem. 6 Then came the word of the Lord unto the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, 7 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay to the king of Judah, that ſent you unto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs army which is come forth to help you, ſhall return to Egypt into their own land. 8 And the Chaldeans ſhall come again, and fight againſt this city, and take it and burn it with fire. 9 Thus ſaith the Lord, Deceive not yourſelves, ſaying, The Chaldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us: for they ſhall not depart. 10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight againſt you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet ſhould they riſe up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire. 11 And it came to paſs that when the army of the Chaldeans was broken up from Jeruſalem for fear of Pharaohs army, 12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jeruſalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to ſeparate himſelf thence in the mids of the people. 13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, a captain of the ward was there, whoſe name was Irijah the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Hananiah, and he took Jeremiah the prophet, ſaying, Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans. 14 Then ſaid Jeremiah, It is falſe, I fall not away to the Chaldeans: but he hearkened not to him: ſo Irijah took Jeremiah and brought him to the princes. 15 Wherefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and ſmote him, and put him in priſon in the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe: for they had made that the priſon. 16 When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days: 17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent and took him out; and the king aſked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah ſaid, There is: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon. 18 Moreover Jeremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon? 19 Where are now your prophets which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land? 20 Therefore hear now, I pray thee, O my lord the king, let my ſupplication, I pray thee, be accepted before thee, that thou cauſe me not to return to the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe, leſt I die there. 21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtreet, until all the bread in the city were ſpent. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

To ſeparate himſelf thence in the Midſt of his People] Or rather, From the Midſt of his People, or, From among his People: For the Prepoſition Min, is to be taken as belonging to the latter Part of the Sentence. And ſo the French Tranſlation, publiſhed for the Uſe of the Reformed Churches, underſtands it in this Senſe, that Jeremiah propoſed to leave the City, and retire into his own Country.

Irijah — the Son of Hananiah] Probably of the Hananiah, whoſe Death Jeremiah foretold, Ch. xxviii. 17. So this Nephew of his thought to have revenged his Grandfather's Quarrel.

Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans] Compare Ch. xxxviii. 4. The Ground of this Accuſation was, becauſe the Prophet had foretold that they ſhould take the City, and had exhorted the Jews to ſubmit to them; ſee Ver. 10. of this Chapter, Ch. xxvii. 6, 9, xxxviii. 14. xviii. 11. xxxvi. 3.

Then they commanded that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into the Court of the Priſon] This was the Kind's firſt Order, but afterward it was reverſed by the Importunity of the Princes and Great Men, Ch. xxxviii. 6. when Jeremiah was again thrown into the Dungeon. Tho' after that he was releaſed from that Place, and returned to his former Confinement; ibid. Ver. 28.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

The Princes informing the King againſt Jeremiah, he is thrown into the Dungeon: But afterwards releaſed upon Ebed-melech's Supplication to Ki

King, whom he adviſes to ſubmit to the Chaldeans.

Ver. 1. THEN Shephatiah the ſon of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſon of Pashur, and Jucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Pashur the ſon of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans, ſhall live; for he ſhall have his life for a prey, and ſhall live. 3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This city ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babylons army, which ſhall take it. 4 Therefore the princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech thee let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them: for this man ſeeketh not the welfare of this people, but the hurt. 5 Then Zedekiah the king ſaid, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing againſt you. 6 Then took they Jeremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of Hammelech that was in the court of the priſon: and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: ſo Jeremiah ſunk in the mire. 7 Now when Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the kings houſe, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon, (the king then ſitting in the gate of Benjamin) 8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the kings houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying, 9 My lord the king, theſe men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon, and he is like to die for hunger in the place where he is, for there is no more bread in the city. 10 Then the king king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men with thee, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die. 11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the houſe of the king under the treaſury, and took thence old caſt clouts, and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah. 12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian ſaid unto Jeremiah, Put now theſe old caſt clouts, and rotten rags under thine armholes, under the cords. And Jeremiah did ſo. 13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon. 14 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the third entry that is in the houſe of the Lord; and the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I will aſk thee a thing: hide nothing from me. 15 Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death? and if I give thee counſel, wilt thou not hearken unto me? 16 So Zedekiah the king ſware ſecretly unto Jeremiah, ſaying, As the Lord liveth, that made us this ſoul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of theſe men that ſeek thy life. 17 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt aſſuredly go forth unto the king of Babylons princes, then thy ſoul ſhall live, and this city ſhall not be burnt with fire, and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe. 18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylons princes, then ſhall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand. 19 And Zedekiah the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, leſt they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me. 20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee: obey, I beſeech thee, the voice of the Lord, which I ſpeak unto thee: ſo it ſhall be well unto thee, and thy ſoul ſhall live. 21 But if thou refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me: 22 And behold all the women that are left in the king of Judahs houſe, ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babylons princes, and thoſe women ſhall ſay, thy friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee: thy feet are ſunk in the mire, and they are turned away back. 23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand, but ſhall be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and thou ſhalt cauſe this city to be burnt with fire. 24 Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die. 25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and ſay unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou haſt ſaid unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; alſo what the king ſaid unto thee: 26 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto them, I preſented my ſupplication before the king, that he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathans houſe to die there. 27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah, and aſked him, and he told them according to all theſe words that the king had commanded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceived. 28 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the priſon, until the day that Jeruſalem was taken, and he was there when Jeruſalem was taken.

Jucal the Son of Shelemiah, and Paſhur the Son of Malkiah, &c.] Some of thoſe who were ſent by Zedekiah to Jeremiah, to enquire of the Lord concerning the Event of the Siege: See Ch. xxxvii. 3. xxi. 1—9. The Anſwer which Jeremiah returned by them to the King, he afterward publiſhed to all the People, which was the Occaſion of the new Troubles he fell into, recorded in this Chapter.

So Jeremiah ſunk in the Mire] Some think that when he was in this diſmal Place, he made thoſe mournful Meditations which are ſet down in the iiid Chapter of the Lamentations, Ver. 53, 55, 56.

Now when Ebed-melech the Ethiopian] Huetius, in his Treatiſe De Navigatione Solomonis, obſerves out of Joſephus, that Solomon in his Voyage to Tarſhiſh, mentioned 1 Kings x. 22. amongſt other Merchandiſe, brought Slaves from Ethiopia; which was likewiſe the Practice of the Greeks and Romans in After-times, as he there proves by ſeveral Teſtimonies: Such a Slave he ſuppoſes Ebed-melech to have been, called here an Eunuch, or Officer of the King's Houſe: Compare Ch. xxix. 2. xxxiv. 19. In the Hebrew he is called the Chuſite, which may likewiſe ſignify the Arabian.

And if I give thee Counſel, Wilt thou not hearken unto me?] The latter Part of the Sentence may be tranſlated ſtated without an Interrogation, Thou wilt not hearken unto me. So the Prophet might well conclude from his former Behaviour; ſee Ch. xxxvii. 2. If we follow our Engliſh Tranſlation, the Senſe is the ſame as if the Words were rendered, Wilt thou hearken unto me? Noldius obſerves in his Concordance, P. 256. that the negative Interrogation Halo, is ſometimes equivalent to an Affirmative: Of which he gives this Example, 1 Kings i. 11. Nathan ſpake unto Bathſheba, ſaying, — Haſt thou not heard that Bathſheba doth reign? Where the Senſe is the ſame as if he had ſaid, Haſt thou heard? See a like Inſtance, Zech. iv. 13. This Obſervation will help to explain that difficult Place in Job, Ch. iv. 6. Is not this thy Fear, thy Confidence, thy Hope, and the Uprightneſs of thy Ways? So Interpreters generally render the Words: But the Senſe would be much plainer, if we tranſlate them, Is this thy Fear, &c. i. e. Are thy great Pretences to Piety, and thy Aſſurance of God's Favour of ſo little Force, that they cannot afford thee any Support in thy Troubles? To this Senſe the vulgar Latin tranſlates the Verſe, Ubi eſt timor tuus, fortitudo tua, &c.

And they mock me] When I am in the Power of the Chaldeans, I fear they will treat me with Scorn and Contempt, without any Regard to my Royal Character. This he ſaid as conſcious to himſelf, that he had broken that Oath of Homage and Fidelity he had before given to the King of Babylon, ſo that he might juſtly be treated as a Man of no Faith or Honour.

And thoſe Women ſhall ſay, Thy Friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee, thy Feet are ſunk in the Mire] Theſe very Women ſhall then reproach thee, for having ſuffered thyſelf to be enſnared by the ill Advice of thy Friends, and brought under inſuperable Difficulties.

And they are turned away back] Even thy Friends, who adviſed thee not to ſubmit to the Chaldeans, will forſake thee in thy Diſtreſs, and take the firſt Opportunity of going over to them.

Jeruſalem is taken and burnt by the Chaldeans, and Zedekiah carried captive to Babylon. Jeremiah uſed well. Ebed-melech is promiſed God's Favour and Protection, as a Reward for his Kindneſs to the Prophet.

Ver. 1. IN the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it. 2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up. 3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and ſat in the middle gate, even Nergal-ſharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarſechim, Rabſaris, Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, with all the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babylon. 4 And it came to paſs, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah ſaw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the kings garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls, and he went out the way of the plain. 5 But the Chaldeans army purſued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gave judgment upon him. 6 Then the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babylon ſlew all the nobles of Judah. 7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him with chains to carry him to Babylon. 8 And the Chaldeans burnt the kings houſe and the houſes of the people with fire, and brak down the walls of Jeruſalem. 9 Then Nebu zar-adan the captain of the guard carried awa captive into Babylon the remnant of the peopl that remained in the city, and thoſe that fe away, that fell to him, with the reſt of the peo ple that remained. 10 But Nebuzar-adan th captain of the guard left of the poor of the peo ple which had nothing, in the land of Judah and gave them vineyards and fields at the ſam time. 11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Bab lon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuza adan the captain of the guard, ſaying, 12 Tak him, and look well to him, and do him n harm, but do unto him even as he ſhall ſay un thee. 13 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of th guard ſent, and Nebuſhaſban, Rab-ſaris, an Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king Babylons princes: 14 Even they ſent, and too Jeremiah out of the court of the priſon, an committed him unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ah kam, the ſon of Shaphan, that he ſhould car him home: ſo he dwelt among the people. Now the word of the Lord came unto Jeremia while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſo ſaying, 16 Go and ſpeak to Ebed-melech t Ethiopian, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of ho the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring m words upon this city for evil, and not for goo and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day befo thee. 17 But I will deliver thee in that da ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not be given in the hand of the men of whom thou art afrai 18 For I will ſurely deliver thee, and thou ſha not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall be for prey unto thee, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt me, ſaith the Lord.

They fled — by the Gate between the two Walls] is a hard Matter to conceive, how the Beſieged cou make their Eſcape, ſeeing that the Chaldeans had beg the City round about. Joſephus indeed gives us t Account: — 'That, as the City was taken abo 'Midnight, the Captains, with the reſt of the Soldie 'went directly into the Temple; which King Ze 'kiah perceiving, he took his Wives, Children, Co 'manders, and Friends, and they ſlipt all away t 'gether, by a narrow Paſſage, towards the Wilderne But then, what this narrow Paſſage was, is ſtill a Qu ſtion. The Jews indeed think, that there was a ſu terraneous Paſſage from the Palace to the Plains of J richo; and that the King, and his Courtiers, mig endeavour to make their Eſcape that Way. Dion, true, tells us, that in the laſt Siege of Jeruſalem, t Jews had covert Ways, which went under the Wa of the City, to a conſiderable Diſtance in the Countr out of which they were wont to ſally, and fall up the Romans that were ſtraggling from their Cam But, ſince neither Joſephus, nor the ſacred Hiſtori takes Notice of any ſuch ſubterraneous Conduit at t Siege, we may ſuppoſe that, the Chaldeans having ma a Breach in the Wall, the Beſieged got away private between the Wall and the Outworks, in a Paſſa which the Enemy did not ſuſpect. The Words in t Second Book of Kings are: — They went by the Way the Gate, between the two Walls, which is by the King Garden, Ch. xxv. 4. which in Jeremiah are thus e preſs'd: — They went by the Way of the King's Garde by the Gate between the two Walls: So that, as t King's Garden fac'd the Country, there was ve likely ſome very private imperceptible Gate, throu which they might attempt to eſcape, and the Beſieg perhaps might not keep ſo ſtrict a Watch at that P of the Town, (especially in the Hurry of storming it) because it led to the Plain, and made their Escape in a Manner impracticable. Jewish Hist. Patrick's, Le Clerc's, and Calmet's Com.

To Riblah in the Land of Hamath] Riblah was a City of Syria, in the Country of Hamath, which Country is nearest to Judea, and which City, according to St. Jerom, was the same with what was afterwards called Antioch; and it was the most pleasant Place in all Syria; here Nebuchadnezzar lay, to attend the Success of the Siege of Jerusalem, to send his Army proper Supplies, and to intercept any Relief, that might come to the Besieged.

He put out Zedekiah's Eyes, and bound him with Chains to carry him to Babylon] See Ch. lii. 11. where the Text adds, That he put him in Prison till the Day of his Death. And thus were fulfilled two Prophecies that seemed at first hearing to contradict one another; the first that of Jeremiah, That Zedekiah's Eyes should behold the Eyes of the Kings of Babylon, Jer. xxxii. 4. and the other that of Ezekiel, That he should not see Babylon, though he should die there, Ezek. xii. 14.

CHAP. XL.

Jeremiah is directed by Nebuzaradan, to repair to Gedaliah, whom the King of Babylon had made Governor of the Land, and to whom the dispersed Jews from all Parts repair. Johanan informs the Governor of Ishmael's Conspiracy, but is not believed.

Ver. 1. THE word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jerusalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon. 2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and said unto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place. 3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you. 4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand: if it seem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will look well unto thee: but if it seem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go. 5 Now while he was not yet gone back, he said, Go back also to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go whersoever it seemeth convenient unto thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go. 6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land. 7 Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed unto him men, and women, and children, and of the poor of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon; 8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan, and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the son of a Maachathite, they and their men. 9 And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, sware unto them and to their men, saying, Fear not to serve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you. 10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to serve the Chaldeans, which will come unto us: but ye, gather ye wine, and summer-fruits, and oil, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken. 11 Likewise when all the Jews that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan; 12 Even all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah unto Mizpah, and gathered wine, and summer-fruits, very much. 13 Moreover, Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said unto him, Dost thou certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam believed them not. 15 Then Johanan the son of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it: wherefore should he slay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee should be scattered, and the remnant of Judah perish? 16 But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said unto Johanan the son of Kareah, Thou shalt not do this thing, for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

Now while he was not yet gone back, he said] The Words in the Text are very perplexed, and by the different Translations of the antient Interpreters, one might guess that some Hebrew Copies had a different Reading from the present. The Vulgar Latin reads, And come not along with me; as if he read in the Hebrew Imance for Odenu. Some of the antient Greek Copies read, Before I go away, go back thou to Gedaliah: Understanding the Verb Yashúb, as if it were derived from Yashab, to abide. Words of a like Sound having often a promiscuous Signification.

Now when all the Captains of the Forces which were in the Fields, even they and their Men heard, &c.] By the taking of Jerusalem, the Chaldeans made a complete Conquest of Judea. Whereupon the Jewish Army with its Commanders fled, and dispersed themselves into several Parts of the Country. But upon the News of Gedaliah's being appointed Governor over the Land, they repaired all to him.

But gather ye Wine, and Summer-fruits, and Oil] Wine and Oil are put by a Metonymy for Grapes and Olives. It was now about the Month of August; compare Ch. xli. 1. the proper Season for gathering in the Summer fruits in that Country: See Deut. xvi. 13.

CHAP. XLI.

Ishmael treacherously kills Gedaliah and his Companions, with an Intent to carry away the Jews that were with him Captives, into the Country of the Ammonites. But Johanan recovers the Captives, and purposes to fly into Egypt.

Ver.

Ver. 1. NOW it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah the son of Elishama of the seed royal, and the princes of the king, even ten men with him, came unto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah. 2 Then arose Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land. 3 Ishmael also slew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war. 4 And it came to pass the second day after he had slain Gedaliah, and no man knew it, 5 That there came certain men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourscore men having their beards shaven, and clothes rent, and having cut themselves, with offerings and incense in their hands, to bring them to the house of the Lord. 6 And Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and it came to pass as he met them, he said unto them, Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. 7 And it was so when they came into the midst of the city, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the midst of the pit, he, and the men that were with him. 8 But ten men were found among them that said unto Ishmael, Slay us not: for we have treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he forbare, and slew them not among their brethren. 9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slain because of Gedaliah) was it which Asa the king had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel; and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slain. 10 Then Ishmael carried away captive all the residue of the people, that were in Mizpah, even the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites. 11 But when Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon. 13 Now it came to pass, that when all the people which were with Ishmael saw Jonathan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad. 14 So all the people that Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah, cast about and returned, and went unto Johanan the son of Kareah. 15 But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites. 16 Then took Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, from Mizpah (after that he had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam) even mighty men of war, and the women and the children, and the eunuchs whom he had brought again from Gibeon. 17 And they departed and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Bethlehem, to go to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon made governor in the land.

Now it came to pass in the seventh Month, that Ishmael, &c.] That Ishmael, who was of the Blood Royal of Judah, should attempt to take away the Life of Gedaliah, is no Wonder at all. His Envy of the other's Promotion, and his Ambition to make himself King, might be strong Inducements to what he did. But why Baalis (as mentioned Ver. 14. of the preceding Chapter) should have any Hand in so black a Design, we can hardly imagine any other Reason, than the antient and inveterate Hatred, which the Ammonites always had against the Hebrews, and therefore the King of theirs, seeing that the Jewish Nation was, at this Time, in a Manner, brought to nothing, was minded to take Revenge for all the Injuries their Ancestors had received from them, to give the finishing Stroke to their Ruin, by cutting off their Governors, and so dispersing all the Remains of that unhappy People, which was now gather'd together at Mizpah. But, whatever their Views might be, it is certain, that they put their Design in speedy Execution; for the Murther of Gedaliah happen'd but two Months after the Destruction of the City and Temple of Jerusalem, viz. in the seventh Month, (which is Tisri, and answers, in Part, to our September and October) and on the 30th Day of the Month: For that Day the Jews have kept as a Fast, in Commemoration of this Calamity (which indeed was the Completion of their Ruin) ever since. See Calmet's Comment. and Prideaux's Connect.

Fourscore Men having their Beards shaven, and their Cloaths rent, and having cut themselves] Tho' it was an express Prohibition in the Law, Ye shall not make any Cuttings in your Flesh for the Dead, nor print any Marks upon you, Levit. xix. 28. yet this seems to relate only to such Practices when they became superstitious, and were done in Honour to false Gods; for in Cases of ordinary Mourning for the Dead, or for any other grievous Disaster, the Words of the Prophet seem to imply, as if they had been permitted in common Use: Both the Great and the Small shall die in the Land: They shall not be buried, neither shall Men lament them; nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them, neither shall Men tear themselves in Mourning to comfort them for the Dead, Jer. xvi. 6,

With Offerings and Increase in their Hand to bring them to the House of the Lord] Some understand this as if devout Persons brought their Oblations to the Place where the Altar formerly stood, which they looked upon as consecrated Ground: And this Custom they think countenanced by the Words of Baruch, Ch. i. 11. where the Exiles at Babylon are supposed to send Money to buy Offerings for the Altar of the Lord, after that Jerusalem was taken and burnt; compare Ver. 2. Others understand the House of the Lord, of an Altar or Place of Worship, erected by Gedaliah at Mizpah, in Imitation of that which was formerly set up there by Samuel, 1 Sam. vii. 9. which Place continued to be a Proseucha, or Place of Worship, in After times, as appears from 1 Macc. iii. 46. There were many such Sanctuaries, or Places of Worship, both in Judea and elsewhere, among the Jewish Dispersions, as Dr. Prideaux has shewn at large in his Connect. of Script. Hist.

Ishmael slew them, and cast them into the Midst of the Pit] The Hebrew reads, slew them in the Midst of the Pit. We find the very same Expression, 1 Macc. vii. 19. a Book translated out of Hebrew, as St Jerom tells us in Prologo Galeato. Of the same Kind are the following Expreſſions, Pſ. lxxiv. 7. They have defiled the Name of thy Dwelling-place unto the Ground, as our old Tranſlation reads out of the Hebrew. So Pſ. lxxix. 39. Thou haſt profaned his Crown by caſting it to the Ground, as the new Tranſlation ſupplies the Senſe.

CHAP. XLII.

Johanan and the other Captains, deſire Jeremiah to enquire of God what they ſhould do, promiſing Obedience to his Will. The Prophet aſſures them of Safety in Judea, and Deſtruction in Egypt, and reproves their Hypocriſy in promiſing what they meant not to perform.

Ver. 1. THEN all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and Jezaniah the ſon of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the leaſt even unto the greateſt came near. 2 And ſaid unto Jeremiah the prophet, Let, we beſeech thee, our ſupplication be accepted before thee, and pray for us unto the Lord thy God, even for all this remnant, (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold us) 3 That the Lord thy God may ſhew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do. 4 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſaid unto them, I have heard you; behold, I will pray unto the Lord your God according to your words, and it ſhall come to paſs, that whatſoever thing the Lord ſhall anſwer you, I will declare it unto you: I will keep nothing back from you. 5 Then they ſaid to Jeremiah, The Lord be a true and faithful witneſs between us, if we do not even according to all things for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to us. 6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord our God, to whom we ſend thee; that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God. 7 And it came to paſs after ten days, that the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah. 8 Then called he Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt even to the greateſt. 9 And ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, unto whom ye ſent me to preſent your ſupplication before him, 10 If ye will ſtill abide in this land, then will I build you, and not pull you down, and I will plant you, and not pluck you up: for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you. 11 Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him ſaith the Lord: for I am with you to ſave you, and to deliver you from his hand. 12 And I will ſhew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you, and cauſe you to return to your own land. 13 But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the Lord your God, 14 Saying, No, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no war, nor hear the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell: 15 And now therefore hear the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, If ye wholly ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to ſojourn there) 16 Then it ſhall come to paſs, that the ſword which ye feared ſhall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine whereof ye were afraid, ſhall follow cloſe after you there in Egypt, and there ye ſhall die. 17 So ſhall it be with all the men that ſet their faces to go into Egypt to ſojourn there, they ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: and none of them ſhall remain or eſcape from the evil that I will bring upon them. 18 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, As mine anger and my fury hath been poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem; ſo ſhall my fury be poured forth upon you, when ye ſhall enter into Egypt: and ye ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach, and ye ſhall ſee this place no more. 19 The Lord hath ſaid concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly, that I have admoniſhed you this day. 20 For ye diſſembled in your hearts, when ye ſent me unto the Lord your God, ſaying, Pray for us unto the Lord our God, and according unto all that the Lord our God ſhall ſay, ſo declare unto us, and we will do it. 21 And now I have this day declared it to you, but ye have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me unto you. 22 Now therefore know certainly, that ye ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, in the place whither ye deſire to go, and to ſojourn.

Pray for us — that the Lord may ſhew us the Way wherein we may walk] It is the conſtant Method of Hypocrites to pretend a profound Submiſſion to the Will of God, till that comes to croſs their Inclinations or Intereſt.

For I repent me of the Evil which I have done to you] God is ſaid in Scripture to repent, when he alters the outward Methods of his Providence, as hath been before obſerved. So the Expreſſion here implies a Declaration from God, that the Puniſhments the Jews have already undergone, have made Satisfaction to his Juſtice, as far as concerns this World, and that he will not continue the ſame Severity towards them, unleſs they give him a new Provocation.

The Lord hath ſaid concerning you, O ye Remnant of Judah, go ye not into Egypt] God commanded the Jews by Moſes, not to have any Commerce with Egypt: See Deut. xvii. 16. that they may not practiſe the idolatrous Cuſtoms of that Country: See Levit. xviii. 3. with whoſe Idolatries they had been defiled during their ſojourning there: See Joſh. xxiv. 34. Ezek. xx. 8. Afterwards he often reproved them by his Prophets for making Alliances with Egypt: See Iſa. xxx. 2, &c. Ezek. xvii. 15. There were particular Reaſons at this Time for ſo ſevere a Prohibition, as the Words here and in the Context import, viz. becauſe the Jews either learned ſeveral of their idolatrous Practices from the Egyptians, or at leaſt were confirmed in thoſe evil Cuſtoms by their Example. See Ch. xlix. 8, 15. Ezek. xxix. 16. Beſides, it was the rival Kingdom that contended for Empire with the Babylonians: See Ch. xxxvi. 5. xlvi. 2. So the Jews going into Egypt for Protection, was, in Effect, refuſing to ſubmit themſelves to the King of Babylon, to whom God had decreed the Government of Judea.

CHAP. XLIII.

The leading Men diſcrediting Jeremiah's Prophecy, carry the People into Egypt, contrary to his Advice: Whereupon he foretels the Conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs, that when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking unto all the people, all the words of the Lord their God, for which the Lord their God had ſent him to them, even all theſe words, 2 Then ſpake Azariah the ſon of Hoſhaiah, and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the proud men, ſaying unto Jeremiah, Thou ſpeakeſt falſly: the Lord our God hath not ſent thee to ſay, Go not into Egypt to ſojourn there. 3 But Baruch the ſon of Neriah ſetteth thee on againſt us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon. 4 So Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah. 5 But Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Judah; 6 Even men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and every perſon that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the ſon of Neriah. 7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord; thus came they, even to Tahpanhes. 8 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying, 9 Take great ſtones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick-kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaohs houſe in Tahpanhes, in the ſight of the men of Judah: 10 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſend and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and will ſet his throne upon theſe ſtones that I have hid, and he ſhall ſpread his royal pavilion over them. 11 And when he cometh, he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt, and deliver ſuch as are for death, to death; and ſuch as are for captivity, to captivity; and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword. 12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt, and he ſhall burn them, and carry them away captives, and he ſhall array himſelf with the land of Egypt, as a ſhepherd putteth on his garment, and he ſhall go forth from thence in peace. 13 He ſhall break alſo the images of Bethſhemeſh, that is in the land of Egypt; and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burn with fire.

Then ſpake Azariah the Son of Hoſhaiah] Called Jezaniah, Ch. xlii. 1. We may obſerve many like Inſtances in the Books of Kings and Chronicles, of the ſame Perſon being called by two different Names.

But Baruch the Son of Neriah ſetteth thee on againſt us] What Foundation the People ſhould have for this their Accuſation againſt Baruch, it is no eaſy Matter to conceive; only we may ſuppoſe, that as Baruch was preſerv'd, and taken Care of by the Chaldeans, as well as his Maſter, and was equally againſt maintaining the Siege of Jeruſalem, when Nebuchadnezzar came before it, and that as he had been ſome Time at Babylon himſelf (ſee Baruch i. 1, 3.) and was probably not ſo virulent in his Speeches againſt the Chaldeans, as the other Jews were; this, to a blind and mutinous Mob, was Reaſon enough to ſuſpect him of being engaged in the Enemies Party. See Calmet's Com.

Thus they came even to Tahpanhes] One of the principal Cities of Egypt, and a Place of Reſidence of their Kings. The Word is contracted to Hanes, Iſ. xxx. 4. and joined with Zoan, the chief City of the Kingdom. Tahpanhes gave a Name to a Queen of Egypt, 1 Kings xi. 19. and is ſuppoſed by many to be the ſame City which was afterward called Daphnæ Ruſiacæ. St. Jerom tells us, from an antient Tradition, that in this Place the Prophet Jeremiah was ſtoned to Death by the Jews.

This Tradition may receive ſome Confirmation, ſays Lowth, from that Paſſage in the Goſpels, where among other Opinions concerning Chriſt, it is ſaid that ſome thought him to be the Prophet Jeremiah riſen from the Dead. Dr. Lightfoot obſerves, that the Jews thought the Kingdom of the Meſſias ſhould begin with the Reſurrection from the Dead; and particularly that ſome of the antient Prophets ſhould come again, and appear as Harbingers to the Meſſias: his Horæ Hebr. on Matt. xvi. 13. xxvii. 52. and Luke ix. 8. and then who could better pretend to that Privilege than the Prophet Jeremiah? Who, beſides his remarkable Zeal and Piety, ſealed the Truth with his Blood. And the Jews were perſuaded that the Martyrs had a Title to the Reſurrection above all others, as appears from 2 Macc. vii. 9, 18. An Opinion countenanced by St. John, Rev. xx. 4, 5. and afterwards univerſally receiv'd in the Chriſtian Church.

Hide them in the Brick-kiln, that is by Pharaoh's Houſe] Bricks were the chief Materials which the Babylonians uſed in their moſt ſtately Buildings: See Gen. xi. 3. and Prideaux Script. Hiſt. ad An. A. 570. So there was a conſtant Occaſion for ſuch a Brick-kiln near Pharaoh's Palace, yet this might be a great Way from the Palace itſelf: The Courts of great Kings being almoſt equal to a City for Extent in antient Times; particularly the Palace in Babylon was four Miles in Compaſs, according to Diodorus Siculus L. II.

And deliver ſuch as are for Death to Death] See Ch. xv. 2. Death ſignifies here the Peſtilence, which the Prophet foretels will overſpread the Country of Egypt, by Reaſon of Famine, occaſioned by Sieges and other Deſolations of War.

And he ſhall aray himſelf with the Land of Egypt as a Shepherd putteth on his Garment] He ſhall invade the Land of Egypt, and take entire Poſſeſſion of it juſt as a Shepherd's Garment covers his Body all over. So Calamities, when they ſurround Men on every Side, are compared to a Garment, Pſ. cix. 19. and this Deſtruction will come upon Egypt ſuddenly, and as it were in a Moment; in which Senſe the Verb Nâtâh Natah is taken, 1 Sam. xiv. 32. xv. 19.

A learned Gentleman gives the Text another Turn. He ſuppoſes Nebuchadnezzar's Army to have endured hard Service before they invaded Egypt. This Conjecture he grounds upon the Words of Ezekiel, Ch. xxix. 18, 19, 20. So the Prophet here propoſes that Egypt ſhould furniſh them with all Manner of Neceſſaries, and defend them from the Hardſhips they have been expoſed to, juſt as a Shepherd is ſecured from the Injuries of the Weather by a thick Garment.

CHAP. XLIV.

Jeremiah reproves the Jews in Egypt, for their Continuance in Idolatry, notwithſtanding the exemplary Judgments of God upon their own Country and Nation for that Sin; and upon their obſtinate Refuſal to reform, he denounces utter Deſtruction to them, and the King of Egypt.

Ver. 1. THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Ye have ſeen all the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem and upon all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are a desolation, and no man dwelleth therein. 3 Because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense, and to serve other gods whom they knew not, neither they, you, nor your fathers. 4 Howbeit, I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate. 5 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense unto other gods. 6 Wherefore my fury and mine anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, and they are wasted and desolate, as at this day. 7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord the God of hosts, the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great evil against your souls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Judah, to leave you none to remain; 8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut yourselves off, and that ye might be a curse, and a reproach among all the nations of the earth? 9 Have ye forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem? 10 They are not humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared nor walked in my law, nor in my statutes that I set before you, and before your fathers. 11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you for evil, and to cut off all Judah. 12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall even be consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die, from the least even unto the greatest, by the sword, and by the famine: and they shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach. 13 For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: 14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall escape or remain, that they should return into the land of Judah, to the which they have a desire to return to dwell there: for none shall return but such as shall escape. 15 Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying, 16 As for the word that thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken unto thee. 17 But we will certainly do whatsoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth, to burn incense unto the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and saw no evil. 18 But since we left off to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been consumed by the sword, and by the famine. 19 And when we burnt incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her without our men? 20 Then Jeremiah said unto all the people, to the men and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that answer, saying, 21 The incense that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, ye and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the Lord remember them, and came it not into his mind? 22 So that the Lord could no longer bear, because of the evil of your doings, and because of the abominations which ye have committed: therefore is your land a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse without an inhabitant, as at this day. 23 Because you have burnt incense, and because ye have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies: therefore this evil is happened unto you, as at this day. 24 Moreover, Jeremiah said unto all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the Lord, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt. 25 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wives have both spoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will surely accomplish your vows, and surely perform your vows. 26 Therefore hear ye the word of the Lord, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I have sworn by my great name, saith the Lord, that my name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liveth. 27 Behold, I will watch over them for evil, and not for good, and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, until there be an end of them. 28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs. 29 And this shall be a sign unto you, saith the Lord, that I will punish you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil. 30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and that sought his life.

Concerning all the Jews which dwell at Migdol, Tahpanhes, at Noph, and in the Country of Pathros] Migdol is the same Place in Egypt, which Moses makes Mention of, Exod. xiv. 2. over against Baal-zephon, not far from the Red-Sea. Tahpanhes, is Daphne, not far from Peluſium, the firſt City in Egypt, in the Road from Judea, and, as it were, its Key. Noph is Memphis, Memphis, ſituate above the Parting of the Nile, or where the Delta begins, and not a little famous for its Pyramids; and the Country of Pathros is the ſame as Thebais, or the Upper-Egypt, ſo called from the City Thebes, which was the firſt Capital of it.

Now of the Remnant — ſhall eſcape — that they ſhould return into the Land of Judea] Scaliger obſerves out of Euſebius, that Artaxerxes Ochus, making an Expedition into Egypt, removed a conſiderable Colony of Jews out of that Country, and carried them away as far as the Caſpian Sea, and there ſettled them. Theſe he thinks were the Remainder of thoſe Jews that went down into Egypt at this Time. They were called by the other Jews, the Median Captivity.

To burn Incenſe to the Queen of Heaven] By which is meant the Moon, at leaſt, if not all the Planets; for what we render Queen, in the Marginal Note is called the Frame of Heaven.

For then we had Plenty of Victuals, and were well, and ſaw no Evil] They compare their former Condition before the Invaſion of Judea, and the Siege of Jeruſalem to their preſent State: And argue from the fallacious Topick of worldly Proſperity, that then they muſt needs have been in the right.

That my Name ſhall no more be named in the Mouth of any Man of Judah in the Land of Egypt] Theſe Jews ſeem to have joined the Worſhip of the True God with that of Idols, as the Samaritans did before them, 2 Kings xvii. 33. thereupon God declares he will not receive any ſuch polluted Worſhip at their Hands, (compare Ezek. xx. 39.) nor ſuffer his Name to be any longer prophaned by ſuch Hypocrites, but will conſume them by a ſudden and general Deſtruction; or will deliver them up to Impenitence and utter Apoſtaſy.

I will give Pharaoh-Hophra King of Egypt into the Hand of his Enemies, and of them that ſeek his Life] Pharaoh was a common Name to all the Kings of Egypt. As the Predeceſſor of this King was called Pharaoh-Necho, by way of Diſtinction, 2 Kings xxiii. 29. So this King was called Pharaoh-Hophra, or Apries, as Herodotus calls him: He engaged in a Battle with Amaſis, by whom he was overcome and ſtrangled: See Archbiſhop's Annals, ad A. M. 3435.

CHAP. XLV.

Ver. 1. THE word that Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, when he had written theſe words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael unto thee, O Baruch. 3 Thou didſt ſay, Wo is me now, for the Lord hath added grief to my ſorrow, I fainted in my ſighing, and I find no reſt. 4 Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto him, The Lord ſaith thus, Behold, that which I have built, will I break down, and that which I have planted, I will pluck up, even this whole land. 5 And ſeekeſt thou great things for thyſelf? ſeek them not: for behold, I will bring evil upon all fleſh, ſaith the Lord: but thy life will I give unto thee for a prey in all places whither thou goeſt.

This Prophecy was occaſioned by the Danger Baruch had incurred, by copying out a Collection of all Jeremiah's Prophecies by his Direction: See Ch. xxxvi. 4, 26. The Deſign of it is, to comfort Baruch againſt the Apprehenſion, his Fears ſuggeſted to him, by letting him know, that in theſe general Calamities which ſhould involve his own Nation, together with the neighbouring Countries, God would take him into his eſpecial Protection. The Septuagint, according to the Vatican Copy, place this Prophecy at the Concluſion of the Book, immediately before the fif ſecond Chapter.

The Lord hath added Grief to my Sorrow] The S row which I felt for the Threatenings denoun againſt my Country and Religion, are increaſed by own Troubles, being ſought after by the King's Co mand, in order to be put to Death: See Ch. xxx 26.

*That which I have built, will I break down, &*c] The Land and People which have ſo long flouriſh under the peculiar Care of my Providence, I ſolve now to give up to utter Deſtruction: Comp xxxi. 28.

And ſeekeſt thou great Things for thyſelf? ſeek t not] Doſt thou aſpire to Honour and Dignity i Time of common Calamity? Compare 2 Kings v. 2

Two Prophecies againſt Egypt; the firſt was f filled immediately after the Publication; other foretelling the entire Conqueſt of Eg by Nebuchadnezzar, ſix and thirty Years af wards.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord, which ca to Jeremiah the prophet againſt Gentiles, 2 Againſt Egypt, againſt the ar of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, wh Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſmote in fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah ki of Judah. 3 Order ye the buckler and ſhie and draw near to battel. 4 Harneſs the hor and get up ye horſemen, and ſtand forth w your helmets, furbiſh the ſpears, and put on brigandines. 5 Wherefore have I ſeen th diſmayed, and turned away back? and th mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apa and look not back: for fear was round abo ſaith the Lord. 6 Let not the ſwift flee aw nor the mighty man eſcape; they ſhall ſtumb and fall toward the north by the river Euphra 7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood, wh waters are moved as the rivers? 8 Egypt ri up like a flood, and his waters are moved l the rivers, and he ſaith, I will go up, and cover the earth, I will deſtroy the city, and inhabitants thereof. 9 Come up ye horſes, rage ye chariots, and let the mighty men co forth, the Ethiopians, and the Libyans t handle the ſhield, and the Lydians that han and bend the bow. 10 For this is the day the Lord God of hoſts, a day of vengeance, t he may avenge him of his adverſaries: and ſword ſhall devour, and it ſhall be ſatiate, a made drunk with their blood: for the Lord G of hoſts hath a ſacrifice in the north coun by the river Euphrates. 11 Go up into Gile and take balm, O virgin, the daughter Egypt: in vain ſhalt thou uſe many medicin for thou ſhalt not be cured. 12 The nati have heard of thy ſhame, and thy cry h filled the land: for the mighty man hath ſtumb againſt the mighty, and they are fallen both gether. 13 The word that the Lord ſpake Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrez king of Babylon ſhould come and ſmite land of Egypt. 14 Declare ye in Egypt, a publiſh in Migdol, and publiſh in Noph, a in Tahpanhes: ſay ye, Stand faſt, and prep thee; for the ſword ſhall devour round abo th thee. 15 Why are thy valiant men ſwept away? they ſtood not, becauſe the Lord did drive them. 16 He made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another, and they ſaid, Ariſe, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppreſſing ſword. 17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noiſe, he hath paſſed the time appointed. 18 As I live, ſaith the king, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts, Surely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come. 19 Oh thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, furniſh thyſelf to go into captivity: for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate without an inhabitant. 20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but deſtruction cometh: it cometh out of the north. 21 Alſo her hired men are in the midſt of her, like fatted bullocks, for they alſo are turned back, and are fled away together; they did not ſtand, becauſe the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation. 22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent, for they ſhall march with an army, and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood. 23 They ſhall cut down her foreſt, ſaith the Lord, though it cannot be ſearched, becauſe they are more than the graſhoppers, and are innumerable. 24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded, ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north. 25 The Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael ſaith, Behold, I will puniſh the multitude of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, even Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him. 26 And I will deliver them into the hands of thoſe that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his ſervants: and afterwards it ſhall be inhabited, as in the days of old, ſaith the Lord. 27 But fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, and be not diſmayed, O Iſrael; for behold, I will ſave thee from afar off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity, and Jacob ſhall return, and be in reſt and at eaſe, and none ſhall make him afraid. 28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my ſervant, ſaith the Lord, for I am with thee, for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee, but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in meaſure, yet will I not leave thee wholly unpuniſhed.

The Word of the Lord which came to Jeremiah the Prophet againſt the Gentiles] The Title belongs to this and the five following Chapters: And refers to that general Denunciation of God's Judgments upon the Countries round about Judea contained in the xxvth Chapter of this Prophecy, from the 13th Verſe to the End of the Chapter. For which Reaſon, in the Vatican and Alexandrian Copies of the Septuagint, theſe xxv Chapters follow immediately after Ch. xxv. 13. where expreſs Mention is made of the Book which Jeremiah had propheſied againſt the Nations: Which Book is contained in this and the following Chapters of this Prophecy.

Againſt the Army of Pharaoh-Necho King of Egypt, which was by the River Euphrates in Carchemoſh] This was the ſecond Battle which the King of Babylon (called the King of Aſſyria, 2 Kings xxiii. 29.) fought with Pharaoh-Necho near this City. In the former of thoſe Expeditions was Joſiah killed: See 2 Chron. xxxv. 20.

Which Nebuchadnezzar ſmote in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim King of Judah] This is co-incident with the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign, according to the Scripture Account, which begins his Reign two Years before his Father's Death: See the Note on Ch. xxv. 1. For Nebuchadnezzar went upon this Expedition by his Father's Command: And upon his Victory, Jehoiakim, who had been made King of Judea by Pharaoh Necho, 2 Kings xxiii. 34. became tributary to Nebuchadnezzar: See 2 Kings xxiv. 1, 7.

Who is this that cometh up as a Flood, &c.] In order to raiſe an Expectation of ſome mighty Enterprize, the Prophet deſcribes by way of Viſion, the March of the Egyptian Army, coming on like a Flood, and carrying all before it: Which Expreſſions always allude to the Overflowing of the River Nile. Compare likewiſe Ch. xlvii. 2. Iſa. viii. 7, 8. Dan. xi. 26. Amos viii. 8.

Let the mighty Men come forth, the Ethiopians, the Libyans — and the Lydians, that handle and bend the Bow] Theſe Names in Hebrew are Cuſh, Phut, and Lud, who were the Egyptians Allies, and are mentioned together as ſuch, Ezek. xxx. 5. which makes it probable that they are all Africans. Cuſh, tho' it often ſignifies Arabia. But Phut and Lubim are ſpoken of as a diſtinct People, Nah. iii. 9. Phut may probably ſignify Mauritania, and Lud, or Ludim, the People of Meroe. Theſe were famous for the Uſe of the Bow, as it is expreſſed both here and Iſa. lxvi. 19.

The Word of the Lord — how Nebuchadnezzar ſhould come to ſmite the Land of Egypt] Compare Ch. xliii. 10. This is a diſtinct Prophecy from the former, as was obſerved in the Argument to that Chapter. The ſame Deſtruction of Egypt is at large foretold and deſcribed by Ezekiel, Ch. xxix, xxx, xxxi, xxxii.

Surely as Tabor is among the Mountains, and as Carmel by the Sea, ſo ſhall he come] Some think the Expreſſion compares Nebuchadnezzar, a lofty and aſpiring Conqueror, to Tabor and Carmel, two of the higheſt Mountains in Judea. Others underſtand it thus; He will as ſurely come as that Part of Judea which is joined to Tabor is incloſed with Mountains; and as Carmel is encompaſſed with the Sea: See 1 Kings xviii. 42, 43. Or, laſtly, the Verſe may be expounded thus; Tho' Egypt were as inacceſſible as Mount Tabor, and begirt with the Sea like Carmel, yet the Enemy ſhould come upon her, and make an entire Conqueſt of her.

Egypt is like a very fair Heifer] In the foregoing Verſe, the Prophet compared Egypt to a delicate young Woman: Here he reſembles her to a fat and well-favoured Heifer: Compare Ch. l. 11. In which Compariſon, as Grotius not improbably conjectures, there is an Alluſion to their God Apis, who was a Bull remarkable for his Beauty, and the fine Spots or Marks he had about him.

I will puniſh the Multitude of No] The Hebrew reads Ammon Minnô, which may be literally rendered Ammon of No. The ſame Place is expreſſed in Ezekiel by Hamon No, Ch. xxx. 15. as in Nahum it is called No Amon, Ch. iii. 8. The Name is generally thought to be derived from Jupiter Hammon, whoſe Temple was there; and is ſuppoſed to be the ſame City which is called Thebes by the Heathen Writers, famous for its hundred Gates in Homer's Time. It is rendered Διόσπολις by the Septuagint, which is the Greek Name for Thebes. Which City was famous for the Worſhip of Jupiter Hammon, as appears by a Paſſage in Plato's Phædrus. See Dr. Cudworth's Intellectual Syſtem, P. 339. Plutarch informs us, that Hammon in the Egyptian Language, ſignifies the ſame with Ζεὺς or Jupiter. The vulgar Latin interprets it Alexandria; but that was a City of a later Date, and a Place of no Note in the Times the Prophets ſpeak of.

But fear not thou, O my Servant Jacob, &c.] See Ch. xxx. 10, 11. from whence theſe two Verſes are taken, containing a comfortable Promiſe to the Jews, that God will not make an utter Deſtruction of them, as he hath done of ſeveral other Nations, againſt whom the Prophets have denounced his Judgments: But will ſtill preſerve a Remnant of them, to whom he will perform the Promiſe made to their Fathers.

CHAP. XLVII.

The Deſtruction of the Philiſtines foretold.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt the Philiſtines, before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza. 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, waters riſe up out of the north, and ſhall be an over-flowing flood, and ſhall over-flow the land, and all that is therein, the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howl. 3 At the noiſe of the ſtamping of the hoofs of his ſtrong horſes, at the ruſhing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers ſhall not look back to their children for feebleneſs of hands: 4 Becauſe of the day that cometh to ſpoil all the Philiſtines, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remaineth: for the Lord will ſpoil the Philiſtines, the remnant of the country of Caphtor. 5 Baldneſs is come upon Gaza, Aſhkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley: how long wilt thou cut thyſelf? 6 O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it be ere thou be quiet? put up thyſelf into thy ſcabbard, reſt and be ſtill. 7 How can it be quiet, ſeeing the Lord hath given it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the ſea-ſhore? there hath he appointed it.

Before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza]. When the Philiſtines Country was in ſeeming Quiet and Security. The Deſtruction of Gaza might probably happen after Pharaoh's Victories at Megiddo and Charchemiſh, when Judea became tributary to him: See 2 Chron. xxxv. 20. xxxvi. 3. but it is not certain, that the ſame Event was foretold by other Prophets.

To cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every Helper that remaineth] The Siege of Tyre by Nebuchadnezzar, was an Action famous in the Hiſtories of that Age, which laſted thirteen Years: See Ezek. xxvii. xxviii. Zidon was Partaker of the ſame Fate as Tyre, both in Proſperity and Adverſity. See Iſa. xxiii. 2, 4. And her Deſtruction is joined with that of Tyre by Ezek. Ch. xxviii.

The Remnant of the Country of Caphtor] Or, the Iſle of Caphtor: See Ver. 7. and Iſa. xx. 6. called the Remnant of the Philiſtines, Amos i. 8. and the Remnant of the Sea-coaſt, Ezek. xxv. 16. The Expreſſion denotes, either a Colony tranſplanted from Caphtor, or elſe that ſmall Remainder of the Philiſtines, after they had been in a Manner all deſtroyed in former Times, according to the Judgments denounced againſt them by Amos, Ch. i. 8. and Iſaiah, Ch. xiv. 19, &c. and we may perhaps add thoſe in Zephaniah, Ch. ii. 5, &c. Compare Ch. xxv. 20. Caphtor, or the Caphtorim, were the antient Inhabitants of Paleſtine: See Deut. ii. 23. The Caphtorim and Caſſubim were two neighbouring Nations, and nearly related to each other, being both deſcended from Miſraim the Father of the Egyptians: See Gen. x. 13, 14. which may be the Reaſon, why Moſes there derives the Pedigree of the Philiſtines from the latter of theſe two. The Antients generally ſuppoſe Caphtor to be the ſame with Cappadocia. Theſe two Nations might go out of Egypt their native Soil, and ſettle themſelves in Cappadocia, where they paſſed under the general Name of Caphtorim, and afterward return back toward their own native Country, and ſettle in Paleſtine. See Amos ix. 7. But others think it more probable, that Caphtor is the ſame with Crete, which we know is an Iſland properly ſo called. The chief Ground of this Opinion is, that the Cherethims, or Cherethites, are the ſame with the Philiſtines, as appears from Ezek. xxv. 16. Zeph. ii. 5. 1 Sam. xxx. 14. compared with Ver. 16. Now the Cherethims are generally ſuppoſed to be the Cretans, and the Sound of the Word confirms the Conjecture: See Vitringa's Commentary on Iſa. xiv. 29.

CHAP. XLVIII.

Prophecies againſt Moab, Amon, Edom, and the neighbouring Countries.

Ver. 1. AGainſt Moab thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wo unto Nebo, for it is ſpoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken, Miſgab is confounded and diſmayed. 2 There ſhall be no more praiſe of Moab: in Heſhbon they have deviſed evil againſt it; come and let us cut it off from being a nation; alſo thou ſhalt be cut down, O Madmen, the ſword ſhall purſue thee. 3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim, ſpoiling and great deſtruction. 4 Moab is deſtroyed, her little ones have cauſed a cry to be heard. 5 For in the going up of Luhith, continual weeping ſhall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of deſtruction. 6 Flee, ſave your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderneſs. 7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy works, and in thy treaſures thou ſhalt alſo be taken, and Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captivity with his prieſts, and his princes together. 8 And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and no city ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed, as the Lord hath ſpoken. 9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate without any to dwell therein. 10 Curſed be he that doeth the work of the Lord deceitfully, and curſed be he that keepeth back his ſword from blood. 11 Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth, and he hath ſetled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from veſſel to veſſel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed. 12 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſend unto him wanderers that ſhall cauſe him to wander, and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break their bottles. 13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Beth-el their confidence. 14 How ſay ye, We are mighty and ſtrong men for the war? 15 Moab is ſpoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his choſen young men are gone down to the ſlaughter, ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts. 16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt. 17 All ye that are about him bemoan him, and all ye that know his name, ſay, How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautiful rod! 18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt; for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds. 19 O inhabitant of Aroer, ſtand by the way and eſpy, aſk him that fleeth, and her that eſcaped, and ſay, What is done? 20 Moab is confounded, for it is broken down: howl and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is ſpoiled, 21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath, 22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon

Beth-diblathaim, 23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon, 24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near. 25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the Lord. 26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himſelf againſt the Lord: Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion. 27 For was not Iſrael a deriſion unto thee? was he found among thieves? for ſince thou ſpakeſt of him, thou ſkippedſt for joy. 28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the holes mouth. 29 We have heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his loftineſs and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtineſs of his heart: 30 I know his wrath, ſaith the Lord, but it ſhall not be ſo, his lies ſhall not ſo effect it. 31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab, mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kir-heres. 32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee, with the weeping of Jazer; thy plants are gone over the ſea, they reach even to the ſea of Jazer, the ſpoiler is fallen upon thy ſummer-fruits, and upon thy vintage. 33 And joy and gladneſs is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes, none ſhall tread with ſhouting, their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting. 34 From the cry of Heſhbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old: for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate. 35 Moreover I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods. 36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: becauſe the riches that he hath gotten is periſhed. 37 For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard clipt, upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loins ſackcloth. 38 There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe-tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſel, wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the Lord. 39 They ſhall howl, ſaying, How is it broken down? how hath Moab turned the back with ſhame? ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion and a diſmaying to all them about him. 40 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, he ſhall fly as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab. 41 Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurprized, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs. 42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people, becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the Lord. 43 Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare ſhall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the Lord. 44 He that fleeth from the fear, ſhall fall into the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord. 45 They that fled, ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force: but a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon, and a flame from the midſt of Sihon, and ſhall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones. 46 Wo be unto thee, O Moab, the people of Chemoſh periſheth: for thy ſons are taken captives, and thy daughters captives. 47 Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, ſaith the Lord. Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

Theſe Prophecies ſeem to have been fulfilled, during the long Siege of Tyre, mentioned in the foregoing Chapter: Compare Ezek. xxv. 8, &c. See Archbiſhop Uſher's Annals of the Old Teſtament, ad A. M. 3419. and Joſephus's Antiquities, L. x. C. 11. who places theſe Events five Years after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem. The Prophet Jeremiah, in his Prophecy againſt Moab, borrows ſeveral Expreſſions out of Iſaiah's Prophecy againſt the ſame People, tho' that was fulfilled ſeveral Years before.

Woe unto Nebo, for it is ſpoiled, Kiriathaim is confounded] Two Cities of Moab: See Iſa. xv. 2. Numb. xxxii. 37. xxxiii. 47. The latter of theſe was given to the Reubenites, as appears by Joſh. xiii. 10. but the Moabites afterwards recovered the Poſſeſſion of it, as they did Dibon, Sibma, and other Places: Compare thoſe Texts in Numbers and Joſhua, and Iſa. xv. 2. xvi. 8, 9. and the 21ſt and following Verſes of this Chapter.

In Heſhbon they have deviſed Evil againſt it, &c.] Heſhbon was the Capital City of the Moabites: See Numb. xxi. 26. When the Chaldeans made themſelves Maſters of Heſhbon, a Place of that Importance, they conſulted how to carry on their Conqueſts over the reſt of the Country. The Word Heſhbon ſignifies in Chaldee, a Device, or Conſultation: So the Prophet here alludes to the Name of the City. See the like Alluſions, Ch. l. 21. Mic. i. 10, 14, 25.

Her little ones have cauſed their Cry to be heard] Both ſmall and great were involved in this Calamity. But the Word Tſeir, ſignifies great as well as little: And ſo the Chaldee Paraphraſt renders it here, Lords. Which Senſe of the Words is at large aſſerted and proved by our learned Dr. Pocock, in his Miſcellaneous Notes upon Porta Moſis, P. 19, &c.

And Chemoſh ſhall go into Captivity] The Idol of the Moabites, Numb. xxi. 29.

Curſed be he that doth the Work of the Lord deceitfully] God executes his Judgments upon Sinners, by the Miniſtry of Men, and thoſe often-times as great Sinners as thoſe that ſuffer by them. He had declared by Jeremiah his Purpoſe of making the Chaldeans his Inſtruments in puniſhing the Jews, and the neighbouring Countries; ſee Ch. xxv. 9. Their Succeſs anſwered the Prediction, and Nebuchadnezzar ſeems to have looked upon Jeremiah as a Prophet, and had a particular Regard to his Character: See Ch. xxxix. 11. Being thus aſſured that he had a Commiſſion from God, he might confidently proceed in his Conqueſts, and it would have been a Fault to have ſhewn Mercy to thoſe whom he had good Reaſon to believe, that God had marked out for Deſtruction. Such an unſeaſonable Act of Mercy is highly blamed in Saul, 1 Sam. xv. 11. and in Ahab, 1 Kings xx. 42. God's Judgments are often denounced in Form of Imprecation: See Deut. xxvii. 15, &c. Judg. v. 23. Gal. i. 8. 1 Cor. xvi. 22. 2 Tim. iv. 16.

Moab has been at Eaſe from his Youth] He hath never felt any Calamity, ſince that Judgment foretold by Iſaiah, and inflicted by Salmaneſer. So that there were forty Years between that Captivity and this here ſpoken of: See Archbiſhop Uſher's Annals, ad A. M. 3280. and 3419.

And he hath ſetled on his Lees] He hath flouriſhed in Peace, and grown rich, as Wine that feeds on its Lees: Compare Zech. i. 12. When the Jews during that Time have ſuffered ſeveral Captivities.

Therefore his Taſte remained in him, and his Scent is not changed] As generous Wines retain their Strength as long as they continue on the Lees; ſo he retains his wonted Pride and Luxury, and doth not depart from any of thoſe Vices, which a long Proſperity has occaſioned: See Iſa. xvi. 6.

I will ſend unto him Wanderers, &c.] The Chaldean Soldiers that came out of a foreign Country: Theſe ſhall make a Prey of him, and ſhall carry off as much of his Wealth as they can, and ſpoil the reſt: Compare Ch. xiii. 14.

Come down from thy Glory, and ſit in Thirſt] Submit to a mean Condition, wherein thou ſhalt feel the Want of all Conveniencies of Life. The Hebrew Language expreſſes a barren Land, which yields no Food or Suſtenance, by a thirſty Ground. See Pſ. lxiii. 2. Iſa. xxxv. 7. Ezek. xix. 13.

O Inhabitant of Aroer, ſtand by the Way, and eſpy, &c.] A Town in the Borders of Moab: See Deut. ii. 36. The Prophet deſcribes the Concern and Fear that was upon them, which made them hearken to every little Report that was ſtirring.

And upon Bozra] The ſame Town that is called Bezer, Deut. iv. 43. Joſh. xxi. 36. A different Place from Bozra which belonged to the Land of Edom, Ch. xlix. 13.

The Horn of Moab is cut off, and his Arm broken] Strength is often expreſſed by the Horn, wherein the Strength of Bulls, and ſuch like Creatures conſiſts, and by the Arm wherein human Strength doth chiefly diſcover itſelf.

Make ye him drunken, &c.] God's Judgments are repreſented under this Metaphor.

Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his Vomit, and ſhall be in Deriſion] The Judgments which God ſends upon him, ſhall expoſe him to the Scorn of his Enemies: Juſt as a drunken Man is the Object of Mens Laughter and Deriſion. Compare Hab. ii. 16.

Was he found among Thieves? For ſince thou ſpakeſt of him thou ſkippeſt for Joy] Tho' the Sins of Iſrael were great in the Sight of God, yet he had done no Injury to the Moabites; ſo there was no Reaſon they ſhould uſe him with the ſame Deſpite and Contempt, as if he had been a common Thief taken in the very Fact, whom every one thinks they had a Right to abuſe: Compare Ch. ii. 26. The latter Part of the Verſe may be thus rendered, For the Words thou haſt ſpoken againſt him, thou ſhalt be carried captive. This Interpretation of the Words, the vulgar Latin follows, and the Verb Thithnoded may be very well rendered to this Senſe.

I know his Wrath — but it ſhall not be ſo, his Lies ſhall not ſo effect it] Or, his Strength ſhall not avail anſwerably to his Wrath; his Power ſhall not be anſwerable to his Malice. The latter Part of the Sentence may be thus rendered; But it is not right, his Liars do not that which is right. The Word Baddim, ſometimes ſignifies thoſe that pretend to the Art of Divination, or foretelling what is to come. See Ch. l. 36. If we take the Word in this Senſe, the Meaning of the Sentence is, That altho' the Soothſayers and Magicians, upon whoſe Skill Moab relies, promiſe him good Succeſs, and thereby encourage his Pride and Arrogance; yet in the Event it will appear, that there was nothing of Truth in what they ſaid.

O Vine of Sibma, I will bewail thee with the weeping of Jazer] The Expreſſions denote the Deſtruction of the fruitful Vineyards of Sibma. The Loſs of which the neighbouring Places of Jazer would have Reaſon to lament: Compare Iſa. xvi. 9.

Thy Plants are gone over the Sea: They reach even to the Sea of Jazer] The Words, purſuing the Metaphor of a Vineyard, imply, that the principal Inhabitants (compare Nah. ii. 2.) are carried away or forced to fly their Country, and paſs over the Sea, that is, the River of Jazer; a Stream that runs into the River Arnon, the Border of Moab, Numb. xxi. 13. All Lakes and Rivers are called Seas in the Hebrew Language.

As an Heifer of three Years old] Dr. Lightfoot in his Chorographical Enquiries before his Horæ Hebraicæ upon St. John, Ch. iii. N. 8. propoſes another Rendering of theſe Words Eglah Sheliſhiah, and interprets the Sentence thus, From Zoar unto Horonaim even to the third Eglah. He ſuppoſes that ſeveral Places might be called by the Name of Eglah, particularly there is one of them mentioned Ezek. xlvii. 10. and this in the Text might be called the third Eglah, by way of Diſtinction.

Therefore my Heart ſhall ſound for Moab like Pipes, &c.] My Bowels are moved within me, I groan inwardly for Trouble and Anguiſh: Compare Ch. iv. 19. Lam. i. 20. Job xxx. 27. Iſa. xvi. 11. The Muſick of Pipes was uſed at Funerals. See Sir Norton Knatchbull's Notes on Matt. ix. 23.

They that fled ſtood under the Shadow of Heſhbon becauſe of the Force] They that fled for fear of the Enemy's Forces, thought to find a Shelter and Safeguard in Heſhbon, a ſtrong fenced City; ſee Ver. 2. But the Hebrew Miccoah, becauſe of the Force, may be rendered for want of Force or Strength: Compare Ch. xl. 14. And ſo the Prepoſition Min is tranſlated by our Interpreters, Lam. iv. 9. and Pſ. cx. 24. according to the old Tranſlation. And Mic. iii. 6. where we read in the Hebrew, Therefore Night ſhall be unto you as a Viſion, or, becauſe of a Viſion. Which our Tranſlators rightly render, That ye ſhall not have a Viſion.

But a Fire ſhall come out of Heſhbon, a Flame from the Midſt of Sihon] That is, of the City of Sihon, meaning Heſhbon: See Numb. xxi. 28. When the Enemies once poſſeſſed themſelves of Heſhbon, the principal City of Moab, they quickly ſpread like Fire over the reſt of the Country. So that the Prophet fitly applies to the preſent Caſe the Words of an antient Poem, or Epinikion, made upon Sihon's Conqueſt over Moab, and recited by Moſes, Numb. xxi. 27, 28, &c.

And ſhall devour the Corner of Moab, and the Crown of the Head of the Tumultuous ones] By the Corner may be meant the Borders, or extreme Parts of the Country. So the Hebrew Word ſignifies, Numb. xxxiv. 3. Nehem. ix. 22. or it may mean the Nobility who are the Stay and Support to the Government expreſſed likewiſe by the Crown of the Head in the following Sentence: Or elſe both Expreſſions may allude to the Cuſtom practiſed in thoſe Countries of polling or cutting round the Corners, or Fore-part of their Hair. By the Tumultuous are meant thoſe that through Pride, indulge in their State and Plenty, and inſult over their Inferiors.

Yet will I bring again the Captivity of Moab in the latter Days] The Moabites were afterwards reſtored to their Country, as appears from Joſephus Antiq. L. xiii. C. 17. But theſe and ſuch like Promiſes of Mercy after Judgment, are chiefly to be underſtood of the Converſion of the Gentiles under the Goſpel, called the Latter Days in the Prophets: Compare Ch. xii. 15, 16, 17. xlix. 6, 39. Iſa. xviii. 7. xix. 38, &c. xxiii. 18. The Converſion of Idolaters is expreſſed by returning from their Captivity, Ezek. xvi. 53.

CHAP. XLIX.

Prophecies againſt ſeveral of thoſe Nations, againſt which Jeremiah had a general Commiſſion to declare Judgments, Ch. xxv. 3.

Ver. 1. CONcerning the Ammonites, thus ſaith the Lord, Hath Iſrael no ſons? hath he no heir? why then doth their king inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities? 2 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will cauſe an alarm of war to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it ſhall be a deſolate heap, and her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire: then ſhall Iſrael be heir unto them that were his heirs, ſaith the Lord. 3 Howl, O Heſhbon, for Ai is ſpoiled: cry ye, daughters of Rabbah, gird ye with ſackcloth, lament and run to and fro by the hedges, for their king ſhall go into captivity, and his priests and his princes together. 4 Wherefore glorieſt thou thou in the valleys, thy flowing valley, O backsliding daughter? that trusted in her treasures, saying, who shall come unto me? 5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, from all those that be about thee, and ye shall be driven out every man right forth, and none shall gather up him that wandreth. 6 And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, saith the Lord. 7 Concerning Edom, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from the prudent? is their wisdom vanished? 8 Flee ye, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan, for I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him, the time that I will visit him. 9 If grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some gleaning-grapes? if thieves by night, they will destroy till they have enough. 10 But I have made Esau bare, I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is spoiled, and his brethren and his neighbours, and he is not. 11 Leave thy fatherless children, I will preserve them alive, and let thy widows trust in me. 12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, they whose judgment was not to drink of the cup, have assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shalt altogether go unpunished? thou shalt not go unpunished, but thou shalt surely drink of it. 13 For I have sworn by myself, saith the Lord, that Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes. 14 I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather ye together and come against her, and rise up to the battle. 15 For lo, I will make thee small among the heathen, and despised among men. 16 Thy terribleness hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart, O thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, that holdest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord. 17 Also Edom shall be a desolation: every one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof. 18 As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, saith the Lord: no man shall abide there, neither shall a son of man dwell in it. 19 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan against the habitation of the strong: but I will suddenly make him run away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that shepherd that will stand before me? 20 Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord, that he hath taken against Edom, and his purposes that he hath purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out; surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them. 21 The earth is moved at the noise of their fall: at the cry, the noise thereof was heard in the Red-sea. 22 Behold, he shall come up and fly as the eagle, and spread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day shall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs. 23 Concerning Damascus. Hamath is confounded, and Arpad: for they have heard evil-tidings, they are faint-hearted, there is sorrow on the sea, it cannot be quiet. 24 Damascus is waxed feeble, and turneth herself to flee, and fear hath seized on her: anguish and sorrows have taken her as a woman in travail. 25 How is the city of praise not left, the city of my joy? 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all the men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts. 27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, and it shall consume the palaces of Ben-hadad. 28 Concerning Kedar, and concerning the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise ye, go up to Kedar, and spoil the men of the east. 29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away, they shall take to themselves their curtains and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry unto them, Fear is on every side. 30 Flee, get you far off, dwell deep, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath taken counsel against you, and hath conceived a purpose against you. 31 Arise, get you up unto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which have neither gates nor bars, which dwell alone. 32 And their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattle a spoil, and I will scatter into all winds them that are in the utmost corners, and I will bring their calamity from all sides thereof, saith the Lord. 33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and a desolation for ever; there shall no man abide there, nor any son of man dwell in it. 34 The word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet against Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the chief of their might. 36 And upon Elam will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter them towards all those winds, and there shall be no nation whither the out-casts of Elam shall not come. 37 For I will cause Elam to be dismayed before their enemies, and before them that seek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, even my fierce anger, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them, till I have consumed them. 38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and will destroy from thence the king and the princes, saith the Lord. 39 But it shall come to pass in the latter days, that I will bring again the captivity of Elam, saith the Lord.

Hath Israel no Sons? — Why then doth their King inherit Gad?] The Septuagint reads Gilead, which agrees with the Words of Amos in his Prophecy against the Ammonites, Am. i. 13. But the Sense is all one; for in Amos we are to understand that Part of Gilead which belonged to the Tribe of Gad. God sorely afflicted those Parts of the Kingdom of Israel that lay Eastward of Jordan, first by Hazael, 2 King. x. 33. afterward by Tiglath-Pileser, Ch. xv. 29. and then deliver'd up the whole Kingdom to be carried Captive by Salmaneser, Ch. xvii. after which Time it is probable the Ammonites took Occasion to possess themselves of Gilead, that lay near their Territories: But God's dispossessing the Israelites, gave them no Right to invade their Inheritance: See Zeph. ii. 8. especially when they had been so tender of the Ammonites Right, as not to invade their Possession in their March toward the Land of Canaan: See Deut. iv. 19. 2 Chron. xx. 10.

Her Daughters ſhall be burnt with Fire] That is, the leſſer Cities, which are reckoned as ſo many Daughters to the Mother City. To the ſame Senſe the Daughsers of Judah are joined with Sion, as the Metropolis, Pſ. xlviii. 11. xcvii. 8. and ſee the following Verſe.

Then ſhall Iſrael be Heir to them that were his Heirs] The Jews made themſelves Maſters of the Ammonites, and the neighbouring Countries under the Maccabees: See Macc. v. 6, 7. Compare Ezek. xxv. 14.

The Words Heir and Inheritance in the Hebrew, ſignify any real and laſting Poſſeſſion: See Pſ. lxxxii. 8. The Expreſſion being taken from the uſual Manner of conveying Land among them, which was by Inheritance.

Howl O Heſhbon, for Ai is ſpoiled] When Ai (not that Place mentioned Joſh. viii. but) a City of the Ammonites is deſtroyed. Then it is Time for Heſhbon, the chief City of Moab, to lament her Danger; for her Turn comes next: See Ch. xlviii. 2.

Lament, and run to and fro by the Hedges] Try to hide yourſelves in the Thickets, and remove from one Place to another for fear of being diſcover'd: Or the Words may be expounded thus; Lament ye Inhabitants of the Leſſer Towns, and run to and fro in your Villages, as uncertain Reports ſhall prompt you to flee from your Enemies: So Schindler expounds the Word Gederoth, Pſ. lxxxix. 40. See Ch. iv. 29.

For their King ſhall go into Captivity] Or, Melcom ſhall go into Captivity: So the Word may likewiſe be render'd in the firſt Verſe. Melcom was the Idol of the Ammonites: See 2 Kings xxii. 13. The Idols always ſhared in the Proſperity or Calamities that befel their Worſhippers: Compare Ch. xlviii. 7.

Is Wiſdom no more in Teman?] The Eaſtern Part of the World (by which is chiefly meant Arabia, and the adjacent Countries: See Iſa. xi. 14.) was famous for the Study of Wiſdom or Philoſophy, as it was called in latter Times: See 1 Kings iv. 30. The Edomites put in their Claim to this Prerogative, as appears from the Text, and the parallel Place of Obadiah, Ver. 8. as alſo from the Book of Job, where Eliphaz, one of the Diſputants, is called the Temanite, as being deſcended from Teman, Eſau's Grandſon, who gave Name to the City or Country of Teman, elſewhere mentioned: See Amos i. 12. Obad. Ver. 9. Habak. iii. 3. Unleſs we ſuppoſe it the ſame Tema, mentioned Ch. xxv. 23. Iſa. xxi. 14. which took its Name from Tema, Iſhmael's Son, Gen. xxv. 15.

Flee, turn back, dwell deep, O Inhabitants of Dedan] The Dedanites were Arabians, of the Poſterity of Dedan, the Grandſon of Abraham, Gen. xxv. 3. They ſeem by this Place, to have been in latter Times ſubdued by the Idumeans, and incorporated with them: The Prophet exhorts them to flee, and turn their Backs from an Enemy they were not able to encounter; and hide themſelves in the deepeſt Caves and Dens they could find: Compare Ver. 10. and Judg. vi. 2.

For I have made Eſau bare, I have uncovered his ſecret Parts] Or Treaſures, as the Word ſignifies, Iſa. xlv. 3. I have taken from him every Thing that might be a Refuge and Defence to him in the Time of a general Calamity.

Leave thy fatherleſs Children, I will preſerve them alive, &c.] The Chaldee Paraphraſe underſtands this of the Jews, to whom the following Words do certainly belong, as if it contained God's Promiſe to take Care of their Families, under that diſtreſſed and forlorn State, to which the Captivity had reduced them. If we underſtand the Words of the Edomites, the Sentence ſeems to be Ironical (ſee a like Inſtance Iſa. xvi. 4.) as if the Prophet had ſaid, Thou needeſt not to be concerned for thy helpleſs Children, and thy Widows thou muſt leave to the Mercy of the Enemy, for none of them ſhall ſurvive or eſcape. This Senſe agrees very well with that Expreſſion, Ver. 10. His Seed is ſpoiled; and with Ver. 13, 17.

Behold, they whoſe Judgment was not to drink of the Cup, have aſſuredly drunken] The Jews, who in all human Appearance might have expected Mercy at God's Hands, in regard to the gracious Promiſes made to them, and to their Fathers: See Ch. xxv. 29.

I have heard a Rumour from the Lord, and an Ambaſſador is ſent unto the Heathen, &c.] The Prophets often repreſent the Lord as ſummoning Armies, and ſetting them in Array of Battle againſt thoſe People whom He has decreed to deſtroy: See Ch. l. 9—21. li. 11. Iſa. xiii. 2, 3. xviii. 3. God's ſtirring up Men's Spirits to invade ſuch Countries, is deſcribed here, as if he had ſent an Ambaſſador to the Chaldeans and their Confederates, to engage them in a War againſt the Idumeans, according to the Methods which earthly Princes uſe to engage their Allies. Compare Ch. l. 27, 28.

O thou that dwelleſt in the Clefts of the Rocks, &c.] St. Jerom, who lived in the Neighbourhood, tells us that Idumea was a rocky, mountainous Country, and that the Inhabitants dwelt in Caves dug out of the Rocks and Hills.

Behold he ſhall come like a Lion from the Swelling of Jordan, againſt the Habitation of the ſtrong] A Deſcription of Nebuchadnezzar marching with his Army againſt Idumea, whom the Prophet compares to a Lion coming out of his Den, near the River Jordan. When that ſwells in the Time of Harveſt (ſee Joſh. iii. 15. 1 Chron. xii.) the Lions that lie in the Thickets on the River-ſide, are raiſed out of their Coverts, and infeſt the Country. See Maundrell's Travels, P. 81.

Who will appoint me the Time? Or who is the Shepherd that will meet me?] Who will challenge me to meet him in the Field, as if we were upon equal Terms? Or what Leader or General can enter into the Liſts with me? The Word Shepherd often ſignifies a Prince or Commander. See Ch. vi. 3. xxv. 34. But here it is mentioned in Oppoſition to the Lion mentioned before; as if he had ſaid, a Shepherd may as well encounter a Lion, as the beſt appointed Warrior contend with God Almighty, or thoſe whom he makes the Inſtruments of his Vengeance.

Surely the leaſt of the Flock ſhall draw them out] The Prophet having given the Name of Shepherd to the Generals of the Army, in Purſuance of that Metaphor, he expreſſes the common Soldiers by the leaſt of the Flock, as the Commanders are called the principal of the Flock, Ch. xxv. 34. Theſe he ſaith ſhall have Strength and Courage enough to draw out or devour the Idumean Forces. The Verb Sahab, to draw out, alludes to the Cuſtom of Dogs, who draw about a Carcaſe before they devour it: So it is uſed Ch. xv. 3. where our Interpreters read, And the Dogs to tear.

Concerning Damaſcus] The Judgment denounced againſt Damaſcus, the principal City of Syria, is to be ſuppoſed to extend to the whole Country. Nebuchadnezzar had ſubdued Syria at the Beginning of his Reign. See Notes on Ch. xxxv. 1. But he might upon ſome new Provocation over-run that Country afterward during the Siege of Tyre, which laſted thirteen Years.

Hamath is confounded, and Arphad] Hamath and Arphad are elſewhere joined together. See 2 Kings xviii. 4. Hamath is ſuppoſed to be the ſame with Riblah in the Land of Hamath, Ch. xxxix. 5. called Hamath the great, Amos vi. 2. It is a Frontier Town lying upon the Borders of Judea towards Syria, thence called the Entrance of Hamath, 1 Kings viii. 65. Iſ. x. 9. Am. vi. 14. Arpad, is otherwiſe called Arvad, the Habitation of the Arvadites, Gen. x. 18. called the Aradites by the Septuagint, that is, the Inhabitants of the Iſle of Aradus.

The Word — that came to Jeremiah againſt Elam] The Province of Elymais, which together with Suſiana, Nebuchadnezzar ſubdued and took from Aſtyages King of Media, as A. B. Uſher gathers by comparing Jer. xxv. 25. with Dan. viii. 1, 2. where in the Reign of Belſhazzar, Daniel ſpeaks of himſelf as reſiding at Shuſhan the Palace in the Province of Elam: Which therefore at that Time muſt be a Province belonging to the King of Babylon. See his Annals, ad A. M. 3405 and 3451. Xenophon gives this Account of the Matter, how how Elam came afterward under the Power of Cyrus; ‘ That Abradates, being Vice-roy of Susa, under the ‘ King of Babylon, his Wife Panthea, a very beautiful ‘ Woman, was taken Prisoner in the first War against ‘ the Babylonians: Cyrus having used her kindly, and ‘ kept her chastly for her Husband, the Sense of this ‘ Generosity drew this Prince over to Cyrus's Party: ‘ Whereupon Elam was joined to the Empire of the ‘ Medes and Persians.' Accordingly we find the Elamites come with them to the Siege of Babylon, Isa. xxi. 2.

CHAP. L.

The Downfal of Babylon.

Ver. 1. THE word that the Lord spake against Babylon, and against the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet. 2 Declare ye among the nations, and publish, and set up a standard, publish, and conceal not: say, Babylon is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces, her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces. 3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation against her, which shall make her land desolate, and none shall dwell therein: they shall remove, they shall depart both man and beast. 4 In those days, and in that time saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they shall go and seek the Lord their God. 5 They shall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us join ourselves to the Lord, in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten. 6 My people hath been lost sheep: their shepherds have caused them to go astray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their resting-place. 7 All that found them have devoured them, and their adversaries said, We offend not, because they have sinned against the Lord, the habitation of Justice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers. 8 Remove out of the midst of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks. 9 For lo, I will raise and cause to come up against Babylon, an assembly of great nations from the north-country, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, from thence she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a mighty expert man: none shall return in vain. 10 And Chaldea shall be a spoil: all that spoil her shall be satisfied, saith the Lord. 11 Because ye were glad, because ye rejoyced, O ye destroyers of mine heritage, because ye are grown fat, as the heifer at grass, and bellow as bulls. 12 Your mother shall be sore confounded, she that bare you shall be ashamed: behold, the hindermost of the nations shall be a wilderness, a dry land, and a desart. 13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but it shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babylon shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues. 14 Put yourselves in aray against Babylon round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she hath sinned against the Lord. 15 Shout against her round about: she hath given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance upon her: as she hath done, do unto her. 16 Cut off the sower from Babylon, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of harvest: for fear of the oppressing sword, they shall turn every one to his people, and they shall flee every one to his own land. 17 Israel is a scattered sheep, the lions have driven him away: first the king of Assyria hath devoured him, and last this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones. 18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land, as I have punished the king of Assyria. 19 And I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead. 20 In those days, and in that time, saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reserve. 21 Go up against the land of Merathaim, even against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: waste and utterly destroy after them, saith the Lord, and do according to all that I have commanded thee. 22 A sound of battle is in the land, and of great destruction. 23 How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken? how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations? 24 I have laid a snare for thee, and thou art also taken, O Babylon, and thou wast not aware: thou art found and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord. 25 The Lord hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord God of hosts, in the land of the Chaldeans. 26 Come against her from the utmost border, open her storehouses: cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left. 27 Slay all her bullocks: let them go down to the slaughter: wo unto them, for their day is come, the time of their visitation. 28 The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, the vengeance of his temple. 29 Call together the archers against Babylon: all ye that bend the bow, camp against it round about; let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her work; according to all that she hath done, do unto her: for she hath been proud against the Lord, against the holy One of Israel. 30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord. 31 Behold, I am against thee, O thou, most proud, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, the time that I will visit thee. 32 And the most proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him. 33 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together, and all that took them captives held them fast, they refused to let them go. 34 Their redeemer is strong, the Lord of hosts is his name, he shall throughly plead their cause, that he may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon. 35 A sword is upon the Chaldeans, saith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon upon her wife men. 36 A ſword is upon the liars, and they ſhall dote: a ſword is upon her mighty men, and they ſhall be diſmayed. 37 A ſword is upon their horſes, and upon their chariots, and upon all the mingled people that are in the midſt of her, and they ſhall become as women: a ſword is upon her treaſures, and they ſhall be robbed. 38 A drought is upon her waters, and they ſhall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols. 39 Therefore the wild beaſts of the deſart, with the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall dwell there, and the owls ſhall dwell therein: and it ſhall be no more inhabited for ever: neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation. 40 As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, ſaith the Lord: ſo ſhall no man abide there, neither ſhall any ſon of man dwell therein. 41 Behold, a people ſhall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth. 42 They ſhall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel and will not ſhew mercy: their voice ſhall roar like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, every one put in aray like a man to the battle, againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon. 43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: anguiſh took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail. 44 Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan, unto the habitation of the ſtrong: but I will make them ſuddenly run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me? 45 Therefore hear ye the counſel of the Lord, that he hath taken againſt Babylon, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the land of the Chaldeans: ſurely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out: ſurely he ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them. 46 At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

This and the following Chapter, contain a large Deſcription of the Downfal of Babylon, and of that Empire of which that City was the Seat. It follows the reſt of the Prophecies of Jeremiah againſt the neighbouring Countries, according to the Method of God's Judgments laid down before, Ch. xxv. 12, 13. where the Prophet declares that after Nebuchadnezzar and his Succeſſors had fulfilled God's Purpoſes, in being Executioners of his Vengeance upon other Countries, they themſelves ſhould drink of the ſame Cup.

This Prophecy has likewiſe a further Aſpect upon that myſtical Babylon, mentioned in the Revelations, and many Expreſſions of it are applied by St. John to the Downfal of Antichriſt.

Declare ye among the Nations and publiſh] The Downfal of Babylon was an Event in which many Nations were concerned, the Empire having been a common Oppreſſor.

Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in Pieces, &c.] When God puniſhes an idolatrous Nation, he aſſerts his own Authority to the Confuſion of all Idols and their Worſhippers. Bel is the ſame with Baal, a Name common to the Idols of the Eaſtern Countries, and at firſt probably given to ſome of the heavenly Bodies. Afterward, when the Worſhip of the deified Men came into Practice, Bel or Belus, the Idol of the Aſſyrians, is ſuppoſed to be the ſame as Nimrod: And when Daniel ſaith that Nebuchadnezzar carried the Veſſels of the Temple of Jeruſalem into the Houſe of his God, Dan. 1. 2. he is generally ſuppoſed to mean the Idol Bel, who was worſhipped as the Tutelar Deity of that Country. Merodach might be the Name of one of their Kings, that was afterwards deified by his Subjects: See Iſa. xxxix. 1.

In thoſe Days — the Children of Iſrael ſhall come they and the Children of Judah together, going and weeping, &c.] This may in ſome Senſe be meant of the Jews Return from the Captivity, upon the Deſtruction of the Babyloniſh Monarchy. But, ſays Lowth, I conceive this Verſe, among many others, is a Proof that this Prophecy has a farther Aſpect upon that general Reſtoration of the Jews, which ſhould be the Conſequence of the Downfal of Antichriſt. For firſt, here Iſrael and Judah are ſpoken of as Partakers of the ſame Reſtoration, and re-united in the Worſhip of the true God: A Bleſſing not yet brought to paſs, but reſerved for After-times; compare Ver. 20. and in the ſecond Place they are deſcribed as Weeping, and troubled with a true Compunction of their former Sins.

Let us join ourſelves to the Lord in a perpetual Covenant] The Goſpel is ſtiled an Everlaſting Covenant, Ch. xxxii. 40. The Hebrew Phraſe is the ſame in both Places. The Words may allude to that Covenant Joſiah and the People entered into after the general Corruption of Religion and Morality which had over ſpread the Nation under the Reign of Manaſſeh. See 2 Kings xxiii. 2.

Remove out of the Midſt of Babylon] An Exhortation often uſed by the Prophets upon this Subject: See Ch. li. 6, 45. Iſa. xlviii. 20. lii. 11. and renewed by St. John, Rev. xviii. 4.

This Exhortation Dr. Prideaux ſuppoſes to relate to the Siege of Babylon, carried on by Darius Hyſtaſpes in the fifth and ſixth Years of his Reign. Before which Time God had warned the Jews by their Prophet Zechariah, Ch. ii. 6, 7. to flee out of Babylon, and to deliver themſelves from the Miſeries that ſhould befal that City during the Siege. See his Connect. of Script. Hiſt. P. 188.

Cut off the Sower from Babylon, &c.] Babylon was more like a Country walled in than a City: Her Walls being ſixty Miles in Compaſs, as Herodotus teſtifies; forty eight Miles according to Strabo, L. xvi. P. 738. Within this large Circuit, a great deal of Ground was taken up in Corn-fields. So that they had Corn ſufficient growing within the Walls to maintain a Siege, as Q. Curtius affirms, L. v. C. 1. Whereupon the Huſbandmen ſuffered as well as others, in a general Deſtruction of the Inhabitants: Which our learned Dr. Prideaux refers to the taking of Babylon by Darius Hyſtaſpes after a Siege of twenty Months: See his Connect. Script. Hiſt. P. 187, &c. where he applies ſeveral Parts of this Prophecy, relating to the Overthrow of Babylon, to this Reduction of it: For there is no Neceſſity of ſuppoſing that the Deſtruction of Babylon here foretold, ſhould come to paſs altogether. The Prophet only foretelling what ſhould be the Concluſion of God's Judgments upon the Place.

The ſame learned Writer obſerves, That the Puniſhment of Babylon kept pace with the Reſtauration of the Jews. And as there are two Ways of computing the ſeventy Years of the Jewiſh Captivity, one uſed by Jeremiah, the other by Zechariah; ſee Ch. xxvii. ſo if we reckon theſe ſeventy Years ended in the fourth Year of Darius, as Zechariah does, the Deſolation of Babylon was in a great Meaſure completed about the ſame Time.

I have puniſhed the King of Aſſyria] This may more probably be underſtood of the Deſtruction of Nineveh, the chief Seat of the Aſſyrian Empire, by Nebuchadnezzar and Aſſuerus, or Aſtyages, as it is related in Tobit, Ch. xiv. 5. At the taking of this great City, foretold by Jonah, Nahum, and Zephaniah, Chynaladanus, the laſt King of the Aſſyrian Race was killed, and the Seat and Title of the Empire removed to Babylon, which was no longer called the Aſſyrian, but the Babylonian Monarchy: See Dr. Prideaux, P. 47, 48.

I will pardon them whom I reserve] In all the Judgments God brings upon his People, he still promises to preserve a Remnant. St. Paul calls it a Remnant according to the Election of Grace, Rom. xi. 5. This Place is chiefly to be understood of that Remnant of the Jews, which should be converted in the latter Times of the World, when the Unbelievers and the Incorrigible shall be destroyed: Compare Ch. li. 50. Isa. xlv. 20. Am. ix. 9, 10.

Go up against the Land of Merathaim] Or, of Rebels, as the Margin expounds the Word. Others understand by it that Part of the Babylonian Dominions called Mardi by the Heathen Writers. This Command is directed to Cyrus and his Confederates.

And against the Inhabitants of Pekod] This was a Country belonging to the Babylonian Empire: See Ezek. xxiii. 23. It is mentioned here, because the Word signifies Visitation: This being the Time when God will visit Babylon: See Ver. 27—31.

How is the Hammer of the whole Earth cut asunder and broken?] That oppressive Empire which smote the Nations with a continual Stroke, as it is described Isa. xiv. 6.

Cast her up as Heaps] The Word Naremim properly signifies Heaps of Corn; taking it in this Sense, the Marginal Reading is to be preferred, Tread her as Heaps, that is, as the Corn is trodden down when it is threshed. The Phrase alludes to the Way of Threshing used in the Eastern Parts of the World, which was to beat the Wheat out of the Husk, by drawing heavy Drays or Planks over it.

The Voice of them that flee and escape out of the Land of Babylon, &c.] Some of those that were more than ordinary zealous for the Welfare of God's Church and People, were ready upon the first News of the taking of Babylon, to bring the glad Tidings thereof into Judea, How God had avenged the Cause of his People, and executed his Judgments on those who destroyed his Temple, and prophaned the holy Vessels of it that were dedicated to his Service. See Dan. v. 1, 2, 3, 5, 30.

I will kindle a Fire in his Cities] This may be meant of the Destruction made in the Babylonian Territories in the several Expeditions Cyrus undertook against that Monarchy, during the Space of twenty Years before the taking of Babylon: See Dr. Prideaux, from the Year before Christ, 559, to the Year, 539.

For it is the Land of graven Images, &c.] This Vengeance comes upon them, because they have been the great Encouragers and Supporters of Idolatry: See Ver. 2. and Ch. li. 44, 47, 52. And the Executioners of the Divine Judgments were the Persians, who in Opposition to the Sabians, whose Notions the Chaldeans embraced, followed the antient Discipline of the Magi, or wise Men among them, and had neither Altars nor Images: As Strabo testifies, L. xv. The same Thing is affirmed by Herodotus also, whose Words are quoted in Origen's 7th Book against Celsus, P. 373. See likewise Dr. Prideaux.

As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, &c.] Upon the Persians removing the Seat of the Empire from Babylon, the Glory of it was much diminished. And when Alexander purposed to restore it to its antient Greatness, he was prevented by Death, before he could make any Progress in that Work. Under its Successors it still decayed more and more, first by the Neighbourhood of Seleucia, built upon the Tygris, by Seleucus Nicator: Afterward by the building of Ctesiphon on the other Side of that River: So that at last it was reduced to utter Solitude, and continued so in Strabo and Pliny's Time.

They are cruel and will shew no Mercy] See Isa. xiii. 17, 18. It is a common Observation, that in those extraordinary Commendations Xenophon gives of Cyrus's Clemency and other Virtues, he rather wrote an exact Character of a perfect Prince, than a Narrative of Matter of Fact. However, in the taking of Cities, several Outrages are usually committed contrary to the Will and Intent of the chief Commanders.

CHAP. LI.

Ver. 1. THUS saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up against Babylon, and against them that dwell in the midst of them that rise up against me, a destroying wind; 2 And will send unto Babylon fanners, that shall fan her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her round about. 3 Against him that bendeth let the archer bend his bow, and against him that lifteth himself up in his brigandine; and spare ye not her young men, destroy ye utterly all her host. 4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets. 5 For Israel hath not been forsaken, nor Judah of his God, of the Lord of hosts; though their land was filled with sin against the holy One of Israel. 6 Flee out of the midst of Babylon, and deliver every man his soul: be not cut off in her iniquity: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render unto her a recompense. 7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore the nations are mad. 8 Babylon is suddenly fallen and destroyed: howl for her, take balm for her pain, if so be she may be healed. 9 We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed: forsake her, and let us go every one into his own country: for her judgment reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the skies. 10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God. 11 Make bright the arrows: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised up the spirit of the kings of the Medes: for his device is against Babylon, to destroy it; because it is the vengeance of the Lord, the vengeance of his temple. 12 Set up the standard upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch strong, set up the watch-men, prepare the ambushes: for the Lord hath both devised and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babylon. 13 O thou that dwellest upon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come and the measure of thy covetousness. 14 The Lord of hosts hath sworn by himself, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars; and they shall lift up a shout against thee. 15 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his understanding. 16 When he uttereth his voice there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth, he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures. 17 Every man is brutish by his knowledge, every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falshood, and there is no breath in them. 18 They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. 19 The portion of Jacob is not like them, for he is the former of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his name. 20 Thou art my battle ax and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdoms: 21 And with thee will I break in pieces the horſe and his rider, and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider: 22 With thee alſo will I break in pieces man and woman, and with thee will I break in pieces old and young, and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid: 23 I will alſo break in pieces with thee, the ſhepherd and his flock, and with thee will I break in pieces the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen, and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers. 24 And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion in your ſight, ſaith the Lord. 25 Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying mountain, ſaith the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth, and I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain. 26 And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the Lord. 27 Set ye up a ſtandard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations againſt her, call together againſt her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz, appoint a captain againſt her, cauſe the horſes to come up as the rough caterpillars. 28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion. 29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow: for every purpoſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a deſolation without an inhabitant. 30 The mighty men of Babylon have forborn to fight, they have remained in their holds, their might hath failed, they became as women: they have burnt her dwelling-places, her bars are broken. 31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, and one meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reeds they have burnt with fire, and the men of war are affrighted. 33 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, the daughter of Babylon is like a threſhing-floor, it is time to threſh her: yet a little while, and the time of her harveſt ſhall come. 34 Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon hath devoured me, he hath cruſhed me, he hath made me an empty veſſel, he hath ſwallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath caſt me out. 35 The violence done to me and to my fleſh, be upon Babylon, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay; and my blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay. 36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will plead thy cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dry up her ſea, and make her ſprings dry. 37 And Babylon ſhall become heaps, a dwelling-place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing without an inhabitant. 38 They ſhall roar together like lions: they ſhall yell as lions whelps. 39 In their heat I will make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the Lord. 40 I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, like rams with he-goats. 41 How is Sheſhach taken? and how is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurpriſed? how is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment among the nations? 42 The ſea is come up upon Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof. 43 Her cities are a deſolation, a dry land and a wilderneſs, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any ſon of man paſs thereby. 44 And I will puniſh Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath ſwallowed up, and the nations ſhall not flow together any more unto him, yea the wall of Babylon ſhall fall. 45 My people, go ye out of the midſt of her, and deliver ye every man his ſoul from the fierce anger of the Lord. 46 And leſt your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land: a rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour, and violence in the land, ruler againſt ruler. 47 Therefore behold, the days come, that I will do judgment upon the graven images of Babylon: and her whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her. 48 Then the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall ſing for Babylon: for the ſpoilers ſhall come unto her from the north, ſaith the Lord. 49 As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain of Iſrael to fall, ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of all the earth. 50 Ye that have eſcaped the ſword, go away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the Lord afar off, and let Jeruſalem come into your mind. 51 We are confounded, becauſe we have heard reproach, ſhame hath covered our faces: for ſtrangers are come into the ſanctuaries of the Lords houſe. 52 Wherefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will do judgment upon her graven images, and through all her land the wounded ſhall groan. 53 Though Babylon ſhould mount up to heaven, and though ſhe ſhould fortify the height of her ſtrength, yet from me ſhall ſpoilers come unto her, ſaith the Lord. 54 A ſound of a cry cometh from Babylon, and great deſtruction from the land of the Chaldeans. 55 Becauſe the Lord hath ſpoiled Babylon, and deſtroyed out of her the great voice when her waves do roar like great waters, a noiſe of their voice is uttered. 56 Becauſe the ſpoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken, every one of their bows is broken, for the Lord God of recompenſes ſhall ſurely requite. 57 And I will make drunk her princes and her wiſe men, her captains and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they ſhall ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts. 58 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, The broad walls of Babylon ſhall be utterly broken, and her high gates ſhall be burnt with fire, and the people ſhall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they ſhall be weary. 59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the ſon of Neriah, the ſon of Maaſeiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign; and this Seraiah was a quiet prince. 60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that ſhould come upon Babylon, even all theſe words that are written againſt Babylon. 61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When thou comeſt to Babylon, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt read all theſe words, 62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O Lord, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place, to cut it off, that none ſhall remain in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhall be deſolate for ever. 63 And it ſhall be when thou haſt made an end of reading this book, that thou ſhalt bind a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates. 64 And thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babylon ſink, and ſhall not riſe from the evil that I will bring upon her: and they ſhall be weary. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

And I will ſend unto Babylon Fanners that ſhall fan her] As the Wind drives and ſcatters Chaff in a Threſhing-floor, ſo ſhall the Perſian Armies make a perfect Riddance of every Thing that is valuable.

Babylon hath been a golden Cup in the Lord's Hand, that hath made all the Earth drunken] She hath recommended her Idolatries to the World by ſeveral ſpecious Pretences, as well as by her Authority and Example. So that they have been like Poiſon ſet off by a golden Cup, which hath enticed Men to drink without being aware of the Danger; and all this by God's Permiſſion, in order to the accompliſhing ſome great Ends of his Providence. The Expreſſions allude to the Practice of Harlots, in giving Love-potions to their Gallants, which were made up of ſuch Ingredients as diſturbed their Brains, and made them run mad. The Senſe of this Verſe is plainly applied by St. John to ſpiritual Babylon, which has uſed the moſt Methods to diſguiſe her idolatrous Practices: See Revel. xiv. 8. xvii. 4.

We would have healed Babylon, but ſhe is not healed, &c.] This is ſpoken in the Name of God's Prophets, and the other Witneſſes of his Truth, importing that they had ſufficiently teſtified againſt her Errors and Idolatries, but ſhe was irreclaimable: And therefore it was Time for all the Lovers of Truth to depart out of her, leſt they be involved in her Puniſhments: See Ver. 6.

The Lord hath raiſed up the Spirit of the King of the Medes] Nerigliſſorus King of Babylon having formed an Alliance againſt the Medes, Cambyſes ſent his Son Cyrus with an Army of 30,000 Perſians to join the Medes commanded by Cyaxeres: See Xenophon Cyropæd. L. i. This Cyaxeres King of Media, called Darius the Mede in Scripture, was Cyrus's Uncle; and it was properly his Army that made the Expedition againſt the Babylonians, he employing Cyrus as his General. Perſia was then a ſmall Part of the Empire of Media, and was but of little Account till Cyrus made a Figure in the World: And even then it was called the Kingdom of the Medes and Perſians, the Medes having ſtill the Preference. And in After-times the Greek Hiſtorians ſtile thoſe Wars in which their Country encountered with Xerxes, by the Name of the Median Wars, Τὰ Μηδικὰ, becauſe the Medes were the Founders of that Empire.

Thou art my Battle-axe and Weapons of War, &c.] God ſpeaks here to Cyrus, and tells him, that he will make uſe of him as an Inſtrument of Providence, for deſtroying the whole Power of the Babylonian Empire, and of all Orders and Degrees of Men in it; as he had formerly made that Empire the Executioner of his Judgments upon other Countries: See Ch. l. 23. or elſe the Words may be underſtood of the Church, and imply, that God will deſtroy all thoſe earthly Powers and Kingdoms, which are Adverſaries to God's Truth and People, in order to eſtabliſh and advance his Church. This will be fulfilled at the Fall of Myſtical Babylon, when God's Kingdom ſhall break in Pieces all the Kingdoms of the Earth, in the Deſtruction of that Remnant of the fourth Monarchy, according to Daniel's Prophecy, Ch. ii. 44. Compare Obadiah Ver. 18. Mic. v. 10, &c. Hag. ii. 21, 22, 23. Zech. xii. 3—6.

In your Sight] This Expreſſion confirms the latter Interpretation given in the foregoing Note; the ſame Perſons being ſpoken of here in the Plural Number, which are there mentioned in the Singular, that is, God's Church or faithful Servants. The Enallage, or Change of Numbers, is frequent in Scripture: See Pſ. xii. 7. and indeed of all Writers when they ſpeak of Collective Bodies.

Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying Mountain — that deſtroyeſt the whole Earth] Or, as the Words may be more fitly rendered, O corrupting Mountain, that corrupteſt the whole Earth. Babylon was ſituate in a Plain; ſee Ver. 13. and Gen. xi. 2. but is called a Mountain here, by Reaſon of its lofty Edifices, Walls and Towers: Compare Iſa. xiii. 2. Zech. iv. 7. It is here called the Mountain of Corruption, a Name given by Way of Reproach to the Mount of Olives, after it was defiled by Idolatry, 2 Kings xxiii. 13. by a ſlight changing of the Hebrew Name Har Miſcah, into Har Maſchith. The ſame Appellation is here given to Babylon, becauſe it was the Seat of Idolatry; from whence it was derived into other Countries under its Government and Juriſdiction. Which is remarkably true of myſtical Babylon; ſee Rev. xvii. 5.

I will — roll thee down from the Rocks, and make thee a burnt Mountain] I will diſmantle all thy Walls and Forts, and then deſtroy thee with Fire. Compare Ver. 58, 59. that thou ſhalt appear like a great Mountain covered with Fire and Smoak: Compare Rev. viii. 8. we do not find that ever Babylon was deſtroyed by Fire, but that myſtical Babylon ſhall be ſo deſtroyed, is plain from Rev. xvii. 16. xviii. 8, 9.

Call together the Kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz] Theſe were Countries under the Dominion of the Medes. The two former are probably the ſame with the greater and leſſer Armenia. Cyrus's firſt Expedition in this War, was for reducing the Armenians, who had revolted from the Government of the Medes, who upon this Conqueſt were obliged to ſend their Quota of Auxiliaries, to the carrying on the War againſt the Babylonians. See Xenophon Cyropæd. L. iii. Ararat was noted for reſting of the Ark after the Deluge, which is commonly ſuppoſed to be the ſame with the Gordyean Mountains. Minni is the Country called Mynias, by Nic. Damaſcenus, in Joſephus, L. i. C. 4. and Mylias by Strabo and Pliny: And deſcribed by Damaſcenus as ſituate under the Mountain Baris: That Word ſignifies a Ship in the Perſian Language, and was a Name given to Mount Ararat, from the Ark's reſting there, as Huetius obſerves. By Aſhchenaz, Bochart underſtands Phrygia and Troas, where there were Footſteps of the Name remaining in After-times; Part of that Country being called Aſcania by Homer, and a Lake and a Haven of the ſame Name are mentioned by Pliny and Strabo. And ſince Cyrus had conquered Cræſus, and ſubdued ſeveral Nations from the Ægean Sea to Euphrates, before he marched againſt Babylon, as both Herodotus and Xenophon teſtify, it is very probable that a great Part of his Army might conſiſt of ſuch Troops as followed him out of Aſia. Xenophon informs us, that there were both Phrygians and Cappadocians in his Army.

The mighty Men of Babylon have forborn to fight, they have remained in their Holds, their Might hath failed] The Year before the Siege of Babylon, Cyrus overthrew Belſhazzar in Battle, whereupon his Army retreated within the Walls, where they were ſhut up by him and beſieged. Afterward when Cyrus entered the City, he ordered publick Proclamation to be made, that all Perſons ſhould keep within their Houſes, and whoever was found abroad ſhould be put to Death; and threatened to ſet their Houſes on Fire, if they offered to hurt the Soldiers from the Tops of the Houſes.

One Poſt ſhall run to meet another, &c.] Babylon was taken by Surprize, by an unexpectedly draining the River Euphrates, and entering thro' the Channel into the City, as Herodotus and Xenophon relates. For the carrying on this Stratagem, Cyrus took the Opportunity of a publick Feſtival, when the Night was uſually ſpent in Revellings and all Manner of Diſorders; ders; see Ver. 39. In this Time of Riot, the Gates leading down to the River, that used to be shut every Night, were left open, and gave a Passage to Cyrus and his Army into the City: Which he became Master of, while they thought themselves in the utmost Security, both from the Height and Strength of their Walls, and Depth of the River; Cyrus having as yet made little Progress in the Siege, tho' he had invested the City two Years before. This Surprize caused so many Messengers to run one after the other, to acquaint the King with this unexpected News. The vast Compass of this City has been observed in the Notes upon Ch. l. 16. Herodotus observes, that the extreme Parts of the City were taken before they who liv'd in the Middle of it were sensible of the Danger. Aristotle mentions it as a common Report, that one Part of the City had been taken three Days before the other End knew it; which may probably be understood of this Surprize by Cyrus.

The Reeds they have burnt with Fire] The Word Agammim, translated Reeds, properly signifies Marshes or Lakes: And the Phrase here imports, that the Enemies have burnt up all the Outworks belonging to the marshy Grounds about the River Euphrates.

And I will dry up her Sea, and make her Springs dry] I will exhaust her Multitudes and their Wealth; see Ver. 13. Compare Isa. xix. 5. This was likewise literally fulfilled in Cyrus's draining the River, and thereby gaining an Entrance into the City. All great Waters are called Seas in the Hebrew Language.

How is Sheshak taken!] Some Commentators suppose Babylon to be called here by the Name of Sheshak, because the City was taken at the Time of a Festival, called Sacchæa. See the Note on Ch. xxv. 26.

The Sea is come up upon Babylon, &c.] Multitudes are resembled to Waters; see Ver. 13. of this Chapter; especially an Army is fitly represented by an Inundation which carries all before it: See Isa. viii. 7. Dan. ix. 26. Ps. xviii. 16. cxliv. 7. There is likewise an Opposition elegantly implied in the Words between the Inundation of Cyrus's Army, and the draining the River Euphrates, which was one of the chief Defences of the City. The Words may be taken in a more literal Sense.

And I will bring forth out of his Mouth that which he hath swallowed up] The Heathen ascribed the Honour of all their Successes to their Idols, and upon any great Victory offered the best Part of their Spoils to their Gods, and deposited them in their Temples, as a grateful Acknowledgment that the Success was owing to their Assistance. So Nebuchadnezzar, upon every Victory over the Jews, carried away Part of the Furniture of the Sanctuary, and put it into the Temple of his Idol: See 2 Chron. xxxvi. 7. Dan. i. 3. 2 Kings xxv. 13, &c. The restoring the holy Vessels to their right Owner, and their former Use, is what is here particularly foretold; which was done by Cyrus upon his Proclamation for rebuilding the Temple, Ezra i. 7. Compare Ver. 11, 31. of this Chapter, and Ch. l. 28.

The further Accomplishment of this Prophecy, Dr. Prideaux places in Xerxes's demolishing the Temple of Belus, and plundering it of its vast Wealth; which from Diodorus Siculus's Account of it, he computes to amount to Twenty-one Millions of our Money.

The Words may be explained from the Apocryphal History of Bel and the Dragon, where the Idol is supposed to have been daily fed with the choicest Provisions; which his Priests pretended were devoured by him; Ver. 6, 11, &c. Here the Prophet saith, there shall be no more such Provision made for him, and the Idol itself shall be broken in Pieces, to make him restore, if it were possible, what he has consumed. See Lowth's Com.

A Rumour shall both come one Year, and after that a Rumour shall come another Year] The Prophet gives these Tokens whereby they may know the Time of the Dissolution of that Empire drawing near, viz. That the first Rumour of War denounced against the Head of that Empire, shall be the Year before the Siege, when Cyrus and Nabonnidus (or Belshazzar) shall engage in Battle, and the latter shall be overcome; upon which Defeat the Conqueror should the following Year lay Siege to the City itself. See Archbishop Usher's Annals, ad A. M. 3464.

I will do Justice on the graven Images of Babylon] Dr. Prideaux supposes this Prophecy fulfilled, when Xerxes pillaged and destroyed the Babylonish Temple. Taking this Prophecy in its full Extent, it comprizes the Fall of mystical Babylon, which is represented here and in the parallel Places of Isaiah, and the Revelation, as a decisive Stroke, which should vindicate the Cause of oppressed Truth and Innocence, and put a final Period to Idolatry, and to all the Oppressions of God's People.

The broad Walls of Babylon shall be utterly broken, and her high Gates shall be burnt with Fire] The Walls were 87 Feet in Breadth, according to Herodotus. Ctesias saith, they were so wide, that six Chariots might meet upon them. Their Height was 350 Feet. On each Square of the Walls were 25 Gates of Brass, mentioned Isa. xlv. 2. These were taken away by Darius when he took the City (see the Note on Ch. l. 16.) who likewise brought down the Walls to the Height of fifty Cubits only. Berosus affirms that Cyrus ordered the outward Walls of the City to be pulled down; tho' Herodotus and Xenophon take no Notice of this Circumstance.

And the People shall labour in vain, and the Folks in the Fire, and they shall be weary] If the Chaldeans take never so much Pains to quench the Fire, it shall be to no purpose; see Ver. 64. and all their Efforts to preserve their Empire and City shall be as insignificant as if Men wrought in the Fire, which immediately destroys all the Fruits of their Labour. The Words may be better translated, And the People shall labour for very Thing of Nought, and the Folks shall weary themselves for that which shall be Fuel for the Fire: That is, the Works which have been erected with such incredible Labour and Expence, shall at last fall to Ruin, and be a Prey to the Flames.

Thou shalt bind a Stone to it, and cast it into the River Euphrates, &c.] The Prophets sometimes gave sensible Representations of the Judgments they foretold. See Ch. xix. 10. This was a significant Emblem of Babylon's sinking irrecoverably under the Judgment denounced against her: Compare Rev. xviii. 21. This Threatening was in a literal Sense fulfilled, by Cyrus's breaking down the Head or Dam of the great Lake that was on the West Side of the City, in order to turn the Course of the River that Way: For no Care being afterward taken to repair that Breach, the whole Country about it was overflown and drowned: And that Prophecy of Isaiah, Ch. xiv. 23. of making the Country of Babylon a Possession for the Bittern and Pools of Water, was literally fulfilled.

Thus far are the Words of Jeremiah] This is added to shew, that the next Chapter was added by Ezra or Baruch, or whoever collected this Prophecy into one Volume.

CHAP. LII.

Zedekiah rebels. Jerusalem is besieged and taken. Zedekiah's Eyes are put out, and his Sons killed. Nebuzaradan burns and spoils the City, and carries away the Inhabitants captive. Evil-merodach advances Jehoiakin.

Ver. 1. ZEdekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and his mothers name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiakim had done. 3 For through the anger of the Lord it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, till he had cast them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon. 4 And it came to paſs in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about. 5 So the city was beſieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah. 6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was ſore in the city, ſo that there was no bread for the people of the land. 7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the kings garden, (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the plain. 8 But the army of the Chaldeans purſued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and all his army was ſcattered from him. 9 Then they took the king, and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgment upon him. 10 And the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he ſlew alſo all the princes of Judah in Riblah. 11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babylon bound him in chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in priſon till the day of his death. 12 Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon) came Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard, which ſerved the king of Babylon, into Jeruſalem, 13 And burnt the houſe of the Lord, and the kings houſe; and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and all the houſes of the great men burnt he with fire. 14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the captain of the guard, brake down all the walls of Jeruſalem round about. 15 Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the reſidue of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to the king of Babylon, and the reſt of the multitude. 16 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, left certain of the poor of the land for vine-dreſſers, and for huſbandmen. 17 Alſo the pillars of braſs that were in the houſe of the Lord, and the baſes, and the braſen ſea that was in the houſe of the Lord, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the braſs of them to Babylon. 18 The caldrons alſo, and the ſhovels, and the ſnuffers, and the bowls, and the ſpoons, and all the veſſels of braſs wherewith they miniſtred, took they away. 19 And the baſons, and the fire-pans, and the bowls, and the caldrons, and the candleſticks, and the ſpoons, and the cups; that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of ſilver in ſilver, took the captain of the guard away. 20 The two pillars, one ſea, and twelve braſen bulls that were under the baſes, which king Solomon had made in the houſe of the Lord: the braſs of all theſe veſſels was without weight. 21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a fillet of twelve cubits did compaſs it, and the thickneſs thereof was four fingers: it was hollow. 22 And a chapiter of braſs was upon it, and the height of one chapiter was five cubits, with net-work and pomegranates upon the chapiters round about, all of braſs: the ſecond pillar alſo and the pomegranates were like unto theſe. 23 And there were ninety and ſix pomegranates on a ſide, and all the pomegranates upon the net-work were an hundred round about. 24 And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief prieſt, and Zephaniah the ſecond prieſt, and the three keepers of the door. 25 He took alſo out of the city an eunuch, which had the charge of the men of war, and ſeven men of them that were near the kings perſon which were found in the city, and the principal ſcribe of the hoſt, who muſtered the people of the land, and threeſcore men of the people of the land that were found in the midſt of the city. 26 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah. 27 And the king of Babylon ſmote them, and put them to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land. 28 This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried away captive; in the ſeventh year, three thouſand Jews and three and twenty: 29 In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar he carried away captive from Jeruſalem eight hundred thirty and two perſons: 30 In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews ſeven hundred forty and five perſons: all the perſons were four thouſand and ſix hundred. 31 And it came to paſs in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the firſt year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of priſon, 32 And ſpake kindly unto him, and ſet his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon, 33 And changed his priſon garments: and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life. 34 And for his diet, there was a continual diet given him of the king of Babylon, every day a portion until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

Grotius judiciouſly obſerves that this Chapter could not be added by Jeremiah, becauſe a great Part of it was a Repetition of what he himſelf had related in the 39th and 40th Chapter of his Prophecy. Therefore it is much more probable, that this Chapter was added by Ezra, who is commonly ſuppoſed to have collected the Holy Writings into one Body after the Captivity. Who deſigned this brief Hiſtory of the Deſolations of the Jewiſh Nation, as an Introduction to the Book of Lamentations that follows, and was antiently joined to the Prophecy of Jeremiah, as appears from St. Jerom's Epiſtle to Paulinus.

This Chapter is chiefly taken out of the latter Part of the ſecond Book of Kings, with ſome few Additions, which Ezra might ſupply out of the publick Records, from whence the Books of Kings are compiled: Which Books were written, either in, or after the Captivity, as may be collected from the Chaldee Names, which are given to the Months in thoſe Books, which were never uſed by the Jews till after the Captivity.

The firſt three Verſes are the ſame Word for Word with 2 Kings xxiv. 18, 19, 20.

And burnt the Houſe of the Lord] After it had ſtood, ſaith Joſephus, 470 Years, Archbiſhop Uſher eckons it 424 Years, from the laying the laſt Foundation by Solomon.

And there were ninety-ſix Pomegranates on a Side, and all the Pomegranates were an hundred round about] That is, there were four and twenty on each Side or Quarter, and one in each Angle: Compare 2 Chron. iii. 16. We read 1 Kings vii. 20. that there were two hundred Pomegranates to each Chapiter, and the Text in 2 Chron. iv. 13. agrees with that Account: Which Texts are reconciled, by ſuppoſing that there were two Rows of Pomegranates one above another, and each Row conſiſted of an hundred, and the Words in 1 Kings vii. 20. intimate as much. Dr. Lightfoot underſtands the Words in Jeremiah in this Senſe. When the Pillars were ſet to the Wall, only ninety-ſix Pomegranates could be ſeen, the other four being laid behind the Pillar, as it ſtood up cloſe to the Wall: So he tranſlates the former Part of the Verſe thus: And there were ninety-ſix Pomegranates on the open Sides, or, towards the open Air: Which Senſe he conceives the Word Ruchab to import.

This is the People whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive] Archbiſhop Uſher, in his Chronology ſuppoſes, that this and the two following Verſes, give an Account of the leſſer Captivities which the Jews ſuffered under Nebuchadnezzar; whereas there were three others, in which many more Perſons were carried away, viz. in the firſt Year of his Reign, Dan. i. 3. in the eighth Year mentioned 2 Kings xxiv. 12. and in the nineteenth, when the City was deſtroyed, an entire Riddance was made of the Inhabitants which were left after the former Captivities.

In the ſeventh Year, three thouſand Jews and three and twenty] Upon Jehoiakim's rebelling againſt Nebuchadnezzar, he ordered the Governors of the neighbouring Provinces to make War upon him, who invaded his Kingdom from every Quarter. The Ammonites, Moabites, and other Subjects to the Babyloniſh Empire, infeſting Judea with frequent Incurſions: See 2 Kings xxiv. 2, 3. and in the laſt Year of Jehoiakim's Reign, which is co-incident with the ſeventh Year of Nebuchadnezzar: See Jer. xxv. 1. the Captivity here mentioned happened.

In the eighteenth Year of Nebuchadnezzar, &c.] This was when Nebuchadnezzar raiſed the Siege of Jeruſalem, to march againſt the King of Egypt, who came with a great Army to the Relief of the Place: Se Ch. xxxvii. 5. At which Time he ſent all the Captiv Jews who were in his Camp to Babylon. See Archbi ſhop Uſher's Chronology.

In the three and twentieth Year of Nebuchadnezzar &c.] When Nebuchadnezzar had laid Siege to Tyre which was in the Borders of Judea, Nebuzaradan made this Expedition into the Country, and carrie with him the Captives here mentioned; who ſeem t be no others than the poor People that he himſelf ha left to manure the Ground, Ver. 1. And this he pro bably did by way of Revenge for the Murder of Ge daliah.

In the ſeven and thirtieth Year of the Reign of Jehoia chin, &c.] This Note of Time confirms the Obſer vation already made upon Ch. xxv. 1. viz. that th Scripture Computation of the Beginning of Nebuchad nezzar's Reign anticipates that of Ptolemy's Canon b two Years, which two Years he reigned with his F ther. For if we add the thirty-ſeven Years of h Reign here mentioned, to the eight Years which pre ceded Jehoiakim's Captivity (ſee 2 Kings xxiv. 12.) th Sum will amount to five and forty Years: Whereas according to the common Account, he reigned b three and forty.

In the five and twentieth Day of the Month] It the twenty-ſeventh Day in 2 Kings xxv. 27. This Ad vancement might be reſolved upon the 25th Day, b not brought to paſs till the 27th.

Evil-Merodach] His Name was Merodach, a Nam common among the Kings of Babylon: See Iſa. xxxi 1. But he had this Mark of Diſtinction given him b way of Reproach; for the Word implies as much fooliſh Merodach, becauſe he was a profligate and vicio Prince.

Lifted up the Head of Jehoiachin, and brought him o of Priſon] St. Jerom in his Commentaries upon Iſ xiv. reports from an antient Tradition of the Jews, th Evil-Merodach having had the Government of the B byloniſh Empire during his Father's Diſtraction, uſ his Power ſo ill, that as ſoon as the old King came himſelf, he put him in Priſon for it, where he con tracted a particular Acquaintance with Jehoiachin wh was his Fellow-Priſoner, and that this was the Cauſe the great Kindneſs which he expreſſed towards him.

The ARGUMENT.

In our Obſervations on the fifty-ſecond Chapter of Jeremiah, it was remarked, that that Chapter was added at the End of his Prophecy, as a Prologue or Introduction to his Book of Lamentations: Which was originally joined to the former, but is now divided from it in the modern Jews Copies, which place this Book among other ſmall Tracts, ſuch as the Canticles, Ruth, &c. at the End of the Pentateuch. This is a plain Proof, that the Order of the Books of the Old Teſtament, in which the Jewiſh Copies at preſent place them, is but of later Date, and differs from that Order in which Ezra placed the Holy Writings, when he collected them into one Body. In which Collection, Daniel had a Place among the Prophets: Tho' the Jews, ſince the Time of Chriſt, have thruſt him down among the Hagiographa, contrary to the Character their Forefathers gave of him, as appears from Joſephus, who calls him a Prophet, nay one of the greateſt of the Prophets, Antiq. L. x. C. 12. in Agreement with which Opinion our Saviour gives him the ſame Title, Matt. xxiv. 15.

Inſtead of that antient Preface to the Lamentations the Greek and Latin Copies have a ſhort Introduction, briefly ſetting forth the Subject of the Book, which may be thus tranſlated: It came to paſs, that after Iſrael was carried Captive, and Jeruſalem deſolate, the Prophet Jeremiah ſat weeping, and bewailed Jeruſalem with this Lamentation, and bitterly weeping and mourning, ſaid as follows. This Argument was occaſioned, as Huetius probably conjectures, by removing the fifty-ſecond Chapter from the Place where it firſt ſtood, and placing it as a Concluſion to the Prophecy of Jeremiah.

Archbiſhop Uſher, in his Annals, ad A. M. 3394, and ſome other learned Men, following the Opinion of Joſephus, and St. Jerom, have ſuppoſed the Lamentations to have been written on Occaſion of Joſiah's Death: See Lam. iv. 20. which was an Introduction to the fatal Cataſtrophe of their Church and Nation. But whoever carefully reads this pathetical Deſcription of the Miſeries of Judah and Jeruſalem, may be eaſily convinced, that this is not ſo much a Prediction of Evils to come, as a lively Repreſentation of a preſent Calamity.

In which Kind of Writing the Prophet Jeremiah was a great Maſter, according to the Character Grotius gives of him, Mirus in affectibus concitandis Jeremias: That he had a wonderful Talent in exciting the Paſſions.

CHAP. I.

The Prophet's mournful Complaint of the various Miſeries of Jeruſalem.

Ver. 1. HOW doth the city ſit ſolitary, that was full of people? how is ſhe become as a widow? ſhe that was great among the nations, and princeſs among the provinces, how is ſhe become tributary? 2 She weepeth ſore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks: among all her lovers ſhe hath none to comfort her, all her friends have dealt treacherouſly with her, they are become her enemies. 3 Judah is gone into captivity, becauſe of affliction, and becauſe of great ſervitude: ſhe dwelleth among the heathen, ſhe findeth no reſt: all her perſecutors overtook her between the ſtraits. 4 The ways of Zion do mourn, becauſe none come to the ſolemn feaſts: all her gates are deſolate: her prieſts ſigh, her virgins are afflicted, and ſhe is in bitterneſs. 5 Her adverſaries are the chief, her enemies proſper: for the Lord hath afflicted her; for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions, her children are gone into captivity before the enemy. 6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become like harts that find no paſture, and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer. 7 Jeruſalem remembred in the days of her affliction, and of her miſeries, all her pleaſant things that ſhe had in the days of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her, the adverſaries ſaw her, and did mock at her ſabbaths. 8 Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinned: therefore ſhe is removed: all that honoured her, deſpiſe her, becauſe they have ſeen her nakedneſs: yea, ſhe ſigheth, and turneth backward. 9 Her filthineſs is in her ſkirts, ſhe remembreth not her laſt end, therefore ſhe came down wonderfully:

ſhe had no comforter: O Lord, behold my affliction; for the enemy hath magnified himſelf. 10 The adverſary hath ſpread out his hand upon all her pleaſant things: for ſhe hath ſeen that the heathen entred into her ſanctuary, whom thou didſt command that they ſhould not enter into thy congregation. 11 All her people ſigh, they ſeek bread, they have given their pleaſant things for meat to relieve the ſoul: ſee, O Lord, and conſider, for I am become vile. 12 Is it nothing to you, all ye that paſs by? behold and ſee, if there be any ſorrow like unto my ſorrow, which is done unto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger. 13 From above hath he ſent fire into my bones, and it prevaileth againſt them: he hath ſpread a net for my feet, he hath turned me back: he hath made me deſolate, and faint all the day. 14 The yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound by his hand: they are wreathed, and come up upon my neck: he hath made my ſtrength to fall, the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, from whom I am not able to riſe up. 15 The Lord hath troden under foot all my mighty men in the midſt of me: he hath called an aſſembly againſt me, to cruſh my young men: the Lord hath troden the virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a wine preſs. 16 For theſe things I weep, mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water, becauſe the comforter that ſhould relieve my ſoul, is far from me: my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemy prevailed. 17 Zion ſpreadeth forth her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath commanded concerning Jacob: that his adverſaries ſhould be round about him: Jeruſalem is as a menſtruous woman among them. 18 The Lord is righteous, for I have rebelled againſt his commandment: hear, I pray you, all people, and behold my ſorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity. 19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my prieſts, and mine elders gave up the ghoſt in the city, while they ſought their meat to relieve their ſouls. 20 Behold, O Lord, for I am in diſtreſs; my bowels are troubled: mine heart is turned within me, for I have grievouſly rebelled: abroad the ſword bereaveth, at home there is as death. 21 They have heard that I ſigh, there is none to comfort me; all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, they are glad that thou haſt done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou haſt called, and they ſhall be like unto me. 22 Let all their wickedneſs come before thee: and do unto them, as thou haſt done unto me for all my tranſgreſſions: for my ſighs are many, and my heart is faint.

How doth the City ſit ſolitary that was full of People! How is ſhe become a Widow!] Cities are commonly deſcribed as the Mothers of their Inhabitants, and their Kings and Princes as their Huſhands. So when they were bereaved of theſe, they are ſaid to be Widows and Childleſs: Compare Iſa. ii. 26. xlvii. 8. Jeruſalem under theſe Circumſtances is deſcribed as ſitting alone (the Multitude of her Inhabitants being diſperſed and deſtroyed) and in a penſive Condition. Compare Ch. iii. 28.

Among all her Lovers ſhe hath none to comfort her, &c.] All her Allies, whoſe Friendſhip ſhe courted by ſinful Compliances (See Jer. iv. 30. xxii. 20,—22) have forſaken her in her Affliction, and join with h Enemies in inſulting over her.

All her Perſecutors overtook her between the Streight &c.] A Metaphor from thoſe that hunt a Pre which they commonly drive into ſome ſtreight a narrow Paſſage, from whence there is no making a Eſcape.

Her Adverſaries are the chief] They have got th Advantage over her, and ſhe is become their Vaſſal And thus the Judgment that Moſes threatened th Jews upon their Diſobedience is fulfilled, Deut. xxvi 43, 44. That their Enemies ſhould be their Head, a they ſhould be the Tail.

Her Adverſaries ſaw her, and did mock at her Sa baths] The Heathen Writers commonly ridicule th Jewiſh Sabbaths, as a Mark of their Sloth and Idl neſs; without conſidering the excellent Uſes that Da was deſigned for, viz. to give Men Leiſure to atten upon the Service of God, and learn the Duties of R ligion.

Her Filthineſs is in her Skirts] She carries t Marks of her Sins in the Greatneſs of her Puniſhment The Phraſe alludes to a Woman in the State of her S paration: See Ver. 17.

The Yoke of my Tranſgreſſion is bound by his Han &c.] He has laid upon me the Burden of mine In quities, and inflicted ſuch heavy Puniſhments on m that I muſt ſink under them. The Septuagint and th Vulgar Latin, with very little Variation, read, A watcheth over my Tranſgreſſions. To the ſame Sen Daniel ſaith, the Lord hath watched over the Evil, Da ix. 14. and Job xiv. 16. Thou watcheſt over my Si that is, Thou diligently markeſt every Sin I commi that thou mayeſt in due Time requite it with a pr per Puniſhment.

Abroad the Sword bereaveth, at Home there is Deat Compare Deut. xxxii. 25. The latter Part of the Se tence may better be render'd, At Home there is certa Death; for the Particle of Similitude doth ſometim ſtrongly affirm, as Commentators have obſerved upo thoſe Words of St. John, Ch. i. 14. We beheld h Glory, the Glory as of the only begotten of the Fathe Such a Glory as could belong to none but the Son God.

Ver. 1. HOW hath the Lord covered th daughter of Zion with a cloud i his anger, and caſt down from heaven unt the earth, the beauty of Iſrael, and remembre not his footſtool in the day of his anger! 2 Th Lord hath ſwallowed up all the habitations Jacob, and hath not pitied: he hath throw down in his wrath the ſtrong holds of th daughter of Judah: he hath brought them dow to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdo and the princes thereof. 3 He hath cut off his fierce anger all the horn of Iſrael: he ha drawn back his right hand from before th enemy, and he burned againſt Jacob like a flamin fire which devoureth round about. 4 He ha bent his bow like an enemy: he ſtood with h right hand as an adverſary, and ſlew all th were pleaſant to the eye, in the tabernacle of th daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury lik fire. 5 The Lord was as an enemy: he ha ſwallowed up Iſrael, he hath ſwallowed up her palaces, he hath deſtroyed his ſtrong hold and hath increaſed in the daughter of Juda mourning and lamentation. 6 And he ha violently taken away his tabernacle, as if were of a garden, he hath deſtroyed his pla of the aſſembly: the Lord hath cauſed the lemn feasts and sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his anger the king and the priest. 7 The Lord hath cast off his altar: he hath abhorred his sanctuary: he hath given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they have made a noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of a solemn feast. 8 The Lord hath purposed to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion; he hath stretched out a line, he hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament; they languished together. 9 Her gates are sunk into the ground; he hath destroyed and broken her bars; her king and her princes are among the Gentiles; the law is no more, her prophets also find no vision from the Lord. 10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground and keep silence: they have cast up dust upon their heads; they have girded themselves with sackcloth; the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground. 11 Mine eyes do fail with tears; my bowels are troubled; my liver is poured upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and the sucklings swoon in the streets of the city. 12 They say to their mothers, Where is corn and wine? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the city, when their soul was poured out into their mothers bosom. 13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee? what thing shall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jerusalem? what shall I equal to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea; who can heal thee? 14 Thy prophets have seen vain and foolish things for thee, and they have not discovered thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity; but have seen for thee false burdens, and causes of banishment. 15 All that pass by, clap their hands at thee; they hiss and wag their head at the daughter of Jerusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call the perfection of beauty, the joy of the whole earth? 16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth against thee: they hiss and gnash their teeth: they say, We have swallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we have found, we have seen it. 17 The Lord hath done that which he hath devised: he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the days of old: he hath thrown down, and hath not pitied: and he hath caused thine enemy to rejoice over thee, he hath set up the horn of thine adversaries. 18 Their heart cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter of Zion, let tears run down like a river day and night: give thyself no rest, let not the apple of thine eyes cease. 19 Arise, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thy hands towards him, for the life of the young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every street. 20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done this: shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a span long? shall the priest and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord? 21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets, my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slain them in the day of thy anger, thou hast killed and not pitied. 22 Thou hast called as in a solemn day my terrors round about, so that in the day of the Lords anger none escaped nor remained: those that I have swaddled and brought up, hath mine enemy consumed.

He hath violently taken away his Tabernacle, as if it were of a Garden, &c.] He hath destroyed the Temple, the Place of his Residence, and of our religious Assemblies, as if it had been no better than a Tabernacle or Cottage, set up in a Garden or Vineyard, just while the Fruit is gathering, and then to be taken down again: Compare Isa. i. 8. The Margin reads, He hath taken away his Hedge of a Garden, that is, he hath withdrawn his Protection, and left us exposed to the Fury of our Enemies: Compare Isa. v. 5.

They have made a Noise in the House of the Lord, as in the Day of a solemn Feast] Instead of the joyful Sound of Praises and Thanksgivings to God, such as used to be solemnly performed in the Temple at the publick Festivals; there was nothing to be heard there, but the Noise of Soldiers, and Rudeness of Infidels profaning that sacred Place, and insulting over the God that was worshipped there: Compare Ps. lxxiv. 4.

He hath stretched out a Line] The Instruments designed for building, are in some Places applied to destroying, because sometimes Men mark out those Buildings they intend to pull down: So 2 Kings xxi. 13. God saith, I will stretch over Jerusalem the Line of Samaria; and the Line of Confusion is mentioned Isa. xxxiv. 11. See likewise Am. vii. 7, 8.

The Prophets also find no Vision from the Lord] The Prophets are either dead, or those that are alive in Captivity, as Ezekiel, Daniel, and Jeremiah himself; they are not favoured with divine Revelations as they used to be, and so can't resolve the Doubts of those that come to them for Advice. Compare Ezek. vii. 26.

My Liver is poured out upon the Earth] My Vitals seem to be dissolved, and have lost all their Strength. Compare Job xvi. 13. Ps. xx. 14.

What Thing shall I take to witness for me?] What Instance can I bring of any Calamity like thine, that such an Example may be some Mitigation of thy Complaint?

He hath fulfilled his Word which he commanded in the Days of old] He hath fulfilled those Threatnings which he denounced against our Disobedience to the Law of Moses: See Levit. xxvi. 31, &c. Deut. xxvii. 25, 26, 49, &c. The Word Command is sometimes used for any Part of the Covenant which God engaged himself to perform. See Ps. cv. 8. cxi. 9.

Their Heart cried unto the Lord, O Wall of the Daughter of Sion, &c.] As the Wall and Rampart are said to lament, Ver. 8. because their Ruins are Objects of Lamentation; so here devout Persons, upon the Destruction of the City, direct their Prayers to God, as if the Ruins themselves did entreat him to take Compassion on the Miseries of that Place, which he had chosen for his peculiar Residence. See the like Prosopopœia, Hab. ii. 11. To this Purpose the vulgar Latin expresses the Sense, Clamavit cor meum super muros filiæ Sion: My Heart cried unto the Lord concerning the Walls of the Daughter of Sion.

Shall Women eat their Fruit, and Children of a Span long?] The Margin reads, Swadled with their Hands: In which Sense the Word is used Ver. 22. We find by comparing this Verse with Ch. iv. 10. that God brought upon them that terrible Judgment, which he had denounced against them, if they continued to provoke him, viz. That they should eat the Flesh of their own Sons and Daughters, Levit. xxvi. 29. Deut. xxviii. 53. Jer. xiv. 13.

CHAP. III.

Penitential Meditations upon the Prophet's own Calamities, as well as those of the Publick.

Ver. 1. I Am the man that hath ſeen affliction by the rod of his wrath. 2 He hath led me and brought me into darkneſs, but not into light. 3 Surely againſt me is he turned, he turneth his hand againſt me all the day. 4 My fleſh and my ſkin hath he made old, he hath broken my bones. 5 He hath builded againſt me, and compaſſed me with gall and travel. 6 He hath ſet me in dark places, as they that be dead of old. 7 He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chain heavy. 8 Alſo when I cry and ſhout, he ſhutteth out my prayer. 9 He hath incloſed my ways with hewen ſtone: he hath made my paths crooked. 10 He was unto me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in ſecret places. 11 He hath turned aſide my ways, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me deſolate. 12 He hath bent his bow, and ſet me as a mark for the arrow. 13 He hath cauſed the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins. 14 I was a deriſion to all my people, and their ſong all the day. 15 He hath filled me with bitterneſs, he hath made me drunken with wormwood. 16 He hath alſo broken my teeth with gravel ſtones, he hath covered me with aſhes. 17 And thou haſt removed my ſoul far off from peace: I forgat proſperity. 18 And I ſaid, My ſtrength and my hope is periſhed from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction and my miſery, the wormwood and the gall. 20 My ſoul hath them ſtill in remembrance, and is humbled in me. 21 This I recall to my mind, therefore have I hope. 22 It is of the Lords mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions fail not. 23 They are new every morning: great is thy faithfulneſs. 24 The Lord is my portion, ſaith my ſoul, therefore will I hope in him. 25 The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the ſoul that ſeeketh him. 26 It is good that a man ſhould both hope and quietly wait for the ſalvation of the Lord. 27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth. 28 He ſitteth alone and keepeth ſilence, becauſe he hath borne it upon him. 29 He putteth his mouth in the duſt, if ſo be there may be hope. 30 He giveth his cheek to him that ſmiteth him, he is filled full with reproach. 31 For the Lord will not caſt off for ever. 32 But though he cauſe grief, yet will he have compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies. 33 For he doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men. 34 To cruſh under his feet all the priſoners of the earth, 35 To turn aſide the right of a man before the face of the moſt High, 36 To ſubvert a man in his cauſe, the Lord approveth not. 37 Who is he that ſaith, and it cometh to paſs, when the Lord commandeth it not? 38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not evil and good? 39 Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the puniſhment of his ſins? 40 Let us ſearch and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. 41 Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens. 42 We have tranſgreſſed and have rebelled, thou haſt not pardoned. 43 Thou haſt covered with anger and perſecuted us: thou haſt ſlain, thou haſt not pitied. 44 Thou haſt covered thyſelf with a cloud, that our prayer ſhall not paſs through. 45 Thou haſt made us as the offſcouring and refuſe in the midſt of the people. 46 All our enemies have opened their mouths againſt us. 47 Fear and a ſnare is come upon us, deſolation and deſtruction. 48 Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people. 49 Mine eye trickleth down, and ceaſeth not, without any intermiſſion: 50 Till the Lord look down, and behold from heaven. 51 Mine eye affecteth mine heart, becauſe of all the daughters of my city. 52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a bird without cauſe. 53 They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone upon me. 54 Waters flowed over mine head, then I ſaid, I am cut off. 55 I called upon thy name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon. 56 Thou haſt heard my voice, hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry. 57 Thou dreweſt near in the day that I called upon thee: thou ſaidſt, Fear not. 58 O Lord, thou haſt pleaded the cauſes of my ſoul, thou haſt redeemed my life. 59 O Lord, thou haſt ſeen my wrong, judge thou my cauſe. 60 Thou haſt ſeen all their vengeance, and all their imaginations againſt me. 61 Thou haſt heard their reproach, O Lord, and all their imaginations againſt me; 62 The lips of thoſe that roſe up againſt me, and their device againſt me all the day. 63 Behold their ſitting down, and their riſing up, I am their muſick. 64 Render unto them a recompenſe, O Lord, according to the work of their hands, 65 Give them ſorrow of heart, thy curſe unto them. 66 Perſecute and deſtroy them in anger, from under the heavens of the Lord.

This Chapter is writ in a different Manner from the two former, and that which follows, as St. Jerom has obſerved in his Preface to the Lamentations: And whereas in thoſe the firſt Letter of every Verſe follows the Order of the Alphabet, here the ſame initial Letter is continued for three Verſes together.

The Arrows of his Quiver] Called here in the Hebrew, the Sons of his Quiver, by an elegant Metaphor, as they are called the Sons of the Bow, Job xli. 28. the ſame Metaphor, Sparks are called the Sons of Coal, Job v. 7.

I was a Deriſion of all my People] This may be underſtood of Jeremiah himſelf: See Jer. xx. 7. Some Criticks ſuppoſe the Word Ammi, rendered People, to ſtand for Ammim, the People, as the Word is uſed in ſome Places: See Mic. vi. 26. 2 Sam. xxii. 44. compared with Pſ. xviii. 44. and then this Sentence is to be underſtood of the Jewiſh Nation, and imports that their Miſeries expoſed them to the Scorn and Reproach of all the neighbouring Countries: See Chap. ii. 15.

He hath broken my Teeth with gravel Stones, he hath covered me with Aſhes] In this and the foregoing Verſe, the Prophet aggravates the Calamities of his People, by ſuch Expreſſions as imply, That inſtead of any Support or Comfort, they find nothing but Miſeries and Afflictions. The Septuagint render the latter Part of the Verſe, He hath fed me with Aſhes, i. e. we fare as hard as thoſe who feed upon Bread baked in Aſhes, whoſe Teeth are in Danger of being broke with Grits and Stones: Compare Pſ. cii. 9. Job vi. 7.

It is good for a Man that he bear the Yoke in his Youth] It is good to be inured betimes, to bear thoſe uſeful Reſtraints which ariſe from a Senſe of that Duty we owe to God, and the Obedience we ought to pay to his Laws.

To cruſh under his Feet all the Priſoners of the Earth — the Lord approveth not] As God takes no Pleaſure in oppreſſing the Poor and Helpleſs, ſo neither will he suffer any Men to escape unpunished, that are guilty of such Acts of Injustice and Cruelty, who never consider that all the Wrongs they do are committed in the Sight of the Supreme Judge of the World; and tho' at present he thinks fit to prosper such Oppressors, the Chaldeans in particular, yet in due Time he will call them to a severe Account for their Wickedness.

Who is he that saith, and it comes to pass, when the Lord commandeth it not?] The King of Babylon, and such haughty Tyrants, may boast of their Power, as if it were equal to Omnipotence itself: But still 'tis God's Prerogative to bring to pass whatever he pleases, without any Let or Impediment, only by speaking or declaring his Purpose that the Thing should be done, as he did at the Beginning of the Creation: See Ps. xxxiii. 7. and ever since nothing is brought to pass, but according to his determinate Counsel and Foreknowledge: Who as he makes Man the Instrument of his Vengeance, so he can restrain their Cruelty whenever he thinks fit.

Wherefore doth a Man complain, a living Man for the Punishment of his Sins?] If we consider God's Afflictions as a just Reward of our evil Deeds, this will prevent all Murmuring or Repining against Providence; especially as long as Men are on this Side the Grave, they ought to be thankful for having an Opportunity given them for Repentance.

They have cut off my Life in the Dungeon, and cast a Stone upon me] I was not only sequestered from all human Society like a dead Man, see Ver. 6. but in apparent Danger of losing my Life in the Dungeon: See Jer. xxxvii. 24. xxxviii. 9, 10. And their laying a Stone upon the Entrance of that dark Cavern, resembled the burying me alive: Compare Dan. vi. 17. Matt. xxvii. 60.

CHAP. IV.

The Prophet treats of the same Subject as in the two first Chapters, and uses the same Metre.

Ver. 1. HOW is the gold become dim? how is the most fine gold changed! the stones of the sanctuary are poured out in the top of every street. 2 The precious sons of Zion, comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter! 3 Even the sea-monsters draw out the breast, they give suck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel, like the ostriches in the wilderness. 4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirst: the young children ask bread, and no man breaketh it unto them. 5 They that did feed delicately, are desolate in the streets: they that were brought up in scarlet, embrace dunghills. 6 For the punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people, is greater than the punishment of the sin of Sodom, that was overthrown as in a moment, and no hands stayed on her. 7 Her Nazarites were purer than snow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than rubies, their polishing was of sapphire. 8 Their visage is blacker than a coal: they are not known in the streets; their skin cleaveth to their bones: it is withered, it is become like a stick. 9 They that be slain with the sword, are better than they that be slain with hunger: for these pine away, stricken through for want of the fruits of the field. 10 The hands of the pitiful women have sodden their own children, they were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people. 11 The Lord hath accomplished his fury, he hath poured out his fierce anger, and hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof. 12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed, that the adversary and the enemy should have entred into the gates of Jerusalem. 13 For the sins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that have shed the blood of the just in the midst of her; 14 They have wandred as blind men in the streets, they have polluted themselves with blood, so that men could not touch their garments. 15 They cried unto them, Depart ye, it is unclean, depart, depart, touch not, when they fled away and wandred: they said among the heathen, They shall no more sojourn there. 16 The anger of the Lord hath divided them, he will no more regard them: they respected not the persons of the priests, they favoured not the elders. 17 As for us, our eyes as yet failed for our vain help: in our watching we have watched for a nation that could not save us. 18 They hunt our steps that we cannot go in our streets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled, for our end is come. 19 Our persecutors are swifter than the eagles of the heaven: they pursued us upon the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderness. 20 The breath of our nostrils, the anointed of the Lord was taken in their pits, of whom we said, Under his shadow we shall live among the heathen. 21 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwellest in the land of Uz; the cup also shall pass through unto thee: thou shalt be drunken, and shalt make thyself naked. 22 The punishment of thine iniquity is accomplished, O daughter of Zion, he will no more carry thee away into captivity: he will visit thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom, he will discover thy sins.

How is the Gold become dim, &c.] How is the Glory of the Temple obscured! The Sanctuary which was overlaid with Gold (see 2 Chron. iii. 8.) now lies in Ruins; and the Stones of it are not distinguished from common Rubbish! In like Manner the Priests and Levites who attended upon God's Service, and the Elders of the People, the Members of the great Sanhedrim, who kept their Court within the Precincts of the Temple, see Jer. xxxv. 4. These Persons that might be resembled to the Pillars or Corner Stones of that sacred Building, are now involved in that common Destruction with the meanest of the People: See Ver. 16. and Ch. ii. 20.

Even the Sea-monsters draw out the Breasts, &c.] Dr. Pocock translates the Word Tannin, Jackals, Sea-monsters having no Breasts. See Mic. i. 8. The Word Tannin, says Lowth, signifies any great Fish, as a Whale or a Crocodile: See Isa. xxvii. and is here very fitly rendered Sea-monsters. These, says the Prophet, are not so unnatural as to neglect the Care of their young ones: Whereas the Women of Jerusalem have been reduced to that miserable Necessity, as not only to disregard their Children, not having wherewithal to provide for themselves, but likewise to feed upon them, Ver. 4, 10.

They were more ruddy in Body than Rubies] Or, Their Skin was clearer than Rubies, or Pearls, as Bochart translates the Words. The Word Adam, signifies clear, or transparent, and is so to be understood, Cant. v. 10. where our Translation renders it ruddy, as it does here. Thus the Latin Word purpureus is used by Virgil, when he saith, Lumenque juventæ purpureum. Ludolphus renders the Words, They were more beautiful than Pearls; from the Sense which the Word Adam still retains in the Ethiopick Language, where it signifies fies beautiful: From which Signification he ſuppoſes that the firſt Man had the Name of Adam.

They have wandered as blind Men in the Streets, they have polluted themſelves with Blood] When they fled for their Lives, they were like blind Men, not knowing which way to go, becauſe of the many Carcaſes which lay in the Way: Whereby they became ſtained with Blood, and ſo legally polluted: See Numb. xix. 16. They carried the Marks of their Sin in their Puniſhment.

They cried, Depart, depart, it is unclean, [or ye are polluted] depart, &c.] When they fled to ſave their Lives, they could find no ſafe Retreat, but every Body ſhunned and avoided them: And uſed the ſame Words to expreſs their Abhorrence of this Defilement of ſuch Perſons, whoſe Office it was to cleanſe and purify others, as the Lepers were obliged by the Law to cleanſe and purify themſelves, and cry Unclean, unclean, Levit. xiii. 45. The filthy Garments of the Prieſts were an Emblem of their filthy Minds. See Zech. iii. 4, 5. and called to Mind the innocent Blood which had been ſhed by their Means; ſee Ver. 13. when People ſaw their Sins thus retaliated upon them.

The Breath of our Noſtrils, the anointed of the Lord, was taken in our Pits, &c.] This Verſe ſome Expoſitors underſtand of King Joſiah, and thereupon ground their Opinion, that the Lamentations were written upon the Occaſion of his Death. But I rather conceive, ſays Lowth, that Zedekiah is here meant, of whom the Prophet ſaith, that he was taken in thoſe Toils his Enemies had laid to catch him: See Jer. lii. As long as he was ſafe, we had Hopes of preſerving ſome Face of Government, altho' we were carried into a foreign Country.

And ſhall make thyſelf naked] God's aſtoniſhing Judgments, often compared to Drunkenneſs, ſhall have the uſual Effect of Drunkenneſs upon thee, viz. That thy Nakedneſs ſhall be thereby diſcovered. The Word may be tranſlated, Thou ſhalt be naked: For the Conjunction Hith-pael, is ſometimes taken in a paſſive Senſe; as Glaſſius hath obſerved in his Philologia Sacra, P. 840. Some render the Word, And ſhall empty thyſelf [by Vomiting.] To this Effect of Drunkenneſs God's Judgments are compared, Hab. ii. 16. Iſa. xix. 14. eſpecially as that reſembles Men's diſgorging their Wealth and Treaſures when an Enemy overpowers them, and leaves them empty and exhauſted.

CHAP. V.

A pathetical Complaint to God of the miſerable Condition of the Jews, with reſpect both to their temporal and ſpiritual State.

Ver. 1. REmember, O Lord, what is come upon us: conſider and behold our reproach. 2 Our inheritance is turned to ſtrangers, our houſes to aliens. 3 We are orphans and fatherleſs, our mothers are as widows. 4 We have drunken our water for money, our wood is ſold unto us. 5 Our necks are under perſecution: we labour, and have no reſt. 6 We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Aſſyrians, to be ſatisfied with bread. 7 Our fathers have ſinned and are not, and we have borne their iniquities. 8 Servants have ruled over us: there is none that doth deliver us out of their hand. 9 We gat our bread with the peril of our lives, becauſe of the ſword of the wilderneſ 10 Our ſkin was black like an oven, becauſe o the terrible famine. 11 They raviſhed the wo men in Zion, and the maids in the cities of J dah. 12 Princes are hanged up by their hand the faces of elders were not honoured. 13 The took the young men to grind, and the childre fell under the wood. 14 The elders have ceaſe from the gate, the young men from their muſic 15 The joy of our heart is ceaſed, our dance turned into mourning. 16 The crown is falle from our head: wo unto us that we have ſinne 17 For this our heart is faint, for theſe things o eyes are dim. 18 Becauſe of the mountain Zion, which is deſolate, the foxes walk upon i 19 Thou, O Lord, remaineſt for ever: th throne from generation to generation. 20 Whe fore doſt thou forget us for ever, and forſake ſo long time? 21 Turn thou us unto thee, Lord, and we ſhall be turned: renew our da as of old. 22 But thou haſt utterly rejected u thou art very wroth againſt us.

The Title of this Chapter in the vulgar Latin Oratio Jeremiæ, the Prayer of Jeremiah; but is writ in Metre as the foregoing Chapters.

We have drunken our Water for Money, our Wood ſold unto us] When our Country was in our own Poſſeſſion, we had free Uſe of Water and Wood, whi now we are forced to buy.

We have given the Hand to the Egyptians, and the Aſſyrians, &c.] We have made ourſelves Tribu ries to thoſe People: Which was done by the Ce mony of giving the Hand, a Form uſed when an Oa or Covenant was entered into: See Ezek. xvii. Gen. xxiv. 2. The Jews are often upbraided for t Alliances they made with Egypt and Aſſyria, for whi they are threatened with being forced to live there Exiles: See Hoſ. vii. 11. ix. 3. xii. 1. Theſe two Cou tries being the Places whither many Jews fled for R fuge from the Calamities which threatened them Home; the Prophecies which mention their Retu from their ſeveral Diſperſions, ſpeak of Aſſyria a Egypt, as the principal Places from whence they ſhou return. See Iſa. xi. 16.

Servants have ruled over us] Servants to the gr Men among the Chaldeans, and other Strangers, become our Maſters. See Nehem. v. 15.

They took our young Men to grind] To grind at t Mill was the common Employment of Slaves. S Exod. xi. 5. Such was the Piſtrinum among the R mans.

The Children fell under the Wood] They made Ch dren turn the Handle of the Mill, till they fell dow for Wearineſs: So ſome explain it, with relation the former Part of the Verſe. But it may be unde ſtood of making them carry ſuch heavy Burdens Wood, that they fainted under the Load.

The Crown is fallen from our Head] All our Glo is at an End, together with the Advantages of bei thy People, and enjoying thy Preſence amongſt us, which we were diſtinguiſhed from the reſt of t World. Compare Job xix. 9. The Crown may ſi nify both the Kingdom and Prieſthood; the Mitre ing ſometimes called the Crown. See Zech. vi. 11.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophecy of EZEKIEL.

The ARGUMENT.

Ezekiel was a Prophet of the Prieſtly Order, carried away into Babylon with ſeveral other Jews in Jehoiachin's Captivity. Clemens Alexandrinus tells us, ſome thought him Contemporary with Pythagoras, and that they had converſed together in Babylon. This Opinion he rejects as inconſiſtent with the Age of Pythagoras, whom he ſuppoſes to have flouriſhed about the ſixty-ſecond Olympiad, which was near ſixty Years after Ezekiel was carried into Babylon. The late learned Biſhop of Worceſter, in his Chronological Account of Pythagoras's Life, ſuppoſes him born about nine Years after Ezekiel's coming to Babylon, and Pythagoras himſelf came to Babylon at eighteen Years of Age; but there is no Proof that he ever converſed with Ezekiel. Tho' it appears by the Teſtimony of Hermippus, in Joſephus L. i. contra Appion, N. 22. that he had Converſation with ſome Jews; and learned Men have obſerved, that there is great Reſemblance between ſeveral of his Symbols, and ſome of the Precepts of the Jewiſh Law.

Whatever became of Pythagoras, the Accounts of whoſe Life are very uncertain, it is certain that Ezekiel, being at Babylon, directed many of his Prophecies to his Fellow-Exiles there, who, as St. Jerom obſerves in his Preface to Ezekiel, repined at their Ill Fortune, and thought their Countrymen, who remained in Judea, in a much better Condition than themſelves. The Prophet, with regard to thoſe Circumſtances, ſets before their Eyes that terrible Scene of Calamities which God would bring upon Judea and Jeruſalem, which ſhould end in the utter Deſtruction of the City and Temple. He recounts the heinous Provocations of the Jews, which brought down theſe heavy Judgments upon them, in ſtrong and lively Colours; his Stile exactly anſwering the Character the Greek Rhetoricians give of that Part of Oratory they call Δείνωσις; which Quintilian defines to be Oratio quæ rebus aſperis, indignis & invidioſis vim addit, L. vi. C. 3. its Property being to aggravate Things in themſelves monſtrous and odious, and repreſent them with great Force and Efficacy of Expreſſion. For the ſame Reaſon Rapin, in his Treatiſe of Eloquence, calls Ezekiel's Stile le Terrible, as having ſomething in it that ſtrikes the Reader with an holy Dread and Aſtoniſhment.

Joſephus divides this Prophecy into two Books; but it is generally ſuppoſed, that he took that Part of the Prophecy which contains a Deſcription of the Temple, beginning at the xlth Chapter, for a diſtinct Book from the reſt, as treating altogether of a different Subject.

St. Jerom hath more than once obſerved, that the Beginning and latter Part of this Prophecy is more than ordinary difficult and obſcure, and may juſtly be reckoned among the Δυσνοητὰ, or Things in Scripture which are hard to be underſtood. To contribute what I could to the clearing of theſe Difficulties, I have, with the Aſſiſtance of Mr. Lowth, introduced into the following Expoſition, whatever is for the Purpoſe of that elaborate Work of Villalpandus, a Book which is in very few Hands; and in the later Obſervations of Bernardus L'Amy, in his learned Book de Tabernaculo Fœderis.

CHAP. I.

God's glorious Appearance to Ezekiel, upon giving him his Commiſſion for executing the Prophetical Office.

Ver. 1. NOW it came to paſs in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, in the fifth day of the month, (as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I ſaw viſions of God. 2 In the fifth day of the month, (which was the fifth year of king Jehoiachins captivity) 3 The word of the Lord came expreſly unto Ezekiel the prieſt, the ſon of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar, and the hand of the Lord was there upon him. 4 And I looked, and behold, a whirl-wind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire infolding itſelf, and a brightneſs was about it, and out of the midſt thereof as the colour of amber, out of the midſt of the fire. 5 Alſo out of the midſt thereof came the likeneſs of four living creatures. And this was their appearance, They had the likeneſs of a man. 6 And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings. 7 And their feet were ſtraight feet, and the ſole of their feet was like the ſole of a calves foot, and they ſparkled like the colour of burniſhed braſs. 8 And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four ſides, and they four had their faces and their wings. 9 Their wings were joyned one to another; they turned not when they went, they went every one ſtraight forward. 10 As for the likeneſs of their faces, they four had the face of a man, and the face of a lion on the right ſide, and they four had the face of an ox on the left ſide: they four alſo had the face of an eagle. 11 Thus were their faces: and their wings were ſtretched upward, two wings of every one were joyned one to another, and two covered their bodies, 12 And they went every one ſtraight forward: whither the ſpirit was to go, they went: and they turned not when they went. 13 As for the likeneſs of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps; it went up and down among the living creatures, and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning. 14 And the living creatures ran, and returned as the appearance of a flaſh of lightning. 15 Now as I beheld the living creatures, behold, one wheel upon the earth by the living creatures, with his four faces, 16 The appearance of the wheels and their work was like unto the colour of a beryl: and they four had one likeneſs, and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel. 17 When they went they went upon their four ſides: and they returned not when they went. 18 As for their rings, they were ſo high that they were dreadful, and their rings were full of eyes round about them four. 19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels went by them: and when the living creatures were lift up from the earth, the wheels were lift up. 20 Whitherſoever the ſpirit was to go, they went, thither was their ſpirit to go, and the wheels were lifted up over againſt them: for the ſpirit of the living creature was in the wheels. 21 When thoſe went, theſe went; and when thoſe ſtood, theſe ſtood; and when thoſe were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up over againſt them: for the ſpirit of the living creatures was in the wheels. 22 And the likeneſs of the firmament upon the heads of the living creature, was as the colour of the terrible cryſtal, ſtretched forth over their heads above. 23 And under the firmament were their wings ſtraight, the one toward the other; every one had two, which covered on this ſide, and every one had two, which covered on that ſide their bodies. 24 And when they went, I heard the noiſe of their wings, like the noiſe of great waters, as the voice of the Almighty, the voice of ſpeech as the noiſe of an hoſt: when they ſtood, they let down their wings. 25 And there was a voice from the firmament, that was over their heads, when they ſtood, and had let down their wings, 26 And above the firmament, that was over their heads, was the likeneſs of a throne, as the appearance of a ſapphire-ſtone, and upon the likeneſs of the throne was the likeneſs as the appearance of a man above upon it. 27 And I ſaw as the colour of amber, as the appearance of fire round about within it: from the appearance of his loyns even upward, and from the appearance of his loyns even downward, I ſaw as it were the appearance of fire, and it had brightneſs round about. 28 As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, ſo was the appearance of the brightneſs rou about. This was the appearance of the lik neſs of the glory of the Lord, and when I ſa it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice one that ſpake.

In the thirtieth Year] It is a great Queſtion fr whence this Computation of Time commences. T moſt probable Anſwers are; firſt, that of Scalig who ſuppoſes this thirtieth Year to be meant of Years of Nebupolaſſar's Reign; who, as he tells from Beroſus, reigned twenty nine Years comple So the Thirtieth Year, here mentioned, was the Year of his Reign and Life: And is likewiſe the t teenth Year current of his Son Nebuchadnezzar's Rei who reigned ſo many Years together with his Father.

But there is one conſiderable Objection againſt t Opinion of Scaliger, that according to Beroſus's A count, Nebupolaſſar reigned only Twenty-one Yea Which is the ſame Number of Years aſſigned Nebu laſſar in the Æra Nabonaſſari, and agrees better w Beroſus's own Story, viz. that when he had commit the Command of his Army to his Son, and ſent h on an Expedition to Syria and Phœnicia he died a fi Time after.

Villalpandus in like Manner, makes his Compu tion to commence from the Beginning of Nabupolaſſa Reign. He allows the nineteen Years for his Rei diſtinct from that of his Son, and ſuppoſes Nebuch nezzar to reign two Years with his Father; wh indeed agrees with the Scripture Computation: Note on Jer. xxv. 1. But, according to that v Account, the fifth Year of Jehoiachin's Captivity be co-incident with the thirteenth Year of Nebuch nezzar's Reign; for the nineteenth Year of the ſa Reign is aſſigned for the Deſtruction of Jeruſal Jer. lii. 12. which was about ſix Years afterwards. this Computation will make Jehoiachin's Captivity have happened not in the thirtieth, but in the thir ſecond Year, reckoning from the Beginning of Na polaſſar's Reign.

A probable Anſwer to this Difficulty, is that wh the Chaldee Paraphraſt, Archbiſhop Uſher, A. M. 34 Dr. Prideaux, and other learned Men follow, viz. t theſe thirty Years are to be reckoned from the Ti when Joſiah and all the People of Judah enter'd i that ſolemn Covenant mentioned 2 Kings xxii. which was in the 18th Year of Joſiah; from wh Time the ſame learned Writers compute the fo Years of Judah's Tranſgreſſion, mentioned Ch. iv. 6.

Which was in the fifth Year of Jehoiachin's Captivity] This was co-incident with the thirteenth Year Nebuchadnezzar's Reign: For Jehoiachin was carri Captive in the eighth Year of his Reign. See 2 Ki xxiv. 12. The Hebrew Writers uſe ſeveral Compu tions of the Beginning of the Babyloniſh Captivit See Jer. xxv. 11. That under Jehoiachin where Ezekiel was made a Captive, is the Computation always follows in the ſucceeding Parts of his Prop cy. See Ch. viii. 1. xx. 1. xxix. 1, 17. xxxi. xxxiii. 1. xl. 1.

And I looked, and behold a Whirlwind came out the North] God's Anger and Judgments are oft compared to a Whirlwind. See Iſa. xxi. 1. Jer. xxxi 19. xxv. 32. Pſ. lviii. 9. It is deſcribed here as com out of the North, becauſe of the Northerly Situ tion of Babylon with reſpect to Judea. Compa Jer. i. 13. iv. 6. vi. 1. and Ch. xlvi. 3. of this Pr phecy.

A great Cloud, and a great Fire infolding itſelf, a a Brightneſs was about it] The Divine Preſe uſually deſcribed in Scripture, as a bright Light, or flaming Fire breaking out of a thick Cloud. See P xviii. 2. l. 3. xcviii. 2, 3. God alſo is deſcribed as conſuming Fire, when he comes to execute his Jud ment upon Sinners, Deut. iv. 24. Compare Ver. 1 of this Chapter. Fire infolding itſelf, is the ſame appearing in Folds, like one Wreath within another.

And out of the midſt thereof as the Colour of Amber Compare Ch. viii. 2. Fire reſembles the Colour of Am be ber, especially the lower Parts of it. So in that Vision of Christ, described Rev. i. 13, &c. 'tis said Ver. 15. that his Feet, or lower Parts, were like unto fine Brass, or rather unto Amber, as Dr. Hammond rightly explains the Word Χαλκολίβανον.

Also out of the Midst thereof came the Likeness of four living Creatures] Compare Rev. iv. 6. where our English Translation improperly renders the Word Ζῶα Beasts; whereas it should be render'd living Creatures, the better to distinguish them from the Antichristian Beast, always expressed in that Book by Θηρίον. These living Creatures were four Cherubims, that carried or supported God's Throne in the following Vision: It may be in Allusion to the Triumphant Chariots of the Eastern Kings, which were drawn by several Sorts of Beasts; the Cherubims as they are placed in the Temple, being called God's Chariot, 1 Chron. xxviii. 18.

And every one had four Faces] Of a Man, of a Lion, of an Ox, and of an Eagle, Ver. 10. each of them resembled the Cherubims which over-shadowed the Mercy-Seat in the Temple: See Ch. x. 20. The Jewish Tabernacle was a Pattern of heavenly Things, Heb. viii. 5. Wisd. ix. 8. and the Encampment of the Twelve Tribes about the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, was a Representation of the Angelical Ministry about the Throne of God in Heaven. So there is an Analogy between the Cherubims, as they attended the Divine Presence in the Holiest of all, and as here described in Figure of their Heavenly Ministry, and the Body of the Jewish Nation placed round about the Tabernacle, and divided into four Standards, and a several Ensign allotted to each Standard, as you may read Numb. ii. 3, 10, 18, 25. What those Ensigns were, that Text does not express; but the Jewish Writers unanimously maintain, that they were a Lion for the Tribe of Judah, an Ox for the Tribe of Ephraim, a Man for the Tribe of Reuben, and an Eagle for the Tribe of Dan; under which Variety each of these four Cherubims is here represented: Compare Rev. iv. 6. in that Text the four living Creatures denote some Part of the Christian Church, as appears by comparing that Place with Rev. v. 8, 9. Here likewise may be an Allusion to the four Cherubims in Solomon's Temple; for he places two others of larger Dimensions; one on each Side of the Ark, and of the two Cherubims, which Moses had placed in the Tabernacle: Compare 1 Kings vi. 24. with Exod. xxv. 17, 20.

And their Feet were straight Feet] Like a Man's, without such a middle Joint as Beasts have, the Use of which is to secure them against Weariness, to denote their Steadiness and Resolution in executing all God's Commands.

The Sole of their Feet were like the Sole of a Calf's Foot] A Creature remarkable for its treading firm and sure. These living Creatures are a Sort of Hieroglyphicks made up of several Shapes, but yet they resembled most that of an Ox or a Calf; and therefore were called Cherubims, that Word signifying an Ox; in which Sense it is taken, Ch. x. 14. of this Prophecy, where the Face of a Cherub is equivalent to the Face of an Ox; at the 10th Verse of this Chapter.

And sparkled like the Colour of burnished Brass] Compare Dan. x. 6. Rev. i. 15. The Appearance of their Feet was bright and flaming. See Ver. 13. and Ps. civ. 4. The Seraphims have that Name from their bright burning Colour.

They had the Hands of a Man under their Wings] Compare Ch. x. 8. Isa. vi. 6. This denotes the Prudence and Dexterity of their Management: The Hand being peculiar to Mankind among all living Creatures, and the chief Instrument of all Artificial Operations.

They turned not when they went] They needed not to turn their Bodies, that their Faces might stand the Way they were to go; for go which they would, they had a Face that looked that Way. This signifies that nothing ever diverted them from fulfilling God's Commands. See Ch. x. 11. where these living Creatures are represented as coming near to a square Figure, which is equal on all Sides, the Emblem of Firmness and Constancy.

They four had the Face of a Man, and of a Lion on the right Side, &c.] Grotius and Villalpandus by the Word Face understand the Shape and Appearance, and explain the Words to this Sense: That these living Creatures were like a Man with respect to their Visage, or their Upper Parts; they resembled a Lion with respect to their back Parts; their Wings were like the Wings of an Eagle, and their Feet like those of an Ox. But this Exposition does not well agree with what is here said, that the Face of the Lion was on the Right Side, and that of the Ox on the Left; or, as Castellio translates it, and I think, says Lowth, to a better and clearer Sense, That the Face of the Man and the Lion were on the Right Side, and the Face of the Ox and the Eagle on the Left. And by comparing the several Parts of this Description, their Figure may rather be concluded to be Quadruple; and as the Wheels were made to turn every Way, so the living Creatures could move toward any Point without turning about: To signify the Stedfastness of their Motions and Purposes. Compare Ver. 15, 19, 20. of this Chapter, with Ch. x. 11, &c.

Their Wings were stretched upwards] In a Posture of flying, to shew their Readiness to execute God's Commands: Compare Ver. 24. with Ch. x. 16. or they were stretched to cover their Faces, as the Seraphims are represented, Isa. vi. 2. Compare Ver. 23. of this Chapter. Some translate the former Part of the Verse thus: Their Face and their Wings were stretched upward, to denote a Posture of Attention, and as if they were hearkening to the Voice of God's Word, as the Angels are represented, Ps. ciii. 20.

But to avoid too great a Prolixity in the minute Explanation of the several Particulars in this Vision, I shall give a summary Exposition of the Whole in the Words of Mr. Stackhouse. The Rabbins, says he, calls this Chapter a Description of the Chariot; which is so very intricate and abstruse, that they would not permit it to be read by any, until they were arrived at the Age of thirty. The Design of the Prophet is, to represent the great and glorious Appearance of God, coming to give him Instructions in the Management of his prophetick Office; and to this Purpose he makes use of Images, foreign indeed to our Manner of Writing, but what are all significant, and full of Majesty. He seats himself on a radiant Throne, supported by Cherubims, moved by Wheels of an uncommon Make, covered with the Canopy of Heaven, and encircled with the Rainbow; and, tho' in the Description of the Cherubims and Wheels, there may be something not so agreeable to our Way of Thinking, yet we are not to suppose, but that, in the Whole, it was adapted to the Age wherein the Prophet wrote, and in each Part perhaps did include an excellent Moral. Angels, of what Rank or Denomination soever, are all ministring Spirits, and the Instruments of God's Providence in the Government of the World; and therefore are represented here as supporting his Throne, and, in Allusion very likely to the Triumphal Chariots of Eastern Princes, which are drawn by several Sorts of Beasts, they are said every one to have four Faces. Their Wings denote their Readiness and Alacrity; their Eyes, their Sagacity and Vigilance; their Hands, their Prudence and Dexterity; their Feet, their Steadiness and Resolution in performing the Divine Commands; and the Noise of their Wings, when they went, expressed the Terribleness of the Judgments, which they were to execute upon Jerusalem, and all the Jewish Nation.

And, in like Manner, the Make and Fashion of the Wheels, which these Cherubims actuate, shews, that all the Ways of Providence are uniform, and subservient to each other; as their going perpetually forward intimates, that Providence does nothing in vain, but always accomplishes its Designs. The Largeness of the Rings, or Circumference of the Wheels, denotes the vast Compass of Providence, which reacheth from one End to another mightily, Wisd. viii. 1, 18. Their being full of Eyes implies, that the Motions of Providence are directed directed by unerring Wisdom; and their moving, when the Cherubims moved, seems to demonstrate, with what Readiness and Alacrity all the Instruments of Providence do concur in carrying on his great Designs. Thus full of Instruction is every little Symbol in this Description! And therefore it is doing Injustice to the Character of the Prophet, to find Fault with his Images, because they agree not with the present Mode, or to censure his Writings, before we understand them.

CHAP. II.

Ezekiel's Commission for executing his Prophetical Office, and the Instructions given him for the Discharge of it.

Ver. 1. AND he said unto me, Son of man, stand upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee. 2 And the Spirit entred into me, when he spake unto me, and set me upon my feet, that I heard him that spake unto me. 3 And he said unto me, Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me; they and their fathers have transgressed against me, even unto this very day. 4 For they are impudent children and stiff-hearted: I do send thee unto them, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God. 5 And they, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, (for they are a rebellious house) yet shall know that there hath been a prophet among them. 6 And thou, son of man, be not afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though briers and thorns be with thee, and thou dost dwell among scorpions: be not afraid of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house. 7 And thou shalt speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, for they are most rebellious. 8 But thou, son of man, hear what I say unto thee, Be not thou rebellious like that rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eat that I give thee. 9 And when I looked, Behold, an hand was sent unto me, and lo, a roll of a book was therein. 10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

And he said unto me, Son of Man] This Expression is commonly understood to signify the same with a common and ordinary Man, as it is usually expounded in that Text, Ps. viii. 4. What is Man that thou art mindful of him, or the Son of Man that thou visitest him? So here most Commentators understand it as applied to the Prophet, to put him in Mind of his Frailty and Mortality, and of the infinite Distance between God and Man. In which Sense it is supposed to be taken when spoken of Christ in the New Testament, implying his great Humility in assuming our Nature, and appearing no otherwise than an ordinary Man: And so the Hebrew Phrase Ben Adam is plainly used, when it is opposed to Ben Ish; and is rightly translated Men of low Degree, or mean Men, Ps. lxix. 2. Isa. ii. 9.

But some Criticks have observed, that the Phrase Son of Man, is likewise taken for a Man of Dignity or Character, as in Ps. lxxx. 17. The Man of thy Right Hand, and the Son of Man whom thou madest so strong for thyself. And Ps. cxlvi. 3. Put not your Trust in Princes, nor in the Son of Man, in whom there is no Help. And there is no Incongruity in supposing that Christ himself may be called the Son of Man, by way of Eminence, as a Title denoting him to be that Great Person whom God promised to raise up to be a Prince and a Saviour of his People. And so the Title of the Son of Man may be given to the Prophet in the Text as one set a Part for the Prophetical Office. In like Manner as Daniel is called Son of Man, Ch. viii. 17. who in the next Chapters hath the Title of a Man greatly beloved, Ch. ix. 23. x. 11.

Though Briars and Thorns be with thee] Such a study to vex and torment thee: Compare Mic. vii. 4. The Prophets often denote the Wicked by Briars and Thorns. See Isa. ix. 18.

Open thy Mouth, and eat what I give thee] The Knowledge of Divine Truths is often expressed by the Metaphors of bodily Food and Nourishment: See Isa. lv. 1, 2. Josh. vi. 27. So to eat the Words of this Prophecy, signifies to commit them to Memory, to meditate upon and digest them, Rev. x. 10.

Behold, an Hand was sent unto me, &c.] I saw the Hand stretched out toward me as from that Divine Person who appeared to me in the Shape of a Man, Ch. i. 26. Compare Ch. viii. 3. Jer. i. 9. Dan. x. 16.

CHAP. III.

The Prophet hath more particular Instructions given him for the Discharge of his Office; and is encouraged to undertake it by a Promise of God's especial Assistance.

Ver. 1. MOreover he said unto me, Son of man, eat that thou findest; eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel. 2 So I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat that roll. 3 And he said unto me, Son of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roll that I give thee. Then did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness. 4 And he said unto me, Son of man, go get thee unto the house of Israel, and speak with my words unto them. 5 For thou art not sent to a people of a strange speech, and of an hard language, but to the house of Israel: 6 Not to many people of a strange speech, and of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: surely, had I sent thee to them, they would have hearkened unto thee. 7 But the house of Israel will not hearken unto thee; for they will not hearken unto me: for all the house of Israel are impudent and hard-hearted. 8 Behold, I have made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead strong against their foreheads. 9 As an adamant harder than flint have I made thy forehead: fear them not, neither be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house. 10 Moreover, he said unto me, Son of man, all my words that I shall speak unto thee, receive in thine heart, and hear with thine ears. 11 And go, get thee to them of the captivity, unto the children of thy people, and speak unto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear. 12 Then the Spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord from his place. 13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the living creatures that touched one another, and the noise of the wheels over against them, and a noise of a great rushing. 14 So the Spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit; but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me. 15 Then I came to them of the captivity at Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river of Chebar, and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days. 16 And it came pass at the end of seven days, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 17 Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me. 18 When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way to save his life: the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. 19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul. 20 Again, when a righteous man doth turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and I lay a stumbling-block before him, he shall die: because thou hast not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he hath done shall not be remembred; but his blood will I require at thine hand. 21 Nevertheless, if thou warn the righteous man, that the righteous sin not and he doth not sin; he shall surely live, because he is warned: also thou hast delivered thy soul. 22 And the hand of the Lord was there upon me, and he said unto me, Arise, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with thee. 23 Then I arose, and went forth into the plain, and behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the river of Chebar; and I fell on my face. 24 Then the Spirit entred into me, and set me upon my feet, and spake with me, and said unto me, Go, shut thyself within thine house. 25 But thou, O son of man, behold, they shall put bands upon thee, and shall bind thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them. 26 And I will make thy tongue cleave to the roof of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be to them a reprover; for they are a rebellious house. 27 But when I speak with thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him hear; and he that forbeareth, let him forbear: for they are a rebellious house.

Eat this Roll — so I opened my Mouth] I readily complied with God's Command, which this Vision figuratively expressed: Compare Jer. xxv. 17.

Cause thy Belly to swell, and fill thy Bowels with this Roll] The Belly often signifies in Scripture the Mind, or secret Thoughts: See Job xxii. 18. Prov. xviii. 8. xx. 27. John vii. 38. So here the Expressions denote the laying up this Prophecy in his Memory: See Ver. 10. and the Note on Ch. ii. 8.

It was in my Mouth as Honey for Sweetness] I took Delight in having God's secret Counsels communicated to me, and in delivering his Commands to my Brethren; and was pleased with the Hopes of being an Instrument of their Conversion, and the Amendment of some of them: But yet this Pleasure was afterwards very much allayed by the heavy Tidings I was to be the Messenger of, and the ill Treatment I was to expect. See Ver. 14. Compare Jer. xv. 16, 17. Rev. x. 10.

Then I came to them of the Captivity of Telabib, that dwelt by the River of Chebar] These seem to be a distinct Colony of Captives from those that are mentioned Ch. i. 3. See Ver. 23. of this Chapter. The king of Babylon carried away the Jews by several Captivities; some in the first Year of his Reign, Dan. i. 1. some in the seventh, Jer. lii. 28. Then followed Jeconiah's Captivity in the eighth Year of Nebuchadnezzar, 2 Kings xxiv. 12. when Ezekiel himself was carried Captive.

And thou givest him not Warning, &c.] We are to distinguish a Prophet's immediate Commission to go to any particular Person in God's Name, from such a general Charge to inform others of their Duty, which is incumbent upon all Pastors and Teachers. These latter can only give Men general Warnings, unless where they have received such Informations as are a sufficient Ground for a particular Reproof.

As the Glory which I saw by the River Chebar] This part of the River seems distant from that Place where the former Vision was shewed him; compare Ver. 15. with Ch. i. 3. Then the Spirit entered into me, and set me upon my Feet, and spake with me. The Words are literally to be translated thus: Then the Spirit entred into me, and set me upon my Feet; and he spake unto me. For the last Verb is in the Masculine Gender, and in the two former in the Feminine. In like Manner the 5th Verse of the xith Chapter should be read, And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me, and he said unto me. The Spirit or Power of God which the Prophet felt within him, (called likewise the Hand of the Lord, Ver. 14. and 22 of this Chapter, and Ch. viii. 1.) being distinguished here from the Divine Glory or Shechinah, which the Prophet saw, as it is very plainly Ch. ii. 2. And the Spirit entred into me, when HE spake unto me.

Thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be to them a Reprover] Ezekiel's Dumbness might proceed from two Causes: Excess of Grief, as we read Ver. 15. of this Chapter, that he remained astonished seven Days: Wherein he was a Type or Figure of the Condition of the Jews, when they were to be astonied one with another: Ch. iv. 17. Another Cause of his Silence might be by way of Reproof to them for disbelieving what he had before delivered by the Commands of God. And because they regarded not the Words which God commanded him to speak to them, he was directed to instruct them only by Signs, such as are those Emblems of the Siege contained in the next Chapter.

CHAP. IV.

Under the Emblem of a Siege, is shewed the Miseries the Jews shall suffer when the City is besieged: And by the Prophet's lying on his right and left Side a certain Number of Days, is declared of how long Continuance those Sins were which God did visit upon that People.

Ver. 1. THOU also son of man, take thee a tile, and lay it before thee, and pourtray upon it the city, even Jerusalem; 2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the camp also against it, and set battering rams against it round about. 3 Moreover, take thou unto thee an iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between thee and the city, and set thy face against it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a sign to the house of Israel. 4 Lie thou also upon thy left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it: according to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon it, thou shalt bear their iniquity. 5 For I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days: so shalt thou bear the iniquity of the house of Israel. 6 And when thou hast accomplished them, lie again on thy right side, and thou shalt bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days: I have appointed thee each day for a year. 7 Therefore thou shalt set thy face toward the siege of Jerusalem, and thine arm ſhall be uncovered, and thou ſhalt prophecy againſt it. 8 And behold, I will lay hands upon thee, and thou ſhalt not turn thee from one ſide to another, till thou haſt ended the days of thy ſiege. 9 Take thou alſo unto thee, wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one veſſel, and make thee bread thereof, according to the number of the days that thou ſhalt lie upon thy ſide: three hundred and ninety days ſhalt thou eat thereof. 10 And thy meat which thou ſhalt eat, ſhall be by weight twenty ſhekels a day: from time to time ſhalt thou eat it. 11 Thou ſhalt drink alſo water by meaſure, the ſixth part of an hin: from time to time ſhalt thou drink. 12 And thou ſhalt eat it as barley cakes, and thou ſhalt bake it with dung that cometh out of man in their ſight. 13 And the Lord ſaid, Even thus ſhall the children of Iſrael eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will drive them. 14 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, behold, my ſoul hath not been polluted: for from my youth up even till now, have I not eaten of that which dieth of itſelf, or is torn in pieces, neither came there abominable fleſh into my mouth. 15 Then he ſaid unto me, Lo, I have given thee cows dung for mans dung, and thou ſhalt prepare thy bread therewith. 16 Moreover, he ſaid unto me, Son of man, behold, I will break the ſtaff of bread in Jeruſalem, and they ſhall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they ſhall drink water by meaſure, and with aſtoniſhment. 17 That they may want bread and water, and be aſtonied one with another, and conſume away for their iniquity.

Take thee a Tile and lay it before thee] The Prophets often foreſhew impending Judgments by ſignificative Emblems, being of greater Force and Efficacy than Words. Thus the Pourtraiture of the Fort, the Mount, the battering Rams againſt it, are ſo very like to what happen'd at the Siege, that we can hardly forbear preſuming, that the whole Narration is literal, or that the Prophet did really draw a Sketch of the Siege of the City, as God commanded him. For ſince it was a Practice ſometimes among the beſt of Orators to repreſent, in a Picture, the particular Thing they were to ſpeak to, thereby to gain the readier Attention of their Hearers, why ſhould it be thought inconſiſtent with the Character of a Prophet, or any Diminution of his Diſcretion or Gravity, to do the ſame Thing, in order to gain the ſame End? And they that ſuppoſe the Emblem here made uſe of to be below the Dignity of the Prophetical Office, may as well accuſe Archimedes of Folly, for making Lines in the Duſt.

Lie alſo on thy left Side] Mr. Stackhouſe obſerves, that ſeveral Things which the Prophets ſet down as Matters of Fact, might not be actually done, but only repreſented as done, to make the more lively Impreſſion upon their Readers and Hearers. Nay, there are ſeveral Commands, which God gives Ezekiel in particular, ſuch as lying for 390 Days on one Side, (which was next to a Thing impoſſible) his baking his Bread with Man's Dung (which was a Thing unſeemly) and his ſhaving his Head and Beard (which, as he was a Prieſt, was a Thing expreſsly forbidden him) that the Prophet is never once ſaid to have perform'd, nor were they indeed given him with an Intent that he ſhould perform them, but only relate them to the People, and ſo make them Signs unto the Houſe of Iſrael, i. e. either Reſemblances of Things paſt, or Prognoſtications of Things to come.

St. Peter, we may obſerve, was commanded, in his Viſion, to do what he never did; Riſe, Peter, kill and eat: Nay, by his Reply it appears, that himſe did not think that he was any Ways bound to obe the Command; Not ſo, Lord; for I have never eat any Thing that is common or unclean. And yet the U which he made of this Viſion, was, to report to th Church as a Sign, or emblematical Indication of God having accepted the Gentiles into the Goſpel-Terms Salvation. And, in like Manner, when Ezekiel, his Viſion, receiv'd the Command of ſhaving his He and his Face, his Anſwer might have been in St. P ter's ſtrain, Not ſo, Lord, for, by the Law I am fo bidden to make Baldneſs upon my Head, or to ſhave the Corner of my Beard; and yet he might relate th Viſion to the People, the better to enforce the Threat which God had authoriz'd him to denounce agai Jeruſalem. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, beh I, even I am againſt thee, and will execute Judgmen in the Midſt of thee, in the Sight of the Nations; a I will do in thee, that which I have not done, a whereunto I will not do any more the like, becauſe of thy Abominations, Ezek. v. 8, 9.

Three hundred aud ninety Days] That is, accordi to the Prophetick Account, three hundred and nine Years. The moſt probable Computation of this Tim ſays Lowth, is, to date its Beginning from Jeroboam firſt ſetting up the idolatrous Worſhip of the gold Calves, the laſt Captivity of the Jews, in the twent third Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign: See Jer. 30. This ſeems to have made an entire Riddance the Natives of the Land, and conſequently to be t finiſhing Stroke of the Jewiſh Captivity. Both Jud and Iſrael being both now entirely carried away, whe as before that Time many of the ten Tribes lived their own Habitations. See 2 Chron. xxix. 14. xxxi. 18. xxxii. 33. Ezra vi. 17.

Thou ſhalt bear the Iniquity of the Houſe of Jud forty Days] That is, forty Years: This Series of Tim may probably be computed from the eighteenth Ye of Joſiah, at which Time the King and People ente into a ſolemn Covenant to ſerve and worſhip God; that the Idolatry they were afterward Guilty of, ceived a new Aggravation, as being a Breach of t ſolemn Covenant, the greater Part of the People ing ſtill idolatrous in their Hearts: See Jer. iii. 6— The thirtieth Year, mentioned in the Beginning this Prophecy, is ſuppoſed to take its Date from t eighteenth Year of Joſiah; which makes it probab that the Prophet refers to the ſame Æra in this Place.

Scaliger and ſome others begin theſe forty Years fro Jeremiah's Miſſion as a Prophet, which was in t 13th Year of Joſiah, from which Time till the E Year of Zedekiah, when the City and Temple we deſtroyed, is juſt forty Years. The Biſhop of Litc field and Coventry, in his Defence of Chriſtianity, e plains the forty Days of Judah's Tranſgreſſion, of t Years wherein Judah had exceeded Iſrael in Idolat under the Reign of Manaſſes. The Sins committed that Time filled up the Meaſure of Judah's Tranſgre ſions. See 2 Kings xxi. 11, 12, 13. xxiii. 26. xxiv. Jer. xv. 4.

Till thou haſt ended the Days of thy Siege] The thr hundred and ninety Days mentioned Ver. 5. and were deſigned not only to ſignify the Years of Iſrae Sin, but the Continuance of the Siege of Jeruſalem That Siege laſted, from the Beginning to the Endi of it, ſeventeen Months, as appears from 2 Kings x 1—4. But the King of Egypt coming to relieve t City was the Occaſion of raiſing the Siege for ſe Time, as appears from Jer. xxxvii. 3. So that it m reaſonably be gathered from the Authority of the T joined to the Circumſtances of the Story, that Siege laſted about thirteen Months, or 390 Days: A. B. Uſher's Annals, ad A. M. 3415.

And the Meat which thou ſhalt eat ſhall be by Weig twenty Shekels a Day] In Sieges 'tis common to ſt every one to a certain Allowance, by which Me they can gueſs how long their Proviſions will l Twenty Shekels is but ten Ounces, a ſhort Allowa for a Day's Suſtenance: See Ver. 16. and Jerem xxxvii. 21.

The Sixth Part of an Hin] Which is ſomething more than a Pint and a half of our Meaſure. See Biſhop Cumberland's Account of Jewiſh Weights and Meaſures.

Even thus ſhall the Children of Iſrael eat their defiled Bread among the Gentiles] Their Circumſtances in their Captivity ſhall not permit them to obſerve the Rules of their Law relating to unclean Meats, and they ſhall be conſtrained to partake of Meats, Part of which hath been offered to Idols. Compare Hoſ. ix. 1. Bread is often uſed in the Hebrew for all Sorts of Food: See Gen. xliii. 31.

CHAP. V.

The Prophet is commanded to ſhave his Hair, and then conſume it, to ſignify thereby God's Judgment upon Jeruſalem for her repeated Provocations, by Famine, Sword and Diſperſion.

Ver. 1. AND thou, ſon of man, take thee a ſharp knife, take thee a barbers razor, and cauſe it to paſs upon thine head, and upon thy beard; then take thee balances to weigh, and divide the hair. 2 Thou ſhalt burn with fire a third part in the midſt of the city, when the days of the ſiege are fulfilled; and thou ſhalt take a third part, and ſmite about it with a knife; and a third part thou ſhalt ſcatter in the wind, and I will draw out a ſword after them. 3 Thou ſhalt alſo take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy ſkirts. 4 Then take of them again, and caſt them into the midſt of the fire, and burn them in the fire; for thereof ſhall a fire come forth into all the houſe of Iſrael. 5 Thus ſaith the Lord God, This is Jeruſalem: I have ſet it in the midſt of the nations and countries that are round about her. 6 And ſhe hath changed my judgments into wickedneſs more than the nations, and my ſtatutes more than the countries that are round about her: for they have refuſed my judgments, and my ſtatutes, they have not walked in them. 7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye multiplied more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither have kept my judgments, neither have done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you. 8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold I, even I am againſt thee, and will execute judgments in the midſt of thee, in the ſight of the nations. 9 And I will do in thee that which I have not done, and whereunto I will not do any more the like; becauſe of all thine abominations. 10 Therefore the fathers ſhall eat the ſons in the midſt of thee, and the ſons ſhall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I ſcatter into all the winds. 11 Wherefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, Surely becauſe thou haſt defiled my ſanctuary with all thy deteſtable things, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I alſo diminiſh thee, neither ſhall mine eye ſpare, neither will I have any pity. 12 A third part of thee ſhall die with the peſtilence, and with famine ſhall they be conſumed, in the midſt of thee; and a third part ſhall fall by the ſword round about thee; and I will ſcatter a third part into all the winds, and I will draw out a ſword after them. 13 Thus ſhall mine anger be accompliſhed, and I will cauſe my fury to reſt upon them, and I will be comforted: and they ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken it in my zeal, when I have accompliſhed my fury in them. 14 Moreover, I will make thee waſte, and a reproach among the nations that are round about thee, in the ſight of all that paſs by. 15 So it ſhall be a reproach and a taunt, an inſtruction and aſtoniſhment to the nations that are round about thee, when I ſhall execute judgments in thee in anger and in fury, and in furious rebukes: I the Lord have ſpoken it. 16 When I ſhall ſend upon them, the evil arrows of famine, which ſhall be for their deſtruction, and which I will ſend to deſtroy you: and I will increaſe the famine upon you, and will break your ſtaff of bread. 17 So will I ſend upon you famine and evil beaſts, and they ſhall bereave thee; and peſtilence and blood ſhall paſs through thee, and I will bring the ſword upon thee: I the Lord have ſpoken it.

Take thee a ſharp Knife, take thee a Barber's Razor, and make it to paſs upon thy Head, and upon thy Beard] See Note upon Ver. 1. of the foregoing Chapter.

And thou ſhalt burn a third Part in the Midſt of the City] Of that Portraiture of the City which the Prophet was commanded to make, Ch. iv. 1. This ſignifies the Deſtruction of the Inhabitants within the City by Famine and Peſtilence. See Ver. 12. and Ch. vii. 12.

And thou ſhalt take a third Part, and ſmite it about with a Knife] To ſhew that a third Part of the Inhabitants ſhall be ſlain with the Sword, juſt after they have eſcaped out of the City: See Ver. 12. This was remarkably fulfilled in the Slaughter of Zedekiah's Sons, and the reſt of his Retinue, Jer. lii. 10.

And a third Part ſhalt thou ſcatter in the Wind, and I will draw out a third Part after them] The reſt ſhall be diſperſed to all the four Winds: See Ch. vi. 8. And even my Vengeance ſhall purſue many of them in their Diſperſions, ſee Ver. 12. and compare Lev. xxvi. 33. Jer. xxiv. 10. xliv. 12. Amos ix. 4.

And bind them in thy Skirts] The Hebrew reads in thy Wings; to ſignify that they ſhould be placed under the Divine Protection. See Pſ. xci. 4. This denotes thoſe that ſhould be left in the Land under Gedaliah. Jer. xl. 5, 6.

Then take of them again, and caſt them into the Midſt of the Fire] This denotes the Conſpiracy which Iſhmael formed againſt Gedaliah, and the Calamities that followed thereupon.

For thereof ſhall come a Fire forth into all the Houſe of Iſrael] This was the Occaſion of the utter Ruin of that poor Remainder of the Jews that were left in their native Country. Thereupon ſome of them went down into Egypt, where they were all conſumed, according to Jeremiah's Prophecy againſt them: See Ch. xliv. 11, &c. and the reſt that remained in the Land were entirely carried away Captive by Nebuzaradan: See Jer. lii. 30.

Neither have done according to the Judgments of the Nations round about you] Or rather, According to the Manner of the Nations round about you; as the very ſame Phraſe is tranſlated, Ch. xi. 12. You have not been ſo conſtant and zealous for the true Religion as they are in a falſe one: Compare Ch. xvi. 47. Jer. ii. 10, 11. Mic. iv. 5.

And I will draw out a Sword after them] And thereby fulfil that Threatening denounced againſt them, Lev. xxvi. 33. Compare likewiſe Deut. xxviii. 65. Am. ix. 4. All which Places import, that God's Anger ſhould ſtill purſue them even into the Countries whither they were baniſhed and carried Captive. This was particularly fulfilled in thoſe that went into Egypt: See Jer. xliv. 7. And it was remarkably verified in the ſeveral Perſecutions and Maſſacres they have undergone at different Times, in moſt of the Countries of of Europe, in latter Ages. Of which see an Account in Basnage's Continuation of Josephus.

And I will be comforted] This and the foregoing Expression, (I will cause my Fury to rest upon them, or, as the Words may be rendered, I will cause my Fury toward them to rest) is borrowed from Men's Passions, who find some Ease and Rest in their Minds upon their venting them, and bringing Offenders to condign Punishment. So God is described here as feeling Ease and Satisfaction in executing his Justice upon obstinate and incorrigible Sinners. Compare Ch. xvi. 42. xxi. 17. Isa. i. 24.

CHAP. VI.

The Prophet continues to denounce God's Judgments upon the Jews for their Idolatry: But tells them that a Remnant shall be saved, and by their Afflictions shall be brought to a Sense of their evil Doings.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 2 Son of man, set thy face towards the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them. 3 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Behold, I, even I will bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high places. 4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images shall be broken: and I will cast down your slain men before your idols. 5 And I will lay the dead carcases of the children of Israel, before their idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars. 6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate; that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, and your idols may be broken and cease, and your images may be cut down, and your works may be abolished. 7 And the slain shall fall in the midst of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. 8 Yet will I leave a remnant, that ye may have some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when ye shall be scattered through the countrys. 9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, whither they shall be carried captives, because I am broken with their whorish heart which hath departed from me, and with their eyes which go a whoring after their idols: and they shall loath themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations. 10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I have not said in vain that I would do this evil unto them. 11 Thus saith the Lord God, Smite with thine hand, and stamp with thy foot, and say, Alas, for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence. 12 He that is far off shall die of the pestilence, and he that is near shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my fury upon them. 13 Then shall ye know that I am the Lord, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, upon every high hill in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they did offer sweet savour to all their idols. 14 So will I stretch out my hand upon them, and make the land desolate; yea, more desolate than the wilderness towards Diblath, in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord God to the Mountains and to the Hills, to the Rivers and to the Valleys] Every Part of the Country had been defiled with Idolatry. The Altars built for Idol-Worship were commonly placed upon Mountains and Hills: See Ch. xvi. 16, 24. Jer. ii. 20. iii. 6. The shady Valleys and River Side were likewise made use of for the same Purpose; particularly in the sacrificing of Children. So the Prophet denounces a general Judgment against the whole Country.

Your Altars shall be desolate, and your Images shall be broken] The Verse is plainly taken from Levit. xxvi. 30. where Moses denounces the same Judgments against the Jews upon their Provocations. The Word Hammannim, Images, are generally supposed to signify such as were erected to the Honour of the Sun, and is accordingly Sun Images in the Margin. Compare Chron. xxiv. Isa. xvii.

Because I am broken with their whorish Heart] My Patience is tired out with this People's Idolatries, called in Scripture spiritual Whoredom. God is here introduced as speaking after the Manner of Men.

Smite with thy Hand, and stamp with thy Foot, &c.] Join to thy Words the Gestures which are proper to express Grief and Concern at the Wickedness of thy People, and for their Calamities which will ensue. Compare Ch. xxi. 14. Numb. xxiv. 10.

CHAP. VII.

The Prophet denounces the irrevocable Judgment of Captivity, and final Desolation upon the Jews for their Idolatry and other heinous Sins.

Ver. 1. MOreover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 2 Also thou son of man, thus saith the Lord God unto the land of Israel, An end, the end is come upon the four corners of the land. 3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will send mine anger upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompense upon thee all thine abominations. 4 And mine eye shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense thy ways upon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. 5 Thus saith the Lord God, An evil, an only evil, behold, is come. 6 An end is come, the end is come, it watcheth for thee, behold, it is come. 7 The morning is come upon thee, O thou that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the sounding again of the mountains. 8 Now will I shortly pour out my fury upon thee, and accomplish mine anger upon thee: and I will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompense thee for all thine abominations. 9 And mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity: I will recompense thee according to thy ways, and thine abominations that are in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth. 10 Behold the day, behold, it is come, the morning is gone forth, the rod hath blossomed, pride hath budded. 11 Violence is risen up into a rod of wickedness: none of them shall remain, nor of their multitude, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be wailing for them. 12 The time is come, the day draweth near, let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn: for wrath is upon all the multitude thereof. 13 For the seller shall not return to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the vision is touching the whole multitude thereof, which shall not return: neither shall any strengthen himself in the iniquity of his life. 14 They have blown the trumpet, even to make all ready, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is upon all the multitude thereof. 15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: he that is in the field shall die with the sword; and he that is in the city, famine and pestilence shall devour him. 16 But they that escape of them, shall escape, and shall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them mourning, every one for his iniquity. 17 All hands shall be feeble and all knees shall be weak as water. 18 They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and horror shall cover them, and shame shall be upon all faces, and baldness upon all their heads. 19 They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be removed: their silver and their gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels: because it is the stumbling-block of their iniquity. 20 As for the beauty of his ornament, he set it in majesty: but they made the images of their abominations, and of their detestable things therein: therefore have I set it far from them. 21 And I will give it into the hands of the strangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a spoil, and they shall pollute it. 22 My face will I turn also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the robbers shall enter into it and defile it. 23 Make a chain: for the land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence. 24 Wherefore I will bring the worst of the heathen, and they shall possess their houses: I will also make the pomp of the strong to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled. 25 Destruction cometh, and they shall seek peace, and there shall be none. 26 Mischief shall come upon mischief, and rumour shall be upon rumour, then shall they seek a vision of the prophet: but the law shall perish from the priest, and counsel from the antients. 27 The king shall mourn, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people of the land shall be troubled: I will do unto them after their way, and according to their deserts will I judge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

The Morning is come upon thee] God's Judgments shall overtake thee speedily and unexpectedly; compare Ps. xlvi. 9. The Expression alludes to the Time when the Magistrates used to give Sentence on the Offenders, which was in the Morning.

And not the Sounding again of the Mountains] The Sound of War and Tumults; not such a joyful Sound as useth to echo from the Mountains, by which the Treaders of Grapes used to express their Satisfaction at the Time of the Vintage; which the Hebrew Word Hed or Heidad, properly signifies: See Isa. xvi. 9. Jer. xxv. 30. xlviii. 33.

For the Seller shall not return to that which is sold, altho' they were yet alive] The Year of Jubilee shall be no Advantage to the Sellers, when once they are gone into Captivity: For tho' they should live so long, yet they shall not enjoy the Benefit of the Law, Levit. xxv. 13. nor return any more to their Possessions.

But they that are escaped of them, shall escape] Some few of them shall have the Favour of escaping the common Calamity, called elsewhere the Escaped or the Remnant, from whence is derived the Phrase οἱ Σωζόμενοι in the New Testament, such as are or should be saved.

And shall be upon the Mountains like Doves in the Valleys, &c.] When they flee from the Enemy to the Mountains, and are escaped out of the imminent Danger that threatened them, they will then reflect upon their former Provocations, and bemoan themselves and their Calamities the Effects of them. See Ch. vi. 9. and compare Isa. xxxviii. 14. lix. 11.

As for the Beauty of his Ornament, he set it in Majesty] The Expression may most properly be understood of the Glory and Magnificence of the Temple, called elsewhere the Beauty of Holiness; compare Ver. 22. This very Place they have defiled with Idolatry. See Ch. v. 11. therefore I have given it into the Hands of the Gentiles to profane and pollute it: For to that Sense the marginal Reading rightly translates the following Words. The Preterperfect Tense is often used by the Prophets for the Future; who, to denote the Certainty of the Event, speak of what is to come, as if it were already done. See Isa. xxi. 9. The same Sense is expressed in that following, I will give it into the Hand of Strangers.

And Counsel from the Antients] Or, the Elders, as the Word is elsewhere translated; Ch. viii. 1. xiv. 1. xx. 1. Men of Authority and famous for Wisdom, whose Advice they asked in all Cases of Difficulty: See Ps. cxix. 100. Isa. iii. 2. In like Manner, the Prophet, the Priest, and the wise Men are joined together, Jer. xviii. 18.

CHAP. VIII.

The Prophet is carried in Vision to Jerusalem, and there shewed the Idolatries committed by the Jews within the Precincts of the Temple.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass in the sixth year, in the sixth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I sat in mine house, and the elders of Judah sat before me, that the hand of the Lord God fell there upon me. 2 Then I beheld, and lo, a likeness as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins even downward, fire: and from his loins even upward, as the appearance of brightness, as the colour of amber. 3 And he put forth the form of an hand, and took me by a lock of mine head, and the Spirit lift me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me in the visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the inner gate, that looketh toward the north, where was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provoketh to jealousy. 4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw in the plain. 5 Then said he unto me, Son of man, lift up thine eyes now the way towards the north: so I lift up mine eyes the way toward the north, and behold, northward at the gate of the altar, this image of jealousy in the entry. 6 He said furthermore unto me, Son of man, seest thou what they do? even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here, that I should go far off from my sanctuary? but turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations. 7 And he brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall. 8 Then said he unto me, Son of man, dig now in the wall: And when I had digged in the wall, behold a door. 9 And he said unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here. 10 So I went in and ſaw, and behold, every form of creeping things, and abominable beaſts, and all the idols of the houſe of Iſrael pourtrayed upon the wall round about. 11 And there ſtood before them ſeventy men of the antients of the houſe of Iſrael, and in the midſt of them ſtood Jaazaniah the ſon of Shaphan, with every man his cenſer in his hand, and a thick cloud of incenſe went up. 12 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, haſt thou ſeen what the antients of the houſe of Iſrael do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they ſay, The Lord ſeeth us not, the Lord hath forſaken the earth. 13 He ſaid alſo unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations that they do. 14 Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the Lords houſe, which was towards the north; and behold, there ſat women weeping for Tammuz. 15 Then ſaid he unto me, Haſt thou ſeen this, O ſon of man? turn thee yet again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations than theſe. 16 And he brought me into the inner court of the Lords houſe, and behold, at the door of the temple of the Lord, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the eaſt, and they worſhipped the ſun toward the eaſt. 17 Then he ſaid unto me, Haſt thou ſeen this, O ſon of man? Is it a light thing to the houſe of Judah, that they commit the abominations which they commit here; for they have filled the land with violence, and have returned to provoke me to anger; and lo, they put the branch to their noſe. 18 Therefore will I alſo deal in fury: mine eye ſhall not ſpare, neither will I have pity: and though they cry in mine ears with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

I beheld] A Divine of great Learning thinks the Words ſhould be underſtood of the Time paſt, and tranſlated I had beheld; and that we are not to ſuppoſe the Prophet began to ſee this Viſion while the Elders were before him, but related to them by God's Direction what he had formerly ſeen in the fourth Month, the Seaſon ſet apart for the Worſhip of the Idol Thammuz. See Note on Ver. 14. This Senſe is confirmed by comparing the Place with Ch. xi. 25. Then, or Thus I ſpake to them of the Captivity all the Things that the Lord had ſhewed me.

And the Spirit of God lifted me up, and brought me in the Viſions of God to Jeruſalem] This Expreſſion, in the Viſions of God, (which is likewiſe uſed again at the End of the Recital of this Prophecy, Ch. xi. 24. and Ch. xl. 2.) may import, that all this Repreſentation was performed only in Viſion, that is, by a lively Repreſentation to the Mind, as if the Prophet had been perſonally preſent at Jeruſalem. In the ſame Manner Eliſha was preſent with Gehazi when he took Naaman's Preſent, 2 Kings v. 26. and heard the Words that were ſpoken in the King of Syria's Bedchamber, Ch. vi. 12. And St. Paul, tho' he was abſent in Body, yet was preſent in the Spirit in the Church of the Coloſſians, beholding their Order, Col. ii. 5, &c. But the Words may alſo ſignify a Local Tranſlation of the Prophet from Chaldea to Jeruſalem; compare Ch. iii. 14. xl. 1. This latter Interpretation is confirmed by the Spirit's lifting him up between Heaven and Earth, and bringing him to Jeruſalem, and afterward carrying him back into Chaldea, Ch. xi. 24.

And behold there ſat Women weeping for Tammuz] St. Jerom by Tammuz underſtands Adonis, which learned Men ſuppoſe the ſame with Oſyris. By Oſyris is generally underſtood the Sun. But, ſays Lowth, we may rather underſtand by Oſyris, the God of the Egyptians, ſuppoſed to preſide over the Fruits of the Earth which were then cut and gathered in: This being called the Death of Oſyris, was celebrated with Mourning and Lamentation. This gives a plain Account why this Solemnity was kept in the Month of Tamuz anſwering to Part of our June and July, becauſe the Harveſt was finiſhed in thoſe hot Countries by or before that Time.

This Idolatry was derived from the Egyptians, and afterwards the Greeks and Phœnicians improved it by the Addition of a new Fable, viz. of Venus's mourning for the Death of Adonis.

The fourth Month of the Jews was called Tamuz from a Feaſt dedicated to this Idol in that Month. The Egyptian Year conſiſted but of 365 Days, without any Biſſextile, which was afterwards added in the Julian Year. By this Means they loſt a Day every four Years, which in Proceſs of Time made a great Change in the Beginning of their Year, and a Variation in their Feſtivals, which conſequently muſt remove from one Seaſon of the Year to another. It is therefore probable that under the idolatrous Kings of Judah who brought in the Worſhip of Tamuz, this Feſtival fell in the Month that anſwered the fourth Month of the Jews, and gave that Month this Name; in which Month Ezekiel probably ſaw this Viſion.

And lo they put the Branch to their Noſe] Thoſe that tranſlate the Words to this Senſe, ſuppoſe them to relate to ſome Cuſtom among the Idolaters, of dedicating a Branch of Laurel, or ſome other Tree, to the Honour of the Sun, and carrying it in their Hands in the Time of their Worſhip. But this Text is one of thoſe which the Rabbins reckon among the Tikkum Sopherim, or ſuch as have been corrected by their Scribes or learned Men; and the original Reading, ſay they, was Appi, to my Noſe, or Face, inſtead of the preſent Reading Appam. According to which Reading the Senſe will be, And they put a Stink in my Noſe, that is, they put an open Affront upon me, by turning their back Parts to me in the Place dedicated to my Worſhip.

CHAP. IX.

This Part of the Viſion repreſents the Deſtruction of the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, beginning with thoſe that were neareſt the Temple.

Ver. 1. HE cried alſo in mine ears with a loud voice, ſaying, Cauſe them that have charge over the city, to draw near, even every man with his deſtroying weapon in his hand. 2 And behold, ſix men came from the way of the higher gate, which lieth toward the north, and every man a ſlaughter-weapon in his hand: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers inkhorn by his ſide: and they went in and ſtood beſide the braſen altar. 3 And the glory of the God of Iſrael was gone up from the cherub, whereupon he was, to the threſhold of the houſe, and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writers inkhorn by his ſide; 4 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Go through the midſt of the city, through the midſt of Jeruſalem, and ſet a mark upon the foreheads of the men that ſigh, and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midſt thereof. 5 And to the others he ſaid in mine hearing, Go ye after him through the city, and ſmite: let not your eye ſpare, neither have ye pity. 6 Slay utterly old and young, both maids and little children, and women; but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at my ſanctuary: then they began began at the antient men which were before the house. 7 And he said unto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain, go ye forth: and they went forth and slew in the city. 8 And it came to pass while they where slaying them, and I was left, that I fell upon my face, and cried, and said, Ah, Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in thy pouring out of thy fury upon Jerusalem? 9 Then said he unto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of perverseness: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth not. 10 And as for me also, mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will recompense their way upon their head. 11 And behold the man cloathed with linen, which had the inkhorn by his side, reported the matter, saying, I have done as thou hast commanded me.

Cause them who have a Charge over the City to come near] The Angels who had the Charge of executing God's Judgment upon the City. Compare 2 Kings x. 24.

Six Men came from the Way of the upper Gate, which lieth toward the North] This is supposed to be on the North Side of the Temple and Altar, because there the Sacrifices were ordered to be slain: See Levit. i. 11. Six Slaughtermen came like so many Levites, expecting an Order from the chief Sacrificing Priests, which Beast to slay, and at what Time.

And one Man among them was cloathed with Linen] That is, an Angel; see Ver. 4. and compare Ch. xl. 3. xliii. 6. who was to supply the Place of the chief Sacrificing Priest. Angels, as ministring Spirits, always attending upon God's Service, are sometimes described in the Habit of Priests: See Rev. xv. 5, 6. As God's Ministers for the same Reason have the Title of Angels given them, Rev. i. 20.

With a Writer's Inkhorn by his Side] To set a Mark on those who were to be saved from the common Destruction. But the LXX translate the Words, With a Girdle of Sapphire, or Embroidery upon his Loins; which agrees better with what goes before, as being Part of the Priest's Habit, Exod. xxviii. 8. and the above-cited Place in the Revelations.

And they went and stood by the brazen Altar] To denote that the Men order'd to Destruction were offered up as so many Sacrifices, to make an Atonement to God's Justice. The Destruction of the Wicked is elsewhere expressed, by the Name of a Sacrifice. See Ch. xxxix. 17. Isa. xxix. 2. xxxiv. 6.

And the Glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the Cherub whereupon he was, to the Threshold of the House] Ezekiel saw the Glory of God depart out of the inner Sanctuary to the Threshold, or Door of the Temple; to shew that God would shortly forsake this Temple. Compare Ch. x. 4, 18, 19. xi. 23. The Word Cherub stands for Cherubims, as Ch. x. 2. We are to distinguish this Apparition of the Divine Glory, which had its constant Residence in the Temple, from that which was shewed particularly to Ezekiel Ch. i. 26. iii. 23. viii. 24. x. 1.

And he called to the Man, &c.] The Logos, or Second Person of the Blessed Trinity, gave his Command to the Angel mentioned Ver. 3.

Set a Mark upon their Foreheads] Compare Rev. vii. 3. The Expression alludes to the Custom of the Eastern Nations to mark their Servants in the Forehead. The Vulgar Latin renders the Words, Mark with the Letter Thau the Foreheads; and it is very probable the antient Reading in the LXX τᾶυ Σημεῖον, tho' the present Copies read τὸ Σημεῖον.

It was the general Opinion of the Fathers, that the antient Samaritan Letter Thau was made in the Form of a Cross; and St. Jerom (a very competent Judge in this Matter) does attest the same in his Commentary on this Place.

Defile the House, and fill the Courts with the Slain] God declares he will own the Temple no longer for the Place of his Residence; see Ver. 3. as having been polluted with Idolatry, Ch. viii. 10, &c. and therefore delivers up both the inner and outer Courts belonging to it (Compare Ch. x. 3, 5.) to be polluted by Blood and Slaughter.

And I was left] The Prophet thought himself preserved alone out of the common Destruction, the Slaughter was so great; altho' those who had a Mark set upon them were certainly preserved as well as he.

CHAP. X.

The Vision of the Cherubims, Ch. 1. renewed; from whence Coals are scattered over the City to denote its Destruction by Fire. The Divine Glory described as still removing farther from the Temple.

Ver. 1. THEN I looked, and behold, in the firmament that was above the head of the cherubims, there appeared over them, as it were a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne. 2 And he spake unto the man cloathed with linen, and said, Go in between the wheels, even under the cherub, and fill thine hand with coals of fire from between the cherubims, and scatter them over the city. And he went in, in my sight. 3 Now the cherubims stood on the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court. 4 Then the glory of the Lord went up from the cherub, and stood over the threshold of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the Lords glory. 5 And the sound of the cherubims wings was heard even to the utter court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh. 6 And it came to pass, that when he had commanded the man cloathed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubims; then he went in, and stood beside the wheels. 7 And one cherub stretched forth his hand from between the cherubims, unto the fire that was between the cherubims; and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was cloathed with linen: who took it, and went out. 8 And there appeared in the cherubims, the form of a mans hand under their wings. 9 And when I looked, behold, the four wheels by the cherubims, one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was as the colour of a beryl-stone. 10 And as for their appearances, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been in the midst of a wheel. 11 When they went, they went upon their four sides; they turned not as they went, but to the place whither the head looked, they followed it; they turned not as they went. 12 And their whole body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels were full of eyes round about, even the wheels that they four had. 13 As for the wheels, it was cried unto them in my hearing, O wheel. 14 And every one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle. 15 And the cherubims were lifted lifted up: this is the living creature that I ſaw by the river of Chebar. 16 And when the cherubims went, the wheels went by them: and when the cherubims lift up their wings, to mount up from the earth, the ſame wheels alſo turned not from beſide them. 17 When they ſtood, theſe ſtood; and when they were lifted up, theſe lift up themſelves alſo: for the ſpirit of the living creature was in them. 18 Then the glory of the Lord departed from off the threſhold of the houſe, and ſtood over the cherubims. 19 And the cherubims lift up their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my ſight: when they went out, the wheels alſo were beſides them, and every one ſtood at the door of the eaſt-gate of the Lords houſe, and the glory of the God of Iſrael was over them above. 20 This is the living creature that I ſaw under the God of Iſrael, by the river of Chebar, and I knew that they were the cherubims. 21 Every one had four faces apiece, and every one four wings, and the likeneſs of the hands of a man was under their wings. 22 And the likeneſs of their faces was the ſame faces which I ſaw by the river of Chebar, their appearances and themſelves: they went every one ſtraight forward.

And fill thine Hand with Coals of Fire from between the Cherubims, and ſcatter them over the City] For the Coals of Fire ſparkled and ran up and down between the living Creatures: See Ch. i. 13. This Part of the Viſion was to repreſent the burning of the City. Coals of Fire do elſewhere denote the Divine Vengeance: See Pſ. cxx. 4. cxl. 10. Rev. viii. 5.

And the Houſe was filled with the Cloud, and the Court was full of the Brightneſs of the Lord's Glory] A bright Cloud was the Sign of God's Preſence which firſt filled the Tabernacle, Exod. xl. 35. afterward the Temple, 1 Kings viii. 10. where it fixed itſelf upon the Mercy-Seat, Levit. xvi. 2.

From whence God is ſaid ſo often to dwell between the Cherubims. This Glory now removed from that its Reſidence in the inner Sanctuary, and came down towards the Porch of the Temple, and fixed itſelf partly in the Temple, and partly in the inner Court adjoining to it, to denote God's being juſt about to leave the Temple and diſown any Relation to it. See Note on Ch. viii. 3. The Shekinah, or divine Glory, is repreſented as a bright Flame breaking out of a thick Cloud: See Iſa. vi. 1. So both together make up the Deſcription of it.

It was cried to them in my Hearing, O Wheel] Or, Move round, as ſome render the Word. They are put in Mind of continually attending upon their Duty; for the Wheels and living Creatures were animated with the ſame Principle of Underſtanding and Motion: See Ch. i. 6, 10.

The firſt had the Face of a Cherub] That is, of an Ox, as appears by comparing this Verſe with Ch. i. 10. The Word Cherub does originally ſignify an Ox, as Dr. Spencer obſerves. The ſeveral Faces are here repreſented in a different Order from the Deſcription given of them Ch. i. 10. of which Difference this Reaſon may be aſſigned. In the firſt Chapter the Prophet ſaw this Viſion coming out of the North, and advancing Southward, Ver. 4. where the Face of a Man being placed on the South Side, was firſt in View. The Lion being on the Eaſt Part was towards his Right Hand; the Ox being placed toward the Weſt, was on his Left; and the Eagle was toward the North. This Interpretation is juſtified from the Situation of the Standards of the ſeveral Tribes. Numb. ii. 10, 18, 25. Where Judah, whoſe Standard was a Lion, was placed in the Eaſt Side: Reuben, whoſe Standard was a Man, was placed on the South Side: Ephraim, whoſe Standard was an Ox, was placed on the Weſt Side; and Dan, whoſe Standard was an Eagle, was placed on the North Side. See Note on Ch. i. 6. Here the Prophet is ſuppoſed to ſtand by the Porch of the Temple, ſee Ch. viii. 16. Weſtward of the Shekinah, as that was moving out of the inner Court Eaſtward, ſee Ver. 18. 19. ſo the Ox was firſt in his View, as being neareſt to him.

And the Cherubims were lifted up] To attend upon the Divine Glory wherever it went, and particularly at its Removal from the Temple.

Then the Glory of the Lord departed from off the Threſhold of the Houſe, and ſtood over the Cherubims] The Divine Preſence here makes a farther Remove from the Temple: See Ver. 4. It now quite leaves the Houſe itſelf, and ſettles upon the Cherubims which ſtood in the Court adjoining to it; Ver. 3.

And every one of them ſtood at the Door of the East Gate of the Lord's Houſe] This is ſtill a farther Remove of God's Preſence from the Temple; for the Eaſt Gate was juſt at the Entrance into the inner Court before the Temple.

CHAP. XI.

God denounces his Judgments upon thoſe wicked Men who remained in the City; promiſes Favour to thoſe in Captivity; and intimates a general Reſtoration of the Nation in After-time. Then the Divine Glory leaves the City.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the Spirit lift me up, and brought me unto the eaſt gate of the Lords houſe, which looketh eaſt-ward: and behold, at the door of the gate five and twenty men; among whom I ſaw Jaazaniah the ſon of Azur, and Pelatiah the ſon of Benaiah, princes of the people. 2 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, theſe are the men that deviſe miſchief, and give wicked counſel in this city: 3 Which ſay, It is not near, let us build houſes: this city is the caldron, and we be the fleſh. 4 Therefore prophely againſt them, prophely, O ſon of man. 5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me, and ſaid unto me, Speak, Thus ſaith the Lord; Thus have ye ſaid, O houſe of Iſrael: for I know the things that come into your mind, every one of them. 6 Ye have multiplied your ſlain in this city, and ye have filled the ſtreets thereof with the ſlain. 7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Your ſlain whom ye have laid in the midſt of it, they are the fleſh, and this city is the caldron: but I will bring you forth out of the midſt of it. 8 Ye have feared the ſword; and I will bring a ſword upon you, ſaith the Lord God. 9 And I will bring you out of the midſt thereof, and deliver you into the hands of ſtrangers, and will execute judgments among you. 10 Ye ſhall fall by the ſword, I will judge you in the border of Iſrael, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 11 This city ſhall not be your caldron, neither ſhall ye be the fleſh in the midſt thereof; but I will judge you in the border of Iſrael. 12 And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you. 13 And it came to paſs when I prophelied, that Pelatiah the ſon of Benaiah died, then fell I down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid, Ah Lord God, wilt thou make a full end of the remnant of Iſrael? 14 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 15 Son of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the houſe of Iſrael wholly are they, unto whom the inh inhabitants of Jeruſalem have ſaid, Get ye far from the Lord: unto us is this land given in poſſeſſion. 16 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Although I have caſt them far off among the heathen, and although I have ſcattered them among the countrys, yet will I be to them as a little ſanctuary in the countrys whether they ſhall come. 17 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will even gather you from the people, and aſſemble you out of the countrys where ye have been ſcattered, and I will give you the land of Iſrael. 18 And they ſhall come thither, and they ſhall take away all the deteſtable things thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence. 19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new Spirit within you; and I will take the ſtony heart out of their fleſh, and will give them an heart of fleſh: 20 That they may walk in my ſtatutes, and keep mine ordinances, and do them: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God. 21 But as for them whoſe heart walketh after the heart of their deteſtable things, and their abominations, I will recompenſe their way upon their own heads, ſaith the Lord God. 22 Then did the cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheels beſides them; and the glory of the God of Iſrael was over them above. 23 And the glory of the Lord went up from the midſt of the city, and ſtood upon the mountain, which is on the eaſt-ſide of the city. 24 Afterwards the Spirit took me up, and brought me in viſion by the Spirit of God into Chaldea, to them of the captivity: ſo the viſion that I had ſeen went up from me. 25 Then I ſpake unto them of the captivity, all the things that the Lord had ſhewed me.

This City is the Caldron, and we are the Fleſh] Jeremiah hath foretold the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, under the Figure of a ſeething Caldron, Jer. i. 13. And Ezekiel himſelf uſes the ſame Metaphor, Ch. xxiv. 3, 4, &c. So theſe Infidels made uſe of the very Expreſſion on Purpoſe to deride the Menaces of the Prophets; as if they had ſaid, If this City be a Caldron, we had rather take our Chance of being confined in it, than leave our fine Houſes and other Accommodations, and run the Riſque of War or Captivity. Compare Ver. 7, 8, 11.

To whom the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem have ſaid, Get far from the Lord, &c.] The Jews were under God's immediate Protection, expreſſed in Scripture by dwelling under the Shadow of his Wings. The Phraſe alluding to the Wings of the Cherubims covering the Mercy-ſeat, and ſignifying God's Preſence among them and Protection over the People. Therefore to comfort thoſe who were under a State of Exile and Captivity, God tells them, that altho' they were deprived of the benefit of attending upon the Sanctuary, and being placed under that Protection his Preſence did there immediately, yet he would ſupply that by being a conſtant Refuge and Defence to them in the Countries where they were ſcattered. Compare Pſ. xxxi. 20. xci. 1. Iſa. viii. 14.

I will put a new Spirit within them, &c.] Theſe Promiſes chiefly relate to the general Converſion of the Jews; when God ſhall pour out upon them the Spirit of Grace, in order to their Converſion, Zech. xii. 10. Compare Ch. xxxvi. 26, 27. and Jer. xxiv. 7. xxxiii. 8, 34. xxxii. 39. Converſion is commonly ſpoken of in Scripture as if it were a new Creation, becauſe of the new Diſpoſitions and Powers which accompany it. See Pſ. li. 10. 2 Cor. v. 17. Gal. vi. 15. and xvii. 31.

But as for them whoſe Heart goeth after the Heart of their deteſtable Things, &c.] The Prophet ſpeaketh of Idols, called here their deteſtable Things, as Ver. 18. the Prophet mentions the Heart of their deteſtable Things, as if their Idols had Underſtanding and Appetites, becauſe their Worſhippers applied to them as ſuch, and becauſe evil Spirits who were worſhipped in and by them, were pleaſed with the Devotions in that Manner paid to them.

And the Glory of the Lord went up from the Midſt of the City] God's Preſence was before departed from the Temple, Ch. x. 19. and now it quite left the City, to ſignify that he would acknowledge no longer his Relation to either, but deliver them up to be profaned by Heathens.

And ſtood upon the Mountain which is on the Eaſt Side of the City] That is, the Mount of Olives: From whence it is deſcribed returning, when God ſhall again make the City and Temple the Seat of his Preſence. See Ch. xliii. 2. Zech. xiv. 4.

CHAP. XII.

Ezekiel being commanded to remove his Houſhold-ſtuff, and to take his Suſtenance with Quaking and Trembling, is a Type of the Captivity both of the King and People, and of the Conſternation which their Calamities will bring upon them; he afterwards reproves the Infidelity of thoſe who diſbelieved his Prophecies.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord alſo came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man thou dwelleſt in the midſt of a rebellious houſe, which have eyes to ſee, and ſee not; they have ears to hear, and hear not: for they are a rebellious houſe. 3 Therefore thou ſon of man, prepare thee ſtuff for removing, and remove by day in their ſight, and thou ſhalt remove from thy place to another place in their ſight; it may be they will conſider, though they be a rebellious houſe. 4 Then ſhalt thou bring forth thy ſtuff by day in their ſight, as ſtuff for removing: and thou ſhalt go forth at even in their ſight, as they that go forth into captivity. 5 Dig thou through the wall in their ſight, and carry out thereby. 6 In their ſight ſhalt thou bear it upon thy ſhoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight: thou ſhalt cover thy face that thou ſee not the ground: for I have ſet thee for a ſign unto the houſe of Iſrael. 7 And I did ſo as I was commanded: I brought forth my ſtuff by day, as ſtuff for captivity, and in the even I digged through the wall with mine hand, I brought it forth in the twilight, and I bare it upon my ſhoulder in their ſight. 8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying, 9 Son of man, hath not the houſe of Iſrael, the rebellious houſe, ſaid unto thee, What doeſt thou? 10 Say thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, This burden concerneth the prince in Jeruſalem, and all the houſe of Iſrael that are among them. 11 Say, I am your ſign: like as I have done, ſo ſhall it be done unto them: they ſhall remove and go into captivity. 12 And the prince that is among them ſhall bear upon his ſhoulder in the twilight, and ſhall go forth: they ſhall dig through the wall to carry out thereby: he ſhall cover his face that he ſee not the ground with his eyes. 13 My net alſo will I ſpread upon him, and he ſhall be taken in my ſnare; and I will bring him to Babylon to the land of the Chaldeans, yet ſhall he not ſee it, though he ſhall die there. 14 And I will will ſcatter toward every wind all that are about him to help him, and all his bands, and I will draw out the ſword after them. 15 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall ſcatter them among the nations, and diſperſe them in the countrys. 16 But I will leave a few men of them from the ſword, from the famine, and from the peſtilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen whither they come, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 17 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying, 18 Son of man, eat thy bread with quaking, and drink thy water with trembling and with carefulneſs. 19 And ſay unto the people of the land, Thus ſaith the Lord God, of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and of the land of Iſrael, They ſhall eat their bread with carefulneſs, and drink their water with aſtoniſhment, that her land may be deſolate from all that is therein, becauſe of the violence of all them that dwell therein. 20 And the cities that are inhabited, ſhall be laid waſte, and the land ſhall be deſolate, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 21 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 22 Son of man, what is that proverb, that ye have in the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The days are prolonged and every viſion faileth? 23 Tell them therefore, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will make this proverb to ceaſe, and they ſhall no more uſe it as a proverb in Iſrael: but ſay unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every viſion. 24 For there ſhall be no more any vain viſion, nor flattering divination within the houſe of Iſrael. 25 For I am the Lord: I will ſpeak, and the word that I ſhall ſpeak ſhall come to paſs: it ſhall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious houſe, will I ſay the word, and will perform it, ſaith the Lord God. 26 Again the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying, 27 Son of man, behold, they of the houſe of Iſrael ſay, The viſion that he ſeeth is for many days to come, and he propheſieth of the times that are afar off. 28 Therefore ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, There ſhall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have ſpoken ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord God.

Prepare thee Stuff for removing, &c.] Get all thy Goods together, and pack them up as thoſe do that remove from one Houſe to another. Do this openly and at Noon-day, that they may all ſee and take Notice of it. The Prophets often propheſied by Signs, as being of greater Force and Efficacy than Words. See Ch. iv. 1, 4.

Thou ſhalt go forth at Even in their Sight, as they that go forth into Captivity] As Men do that would go off by Stealth; to ſignify alſo, that Zedekiah and his Retinue ſhould eſcape out of the City by Night, 2 Kings xxv. 4.

Dig thou through the Wall in their Sight] To ſhew that the King ſhall make his Eſcape by the ſame Means; ſee Ver. 12.

And the Prince that is among them ſhall bear upon his Shoulder in the Twilight] He ſhall be glad to carry what he can with him in the Duſk of the Evening, and his Retinue ſhall make a private Way for him to get out of the City that they may not be diſcovered. See Jer. xxxix. 4.

My Net alſo will I ſpread upon him, &c.] Tho' he thinks to eſcape, yet I will bring his Enemies upon him, who ſhall encompaſs him, and ſtop his Flight, as when a wild Beaſt is entangled in a Net, 2 Kings xx 5, 6, 7. and compare Ch. xvii. 20. xxxii. 3. of th Prophecy.

Yet he ſhall not ſee it, tho' he ſhall die there] Havi his Eyes put out before he came thither. Joſephus te us, that Zedekiah thought this Prophecy inconſiſte with that of Jeremiah, Ch. xxxiv. 3. That Zedekia Eyes ſhould ſee the Eyes of the King of Babylon; a therefore believed neither: But they both actually ca to paſs as the ſacred Story aſſures us: The King of B bylon paſſing Sentence upon him at Riblah, as one th had broke the Oath and Covenant he had made w him, and then putting out his Eyes and carrying h to Babylon.

The Days are prolonged, and every Viſion faile Words of the ſame Import with thoſe at Ver. 27. a Ch. xi. 3. Both of them are the Words of Infide who turn the Grace of God into Wantonneſs and ta Encouragement from his Patience and Long-ſufferi to deſpiſe his Threatnings, as if they would never fulfilled. Compare Iſa. v. 19. Amos vi. 18. 2 P iii. 3, 4.

CHAP. XIII.

The Prophet denounces God's Judgments agai falſe Prophets, who made a Gain of their P feſſion, and encouraged Men to go on in th Sins, by giving them falſe Viſions of Peace a Security; and at the ſame Time diſheartened truly pious, and diſcouraged them from contin ing in the Ways of Holineſs.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord ca unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of m prophefy againſt the prophets of Iſrael that p phefy, and ſay thou unto them that proph out of their own hearts, Hear ye the word of t Lord: 3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Wo u the fooliſh prophets, that follow their own ſ rit, and have ſeen nothing. 4 O Iſrael, t prophets are like the foxes in the deſarts. 5 have not gone up into the gaps, neither ma up the hedge for the houſe of Iſrael to ſtand the battel in the day of the Lord. 6 They ha ſeen vanity, and lying divination, ſaying, T Lord ſaith; and the Lord hath not ſent the and they have made others to hope that th would confirm the word. 7 Have ye not ſeen vain viſion, and have ye not ſpoken a lyi divination, whereas ye ſay, The Lord ſaith albeit I have not ſpoken? 8 Therefore th ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye have ſpoken nity, and ſeen lies, therefore behold, I am agai you ſaith the Lord God. 9 And mine ha ſhall be upon the prophets that ſee vanity, a that divine lies: they ſhall not be in the aſſemb of my people, neither ſhall they be written the writing of the houſe of Iſrael, neither ſh they enter into the land of Iſrael, and ye ſh know that I am the Lord God. 10 Becau even becauſe they have ſeduced my people, ſa ing, Peace, and there was no peace; and o built up a wall, and lo, others daubed it w untempered mortar: 11 Say unto them which da it with untempered mortar, that it ſhall fa there ſhall be an overflowing ſhower, and ye, great hailſtones, ſhall fall, and a ſtormy wi ſhall rent it. 12 Lo, when the wall is falle ſhall it not be ſaid unto you, Where is t daubing wherewith ye have daubed it? 13 The fore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will even rent with a ſtormy wind in my fury: and there ſh be an overflowing ſhower in mine anger, and great hailſtones in my fury to conſume it. 14 So will I break down the wall that ye have daubed with untempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, ſo that the foundation thereof ſhall be diſcovered, and it ſhall fall, and ye ſhall be conſumed in the midſt thereof: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 15 Thus will I accompliſh my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with untempered mortar, and will ſay unto you, The wall is no more, neither they that daubed it; 16 To wit, the prophets of Iſrael which propheſy concerning Jeruſalem, and which ſee viſions of peace for her, and there is no peace, ſaith the Lord God. 17 Likewiſe thou ſon of man, ſet thy face againſt the daughters of thy people, which propheſy out of their own heart; and propheſy thou againſt them. 18 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Wo to the women that ſow pillows to all arm-holes, and make kerchiefs upon the head of every ſtature to hunt ſouls: Will ye hunt the ſouls of my people? and will ye ſave the ſouls alive that come unto you? 19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread, to ſlay the ſouls that ſhould not die, and to ſave the ſouls alive that ſhould not live, by your lying to my people that hear your lies? 20 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt your pillows wherewith ye there hunt the ſouls, to make them flie, and I will tear them from your arms, and will let the ſouls go, even the ſouls that ye hunt to make them flie. 21 Your kerchiefs alſo will I tear; and deliver my people out of your hand, and they ſhall be no more in your hand to be hunted, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 22 Becauſe with lies ye have made the heart of the righteous ſad, whom I have not made ſad; and ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not return from his wicked way, by promiſing him life: 23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanity, nor divine divinations, for I will deliver my people out of your hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Say thou unto them that propheſy out of their own Hearts] The Prophets often denounce God's Judgments againſt the falſe ones; laying to their Charge many Miſdemeanors in their private Converſation, and upbraiding them for Unfaithfulneſs in the Office they undertook of guiding and directing Men's Conſciences. See Ch. xxii. 25, 28. Jer. vi. 14. xxiii. 11, &c.

Ye have not gone up into the Gaps] Or, ſtood in the Gap, or Breach, as it is expreſſed Ch. xxii. 30. Pſ. cvi. 23. Which Place alludes to the Interceſſion which Moſes made for the Iſraelites, whereby he with-held God's Hand, as it were, when it was juſt ſtretched out to take Vengeance upon the People for their heinous Sin, in making the Golden Calf. See Exod. xxxii. 11, 12.

They ſhall not be in the Aſſembly of my People] They ſhall not be Members of the Church here, nor partake of the Communion of Saints in Heaven. The Hebrew Word Sod, ſignifies a ſecret Aſſembly or privy Counſil; ſuch as are acquainted with the moſt inward Thoughts and ſecret Intent of a Prince; and from thence it is applied to God's choſen People, thoſe that are acquainted with the whole Counſel of God, and whom he inſtructs by the ſecret Directions of his Holy Spirit. See Pſ. xxv. 14. Jer. xxiii. 18. So the Prophet tells theſe Men that they pretended to know ſo much of the Secrets of the Almighty, that they ſhould never be of the Number of thoſe Favourites of Heaven, to whom God will reveal himſelf and his Counſels.

Neither ſhall they be written in the Writing of the Houſe of Iſrael] The Senſe is much the ſame with that of the foregoing Sentence; the Expreſſions being an Alluſion to the Regiſters that uſed to be kept of the Members of any City or Corporation, the Privileges of which none can pretend to, but they whoſe Names are entered into ſuch Regiſters. See Ezra ii. 62. Pſ. xlix. 28. It may be theſe falſe Prophets foretold a ſpeedy Return to the Exiles; whereupon God tells them that they ſhall never live to ſee it, nor ſhall their Names be ever entered into the Regiſter of thoſe that return Home. See Neh. vii. 5.

And one built a Wall, and lo others daubed it with untempered Mortar] Inſtead of providing ſuch a Fence and Bulwark, as might ſecure the People againſt the Judgments that threaten them, ſee Ver. 5. they have made a ſlight Wall without any Mortar, or Cement to bind and ſtrengthen it; that is, they have applied ſlight and palliating Remedies to publick Calamities, which will never give true Peace to Men's Conſciences, nor ſtand them in any ſtead when God viſits for their Iniquities. Juſt as if an unſkilful Builder ſhould undertake to ſet up a Wall, and his Fellow Workmen ſhould daub it wirh untempered Mortar.

There ſhall be an overflowing Shower, and ye, O great Hailſtones, &c.] God's Judgments are often compared to Storms and Tempeſts, the Artillery of Heaven: See Ch. xxxviii. 22. Job xxvii. 20. Pſ. xi. 6. xviii. 13, 14. eſpecially when he executes his Judgments by a victorious Army. See Iſa. xxxviii. 2.

I will rent it with a ſtormy Wind in my Fury] Under theſe Metaphors is probably foretold the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Chaldean Army. Thus the Chaldee Paraphraſe expounds it: I will bring a mighty King with the Force of a Whirlwind, and deſtroying People as it were an overflowing Storm, and powerful Princes like great Hailſtones.

So will I break down the Wall, and bring it down to the Ground, &c.] The Chaldee explains this Verſe to the ſame Senſe, I will deſtroy the City wherein ye have uttered theſe falſe Prophecies: Which Expoſition is confirmed by the following Words, And ye ſhall be conſumed in the Midſt thereof, that is, ye ſhall be deſtroyed in the ſame common Calamity.

Wo to the Women that ſow Pillows to all Arm-holes, &c.] The learned Gataker in his Cinnus, thinks the Words may be properly rendered, That put (or faſten) Pillows to all Arm-holes; ſo he underſtands the ſame Word, Job xvi. 15. I have put Sackcloth upon my Skin. As the Prophet compares the deceitful Practices of the falſe Prophets to the Daubing of a Wall, ſo he repreſents the Artifices of thoſe Female Seducers, by ſowing Pillows under their Hearers Elbows, that they might reſt ſecurely in their evil Ways; and by covering their Faces with Veils, or Kerchiefs, Ornaments proper to Women, thereby to keep them in Blindneſs and Ignorance.

To ſlay the Souls that ſhould not die] Thus they threatened Death to thoſe that yielded themſelves to the Chaldeans in Jeconiah's Captivity; and yet God preſerved them alive. See Jer. xxix. 5, 6. And they have encouraged thoſe that remain at Jeruſalem with Promiſes of Peace and Safety, who ſhall all be deſtroyed. See Ch. v. 12. or the Words may be meant in general of diſcouraging the Godly, and confirming the Wicked in their evil Ways; ſee Ver. 22. and compare Jer. xxiii. 14, 17.

To ſlay and to make alive, ſignify here to promiſe Men Life, or threaten them with Death; ſee Ver. 22. So the Prophet ſaith, he came to deſtroy the City, Ch. xliii. 3. that is, to pronounce the Sentence of Deſtruction upon it. And the Prieſt is ſaid to have made the Leper unclean, Levit. xiii. 3. that is, to pronounce him unclean, as our Tranſlation rightly expreſſes the Senſe.

The Prophet denounces God's Judgments againſt thoſe Hypocrites who pretended to be his Worſhippers, yet ſecretly practiſed Idolatry. God's Mercy toward the Jews in ſparing a few of that ſinful Nation, when in Juſtice he might have involved them all in one common Deſtruction.

Ver. 1. THEN came certain of the elders of Iſrael unto me, and ſat before me. 2 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 3 Son of man, theſe men have ſet up their idols in their heart, and put the ſtumbling-block of their iniquity before their face: ſhould I be enquired of at all by them? 4 Therefore ſpeak unto them, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Every man of the houſe of Iſrael that ſetteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the prophet, I the Lord will anſwer him that cometh, according to the multitude of his idols. 5 That I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their own heart, becauſe they are all eſtranged from me through their idols. 6 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Repent and turn yourſelves from your idols, and turn away your faces from all your abominations. 7 For every one of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtranger that ſojourneth in Iſrael, which ſeparateth himſelf from me, and ſetteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to a prophet to enquire of him concerning me; I the Lord will anſwer him by myſelf. 8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will make him a ſign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midſt of my people, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 9 And if the prophet be deceived when he hath ſpoken a thing, I the Lord have deceived that prophet, and I will ſtretch out my hand upon him, and will deſtroy him from the midſt of my people Iſrael. 10 And they ſhall bear the puniſhment of their iniquity: the puniſhment of the prophet ſhall be even as the puniſhment of him that ſeeketh unto him: 11 That the houſe of Iſrael may go no more aſtray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their tranſgreſſions: but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, ſaith the Lord God. 12 The word of the Lord came again to me, ſaying, 13 Son of man, when the land ſinneth againſt me by treſpaſſing grievouſly, then will I ſtretch out mine hand upon it, and will break the ſtaff of the bread thereof and will ſend famine upon it, and will cut off man and beaſt from it. 14 Though theſe three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, they ſhould deliver but their own ſouls by their righteouſneſs, ſaith the Lord God. 15 If I cauſe noiſom beaſts to paſs through the land, and they ſpoil it, ſo that it be deſolate, that no man may paſs through becauſe of the beaſts: 16 Though theſe three men were in it, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neither ſons nor daughters; they only ſhall be delivered, but the land ſhall be deſolate. 17 Or if I bring a ſword upon that land, and ſay, Sword, go through the land; ſo that I cut off man and beaſt from 18 Though theſe three men were in it, as I liv ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neith ſons nor daughters, but they only ſhall be de vered themſelves. 19 Or if I ſend a peſtilen into that land, and pour out my fury upon it blood, to cut off from it man and beaſt: Though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, a live, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver n ther ſon nor daughter; they ſhall but deliver th own ſouls by their righteouſneſs. 21 For th ſaith the Lord God, How much more when ſend my four ſore judgments upon Jeruſalem, t ſword, and the famine, and the noiſom bea and the peſtilence, to cut off from it man a beaſt? 22 Yet behold, therein ſhall be left remnant that ſhall be brought forth, both ſo and daughters: behold, they ſhall come for unto you, and ye ſhall ſee their way, and th doings: and ye ſhall be comforted concerni the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſale even concerning all that I have brought upon 23 And they ſhall comfort you when ye ſee th ways and their doings: and ye ſhall know tha have not done without cauſe, all that I ha done in it, ſaith the Lord God.

That I may take the Houſe of Iſrael in their Hearts] That I may deal with them according to th Deſerts, and thereby convince them that I am Searcher of Hearts, and know the inward and ſec Wickedneſs of their Thoughts.

And if a Prophet be deceived] This is to be und ſtood of the falſe Prophets, whoſe Practices are reprov throughout the whole foregoing Chapter.

I the Lord have deceived that Prophet] I have ſ fered him to be deceived: See Iſa. xliii. 17. I ha given him up to ſtrong Deluſions, as a juſt Judgm upon him for going after Idols, and ſetting up falſe P tences to Inſpiration. See Ch. xiii. 2, 7, 23. Jer. iv. 1 Kings xxii. 23. and compare 2 Theſſ. ii. 11, Or the Words may be explained to this Senſe: I w diſappoint the Hopes and Expectations of thoſe Proph who ſeduce my People by ſpeaking Peace to them, xiii. 10. For I will bring upon them thoſe Evils, wh they with great Aſſurance have declared ſhall ne come to paſs. To this Purpoſe it follows, I ſtretch out my Hand upon him, &c. i. e. I will ſend ſu a Judgment upon him, as I inflicted on Hananiah falſe Prophet, Jer. xxviii. 16, 17.

When the Land treſpaſſeth grievouſly, &c.] when a Land — The Deſign of this and the followi Verſes is to ſhew, that when the Inhabitants of a La have filled up the Meaſure of their Iniquities, and G ariſeth to execute Judgment upon them, the few Rig teous that are left among them, ſhall not be able their Prayers and Interceſſions, to deliver the Nati from the Judgments decreed againſt it: They ſhall deliver their own Souls; as we ſee in the Caſe of dom, where there was none Righteous but Lot and Family; thoſe juſt Perſons ſaved themſelves, but Interceſſion could avail to ſave the City.

Tho' theſe three Men, Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it] All of them Perſons eminent for their Piet Noah and his Family were ſaved out of the univer Deluge, and obtained a Promiſe from God, that would never deſtroy the World again, Gen. viii. Daniel interceded with God for the whole Nation the Jews, and obtained a Promiſe of their Reſtorati Dan. ix. Job was appointed by God to make Interc ſion for his three Friends, Job xlii. 8. But when Go irreverſible Decree is gone out againſt a Nation, e the Prayers of ſuch Men would be ineffectual tow their Deliverance. Compare Jer. xv. 1.

We may obſerve how early the Fame of Dani Piety was ſpread over Chaldea, who was at this Ti t above thirty Years of Age; it being but thirteen ears ago, ſince he was carried Captive to Babylon, hen he was very young, Dan. i. 1—4, &c.

nder the Parable of a Vine, which when it is barren, is unfit for any Uſe, is ſhewed the utter Rejection of Jeruſalem.

r. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, What is the vine-tree more than any tree, or an a branch which is among the trees of the reſt? 3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any ork? or will men take a pin of it to hang any eſſel thereon? 4 Behold, it is caſt into the fire or fewel; the fire devoureth both the ends of , and the midſt of it is burnt: is it meet for y work? 5 Behold, when it was whole it was eet for no work: how much leſs ſhall it be eet yet for any work, when the fire hath deoured it, and it is burned? 6 Therefore thus ith the Lord God, As the vine-tree among the ees of the foreſt, which I have given to the re for fewel, ſo will I give the inhabitants of eruſalem. 7 And I will ſet my face againſt em, they ſhall go out from one fire, and *ano*er fire ſhall devour them: and ye ſhall know at I am the Lord, when I ſet my face againſt em. 8 And I will make the land deſolate, ecauſe they have committed a treſpaſs, ſaith e Lord God.

Shall Wood be taken thereof to do any Work, &c.] he Wood of a Vine is of no Uſe for building, or aking any Utenſils. The Works of that Kind that ey takes Notice of, are rather to be looked on as ntities, than as Things of common Uſe.

The Fire devoureth both the Ends of it, and the Midſt f it is burnt] A fit Repreſentation of the preſent ate of Judea, when both the Ends of it were conumed by the Ravages of a foreign Enemy, and the idſt of it, where the Capital City ſtood, is ready be deſtroyed: Juſt as the Fire ſpreads towards the iddle Part of a Stick, when once both Ends are ghted.

And they ſhall go out from one Fire, and another Fire all devour them] Flying from one Evil, another all overtake them. Fire ſometimes ſignifies any dgment or Calamity inflicted by God. See Am. i. &c. and Jer. vii. 20.

r. 1. AGain the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, uſe Jeruſalem to know her abominations. 3 nd ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God unto Jeruſalem, thy birth, and thy nativity is of the land Canaan, thy father was an Amorite, and thy other an Hittite. 4 And as for thy nativity the day thou waſt born, thy navel was not t, neither waſt thou waſhed in water to ſupple e: thou waſt not ſalted at all, nor ſwaddled at 5 None eye pitied thee, to do any of theſe to thee, to have compaſſion upon thee; but thou waſt caſt out in the open field, to the lothing of thy perſon, in the day that thou waſt born. 6 And when I paſſed by thee, and ſaw thee polluted in thine own blood, I ſaid unto thee when thou waſt in thy blood, Live: yea, I ſaid unto thee when thou waſt in thy blood, Live. 7 I have cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou art come to excellent ornaments: thy breaſts are faſhioned, and thine hair is grown, whereas thou waſt naked and bare. 8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold thy time was the time of love, and I ſpread my ſkirts over thee, and covered thy nakedneſs: yea, I ſware unto thee, and entred into a covenant with thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine. 9 Then waſhed I thee with water: yea, I throughly waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oil. 10 I clothed thee alſo with broidered work, and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with ſilk. 11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chain on thy neck. 12 And I put a jewel on thy forehead, and ear-rings in thine ears, and a beautiful crown upon thine head. 13 Thus waſt thou decked with gold and ſilver, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and ſilk, and broidered work; thou didſt eat fine flour, and honey, and oil: and thou waſt exceeding beautiful, and thou didſt proſper into a kingdom. 14 And thy renown went forth among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my comelineſs which I had put upon thee, ſaith the Lord God. 15 But thou didſt truſt in thine own beauty, and playedſt the harlot becauſe of thy renown, and pouredſt out thy fornications on every one that paſſed by; his it was. 16 And of thy garments thou didſt take, and deckedſt thy high places with divers colours, and playedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither ſhall it be ſo. 17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy fair jewels of my gold and of my ſilver, which I had given thee, and madeſt to thyſelf images of men, and didſt commit whoredom with them, 18 And tookeſt thy broidered garments, and coveredſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oil and mine incenſe before them. 19 My meat alſo which I gave thee, fine flour, and oil, and honey wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt even ſet it before them for a ſweet ſavour: and thus it was, ſaith the Lord God. 20 Moreover, thou haſt taken thy ſons and thy daughters, whom thou haſt born unto me, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed unto them to be devoured: is this of thy whoredoms a ſmall matter, 21 That thou haſt ſlain my children, and delivered them to cauſe them to paſs through the fire for them? 22 And in all thine abominations and thy whoredoms thou haſt not remembred the days of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt polluted in thy blood. 23 And it came to paſs after all thy wickedneſs (wo, wo unto thee, ſaith the Lord God) 24 That thou haſt alſo built unto thee an eminent place, and haſt made thee an high place in every ſtreet. 25 Thou haſt built thy high place at every head of the way, and haſt made thy beauty to be abhorred, and haſt opened thy feet to every one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredoms. 26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, great of fleſh, and haſt increaſed thy whoredoms, to provoke me to anger. 27 Behold therefore, I have ſtretched out my hand over thee, and have diminiſhed thine ordinary food, and delivered thee unto the will of them that hate thee, the daughters of the Philiſtines, which are aſhamed of thy lewd way. 28 Thou haſt played the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt unſatiable: yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied. 29 Thou haſt moreover multiplied thy fornication in the land of Canaan unto Chaldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith. 30 How weak is thine heart, ſaith the Lord God, ſeeing thou doeſt all theſe things, the work of an imperious whoriſh woman? 31 In that thou buildeſt thine eminent place in the head of every way, and makeſt thine high place in every ſtreet, and haſt not been as an harlot in that thou ſcorneſt hire. 32 But as a wife that committeth adultery, which taketh ſtrangers in ſtead of her huſband. 33 They give gifts to all whores, but thou giveſt thy gifts to all thy lovers, and hireſt them, that they may come unto thee on every ſide for thy whoredom. 34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy whoredoms, whereas none followeth thee to commit whoredoms: and in that thou giveſt a reward, and no reward is given unto thee; therefore thou art contrary. 35 Wherefore, O harlot, hear the word of the Lord. 36 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thy filthineſs was poured out, and thy nakedneſs diſcovered through thy whoredoms with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thy abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didſt give unto them; 37 Behold therefore, I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou haſt taken pleaſure, and all them that thou haſt loved, with all them that thou haſt hated: I will even gather them round about againſt thee, and will diſcover thy nakedneſs unto them, that they may ſee all thy nakedneſs. 38 And I will judge thee, as women that break wedlock, and ſhed blood, are judged, and I will give thee blood in fury and jealouſy. 39 And I will alſo give thee into their hand, and they ſhall throw down thine eminent place, and ſhall break down thine high places: they ſhall ſtrip thee alſo of thy clothes, and ſhall take thy fair jewels, and leave thee naked and bare. 40 They ſhall alſo bring up a company againſt thee, and they ſhall ſtone thee with ſtones, and thruſt thee through with their ſwords. 41 And they ſhall burn thine houſes with fire, and execute judgments upon thee in the ſight of many women: and I will cauſe thee to ceaſe from playing the harlot, and thou alſo ſhalt give no hire any more. 42 So will I make my fury towards thee to reſt, and my jealouſy ſhall depart from thee, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry. 43 Becauſe thou haſt not remembred the days of thy youth, but haſt fretted me in all theſe things; behold therefore, I alſo will recompenſe thy way upon thine head, ſaith the Lord God, and thou ſhalt not commit this lewdneſs, above all thine abominations. 44 Behold, every one that uſeth proverbs, ſhall uſe this proverb againſt thee, ſaying, As is the mo ther, ſo is her daughter. 45 Thou art thy mo thers daughter, that lotheth her huſband and he children, and thou art the ſiſter of thy ſiſters which lothed their huſbands, and their children your mother was an Hittite, and your father a Amorite. 46 And thine elder ſiſter is Samaria ſhe and her daughters that dwell at thy lef hand: and thy younger ſiſter that dwelleth a thy right hand is Sodom and her daughters 47 Yet haſt thou not walked after their ways nor done after their abominations: but as if tha were a very little thing, thou waſt corrupte more than they in all thy ways. 48 As I live ſaith the Lord God, Sodom thy ſiſter hath no done, ſhe nor her daughters, as thou haſt done thou and thy daughters. 49 Behold, this wa the iniquity of thy ſiſter Sodom, Pride, fulne of bread, and abundance of idleneſs was in he and in her daughters, neither did ſhe ſtrengthe the hand of the poor and needy. 50 And the were haughty, and committed abomination b fore me: therefore I took them away as I ſa good. 51 Neither hath Samaria committed ha of thy ſins; but thou haſt multiplied thine ab minations more than they, and haſt juſtified th ſiſters in all thine abominations which thou ha done. 52 Thou alſo which haſt judged th ſiſters, bear thine own ſhame for thy ſins th thou haſt committed more abominable tha they: they are more righteous than thou: ye be thou confounded alſo, and bear thy ſhame, that thou haſt juſtified thy ſiſters. 53 When ſhall bring again their captivity, the captivity

Sodom, and her daughters, and the captivity
Samaria, and her daughters, then will I bri again the captivity of thy captives in the mid of them: 54 That thou mayeſt bear thine ow ſhame, and mayeſt be confounded in all th thou haſt done, in that thou art a comfort un them. 55 When thy ſiſters, Sodom and h daughters, ſhall return to their former eſta and Samaria and her daughters ſhall return their former eſtate, then thou and thy daughte ſhall return to your former eſtate. 56 For th ſiſter Sodom was not mentioned by thy mou in the day of thy pride: 57 Before thy wicke neſs was diſcovered, as at the time of thy r proach of the daughters of Syria, and all th are round about her, the daughters of the Phi ſtines, which deſpiſe thee round about.
Thou haſt borne thy lewdneſs, and thine abom nations, ſaith the Lord. 59 For thus ſaith th Lord God, I will even deal with thee as tho haſt done, which haſt deſpiſed the oath in brea ing the covenant. 60 Nevertheleſs, I will r member my covenant with thee in the days thy youth, and I will eſtabliſh unto thee an eve laſting covenant. 61 Then thou ſhalt remem ber thy ways, and be aſhamed, when thou ſh receive thy ſiſters, thine elder and thy young and I will give them unto thee for daughte but not by thy covenant. 62 And I will eſ bliſh my covenant with thee, and thou ſh know that I am the Lord: 63 That thou may remember and be confounded, and never op thy mouth any more becauſe of thy ſhame, wh
I am pacified toward thee for all that thou h done, ſaith the Lord God.

Thy Father was an Hittite, and thy Mother an Amorite] Thoſe are ſaid to be our Parents in the Scripture Dialect, whoſe Manners we reſemble. See Ver. 45. of this Chapter, John viii. 44. Matt. iii. 7. There is an Expreſſion of the ſame Import in the Hiſtory of Sufannah, Ver. 56. O thou Seed of Canaan, and not of Judah, Beauty hath deceived thee, and Luſt hath perverted thy Heart.

In the Day when thou waſt born, &c.] The Prophet deſcribes the forlorn Condition of the Iſraelites in Egypt, under the Similitude of a new-born Infant expoſed in his native Filthineſs, without any Friend to pity his Condition, or take the leaſt Care of him.

I ſhod thee with Badger's Skin, &c.] Or, with Sandals of a purple Colour, as Bochart expounds the Word Tahaſh. This and the following Verſes allude to that Part of Women's Attire, which ſerve not only for Uſe, but for Ornament too, and import that God did not only provide the Jews with Neceſſaries, but likewiſe with Superfluities.

And a beautiful Crown upon thy Head] Crowns or Garlands were uſed in Times of publick Rejoicing; from whence is derived that Expreſſion of St. Paul, A Crown of Rejoicing, 1 Theſſ. ii. 19. Compare Iſa. xxv. 10. Virgins were ſometimes adorned with Crowns. See Baruch vi. 9. and they were commonly put upon the Heads of Perſons newly married. See Cant. iii. 11.

But thou didſt truſt in thy own Beauty, and playedſt the Harlot, becauſe of thy Renown] Women that are proud of their Beauty, are eaſily tempted to Lewdneſs, if they have not a ſtrict Guard upon themſelves: So you abuſed thoſe Honours and Advantages which I had beſtowed upon you, and made them an Occaſion of forſaking me your Benefactor, and ſerving Idols. You preſumed upon that very Favour which I had ſhewed to Jeruſalem, in chuſing it for the Place of my Reſidence; as if that would ſecure you from my Vengeance, let your Idolatries and other Wickedneſs be never ſo great. See Jer. vii. 4. Mic. iii. 11.

And delivered thee into the Will of them that hate thee, the Daughters of the Philiſtines] As a Puniſhment of the Idolatries which King Ahaz introduced among them; See Ver. 57. and 2 Chron. xxviii. 18, 19. The Daughters of the Philiſtines are here put for the Philiſtines, as the Daughters of Samaria, Sodom, and the Syrians, ſtand for the People of thoſe Places, Ver. 46, 47, 57. to carry on the Allegory and Compariſon between them and Jeruſalem, being all of them deſcribed as ſo many lewd Women proſtituting themſelves to Idols; ſee Ver. 41. By the ſame Metaphor Samaria and Sodom are called Siſters to Jeruſalem, Ver. 46.

Which are aſhamed of thy lewd Way] Thoſe have not forſaken the Religion of their Country as you Jews have done, nor have been ſo fond of foreign Idolatries: Compare Ch. v. 7. and Jer. ii. 11. The Chaldee Paraphraſe explains the Words in this Senſe: If I had ſent my Prophets to them, they would have been aſhamed; but thou art not converted: See Ver. 47, 48.

And I will give thee Blood in Fury and Jealouſy] I will make an utter Deſtruction of thine Inhabitants: See Ch. xiv. 19. Or, I will pour out the Blood of thy Slain like Water, Pſ. lxxix. 3. Jealouſy is the Rage of a Man, Prov. vi. 34. Such Indignation will God ſhew againſt the Idolatry of his own People, who hath declared himſelf a jealous God, and very tender of his Honour, which is highly injured by the Worſhip of Idols, ſet up as his Rivals.

And they ſhall bring a Company againſt thee, and they ſhall ſtone thee with Stones] The Chaldean Army ſhall beat down thy Walls and Houſes with Stones flung out of battering Engines: See Jer. xxxiii. 4. The Expreſſion alludes to the Puniſhment inflicted on Adultereſſes, which was ſtoning: See John viii. 5. The particular Sort of Death which they were to ſuffer is not expreſſed in the Law; ſo the Conjecture of Grotius upon that Place of St. John is not improbable; that in the latter Times, as Wickedneſs increaſed, the Sanhedrim exchanged the milder Puniſhment of Strangling uſed before, for the ſeverer Death of ſtoning.

Behold every one that uſeth Proverbs, ſhall uſe this Proverb againſt thee, &c.] They that love to apply the memorable Sayings of former Ages to the preſent Times, ſhall apply that common Saying to thee, that the Daughter follows her Mother's Steps, and Jeruſalem is no better than the Amorites, whoſe Land they inhabit, and whoſe Manners they imitate: See Ver. 3.

Thou art thy Mother's Daughter, that loatheth her Huſband and her Children] Both theſe Qualities are the Property of an Harlot, and were verified in the Jews, who abhorred God their Huſband, Ver. 8. and caſt off all natural Affection to their Children, ſacrificing them in the Fire to the Honour of their Idols; Ver. 20.

And thou art the Siſter of thy Siſters] Samaria and Sodom; Ver. 46. The Worſhip of Moloch was generally practiſed by the Ten Tribes, whoſe Metropolis was Samaria; 2 Kings xvii. 17. as it was by the Ammonites, who derived their Original from Lot, an Inhabitant of Sodom. See 1 Kings xi. 7. Great and crying Sins are compared to thoſe of Sodom; ſee Iſa. i. 9. iii. 9. Matt. xi. 23. Rev. xi. 8.

And thine elder Siſter is Samaria, ſhe and her Daughters that dwell at thy left Hand] Samaria is called the elder Siſter to Jeruſalem, as being the Capital City of the Kingdom of Iſrael, a more large and potent Kingdom than that of Judah, of which Jeruſalem was the Metropolis. She likewiſe led the Way to that Idolatry which afterward infected the whole Nation, forſaking the Worſhip which God had appointed in his Temple, and ſetting up the Idolatry of the Golden Calves. Samaria lay Northward of Jeruſalem and Sodom Southward, which two Quarters of the World are expreſſed by the Right and Left, in the Hebrew Language, being placed in ſuch a Poſition to thoſe that ſet their Faces Eaſtward. So the Phraſe is to be underſtood, Gen. xiii. 9. If thou wilt go to the Left Hand, I will go to the Right; where the Targum expounds the Words, If thou wilt go to the North, I will go to the South. The ſame Way of ſpeaking is ſtill uſed in the antient Britiſh or Welſh Language, as Archbiſhop Uſher obſerves in his Primord. Eccl. Britan. P. 306. Fol. Edit.

Samaria and Sodom are deſcribed as Metropoles or Mother Cities: So their Daughters may be expounded not only of the Inhabitants of each City, but likewiſe of the leſſer Towns which were antiently under the Juriſdiction of the greater. Compare Ch. xxvi. 4, 6. Jer. xlix. 2.
